MY LORD,

It is the Institution of God and Nature, that all things (by a divine and natural right) should terminate in their Original, and revert to the Spring from which they issue: Hence St. Paul (the (a) Apostle of the Gentiles, and of our (b) British Isle,) resolves; that as (c) all things in heaven and earth, visible and invisible, whether Thrones Dominions, Principalities, Powers, or other Creatures, were and are created By; so likewise TO and FOR GOD, their (d) ALPHA and OMEGA. This Contemplation hath excited, yea obliged me (in point of Right, and Equity) not only to return, but dedicate this Large Chronological Vindication, and Historical Demonstration, to Your Lordship, from whose unexpected Voluntary Motion, and Subsequent Encouragements, (to collect, publish it for the Honour of our Kings, Nation, Church, Kingdome, and benefit of Posterity) it received its Original Conception, Augmentation, Production, at vacant hours (borrowed for the most part from my natural rest and repasts) without the least neglect of my other distracting publick Employments. Which may justly excuse all Defects of Ornament, Method, Stile, Substance, any Curious Eyes shall discover therein; or in my yet uncompleted Preceding or Succeeding Tomes of the same heroick subject; not hitherto at large, historically discussed by any Antiquary, or Historian I have seen.

This Tome (as those intended to succeed it) principally consists of memorable Records (preserved in the Tower of London ) not formerly published : intermixed with observable Historical passages (pertinent to my Theam) taken for the most part out of our best antientest Historians of the Roman Religion, writing in, or nearest the reigns of K. John and Henry the 3d, which I have printed at large in their proper Dialects, as most authentick, the better to communicate them to forreign Nations, and prevent all Cavills of Pontifician or other Criticks against their translations : with some usefull Observations on, & Deductions from them, for the Readers information, or Romanists refutation, if not conviction; all which I hope are so genuine, solid, impartial, that no carping Zoilus, nor Advocate for Popes or the Court of Rome, shall be justly able to quarrell with, much lesse to refute or contradict them.

All

The Epistle Dedicatory.

All the Records herein transcribed, were perused with my own eyes, and carefully examined, re-examined by the Originals: which are of so venerable, irrefragable authority, (being carefully enrolled in the respective years they bear date, by sworn Clerks, without any rasure, alteration, diminution, and so remaining till this present) that no person by our Common Lawes, (g) may, or ought to averr against them. By their Verdict I have here not only corrected some mistakes, ratified, illustrated sundry obscure, dubious passages in our Historians, Chronologers; and King Johns printed Charter, but also supplied many observable defects, omitted, or pretermitted Bulls, Letters, Patents, Writs, Records, Transactions relating to the Ecclesiastical Supremacy of our Kings, the Church-affairs, Archbishops, Bishops, Clergy, Lawes, Customs, Spiritual, Temporal Courts, Jurisdictions, proceedings in England, and Ireland, not extant in, nor remembered by any Histories or Law-books whatsoever; not unworthy the knowledge, if not of his Sacred Majesty, yet of the greatest, learnedest Counsellers, Officers of State, Prelates, Divines, Judges, Professors of the Common, or Canon Lawes, the studious Nobility, Gentry, (whether Protestants, or Pontificians) of both these Kingdoms; from whose publike, if not private view, they have hitherto been concealed.

To the Candid and Ingenious Readers, especially Professors, or Students of the Common Laws, in England and Ireland.

Kinde Readers,

Here present to your View and Censure, The Second Tome of An Exact CHRONOLOGICAL VINDICATION, and HISTORICAL DEMONSTRATION of our British, Roman, Saxon, Danish, Norman and English KINGS SUPREMACY ECCLESIASTICAL JURISDICTION over all Prelates, Persons, Causes within their Kingdoms and Dominions, &c. A Subject heretofore cursorily handled, debated by Sir Edward Cooke, in the First Part of his Fifth Reports, Of the Kings Ecclesiastical Law; by Sir John Davis in his Irish Reports, The Case of Præmunire; by Sir Christopher Sybthorp Knight, one of His Majesties Iustices of the Court of Chief Place in Ireland, in his Friendly Advertisement to the pretended Catholicks of Ireland, Dublin 1621. Part 1. Concerning the Kings Supremacy, and the Oath in that behalf to be taken: and of late by my learned Friend, Sir Roger Twisden, in his elaborate, acute Vindication of the Church of England, in point of Schism, as it stands separate from the Church of Rome, and was reformed 1 Elizabethæ, London 1663. But never yet Chronologically and Historically Vindicated, Demonstrated, by any Lawyers, Antiquaries, Historians, Chronologers, or Divines, in such ample manner, as the Dignity of the subject matter, demerits; or as some learned (a) French, and (b) German Lawyers, Antiquaries, Writers, have Vindicated the Sovereign Ecclesiastical Prerogatives, Rights, Liberties of the Kings, Emperors,

The Epistle to the Readers.

Churches of France and Germany, in large Folio and Quarto Volumes; when as our Histories, Annals, Records afford us more copious Presidents, more numerous, eminent Monuments of this kinde, then France, Germany, or any other Christian Kingdom throughout the World, as I hope to evidence in due time, for the Honour of our Kings, Kingdoms, Churches, Nation, if God send life, health, oportunity, encouragements to accomplish such an heroick Undertaking, not hitherto essayed by any of our own or other Nation.

If any shall demand, why I preposterously (against my Chronological Method) published this Second Tome before the Edition of the First? I answer; Because in my primitive undertaking of this Subject, (upon the motion of an Honourable Great Officer of State) I designed it to be the First, beginning my Collections from the First Year of King John, when the Charter, Clause, Fine, Liberate, and Patent Rolls in the Tower begin; All the rest, (except some few Chartæ Antiquæ of former Kings reignes never transcribed into Rolls,) being long since perished, or lost beyond recovery: and accordingly fitted it for the Presse; But afterward upon second thoughts, and motions, mounting my Chronological Collections, (in relation to the Kings of our Isle) as high as the first preaching, embracing of the Gospel therein by the Apostles, or their Disciples, and to Lucius our first Christian King, and deducing them down to King John, in a more copious manner then I originally intended; (a Work of much pains, search, study, difficulty, requiring farr longer time to compile then this Tome, & swelling to another large Folio Volume;) and my Chronological Introduction to it from Adam, (the first Monarch in the World) till Christs Ascension into Heaven; and from thence, (in relation to the Roman, Greek, German Emperors, and other Christian Kings in forreign parts, till our modern age, thought fit to be superadded) amounting to another Volume, requiring a larger proportion of time then I can yet promise to my self, had I no other publike or private Divertions to interrupt its progresse: I was thereupon not only induced, but in some sort necessitated to prapone this Second Tome in point of publication, before the First, lest death or sickness should deprive posterity of both. Whereas if God shall preserve my life, health; afford leisure and encouragement, I intend to publish the First, with other ensuing Tomes with all convenient expedition.

What the General, and particular Contents of this large Volume are, the Title Page, the Table of the Books and Chapters, and and Index in the cloze thereof, will fully satisfie the perusers. If any require an account from me, What persons may probably receive information or benefit thereby? I answer with all humility, and sobriety, That (if I be not much mistaken,) Our KINGS Themselves, their Great Officers of State in England and Ireland, the reverend, learned Prelates, Divines, Judges, Lawyers, Nobility, and Gentry in both these Kingdoms; and all studious professors of the Protestant Faith, or Romish Religion, may receive more or less advantage thereby in these particulars.

First, our Kings and Counsellors of State may herein discern, the antient Ecclesiastical and Civil Prerogatives, Jurisdictions, Rights, Liberties of the Kings, Crowns, Kingdoms, Churches, Clergy, Subjects of England and Ireland, herein vindicated; and by what Papal artifices, frauds, conspiracies, policies, treacheries, violences, instruments they were gradually invaded, undermined, encroached, usurped upon, and trodden under foot by Popes, their Legates, Nuncios, Agents, Confederates; how they were countermined, opposed, and those recovered from them by degrees.

2ly. Our Protestant Bishops, Clergy may here learn and discover, how treacherous, rebellious, seditious, undutifull, their Popish predecessors frequently were to our Kings, Kingdoms, Churches, yea to their own interests; how oppressed, fleeced, tyrannized over, vexed, squiesed, enforced to trot to and from Rome, and other foreign parts, whiles under the Tyrannical Usurped Jurisdiction, Citations, Censures, arbitrary Power, Rapines, Provisions, Oppressions of Popes, their Legates, Nuncios, and other Agents sent from Rome; and what just cause our Kings, Kingdoms, Churches had, in point of conscience, as well as policy for their publick ease, liberty, safety, tranquillity, prosperity, to cast off their Usurpations, Innovations, Oppressions, and renounce all subjection to, or communion with the Roman Pontifs, See, Court, for their manifold Corruptions, Extortions, Abuses, Frauds, unsatiable Avarice, detestable Tyranny, Bribery, Simony, Injustice, Ambition, Pride, Treachery, antimonarchical, and antichristian practises, which even our Popish Kings, Nobles, Commons, yea sundry of our most conscientious Romish Prelates, Monks, Priests, Historians publikely abominated, and protested against, with highest detestation. Which if now duly pondered by those of the Romish perswasion, may justly move, perswade them to reject both the pretended Authority, Sanctity, Infallibility, and real Corruptions of the Popes, Court, See, Church of Rome, and return to their due Allegiance to our Kings, and unto the bosom of our Reformed Church; wherein the true worship of God is more sincerely performed, his Word more orthodoxly, powerfully preached, his Sacraments more purely administred, then in any of the Roman Churches, or in the Popes own Chappels.

3ly. All Judges, Practisers, Students of the Common Laws in England or Ireland, may here peruse some memorable resolutions and Records concerning points of Law; many Excellent Rare Writs, Prohibitions, Patents, and other Records not formerly published, (for the most part hitherto unknown;) against the illegal Constitutions, Canons, Assemblies, Oathes, Inquisitions, Interdicts, Excommunications, Provisions, Extorsions, Rapines, Oppressions, Vexations, Citations, Appeals, & other Usurpations of Popes, Legats, Nuncios, Delegates of Rome; yea some of our Popish Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons, and their Ecclesiastical Officers, Courts, upon the Rights, Prerogatives of the Crown, the Kings Temporal Courts, Lawes; the Advowsons, rights, Properties of Patrons; the Liberties, consciences of the Subjects in England and Ireland, when ever invaded, or endangered by them.

4ly. The learned Nobility and Gentry of both Nations studious of History, Antiquity, Church or State-affairs, may herein peruse many rare, usefull Records, never formerly brought to publike view, illustrating divers obscure, rectifying some mistaken passages, supplying sundry defects in our Histories and Annals in the reigns of King John, and Henry the III. especially concerning the Archbishops, Bishops, Bishopricks, Affairs of Ireland, and sundry transactions between these Kings, their Embassadors, Procurators, and the Popes, Cardinals, Legates, Nuncios, Court of Rome, not extant in former Histories or Authors.

Perchance some Readers may demand, why I printed all the Records in their proper Latin or French Dialect, and most of the Historical passages interwoven with them out of Matthew Paris, Matthew Westminster, and other Latin Historians, Writers, in their own Language? I answer, I did it upon 3. accounts, 1. Because I conceived they would be more authentick, usefull, gratefull (especially to Lawyers and Gown-men) in their original proper Dialects, then in the best English Translation. 2ly. To avoid all cavills, exceptions of Criticks, or Romanists, against their translations, wherewith they would evade, when as now they cannot deny nor disprove their authority, being presented to them in their their proper words: 3ly. To make them more communicable and diffusive to Statesmen and Scholars in forraign parts.

If any Chronologers shall find fault, that some few Records and Historical passages herein mentioned are inserted out of their due Chronological series, or years to which they relate; If they consider, that this was occasioned, either by the continued series of the History to which they relate, hapning in divers years, which could not well be dis-joyned without greater inconveniences; or to unite some Records or Stories of the same kind together, illustrating or ratifying each other, though different in time; or else by casualty or oversight at the Press; and will if they observe how the distinct years, rolls of every Record, and of most Historians, are truly cited, quoted in the Text or Margin: I hope it will be reputed no Solecism, nor just ground of complaint.

Perhaps some other curious Perusers of this Work, may charge me with Tautologie, or surplusage, for inserting several Letters, Procurations of our Kings to Popes, Cardinals, and Proctors sent to Rome, or several Patents, and Prohibitions to distinct persons, Courts, running almost in the same words; But I hope the rarity and novelty of them, never formerly published in print, their confirmation and explanation of each other, (especially in cases of Prohibitions) and the matters contained in them, not mentioned in Story, together with my care to avoid the censure of omitting or concealing any records of this nature wherewith others might upbraid me: And the constant Practice of the Clergy, Popes, Prelates, Church and Laicks of Rome, (most likely to pick quarrels with me) in repeating sundry dozens, scores, if not hundreds of Pater-Nosters together on their Beads, (though that prayer was purposely instituted by Christ himself, to avoid and condemn all such repetitions) and likewise Reiterations of Ave-Maries, of the name of Jesus, and other Petitions, ejaculations in their Primers, Letanies, Missals, Jesus Psalters, Breviaries, Offices, Howers of the Virgin Mary, Manuals of Prayers, and other their Bookes of publike and private Devotion; will at least acquit, if not justifie me against this exception.

That which I deem some polite, dainty Readers will most censure me for, is want of Elegant, lofty, eloquent language, embellishments and transitions: But this defect, my declining age, want of competent time to review, polish every passage, together with the gravity, variety of the subject matter, the usual Vulgar stile of most of our Records and Law-books, will apologize for this defect: A plain English Garbe, modest natural beauty, busb, being in Gods and wise mens judgements, better, decenter, commendabler, then any fantastick * outlandish habit, a painted, spotted face, or effeminate, powdred, frizled head, not of Gods or Natures making, but the Barbers or Tyre-womans.

To conclude, all I shall desire of my ingenuons Readers, is, a friendly construction and kinde acceptation of these my Lucubrations, a free pardon of all defects, or involuntary oversights, ( if any shall occur therein ) together with their cordial prayers for Gods assistance, and enablement of me in the compleating of the remaining Tomes, if they shall be judged usefull for the publike, or gratefull to posterity: there being few or none I know, or hear of, who will probably be at the pains or cost to carry on or compleat them, when I am translated hence to a better world, and shall rest from all my Studies, labours in this. Farewell.

A Brief, Necessary INTRODUCTION to An Exact Chronological Vindication, &c. wherein the Antient Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction claimed and exercised by our Christian British, Roman, Saxon, Danish, Norman, and English Kings within their Dominions, is particularly stated; The Usurped pretended Universal Monarchy and Supream Authority of St. Peter, and Popes his imaginary Successors in his Chair at Rome, as well in Ecclesiasticals as Temporals, with their Claims, Titles to, and Grounds thereof, are concisely related, and fully refuted, subverted, even by the contradictory Practises, Devotions, Resolutions, Principles, Assertions of their Roman Church, Popes, Doctors, Votaries, concerning the Virgin Mary, and Christ; in opposition to our Reformed Protestant Churches and Religion.

His Second Tome being brought forth to the World's View before the First, I repute it not only convenient, but necessary, by way of Introduction to the Chronological and Historical part thereof, to present you with a Brief Account of these 2. particulars.

First, What Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction it is; that our Christian Kings and Monarchs, as GODS Chosen, have claimed, exercised over all Prelates, Spiritual or other persons; causes within their Kingdoms and Dominions by an antient undoubted Right in all ages, from their first Conversion to Christianity, as Supream Heads or Governors of them next under God, upon all emergent Occasions, unlesse when forcibly or fraudulently interrupted therein by Popes and Popish Prelates: and in what particular branches it principally consists:

Secondly, What pretended claims, the Popes or Bishops of Rome of later ages have made, and still make to the Supream, Universal Ecclesiastical, and likewise to the Sovereign, absolute Temporal Jurisdiction or Monarchy over all Patriarchs, Bishops, Clergymen, Emperors, Kings, Princes, Nobles, Laicks, Churches, Empires, Kingdoms, Nations throughout the World, whether Christian or Pagan; and particularly over our Kings, Kingdoms, Isles of Great Britain and Ireland:

Thirdly, By what fictitious Titles, Deeds or Conveyances, they derive and appropriate this Universal Ecclesiastical and Temporal Monarchy, wholly and solely to themselves and their successors in the See of Rome.

Fourthly, That the very Practises, Resolutions, and established Doctrines of their own Popes, Doctors, concerning the Virgin Mary, Christ, and Transubstantiation, refute, yea totally subvert this their pretended Title, Rights, unto this their Sovereign Universal Monarchy.

For the first of these: The Sovereign Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction claimed, exercised by our Kings, Monarchs, as GODS Chosen, over all Prelates, Persons, Causes within their Kingdoms, and Dominions in all ages, from their first conversion to Christianity, as Supream Heads or Governors of them next under God, upon all emergent occasions, is not (as our Romish Antagonists would perswade their seduced Protestants) an actual absolute authority to Administer the Word, Sacraments of Baptism &c. the Lords Supper, or confer holy Orders by their own actual imposition of hands, or exercise the Priests or Bishops peculiar ministerial Offices; nor yet by their Laws, Edicts, or Royal commands to abrogate, repeal, contradict, or dispense with any divine Laws, Precepts, Ordinances, Institutions, Duties, enjoined or prescribed by GOD himself to Nations, Articles of Religion, An. 1562. Artic. 36. confirmed by the Statute of 13 Eliz. ch. 12. Articles of Ireland, n. 57, 58. By which Speech in the Castle Chamber at Dublin, 22 Nov. An. 1628. Concerning the Oath of Supremacy, Lond. 1634.

See Bishop Jewels Defence of the Apology of the Church of England, part 1. ch. 2. divil. 3. part 6. ch. 11. 12, 13, 14, 15, 16. Queen Elizabeths Injunctions his Church or Christians in the Old or New Testament; nor to set up or countenance any Idolatry, Heresie, Sect, False Doctrine, Worship, Superstition, Innovation, Corruption, Vice repugnant to the Word of God; which all true Christian Monarchs, Kings, how great soever, have utterly disclaimed: but it<sup>b</sup> principally consists in these ensuing branches, which will best define and explain it.

First, in a Sovereign power by their Lawes, Edicts to command, enjoyn all Ecclesiastical and other persons whatsoever within their Dominions, to serve, worship, professe, fear, love, obey the only true God: to believe, embrace the Holy Scriptures, and Articles of Faith revealed in them; to observe, keep, use all Gods moral Commandements, Evangelical Precepts, Sacraments, Institutions; perform all religious publike and private duties prescribed to them in their respective places, callings, as Christians, relating unto God, as well as to men; and to punish all such by themselves or their subordinate Ecclesiastical or Civil Magistrates, who shall obstinately, willfully or supinely offend in any of the premises, with Ecclesiastical or Civil censures, according to the quality of their persons and offences.

2ly. To prohibit, suppress, and extirpate to their power all Atheism, Blasphemy, Heresie, Idolatry, Paganism, Irreligion, False worships, Religions, Errors, Superstitions, Sects, Schisms, Prophanations, Crimes, tending to Gods dishonor, the prejudice or scandal of the true Religion, the endangering of their Subjects souls, or disturbance of the Churches as well as Kingdoms publick peace, by Laws, Edicts, and suitable punishments; inflicted on all who are guilty of such offences, as opportunity shall require.

3ly. To protect, maintain, countenance, encourage the Churches, Ministers, and people of God committed to their care in the faithfull publick and private discharge of their Christian duties both towards God and man.

4ly. To provide a competent number and succession of pious, holy, learned, painfull, able Bishops, Ministers, Pastors, diligently to preach, teach Gods Word, catechize, instruct both by Doctrine and Conversation; pray with, for, administer the Sacraments duely, and perform all other Episcopal, ministerial offices to them, and all their Subjects throughout their Realms; To provide competent maintenance for them: to enjoyn them diligently, faithfully to discharge their pastoral duties; avoid all scandals, offences, exorbitances in Doctrine, Life: And to rebuke, correct, remove, deprive them for negligence, Heresie, Scisme, Simony, Scandalous Crimes, and other offences in, or against their sacred places and Functions.

5ly. To prescribe, institute publike standing Sacred dayes, Festivals, Fasts for Gods ordinary publike worship; and Church-meetings, extraordinary Festivals, Fasts, Humiliations upon extraordinary emergent Occasions, (as Mercies, Victories, Dangers, Wars, Pestilences or other Judgements) and see them religiously observed.

6ly. To erect new Churches, Chappels, Parishes, Bishopricks, Archbishopsricks, Colleges, Houses of Religion; divide, unite, or dissolve old; to translate Bishops Sees from one City to another; yea Abbies, Priories into Bishopricks, & Bishopricks into Archbishopsricks; To endow them with what Ecclesiastical Priviledges, Franchises, Jurisdictions, Exemptions they please: to limit the bounds of their Diocesses, Provinces; exempt what peculiars, Churches, Free Chappels, Religious Houses, Societies they think meet from their Archiepiscopal or Episcopal Visitations, Jurisdictions, Censures; To settle their respective precedencies in all publike Councils, Solemnities, and determin all Controversies concerning the same.

7ly. To elect, nominate, approve, confirm; (yea antiently to invest per Annulum & Baculum) all Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, and present to all Ecclesiastical Dignities, Offices, Benefices any ways belonging to their Crowns by patronage, lapse, or other prerogative, upon vacancies by death, translation, Simony, resignation or deprivation. To grant Charters, Licenses to Deans, Chapters, Convents or other persons to elect Bishops, Abbots, &c. yet so as to approve, or disapprove their Elections, when made and tendred to them for their approbation, upon just exceptions; To alter the manner of such elections for special reasons: To command Archbishops, Bishops, & other Officers by their Writs to ordain, consecrate, install, admit, institute, induct them when elected, approved, or Clerks presented by them, at such convenient times, places as they shall prescribe; and to punish them for their contempts or neglects therein: To remove, translate Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Priests, and other Religious Persons; yea transfer their Temporalities, Revenues, Glebes, Tithes, Tithes, Reliques at their royal pleasures, from one Archbishoprick, Bishoprick, Abbey, Priory, Benefice, Order, Church to another, upon just or necessary reasons of piety, or state polity for the publike good.

8ly. To seise, sequester, and enjoy to their own proper uses, the Temporalities, revenues of all Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, and other Ecclesiastical dignities, during their Vaeancies, with all incident profits any wayes belonging thereunto, till they in their piety, justice or prudence shall deem convenient to fill them with successors.

12ly. To receive, hear and determine; by themselves, their Assistants or Delegates, all final Appeals from, or Complaints against the irregular Proceedings, or unjust Sentences of any Ecclesiastical Councils, Synods, Archbishops, Bishops, Courts, or Jurisdictions whatsoever; (who have no more, nor other Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction nor consance of any causes whatsoever, commonly stiled * Spiritual or Ecclesiastical, but what they by their Lawes, Charters, Concessions under their Great Seals have conferred on them; and what they derive by, from, under them, and execute in their rights, steads, names, by their authority.) To prohibit, restrain, redresse by their Prohibitions and other Writs from time to time (wherewith our Records abound) all such illegal Vsurpations, Encroachments of Jurisdiction upon their Royal Prerogatives, Temporal Courts, Jurisdictions, Lawes, or the Properties, Rights, Liberties, Consciences of their Subjects, by Ecclesiastical Constitutions, Canons, Visitations, Convents, Inquisitions, Oathes, Vexations, Interdicts, Excommunications, Sequestrations, Exorsions, Procurations, or any other Extravagances.

13ly. To prohibit any Ecclesiastical Prelates, Persons, to resort to General Councils beyond the Seas; unless specially licensed, elected, sent, or permitted by them; or assemble in any Synods or Convocations within their Realms, without their summons, or to debate, conclude any thing in them to the derogation or prejudice of their Crowns or Kingdoms; or * excommunicate any of their Barons, Officers, Tenants in Capite, or any persons inhabiting within their Cities, Burroughs, Castles, Manors, ancient Demesnes, without their precedent privy and license, if within the Realm, or license of their Lieutenants, Chief Justice, or the Chief Officers of such Cities, Boroughs, Castles, Manors, or Demesnes: And command them when they or other Subjects are unjustly or illegally excommunicated, to absolve, and release them too; if imprisoned upon a Capias Excommunicatum, * without any Oath at all, or pledges ad remanendum, upon caution or pledges given, only to stand to the judgement of the Church.

14ly. To appoint Vicegerents general, or other Commissioners of their natural born Subjects, by their Letters Patents under the Great Seal, to visit the Ecclesiastical State, persons, and punish, correct, order and redresse by Ecclesiastical Cen-

tures in their rights and by their authority all Heresies, errors, crimes, offences, contempts whatsoever, punishable by the Ecclesiastical or Spiritual Lawes of their Realms.

15ly. To nominate and appoint what Archbishop or Bishop should annoint, crown, or re-crown Them or their Queens, Sons; and at what times, places; notwithstanding any pretences of custom, or prescription to the contrary.

17ly. To prohibit the alienation of Lands from, by, or in mortmain, unto any Ecclesiastical or religious persons, houses; or the appropriation of any benefices to them, without their special License; or the ordination of the sonnes of Villains by Ordinaries to be Priests, Deacons, or the admission of them, or any Infants to be Monks or Nunnes, by Abbots, Priors, Abbesses, without their Lords or Parents previous assents.

19ly. To denounce Anathemas, Execrations, and Excommunications by their own royal Charters, as likewise with and by their Bishops, against all infringers or violators of their Charters, and the Donations, Priviledges, granted in or by them to Monasteries, religious Houses, or to the generality of their Subjects, by the Great Charters of the Liberties of England, and the Forrest, and by other publike or private Charters; And to command their Bishops to excommunicate all such as should take up arms against, or deprive them of their just Rights.

20ly. To prohibit all their Archbishops, Bishops, Clergy, Subjects to own, acknowledge, or receive any person for Pope, ( especially in cases of Schismes and pluralities of elected Popes ) but such as themselves should first receive, admit, and proclaim to be a lawful Pope, upon due examination of the legality of their Electors, claims in Councils or Synods specially summoned by them for that purpose. To disown them, their Papal authority, Legates, Bulls, when and whiles they opugned, disowned their just Regal Jurisdictions, Rights, Lawes, or requests: and To set up new Popes in opposition against them upon just occasions.

21ly. To prohibit all Appeals to Popes or the Court of Rome: All resort of any of their Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, or other Ecclesiastical persons to the Popes presence, Court of Rome, Councils upon summons or otherwise, without their special license first obtained, under pain of High Treason, banishment, confiscation of their estates, and other penalties: nor yet during Papal schismes or vacancies of Popes, to seek for any confirmations, Dispensations, or Faculties from Rome, but only from their own Metropolitans.

23ly. To prohibit any Bulls, Letters, Messengers, to be sent out of, to, or brought from Popes, or the Court, Agents of Rome, into their Realms or Dominions, ( especially in times of jealousy, discord or variance between our Kings and Popes, Bishops ) under pain of imprisonment and other mulfets; and command all Officers of the Cinque-ports and other Havens, diligently to search after and seise such Bulls, Letters, and the importers or exporters of them, with care and diligence.

24ly. To prohibit their Papal Laws, Canons, Decretals to be read, used, taught, professed or executed in their Realms, and order their books to be torn, burnt; the the professors of their Canon Lawes to be silenced, as inconsistent with, repugnant to the Lawes, Customes, Peace, Profit of the Realm; the Rights, Privileges of their Crowns, and oppressive, vexatious to their Subjects. To order all Canons made by their own Bishops, Convocations, without or against their Royal assents and their Nobles in Parliament, or in derogation of their Lawes, Crowns, Rights, or Subjects Liberties, to be null'd, revoked, suppressed.

25ly. To prohibit under paines of Premunire, and other severe punishments, all Papal Provisions, or Donations of Bishopricks, Ecclesiastical Livings, Dignities or Preferments; All Collections of Annates, Firstfruits, Peter-pence, Croysadoes, Procurations, Dismes, Tenths, and other Extortions by Popes and their Agents; To banish their Legates, Nuncios, Italian or other Merchants, Usurers, Brokers, and other instruments of Rapine, Oppression, Extortion; with their forreign beneficed Clergymen, (who devoured, transported the wealth, disclosed the secrets of their Realms, but starved the souls of their Subjects,) out of their Dominions; Yea Popes themselves, with their whole Papal usurped Jurisdiction, Errors, Superstitions, Innovations, repugnant to Christs institutions, and the sacred Scriptures.

In these respective Heads, and some other particulars of lesse moment, which may be reduced under them, the Sovereign antient Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction claimed and exercised by our Kings from time to time, doth principally consist, as our Histories and Records attest beyond contradiction. Which (though sometimes hindred, interrupted by the unchristian Interdicts, Excommunications, and antimonarchical Practices of insolent Tyrannical Domineering Popes; seconded with the execrable Treasons, Conspiracies, Rebellions of their own Prelates, Subjects, or forreign potent Enemies excited by and confederating with these Roman Pontifs) they still claimed and retrieved at last.

For the 2<sup>d</sup>. The Popes of Rome, (as St. Peter's pretended Successors in his wooden Chair reserved at Rome (for which Pope <sup>a</sup> Paul the 4th. Anno 1557. instituted an Annual solemn Festival to be celebrated by all the Catholick Church, on Jan. 18. and to which the Popes pretended Supremacy and Infallibility are annexed) and as Christs Universal Vicars, Successors, in his Regal and Sacerdotal Sovereign Power over all powers, creatures, both in heaven, earth, and under the earth,) do challenge to themselves, a General Sovereign Monarchical Jurisdiction, as well in Temporal, as Spiritual and Ecclesiastical things, over all Churches, Empires, Kingdoms, Nations, Bishops, Clergymen of what degree soever, and all Emperors, Kings, Princes, Potentates, Persons throughout the World, as well Pagan as Christian; not only to feed and instruct them, as their Universal Pastors, but likewise to root out, pull, or throw down, destroy, plant, build up, remove, depose, rule, correct them with Ecclesiastical and Temporal censures, and to dispose of, transferr, their Dominions, Crowns, Scepters, Bishopricks, Benefices, as they shall seem meet, and give them to whomsoever they please; yea their usurped power is so absolute, that to use their own words, instances in some, not all particulars; Papa de plenitudine potestatis, potest declarare, limitare, et dispensare, contra Jus divinum, et contra Apostolum; Potest tollere jus positivum sine causa. <sup>d</sup> Est super omnia Concilia, quæ interpretatur, tollit, corrigit et alterat. Potest omnes res Ecclesiæ alienare, etiam si jurasset non alienare, quia sibi non potest imponere legem etiam jurando. Potest ultimas voluntates mortuorum alterare et commutare, and that sine causa, (against Gods and all other mens resolutions, Gal. 3. 15.) In brief, Papa est Juxta Ordinarius omnium hominum totius mundi, et potest citare et judicare quemlibet ubicunque existentem. Papa omnia potest de plenitudine potestatis quam solus habet, cæterorum Principum nullus; Yea ejus sententiæ est standum, etiam si contradiceret Ecclesiæ: For Papa solus potest sententiam definitivam proferre in Episcopos totius orbis: Yet he alone is so supertranscendently paramount all other persons whatsoever, that Papa nec de, nec pro ullo crimine deponi, judicari, redargui, vel accusari, potest etiam si esset incorrigibilis, et perseveret in peccato notorio, vel turbaret statum Universalis Ecclesiæ, quoniam superiorem caret coram quo posset accusari, et ex quo non potest ab alio judicari, frustra esset denunciatio et admonitio; none being obliged so much as to admonish him privately for the most notorious scandalous crimes, but only those Grandees qui circa ejus latus sunt, sed rereverenter, non per modum correctionis; rectionis, sed per reverentiam charitatis: Yea, if<sup>h</sup> Cardinal Bellarmine may be credited, Si Papa erraret præcipiendo vitia, et prohibendo virtutes (as some Popes have done) tenetur Ecclesia credere vitia esse bona, et virtutes malas, nisi vellet contra conscientiam peccare, nec de hac re dubitare, sed simpliciter obedire: Or, if he should send innumerable souls to Hell (by illegal Excommunications, or such impious commands, his evil example, or absolute will) yet, nemo potest illi dicere, Domine cur ita facis? And this must be believed, * de necessitate salutis, under pain of Heresy and Damnation..

I shall instance in more considerable branches of the Popes Monarchical Power, insisted on by Dr. Marta and others quoted by him, to wit, <sup>1</sup> Papa potest excommunicare et privare omnes Reges et Principes sua dignitate, et absolvere eorum subditos a Sacramento, ne eis fidelitatem obserbent, recusantes stare capitulationi pacis, of Popes prescribing: et potest Regna, Civitates, vel Castra interdicerere, vel auferre uni et dare alteri, pro bono pacis: et propter pacem publicam, potest remittere omnia damna et injurias subditorum. <sup>2</sup> Appellandum est ad Papam ex transmarinis Ecclesiis, ab Episcopis totius Orbis, a Conciliis, ab Imperatore et Regibus, et ab omnibus potestatibus, et eorum sententia ad Papam: Sed non a sententia Papæ ad Imperatorem, vel Concilium est appellandum. <sup>3</sup> Statutum vel Privilegium a Papa concessum, nullo modo potest prohibere, ne habeatur recursus vel appellatio ad Papam, quia Pontifex Summus est Iudex Ordinarius omnium hominum totius mundi, et Ecclesia Romana est Refugium omnium oppressorum. Sed a Judicibus Laicis appellatur ad Papam, quando injustitia Imperatoris vel Regis, aut aliorum Principum non recognoscentium superiorem, est notoria. Non solum ratione peccati commissi propter notoriam injustitiam, vel quia ipsius causa potest turbare pacem universalem, sed etiam ratione propriæ temporalis Jurisdictionis quam Summus Pontifex habet in Universo. Yea, <sup>4</sup> Leges Principum Secularium etiam ad publicam utilitatem et necessitatem conditæ, nullo modo ligant Ecclesiasticos, nisi fuerint a Pontifice confirmatæ. Clerici et Ecclesiæ, etiam volentes et cum Episcopi auctoritate, non tenentur ad onera publica, vel subsidia, vel annona, vel tributa, nisi consulto et approbante Romano Pontifice: That the Pope (and Bishop too) may repeal, null all Laws of Emperors, Kings, kingdoms, against the Priviledges, Canons, Constitutions of the Church or Clergy: Et quod possit præcipere Laicis, ut cassent hujusmodi statuta de libro Statutorum, alias submittere locum interdicto. Yea Bishops, Clergymens persons, lands, estates, goods, are so wholly exempt frõ any Secular Jurisdiction by the Laws of God (as they stile their Canons) & the Church, that

<sup>5</sup> Nullus Clericus etiam in flagranti crimine repertus, vel de fuga suspectus, potest nullo modo capi, vel prehendi per Laicos, vel Laicos Principes aut Judices. Yea such is their malice to Christian Emperors, Kings, Princes, and temporal Judges, (to whom they will allow no Jurisdiction at all in or over Ecclesiastical persons or things) that they resolve,

tween King Henry the 2. and Becket Archbishop of Canterbury) quod Rex habeat Jurisdictionem cognoscendi in Clericos, non valet: Et hanc opinionem tenet Innocentius in c. postulasti de foro compet. Archid. in c. 1. n. 2. glossa eodem, tit. l. 6. Ricardus de Curte, in tract. de consuetudine, sect. 5. m. 31. Rebuffus, super concordatis Francie, in tit. de protectione concordatorum, col. vers. fin. Tertio inferitur, Stephanus Aufser, in Addit. ad Capit. Thol. de q. 126. And which is yet far more, Popes and Popish Canonists assert, Statutum puniens Concubinas Clericorum (made by Christian Kings or Emperors) non valere: Et, Judices seculares nullo modo posse animadvertere in Concubinas Clericorum, nisi in subdium, impozati prius pro brachio ab Ecclesiasticis; Quia Concubina Clericorum, etiam respectu concubinatus sunt de foro Ecclesiastico, et nullo modo illarum animadversio respectu dicti concubinatus pertinet ad Judices Laicos: Quia ratione adjuncti, concubinatu patrato per Clericum, Concubina efficitur de foro Ecclesie; et ad Ecclesiasticum judicem est remittenda: quia Concubina Clericorum dicuntur deorum familia, et ibidem privilegium habet familia quod Dominus. Nec possunt Principes aut Judices Laici punire Concubinas Clericorum ob negligentiam Judicis Ecclesiastici, quia hoc non est jure Canonico dispositum, et regula incurtenda Excommunicationis (which they must incur by punishing them, even in case of their wilful neglect) est in contrarium. For which Dr. Maria cites Antonium de Prato, Ubertinus de Carreggio, Stephanus Aufserius, Boffius, Joannes de Ardeno, Alciatus, Menochius, Socinus, Sapia, Andreas Siculus, Socinus Junior, Bartolus, Parisius, Panormitanus, Goffredus, Ferrarius, Beomond (in tractatu de Concubinis) Riminaldus senior, Riminaldus junior, Folleriis, and the Bull of Pope Leo the 10. de publicis Concubinis, resolving, Cognitio istius criminis Clericorum & eorum Concubinarum pertinet ad solos Ecclesie Prelatos; Et Pontifex Leo prohibet per hac verba Secularibus, ne se intromittant circa hujusmodi animadversionem. Preterea inhibemus omnibus Secularibus viris, etiam si regali praeferant dignitate, ne ullum qualecunque inferant impedimentum, quocunque quasto colore, Prelatis, qui ratione officii sui, adversus subditos suos pro hujusmodi concubinato, et aliis causis, sibi a jure (Canonico) permisis, procedant; (by punishing them by their Lay Jurisdictiones) Nulla ergo voluntas Christianissimi Regis praelimi potest in ferendo legem, in animadvertendis Clericorum Concubinis; quod cum jure Canonico, tam specialiter per ipsum Pontificem inhibuit fuerat. Statutum itaque, de puniendis Concubinis Clericorum per Judices seculares nullo modo valere potest, (though convicted thereof, per sententiam, aut confessionem in jure factam, seu per rei evidentiam, qua nulla potest tergiversatione celari) quia est contra libertatem Ecclesie. Prima ratio est, quia cum hac cognitio (as well as fornicatio) pertineat ad Ecclesiam, hoc statutum esset de directo contra Ecclesie Jurisdictionem, et ita libertatem illius infringeret, ita in terminis hujus Statuti probat Felynus in Ecclesia Sanctae Mariae, n. 102. de Constit. Secunda ratio est valde notabilis Petri de Ancharan in Conf. 196. n. 4. Quia per hoc Statutum deteguntur crimina Clericorum, et infamarentur saltem de facto, et in mentibus fidelium scandalum generaretur, as Jacobus Berthechinus, Iason, Rebuffus, Jo. de Anania and Felynus (in their Texts there cited) conclude; et consuetudo et statutum emanans ad opprobrium Cleri (as they stile it, though in truth for their honor and reformation, springing meerly from the Piety and Justice of every Christian Emperor, King, State, to punish the Incontinency, adultery, Whores, Concubines of any Priests, Prelates, though Popes and Bishops connive at, or neglect to punish them) Non tenet: as Pope Leo and all the forecited Popish Doctors, (or rather Panders for the Romish lecherous Clergy) magisterially resolve: And that with this further addition, in derogation of the Temporal as well as Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction of all Christian Emperors and Kings; Laici non possunt coercere ius Canonicum, nec derogare juri Canonico, in this or any superaddo; Laici non possunt facere testimonium contra Clericos in causa criminali, quia Laici sunt suspecti, infesti et odiosi Clericis. And all this by the Popes, Bishops, Clergies transcendent Sovereign Jurisdiction, who by their Canons and Constitutions may null and controule all Kings, Princes penall Laws, against their crimes, vices, persons, estates, or pretended Priviledges, eclipse, restrain, suspend, abrogate their Regal Ecclesiastical and secular Jurisdctions, and render them meer cyphers at their pleasures, resolving further by their Canons; Laici sunt omnino incapaces jurisdictionis Ecclesiasticae, nec longa consuetudine, nec temporis cuiuscunque decursu, nec prescriptionibus etiam immemorabilibus, neque ex scientia et tolerantia Summi Pontificis, sine consensu tacito, aut privilegio, jurisdictio in Ecclesiasticos, vel eorum bona acquireretur, quae Principibus probesse non possunt. Statuta Laicorum non sunt servanda in Curia Episcopali, nec ligant Ecclesiasticos, nisi fuerint expresse approbata per Papam: no though, edita in patrocinium Clericorum, si statuta sint per modum legis. And yet not only Bishops, Priests, but all Emperors, Kings, and secular Judges must rigorously observe and obey all their Antimonarchical Canons, Laws, Imo in foro seculari, et ibi causa iuramenti, et similes decidentur secundum jus Canoniceum. These with sundry other Antimonarchical particulars you may read asserted at large in *Franciscum Bozzius Engubinus, De Temporalis Ecclesiae Monarchia, lib. 5. printed Coloniz Agrip. 1602. dedicated to Pope Clement the 8. in Thomas Bozzius, De Temporalis Ecclesiae Monarchia, Coloniz 1602. After which he subjoyns; Quapropter Bernardus, ad Eugenium, tanquam ad summum Pietarchicum in cælo Ecclesiæ virum, in quo erat omnis potestas super omnes Potestates tam cæli quam terræ, recte scripsit, Tibi data est omnis potestas, in qua totum dicit, nihil excludit. Thus have you heard the altitude, universality, and extent of this their Papal supertranscendent power in general.

What particular claims, Titles, Popes and their Advotates for them, have made to the City and Empire of Rome, Germany, the Isles and Dominions of Sardinia, Corsica, Canaries, Nigraria, and all other Islands whither the light of the Gospel hath been diffused; the Indies and New World, the Dukedome of Lorraine, Switzerland, the respective Kingdoms of Aragon, Bohemia, Cassel, Croatia, Dalmatia, Denmark, France, Granada, Hungary, Jerusalem, Italy, Lyons, Majorca, Minorca, Naples, Navarre, Poland, Portugal, Russia, Sicily, Spain, Transylvania, Wallachia, and particularly to our Kingdoms of England, Ireland, and Scotland, you may read at leisure in Dr. Marti, De Jurisdictione, pars 1. cap. 26. For the third particular, by what fictitious and perverted sacred Charters Popes claim this their transcendent power and Universal Monarchy, the premised Authors will informe you, and I have * elsewhere at large related. The Texts they principally insist on are Gen. 1. 16. Jer. 1. 10. Psal. 2. 8. Psal. 72. 8. Isa. 9. 6, 7. Psal. 45. 16. Psal. 89. 27, 37, 38. Dan. 2. 44. c. 4. 3, 34. c. 6. 26. c. 7. 14, 27. Mich. 4. 7. Ephes. 1. 20, 21. Luke 1. 23. Mat. 16. 14, 18, 19. John 21. 15, 16, 17. All which the premised Popish Authors and others blasphemously or absurdly apply and appropriate to St. Peter and themselves, as pretended successors to Christ, in his Kingly and Priestly Sovereign power. I shall only mention and insist on two Texts more, as properest for their purpose.

The first is Mat. 28. 18, 19, 20. where our Saviour Christ, immediately before his ascension into heaven, after his triumphant resurrection from the dead, spake thus to his eleven Disciples jointly, (not to Peter alone) saying, All power is given unto me, both in heaven and in earth: Go ye therefore and teach all Nations, &c. and lo I am with you alwayes, unto the end of the world. Whence they thus * inferre by head and shoulders; Ergo all this power in heaven and earth then given to Christ, was immediately at his corporal ascension into heaven, transferred to, appropriated by him wholly and solely to St. Peter, and his Successors at Rome, (not Antioch his first See) as Christs immediate Successors or Vicars in his Regal and Sacerdotal Sovereignty. For answer heretunto, I would here seriously demand of any ingenious Papist, or religious Votary to the See of Rome, whether there be one syllable, or the least implication in this Text, 1. That this Sovereign Power was then given to our Saviour, only on purpose to delegate the immediate right or exercise of it both in heaven and earth, to any other person or persons? Or 2ly, That it was transferred wholly and solely to St. Peter, but not to the rest of the Disciples, to whom Christ then jointly spake these words, and as much to any other of them as to Peter; with this superadded precept and promise, inferred and deducted from this his power, Go ye (in the plural number, not thou Peter, or Peter only) therefore into all the world, &c. And lo I am with you (all, not with Peter alone, and his Roman Successors) alwayes, even unto the end of the world. Or 3ly, What shadow of evidence can they produce, that St. Peter ever claimed or exercised such a Sovereign power; as then delegated to him by Christ; which himself professedly several times disclaimed, both in words, deeds, and writing, as Acts 2. 34, 35, 36. ch. 4. 10, 11. ch. 5. 31, 32. ch. 8. 14. ch. 10. 25, 36, 42. ch. 11. 2, to 19.

1 Pet. 2. 6, 7, 13, 14, 17. ch. 5. 1, to 7. 2 Pet. 2. 1, 10. ch. 3. 2, 15. directly and infallibly assure us, against this Pontifical whimsy. Or 4ly. What irrefragable proof, that St. Peter ever sat an actual or sole Bishop of Rome, or fixed his Sovereign Episcopal Chair or See for ever in it? which the Sacred and Evangelical story seems to <sup>a</sup> contradict. Or 5ly. That ever Christ himself, or St. Peter, transferred or perpetually appropriated this Sovereign Universal Kingly and Priestly power, to any or every the Bishops of Rome that should succeed him in that See, (in case he ever sat there) to the end of the world, though an Heretick, Schismatick, Adulterer, Sodomite, Nicomancer, Symoniack, Childe, Tyrant, or the most ambitious, avaricious, vitious, flagitious, luxurious, impious, atheistical Prelate ever breathing in the world, as many of them have been, or a notorious strumpet, (as Pope Jone) as their <sup>b</sup> own & other Historians attest; to omit the frequent plurality of Popes at once, condemning, excom-municating, murdering, degrading one another, as antichristian and uncanonical. Till all these with other particulars be fully demonstrated by Scripture, or other irrefragable Authorities, not by their own Testimonies in their own cases, this Text (to which themselves entitle the Virgin Mary, as Queen, Emperesse of heaven and earth) will no more evince St. Peters or the Popes Universal Monarchy, then those premised.

Their second claim and <sup>c</sup> Title to it, is Phil. 2. 9, 10, 11. Wherefore God hath highly exalted him, (Christ Jesus, not Peter) and given him (not Peter or his Roman successors) a Name above every Name; that in the Name of Jesus (not Peter or the Pope of Rome) every knee should bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth: And that every tongue should confesse that Jesus Christ (not Peter, nor the Pope) is Lord, to the glory of God the Father, (not of St. Peter or his successors at Rome.) But how this Text (which they likewise alledge for the Virgin Marys Universal Monarchy) can with any colour of truth, or without highest blasphemy, injury to Christ, be applied, appropriated by Popes and their Parasites to Mary, or to Peter and themselves, as Christs Vicars upon earth, let all who have judgement or conscience discern: Since St. Paul the Apostle hath appropriated it to Jesus Christ alone, <sup>d</sup> as highly exalted to, and sitting down on his Fathers throne, at the right hand of his Majesty, in the highest heavens, as his words expressly resolve; and it is altogether incommunicable to St. Peter, much more to Popes, as every syllable in the Text, context, and the illative Wherefore, infallibly demonstrates. They must therefore for ever disclaim any colour, right or Title to this their Universal Soveraign Monarchy, or any other mis-alleged Texts, which I have <sup>e</sup> elsewhere answered at large, and shall not here insist on.

The original basis, ground-work, reason of St. Peters and the Popes Universal Monarchy, in Temporals and Spirituals, is thus laid down by <sup>f</sup> Dr. Marta and other Pontificians: Duo tempora consideramus in Christo. Alterum ante passionem; & tunc propter humilitatem judicare recusavit. Nam Lucæ c. 12. dixit, Quis me constituit divisorem inter vos? & Joan. c. 18. Regnum meum non est de hoc mundo. Alterum vero post resurrectionem, & tunc dixit; Data est mihi omnis potestas in cælo & in terra: Mat. ult. & Joan. ult. Sed post resurrectionem dedit potestatem Petro, eumque constituit Vicarium suum: (transferring all this his Sovereign Power both in heaven and earth, to him: and the Pope of Rome.) Ergo ex potestate Domini, metimur potestatem Vicarii. Et Pontifex Romanus similem habet potestatem divinorum, & jurisdictionem in temporalibus & spiritualibus, quam habuit Christus Dominus noster, ut perfectus homo: Et ex ordinatione divina constitutus est super gentibus & regnis, & habet utramque potestatem de & per se, & potest jurisdictionem temporalium temporaliter, non autem directe tantum exercere. So as by their determinations, St. Peter and Roman Popes had neither any Temporal Sovereign Regal or Pontifical Universal power over all Kingdoms, Nations, Churches, Monarchs, Bishops in the world before, but only from and after Christs resurrection and ascension into heaven, when he both received all Power in heaven and earth formerly promised, and then given him by his Father, and immediately transmitted the right and exercise thereof to St. Peter, and Popes succeeding him at Rome, (not Antioch his first See) as his sole Successors and Vicars, to manage both his Kingly and Priestly offices on earth, during ring his personal absence from his Church, by reason of his corporal residence at his Fathers right hand in heaven, untill his second coming to Judgement; he having no need of a Vicar general, or Successor to represent his person, or supply his corporal absence from his Church, and exercise his Kingly or Priestly offices whilst bodily present upon earth, and therefore instituted none till he ascended into heaven. So as Christs corporal absence from the earth, upon his departure to heaven in his humane nature, and bodily presence; and the necessity and conveniency (as they hold) of one Universal Vicar and Viceroy, to supply his bodily absence, and succeed him in the execution of these his offices in the Church Militant throughout the world, are the sole reason, ground, foundation of St. Peters and the Popes pretended Temporal and Ecclesiastical Monarchy. And if this basis thereof be once subverted, the whole superstructure must presently fall to the ground, and come to ruine. I shall therefore in the 4th. place addressse my self to undermine this foundation, with all convenient brevity: 1. By expresse Scriptures. 2ly. By the Resolutions, Canons, Decretals, Doctrines, Practices of the Church, Councils, Popes, Cardinals, Schoolmen, Casuists, Canonists, Civilians of the Church of Rome, in opposition to those of the Protestant Religion, relating to the Virgin Maries Monarchy, and Christs corporal presence still on earth, which utterly subvert St. Peters and Popes pretended Regal and Pontifical Supremacy depending on it.

The Scriptures I shall cite are these. The first is, *Ephes. 4. 8, 11, 12. When he (to wit Christ) ascended up on high, (to heaven) he led captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men. And he gave some (not Peter alone) to be Apostles, and some Prophets, and some Evangelists, and some Pastors, and Teachers, for the perfecting of the Saints, for the work of the Ministry, and for the edifying of the body of Christ: Compared with 1 Cor. 12. 28, 29. And God hath set some (not one) in the Church; first Apostles, (not Peter to be first or sole Apostle) secondly Prophets, thirdly Teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healing, helps, governments, (not Peter to be sole or supreme Governour) diversity of tongues. Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all Teachers? are all workers of miracles? have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret? Here St. Paul by the Spirit of God, enumerates what ever gifts Christ at his ascension into heaven bestowed on his Apostles, Church, or men in general. In which Texts it is observable; First, That there is not one syllable of any peculiar gift, much lesse of all his Regal and Sacerdotal power in heaven and earth, then bestowed on Peter or any of his successors; as his sole Universal Vicars or successors in both; which being a matter of so grand moment to his Church, as Popes and Pontificians deem it, would certainly have been specified, and not pretermitted by St. Paul; yea by all the four Evangelists, the Penmen of the Acts of the Apostles, and by St. Peter himself in his large Oration to the Apostles, in his first Sermon to the Jews and strangers at Jerusalem, immediately after Christs ascension, Acts. ch. 1. & 2. & 3. & 4. in his Sermon to Cornelius, Acts. 10. and in both his own Epistles generall, wherein there is not the least mention or intimation of any such gift or power bestowed on him by Christ, but the contrary. 2ly. That the first gift he then bestowed on men, was Apostles, or Apostleships; not worldly Empires, Kingdoms, Nations, Crowns, Scepters, Principalities, Dominions; and that upon all the eleven Apostles; not St. Peter alone, in the self-same equality and degree, at the very time of Christs ascension, and immediately after on Matthias, chosen in the place of Judas; as is undeniable by Christs giving all the Apostles the self-same Apostolical mission and Commission, when he declared to them, that all power was given unto him both in heaven and in earth, Mat. 28. 16, 18, 19, 20. by St. Peters and the other Apostles own resolutions, Acts 1. 15, to the end; especially vers. 22, 23, 25, 26. Acts. 5. 31, 32. c. 10. 38, 41, 42. 1 Pet. 1. 1. c. 5. 1. 2 Pet. 1. 1, 16. c. 3. 2, 15. Gal. 2. 7, 8, 9, 11. and by the Holy Ghosts descending equally on them all in cloven tongues, and giving them all equally the gifts of tongues, within few dayes after Christs ascension, Acts 2. 1, to 10. 3ly. That both the Commission, and all gifts Christ gave to the Apostles joyntly, or to others at his ascension, were only Ministerial, not Imperial, Judicial, or Magistratical; to wit, * for the perfecting of the Saints, for the work of the Ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ; not to be Sovereign Universal Monarchs over all Empires, Kingdoms, Nations, Churches of the world; to root out, pull or throw down, destroy, build, plant them at their pleasure, or to exercise Sovereign Dominion* over the Lords Churches, heritage, or other Christians faith; expressly prohibited them by Christ, and disclaimed both by St. Paul and Peter, Mat. 20. 25, 26. Luke 22. 25, 26. 1 Pet. 2. 13, 14. c. 5. 1, 2, 3, 5. 2 Cor. 1. 24. Rom. 13. 1, to 7. Tit. 3. 1.

The second sort of Texts are, Acts 2. 34, 35, 36. where St. Peter himself in his first Sermon to the Jews and Gentiles at the feast of Pentecost, soon after Christs ascension into heaven, asserts and proclaims with the highest confidence that can be, both to all Jews and Gentiles, that Christ did not transferre his Sovereign power which God conferred on him, after his triumphant resurrection, unto him, or his successors at Rome, but reserved it entirely in and to himself, till the end of the world; in these observable expressions. For David himself saith of Christ (in reference to his ascending into heaven) *The Lord said unto my Lord, sit thou at my right hand, untill I make thine enemies thy footstool: Therefore let all the house of Israel know assuredly, That God hath made the same Jesus whom ye have crucified, both Lord and Christ. Which he thus seconded, both before the Councel and High Priest of the Jews, Acts 5. 31, 32. Him hath God exalted with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins; and we are witnesses of these things. And in his Sermon to Cornelius, Acts 10. 36. he addes; He (not I) is Lord of all. Which St. Paul (whom he styles, Our beloved brother and fellow Apostle, and whose Epistles he voucheth as concurring with his own, 2 Pet. 3. 15, 16.) thus amplifies, 1 Cor. 15. 24, 25, 26. For Christ must reign till he hath put all his enemies under his feet: the last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death: Then cometh the end, when he shall deliver up the Kingdom to God, even the Father, when he shall have put down all rule, and all authority and power: Compared with Ephes. 1. 20, 21, 22. Col. 1. 17, 18, 19. Phil. 2. 9, 10, 11. 2 Tim. 5. 14, 15, 16. And St. John thus thirds, Rev. 11. 15, 16, 17. And there were great voices in heaven, saying, The Kingdoms of the world are become the Kingdoms of the Lord, and of his Christ, and He (not St. Peter, or the Pope his pretended successor) shall reign for ever and ever. And the twenty four Elders fell upon their faces and worshipped God; saying, We give thee thanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, wast, and art to come; because thou hast taken to thee (not delegated to the Pope, or St. Peter) thy great power, and hast reigned. And Rev. 19. 6. I heard as the voice of a great multitude, and as of mighty thunders, saying, Allelujah, for the Lord God omnipotent (not Pope) reigneth. Moreover, David in relation to the Kingdom & Kingship of Christ, after his resurrection and ascension, assures us, Psal. 29. 10. The Lord sitteth King for ever. Psal. 97. 1. The Lord reigneth, let the earth rejoice, let the multitude of Isles be glad thereof. Yea Dan. 2. 44. c. 4. 3, 34. c. 6. 26. c. 7. 14, 27. Luke 1. 33. It was prophesied and predicted of Christ, That his Kingdom shall never be destroyed; that his Kingdom is an everlasting Kingdom, and his Dominion an everlasting Dominion, from generation to generation, (without any inter-regnum or succession) and shall be even unto the end, and shall not passe away, (or be transferred) and shall not be left to other people, (therefore not to St. Peter, or Roman Pontiffs of several Nations) and all Dominions shall serve and obey him, (not St. Peter or Popes:) Compared with Mic. 4. 7. And the Lord (not Popes) shall reign over them for ever. Isa. 9. 6, 7. Luke 1. 38, 39. And the Lord God shall give him the throne of his Father David, and the government shall be upon his shoulders, and he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever, and of his Kingdom, and of the increase of his government there shall be no end. Therefore by the concurrent verdicts of St. Peter himself, backed by St. Paul, St. John, and all these sacred Texts, it is infallible, that Christ neither at his ascension, nor at any time else, ever transferred the right, exercise, dominion of his Kingdom, Church, or government thereof, much lesse of all Kingdoms, Nations, Monarchs in the world, to St. Peter or his Roman successors, but intirely reserved it to himself, as personal and untransferrable to any other. And so they must bid farewell for ever to St. Peters pretended Universal Monarchy and Patrimony, as Christs Successors or Vicars, by the Testimony of all these sacred Texts, whereon they would gladly found and establish it.

The third Texts are such as destroy both St. Peters and all Popes Titles to Christs Universal High Priesthood, or Shepherdship over the Catholick Church, as the precedent do their Kingship. The first is St. Peters own expression, 1 Pet. 5. 2, 3, 4. Feed the flock flock of God which is amongst you; neither as being Lords over Gods heritage, but being ensamples to the flock: And when the Chief Shepherd (Christ) shall appear, (therefore Christ, not he, was then Chief Pastor of the Sheep) you shall receive a Crown of glory that fadeth not away. The next is that of St. Paul, Hebr. 13. 20. Our Lord Jesus Christ brought again from the dead, is the Great Shepherd of the Sheep, to whom be glory for ever and ever, Amen; compared with Hebr. 7. 21. to the end, ch. 10, 12, 15, to 22. and Psal. 110. 4. The Lord swears and will not repent, (in relation to Jesus Christ and his Priesthood) Thou art a Priest for ever after the order of Melchizedech: And they truly were many Priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death; but this man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable (or untransferrable) Priesthood, (that passeth not to another by succession or delegation; therefore not to St. Peter, or any other Roman Pontiff) Wherefore he is able to save to the uttermost, all that come unto God by Him, (not by Peter, Mary, or the Pope) seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. For such an high Priest became us who is holy, harmlesse, undefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heavens, (are any Roman Pontiffs so qualified?) and who needed not daily, (as these Priests did, and all Popes and Masse-Priests too) to offer up sacrifice for their own sinnes, and then for the peoples; for this he did* once, when he offered up himself, and is consecrated for evermore: For by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us: After he had offered one sacrifice for ever, he sat down at the right hand of God; from henceforth expecting till his enemies be made his footstool; for by one offering he hath perfected for ever those that are sanctified: And having him an High Priest over the House of God (not St. Peter, nor his successors) let us draw near with a pure heart in full assurance of faith. Popes therefore and their seduced Pontificians, must now bid adieu to their Antichristian Titles of Pontifex Optimus Maximus; Pontifex Summus; Sanctissimus; Episcopus Universalis; Decumenicus; Pastor Summus; Pastor Pastorum; and to their Vicarship, and succession in Christs Universal High Priesthood, as well as to his Kingship, unlesse they will renounce all these Canonical Scriptures; Unking; Unpriest our Saviour Christ, and usurp both his Royal Throne and Chair, upon Christs pretended Donation of them to St. Peter at his ascension; (who never heard of, claimed, but professedly disavowed any such Gift; and all Popes of Rome too for some hundreds of years:) Of no greater Credit or Validity then their forged Donation of all Ecclesiastical and Temporal Sovereignty and Dominion from * Constantine the Great, which refute and destroy each other.

Now because the sacred Scriptures are of little or no Authority in the Church of Rome, but as they are glossed, interpreted from time to time by Popes themselves in their own causes, for their own advantage, I shall in the next place, subvert the foundation of their pretended, Universal Monarchy, by their own established, Romish Devotions, Practises, Doctrines; directly or consequentially contradicting, overturning each other by a divine insatiation: I shall reduce them to these two general heads.

I. Such Practises, Devotions, Doctrines of the Roman Church and its members, as directly invalid, diminish, subvert the Sovereign Universal, Kingly, or Priestly offices of Christ himself; and by consequence St. Peters and the Popes, which they derive from him. 2ly. Such as subvert the Popes alone.

To begin with their Practises and Devotions, as they deem them; The Romanists (as you heard before) acknowledge, that our Saviour Christ, as God and Man, did not receive the actual possession or exercise of his Universal Kingly power in earth or heaven, (especially in Temporals) till after his resurrection, and his ascension in his humane body and nature into heaven; to the Throne of his Majesty; not whiles he was a sucking babe in his mothers arms, or hanging nayled on his Crosse, or intombed in his sepulcher; the lowest acts, parts of his humiliation, antecedent to his actual Sovereign Exaltation and Regal Power; as Phil. 2. 1, to 12. Ephes. 2. 19 to 23. Mar. 28. 18, 19. Lu. 24. 26. Acts 2. 23, to 27. c. 5. 30, 31. c. 13. 33, 34. Heb. 1. 3. c. 12. 2. Rev. 3. 21. c. 5. 12, 13. resolve.

Now how do Popes, Popish Churches, Councils, Cardinals, Bishops, Doctors, Priests, Monks, Nonnes, Laicks, and the whole Church of Rome picture, represent our Saviour Christ to the eyes of their bodies and mindes, either in all or most of their publike or private * Masse-books, Breviaries, Offices, Psalters, Primers, Pro-

tain; Or adly. They represent and adore him as a diminutive, despicable babe or dwarf, whose real natural glorified body born of the Virgin Mary (if they believe their own Popes, Councils, Doctors, Churches resolutions, which they deem infallible) is now contained in, or under the narrow species and circumference of every small consecrated Host, (Chalice, yea in every part thereof, without its organical parts and corporeal dimensions locally distinct from each other, yet appearing sometimes miraculously (as they relate) upon the Altar, and in the sacred Host or Chalice to some of their Priests and other Saints, either in the form of a petty infant, lamb, or morsel of flesh, or some drops of blood, for confirmation of their Doctrine of Transubstantiation; (though he never knew nor taught it) but never in the shape or proportion of his full-grown humane body in which he suffered on earth; and with which he ascended into heaven, which body St. Peter himself, and all Creeds resolve, the Heavens must receive, until the time of the restitution of all things, and his coming to judgement; and other Texts define, to be incorruptible, being prepared and given him only by God, when he was made flesh, and born of a woman; and was never corporally present but in one place at once: Or, in such an inglorious, inhuman, unkingly, despicable body, as wants both the form, lineaments, accidents of a human body, appearing in and under the form; species, accidents, dimensions of meer bread and wine; which every Communicant worthy or unworthy, doth not only actually receive into his mouth, but chew with his teeth, swallow into his belly; (yea rats and mice may devour) in consecrated wafers; and which the meanest, vilest Priest can make, and tread at his pleasure, as well as the greatest; holiest Pope, Bishop, and then lift up and down, turn or overturn, imprison under lock and key in a Pix, and send abroad to every sick person, carry about in procession, or devour at his pleasure; Or in such a strange body, as is really, corporally, insensibly present in above ten thousand Hostia's, Altars, Pixes, Chalice at once: which yet they solemnly adore with Latria, as their very Lord, God, Saviour, Creator, and doom all for Hereticks who comply not with them herein. Or 3ly. They picture, carve, represent, pray to, and adore him, as still hanging on yet nailed to, but not taken down from his Crosse whereon he suffered (their most usual representation of him in all their Crucifixes, Churches, Chapels, Colledges, Crosse, Closets, Missals, Breviaries, Offices, Litanies, Manuals, or Books of Devotion, Ceremonials, Processionals, Statues, Pictures, and Good Friday Devotions) as if he were not yet risen again for their justification, or sitting at Gods right hand to intercede for them as their advocate. Or 4ly. As yet lying in his grave in their Good Friday's Enterludes: wherein they not only re-crucify, but re-interre him in his Sepulcher, as if not formerly crucified; dead, buried: And not only so, but in the famous City of Venice in Italy, (as Sir Edwin Sands an eye-witnesse assures us) they have erected a stately Sepulcher of Christ, whereon is written, Hic situm est Corpus Domini nostri Jesu Christi; with verses annexed, Conditur hoc tumulo; as if his crucified body were there yet actually interred, and never ascended into heaven; where there is likewise hanging in a printed Table a prayer of St. Austin, with Indulgence for no less then fourscore and two thousand years; granted by Pope Boniface the eighth, and confirmed by Benedict the eleventh, to whosoever shall say in (before his Tombe and interred Body) and that for every day to be quoyes; which is very observable, for that in a few dayes a man may provide for a whole million of worlds paction, if they did last no longer then this hath done hitherto: But if Christs body be still interred in that Venetian Sepulcher as the inscriptions attest, or elsewhere, S. Paul assures both them and us, 1 Cor. 15. 12, to 20. that their faith, preaching, (and this their prayer and indulgence too) are vain, yea, they are yet in their sin; are of all men most miserable; and their deceased Roman Saints and ancestors, are likewise perished. In this inglorious, unkingly manner do they now usually represent, pray to, and adore our glorified Saviour Jesus Christ, the King and Lord of glory.

Creatures, Persons, powers both in heaven, earth, purgatory, hell, yea over God himself, and Christ her sonne, to the derogation, subversion both of Christs Sovereign Universal Monarchy, Priesthood, and chief branches thereof, if not of his Prophetical office; and of St. Peters and all Popes pretences, Rights, Titles to them: which because not hitherto pressed against them in this kind, or to this end by any of our Protestant Writers; I shall the more largely and fully charge against them.

1. They usually Carve, pourtray, paint the Statues, Pictures of the Virgin Mary, (as visible experience attests, past contradiction) and represent her by them to their eyes, thoughts, when they pray unto her, in all their Offices, Primers, Psalters, Howers, Rosaries, Missals, Breviaries, Books of Devotion, Churches, Chapels, Monasteries, Altars of our Lady, especially on all their publike Festivals dedicated to her honor, in greatest State, Majesty, Crowned with a Crown, or Rayes of glory, as the Emperesse, Queen, Lady of heaven, earth, and all creatures in them, but Christ her sonne only in the form or shape of a small sucking infant, lying in her lap, bosom, arms, or at her feet.

2ly. They stile, pray to, invoke, worship, adore her in all their publike Liturgies, Offices, Howers, Rosaries, Crowns, Anthems, Psalters, Primers, and private Devotions, and in their Postils, Sermons, Writings, proclaim, assert her to be, in respect of her Regal Vniversal Monarchy, Imperatrix, Augusta, Regina et Domina Cœli cœlorum, Mundi, Terræ, et Totius Orbis, ac exercituum cuncto- rum Angelorum et Martyrum, Imperatrix or Regina Angelorum, Patriarcharum, Prophetarum, Apostolorum, (therefore of St. Peter, and his pretended successors of Rome) Confessorum, Virginum, et omnium Sanctorum, yea, Imperatrix, Regina, & Domina, or at least, Fœcula Diabolorum; ipsa enim contrivit Diaboli potentiam, sicut prædictum fuit Gen. 3. dum ipsi Diabolo Dominus ait, Ipsa conteret caput tuum, confunditque ejus astutiam; juxta illud Judith 14. Vna mulier Hebræa confusionem faciet in Domo Nabuchodonosor. Item de- jecit ejus maliciam, juxta illud quod ipsius in persona dicitur, Judith, c. 9. Erit memo- rialis, primus tui cum manus fœminæ dejecerit eum. And if this be not sufficient, Ambrosius Catharinus in the Council of Trent, sessio 2. stiled her, Fideliſſima Dei et Christi Socia: Cardinal Bembo in his Epistle to the Emperor Charles the 5th. calls her Dominam et Deam nostram, our Lady and Goddesse. And others, Dea Dearum, The Goddesse of Goddesse.

3ly. They positively assert that the Virgin Mary, (not St. Peter) during the time of Christs passion, and from his ascension into heaven, was the sole Queen, Mistresse, and Inſtructor of his Church on earth; Quod ipsa est Regina cœlorum, et totius orbis, de qua Propheta inquit, Pl. 44. Alticit regina a dextris tuis, &c. Sicut ergo Regnum Regina gubernat, sic beata Virgo quando Rex Christus per mortem se absentabit, Ecclesiam Dei in illo triduo Rexit, quia fidem illibatam sola servavit. Similiter quando Rex Christus ad cœlum ascendit, (let Popes and their advocates for St. Peters Supremacy and Rule over the Vniversal Church from the time of Christs ascension, observe it) ipsa tanquam cœli Regina Ecclesiam gubernabit; quia totius Ecclesiæ Magistra permanſit (not St. Peter.) Similiter, quando Rex Christus alicui faciem suam maxime abscondit, tunc ipsa Regina misericordiam suam maxime ostendit; quando homo ad ipsam cum devotione cor- dis recurrit. (A strange position, seconded with this observable inference.) Ideo illud quod hanc mulieres dixerunt de Luna, nos exponere possumus (verè) de ista virgine, quod habetur Jer. 44. 17, 18, 19. scil. Sacrificemus Regine cœli, & libemus ei libamina, sicut fecimus nos & patres nostri, & faciamus ei placentas ad colendam eam: Nam ex eo tempore quo cessavimus sacrificare Regine cœli indignimus omnibus, & gladio & fame consumpti sumus, quando autem sacrificavimus ei saturati sumus panibus, & benè Nobis erat, malumque non vidimus. An evidence that the Romanists imitate those Idolatrous Jewes both in their Idolatry and obstinacy, in adoring their Queen of heaven now, upon the self-same grounds, as they did their Queen of heaven in the Prophet Jeremies dayes.

4ly. To enable Mary to be a Compleat Sovereign Mistresse, Governesse, and Instructor of the Church on earth after Christs Passion and Ascention; as well as Queen and Empresse, they further add, Ipsa virgo sicut nunc est Regina cœli, ita etiam cum viveret esset Regina mundi, (therefore not St. Peter, or the Pope) vel saltem regni Judaici: Nam ipsa virgo benedicta recta linea descendit de genere David, & ei debebatur regnum Judaicum quod fuerat ab Herode usurpatum: & omnes dignitates & nobilitates respectu sanguinis, habuit Christum à sola matre sua: Hanc autem Regiam dignitatem, quod vere esset Rex Judæorum (quomodo nunc administrare regnum temporale, imò fugerit, Joan. 6.) transmisit in ipsum mater sua, quæ fuit filia David, et Regina sui Regni, &c. Item ipsa erat sponsa Dei; Deus autem est Imperator cœli & terra; et consequenter ipsa erat Imperatrix mundi dum adhuc viveret. Pz eterea cum Imperans mundo debeat per electionem promoveri, in electione autem electores tenentur eligere meliorem et sapientiozem atq; sufficientiozem: cumq; ipsa benedicta virgo esset omnibus puris hominibus quæ unquam fuerunt sapientioz et sufficientioz, et plena donis Spiritus Sancti; Ergo ad ipsam ex electione fienda pertinebat Imperium et gubernatio totius mundi: Præterea Christo secundum humanitatem dedit Deus Imperium & Monarchiam totius mundi, unde ipse ait Mat. ult. Data est mihi omnis potestas & in cœlo & in terra; sed filio sine liberis morienti succedit mater. Ergo ipsa (not St. Peter or his Roman Successors, as they pretend from this Text of Matthew, by their own Doctors resolutions, ratified and approved by sundry Popes, without observing how fatal it would be to their Vniversal Monarchy) erat Imperatrix totius mundi, immediately upon Christs ascention into Heaven; Digitur Regina nostra serenissima profecto tu dicere potes illud, 1 Esdr. 1. Omnia regna terræ dedit mihi Dominus. (Ergo, not to St. Peter, nor the Pope, without disseising, dethroning this their Queen & Empress of Heaven, and of the whole world, both before as well as after her Assumption.) Yea they further assert, P Item Maria illuminata fuit super Platonem, super Ptolomæum Regem Egypti; super Moysen, super Stephanum, qui vidit cœlos apertos, Act. 7. super Paulum, qui raptus fuit usque ad tertium cœlum, & audivit arcana quæ non licet homini loqui; super David, qui fuit eximius Prophetarum; super Joannem Baptistam, qui plus fuit quam Prophetas; ut ait Salvator, Mat. 11. super Joannem Evangelistam, de quo Augustinus inquit; Si paulo altius intonasset, totum mundum eum capere non potuisset, quando dixit, In principio erat verbum. Et breviter concludo, Habuit omnem scientiam atque cognitionem (as well in Naturals, Morals, Politicks, as Divine mysteries) quam unquam aliquis hominum habuerit vel habebit. Habuit ergo intellectum magis elevatum et illuminatum quam aliqua unquam habuerit pura creatura; Habuit etiam tantam cognitionem Creatoris, ut verificaretur illud Psalmi, In lumine tuo videbimus lucem. Hereupon they thus salute her with new Aves, which the Angel Gabriel never knew; 1 Ave Maria, promissio Prophetarum; Ave Maria, Regina Patriarcharum &c. Ave Maria, Magistra Evangelistarum, Ave Maria, Doctrix Apostolorum, &c. Yea they assert; That Christ when he ascended into Heaven, left his Mother Mary behind him, and did not assume her with him soul and body into heaven till Anno Christi 48. (14 years after his own Ascention, as Baronius, Spondanus, and most accord, though they much differ and contradict each other herein, both in the time, manner, circumstances, and reality of her Assumption; of which there is little or no mention in any old Ecclesiastical Historians or Fathers of the Church.) Primo igitur Christus demisit matrem suam in terris post suam ascentionem respectu consolationis, respectu fidelium remanentium, scilicet Apostolorum, & aliorum fidelium. Solatium visibile quod de corporali ejus præsentia habebant fideles sui subtrahere jam voluit, et ideo matrem Ecclesiæ Consolatricem VICE SVA (not St. Peter) detulit. Demisit ergo Christus matrem suam in terris, & noluit eam adducere secum in cœlum, quia Apostolis nimis durum fuisset simul privari præsentia Solis et Lunæ. Se-

structionis, respectu scribentium, ut scilicet fideles instrueret de rudimentis fidei, maxime de his de quibus nulli mortalium nisi ip-si constare potuit. Quamvis autem Evangelistæ Spiritu Sancto dictante Evangelia sua scripserint, nihilominus credi potest, et verissimè est, quod de talibus cum ipsa Virgine conferebant. Similiter, et alii legentes Evangelistarum scripta ab ipsa quærebant, si hæc ita se habebant. Et non est dubitandum, quin Spiritus Sanctus plura beatæ Virgini revelanda servaverit. Quis enim melius scire potuit de Magis venientibus, cum Stella, de fuga in Egyptum, de Angelica salutatione, & verbis inter ipsum & Archangelum Gabrielem factis, de nativitate Christi, & de circumcisione ejus, & de oblatione ipsius in templo, & de reliquiis ad fi-lium suum pertinentibus, quam ipsa, qua singula fuit experta, & cuncta Christi opera per triginta & tres annos oculis propriis aspexit? unde dicitur Luc. 2. Maria autem conservabat omnia verba hæc conferens in corde suo. Et ob hoc fortè Lucas plura de Christi infantia scripsit, tanquam familiarior Virgini, nam Capellanus ejus asseritur fuisse. Reliquit ergo Dominus matrem suam Ma-gistræ Apostolorum, et omnium fidelium; Therefore not St. Peter, nor his pretended Roman successors.

gly. To make her yet a more compleat and competent High Priest, Governor and Instructor over the Church on earth as well as in heaven, they further assert of the Virgin Mary, 'Licet Sacramentum ordinis non recepit, tamen quicquid dignitatis vel gratia ordinibus confertur, in ipsa excellentissimè fuit. In ordinibus enim confertur septiformis gratia Spiritus Sancti; hæc autem omnifarè gratia repleta fuit.
Ita cum tria sint in Sacramento ordinis, dignitas ministerialis, potestas spiritalis, & administratio executionis. Hæc omnia beatissima virgo æquipollenter et excellenter in se habuit. Ministri enim Ecclesiæ habent dignitatem beneficialem per characterem excellentiæ, beatissima autem virgo habet Coronam regiam Ecclesiæ militantis et triumphantis; (not St. Peter, nor the Pope) unde et Summus Ministorum Papa dicitur, Servus servorum Dei; hæc autem appellatur, Regina et Domina Angelorum, et Imperatrix totius mundi. Item in Ministris Ecclesiæ est potestas spiritalis vel Episcopalis delegata a Domino, vel subdelegata et Vicaria. In ipsa autem est plenitudo potestatis coelestis perpetua, ex auctoritate ordinata. Item, in Ministris est executio ligandi et solvendi per ulum Clavum. In ipsa autem est Dominandi legitima potestas ad ligandum et solvendum per Imperium, et sic quicquid est dignitatis et gratiæ in ordinibus in genere, constat in beatissima virgine minime defuisse. Hæc Albertus.
Et ne videatur virtutes sive dignitates generales habuisse, * spiritalibus carnisse, dicimus ipsam singulorum ordinum dignitates et gratias per æquipollentiam et cum excellentia possedisse. Habuit namque cum Exor-cistis, Damonum expulsionem. Nam de illa prædictum fuerat, Gen. 3. Ipsa conteret caput tuum. Figurata quoque fuit per Hester qua vicit Aman; & per Judith qua O-lofernem interfecit, Judith 13. Cum ostiariis habuit introductionem mundorum, & immundorum exclusionem. Unde Ezech. 44. dicitur, Porta hæc clausa erit, & non aperietur; sed Dominus ingreditur per eam. Porta hæc principem & imitatores suos introducit, & indignis clausa erit. Habet etiam cum Acholytis illumi-nationem. Unde Num. 24. dicitur, Orietur stella ex Jacob. Dabuit cum le-ctoribus omnium Prophetiarum expositionem ad litteram in seipsa, de qua scriptum est Esa: 7. Ecce virgo concipiet, &c. Habet cum Subdiaconis Doctrinæ Apostolicæ conversationem, unde per Arcam, in qua erat Deuteronomius & manna, & divina sapientia. Ideo de ipsa dici potest illud, Sap. 8. Doctrinæ est enim Disciplinæ Dei. Habet cum Diaconibus verbi Domini servatio-nem, et aliis adscribendum narrationem, et Consiliorum Domini perfectam impletionem. Unde Luc. 2. dicitur, Maria autem conservabat omnia

verba hæc, &c. * Habet cum Sacerdotibus Dominici corporis per se ipsam formationem, tractationem, et communicationem. Hoc est quod Corpus Dominicum mediante ejus verbo et consensu de Catubus et sanguinibus ipsius formatum fuit, et ipsam familiarissime et diutissime tractavit, et in cibum et potum nobis communicavit, et per hoc nos omnes ad jugum suum suade, et onus leve Charitatis ligavit, et ab omnibus culpis et poenis absolvit, et vitam nobis eternam contulit: juxta illud Salvatoris, Jo: 6. Qui manducat me, & ipse vivet propter me. Habet quoque cum Episcopis, et Clericorum ordinationem, Præbendarum collationem, Temploꝝum consecrationem, ac

juxta illud, Isa: 52. Mundamini qui fertis vasa Domini. Consecratur etiam Episcopus Præbendas instituendo, beatissima autem virgo Præbendas faciendo. Consecrat quoque Episcopus templa corporalia dedicando, beatissima autem virgo templa spiritualia Castimonia inspirando, et ab illa specialiter vendicando. Consecrat etiam Episcopus Virgines externas benedicendo, beatissima autem virgo consecrat virgines interius virtutibus adornando, et eas filio suo desponsando, & non tantum approbando, sed etiam assumendo, sed eas sibi spiritualiter in filias adoptando, ad divinum cultum dedicando, et ad statum dignissimum exaltando, juxta illud, Sap: 6. Incorruptio facit esse proximum Deo. Habet etiam cum Papa beatissima virgo (i.e. Popes and their Advocates observe it well) omnium Ecclesiarum sollicitudinem:

quia Papa est Pater Patrum, ipsa vero est Mater omnium Christianorum, immo omnium bonorum: juxta illud, Sap: 7. Quia omnium bonorum mater est. Habet etiam excellentius Papa potestatis plenitudinem, Omnes enim dignitates Ecclesie introductæ sunt in servitium, Mat: 20. Beata virgo non fuit assumpta in Ministerium, sed in salutis auxilium, et Regni confortium, et in adiutorium, juxta illud Gen: 2. 18. quia non fuit Ciceria, sed Socia, et particeps in regno, &c. (Note it well.) Papa enim solum habet eam in vita ista, sed non in cælo, nec in purgatorio, nec in inferno; sic habet virgo. Sicque patet quod quicquid est dignitatis vel gratiæ in Sacramentis Ecclesie, hoc totum virgo benedicta habuit plenarie; cui sit sempiterna Gloria per omnia secula seculorum, Amen. Yea they assert, Maria habuit omnium artium scientiam. Scivit enim artes mechanicas, et omnes artes liberales. Item ipsa Imperatrix fuit et Leges condere potuit, et Legis interpretatio penes ipsam fuit. Scivit etiam Theologiam et excellentissimam et elevatissimam Theologiæ habuit scientiam. Scivit Librum Sententiarum: et totam Bibliam, et omnia puræ creaturæ scribilia intellexit; Jura quoque Civilia et Canonica, ac Leges et Decreta scribisse in summo, probat Albertus super Missus est, c. 138. Scivit etiam Philosophiam, Medicinam, Mathematicam, Musicam, & Juris prudentiam. And they add, that she alone (which no unerring Popes ever yet did) destroyed all heresies; * Ideo de ea Ecclesia digne canit (write Bernardinus Senensis, Bernardinus de Busi, and others) tu cunctas hæreses sola interemisti in universo mundo, quoniam totam veritatem Dei sic concepisti, quod esset ipsius generatiæ veritatis. Yea she had, Gratiam Sanitatum, operationem Virtutum, Spiritum Prophetie, in such abundance, that she was Summa prophetissa, habuit etiam discretionem spirituum, genera linguarum, Interpretationem sermonum, et gratiam Apostolorum, Evangelistarum, ac Pastorum, in the highest perfection, as Albertus, super Missus est, Bernardinus de Busi, and others assert. * Et fuit coronata corona predicatorum, quia in ipsa sola remansit fides de filio Dei, quam alii prædicaverunt, & cor in fide roboravit. If then the Virgin Mary had all the Dignity, Power, Jurisdiction and Grace that the Sacrament of Orders could conferre upon her, and of every Particular Order in the Church of Christ, or Rome, yea all in farre greater fullnesse and perfection then ever St. Peter or any Popes of Rome, or other Bishops, Apostles, Evangelists, Prophets had, and such large knowledge in all these Arts, Lawes, especially in Divinity, and all these several kindes of Graces, as the premises averre, which enabled her both to instruct, govern the Apostles, Church Militant, and all beleivers, when our Saviour left the earth, and committed to her the care and government of them at his Ascension into Heaven. How St. Peter or his Successors can lay the least claim or Title to their Universal Monarchy and Priesthood over it, as Christs successors or Universal Vicars therein, without any assignment, claim, or Charter from the Virgin Mary, (to which they never pretend) or without divesting her of this Sovereign power derived to her from Christ her son, let Popes & Pontificians resolve their own consciences, and all their seduced Profelytes, when they are able: Especially if we adde to this, the remaining reasons they render why Christ left his Mother behinde him upon earth: \ Tercio eam demisit, ratione confortationis, respectu patientiam. Quarto demisit eam, ratione honorationis, respectu obsequium. Nam cognoscens Dei filius matrem suam virginem gloriosum esse inter omnes creaturas preciosam, prius voluit ei locum preparare preciosum & amicum, in quo ipsa sublimaretur, et postmodum de caelo descenderet ad ipsam assumendum.* To which reason \ Anselmus* Archbishop of Canterbury, † Bernardinus de Bussi, and some others, blasphemously adde: Fortasse Domine (Jesu) hoc agere voluisti, ne tua Curia (coelesti) videretur in dubium, cui potius occurreret; tibi scilicet Domino tuo primo in assumpta carne coelum petenti; an ipsi matri, similiter in ipsum regnum materno jure tecum ascendenti. Prudentiori ergo et digniori consilio praecedere illam volebas, quatenus ei locum immortalitatis in regno tuo preparares; et sic comitatus tota Curia tua festinans illi occurreres, eamque sicut decebat matrem tuam per teipsum exaltares. Which assertions of theirs, approved, ratified by Popes, sundry of their Doctors, and publickly printed, preached, believed in the highest and solemnest Feast of the Virgin Maries Assumption, infallibly contradict, refute, subvert the very foundation of St. Peters, and consequentially of the Popes Universal Temporal or Ecclesiastical Monarchy, supposed to be transferred to him by Christ himself at his ascension, as his only Successor, or Vicar General.

6ly. They positively assert, that Christ hath assumed her soul and body into heaven, and placed her therein, far above all orders of Saints or Angels, even at his own right hand, in the very throne of the Trinity: That on the day of her Assumption, (which they observe as a double Festival, with grand devotion in the Church of Rome) \ assumpta est cum honorabili societate, & cum ineffabili jucunditate, & cum mirabili claritate, & cum terribili potestate: Non tantum Dominus Jesus Christus laureatus, corpore glorificato, occurrat sua benedicta matri cum toto Angelorum exercitu, omniumque Sanctorum comitiva, sed etiam ipse Rex aeternus Deus trinus et unus, potest dici hunc sacramentissimae virginis triumphaliter obviasse, non motu locali sed complacentia familiari, et glorificationis induentia principalis. Hanc ergo sponsam etiam tota coelesti Curia aeternus Pater recognovit, Matrem unigeniti sui, et regni sui consortem; & dixit illud, Es. 40. Domum Majestatis meae glorificabo. Sicque benedicta virgo quasi altera Hester de triclinio faminarum, id est, de Ecclesia militante adducta est, per Filium suum in gloria Majestatis, et per totam militiam coelestis Curiae ad Cubiculum supernae Regis, et ad Thronum Dei Patris vehitur, et ipsius sede Trinitatis ad Christi dextram collocatur: Et illud figuratum facit, Hester 2. Et tunc dehavit illi Deus, fontalem fecunditatem ad generandum spiritualiter omnes electos, et etiam ad laetificandos ipsos Angelos in aliquo gustu et gradu, et experientia divinatorum. Ipsa igitur virgo ex hoc accepit a Patre rationem paternitatis et sublimitatis Regalis ac Imperialis super omnem creatam naturam. Nihil tibi aequale, O Domina, nihil comparabile. Omne quod est, aut est supra te, aut infra te: Supra te solus Deus, infra te omne quod non est Deus: (There-* fore Peter and the Roman Pontiffs.) Yea they adde; Jesus Rex aeternae gloriae in gloria sua Majestatis reverentia ipsam adorabit; non ut quamlibet unquam matrem, sed singularis sufficientie magnificencia, & diligentia, et sublimis Deus eam ut suam reverendissimam matrem reverenter adorat, et ad eam venerandam honore inextinguibili corporaliter se inclinatur. O stupendum prodigium et inaudita altitudinis fastigium! ut a muliere Dei filius recognoscat suum esse humanum! Quid non deberet Virgini concedere quam tantum voluit honorare? Profecto isto respectu honoris non respiceret Dei filius millesse mille milia Seraphim, et infinitos (si dei licet) infinitos: (much lesse then of St. Peter or Popes.) Sit ergo tota Trinitas uniformiter concordi voluntate, hanc sacratissimam Virginem ostendit esse suam sponsam incommunicabilis charitatis, inaccessibilis puritatis, mundi Dominam imperceptibilis potestatis, electorum omnium generatricem piam inexplorabilis pietatis; omnium Dei hostium conculcatricem triumphatissimam, insuperabilis strenuitatis; omnium coelestium thesaurorum dispensatricem largissimam pro sua complacentia voluntatis; omnium superiorum delectatum et consolationem gustatricem affluenterissimam in recessibus divinae Majestatis. Super hunc dilectum suum insititur mater illa foelicissima, et in aureo reclinatorio divinae Majestatis recumbens; inter sponsi, imo filii sui brachia requiescit. O quanta dignitas, quam specialis gloria inest super illum quem reverentur Angelicae potestates! Whence they inferre: Abstrudum ergo est, ut tam gloriosam Virginem non venerantur lingua hominum, quam tota Trinitas sic honorat tamque veneratur sublimitas Angelorum, &c. Yea they make this an Article of their Faith; Credetur, quod ipse Salvator per se totus festinus, cum tota militia coelorum genetici obitu occurreret, et cum gaudia eam secum in throno collocaverit, alias quoque non impleret quod in lege ipse mandavit, Honora Patrem tuam & Matrem tuam, &c. They further adde; Maria fuit assumpta sublimiter, quia ipsa apparuit in coelo impressa super omnes ordines Angelorum, juxta illud Psal. 8. Elevata est magnificentia tua super coelos. Item apparuit in coelo tanquam Regina in throno ad regnandum cum filio, secundum figuram 3 Reg. 3. Elevata est ad culmen triplicis dignitatis; scilicet, Altissime, super coelos, id est, super Angelos universos: Latissime, ut sit regnum ejus latum, ut eleberetur thronus ejus (sicut David) super Judam et Hierusalem, non solum a Dan usque Bersabab, sed a mare gratiae usque ad mare gloriae, et a summe influxuum divinarum, usque ad terminos orbis terrarum, regnans super omnem creaturam: (Therefore over St. Peter and Popes themselves.) Tertio elevatur ad culmen dignitatis firmissime: Ipsius dignitas est super omnes sublimissima, et latissima, et firmissima, ita ut non posset moveri sublimitas montis quamdiu durat firmitas lapidis, nec regnum matris, quamdiu durat Imperium prolis: Dan. 7. Cantata autem excellentia exaltavit Dei filius Matrem suam super omnes Choros Angelorum, quod si ibi ubi ipsa resedit esset multitudo; novam constitueret Hierarchyam, as she doth a new Quaternity, instead of a Trinity of Persons, if this be Catholick Divinity.

possimus illud, Job. 13. In omnia secula regnum tuum: & Psal. 144. Regnum tuum Regnum omnium seculorum: & Dan. 2. Regnum quod in æternum non dissipabitur. Clem igitur et super nos regnum accipe. Judis. 19. De regno enim tuo dici potest illud. Psal. 103. Et regnum ipsius omnibus dominabitur: & Luc. 1. Regni ejus non erit finis. Tu namque in te habes omnes boni Regis, et bonæ Reginæ proprietates. O Regina excellentissima, Tu et filius tuus (not St. Peter nor the Pope) estis de quibus principaliter dixit Deus, Prov. 8. Per me Reges regnant. Beati autem sunt qui veniunt sub vestro regimine. Datus est isthoricus Regis, super omnes thronos. Num si ipsam proportionabiliter super omnes creaturas diligit, ergo proportionabiliter super omnes collocabit. Ipsa est super omnes creaturas potentissima. Yea they mount her yet one step higher; Ipsa virgo benedicta licet sit subiecta, Deo quantum creatura, Superior tamen illi dicitur et prelata in quantum est ejus mater. Unde Luc. 2. de Christo scriptum est, quod fuit subditus illi. O messianica dignitas Mariæ, qui Imperatori omnium meruit imperare! And upon this account it is, they use these expressions to the Virgin Mary, in their Crowns, Anthems, Litanies, Offices, Breviaries, Hours, Psalters of our Lady old and new, and other their printed publick and private Devotions, authorized by the Church, Popes of Rome, and in their late Breviary corrected and set forth by Pope Pius Quintus, Gloriosa Domina excelsa super sydera, Dei Mater alma, &c. Funda nos in pace mutans nomen Eve. Solve vincla reis, profer lumen cæcis, mala nostra pelle, bona cuncta posse. Monstra te esse matrem, per te sumat preces: Impera Filio, jube benedicere. And use this Anthem to the Virgin as one of her 7. Spiritual Joyes; Gaude nexu voluntatis, & amplexu dignitatu juncta sis altissimo, ut ad votum consequaris quicquid virgo postularis a Jesu dulcissimo. Hence Petrus Damianus writes of and to Mary; Accedis ante aurem humana reconciliationis altare, non solum rogans, sed Imperans; Domina, non ancilla. And their Seraphical canonized Bishop and Cardinal St. Bonaventura, prescribes this prayer to be used to her, in his Corona, printed at Rome it self with his other Works, Anno 1588. O Imperatrix ac Domina nostra benignissima, jure matris impera tuo dilectissimo filio Domino nostro Jesu Christo, ut mentes nostras ab omni terrestrium ad celestia deservio erigere dignetur. And in the 35. Psalm of his Ladies Psalter, printed with it, he hath this versicle to this Empreſſe; Inclina vultum Dei super nos, COGE ILLUM peccatoribus misereri. The harshness whereof some of the Romanists have thus qualified in his Psalter printed at Paris Anno 1596. Inclina vultum Filii tui super nos; coge illum precibus, nobis peccatoribus misereri. Whence George Cassander, a learned modern Pontifician, in his Consultatio, (written by the command of, and dedicated to the Emperors Ferdinand and Maximilian the 2.) Artic. 21. De Intercessione & meritis Sanctorum, thus censures the Psalters of the Church of Rome: Quid quod totum Psalterium, (as in that of their great Dr. Bonaventura, and others) sublatò ubique Domini Nominis, (and particularly Ps. 110. 1.) in Nomen Domine commutatum legitur? Num vero et eo ventum est, ut etiam Christus jam in cælo regnans, matri subſciatur, quomodo in nonnullis Ecclesiis canitur:

Ora Matrem, et jube Filio,
O scilicet puerpera, jure matris Impera,
Nostra plans scelera Redemptor.

And elsewhere they thus pray to the Virgin; Thou callest thy self the handmaid of Jesu Christ, but as Gods law teacheth. Thou art his Lady Mistress; for right and reason willeth, that the Mother be above the Son; therefore pray him humbly, and command him from above, that he lead us to his Kingdom at the worlds end.

8ly. They yet further assert and proclaim to all the world, in vindication of the Virgin Mariæ Sovereign Imperial Regal and Lordly Dominion; Maria interpretatur Domina, sive Dominatrix. Idè illi canit Ecclesia; O gloriosa Domina

mina excelsa super sydera. Nam si Imperator est Dominus totius mundi, Imperatrix est Domina orbis; (which they prove by sundry Texts of the Civil Law.) Est etiam beata Maria Domina cœli et mundi. Upon this account Bonaventura in his Ladies Psalter, and Bernardinus de Busti in his Officium Conceptionis Mariae, authorized by the Bull of Pope Sixtus the 4th, thus blasphemously turn Dominum into Dominam, beginning their Vespers and Office with it for her honour. * Psal. 110. 1. Dixit Dominus DOMINÆ MEÆ, sede a dextris innocentia mea; Alleluiah. Dixit Dominus, cum reliquis de Sancta Maria, Laudate pueri Dominam super omnes gentes in conceptu gloriosam, Alleluiah. And to evidence this her Sovereign Dominion, they produce these solid reasons for it. Primo, propter Dominum, de qua ipsa inquit, Eccles. 24. Gyrum cœli circumivi sola, & profundum abyssi penetravi, & in fluctibus maris ambulavi, & in omni terra steti, & in omni populo & omni gente primatum tenui. Ipsa enim tanquam Domina cœlum circumfusa, et ubique dominium accepit: (Therefore not St. Peter, nor his pretended successors.) Vel dicitur, Gyrum cœli circumivi, quia omnes Sanctos gerit & circumivit, eosque ad intercedendum pro nobis sollicitus inducit. Et dicitur sola; quia ipsa orante omnes orant, et ipsa silente omnes silent. Unde Anselmus in * lib. orationum, dicit: Te Domina tacente nullus orabit, nullus adjuvabit; te autem orante omnes juvabunt, omnes orabunt. Secundo, dominatur in inferno; unde subdit, & profundum abyssi penetravi. Non enim tantum dominatur Demonibus minoribus, qui sunt in superficie terræ; nec tantum medicribus, qui sunt in medio inferni; sed etiam maximis, qui sunt in profundo. Tertio, dominatur in Purgatorio; ideo subdit, & in fluctibus maris ambulavi. Pœna enim purgatorii dicitur fluctus, quia est transitorius; & dicitur maris, quia est amara. In illius fluctibus ipsa ambulat, quia meritis suis miseris a pœnis illius liberat. Quarto, dominatur mundo; ideo subdit, in omni terra steti, & in omni populo & omni gente primatum tenui. In mundo quidem sunt tria genera hominum; quidam sunt mali, quidam boni, quidam verò tepidi. Ipsa quidem dominatur malis eos ad penitentiam reducendo; dominatur bonis eos in gratia conservando; dominatur tepidis illos in gratia ferventer proficere faciendo.

oly. They affirm and teach, that the Virgin Mary; h Secundo, principaliter dicitur Domina propter jus domini adquisitionem. Acquisitum autem quis dominium alienius rei aut ratione emptionis soluto pretio; aut ratione operationis; quando aliquis rem operatus est, & eam in esse produxit; aut ratione electionis. Virgo igitur beata habet jus dominandi; Primo ratione emptionis; quia cum Filium suum emaret & redimeret humanum genus, ipsa ad hanc redemptionem faciendam est multipliciter operata, pretium scilicet redemptionis ministrando, et ipsum redemptorem nutriendo. Secundo ratione operationis, quia ipsa est mater Dei, qui cuncta in esse produxit: Hebr. 3. Omnia autem bona Filii facta sunt matris, cui sine liberis morienti in omnibus bonis successit. To which I shall annex that of <sup>1</sup> Aretine; For the love of Jesus and Mary, God created the world; for the love of the undefiled Virgin, who is the Wisdom of the World; God made Heaven and Earth; and it was not only made for her love, but also preserved; for it could no way stand, our deeds are so evil, but that she by praying for us mercifully upholdeth it. Tertio (dicitur Domina mundi) ratione electionis, quia Deus ab æterno ipsam eligit in habitationem.

oly. They argue; k Tertio, principaliter dicitur Domina propter multitudinem subditorum, (to wit, all Angels in heaven, Men on earth, in Purgatory, and Devils under the earth) Mater Domini omnis creatura, effecta est Domina omnis creaturæ. Ideo merito dici potest de illa illud, Gen. 1. 28. & Gen. 27. 29. & ad quamlibet creaturam illud, Gen. 16. Revertère ad Dominam tuam, & humiliare sub manu ejus. Quia igitur, magnæ Domine magna dona largiantur; Hesi. 2. Ideo hæc Domina nostra invocantibus eam subvenit universis; et omnibus misericordiæ sinum aperit, ut de plenitudine ejus accipiant universi. Hence, <sup>1</sup> Tot creaturæ servant gloriæ Virgini Mariæ, quod servant Trinitati. Omnes nempe creaturæ quæcumque gradum fecerunt in creaturis, sive sint spiritus, ut Angeli; sive rationales, ut homines; sive corporales, ut corpora cœlestia, vel elementa, et omnia quæ sunt in cœlo vel in terra; sive damnati, sive beati; quia omnia quæ sunt divinis imperiis perio subjugata, gloriosa Virgini sunt subjecta; Ipse enim qui Filius Dei & Virginis benedicta volens ut sic dicam, paterno principatui quodammodo æquiparare maternalem. Hence they introduce the 12. Orders of Angels and Stars, thus crowning her with their praises; Qui omnes eam coronant, quia ipsam perpetuè venerantur, mirantur, & laudant. Seraphim enim mirantur & laudant in ea charitatem succensam; Cherubin, sapientiam tam profundam, Throni, potestatem & quietem in Domino sic tranquillam. Dominationes, tantam super Angelos præminentiam. Virtutes, tantam miraculorum efficaciam. Potestates, tantam super Dæmones potentiam. Principatus, tantam de omnibus regnis providentiam. Archangeli, tantam de omnibus locis diligentiam. Angeli, tantam de omnibus singulis hominibus custodiam. Martyres, tantam in tribulatione constantiam. Confessores, tantam sobrietatem et temperantiam; Virgines vero, tantam ipsius puritatem et munditiam. Unde illi dicere possumus illud, 2 Par. 6. Te laudat omnis virtus cælorum, & tibi est gloria in sæcula sæculorum, Amen.

m Bernardinus de Busli, Mariæ pars 3. Sermo 3. S. T. V. De 3. & 4. Excellentia Virginis Nominis, quæ dicitur Regina, & Imperatrix.

11ly. From the Letters of R. and I. which they finde in her name Maria, they attribute and appropriate to her de jure, the Titles and Sovereignty of Regina, & Imperatrix cœli, terræ et mundi. Primo, quia ipsa genuit cœlestem Imperatorem, & ideo potest ab eo petere quicquid vult, Si ergo imperat filio ratione maternalis Jurisdictionis, qui suis subditis ei, Lu. 2. multo magis imperat omnibus creaturis filio suo subjectis. Est etiam Imperatrix, quia æterni Imperatoris est sponsa. Quoniam verò Deus illi tradidit Imperium Orbis, et omnium continentium in eo; Dixit ei, quod habetur in 4. Æneid. Imperium sine fine dedi, his ego nec metas rerum, nec tempora pono. And from thence they thus assert her Sovereign power and right of receiving all Appeals immediately to her self, from all oppressed persons, Devils, Tyrants, Powers whatsoever, yea from the very Justice of God and Christ himself, who hath constituted her the Lady Chancellor of Heaven, and given, assigned all his mercy to her alone, to manage, dispose of at her pleasure, reserving only his Justice to himself; which they thus relate and averre for an undoubted Article in their new Roman-Creed. Tantæ autem auctoritatis in cœlesti Palatio est ista Imperatrix, quod omnibus aliis Sanctis intermediis omisiss, ad ipsam licet ab omni gravamine appellare. Licet enim secundum jura civilia debitum medium servetur in appellationibus. (Imperatores, &c.) tamen in ipsa servatur stylus juris Canonici, quo omisso quolibet medio appellatur ad Summum Pontificem. Quilibet ergo potest ad eam appellare. Unde de ipsa dicere possumus illud, quod scriptum est in C. ad Rom. 2. q. 6. ubi dicitur; Ad eam ab omnibus oppressis est appellandum et concurrendum quasi ad matrem, ut ejus uberibus nutriantur, auctoritate defendantur, et a suis oppressoribus releventur, quia non potest, nec debet mater oblivisci filii sui. Confidenter igitur unusquisque appellet ad ipsam, sive gravetur a Diabolo, sive ab aliquo Tyranno, sive a corpore proprio, aut a divina iustitia. Primo, licet appellare a Diabolo, sic fecit Theophilus quidam, qui ut scribitur in miraculis ejusdem Virginis, ab Episcopo suo à Vice-Dominatu depositus, in tanta desperatione cecidit, quod Diaboli servum se fecit, & de sua servitute Chirographum manu propria conscripsit, & Diabolo tradidit. Postmodum ad eor suum rediens & penitens, ad Imperatricem appellavit, & ipsa totum irritum fecit, & Diabolo ut Theophilo Chirographum redderet præcepit, & sic ipsum in statum pristinum restituit, & gratiam ac veniam sibi impetravit. Secundo, licet appellare ad ipsam, si quis gravatur à Tyranno, quod patet in h. Basilio, cui cum Julianus Apostata ad prælium contra Persas vadens minatus fuisset, quod in reditu suo Civitatem suam destrueret, Sanctus Basilius ad Imperatricem istam appellavit, qua Militem quendam nomine Mercurium jam defunctum suscitavit, qui super equum conscendens, atque ad Julianum pergens, ac lancea fortiter vibrans ipsum occidit. Idcirco dicit Sanctus Philebertus in quodam Sermon, veniant ad beatam Mariam iusti cum Basilio, effectum celerem percepturi; veniant & peccatores cum Theophilo desideratam gratiam

gratiam adepturi. Tercio, licet ad ipsam appellare, si quis gravatur a corpore proprio, sicut patuit in Maria Egyptiaca, qua ut habetur in vita Sanctorum Patrum cum multo tempore carnali concupiscentia deservisset, tandem ad Imperatricem istam confugiens & appellans, concupiscentiam vicit & castitatem servavit.

Quarto, licet ad ipsam appellare, si quis a Dei iustitia se gravari sentit, quod significatum fuit. Heit. 3. ubi dicitur, quod cum Rex Judæis esset iratus, Regina Hester ad ipsum placandum accessit. Cui Rex ait, etiam si dimidiam partem regni mei petieris dabitur tibi. Ista ergo Imperatrix figurabit Imperatricem cælozum; cum qua Deus Regnum suum divisit. Cum enim Deus habeat iustitiam et misericordiam; iustitiam sibi in hoc mundo exercendam retinuit, et misericordiam matri concessit; et ideo si quis sentit se gravari a furore iustitiæ Dei, appellet ad forum misericordiæ matris ejus.

Which is seconded by Gabriel Biel, * Michael Lochmair, St. Briger, and sundry other Romanists: Upon which account as God himself is stiled in Scripture, The Father of mercies, and the God of all grace and consolation; so now they stile, yeasly and pray to her as to the Mother of all Mercy and Consolation; witness these Titles they give her in all their publick and private Devotions; Water of Mercy, Water of Grace, Prigo spiritualium fontium et luminum: Quod secundum omnes Doctores, Maria derivatur a Mari, quia sicut omnia flumina intrant mare & exeunt ab ipso, Eccles. 1. ita omnes gratiæ diviniæ itruant in beatam Virginem, cæteris per partes gratia præstatur: Mariæ vero tota se infundit gratiæ plenitudo, ab ipsa autem Virgine nobis gratiæ communicantur. Ipsa est fontis hortorum, Gen. 2. irrigans superficiem universæ terræ; nec ipsa herbæ nec plantæ virtutum possunt germinare, nec crescere, aut proficere, nisi sint ab ipsa aqua gratiæ irrigatæ. O dispensatrici misericordiæ, et elemosynaria gratiarum et divitiarum Dei; O thesauraria altissimi; O cibus et refectio humanæ mentis; O auxiliatrix in omni calamitate; O vena misericordiæ; O unica spes, &c. Noli me abjicere a misericordia tua, sed respicere me digneris tua dulcissima gratia, sicut te cum Johanne respexit filius tuus Dominus et Redemptor, &c. Which prayers and addresses to her, as the only mother, fountain of all Mercy, Pity, and Grace, are grounded upon Bernardinus de Busti, St. Bernards, St. Brigets, Anselmes, and sundry other Romanists assertions and interpretations, that per primam hujus nominis literam M. significatur, quod ipsa est Mater Misericordiæ. Misericordia enim ejus est omnibus Misericordiis aliorum Sanctorum omnium excellentior, generalior, communior, & major: Omnibus se diffundit, nec est qui se abscondat a calore ejus. Ejus misericordia præ cæteris omnibus est diuturnior; cæteris non exaudientibus Maria non deserit. Ejus misericordia est omnibus generalior, quia ubique generaliter invenitur, scilicet, in mundo, in judicio, et in cælo. Primo in mundo, quia misericordia ejus plena est omnis terra: Nec mirum, quia ipsa habet miserendi potentiam, sapientiam, et voluntatem promptam. Secundo subveniet in judicio: Ipsa enim beata virgo cum filio ad judicium veniet, & ibi erit in magno honore quantum ad se, & in magna utilitate quantum ad nos: domesticis suis dabit cibaria; illis etiam vestie duplici stola gloriæ & beatitudinis, &c. anima & corporis. Tercio, ejus misericordia apparet in cælo, quia ejus claritas in beatia est causa gloriæ, lætitiæ, & honorificentia. Mariæ presentia totum illuminatur orbis, adeo ut ipsa superna civitas clarius rutillet, virginæ lampadis illustrata fulgoribus. Misericordia Virginis omnibus est communis, et omnibus misericordiis finem aperit; ipsaque est templum Dei, unde nemini claudis gremium pietatis. Ejus misericordia est omnibus aliis major longitudine, latitudine, sublimitate, & profunditate. Quis benedictæ misericordiæ tuæ longitudinem, latitudinem, et profunditatem investigare posset? Longitudo enim ejus usque ad diem novissimum subvenit universis eam invocantibus.

tibus. Latitudo ejus replet orbem terrarum, quia ejus misericordia plena est omnis terra. Profunditas sidentibus in tenebris, & umbra mortis se communicavit & gratiam obtinuit; precibus suis obtinendo reis veniam, agrotis medelam, pusillis corda robur, afflictis consolationem, periclitantibus adiutorium, & liberationem. Licet igitur diversis nominibus nuncietur, tamen nullum est praeclarum nomen eique convenientius quem Pater Misericordiae. Nam si illam Imperatricem, Reginam, Dominam, Dominam Dominatam, Dea Deorum, appelles, important solum quandam excellentiam, & non benignitatem, nec videbitur esse Dea vel Domina peccatorum. Non etiam videtur esse appellanda Regina gloria, quia gloria est tantum in caelo, & non in terra, nec in inferno, licet in purgatorio. Sed misericordia in quolibet horum est, ergo maximum Regnum est misericordia, et consequenter Maria debet appellari Regina et Pater misericordiae.

12ly. They further adde from A. the fifth and last letter of her most sacred name; A significat beatam Virginem esse (not only Advocatam, but) Augustam totius orbis. Si enim uxor terreni Imperatoris appellatur Augusta; multo magis conjuncta et desponsata coelesti Imperatori benedicta Aligo appellari debet Augusta: maxime, quia ipsa augmentabit Imperium divinum super humanum genus deperditum, atque ipsa mediante aditus est fidelis populus colens Deum. Ideo de illa dici potest illud Psal. 104. Et auxit populum suum vehementer. Ad istam igitur Augustam debent omnes tribulati recurrere, quia ipsa neminem spernit, sed omnes benignissime recipit, et semper residit et expectat ad se venientes. Unde Thronus Dei appellatur. Ideo Apostolus Hebr. 4. ait, Adeamus cum fiducia ad thronum gratiae ejus, ut misericordiam consequamur, & gratiam inveniamus in tempore opportuno. Rogemus ergo istam serenissimam Augustam, ut nos ab hostium insidiis et impugnationibus protegens, atque populo Dei annumerari faciens, in bonis operibus perseverantes usque ad finem, ad contemplandam post hujus vitae transitum ejus (not Dei, or Christi) gloriosam Majestatem in coelesti faciat patriam sublimari, Amen.

13ly. They further adde from the letter A, Ipsa est Arca Thesaurorum Dei, quae figurata est in Arca Tabernaculi; in qua divinos thesauros suos omnipotens Deus collocabit, maxime serenissimae misericordiae et charitatis: Yea, p Ipsa est fenestra coeli, per quam Deus oculis suae misericordiae nos respicit. Unde canitur in Officio ejusdem Virginis, Intrent ut astra flebiles, coeli fenestra facta es: Dicere autem potest Virgo benedicta, quae est ostium iherusalem (yea ostium) paradisi, iuxta illud Joan. 10. Ego sum ostium; per me si quis introierit, salvus erit; (blasphemously transferring this Text from Christ to her) Ideo peccatores a patria coelesti exules intrate per portam istam: Ite, o infirmi ad medicum: accedite o orphani ad parentem: pergitte o caeci ad lumen: properate o afflicti ad consolationem: ambulate o virgines post speculum pudicitiae: festinate matres ad matrem Dei; currite o viduae ad nutricem veri sponsi: Proficiscimini o pauperes ad thesauratricem bonorum coelestium: Egredivimini o incarcerationati per famam perfectae libertatis. Nosque omnes in hac miserrimum valle laborantes, rogemus eam cum beato Augustino in sermone habserno, (fathered on him by Popish Impostors) Sancta Maria succurre miseris, juva pusillanimes, refocile flebiles, ora pro populo, interveni pro Clero, Intercede intercede pro devoto scemineo sexu: sciant omnes tuum jubamen; quicumque celebrant tuam sanctam Matibilitatem. Assiste parata votis poscentium, et repende omnibus optatum effectum. <sup>1</sup> Ipsa enim Maria est virga aurea. Hest. 5. Cum enim Rex Assuerus esset iratus, extensio illius virgæ ipsum placavit, & Regina Hester in palatium introduxit, & omnia impetravit. Ipsa quippe virgo beata Deum placat, quia est nostra Advocata. Cum enim Deus percussit cor peccatoris virga aurea, id est, devotione Virginis, statim placatur, et illi æternam poenam remittit. Et ideo possumus dicere Deo illud, Prov. 23. Si percussieris eum virga, non morietur. Sic & Christus cum nos percussit virga, id est, devotione virginali, nos facit liberos a servitute Diaboli. Hæc quoque beata virgo figurata per virgam auream, in palatium coeleste nos introducit, quia est janua paradisi. Unde canit Ecclesia in Officio beata Virginis, Tu regis alti janua & porta lucis fulgida. Omnia etiam nobis impetras ista virga aurea, quia est mater Dei veneranda, Dicit enim ei filius ejus illud 3 Reg. 2. Pete mater mea, neque enim fas est ut avertam faciem meam à te. Beatus qui audit me, & vigilat ad fores meas quotidie; qui me invenerit, inveniet vitam, & hauriet salutem à Domino; Prov. 8.

14ly. If this be not sufficient, in pursuance of the premises, they dogmatize; Sciendum est, quod Deus ipse ministræ suæ commisit Officium ministrandi et dispensandi omnes elemosynas et gratias, quas de celo in terram ad nos mittit. Non solum autem fecit eam Deæ elemosynariam suam, per quam nobis pauperibus & esurientibus dedit panem illum celestem, qui de celo descendit, Joan. 6. sed etiam fecit ipsam Censuram suam vinariam, id est, Spiritus sancti abundantiam, in quam introduxit beatam virginem, et fecit eam suam dispensatricem, Cant. 2. Ideo ipsa inquit eis, Cant. 5. Bibite amici & inebriamini charissimi. O nomen gloriosa virginis suavissimum, nomenque jucundissimum Maria! Prima littera M. misericordiam ostendit, & pietatem ejus qua plena est omnis terra. Tu es digna nominari, & ab omnibus amari & revereri, quia per te gratiam adquisimus, gloriam impetramus: per te Maria franguntur vincula, solvuntur debita, vincuntur vitia, solidantur confracta, recuperantur perbita, renobantur vetera, roborantur infirma, magnificantur minima, ima exaltantur, incepta promoventur, infecta perficiuntur, perfecta conservantur, demones fugantur, purgatur cor, mens refulget, et animus inflammatur, liquescit pectus, dulcescit gustus, et decoratus aspectus. Yea Maria, (writes Bernardinus Senensis) omnibus sapientibus & insipientibus copiosissima charitate debetricem se fecit, omnibus misericordiam annuum aperit, ut de plenitudine ejus capiant universi, scilicet, captivus redemptionem, æger curationem, peccator veniam, justus gloriam, angelus lætitiā, demum tota Trinitas gloriam, filii Dei personam humanæ carnis substantiam, ut non sit qui se abscondat a calore ejus.

atam. Tercio flectunt sibi genua omnia infernalina, id est, Dæmones, qui velint nollint ipsam adorant, et ad eius nominationem patent et tremunt, unde dicit Sanctus Gerardus Episcopus & Martyr. Invite quoque Infernus beatæ Mariæ ululat, & procacissimi dæmones clamant; secundum enim Papiam, Domina interpretatur dans minas; & ipsa inimicis humani generis dominans, minas inferi. Item secundum catholicos, interpretatur Domina, id est, domans manus; & ipsa domat demonum manus, et potestates, sedes timent et venerantur. Yea Ratione glorificationis, Canta est gloria Virginis Matris Dei, quod tantum excellit in gloria naturam Angelicam et humanam simul junctam, quantum circumferentia firmamenti excellit in magnitudine centrum suum, cum intelligat in filio suo, se quasi alterum ipsum Deitate vestitum: Whereto <sup>b</sup> Arnoldus Carnotensis addit, Maria constituta est super omnem creaturam, & quicumque Jesu curvat genua, matri quoque pronus supplicat; et filii gloriam cum Matre non tam communem judico quam eandem. Which <sup>c</sup> Vieja the Jesuite likewise asserts in the self-same words for Roman Catholick Divinity. Whence <sup>d</sup> Bernardinus de Bussi concludes, Boni filii est magis velle quod mater honoretur quam ipse, Christus ergo Optimus filius qui tantam honozabit matrem in terris, nunquid eam honozare desperit in coelis? Boni quoque filii est velle ut magis serbiatur matri quam sibi. No wonder then they honor and serve her more then Christ her sonne, and equallize her with him, both in her Universal Sovereignty and Glory, as one and the same with his; yea make her assumption into heaven more solemn and glorious then her sonnes; Per comparationem utriusque, ista virginis assumptio pompa solennior. Inveniuntur quippe Angeli soli Redemptori occurrere potuisse; Matri vero filius ipse cum tota cœli Curia tam Angelorum quam iustorum hominum occurrens, eberit eam ad beatam sessionem.

16ly. They thus daily crown the Virgin Mary for their Queen and Empresse of heaven and earth, with this Crown, and vow obedience to her; Cum enim facimus Coronam perinde est ac si ejus Capiti Coronam imponeremus, et ipsam nostram Reginam constitueremus; Corona enim solummodo datur Regibus et Reginis. Tunc ergo ei dicimus, O Maria Imperatrix cœli, Reginaque mundi; ecce quod te elegimus pro Regina nostra, et nos servulos tuos facimus, et in perpetuum sub Imperiis tui servitute vivere volumus. Et ideo sumus mittentes Coronas ante thronum Apoc. 5. thronum tuæ Majestatis. Quia autem miseris misericordia est necessaria, quæ est plenitudo virtutum in singulis; & nos sumus miseri, ideo tibi offerimus Coronam, non quod egeas nostris Coronis aureis vel argenteis, sed ut per hoc contententes te esse magnam Reginam, mereamur sub domino tuo semper permanere. Scimus enim, quod non potest Rex alienare Castrum, Villam, aut Civitatem invito hominibus inhabitantibus. Et ideo postquam nostra Regina facta es, non poteris nos refutare sine consensu nostro. Illud enim solum quis dicitur posse facere quod de jure perjuste facere potest: O igitur Domina et Regina nostra, ecce quod nos servi tui promittimus tibi servare omnem illam fidelitatem quam tenentur quilibet boni subditi custodire erga dominum suum, ideo etiam tu teneris erga nos esse fidelem. Dominus quoque fidelis suo in his omnibus vicem reddere debet; quod si non fecerit, merito censetur maledictus, &c. Debet autem unusquisque Christianus se et sua omnia in manu tua committere, et nullam permittere transire diem quin saltem unam dicat Coronam ad laudem tuam. O igitur Regina nostra serenissima, profecto tu dicere potes illud in Esdr. 1. 1. Omnia regna terræ dedit mihi Dominus. Et nos tibi dicere possumus illud, Tob. 13. In omnia secula regnum tuum, & Psal. 144. Regnum tuum Regnum omnium seculorum; & Dan. 2. Regnum quod in æternum non dissipabitur.

Veni ergo et super nos regnum accipe: Judic. 19. De regno enim tuodici potest illud, Psalm. 103. Et regnum ipsius omnibus dominabitur; & Luce. 1. Regni ejus non erit finis. Tu quoque in te habes omnes boni Regis et bonæ Reginæ proprietates. Unde tu potes dicere de devotis ſervitoribus tuis; 2 Para. 12. 1. Sciant distantiam ſervitutis meæ & ſervitutis regni terrarum: Et quid mirum, O Virgo benigniſſima, ſi nobis eſt jucundum tibi ſervire, cum ſervierit Jacob pro Rachel ſeptem annis, & videbantur dies pauci pro amoris magnitudine, Gen. 29. O bona Domina, tu ſciſ quod tuus ſervus ſum ego; Psalm. 115. Ne igitur tranſeas ſervum tuum, Gen. 18. ſed pro tua benignitate dignare dicere de me, Erit mihi ſervus ſempiternus, 2 Reg. 27. & illud Iſa. 42. Ecce ſervus meus, ſuſcipiam eum, Electus meus, complacuit ſibi in illo anima mea: Placeat humanitati tuæ dicere mihi illud, Eſa. 49. Servus meus es tu, quia in te glorior.

17ly. St. * Bernardinus Senenſis thus poſitively reſolves, De Monarchia autem Univerſi nunquam Chriſtus teſtatus eſt (by way of Legacy, or grant, no not to St. Peter) eo quod ſine Matris præjudicio nequaquam fieri poteſt: Insuper, noberat, quod poteſt Mater ſiſ irritare teſtamentum, ſi in ſui præjudicium ſit confedum. Ex his omnibus apertiffime claret, quod Mater Jeſu Maria hæreditario jure omnium qui ſunt infra Deum habet Regale Dominiſum et inclytum obtinet Principatum. Therefore it is moſt certain by this Saints verdict, he never aſſigned his Univerſal Monarchy, & all Power in Heaven & earth, to St. Peter or his ſucceſſors at his aſcention; or ſince; whence Petrus Damianus (the firſt & inſtitutor of the Office of our Lady) thus aſſures the Virgin, and her Diſciples, Data eſt Tibi omnis poteſtas in cœlo et in terra; as well as * Bernardinus de Buſſi, and others in the forecited places. In reſpect of which her Univerſal Sovereignty, their canonized Cardinal St. Bonaventura thus concludes the laſt Psalm in his Ladies Psalter, by metamorphoſing Dominum into Dominam; Laudate Dominam in Sanctis ejus; Laudate eam in virtutibus & miraculis ejus; Omnis ſpiritus laudet Dominam noſtram.

I ſhall now appeal to the Judgements, Conſciences of all ſober Pontificians, as well as Proteſtants, Whether all the premiſed Practices, Prayers, Panegyrics, Reſolutions of theſe their Seraphical Doctors, and canonized Saints, approved, magnified by the Popes, Church of Rome, and devouteſt Roman Catholics of all Orders or Fraternities dedicated to our Lady; and the Sovereign Regal Imperial Dominiſum, Powers they thus aſcribe unto her over all Angels, Powers, Creatures both in heaven, earth, Purgatory, and Hell it ſelf, be not totally inconſiſtent with, derogatory, ſubverſive to St. Peters & the Popes Univerſal Temporal and Eccleſiaſtical Monarchy? And whether they muſt not henceforth diſclaim them as inconſiſtent with, and deſtructive to their Sovereign Ladies, Queens, and Empreſſe Marys Monarchy, or elſe ceaſe any longer thus to court, adore, ſing, pray unto her, and renounce all their premiſed paſſages, practices, Poſtills, Prayers relating to her Sovereign Maſteſty, as meer high Treasons, Heresies, Blaſphemies againſt their Univerſal Lord and Monarch St. Peter, and his Roman Succeſſors; who never yet pretended themſelves to be Viceroyes, Vicars General, or Succeſſors to Mary in this her Supream Authority, which they have unadviſedly or erroneouſly aſſerted; not well conſidering how inevitably it reſutes and ſubverts their own; and her ſons too; who as he will admit of no equal or corival with him in his Royal Glory ſo much leſſe in his Prophetical or Sacerdotal Offices, of Mediation, Advocation, Reconciliation, Salvation, and the like, to all which they intitle the Virgin Mary, to hers and his diſhonor, as I ſhall in the next place clearly evidence.

Mediatorship, from the first letter M. in her name; For, Secundum devotos Doctores (as<sup>1</sup> Bernardinus de Busi informs us) nomen Virginis componitur ex quin- que literis, propter quinque beneficia quæ contulit mundo, quæ incipiunt ab una ipsarum literarum. Per M. enim significatur (by their Cabalistical Romish Divinity, that I say not Blasphemy) quod ipsa est Mediatrix nostra, scilicet inter nos et Deum; quia enim per media sedantur discordiæ et lites dirimuntur. Ideo homines a Deo discordantes debent beatam Virginem (not Christ her sonne) Mediatrix interponere, ut pacem cum creatore suo possint reformare. Ipsa namque nata est mundo, ut per filium suum hu- manum genus conciliaret Deo. Ante enim quam virgo Mariæ esset in mundo, tanta erat discordia inter Deum et hominem propter pec- catum primorum parentum, quod nullus quantumcunque sanctus et iustus audebat accedere ad Deum pro gratia impetranda. Sed omnes ex hac vita decedentes ad infernum descendebant, boni ad limbum, mali autem ad æternam poenam infernorum: Beata au- tem Virgo sua mediatore nobis misericordiam impetravit, et gra- tiam atque gloriam, juxta illud Psal. 47. Suscipimus Deus misericordiam tuam in medio templi tui; id est, beatæ Virginis, quia multipliciter dicitur medium vel Mediatrix. Unde<sup>2</sup> Bernardus in quodam Sermonē, Me- diatrix est Maria inter Solem et Lunam, id est, Christum et Ec- clesiam. Primò ergo est Mediatrix nostræ Salvationis; juxta illud, Psal. 47. Deus autem Rex noster ante secula operatus est salutem in medio ter- ræ; id est, ex utero Regina Mariæ, ad quam sicut ad mediam, & sicut ad cau- sam rerum ad negotium singulorum respiciunt, & qui habitant in celo, & qui habi- tant in terra, & qui in inferno, & qui nos precesserunt, & nos qui modo sumus, & qui nos sequuntur, & nati natorum, & qui nascentur ab illis. Qui in celo sunt ut resta- ventur, qui sunt in inferno ut eripiantur, qui nos precesserunt, ut propheta fideles in- veniantur, qui sequuntur ut glorificentur. Ideo beatam te dicunt omnes gene- rationes, Tu Genetrix Dei et Regina Cœli, et Domina mundi, qui generationibus cunctis vitam et gloriam genuisti. In te repe- riunt Angeli et iusti gloriam, peccatores veniam. In te oculi to- tius creaturæ merito respiciunt, quoniam de te et in te benigna ma- nus omnipotentis Dei quos creaverat recreavit. Secundo; est Medi- atrix nostræ conjunctionis et unionis, quia nos disjunctos et divisos a Deo illi conjungit et ungit. Tertio, est Mediatrix nostræ justifica- tionis. Dæmones enim nostram justificationem impediunt: Sed Virgo Maria illorum impedimenta expellit, et ideo nostram justifi- cationem perfecit. Quarto, est Mediatrix nostræ reconciliationis. Peccator enim efficitur inimicus Dei propter peccatum carnalis concupiscentia, vel su- perbia, aut avaritia. Ista autem Dei Mediatrix hos inimicos Dei sæpe reconciliat, dum eos ad poenitentiam revocat. Quinto, est Media- trix nostræ Intercessionis; Ipsa eam pro nobis quotidie intercedit. Ideo Bernardus in Sermonē de Annunciatione ait, Si ad Deum Patrem vereris acce- dere, ad Filium fuge; quia hunc tibi fratrem Maria dedit. Sed si fortè in ipso majestatem divinitatis vereris, ad Mariam recurre, quæ est humanitas pura, et ipsa exaudietur pro sua reverentia. Sexto, ipsa est Mediatrix Communicationis, quia cum adhuc esset in mundo, communicavit cum sanctis qui erant in via, et cum illis qui erant in patria; & quan- tum ad hoc potest appellari firmamentum, quod est in medio aquarum quæ sunt super cul- los & infra, Gen. 1. So Bernardinus de Busi, and St. Bernard thus long before him. <sup>3</sup> Ad Patrem verebaris accedere, solo auditu territus, ad Filium fugiebas: Je- sum tibi dedit Mediatorem: Quid non apud talem Patrem Filius talis obtineat? Ex- audietur utique pro reverentia sua. An verò trepidas & ad ipsum? Frater tuus est, & caro tua, temptatus per omnia absque peccato, ut misericors fieret. Hunc tibi fra- trem Maria dedit. Sed fortè & in ipso Majestatem vereare divinam, quia licet sa-

Et sic homo, manserit tamen Deus. Advocatum habere vis ad ipsum? Ad Mariam recurre. Pura siquidem humanitas in Maria; non modo pura ab omni contaminatione, sed & pura singularitate natura. Nec dubius dixerim exaudietur, et ipsa pro reverentia sua. Exaudiet nique Matrem Filium, & exaudiet Filium Patrem. Fissili hac peccatorum scala: hac mea maxima fiducia est: hac tota ratio spei mei. Velut est medium inter rorem & arcam, mulier inter Solem & Lunam, Maria inter Christum et Ecclesiam constituta. Hence he introduceth the Church thus praying to her, as the Mediatrice between her and the Sun, under the Title of the Moon, from Apoc. 12. <sup>b</sup> Jam te Mater misericordia per ipsum sanctissima tua mentis affectum tuus jacens proboluta pedibus Luna, Mediatricem tibi apud solem iusticie constitutam devotis supplicationibus, ut in lumine tuo videat lumen, et solis gratiam tuo mereatur obtentu quam vero amabit pro omnibus, et ornabit stola glorie induens, et coronam pulchritudinis ponens in capite tuo. Plena es gratiarum, plena torque coelesti, innixa super dilectum delictis affluens. Tibi hodie pauperes tuos Domina: ipsi quoque Catelli de micis edant: nec puero Abraham tantum, sed et camelis potus tribuas de superefluenti bibula tua. Ipsa nempe Mediatricis nostra, ipsa est per quam suscepit misericordiam tuam Deus, ipsa per quam et nos Dominum Jesum in Domus nostras suscepimus. Bernardinus de Busti with sundry others in their publike Prayers, and private Devotions, as they invoke her by the Name of O Mediatric Dei et hominum: So they argue she was conceived without original sin. <sup>d</sup> Ratione Mediationis, quia beata Virgo fuit Media inter Creaturam et Creatorem. Ergo fuit perfectissima omni perfectione qua in creaturam cadere potest: Et idcirco sicut cælum chrysellinum est medium inter cælum empyreum & stellatum: ita tu es Mediatric Dei et hominum. Hoc quoque tibi convenit, quæ divina vindictæ impetum moderaris, et iracundia ejus calorem temperas, atque ab inflammatione et exterminio interventus tuo mundum conservas et defendis: Of which more in the 3d. and 5th letters of her name, concerning her Redeemers and Advocates offices.

Hence Bernardinus Senensis useth these extravagant passages concerning her Redeeming, saving Adam and all Mankind; and the Saints in the Old as well as New Testament from Damnation, and all their temporal and spiritual Enemies; Licet Adam & Eva propter transgressionem divini præcepti totalem meruissent annihilationem & exterminationem, cum omni posteritate sua; tamen prævidens divina Clementia hanc purissimam virginem esse in lumbis ipsorum radicalliter, a quibus nasci debebat ipsa nobilissima sponsa Dei; a qua filius æterni Regis generari debebat: juxta illud, Psal. 132. De fructu ventris tui ponam super sedem meam: suspendit indignationem suam, et primos parentes cum omni natura humana ab æterno exterminio liberavit. Ob ejusdem quoque virginis amorem præservavit Noe de diluvio, Abraham de corde regum, Isaac de Ismael, Jacob de Esau, ac populum Judæum de manu Pharaonis, & de captivitate Babylonica liberavit, David quoque de Leone, & de Golia, & de Saul; et breviter, omnes indulgentiæ et liberationis factæ a Deo in veteri Testamento, secundum prædictos Doctores, ob virginis dilectionem provenire: unde verificatum fuit illud, Prov. 25. Gratia & amicitia, scilicet beate Virginis, liberat, scilicet ab omnibus malis, as well spiritual as temporal.

Spiritualis. *Illa mater miseria, ista misericordia; Illa principium mortalitatis, ista principium regenerationis; Illa gratiam perdidit, ista gratiam invenit; Illa transiit, & nos transire fecit in culpam, ista nos surgere fecit de culpa in gratiam; Illa de latere viri dormientis facta, ista de corde Domini vigilantis. Illa viro suo occasio fuit perditionis, hæc viro suo ADJUTORIUM REDEMPTIONIS. Illa desponsatur origo corruptarum, hæc desponsatur mansura virgo virginum. Illa prima virginitatem perdidit, ista prima virginitatem Deo conseruabit; illa à Diabolo decepta, ista ab Angelo edocta; Illam Diabolus viciis per superbiam, ista Diabolum vicit per humilitatem: Et sic patet, qualiter mutabit nomen Evæ. Ideo ipsam virginem exorat Ecclesia Dei. Sumens illud abe Gabrielis ore, funda nos in pace mutans nomen Evæ. To which he subjoynes, Maria dicitur Stella, quia vivificat. Siquidem mors regnabat ab Adam, Rom. 5. Veniente autem hac Stella, omnia mortua sunt vitæ restituta: Quippe ipsa est lignum vitæ, &c. Hence * Jacobus de Valtina, Episcopus Christopolitanus, thus antichristianly writes, Peccando post baptismum videntur contemnere & despicere passionem Christi, & sic nullus peccator meretur quod Christus amplius intercedat pro ipso apud patrem, sine cujus intercessione nemo potest liberari a pœna æterna nec temporali, nec culpa quam ipse voluntarie perpetravit: et ideo fuit necesse, ut Christus constitueret matrem suam præelectam Mediatrix inter nos et ipsum. Et sic in hac peregrinatione non relinquitur nobis aliud refugium in nostris tribulationibus et adversitatibus, nisi recurrere ad Virginem Mariam Mediatrix, ut velit placare iram Filii. Hence * Antoninus Archbishop of Florence records, that St. Dominick being at Rome in the Papacy of Honorius the 3d. nocte quadam orationi incumbens, vigilanter, vidit ad Patris dexteram exurgere Filium in ira sua, ut interficeret omnes peccatores terræ, et disperderet omnes operantes iniquitatem, &c. Cujus iræ dum nemo potest resistere, occurrit propicia virgo Mater, et rogabit ut parceret eis quos redimerat, et iustitiam misericordia temperaret. Ad quam Filius, Nonne vides (inquit) quantæ mihi ferogantur injuriæ? Iustitia mea tanta mala non sustinet impunita: whereupon his Mother promising her Son to send her two faithfull Servants, St. Dominick and St. Francis, as the only means to reduce these sinners to him; Filius dixit, Ecce placatus suscepi faciem tuam, and by this her Mediation appeased Christs wrath against them; who thereupon committed these two Freers and their Orders to his Mothers special service and protection, to reconcile these sinners to him, by the ayde of her intercession and advocacy on their behalf; Upon this ground-work, their * Hercules Lipomannus cries out in his marginal agony; Ecce quam potentissima est Sancta Dei genitrix, et quomodo nullus salvus fieri possit, nisi per eam! Hence their St. <sup>b</sup> Anselm, <sup>c</sup> Bernardinus Senensis, and others, in their Extasies and Extravagant Devotions, thus magnifie her as the Ladder and gate of Heaven, the recoverer, restorer, reconciler, redeemer of the lost World, &c. Quid nos tantilli, quid nos actione pusilli, quid in laudibus ejus referamus, cum etiam si omnium nostrorum membra verterentur in linguas, eam laudare non sufficerent. Altior enim est cælo de qua loquimur virgo, abisso profundior, cuius laudes dicere conamur; si cælum inquam te vocem, altior es; si vero matrem Gentium, præcedis, si formam Dei te appellem, digna existis: si Dominam Angelorum, per omnia esse probaris. Nullus in te confidentes unquam vidit insolites; Vere tibi nam devotus est necesse sit beatus. Ad te ergo nos clamantes in hac valle lachrymantes: Ad nuptias aeternales fac venire triumphales.* Amen. Besides most <sup>d</sup> Pontificians frequently apply that text of Gen. 3. 15. to Mary, translating Ipsam into Ipsa, as if meant most properly of Mary her self, not of Christ her seed; asserting her to be the principal Saviour, Redeemer of lost Mankind by breaking this Serpents head; adding, Et si adhuc dubites an de Maria dixerit, audi quod sequitur, Ipsa conteret caput tuum. Cui hac sancta victoria, nisi Maria? Ipsa proculdubio caput contrivit venenatum, quæ omnimodam maliciam, suggestionem, tam de carnis illecebra quam de mentis superbia deducit ad nihilum. Hence they teach & enjoin all Roman Catholics, thus to salute, invoke Mary, as in sundry other Offices, Hours, Psalters, Crowns, Rosaries, dedicated to her name and worship, so likewise in the very beginning of their * Hora beatissima Virginis, secundum usum Romanum, used in Rome and elsewhere; Salve Regina Mater Misericordiae, VITA, dulcedo et spes nostra, Salve; Ad te clamamus exules filii Evæ, ad te suspiramus gementes et flentes in hac lachrymarum valle: Eja ergo Advocata nostra, illos tuos misericordiae oculos ad nos converte; et Jesum benedictum fructum ventris tui post hoc exilium nobis ostende: O clemens, O pia, O dulcis Maria, Dignare me. <sup>e</sup> Bern. de Bussi in the close of his Mariale, (dedicated to Pope Alexander the 6. and highly applauded by him) bestows this New Crown of Blasphemy, rather than Glory, upon this their new Redeemer Queen Mary, which quilibet devotus ad gloriam ipsius debet dicere. O cibus et refectio humanæ mentis, O vita nostra, O auxilium in omni calamitate, O mater pietatis, O vena nostræ salutis, O principium nostræ amoris, O Redemptrix universi, O mutatrix cursus naturalis, O Recuperatrix perditæ orbis, O Renovatrix humanæ naturæ, O Mediatrix Dei et hominum, O spes solida nostræ mercedis, O duatrix omnis fidelis errantis, O fundamentum nostræ fidei, O mare in quod effluunt omnia flumina divinum charissimum, O sagitta contra serpentem antiquum, O portus desiderabilis, O schola omnium virtutum, O pons periculosi hujus mundani fluminis, O ardor superni amoris, O scala per quam in cælum ascenditur. O vas et templum Spiritus sancti, O speculum in quo resplendet omne bonum, O norma iustitiarum, O castitatis magistra, O innocentia forma, O ante nostrum iudicem Advocata fidelissima, O gloria Angelorum, O decus omnium cælozum, O dispensatrix donorum Dei, O mater æterni verbi Dei, O portuaria paradisi, O aqua mellisua que das bibere omni sitienti, O exemplar humilitatis, O Secretaria æterni consilii, O tabernaculum sanctum, O refugium nostræ miserie, O Abstergeatrix ab æterna morte, O thesauraria altissimi, O puella super omnes prælecta, O vox Prophetarum, O desiderium Patriarcharum, O flamma inter Seraphim, O lumen ad Cherubin, O throna inter thronos, O Domina inter Dominationes, O Patriarcha Princeps inter principatus, O columna omnis potestatis, O virtutum suprema virtus, O Archangela inter Archangelos, O omnium Angelorum ornamentum, O hortus deliciarum, O corona iustorum, O triumphus cæli empyrei, O filia Patris æterni, O genitrix

trix divinæ majestatis, O sponsa Paracleti, O Regina et Imperatrix Divis universi, defende nos a malignis spiritibus, & fac ut in die judicii audiamus unigenitum filium tuum nobis dicentem, Venite benedicti patris mei, possidete regnum quod vobis paratum est ab origine mundi. In quo regno perenniter te laudare et glorificare valeamus (in the first place) cum filio dilectissimo tuo, per omnia secula seculorum. Amen. Hence their Seraphical Bonaventura, Bishop of Alba, a Cardinal Priest and canonized Saint of Rome, in his blasphemous Psalter printed at Argentine 1495. Part. 2. f. 84, &c. soars as high or somewhat higher than his fellows, using these extasies of Devotion towards his Saviouresse the Lady Mary, Ecce Domina SALVATRIX MEA, fiducialiter agam in te & non timebo; quia fortitudo mea es, et facta es mihi IN SALUTEM. Exulta TOTUM HUMANVM GENUS, quia TALEM DEDIT TIBI MEDIA TRICEM Dominus Deus tuus: Confitebor tibi Domina, quia abscondisti hac à sapientibus, (the wisest sort of Christians the Protestants) & revelasti ea parvulis, (the childish Romanists and Pontificians) who thus bespeak and pray unto her in their devotions penned by him, O benedicta, in manibus tuis reposita est nostra salus. Quemadmodum enim infans sine nutrice non potest vivere, ita nec sine Domina nostra posses habere SALUTEM. Yea he concludes with this new anti-Athanasius Marian Catholick Creed; Quicumque vult SALVUS ESSE, ANTE OMNIA OPVS EST, VT TENEAT DE MARIA (hanc) FIRMAM FIDEM: Quam nisi quisq. integram et inviolatam servaverit, absque dubio in æternum peribit: And thus upbraids all those who will not undoubtedly believe her to be their Saviouresse, Generatio prava ac perversa, agnosce Dominam nostram SALVATRICEM TVAM, Nunquid ipsa est Mater tua quæ possedit te, et in fide generavit te? Moreover, he not only thus invokes her, O Mediatrix nostra, O Mediatrix inter Deum et hominem; O Advocata miserorum, oculi servorum tuorum ad te diriguntur, &c. but thus wittingly alters, perverts the words of several Psalms, Texts from Dominum into Dominam, or eam, &c. as for other purposes; so for this of her Salvation and Reconciliation of them. * Psal. 2. Venite ad eam, qui laboratis et tribulati estis, et dabit refrigerium animabus vestris. Psal. 3. Deduc me ad portum Salutis, & spiritum meum redde factori meo. Pl. 6. Domina ne in furore Dei sinas corripere me, neque in ira ejus judicari, &c. De portu inferi et de ventre abyssi libera nos. Aperiantur nobis janua sempiternæ, et enaremus in æternum mirabilia tua. Quia non mortui, nec qui in inferno sunt, laudabunt te Domina, sed qui tua gratia vitam æternam obtinebunt. Pl. 12. Saluum me fac mater pulchre dilectionis, &c. Syzum terræ sola circuis ut subvenias invocantibus te, &c. Psal. 47. Omnes gentes plaudite manibus, &c. quoniam Ista est porta vitæ, janua SALUTIS, et vitæ nostræ RECONCILIATRIX; spes pœnitentium, solamen lugentium, pax beata cordium, atque SALUS. Miserere mei Domina, miserere mei, quia tu es lux et spes omnium confidentium in te. Psal. 51. Miserere mei Domina, quæ mater misericordiæ diceris; et secundum viscera misericordiæ tuarum munda me ab omnibus iniquitatibus meis, &c. Psal. 54. Domina in nomine tuo SALVUM me fac, et ab injustitiis meis libera me. Pl. 71. Domina, in te speravi, non confundar in æternum, in tua misericordiâ libera me, &c. Pl. 105. Confitemini Domine nostræ, et invocate nomen ejus, &c. Salus sempiterna in manu tua, Domina, &c. Pl. 136. Non invenietur Propitiatio sine illa. If these blasphemies be not sufficient, Bernardinus de Busi, and others out of Sr. Bernard will further assure us. Beata Virgo Maria dicitur scala cæli, quam vidit Jacob Patriarcha, Gen. 28. Scala dicitur, quia per ipsam Angeli ad nostram protectionem descendunt, & gratia divina per eam nobis donantur, cui profecto scala Dominus innixus est, quia nihil Nos Deus habere voluit quod per Mariæ manus non transiret, et nihil ex operibus nostris sibi esse gratum, nisi per manus matris offeratur. Ideo modicum illud quod Deo offerre desideras, gratissimis Mariæ manibus cura tradere, si repulsam non

vis habere. Hoc etiam pater exemplo quod legitur in Chronicis nostris, (a most observable one in good earnest, worthy special notice, evidencing that there is no so safe or speedy ascention for Christians into Heaven by the red Ladder of Christ our Saviours blood, as by this white ladder of Heaven the Virgin Mary, by Christs own revelation to St. Francis, thus recorded by Bernardus de Bussi, and others.) Quod quadam die Sanctus Franciscus vidit duas scalas, unam rubeam, cui Christus innixus erat, et aliam albam, in qua virgo erat. Et cum ad monita beati Francisci fratres scalam rubeam ascendere conarentur, dum ire inciperent, retro multi cadebant, et ascendere non poterant. De qua re Sanctus Franciscus fiendo dolebat: cui Christus dixit, (if you dare credit his Legend) Fac ut fratres tui ad Matrem meam currant, et ad scalam albam, atque per eam ascendant. Tunc beatus Franciscus exclamare cepit, dicens, Currite fratres ad scalam albam, et ascendite per eam. Quod facientes fratres a beata Virgine læta facie suscipiebantur, et in coelum cum facilitate ascendebant. Whence most other Roman Votaries run principally to this Ladder, as the only easie, safe, speediest Ladder to obtain Salvation, and ascention into Heaven. But enough of these their blasphemies, rather then devotions, whereof there are hundreds more in Bernardinus his Mariale.

Hac illa beata igitur Virgo fuit Adjutrix sive Auxiliatrix nostræ Redemptionis, et Auxiliatrix nostræ Justificationis. Prima enim fuit Auxiliatrix nostræ Redemptionis, quantum ad quatuor genera causarum. illum genuit qui nostram salutem operatus fuit. Secundo, quantum ad causam materialem, quia de suis visceribus nostra redemptionis materiam ministravit. Tertio, quantum ad causam formalem. Quarto, quantum ad causam finalem, quia nobis ad beatitudinem consequendam a nobis a Deo data fuit: Unde dicitur, Apoc. 12. quod in capite ejus est corona 12. stellarum, quia omnes Sancti per ipsam sunt coronati. <sup>b</sup> Secundo, ipsa est Auxiliatrix nostrae Justificationis, quia efficaciter adjuvat, in omni statu, in vita, in morte, et post mortem, tam bonos quam malos. In vita, bonos scilicet, in gratia conservando; malos vero ad misericordiam Dei per penitentiam reducendo. In morte, ab omnibus insidiis Diaboli protegendo. Post mortem, animas in suas manus suscipiendo, et eas ad coelum deducendo: Unde canit Ecclesia, Maria Mater gratiae, Mater misericordiae, Tu nos ab hoste protege, & in hora mortis suscipe. Tertio videndum est propter quod adjuvat; circa quod notandum est, quod plura sunt, propter quae nos adjuvare tenetur. Et primo, propter abundantiam suam cumulum. Secundo, propter debitum. Tertio, propter commissum officium; she being appointed auxilium ordinarium, quo militante cessat extraordinarium, scilicet aliorum Sanctorum. Et ideo omnes debent in necessitatibus suis ad eam recurrere tanquam ad matrem, cui commisit Deus officium maternum; unde illi dicere debemus illud, quod canit Ecclesia, dicens, Monstra te esse matrem. Nemo ergo se reputet pauperem, nec in miseria permaneat, cum sit amicus tam divitis potentis, sed confidenter ad postulandum ipsius adiutorium pergat. Deus enim de ea confidens, omnes gratias faciendas ei commisit. Item omnibus succurrit; Nam adjuvat tribulatos, dant eis patientiam. Adjuvat etiam tentatos, dant eis victoriam. Adjuvat quoque in Dei amore famelicos, dando eis refecionem internam. Quarto, nos adjuvat propter suum animum viscerosum. Quinto, propter divina liberalitatis impensum illi beneficium: Idcirco de sua plenitudine nobis debet effundere, & nobis filiis suis tanquam bona mater caeleste regnum imperare. Possumus etiam aliam rationem assignare, quia ipsa tam gratiam Dei, quam humanum genus, amissam invenit. Et ideo non debet gratiam quam invenit occultam tenere, sed nobis propalare & reddere, alias reputabitur fur. Hence they thus fly, pray to, salute, invoke Mary in their publick and private Devotions, as their only constant ayd, help, guide, sanctuary, harbour, protector, deliverer in the troublesome Sea of this world. <sup>c</sup> Mater Orphanorum, consolatio desolatorum, via errantium, salus et spes in te sperantium, fons misericordiae, fons salutis et gratiae, salus et consolatrix vivorum et mortuorum, bona et abyssalis fons omnis misericordiae. Obsecro te Sancta Maria pietatis plenissima, venias & festines in auxilium & consilium meum, in omnibus orationibus & requisitis meis; & in omnibus angustiis & necessitatibus meis; & in omnibus rebus in quibus ego sum facturus, locuturus, aut cogitaturus; omnibus diebus ac noctibus, horis atque momentis vitae meae; et in nobilissimis diebus offende mihi faciem tuam. Necum sis in omnibus tentationibus, tribulationibus, necessitatibus, angustiis, et infirmitatibus meis, et maxime in hora exitus mei ne desis mihi clementissima Virgo Maria, Amen. Ave mundi spes Maria, ave mitis, ave pia, Angelorum Imperatrix, peccatorum consolatrix, consolare me lugentem, consolare peccatorem, et ne tuum des honorem alieno aut crudeli, precor te Regina coeli. Ne habeto excusatum apud Christum tuum natum, cujus iram expavesco et furorem pertimesco. <sup>d</sup> Maria Virgo noli esse mihi aliena, gratia coelesti plena. Audi nos, nam te filius nihil negans honorat. To which they accumulate from M. the first Letter in her name; <sup>d</sup> Maria in scriptura appellatur manus Dei; de qua exponi potest illud, Deut. 33. Omnes Sancti in manu ejus sunt. de qua exponi potest illud, Sap. 3. Justorum animæ in manu Dei sunt. Illa est illa manus Dei fortissima quæ Dæmones prostrabit, propter quod omnes Angeli eam benedixerunt. Sap. 10. Hæc est manus Dei, quæ protegit unumquodque devotum, cui inquit Dominus, Isa. 51. Sub umbra manus meæ protegi te. De qua etiam scriptum est, Non est abbreviata manus Domini, scilicet, ad subveniendum nobis, &c. Sicut in manu sunt quinque distinctiones digitorum, sic in ipsa sunt quinque effectus gratiarum. Beata Maria est nobis tanquam pollex, à pollendo, eo quod præ cæteris pollet virtute et potestate: Est tanquam index, quia sapienter viam quæ ducit ad patriam supernam nobis ostendit: Est tanquam digitus medius, quia tanquam Mediatrix nos Deo reconciliat: Est etiam tanquam digitus medicinalis, quoniam vulnera peccatorum nostrorum sanat: Est etiam tanquam digitus auricularis, quia aurem nostri cordis aperit, ut verba Dei audiamus: Dicens illud, Eccles. 44. qui audit me non confundetur. Which he thus seconds: *Manus quoque sponsa sua replevit Deus gratia in tantum, quod debet ei potestatem extendendi manus suas super quoscunque peccatores ad se recurrentes, et eorum animas. Unde de illa dicere possumus illud, Job 12. In manu ejus est anima omnis viventis; Et ideo ipsa quæ est gratiosissima extendit manum suam in retribuendo, scil. suis servitoribus. Psal. 54. Item adjuvat manu sua benedicta suos devotos. Unde ipsa dicit illud, Psal. 88. Manus mea auxiliabitur ei, & brachium meum confortabit eum, scil. qui ad meum confugiet patrociniū. Dedit quoque sponsus celestis benedicta Virgini, virtutem extendendi manum suam super mare, id est, supra amaricatos et eos consolandi; juxta illud, Psal. 88. Ponam in mari manum ejus, &c. Et ideo, O gratiosissima Virgo unusquisque tribulatus debet ad te recurrere et dicere cum Propheta, Psal. 118. Fiat manus tua, ut salvet me. Et Psal. 140. 3. Emitte manum tuam de alto, eripe me, ut non infigar. Et protinus liberatus dicere poteris cum eodem Propheta, Psal. 137. Posuisti super me manum tuam, & salvum me fecit dextra tua. O manus beatissima sanctissimæ Virginis, quibus spero deduci ad locum æternæ felicitatis. Unde de ejus benignitate confusus, dicam cum Propheta, Psal. 138. Illuc manus tua deducet me & tenebit me dextra tua. Et iterum confidenter dicam, Cara speranza mi a tu sey pur quella per cui spero anchora esser electo, Bandare al celo alume de tua stella. O manus benedicta sponsa celestis, de qua dici potest illud, quod inquit David de manu Dei, Psal. 144. Aperis tu manum tuam & imple omne animal benedictione. O igitur peccator bonum novum, O peccatrix optimum novum, non diffidas, non desperes, etiam si commisisti omnia peccata enormia, sed confidenter et secure ad istam gloriosissimam Dominam recurras: invenies enim eam in manibus plenam cunctis, pietate, misericordia, gratiositate, et largitate; plus enim desiderat ipsa facere tibi bonum, et largiri aliquam gratiam quam tu accipere concupiscas. Unde illi inquit Bern. Ave gratia plena. In ventre, gratia Divinitatis; In ore, gratia Affabilitatis; In corde, gratia Charitatis; In manibus, gratia Misericordiae, et largitatis. Yea they attribute not only Divine Omnipotency, but Deity it self to her, to protect, rescue all her Servants who implore her ayd. Hence Horatius Turselinus the Jesuit, writes; Matrem quippe suam præpotens ille Deus Divinæ Majestatis potestatisque Sociam (Mariam) quatenus licuit, adscribit. Huic olim coelestium mortaliūque principatum detulit: ad hujus arbitrium (quoad hominum tutela postulat) terras, maria, cælum, naturamque moderatur. Hac annuente, et per hanc divinos thesauros mortalibus, et celestia dona largitur; Et omnes intelligant, quicquid ab æterno illo augustoque bonorum fonte in terras profluat, fluere per MARIAM. Whom Arnoldus Carnotensis thus seconds; Constituta quippe est super omnem creaturam, &c. et Filiū gloriā cum Matre non tam communem judico quam eandem. Bernardinus de Bussi out of his zeal to the Virgin Mary, not onely followes, but outruns them; *Tanta est gloria Virginis Mariæ

Mater Dei, quod tantum excedit in gloria naturam Angelicam & humanam simul junctam, quantum circumferentia firmamenti excedit in magnitudine suum centrum, cum intelligatur in Filio suo, se quasi alterum ipsum Deitate vestitum. Ipsa Dei mater de omnipotentia Filii sui, cui est in-nixa quantum vult sibi assumit. Yea, cum Deus est Pater rerum creatarum, Maria est Mater rerum creatarum. Deus illum genuit, per quem sunt omnia facta; Maria illum genuit, per quem sunt omnia refecta & salvata. Sicut ergo Deus sua potentia cuncta patiendo Pater est et Dominus omnium; ita beata Maria suis meritis cuncta reparando, mater est et Domina rerum. Per has ergo rationes impossibile est, ut aliquis homo ad eam conversus, et ab ea respectus damnetur, quia ipsa genuit eum per quem mortua resurgunt, et per quem homines ex peccato salvantur. Ipsa ergo est mater justificantis et justificatorum. Ipsa mater salvantis et salvandorum. Quomodo ergo desperemus cum salus Ave damnatio, ex boni fratris et bonae matris pendeat arbitrio? Besides, their canonized Saint and Cardinal <sup>k</sup> Bonaventura, in his Antiscriptural Psalter, thus metamorphoseth Lord into Lady, or Mary, in all these sacred Psalmes of David, relating to God the Lord, his protection or deliverance from enemies, or other dangers; as Psal. 1. Beatus vir qui intelligit nomen tuum Maria, gratia tua animam ejus confortabit. Psal. 2. Quare fremuerunt inimici nostri & adversum nos meditati sunt inania? Protegat nos destra tua mater Dei, ut actus terribiliter confundens et destruens eos. Psal. 3. Domina quid multiplicati sunt qui tribulant me? In tempestate tua persequeris et dissipabis eos. Psal. 4. Cum invocarem, exaudisti me Domina, & a sublimi solio tuo mei dignata es recordari. Arrogantibus preparatis ad escam & de manibus quarentium me liberabis gratia tua. Quoniam benigna est misericordia & pietas tua in omnes qui invocant nomen sanctum tuum. Psal. 5. Verba mea auribus percipe Domina, &c. Converte luctum nostrum in gaudium, & tribulationem nostram in jubilationem. Corrumpant ante pedes nostros inimici nostri, virtute tua eorum capita conterantur, &c. Psal. 7. *Domina mea in te speravi, de inimicis meis libera me Domina. Conclude ora Leonis & labia persequentium constringe. Non moreris propter nomen tuum facere nobis misericordiam tuam, splendor vultus tui fulgeat super nos, ut servetur conscientia nostra, apud altissimum. Sermo 4. in Assumptione Mariæ.

Laudationem tuam loquitur lingua mea, & benedicam te in seculum seculi. Psal.
148. Lauda Jerusalem Dominam; glorifica illam etiam o Sion. Ipsa enim construit muros tuos, & filios tuos benedicit, gratia sua te impingat pacemque donat terminis tuis. Hence<sup>1</sup> St. Bernard, and our Robert Holkot out of him, assure their Auditors; Ipsa Maria est praelara & eximia stella super hoc mare magnum & spacio-sum necessario sublevata, micans meritis, illustrans exemplis. Quisquis te intelligis, in huius seculi profluvio magis inter procellas et tempestates fluctuare quam per terram ambulare, ne avertas oculos a ful-gore huius sideris si non vis obui procellis. Si insurgant venti tentationum, si incurras scopulos tribulationum, respice stellam, voca Mariam. Si jactaris superbia undis, si ambitionis, si detractionis, si amulationis, respice stellam, voca Mariam. Si iracundia, aut avaritia, aut carnis illecebra naviculam concusserit mentis, respice ad Mariam. Si criminum immanitate turbatus, conscientia fidelitate confusus, iudicii horrore perterritus; barathro incipias absorberi tristitia, desperationis abyssu, cogita Mariam. In periculis, in angustis, in rebus dubiis Mariam cogita, Mariam invoca, non recedat ab ore, non recedat a corde; & ut impetres ejus orationis suffragium, non deseras conversationis exemplum. Ipsam sequens non devias, ipsam rogans non desperas, ipsam cogitans non erras, ipsa tenente non corruis, ipsa protegente non metuis, ipsa duce non fatigaris, ipsa propitia pervenis. Robert Holkot out of Cassiodorus subjoins; Tu patrona humani generis, Tu afflictis reis medicina singularis. Quis tuo non egeat munere cum sit peccare commune? Et ideo non in armis nostrarum virtutum confidamus, sed in istius Virginis gratia, in qua est omnis spes vite et virtutis: qui intuetur illam perma-nebit confidens. Studeamus ergo scutum nostrae orationis ipsius immagine exornare, et pondus nostrae deprecationis sibi imponere; Nam quicquid filio suo offert necessario acceptum est. Et ideo dicit Bernardus super Missus est, Crede frater, quicquid illud est, quod Deo offerre paras, Mariæ commendare memento, ut eodem albeo ad largitozem gratiæ gratia redeat quo induxit. Ergo orationem nostram duo debent compleri, Christus videat et Maria, habemus ergo nomen et verbum pro nostra oratione servanda, Virgo benedicta ab æterno prædestinata, præsanctificata et Dei filio consecrata, et cunctis creaturis superposita. Hence<sup>2</sup> St. Bernard thus excites all persons to reverence, extoll, and resort upon all occasions to her ayde and mercy; Sileat misericordiam tuam Virgo beata, si quis est qui invocam eam in necessitatibus suis sibi meminerit defuisse.
Nos quidem servuli tui ceteris in virtutibus congaudemus tibi, sed in hac potius nobis ipsis. Laudamus virginitatem, humilitatem miramur, sed misericordia mi-seris sapit dulcius, misericordiam amplectimur charius, recordamur sapius, crebrius invocamus. Hæc est enim quæ totius mundi reparationem obtinuit, salutem omnium impetravit. Constat enim pro universo genere humano fuisse solicitam, cui dictum est, Ne timeas Maria, invenisti gratiam, utique quam quærebas.
Quis ergo misericordia tua, O benedicta longitudinem & latitudinem, sublimitatem & profundum queat investigare. Nam longitudo ejus usque in diem novissimum invocantibus eam subvenit universis. Latitudo ejus replet Orbem terrarum, ut tua quoque mi-sericordia plena sit omnis terra. Sic & sublimitas ejus Civitatis superna invenis re-stitutionem, & profundum ejus sedentibus in tenebris & in umbra mortis obtinuit re-demptionem. Per te enim coelum repletum, infernus ebacuatus est, instauratæ ruinæ cœlestis Hierusalem, expectantibus miseris vita perdita data, sic potentissima et pluriſſima charitas, et affectu compatendi et subveniendi abundat effectu: æque locuples in utroque.
Ad hanc igitur fontem sitibunda properet anima nostra. Ad hanc mi-sericordiæ cumulum tota sollicitudine miseria nostra recurrat.
Ecce jam quibus potuimus votis ascendentem te ad filium deduximus, & prosecuti sumus saltem à longe, Virgo benedicta: Sit pietatis tuæ ipsam quam apud Deum gratiam invenisti notam facere mundo, reis veniam, medelam agris, pusillis corde robur

robatur, afflictis consolationem, periclitantibus adiutorium et liberationem Sandis tuis precibus obtinendo.

As they thus fly and pray to Mary, for grace, mercy, ayde, help, protection, deliverance in all their dangers and distresses, so they ascribe to her alone the praise and glory of all their preservations in, and deliverances from all infirmities, dangers, perils, all victories over their enemies, corporal or spiritual, private or publick, not to God or Jesus Christ; as you may read at large in the Postils, Sermons of our Lady, Monkish Historians, and in Bernardinus de Busti his Mariæ, Pars 1. Sermo 7. Pars 12. Sermo 2. De Coronatione, Pars 3. Michael Lochmair, Sermo 6. & 7. S. Brigitta Revelations, lib. 1. c. 16. b. c. lib. 4. c. 7, 54, 55, 106, 126. lib. 6. c. 23, 24, 39. & Revelationes Extravagantes, c. 80. Genebrardi Chron. p. 845. Yea they confidently assure us, that not only men, women, and children have been rescued from enemies, but even Parrots and speaking Birds, from Eagles, and Hawks, by invoking Mary, and saying Ave Maria, the ayder of all creatures in their miseries, as well as of men. To instance in some few examples, Baronius and Spondanus assure us, That precibus sanctissima Dei genitricis & auxilio, Constantinopolitana Civitas ab obsidionibus Saracenorum & ingentibus periculis sapissimè liberata est, non ob aliam causam quam quod celeberrimus illic esset ejusdem cultus, & quod ei Civitas olim fuisset dedicata. Hence Johannes Zemisea Imperator Constantinopolitanus, Anno Dom. 971. & Johannes Comnenus Imperator, Anno 1123. having obtained great Victories over the Bulgarians, Turks, Scythians, and other enemies, ope Dei genitricis Mariæ, (as they story Baldwin did over the Saracens the same year in the Holy Land) in gratiarum ejus actionem, (as to the Goddesse of Victory) Imaginem beatæ Mariæ magnificentissimo curculi impositam, ut Civitatis patronæ, Constantinopolim deduxerunt; the first of them, equo albo vectus, the latter of them, pedes curculi præcedens, as they relate out of Caropolites and Nicetas. Ejus quoque auxilio Pelagius Rex Asturium in Hispania, exercitum 80000. Saracenorum fugavit, & 20000. eorum cum Duce occidit, cujus ideo memoriæ spelunca illa famosa, dicta Sanctæ Mariæ de Covodonga, dicata est. Anno 648. Pope Gregory the 1. ordered the Image of the Virgin Mary, painted as they say by St. Lukes hand, to be carried about in Procession in Rome, to free the Romans a Peste inguinaria, with which they had been long afflicted and wasted; Et ecce tota aëris infectio (as the Chronicle of Bromton informes us) & turbulencia Imagini cedebat, ac si ipsam Imaginem fugeret, & ejus presentiam ferre non posset, sed post Imaginem mira serenitas & aëris puritas remanebat. Tunc in aëre (ut ferunt) audita sunt voces Angelorum tantentium; Regina cœli lætare, Alleluia; whereupon the Plague was stayed by her mediation: Upon which account, in time of Pestilence they thus specially pray to her for preservation and deliverance from it; O gloriosa Stella Mariæ, a Peste succurre nobis; and give thanks to her for their deliverance from it. Yea our Lejceffrensis and Henricus de Knyghton story, that in the reign of King William Rufus, quidam Clerici itinerantes tempestat. Fulguris, in nocturno disemiente ceciderunt. Ave Mariæ Stella, &c. & cum pervenerint ad hunc versum, Monstra te esse matrem; beata Virgo quoddam velum super ipsos expandit, sub cujus umbra securi donec transiret tempestas permanerunt. The like they relate of other Clerke in Gascoign, Anno 1367. I omit all other presidents of later times, mentioned by Dr. Beard.

Salutem attulit mundo; auctrix peccati Eva, auctrix meriti Maria: Eva occidendo obfuit, Maria vivificando profuit; percussit illa, sanabit ista. Hæc est beata illa Maria quæ totius orbis reparationem et liberationem obtinuit, salutemque hominum impetrabit. To which they adde, "That Mary hath a just Title to the Dominion and Sovereignty of the world, ratione emptionis, quia cum Filius suus emerit & redimeret humanum genus, ipsa ad hanc redemptionem faciendam est multipliciter operata, precium scilicet Redemptionis ministrando. Beata Virgo fuit assumpta Domino in Salutis auxilium et regni consortium et adjutorium; juxta illud, Gen. 2. Faciamus ei adjutorium simile sibi. Nam fuit etiam perticeps passionis pro genere humano, quoniam omnibus discipulis & ministris fugientibus sola sub cruce constitit, & vulnera qua filius corpore, ipsa corde suscepit. Unde & tunc gladius ipsius Virginis animam pertransiit. Hence their grãd Seraphical Doctress<sup>a</sup> St. Briget, to whom Christ himself (as they report) sent a special Angel to reveal and preach the excellencies of the Virgin Mary, in her Sermon dictated by this Angel, informs us, That although three flames of charity to redeem the lost world, shined forth most brightly in the three persons of the Trinity, and radiantly shined to all the Angels and creatures in Heaven, ex hoc tamen humani generis redemptio secundum æternam Dei præordinationem venire non poterat, antequam Maria esset genita, in qua tam fervens charitatis ignis accendi debebat, quod ejus odorifero fumo sublimis ascendente, ignis qui in Deo erat seipsum in eum infunderet, et per eam huic frigescenti mundo illabaretur, to excite him to save and redeem it. And in her 7 Revelationes Extravagantes, cap. 3. she relates, that Christ himself revealed to her, Urbz humana creatura quam Diabolus quadruplici peccato obsedit, (in their Mother Eve) quodammodo liberabit Mater mea Sanctissima, quando voluntatem suam totam dimisit in manus meas, et mallet omnem tribulationem pati ad hoc ut animæ salvarentur. Propter hanc igitur voluntatem, ego Deus ad æterno Filius Dei factus sum homo in Virgine, ejus cor erat quasi cor meum. Et ideo bene dicere possum, quod Mater mea (in the first place) et ego, quasi cum uno corde salvabimus hominem: Ego patiendo corde et carne, ipsa cordis dolore et amore. Which myserie and Article of the new Roman Creed, is thus further revealed and published to the world by their Aretinus, in his Book De Arcanis Catholica Veritatis, p. 515. * Adam following sinne incurred death, but the glorious Virgin and her Son being no partakers of Adams sinne, and altogether free from original sinne, of right were to be impassible and immortal; but for as much as the death of Christ was needfull for the redemption of Mankind, therefore it was necessary that the body of Christ should be passible and mortal; and so likewise the immaculate Virgin being to bear a Son passible and mortal, which was to be one flesh with her, and that could not naturally be, if she were impassible and immortal, therefore she was also necessarily mortal, and so both the Mother and the Son dyed. The death and passion of Christ and the Holy Virgin, was for the Redemption of Mankind: It was impossible she should have dyed before the passion of her Son. Another reason is, that she also might come between, and be a mediator between God and us, for the remission of sinne, to remove that which came between God and Adam when he committed it. Thus they joyn Mary in the very work of Redemption with Christ, in point of Doctrine; and thereupon invoke her as their Restorer, Repairer, Reconciler, and Redeemer, in their publick Prayers and private Devotions, as I have * already evidenced in her Title of Mediatrix.

4ly. Whereas the Scriptures resolve, that Jesus Christ is the only true light of the world, inlightning all the world with the saving light of his grace, and splendor of his glory, being the light of the Gentiles, Church and his people; John 1.4. to 10. c. 8. 12. Isay 9. 10. &c. c. 42. 10. c. 46. 9. Ps. 118. 27. Lu. 2. 32. Acts 13. 47. Rev. 21. 22. The Pontifician Seraphical Doctors from 7. the 4th letter in her name, thus proclaim and extoll her to be the only light and illuminatrix of the Church.

nis auxilium, universaliter omnibus et ubique; et in omni necessitate atque temporibus. This he proves beyond contradiction, from A, the 5th. and last letter in her name Maria, in this manner. Quinta litera nominis beata Virginis est A, per quam significatur, quod ipsa esse Advocata nostra, Yea, humani generis Advocata, qua non sustineret repulsam; quoniam autem homo habens aliquam causam cum habet sapientem & bonum Advocatum, potest sperare quod de sua causa victoriam reportabit, & consequenter cito ius suum obtinebit, (for which he quotes several Canonists.) Hanc ergo dignissimam Advocatam habentes latari debemus & exultare, quod ipsa causas nostras coram Deo assumens, ipsas sapienter incipit: inceptaque multis allegationibus defendit, et defensas ad propter finem deducit. Primo enim sapienter incipit, capiendo benevolentiam in exordio, quod est proprium boni advocati, quod quilibet bonus orator debet in exordio reddere audientem attentum & benevolunt. Secundo, Insinuat nostram necessitatem, & idcirco primo petit Dei misericordiam. Ideo figurata est per illam mulierem sapientissimam, qua dixit ad David, 2 Reg. 24. Sicut Angelus Domini sic & Dominus meus Rex, ut nec maledictione nec benedictione moveatur. Dens enim est tanta donitatis, quod nec nostris benedictionibus extollitur, nec nostris peccatis & maledictionibus movetur. Deinde subdit, omnes morimur, & quasi aqua dilibimur quae non revertuntur. Secundo, causas nostras multis allegationibus defendit. Primo, sapientia verbo non nimis prolixo, sic solent facere advocati, dicentes iudici, dicam unum verbum, pro causa mea, & postea multa dicunt. Ipsa ergo Advocata nostra compendiosè & sensu plenis sermonibus animum iudicis celestis ad suum votum inclinat. Ideo significata est per Abigail, cui dixit David, (1 Reg. 25.) Benedictum eloquium tuum, & Benedicta tu quae prohibuisti me ne ulciscerer me manu mea; Ecce audivi vocem tuam, & honoravi faciem tuam. Secundo, Advocata pietatis signo. Unde Bernardus super Cant. ait, O homo, securum accessum habes ad Deum, ubi habes matrem ante filium, filium ante patrem: filius offendit patri vulnera & latus, mater offendit filio pedes et ubera. Nulla ergo tibi poterit esse repulsa ubi tot sunt Charitatis insignia. Tertio, advocat sanctitatis merito, Si enim merita aliorum Sanctorum pro nobis apud Deum intercedant, multo fortius merita illius quae plenitudinem obtinuit meritorum, et gratiarum, habetur Lu. 1. poterant nobis divinam gratiam impetrare. Quarto, invocato advenit desideria, desideria enim sanctorum sunt intercessionis pro nobis ad Deum. Non autem ociosa ibi manet, sed in suprema sita poli, nos commendat suo proxi pro curam et iustis et peccatoribus subsidia salutis mentis et corporis. Tanto principaliter ipsa virgo causas nostras ad prosperum finem perducit. Tunc autem advocat causam suam ad debitum finem perducit, quando est sollicita, peritum aliquem in Curia gratiosus, facundus, & gratiosus vorum Rege & familia Regis. Fuit autem et est talis Advocata nostra Maria, loquens David Deo, inquit, Mater Regina à dexteris tuis. Ecce quantae sollicitudinis est et diligentiae, non enim ullam ad horam recedit. Sequitur, in vestitu deaurato; ecce quantae sapientiae. Infinitus est thesaurus hominibus. Sequitur, circumdata varietate; ecce quantae gratiae; nam coram Rege & eius familia in tantum est gratiosa, quod omnes eam circumdant, associant et honorant. In caelo enim tot sunt varietates, quot sunt sanctorum ordines, qui tanquam domicelli et domicellae Regnam suam associant, matremque Domini sui venerantur. De qua Bernardus, Ascendens ergo Virgo beata in altum, dispensabit ipsa quoque dona hominibus. Quid ni auret? Siquidem nec facultas ei deest, nec voluntas; Regina caelorum misericors est. Praecessit nos Regina nostra, & tam gloriose suscepta est, ut aducialiter sequantur Dominam servuli clamantes, Trahe nos post te in odore unguentorum tuorum curramus. Advocata praemisit peregrinatio nostra, quae tanquam iudicis mater suppliciter et efficaciter negotia nostra pertractabit. Propterea caute Ecclesia in illa Antiphona quam dicitur composuisse Joannes Damascenus dicens, Eja ergo Advocata nostra, illos tuos misericordes oculos ad nos converte, scilicet in presenti nobis impetrans gratiam huius, ut in futuro vitam eternam, Amen. Hence they pray to this Advocate, <sup>b</sup> Sancta

f De Assump-tione B. Marie,
Sermon. 1. f. 46.

Santa Maria succurre miseris, conforta pusillanimes, refcede debiles. Ora pro populo, intercede pro Clero, intercede pro debito foemineo sexu. Sentiant omnes tuum iuvamen quicumque celebrant tuam sanctam Patrocinatorem: Assiste parata votis poscentium; et repende omnibus optatum exitum. Sit tibi quidam assidue orare pro populo. Dei quæ meruisti benedicta præmium præsentis mundi. Amen. They further add, Kirga dicitur beata Maria, Prima antea, quæ significatur per virginem anciam, Hester 5, Ipsa quippe virgo beata Deum iratum placat, quæ est nostra Advocata. Quia appellatur virgo vigilans, Hic. 1. Ipsa enim vigilat super devotos suos, ut custodiat ipsos; et ideam etiam non debemus vigilantes esse et servidi in devotione eius. Ideo benedicta virgo inquit. Item 8. Ego diligentes me diligo, & qui nunc vigilaverunt ad me in their morning Offices, Vigils, Prayers to me as their Advocate inveniant me: Item quod ad me, & qui vigilantes forent meas quondam, qui me inveniet, inveniant meam, & hauriet salutem a Domino, & eos qui diligebunt eam, diligit Deus. They further assert, Ipsa est humani generis Advocata, quæ non potest sustinere repulsum, quoniam apud Deum meruit gratiam. Ipsa semper itat coram Deo ad intercedendum pro Nobis, sicut promittit, dicitur, Eccl. 24, usque ad futurum seculum non desinam; id est, usque ad diem iudicii non cessabo interpellare Deum pro vobis. Beatissima Virgo dicitur Centrum cœli; quia ad ipsam omnes respiciant tanquam ad Mediatricem. Ipsa quasi Intra speciosa & formosa aspectu, misericordiam habuit in corde, exhibens matrem, compassionis affectum, et in opere, conferendo miserationis auxilium universaliter omnibus et ubique, atque in omni necessitate et temporibus. When she told the Angels, that they had the custody bar of one or two men or Cities apiece, Ego non tantum unam virum vel mulierem, Civitatem seu Gentem, vel provinciam custodiam; protego, & conservo, sed omnes mundi homines, scilicet universum orbem, et omnes provincias, civitates et gentes. O sanctissima Dei mediatrice et hominum! Quoties impleri Scriptura, Gen. 2. ubi Deus ait, Non est bonum hominem esse solum, faciamus ei adiutorium simile tibi. Ipsa etiam pro nobis filio preces facit, & opera ostendit; unde est altera Hester, quæ apud Regem pro nobis afficit. Omnes ergo signamus animas nostras devotione illius, magni signi, ut sub eius protectione vivamus secure. Item apparuit in cœlo tanquam Advocata in Cœlo ad interpellandum pro mundo, unde figurata est in illa sapiente muliere quæ intravit ad David ad interpellandum pro Absolone, 2 Reg. 24. Yet more, Beata Virgo advocando pro nobis coram Deo, nos vincere in omni causa facit, et contra damnum impugnationis et illusionis defendit. Eloquentia admirabilis licet fuerit in multis, tam Christianis quam Paganis, in nulla tamen tanta fuit, quanta in magistra Ecclesiæ Catholicæ, et Advocata nostra Virgine benedicta, quæ sua dulci facundia Imperatorem cœli et terre scatum pacificavit; et non uni tantum homini ipsi contraria, sed toti generi humano liberationem a morte æterna impetravit. In tantum etiam aures Dei suavi oratione demulcit, ut illum attraheret a throno cœlo usque ad terram, et tam dulciter allocuta est, ut suaserit Deo fieri hominem, et tam suaviter cecinit, quod se in filium Deus illi donaret. O lingua disertæ beatæ Virginis! O Advocata eloquentissima, quæ dicendi vires et efficacia cyrographum nostræ damnationis de magni Dei manibus eadere fecit.

Conguebat enim Advocatam humani generis tanta puritate fulgere, ut nullum peccatum haberet quod ejus conscientiam morberet.*

Now to excite all sorts of persons to apply themselves wholly or principally to her mediation, they assert her advocacy, intercession on their behalf to God & her Son to be so powerfull, that she never can suffer any repulse, or denial, but alwayes prevayles in all her suites and petitions; whence they in their Sermons, Postills, Missals, Primers, Offices, Hymnes of our Ladies joyes, thus chaunt and court her, <sup>l</sup> Gaude splendens vas virtutum, cujus pendens est ad nutum tota cœli Curia; Te benignam & felicem Jesu dignam genetricem veneratur in gloria, Ave Maria. Gaude nexu Caritatis & amplexu dignitatis, juncta sis Altissimo, Et ad votum consequaris, quicquid Virgo postularis a Jesu dulcissimo; Ave Maria gratia plena. Gaude mater miserorum, quia pater seculorum dabit te colentibus, Congruentem hic mercedem, et foelicem poli sedem regnis in cœlestibus, Ave. Gaude virgo mater pura, certa manens & secunda quod hac septem gaudia non cessabunt, nec detrescent, sed durabunt et florescent, per æterna secula. These joyes of hers were first revealed by the Virgin to Archbishop Becker, (as <sup>m</sup> Bernardinus de Busti relates,) who thus rendered the 5th of them, Gaude quod filius meus mihi semper est obediens, et meam voluntatem, et cunctas preces meas semper exaudit. Gaude, quod Deus semper ad beneplacitum meum remunerat servitores meos in hoc seculo et in futuro. And then they subjoyne this undoubted promise from our Lady her self: Quicumque cum his gaudiis lætando in hoc seculo me venerabitur, in exitu animæ suæ de corpore præsentiam meam obtinebit, et ipsam animam ab hostibus malignis liberabo, et in conspectu filii mei ut mecum gaudia possideat præsentabo. To this St. Bernard, <sup>n</sup> Lochmair, Bernardinus de Busti, and others, superadd; De plenitudine ejus accipiant omnes, &c. (contrary to John 1. 16. Eph. 1. 22, 23. gratiam, qui non novit venerare Mariam. And no wonder, since they affirm, <sup>1</sup> A tempore quo virgo Maria concepit in utero Verbum Dei, quandam ut sic dicam jurisdictionem seu auctoritatem obtinuit omni Spiritus sancti processione temporalis, ita ut nulla creatura aliquam a Deo obtinuit gratiam vel virtutem, nisi secundum ipsius pietatis dispensationem. Hinc Bernardus devotissimus ait, Nulla gratia venit de coelo ad terram, nisi transeat per manus Mariæ. Et Hieron. Serm. de Assumptione, (falsely attributed to him) inquit, In Christo fuit plenitudo gratiæ, sicut in Capite influente. In Maria vero sicut in collo transfundente. Unde Cantic. 7. de Virgine ad Christum Solomon ait, Collum tuum sicut Turris eburnea.
Nam sicut per collum vitales Spiritus à Capite descendunt in corpus; sic per Virginem à Capite Christo vitales Gratia in ejus Corpus mysticum transfunduntur. Unde iste est ordo divinarum Gratiarum effluxus, ut prius à Deo influant in Christi animam benedictam; deinde in animam virginis Matris; deinde in Seraphim, & sic successive in alios ordines Angelorum & Sanctorum. Denique in Ecclesiam militantem: Cum enim tota natura divina, totum etiam scire, posse & velle divinæ intra Virginis uterum extiterit clausum, non timeo dicere, quod omnis fluxus gratiarum quandam jurisdictionem habuit hæc virgo, de cujus utero quasi de quadam divinitatis oceano tibi et flumina e-manabant omnium gratiarum, &c. Upon which account they addressle themselves to her as their most powerful, mercifull, learnedest Advocate, and Medi-tor between God and Man; craving audience and acceptance even with Jesus Christ (our sole Advocate and Mediator) and God the Father, not for Christs own Passion, Merits, Intercession, Grace or Pity; but for Maryes alone: to which they yet <sup>2</sup> sometimes (forgetting themselves) annex the petty merits and intercessions of other inferior Saints.

I shall cloze up their Lady Maryes Advocateship, and her other Offices peculiar to Jesus Christ, with this Cabalistical Contemplation and Prayer of her most devoted Advocate Bernardinus de Busto, who after many extravagant Encomiums of her transcendent Excellencies, from the 5. Letters in her name Maria, in each of which he hath found out several offices and Excellencies peculiar to her, hath made a further discovery of her Prerogatives and Titles in every Letter throughout the Alphabet, and turned them into this Alphabetical prayer. *"Habet quoque alias innumeras Excellencias, quas devotis mentibus contemplandas relinquo, solummodo aliquas locari. R. Regina cœli et terræ, nos tuos servos suscipe. S. Spes omnis tribulati, adjuva nos naufragos in hoc mari. T. Tutela oppressorum, sœvientium in nos iram compesce Dæmonum. V. Vita mundi, fac recludi portas mortis et inferni. Nasque tecum fac deduci in terram viventium. Amen.

Upon serious perusal of all the premises, I conceive all judicious conscientious Papists, must be enforced to make the same publick confession and acknowledgement, as * Georgius Cassander a moderate ingenious learned Romanist, (by command and approbation of the Emperors Ferdinand the 1. and Maximilian the 2. his successor) did about the year of our Lord 1565. Verumtamen, & illud fatendum est, et multos et magnos errores hoc pretextu intercessionis et meritorum (Sandozum) in vulgi animos et mores invasisse; quibus etiam quorundam Doctoꝝum viroꝝum inconsiderata scripta et dicta occasionem et fomentum suppeditarunt, quos impietatis et quidem summa diligentia correctos oportuit: Ut ex quibus contrarii errores, totius Ecclesiæ consuetudinem damnantium, originem duxerunt: quare nisi remotis causis ea quæ ex causis efficiuntur, non facile remobentur. Primus itaque error est, quod impij homines, et in peccatis perseverantes, ac nullam vitæ emendationem meditantes, Sandozum intercessionis ac meritis temere confidunt, nec ipsi pœnitentia ducti preces suas ad Deum adjungunt, quem errorem non uno in loco Chrysostomus graviter reprehendit. Hæc falsa et perniciosa opinio, quantum in vulgus invaluerit nimis compertum est; existimant enim homines improbi, et in sceleribus suis perdurantes, sola Sandozum (quos sibi patronos diligunt, et frigidis ne dicam prophætis Cæremoniis coluerunt) intercessione et patrocinio veniam sibi et gratiam apud Deum esse paratam; quæ perniciosa opinio, quantum etiam fieri potuit commentis miraculoꝝum confirmabatur. Alter error est, quod homines etiam non mali, certos sibi Sanctos, tanquam patronos et tutores delegerunt, in eozum meritis atque intercessione plus quam in Christi merito fiduciam posuerunt, atque adeo unico illo advocacionis Christi officio obscuro, Sanctos, atque impietatis Virginem Patrem in illius locum substituerunt. Quin et eo ventum est, ut etiam Christum jam in cœlo regnans Patri subjiciatur, &c.

Yet for all this, the Popes and Church of Rome (who pretend they cannot erre) have been so far from purging out in their Indices Expurgatorii, or suppressing in their Indices librorum Prohibitorum, these their transcendent blasphemous exorbitant Devotions, that they still approve, defend, justify, reprint, confirme, practise them both in publick and private: Yea which is more strange, instead of censuring the compilers and asserters of the premised Passages, Psalters, Hourses, Offices, Crowns, Rosaries, Postils, Prayers, for their intollerable Extravagances, Blasphemies, Idolatries; wrestings, corruptings most sacred Texts in the Old and New Testament, peculiar to Iesus Christ as God and Man, and the Three Persons of the sacred Trinity, and appropriating them to Mary, they not only advanced them to great honours, and Ecclesiastical preferments whiles they lived, but have since canonized them for most devout, eminent Seraphical Saints in their Church, and Heaven it self, for making the Virgin Mary the greatest Idol in the Christian world, and highest Invader, Usurper of all her Sons Regal, Prophetical, Pontifical incommunicable Offices, Titles, Excellencies; witnesse the preferring, magnifying, and canonizing of Ildephonsus Archbishop of Toledo in Spain, (one of the first Idolizers of the Virgin, and asserters of her exemption from the contagion of all original and actual sins) St. Bernard Abbot of Clareval, and St. Anselme Archbishop of Canterbury, (his two seconds therein) St. Thomas Becket Archbishop of Canterbury, the Author of her Joyes; St. Dominick and St. Francis, her two grand Chaplains, sent out into the world by her special designation, whose Orders amongst others, are specially devoted to her Service and Adoration ; St. Bonaventura, made a Bishop and Cardinal, the compiler of her most blasphemous Ladies Psalter, who turned the word Dominus, attributed to God alone, into Domina, and Mater Dei, throughout the Psalmes of David, St. Bernardinus de Senis ; their illuminated Doctress<sup>b</sup> St. Briget, (instructed from Heaven by divine immediate Revelations from Christ himself, and Mary the Queen of Heaven, or Angels specially sent by them unto her from time to time) and their St. Catherine of Senis, to whom she frequently appeared with her Son Jesus Christ : Yea all the Freers of St. Dominicks Order, are not only taken into, and continued in her peculiar service, under her protection whiles on earth, but also sheltered, fostered sub scapulari, capaque decorata coloris Sapphirini Virginis Mariæ gloriose ad dextram Filii sui sedentis in cœlis : sub hoc securitatis tegmento, in hoc pietatis gremio, vidit ille contemplator sublimium et prospector Domini secretorum Divus Dominicus Fratrum sui Ordinis innumeram multitudinem singularis protectionis custodia, et brachiis amoris peculiaris complexam : when he was rapt up into Heaven in spirit ; and there espying many of all other Religious Orders, near Maries and her Sons throne, but none of his own, upon which weeping for grief, as if none of them had been saved, thereupon Christ himself with his own hand lift up his Mothers coat or mantle, (tantæ capacitatis et immensitatis, quod totam cœlestem patriam amplectendo dulciter continebat) and shewed him an innumerable company of his brethren lying in her arms and bosome, under the secure shelter of this her large cœlestial coat or mantle, as <sup>c</sup> St. Antoninus Archbishop of Florence, and <sup>d</sup> St. Briget (to omit others of lesse authority) have assured us ; Sed audi mirabile, (addes St. Briget in the Virgins words, thus complaining to her Son of the degeneracy of St. Dominicks Order, devoted to her service) Dominicus assignabit filios suos sub mantello meo lato ; et ecce pauciores sunt nunc sub mantello meo lato, quam tunc erant sub scapulari suo stritto. Nec tamen omnes vivente ipso Dominico habuerunt ovina velleræ, & Dominicos mores, &c. But I much doubt whether such extravagant Magnificats, Passages, Devotions, Practises, Adorations, enthusiastical, cabalistical, seraphical Postils, Sermons, Prayers, Hymnes, Adulations, Panegyricks as the premised, will bring any of their Authors, Practisers, or this chaste Virgins Adorers, (especially leacherous Freers) under her very coats, or into her amorous armes and bosome, at Christs right hand in Heaven ; since they have rather just cause to fear, that Christ should thrust them for the same into the very bottom of the bottomlesse pit of Hell, being in truth the greatest affronts, contempts, dishonors they can possibly put upon this most humble blessed Virgin, or on God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost ; whereby they have changed the truth of God into a lye, and worshipped and served the Creature (Mary) more then the Creator, who is blessed for ever, Amen ; as * St. Paul himself (the first Apostle of the Romans, and Church of Rome) and St. Peter too 2 Pet. 2. 1 2, &c. assures them ; who thus prophesied of these False Teachers, and his pretended Papal Successors : There shall be false Teachers among you, as there were false Prophets among them, who privily shall bying in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bying upon themselves swift destruction ; and many shall follow their pernicious wayes, by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of : And through covetousnesse shall they with fained words make merchandize of you, (as they do of all the parts of the Virgins Offices, Oblations, Images, Reliques, Crowns, Rosaries, Masses, Psalters) whose judgement now of a long time lingreth not, and their damnation ceaseth not : They having not only equalized her with, but advanced her in sundry particulars above God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and that in point of <sup>e</sup> Divine Adoration, as these ensuing particulars superadded to the premises will demonstrate.

1. As they have <sup>f</sup> advanced her soul, body, and placed her person on the very Throne of the Trinity, on Gods and her Sons right hand in heaven ; & so they have erected, dedicated as many, if not far more Churches, Chappels, Oratories, Religious Houses, Orders, Fraternities, Societies, Brotherhoods of Monks, Nuns, and other Votaries, Votaries, stiled by her name, for her special worship, adoration, service, honour here on earth, as unto God, or Christ her Son.

2ly. They have compiled, published, dedicated not only hundreds of Postils, Sermons, Legends, but of Offices, Masses, Primers, Psalters, Crowns, Rosaries, Anthems, Hymnes, Litanies, Liturgies, Magnificats, Mattens, Evening-Songs, Hours, Collects, Complins, Processions, Manuals, and other sorts of Prayers, Poems, Books for her divine worship, service, adoration; more frequently, fervently, devoutly used in the Church of Rome, then those relating to the worship of God the Father, Son, or Holy Ghost; especially in our Ladies Churches of Savoy, Walsingham, Frankville, Paris, Ara cali, St. Maries le Grand at Rome, Covadonga in Spain, de Pilari, Casaraugusta, and sundry other places at this very day; to whose Person, Images, Pictures, Altars they make more Prayers, Vows, Pilgrimages, Oblations, and ascribe more Miracles, Deliverances, then to God the Father, or Son, as their <sup>b</sup> Histories and experience evidence.

3ly. They have consecrated every Saturday throughout the year to the Virgin Mary, upon which account <sup>i</sup> Bernardinus de Busti informes us, Multæ meretrices in die Sabbati non peccarent propter reverentiam Virginis (taking the more liberty on the Lords day) et multi videntur beatam Virginem in majori reverentia habere quam Christum Filium ejus (note it) magis ex simplicitate moti quam scientia. Sed quia honor Matris redundat in Filium. Prov. 17. Patientiam habet Filius Dei in hac quodammodo virozum et mulierum simplicitate. Excellent Seraphical Divinity, much like that of their Freer * Teel, who to set forth the glory and prevalency of the Popes Pardons, (whereof he was the Pedlar) for the encouragement and comfort of Harlots and Whoremongers, so far forgot the honour and reverence he should have given (like these Harlots) to the chaste Virgin Mary, that he impiously averred, If a man had lain with our blessed Lady, the Mother of Christ, and gotten her with Child, yet the Popes pardon was able to set him free from this offence. Besides, as if one day in each week were not sufficient for this Queen of Heavens adoration and honour, they have ex abundantia at several times, by their Bulls and Canons dedicated no lesse then five grand solemn annual Festivals or Holy-dayes; (to wit, of her <sup>k</sup> Conception, Nativity, Salutation or Visitation, Purification, and Assumption (soul and body into Heaven) to her peculiar worship and adoration; which are usually more religiously, devoutly, magnificently observed by all sorts of Romish Votaries, Orders, with more varieties of divine Services, Prayers, Hymnes, Litanies, Anthems, Crowns, Aves, Postils, Sermons, Panegyrics, Orations, Processions, then any dayes or Festivals dedicated to Christ her Son, or God the Father, as their Postils, Psalters, Primers, Breviaries, Missals, Rosaries, Crowns, Offices, Hours of our Lady, and other Books attest.

4ly. Whereas Vows are a part of divine worship to be made and performed to God alone, as Numb. 21. 2. c. 30. 3, to 15. Psal. 50. 14. Psal. 65. 1. Psal. 66. 13. Psal. 116. 14, 18. Psal. 132. 2. Isa. 19. 21. resolve. Whence <sup>i</sup> Aquinas and Cardinal <sup>m</sup> Bellarmine assert, Votum soli Deo fit, as well as Oaths and Sacrifices: Yet the Franciscans and Dominicans, with other Religious Orders in the Church of Rome, when they enter into Religion, make their Vows and Professions in this forme, as <sup>n</sup> Pere Basil a late Franciscan informes us; Je Frere Basile fais van & promesse a Dieu le Pere tout puissant, (omitting God the Son, and Holy Ghost, like the Council of Oxford in their Excommunications) a la B. Vierge Marie, au B. S. Francois, et a vous mon Pere, (one motive of his renouncing the Roman Church and Religion.) And Cardinal <sup>o</sup> Cajetan records, In professione Fratrum Prædicatorum sic vocatur; Aveo Deo, et B. Mariæ, et omnibus Sanctis; on whose Reliques they likewise vow and swear, as well as on the Evangelists; whereby they idolize and adore her and their Saints as Gods, to their and Gods dishonour.

5ly. They call and entitle all their Offices, Hours, Psalters, Primers, Masses, Litanies, Crowns, Rosaries, Anthems, Hymnes, Prayers, Magnificats, Churches, Chappels, Altars made for her publick worship and adoration, by her name alone, as Officium, Hora, Psalterium, Missa, Litania, Corona, Rosarium, Ecclesia, &c.

beata Maria, (not Dei, Christi, or Spiritus Sancti) preferring her before them, and her adoration before theirs, since her Name thus gives them both their denomination, form, and being. In which Books of their publick and private Devotions it is observable; 1. That they have usually 5, 7, 10, or more Ave Marias, (besides Salves, as * Salve Sancte Parens, Salve Regina, or Mater Misericordia, and other Collects, Prayers, Anthems, Litanies) prescribed to be said to her, for every Pater Noster they say to God the Father; their Marias Crown (as P. Bernardinus Senensis and others inform us) consisting of 63. Ave Marias, and but 12. Pater Nosters; and their Rosaries, Primers, Chaplets, Beads, being usually made up with 150. Aves, and 15. Pater Nosters; so as by this computation they adore, worship, invoke, praise and magnifie her at least 9, 10, or 20 times more in their publick and private Devotions, then they do God the Father, Son, or Holy Ghost. Yea their devout canonized St. Margaret, said no lesse then a thousand Ave Marias on every Vigil and Festival dedicated to the Lady Mary, as their Legends record for her honour, in adoring the Virgin a thousand times more then God the Son, or Father. 2ly. That in them they usually begin with an Ave Maria and Pater Noster said to Mary, and alwayes annex an Ave Maria to the end of every Pater Noster, as a branch thereof, or necessary Appendix to it; as if they could not possibly adore and pray to God the Father in Heaven, without adoring, invoking her as their Goddesse or Mother in Heaven; though Christ himself when he instituted and prescribed the Pater Noster, never annexed the Ave Maria to it, which was at first no Prayer to, but a meer salutation of her, used only once, not 10, 20, or more times together, and that only by an Angel specially sent with a message to her from God, not by any men or women without the like message or commission; and that to her person alone, when present with her on earth, and she amongst women, which they now use only to her whiles absent, and as far distant from them, as the highest Heavens are from Earth, where they place her (body and soul) on the Throne of Majesty, far above all Orders of Saints or Angels, having no women nor Saints in her company; which Aves they utter only to her Pictures, Images, as if she were present in them. 3ly. They say and direct their very Pater Nosters in her Offices, Hours, Crowns, Rosaries, &c. to her, as a part of her worship, service, kneeling before her Images, Pictures, Altars, not to God the Father, which Paters some of their Doctors justifie they may say to her, and other Saints too; whereas Dr. Boyes his new Mater Nostra, (compiled out of their own Authors and Offices) would be far more suitable to her service. 4ly. That they have many more Religious Orders of Freers, Nuns, and other Fraternities, Sodalties, dedicated to her worship, adoration, and obliged daily to say her Offices, Litanies, Hours, Crowns, Rosaries, Collects, Anthems; and dedicate, offer more rich Gifts, Oblations of all sorts at and to her Altars, Churches, Chappels, Orders, Images, especially more Tapers, Candles on Candlemas day, and make more Pilgrimages to them, then to God the Father, Son, or Holy Ghost.

6ly. They begin their first Morning, Noon, Evening Devotions, with Ave Marias to her Majesty, to which they are specially summoned * by ringing an Ave Mary Bell, (which no Interdict can suspend) as soon as they awake; about which there happening a long Suit in the Court of Rome between their 4. Orders of Freers, which Order ought to ring it first each morning, the Pope and his Conclave at last gravely resolved, by an immutable Decree, That that Order which first rose every morning, should first ring the Ave Mary Bell, if they pleased. Besides, they commit the custody of their souls, bodies, senses, and all they have to her hands, not to Gods, first and last each day, by this Prayer prescribed them in their publick Offices, Honres, and particularly in the beginning of their Hora beata Mariz secundum usum Romanum, p. 7. In manus tuas, o Sanctissima Virgo Maria, ego indignus peccator (or servus tuus) bodie commendo totum corpus meum, & totam animam meam, quinque sensus meos, & totam vitam meam, & omnes actus meos, &c. Monkish

Monkish and other Predicant Writers, <sup>b</sup> begin their Sermons, Books with an Ave Maria, Salve, Gaud Maria, or some other addresse unto her; and end them with Laus beata Virgini, instead of Laus Deo: Yea their great Historian Cardinal Baronius, concludes the <sup>c</sup> First Tome of his Annals thus; Sanctissima Virgini Mariæ (not Deo) ut hac omnia accepta fecimus, ita pariter offerimus: And their grand Champion Cardinal Bellarmine, affixeth this Postscript to the <sup>d</sup> two First Tomes of his Controversies, Laus Deo, Virginique Patri Mariæ, coupling both of them together, as coequals; and then adding, Deo item Jesu Christo after her; and Gregorius de Valentia the Jesuit closeth up his Books de Missa, & de Purgatorio, with Laus Deo & B. Virgini Mariæ, item Jesu Christo, (as <sup>e</sup> Bp Morton, and <sup>f</sup> Dr. Boyes observe) setting the Cart before the Horse, Laus Mariæ Virgini, before filio ejus: And no wonder, since almost throughout Bernardinus de Busti his Mariæ on her festivals, and most Postillers, Writers of her Excellencies, and in sundry Prayers in her Letanies, Psalters, Offices, Hours, Crownes, Rosaries, directed joyntly to Mary, and Christ her Sonne, or God, she is præponed before them, and first saluted, adored, invoked, and they only in the rear or last place; more particularly in this Prayer of their Canonized St. Anselm Archbp. of Canterbury, her devout Chaplain, in the end of the last <sup>g</sup> Tome of his Works. Anselmi nuper præcatio, Matri Virgini Mariæ, simul & filii ejus, In which he first invokes her with, Sancta & inter Sanctos, post Deum singulariter S. Maria, &c. O mater salutis! O templum pietatis & misericordie, &c. confessing the filthinesse of his Nature to her with shame and grief, as offensive to her transcendent purity, imploring her pitty; with, Sana ergo clementissima infirmitatem, & dele qua te offendit sceleratam. Aufer benignissima languorem, & non sentias quem horris factorem. Sana animam servi tui peccatoris, &c. Nunquid tu Domina mea mater Dei poteris perditum clamantem non curare? At last he introduceth her Sonne, and thus conjoynes the mother and sonne together, as coequals. Nonne ille filius hominis venit vocare ad penitentiam peccatores, & Mater Dei contemnet precantem in penitentia? Sed si pariter ambo offensus es, nonne & ambo clementes es? Fugiat ergo reus iusti Dei, ad piam matrem misericordie Dei; refugiatque reus offensæ Patris, ad pium filium benignæ Patris. Ingerat se reus utriusque inter utrumque. Inficiat se inter pium filium et Matrem; Pie Domine, parce serbo matris tuæ; Pia Domina, parce serbo Filii tui, quia me inficio inter duas tam immensas pietates, non lucidam inter tam potentes severitates. Non erubescam quod spero in vobis hanc pietatem. Dic mundi Juder cui parcis? Dic mundi Reconciliatricem quem reconciliabis? si tu Domine damnas, et tu Domina averteris homunculum bona vestra, cum amore, mala sua cum misericordia consentitem. But no marvel they thus place the Mother before the Sonne, or Father, and their Lady before their Lord; because,

7ly. As they have obliterated their Name, Title of Dominus, &c. and thrust in hers of Domina and Maria instead thereof throughout Davids Psalms in their Saint Bonaventura his Psalterium beata Maria, and Bernardinus Senensis his Officium Conceptionis Mariæ, authorized by their Popes Bulls; So it is likewise observable, that in their Hora beatissima Mariæ secundum usum Romanum, Antwerpæ 1568. p. 328. to omit others set forth by authority of their Church and Popes, they have metamorphosed St. Ambrose and their own Te Deum laudamus, &c. into Te Matrem Dei laudamus, Te Mariam virginem confitemur. Te æterni patris sponsam, omnis terra veneratur. Tibi omnes Angeli & Archangeli: Tibi omnes Principatus humiliati serviunt. 8ly. In the Popish Council held at Oxford, Anno 1222. 6 Henry 3. under Stephen Langton Archbishop of Canterbury, (that arch Rebell to King John and his Realms, intralled to the Pope by his Treasons and Rebellions) the whole Council and all the Prelates, Clergy of England, were so intent upon the Priviledges of the Church, and honour of the Virgin Mary, with other Saints, that in the very Prologue of their Canons and Excommunications (agreed upon in that Council) they quite forgot the Names of God the Son, and Holy Ghost; inserting Maries and the Saints in their steeds; as our learned Bishop <sup>f</sup> Jewel observes, yea all the Editions, in <sup>g</sup> Lyndeworde, <sup>h</sup> Johannes de Aton, <sup>i</sup> Laurentius Surius, and others attest. Ex auctoritate Dei Patris omnipotentis, et beatæ Virginis et omnium Sanctorum, (not Filii, & Spiritus sancti) & presati Concilii, Excommunicamus omnes illos qui Ecclesias suo jure maliciose privare presumunt, aut per maliciam earundem libertates infringere vel perturbare contendunt. It seems God the Sonne and Holy Ghost were not present in this Council, but only God the Father, the Virgin Mary, and Saints, else they could not have been thus quite forgotten.

Finally, as <sup>k</sup> Cardinal Cusanus and others, who assert her to be born without original sinne, write, that she stood in need of no Saviour, Non indiguit virgo Liberatoze, qui ipsam abolveret a sententia in Adam et in posteros lata, quod ipsa sub principatu auctoris mortis nullo unquam tempore fuit. Maria non est deleta de libro mortis, quia in ea nunquam fuit, &c. So on the contrary, <sup>l</sup> Bernardinus de Bessi seraphically and blasphemously avers, Sola benedicta Maria plus fecit Deo, vel tantum, ut sic dicam, quantum fecit Deus toto generi humano. Ipsa perfectionibus omnibus ultimam perfectionem adduxit, cum ea ipsi universitatis auctori, ut ita dixerim, nonnulla adduxit; puta æterno principio inceptio-

 Their late Canonized Saint Bernardinus Senensis sings the like Magnificat to the Virgin; Sola benedicta Virgo Maria plus fecit Deo vel tantum (ut

I appeal now to the Souls and Consciences of all sober judicious Pontificians, or Roman Catholicks, and other ingenuous Christians, for whose conviction and satisfaction I have so largely insisted on the premises:

1. Whether the Popes, Church of Rome, with these their Seraphical Doctors, Saints, Predicants, whiles they thus over-advance, extoll the Virgin Mary, have not thereby in a great measure dethroned, ungodded (if I may so speak) both God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, and advanced this their Lady, Queen, Empreſſe, Goddesse of Heaven and Earth above them, adoring her with, yea investing her in all

2ly. Whether they are not herein guilty, (as b Mr. Fox, c Bp Jewel, d Dr. Rainolds, e Bishop Morton, and others assure us) of most transcendent blasphemie, execrable Idolatry, and more apparent wresting, perverting, altering, corrupting innumerable Texts of sacred Scripture, then any former Hereticks in the Christian Church? 3ly. Whether the Romanists in invoking, adoring, crying to the Virgin Mary as aforesaid, and other Saints, be not more brutish then the very brute beasts of the field, young Lions, and Ravens, who both look up, and cry, seek to God alone (their creator, not to any Saint or creature) for every thing they want, as these Scriptures resolve, Psal. 104. 21, 24, 25, 27, 28. Ps. 145. 15, 16. The young Lions roar after their pray, and seek their meat from God; The eyes of all creatures in the sea and earth, both small and great beasts, fish and creeping things (as well as men) wait all upon God, that he may give them their meat in due season. &c. Thou openest thy hand and fillest the desire of every living thing. Joel 1. 20. O Lord the beasts of the field cry also unto thee. Jon. 3. 8. Let man and beast be covered with sackcloth, and cry mightily unto God. Psal. 147. 9. God giveth to the beast his food, and to the young ravens that cry, (to him for it.) Job 38. 41. who provideth for the raven his food, when his young ones cry unto God: whence the Psalmist, Psal. 148. 11, 12. exhorts beasts and all cattel, creeping things and flying fowls, (as well as Angels, Kings of the earth, and all people, high or low, young and old, males and females) to praise the name of the Lord (a part of divine adoration and prayer) for his name alone is excellent, his glory above the earth and heavens: Not the Virgin Maries, as they assert, & Psal. 150. 6. Let every thing that hath breath (as well beasts, fowls, fishes, and creeping things, as men) praise the Lord, not our Lady, as \ Bonaventure* hath blasphemously perverted it.

4ly. Whether they be not more sottish, stupid herein, then the very worst of Pagan Idolaters, who by the light of Nature never prayed to any Saint, Angel, creature for help in time of trouble, nor adored any thing, but what they really believed to be a God, and their God, able to help and save them. Hence Plato in his Alcibiades 2. De Oratore ad Deum, Legum Dialog. l. 4. & 6. and in his Definitiones Philosophorum Rerum, resolves; That God only is to be adored, sacrificed and prayed to in publike and private; defining, Sacrificium est donum Victimæ DEO. Precatio est petitio bonorum, aut qua bona videntur hominibus à DEO. The like saith Cicero in his Books de Natura Deorum, Ovid. Fastorum lib. & Tristium, l. 1. Eleg. 1. Virgil. Æneid. l. 3. Homerus. Iliad. l. 9. Terentius Phormion. Act. 2. Scen. 2. Dionysius Halicarn. Antiqu. Rom. l. 2. pa. 5. Plutarchi. Numa Pompilius, Pindarus. Euripides. Sophocles in their Poems, Diodorus Siculus. Alexander ab Alexandro Gen. Dierum, lib. 3. cap. 13. and other Heathen Authors attest; whence Jonah 5, 6. when God sent a mighty tempest, so that the ship wherein Jonah fled from Tarshish was like to be broken; the heathen mariners being afraid, cried every man to his God; Yea the shipmaster coming to Jonah (who lay fast asleep) said unto him, arise, call upon thy God, if so be that God will think upon us that we perish not. After which, ver. 14. They cried unto the Lord, and said, we beseech thee O Lord, we beseech thee let us not perish, &c. So Jonah 3. 8. The King and people of Nineveh proclaiming a fast, prescribed, that both man and beast should cry mightily unto God. The Psalmist assures us, Psal. 107. 18, 19, 23, 28, 29. That all sorts of men in their afflictions, and all that go down to the sea in ships, (like the mariners in Jonah) do then cry unto the Lord God in their trouble, and storms (not to any Saint, Angel, or other creature) creature) and he bringeth them out of their distresses. Thus the Priests of Baal cryed and prayed unto Baal to hear them, as to their God, 1 Kings 18. 21, 24, 26, 27. Thus the Idolaters transplanted from Assyria and other Countreies to Samaria, being destroyed by Lions, made and served several Gods of their own, and yet feared the God of the land, 2 Kings 17. 26. to 35. So the * Israelites revolting to Idolatry, cryed and offered incense only unto the new Gods they had chosen, to save them in the time of trouble, which they could not do. Yea the most sottish Idolater, who planted, watered a tree, burnt one part thereof, and made the residue a God, fell down unto it, worshipped and prayed unto it, (upon this account alone that, he beleaved it to be his God,) saying, Deliver me for thou art my God, Isa. 44. 9. Yea Cyrus and Artaxerxes, two heathen Kings, prescribed prayers and sacrifices to be made unto the God of heaven for their lives, and the lives of their sons, Ezra 6. 8, 9. c. 7. 21. And the Athenians erected an Altar to the * unknown God they ignorantly worshipped. As the * Scriptures are expresse, that God only is to be adored, worshipped, prayed to; That the Apostles, Saints in the Old and New Testament never made any prayers or supplications to any Angel, Saint, but God alone; yea Christ himself in the Lords prayer instructed his Disciples to pray only to God, no petition or clause of that exact pattern of prayer being communicable to any Angel, creature but only to God: So the Roman Historians and Poets, as <sup>b</sup> Tacitus Annal. l. 4. c. 3. l. 16. c. 6. Seneca de Consolatione ad Polybium, c. 31, 32. Martial Epig. l. 4. Epig. 1. l. 7. Epig. 51. l. 10. Epig. 32. l. 11. Epig. 4. C. Plinius secundus, Epist. l. 10. Epist. 44, 45, 60, 101. Panegy. If therefore the Roman Church, Popes, beleave not Mary and other Saints to be real Gods; and yet invoke, adore her or them as their only Aiders, Protectors, Saviours, Deliverers in their distresses; They are farre more sottish, idolatrous, then the very bruits and sottishest Pagan Idolaters, there being no president in the Old or New Testament, of any prayer made to Angels, or Saints departed, or other creature, but unto God alone, or what was reputed to be a God, who knew, searched the very secrets of their hearts, and was able to save and deliver them in their extremities; which none but the true God alone can do: Now whereas Popes and Popish Doctors have fancied, that the Virgin Mary and other Saints departed, do know their persons, necessities, hear their prayers, and can supply their wants; it is directly contradicted by Job 5. 1 c. 24. 20, 21. 2 Kings 22. 20. 2 Clon. 6. 9. c. 34. 28. Eccl. 3. 22. c. 6. 4, 12. c. 7. 24. c. 8. 7. c. 9. 5, 6. Isay 63. 1, 6. c. 8. 19. c. 26. 13, 14. Psalm 88. 5, 10. Psal. 115. 17. Lam. 3. 6. John 5. 25. <sup>d</sup> Augustinus De Cura pro mortuis, p. 13, 14, 15. And whereas they suggest, That they see all their prayers and necessities in the looking-glasse of the Deity, as their <sup>d</sup> Seraphical Doctors resolve, it is the most sottish whimie that ever was invented: For 1. the Scripture assures us, that God is invisible in his own essence, that no man nor eye hath seen, or can see God at any time, Rom. 1. 20. Col. 1. 15. 1 Tim. 1. 17. c. 6. 16. Heb. 11. 27. John 6. 46. cap. 1. 18. 1 John 4. 12. 20. If then God be thus invisible in himself, how can he be fancied to be a meer common looking-glass, which not only all Saints departed clearly behold, but likewise see all things done or spoken on earth by reflection in him, who is invisible. 2ly. No species can be received into or reflected by or from a glasse, but only at a convenient distance, and that by a corporeal visible substance, capable to receive & reflect corporeal species visible to the eye: But that all things acted, yea all prayers uttered on earth, should be visible, or reflected in God a Spirit, at so grand a distance as the highest heavens are from earth, and that so visibly, as all the Saints, Angels in heaven, do or may exactly see and take knowledge of them, is a most extravagant phantasia. 3ly. That Prayers, which are either meerly mental, or vocal, having no visible colours, species, being always said to be heard by God himself, who is therefore stiled a God hearing prayers, Psal. 65. 2. 1 Kings 8. 30, 34, 36, 37, 43, 45. 2 Chron. 6. 21, 23, 25, 27, 30, 33, 35, 39. Neh. 9. 27, 28. should not be heard but only seen by Mary, the Saints or Angels now in heaven, and that in speculo Trinitatis, is as great a solecism, absurdity, contradiction, as to averre that men may see sounds with their eyes, or in a looking glasse, and see colours with their ears: since sounds, prayers are only the objects of the ears, not eyes; and colours of the eyes, not ears. Hence the Prophet Daniel thus prayed to God, Dan. 9. 18, 19. O my God incline thine ear and hear, open thine eyes and behold our desolations, &c. O Lord hear, O Lord hearken; Hence we read of the seeing eye, and the hearing ear. Prov. 20. 12. That the ear only (not the eye) trieth words, as the mouth tasteth meats, Job. 12. 11: c. 34. 3. Hence hearing with the ears, and seeing with the eyes of the body or minde, are usually put in contradistinction in Scripture, Ifay 6. 9. Mat. 13. 13, to 19. Mar. 4. 12. Eccles. 1. 8. Rom. 11. 8. Therefore the Virgin Maries or other Saints seeing (not hearing) their prayers in heaven, in the looking-glasse of the Trinity: is as grosse, as senselesse a Bull, repugnant to the Nature of God, the whole series of Scripture, and common sense, as * absurditie it self can invent; which no rational man can beleieve, till deaf men can see voyces, sounds with their eyes, hear or tast colours with their ears, mouths. 4ly. If the Virgin and Saints departed, because they † see God, do therefore certainly see, know all things in God, that he sees or knows, (especially all mens hearts and mental prayers) and hear, understand millions of prayers made in all kind of languages they never knew on earth, at one instant, they should then be as omniscient as God himself, and so Gods outright, as they make the Virgin Mary.

5ly. Whether by all the premised particulars it be not apparent, that the Popes, Clergy, and whole Church of Rome have been, and still are farre worse, greater Hereticks and Idolaters, then the Collyridians, condemned for Hereticks and Idolaters too in the primitive Church, about the year 370. by Epiphanius Bishop of Constantinople in Cyprus, and others; whose Heresie, Idolatry is related to be only this; Hæc hæreses in Arabia, & Thracia, & superioribus partibus Scythiæ emicuit, introduced, practised only by a few women; Quidam enim mulieres currum quendam, sive sellam quadratam ornantes, expanso super ipsum linteo, in die quadam illustri anni per aliquot dies panem proponunt, et offerunt in nomen Mariæ. Omnes autem de pane participant. This they did in honour to her as the Queen of Heaven, as his, Ne dicant honoramus Reginam cœli, intimates: This is all they were guilty of. Now compare these and the Romanists heresie and idolatry to her together, and we shall easily discover how farre they outstrip them in all particulars.

1. This their Heresie and Idolatry was introduced, practised only by women, and those but few, simple, seduced by the Devil, like as Eve was of old; But theirs was introduced, fomented, propagated, justified by Monks, Popes, Prelates, Priests, Canonists, Casuists, Schoolmen, reputed the wisest, holiest, most Seraphical Doctors in the Church of Rome, led by the unerring Spirit of God (as they pretend;) and is universally practised by their Male as well as Female Catholicks of all orders & degrees. 2ly. They only at one solemn time in the year did publicly set little Cakes of bread, called Collyrides, in a Chariot thus adorned, for some few dayes space, before the Virgin Maries Image, & then offered them to her themselves, but consecrated no Priests; nor Religious Persons, Orders, Churches, Chapels, Altars, Images, compiled, used no publike Offices, Psalters, Primers, Crowns, Masses, Litanies, Anthems, Prayers, Aves, Salves, made no Processions, Pilgrimages to her, as the Pontificians practise, not at one time of the year alone, but daily, or on all Saturdayes, and 5. annual Festivals dedicated to her. 3. Baronius and Spondanus assure us, that Petrus Damianus at the request of some melancholly Hermits, was the very first who introduced the Office and Service of the Virgin Mary into his Private Monastery, Anno 1056. with much opposition of Gozo and others, who dissuaded his Monks from the use thereof; and that her office was not publicly received nor practised in the Church, till confirmed afterwards by Pope Urban the 2d. in the Council of Claremont, An 1095. their Hours, Psalters,

Psalters, Crowns, Rosaries, Litanies, Mariales being introduced long after by degrees: Therefore not used by these Collyridians. 3ly. They offered only little Cakes unto her in a Chariot: These Prayers, Praises, Incense, Gold, Silver, Pearls, Jewels, Tapers, yea Houses, Churches, Lands, and things of greatest value, her Churches, Chapels, being more richly adorned then their Chariot. 4ly. They all divided and did eat the cakes they offered to her in this their May-game, feasting themselves therewith: But all their oblations bestowed on her, are divided amongst her Priests and Freers, for the maintenance of her worship. 5ly. They placed only one Image of her in a Chariot: These erected thousands of costly Images, Statues to her in stately Churches, yea oft times carry them about * in Gilded Chariots, or on Prelats, Priests, Princes shoulders in their Processions, Triumphs, with a glorious Imperial Crown on her head, and a royal Scepter in her hand, with Christ her son as yet a sucking babe, lying unactive in her arms, ruling and domineering over him as * aforsaid; when they had nothing but her bare Image, without her babes. 6ly. Though they thus honoured, and called her, The Queen of Heaven, yet they gave her no other Titles, applied no Attributes, Offices, Texts of Scripture peculiar unto God or Christ, unto her: Whereas they honour, adore, pray to and extoll her, not only with the very same Title of The Queen of Heaven, but with farre more and greater Divine Titles, Attributes, Excellencies, Offices, and wrest, corrupt sundry expresse Scriptures for that purpose, which they appropriate to her, though peculiar unto God, or Christ our Saviour, which the Collyridians never did. 7ly. They made, published no such Magnificats, Mariales, Books, Anthems, Postills, Sermons, to extoll her transcendent Excellencies, and excite others to worship, adore her in such sort as they, and were never guilty of such extravagant blasphemies prayers, assertions as those forementioned: Therefore their Heresie, Idolatry in these and other premised respects is greater and more detestable then the Collyridians. 9ly. All the Arguments produced by Epiphanius against these Collyridians, which then suppressed their Heresie and Idolatry, directly condemn the adoration of the Virgin Mary, as not only ridiculous, foolish, repugnant to the Scriptures, not warranted by any presidents in sacred story, or the Primitive Church or Saints, who never invoked nor adored Mary, nor any other male or female Saints how great or holy soever, nor any Angel, but God alone, but as introduced by the Devils suggestion, yea damnable and destructive to their souls; as these passages (worthy special observation) will demonstrate. First, in his prologue he writes of this their Heresie, * Quæ sane et ipsa ridicula est, ac ludibrii plena apud prudentes reperitur. Incipiens autem de ipsa tractare, & opiniones ipsius recensere, soliditatis enim potius condemnationem incurret, quam ut aliquid sapientie in ipsa, esse iudicetur, quemadmodum etiam alia similes huic fuerunt. Sicut enim supra per contumeliam in Mariam, hi qui hac opinari videntur nocivas opiniones in Cogitationes hominum seminant; sic etiam hi ad alteram partem inclinantes in summo detrimento deprehenduntur, quo illud quod apud externos quosdam philosophos celebre est, dum dicunt, extremitates aequalitates, etiam in ipsis impleatur. Equale est enim in utrisque his scilicet detrimentum, illi quidem vilipendunt sanctam Virginem, hi vero rursus ultra decorum glorificant. Hi enim qui hoc docent, qui sunt præterquam mulieres? Muliebre enim genus lubricum est, erroneumque ac intellectu humili pradiatum, etentim et ipsi Diabolo visum est hoc a mulieribus ebomere. Quemadmodum enim supra apud Quintillam & Maximillam ac Priscillam ridicula sunt dogmata, sic etiam hic: 2ly. He thus proceeds against and encounters their heresie, after his recital of it. Nunc autem clare de ipsa dicemus & confutationes contra ipsam pro viribus Deum invocantes apposituri sumus: quo huius simulacris & hæresis radicibus excisis, a quibusdam talem radicem extollere in Deo possumus. Age igitur, virilem animum induamus, et harum mulierum insaniam dissipemus. Totum enim hoc mulieris opus est, et Evæ rursus deceptæ morbus, imo potius serpentis, bestie illius irritatiæ, et quæ loquuta est in ipsa, est hæc erroris promissio, nihil in medium afferens, neque promissa perficiens, sed solum mortem efficiens, ea quæ non sunt, velut quæ sunt nominans, et per visionem ligni inobedientiam faciens et aversionem ab ipsa veritate, et ut ad multa se converteret. Æstimare autem licet qualia impostor ille seminarit, dum ait, eritis sicut Dii; sic et harum opinio per prædictæ Bestiæ elationem impulsæ est. Nam in hac Natura rursus moxem, velut sæpe dixi. Primum equidem statim consideremus, ab æterno usque in hunc diem, cui non mania festum est, quod demoniorum est Doctrina et forma et abalienata aggressio, Deo enim ab æterno nullatenus mulier sacrificavit, non ipsa Eva & quidem in transgressione constituta. At non ausa fuit amplius talem impiam aggressionem perficere, non una ex ipsius filiabus, &c. where he proves at large, by sundry Scripture presidents and Texts, which I pretermitt, that no women ought to be Priests, or to offer sacrifice, or speak in the Church, as these women offered sacrifices to Mary, Then he thus proceeds to refute their invocation and adoration of Mary. Unde vero nobis rursus hac nova fabula excitata est? Unde mulierum fastus: et insania mulieribus? Unde nutrita malicia rursus per foeminam nobis foemineam opinionem mentibus infundens, suam voluptatem operans à proposito decedere miserum hominum naturam cogere conatur? Caterum suscipiamus animum ipsius Job, firmitatem Athletæ illius armemur iusta responsione, in labia assumpta. Dicamus & ipsi, velut una ex stolidis mulieribus loquuta es, unde enim non stolidum hoc apparebit, omni prudentiam habenti, eamque per Deum adeptæ. Unde non est simulacrum hoc studium, et Diabolus, mortalem naturam in hominum oculis Despicans, statuas humanas imagines præ se ferentes per artium varietatem expressit. Et mortui quidem sunt, qui adorantur, ipsorum vero imagines, quæ nunquam vixerunt, neque enim mortuæ esse possunt quæ nunquam vixerunt, adorandas introducunt, adulterante mente ab uno et solo Deo commune scortum, ad multam multiplicis coitus absurditatem scitatum, et quod temperantiam legitimi conjugii unus viri detribuit. Rebera, sanctum erat corpus Mariæ, non tamen Deus: Rebera virgo erat ipsa virgo et honorata, sed non ad adorationem nobis data, sed ipsa adorans eum qui ex ipsa carne genitus est, de coelis vero ex sinibus paternis accessit. Et propterea Evangelium monuit nos dicens, quod ipse Dominus dixerit, <sup>h</sup> Quid mihi & tibi cura est mulier? nondum venit hora mea. Quo non putarent aliqui magis eximiam esse sanctam virginem, mulierem eam appellavit, velut prophetans, quæ futura essent in terra scitarum ac hæreseon gratia, ut ne aliqui nimirum admirati sanctam, in hanc hæresim ejusque deliramenta dilabantur. Est enim ludibrium tota res, et anicularum fabula, ut ita dicam, tota hæresis tractatio. Quæ vero scriptura de hoc narravit? Quis prophetarum præcepit hominem adorari, nedum mulierem? Eximium equidem est vas, sed mulier, et nihil a natura immutata, verum et intellectu, et sensu in honore honorata, velut corpora sanctorum; et si quid amplius ad glorificationem dixerim, sicut Helias, ex matre virgo et sic manens in perpetuum, et translatus, et mortem non conspiciendus; sicut Johannes qui super pectus Domini recubuit, quem diligebat Jesus; sicut Thecla sancta, et Maria adhuc honoratioz hac est, propter dispensationem mysterii qua digna facta est. Sed neque Helias adorandus est etiam si in visibilibus sit, neque Johannes adorandus, quanquam per preces suas propitias dormitionem suam admirandam effecerit, imo potius ex Deo gratiam acceperit. Sed neque Thecla, neque quisquam Sanctus adoratur. Non enim dominabitur nobis antiquus error, ut relinquamus Deum viventem, et adoramus ea quæ ab ipso facta sunt. <sup>i</sup> Coluerunt enim & adorant creaturam præter Creatorem, & stulti facti sunt. Si enim Angelos adorari non vult, quanto magis eam quæ genita est ab Anna, quæ ex Joachim donata est Annæ, quæ per preces, & omnem diligentiam secundum promissionem patri ac matri data est, non tamen aliter genita est præter hominum naturam, sed sicut omnes ex semine viri & utero mulieris. Tametsi enim Historia Mariæ & traditiones habent, quod dictum est patri ipsius

Deleantur quæ male ſcripta ſunt in corde deceptorum: Collatur ex oculis cupiditas ligni. Convertatur rursus ſigmentum ad dominum. Revertatur Eva cum Adam ut Deum colat ſolum; ne ducatur ſerpentis voce, ſed permaneat in Dei præcepto; ne comedas de ligno. Et erat lignum non error, ſed per ipſum lignum facta eſt inobediencia erroris. Ne comedat quis de errore, qui eſt propter ſanctam Mariam. Mulier enim precioſas vi- <sup>16</sup> rorum animas corripit. Hujus enim pedes ducunt utentes poſt mortem in Infernum. Ne attendas prava mulieri, mel enim diſtillat à labiis mulieris meretricis, quod ad tempus lenis guttur tuum, poſtea tamen amariuſ felle reperies, & magis acutum quam anceps Gladius. Ne credas huic mulieri præbæ. (omnis enim hæreſis eſt præbæ mulier) amplius vero mulierum hæreſis hæc, et ea quæ eſt ejus qui prænam mulierem decepit. Honoretur mater noſtra Eva, velut à Deo formata, ne audiat autem, ut ne perſuadeat filios, ut edant de ligno, et tranſgrediantur mandatum. Poenitentiam vero agat etiam ipſa, hanc loquiſ convertatur pudenda, et foliis ſi- <sup>North</sup> cus amicta. Conſideret autem ſeipſum etiam Adam, et non amplius ipſi crebæ. Nam erroꝛis perſuaſio, et mulieris ad contrarium conſilium mor- tem proprio conjugi effici, et non ſolum, ſed etiam filiis. Subvertit ſigmentum Eva per tranſgreſſionem irritata, per vocem ac promiſſionem Serpentis, ſeducta ex prædicatione, et ad aliam ſententiã progreſſa. Quapropter omnium Dominus & Salvator volens curare morbum, & adifi- <sup>North</sup> care ſubverſum, & corrigere imminutum, quandoquidem à muliere mors in mundum <sup>North</sup> venit

venit, ex muliere virgine ipse genitus est, quo mortem concluderet, & defectum expleret, & imminutum perficeret. Revertitur autem nobis rursus malitia, ut defectum in mundum producat. Sed neque juvenes, neque senes credunt mulieri, propter temperantiam ab initio. Non ludificat Egyptia castum Joseph, neque evertit, &c. Quam multa dicere possem. Sive enim velut ipsam adorantes Mariam, Ipsi offerant collyridem sive placentam banæ istæ mulieres, sive pro ipsa offerre conantur, prædictam hanc putidam oblationem tota res stolidæ est, et aliena, et ex Damonum motu fraudis et impostura. Quo vero non longius extendam sermonem, sufficienti nobis relata; Maria in honore sit, Dominus adoratur. Iusti enim nemini exhibent errorem, Deus malis non tentatur, & tentatur etiam ipse neminem, neque servi ipsius ad deceptionem; Unusquisque vero tentatur ex propria concupiscentia, attractus & inescatus. Deinde cupiditas parit peccatum, peccatum autem perfectum parit mortem. Ceterum quum de omnibus his hæc sufficere, O charissimi putemus, et hanc, ut ita dicam Cantharidem, formam quidem auricolæ, alatam vero ac volantem, venenumque ejaculantem, et virus in seipsum habentem, per Doctrinam veritatis consideremus, ad unam illam quæ adhuc restat pergamus, Deum invocantes, ut opituletur nobis, quo veritatis partes investigemus, et contra adversarios confutationem perfectam efficiamus.

3 Ritua e Parachorum.

All these antient Passages of Epiphanius directly condemn the Heresie and Idolatry of the Church of Rome, for offering not only the Sacrifices of Tapers, Gold, Frankincense, and other things, but even of Prayers, Prayses, Psalms, Thanksgivings, and solemn Vowes to the Virgin Mary, and other Saints, which the Collyridians never did; whom yet <sup>a</sup> Cardinal Baronius, <sup>b</sup> Spondanus, <sup>c</sup> Bellarmine, and other Pontificians confesse to be both Hereticks and Idolaters; only for sacrificing Cakes, and adoring her as aforesaid; which I desire all Romanists seriously to consider.

6ly. I further appeal to all judicious, unbiassed Roman Catholics, whether upon serious consideration of the premises, our Protestant Kings, Bishops, Churches of England, Scotland and Ireland, had not just cause, grounds, in point of conscience, to abominate all these heretical, blasphemous, idolatrous Abominations, Devotions, Assertions, Practises of the Church of Rome, as Antichristian Innovations, Corruptions, to <sup>a</sup> separate themselves from them, and all others of like nature accompanying them; and to renounce the Popes usurped Authority, which introduced, fomented, established them, and would never to this day suppress or reform them, after all detections, convictions of their execrable impiety, idolatry, and inconsistency with the Principles, Verity, Purity of the Christian Religion, and Divine Worship of God alone, prescribed in his Word.

7ly. Whether this was not the main ground of their impious bold obliterating the 2. Commandment out of the Decalogue in all their 1 Offices, Primers, Hours, Psalters of our Lady, and most of their late 2 Catechismes, because it is diametrically repugnant to, and inconsistent with their erections, invocations, adorations of, prostrations to the Images, Statues, Pictures of our Lady, and saying Ave Mariæ, Pater noster, with other prayers to and before them, as if she and they were God himself. And because it is directly contrary to this their usual forme of consecrating their adored Images of God, Christ, the Virgin Mary, and other Saints, thus recorded in their

Et aspergantur aqua benedicta. And to the larger special forme, de Benedictione Imaginis beatæ Mariæ Virginis, to be made by their Bishops alone in all their Pontifical accoutrements, with no lesse

And with the repetition of Psal. 87. & 123. Unto thee lift I up mine eyes, O thou (blessed Lady Mary) that dwellest in the Heavens, &c. with the Magnificat Luke 1. and Allelujahs, Ave Maries, and these two special Antiphonæ chanted to her before her new consecrated Images, by their whole Cathedral Chorus, with sound of Organs, Sacbuts, and all kinds of Musick, (as at the consecration of * Nebuchadonors golden Image) * Dan. 3. 37.

Sub tuum præsidium confugimus, Sancta Dei genetrix, nostras deprecationes ne despicias in necessitatibus, sed a periculis cunctis libera nos, semper Virgo gloriosa et benedicta. O gloriosa Dei genetrix Virgo semper Maria, quæ Dominum omnium meruisti portare, et Regem Angelorum sola Virgo lactare, nostri quesumus pia memorare, et pro nobis Iesum Christum deprecare, ut tuis fultis patrocinis ad cœlestia Regna mereamur pervenire. All which are prescribed in the very Pontificale Romanum, Clementis 8. Pontificis Max. jussu restitutum atque editum, authorized by his special Bull prefixed to it, in perpetuam rei memoriam, Datum Romæ apud Sanctum Petrum, sub Annulo Piscatoris, die decima Februarii 1596. Pontificatus nostri anno quinto; printed then at Rome, and since that Antwerpia 1627. lib. 3. p. 364. Which Prayers, Antiphonæ, Images, can no more consist with, nor stand upright before the Second Commandments presence, then the Image of Dagon with and before the * Ark of God, but must needs fall down on their faces, and loose both their heads and feet before it, which it quite cuts off; to prevent which they have totally expunged it out of all their Offices, Primers, Hours, Crownes, Litanies, late Catechismes, and other Offices of our Lady, worthy our special notice.

3. 4.

8ly. Whether the premised passages concerning their Lady Maries Universal Sovereign Power, Monarchy over all Angels, powers, Kingdoms, Nations, Persons, Churches, Creatures both in Heaven, Earth, Purgatory and Hell, as their real Lady, Queen, Empreffe, Goddesse; with her Prophetical and Sacerdotal Offices of the Advocate, Mediatrix, Reconciliatrix, Redemptrix, Saviourresse, Helper, Instructor, &c. of all Catholicks, Saints, or Sinners, and of all afflicted, distressed persons in earth, purgatory, and hell it self, do not very much eclipse, impeach, if not subvert the Sovereign Kingly power, Priesthood and Prophetical Offices of Christ; and totally overthrow all St. Peters and Popes Claims, Titles, Charters, pretences thereunto, even by their own premised Doctrines, resolutions, and these very Texts of Psal. 110. 1. Mat. 28. 19, 20. Phil. 2. 9, 10. with others, on which they found her temporal Monarchy over the whole Church, world, whiles on earth, and ever since her Ascension into Heaven: And if so, as the premises clearly evidence; Whether they must not now in point of conscience, justice, policy, henceforth renounce their Popes pretended Universal Ecclesiastical and Temporal Monarchy over all Churches, Kingdoms, Nations, Persons throughout the world; if they will avoid her displeasure, retain her favour, or enjoy the benefit of her Intercession, Advocation, Mediation, and Reconciliation; Or else abandon her forecited Dominion, Monarchy, and Empire over them, to retain and enjoy the Popes; Or otherwise professedly disclaim and abjure both their pretended Monarchies, Powers, as inconsistent with Christs Sovereign Regal, Sacerdotal, Prophetical Offices, and the antient Sovereign Ecclesiastical and Temporal Prerogatives of all Christian Emperors, Kings, Monarchs, but more especially of our own?

I have the longer insisted on these particulars, as not only most pertinent to subvert the Popes pretended Universal Monarchy, Vicarship, and the very foundations whereon it depends, and as most powerfull arguments both to reclaim all seduced Pontificians from the Idolatry of the Church of Rome, and keep all unstable Protestants from Apostatizing to her; but likewise because our two Archbishops of Canterbury, torbury, * Anselme and Becket, (canonized for Saints in and by the Popes and Church of Rome) who first introduced the Offices, Joyes, publick Invocations of the Virgin Mary into our English Church, and extolled her Sovereignty, Excellencies above her Sons, were the two first grand Trayterous Oppugners, Underminers of our Kings Ecclesiastical Sovereignty and Jurisdiction, as well as of Jesus Christs, and first Propugners of the Popes Usurpations; not unworthy observation.

I might here subjoyn to these their Catholic Blasphemies concerning the Virgin Maries Monarchy, Mediation, Redemption, &c. the like concerning her two grand Chaplains St. Francis and St. Dominick; to whom their followers apply sundry Scripture Texts peculiar to our Lord Jesus Christ his person, Kingly and Priestly Offices, in derogation of his Sovereignty, Priesthood, Advocacion, and of the Virgin Maries and Popes too: Witnesse their Conformatum Sancti Francisci, (presented by Bartholomæus de Pisis to, and specially approved by the General Chapter of the Franciscans, Assisii 2<sup>o</sup> Augusti 1389. as Liber Aureus, yea by Pope Gregory the 9. Alexander the 5. Nicholas the 3. Benedict the 12. since printed and reprinted by publick authority) wherein they assert of St. Francis; Ipse merito dicere possit illud, quod cantatur in Evangelio; Omnia mihi tradita sunt à Patre meo. Ero illi in Patrem, & ipse erit mihi in Filium. Hic est Dei gratia, totum Christo conformis: Omnia perfectionis exemplar; In gloria Dei Patris Dedicatus: In gloria Sanctorum Deo unitissimus. Unde et præfuit universæ creaturæ, factus unus Spiritus cum Deo. Quem Ecclesia militans ADVOCATUM apud Deum possidere meruit. Eriens de vulnere laterale Christi, Jesus typicus passione factus, ad similitudinem Jesu Christi crucifixi. In eo passio Jesu Christi pro genere humano renovatur. De quo David dixerit; Gloria & honore coronasti eum, & constituisti super opera manuum tuarum; Datus est, in lucem Gentium. Quod propter unam Missam beati Francisci placatus fuerit Deus pro toto mundo. Omnes salvantur qui moriuntur in ordine et sub regula Sancti Francisci. Et indutus cuculli dat ei plenam peccatorum remissionem, tam a poena quam a culpa. In a word, Christus oravit, Franciscus exoravit. Witnesse what St. Antoninus Archbishop of Florence, Surius, Ribadeniera, and others, storry of St. Dominick; *Christus post mortem dicit, Omnis potestas mihi data est in cælo & in terra: Et hæc potestas non parum communicata est Dominico, (therefore not wholly transferred to the Pope or Virgin Mary) cælestium, terrestrium, et infernorum. Nam Angelos Sanctos in suum Ministerium habebat, ad nutum ejus Dæmones contremiscebant, nec Imperium ejus recusare valebant: (for which they produce several examples) Quia Christo similis, à Domino Christo aptissime denominatus est Dominicus, Dominicus namque quasi totus Domini: Ut Christus sit Dominus absolute, & authoritativè, Dominicus autem principaliter & possessivè: Whom as they parallel with Christ in many things, so they preferre before Christ in others, as in the multitude of his miracles, and prevalency of his Prayers and Advocacion. Nam Christus cum in horto oravit, Calicem à se transferri, non fuit exauditus, &c. Dominicus autem eundem religioso viro sibi familiari insinnavit, se nunquam a Deo aliquid postulasse, quod ad votum non obtinuerit. That, Christus Dominus dilexit nos, & lavit nos à peccatis nostris in sanguine suo; but by one suffering. Dominicus verò charitatis perfectione non vacans, pro salute omnium animam ponere promptus erat: For which end, trinam disciplinam quasi de manu propria non cordula, sed cathena terrea usque ad sanguinis effusionem capiebat; pro suis culpis unam quæ minimæ erant, pro in purgatorio existentibus aliam, tertiam pro iis qui versantur in mundo. That at his death, to comfort his sorrowfull and mourning Disciples, he used the same words to, and Prayer for them, as Christ did to his Disciples John 17. promising them, *In loco ad quem vado utilior vobis ero quam hic: Et post mortem ADVOCATUM POTIOREM HABEBITIS, quam in hac vita habere possitis: As if he would then prove a better Advocate for them in Heaven, then the Virgin Mary, or Christ himself: Who both honoured him so far, That adjuvavit in hac hora transitus sui beata Virgo cum Filio; as was revealed to Freer Guala, then Prior, afterwards Bishop of Brixia, who saw Heaven opened, and two most white Ladders let down from thence: Summitatem unius scala tenebat in manu beata Virgo Maria, alterius summitatem Filius ejus Jesus Christus tenebat: Angeli autem discurrerant per eas ascendendo & descendendo; at the end of both which Ladders St. Dominick was placed in a Chair fastned to them; Scalas autem illas sursum trahebat Dominus Jesus cum Matre paulatim, & ducebatur sursum simul cum illis scalis sedes pariter cum sedente comisantibus Angelis. Denique receptis in calum scalis & sede cum sedente, apertura illa caeli clausa est, visuque disparuit. In brief, they preferre him before St. Paul, and all the Apostles; recording, that before his birth there appeared to all the people two Images in the Church of St. Marke at Venice, the one of St. Paul, with this motto under it; Hec ipsum itur ad Christum; the other of St. Dominick, with this inscription, Facilius itur per ipsum; Quia (writes St. Antoninus) Doctrina Pauli sicut caterorum Apostolorum, erat Doctrina inducens ad fidem & observantiam praeceptorum: Doctrina Dominici ad observantiam consiliorum; et ideo facilius per ipsum itur ad Christum; and so by his Mediation and Advococation, they may easier go and be reconciled to God the Father, then by Christs, St. Pauls, or their grand Advocate the Virgin Maries.

Guala,

I shall no longer insist on these or any other of their Saints Powers or Advocations, but proceed to the second sort of established Doctrines and Practices in the Church of Rome, which directly overthrow the very foundation of St. Peters and the Popes Universal Monarchy over the World and Church Militant; to wit, * Christs personal corporal absence from his Church, and all Kingdoms, Nations on Earth, during his residence at his Fathers right hand in Heaven; which could not be supplied but only by constituting St. Peter and Popes his pretended Successors in his Chair at Rome, to succeed him in his Supreme Universal Monarchy and Priesthood, as his sole Viceroyes and Vicars, to instruct, feed, comfort, direct, rule them in his stead, untill his second coming to Judgement.

This foundation of St. Peters and Popes pretended Universal Monarchy, Vicarship, as it is directly contradicted, 1. By our Saviours own expresse promises, made to his Apostles, Church, at the very time of his ascension, when he informed them, * all power is given to me in heaven and earth; and that with a special Eccc, *Mar. 28. 20. As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from henceforth even for ever. Isa. 43. 2. When thou passest through the waters I will be with thee, and through the rivers they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burnt, neither shall the flame kindle upon thee. Fear not, for I am with thee. Psal. 91. 15. He shall call upon me, and I will answer him; I will be with him in trouble, I will deliver him, and honour him. Isa. 41. 10, 13, 14. Fear thou not, for I am with thee; be not dismayed, for I am thy God; I will strengthen thee, yea I will help thee, yea I will uphold thee with the right hand of my righteousness. For I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not, I will help thee. Fear not thou worne Jacob, and ye men of Israel: I will help thee, saith the Lord, and thy redeemer the holy one of Israel. Together with Jer. 1. 8, 19. c. 15. 20. c. 30. 11. c. 39. 17, 18: to the same effect; Thus experimentally fulfilled after his ascension into Heaven; *Acts 18. 9, 10. Then spake the Lord unto Paul in the night in a vision, Be not afraid; but speak and hold not thy peace. For I am with thee, and no man shall set on thee to hurt thee. 2 Tim. 4. 16, 17, 18. At my first answer no man stood with me, but all men forsook me; notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me (not Peter) the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear; and I was delivered out of the mouth of the Lion. And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil worke, and will preserve me to his heavenly kingdom.

2ly. By Christs reiterated promises to send the Holy Ghost as a Comforter unto his Apostles, Church, Saints, to supply his absence, (not St. Peter, or the Pope) John 14. 16, 17, 26. I will pray the Father, and he shall give you another Comforter; that he may abide with you for ever: Even the spirit of truth, for he dwelleth in you; and shall be with you. I will not leave you Orphans, I will come to you; because I live;

ye shall live also. But the Comforter, the Holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name, he shall teach you all things, &c. John 16. 7, 8. It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you. And when he is come, he shall convince the world of sin, &c. which promises he fulfilled in sending the Holy Ghost upon them in cloven tongues, immediately after his ascension; Acts 2. and by shewing him on them and us abundantly, through Jesus Christ; Tit. 3. 5, 6. 1 Cor. 12. 4, 5, &c.

3ly. By Christs expresse provision for his Churches, when he ascended up on high, and gave severall gifts unto all his Apostles and others, (not to Peter alone) for the perfecting of the Saints, for the work of the Ministry, for the edifying of the body of Christ, to wit, his Church; Ephes. 2. 8, to 17. 1 Cor. 12. 4, &c. to 31. All which as they subvert this foundation of St. Peters and Popes pretended Monarchy and Vicarship. So likewise;

4ly. It is directly refuted, disproved, and totally overturned by the avowed Practises, established, professed Doctrines of the Church and Popes of Rome; to wit, of the breads and wines * real transubstantiation in the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, by Hoc est corpus meum, &c. uttered by the Priest, into the very natural body and blood of Jesus Christ, born of the Virgin Mary, crucified on the Crosse, ascended into Heaven, accompanied with his humane soul, and actually united to his Deity; his whole body, person both as God and Man, being really and substantially present in, and contained under every consecrated Hostia, and each part thereof, and in every drop of the consecrated wine too on earth; and thereupon adored by them as their Lord God and Saviour, with Latria or divine adoration; whose very body is made and continually reserved by them in all their Churches, * Pixes, under lock and key, carried about in Processions, and to sick persons; as their Popes, Councils, Doctors of all sorts assert, and their grand Council of Trent, hath thus Affirmatively and Negatively resolved in direct words. Semper hac fides in Ecclesia Dei fuit, statim post consecrationem, verum Domini nostri corpus, verumque ejus sanguinem, sub panis et vini specie, una cum ipsius anima et divinitate existere, sed corpus quidem sub specie panis, animamque sub utroque, vi naturalis illius connerctionis et concomitantia, qua partes Christi Domini, qui jam ex mortuis resurrexit non amplius moriturnus inter se copulantur, divinitatem porro propter admirabilem illam ejus cum corpore et anima hypostaticam unionem. Quapropter verissimum est, tantundem sub alterutra specie, atque sub utraque contineri: Totus enim & integer Christus sub panis specie, & sub quavis ipsius speciei parte; totus item sub vini specie & sub ejus partibus existit.

Quoniam autem Christus Redemptor noster corpus suum, id quod sub specie panis offerebat, vere esse dixit, ideo persuasum semper in Ecclesia Dei fuit, idque nunc denuo Sancta hæc Synodus declarat, per consecrationem panis et vini conversionem fieri totius substantiæ vini in substantiam sanguinis ejus: quæ conversio convenienter et proprie a Sancta Catholica Ecclesia transubstantiatio est appellata.

Nullus itaque dubitandi locus relinquitur, quin omnes Christi fideles pro more in Catholica Ecclesia semper recepto latriæ cultum, qui vero Deo debetur, huic Sanctissimo Sacramento in veneratione adhibeant. Neque enim minus est adorandum quod fuerit a Christo Domino, ut sumatur institutum. Nam illum eundem Deum præsentem in eo adesse credimus quem Pater æternus introducens in orbem terrarum; dicit, Et adorent eum omnes Angeli Dei; quem Magi procidentes adoraverunt, quem denique in Galilea ab Apostolis adoratum fuisse Scriptura testatur.

Declarat præterea Sancta Synodus, pie & religiose admodum in Dei Ecclesiam institutum fuisse hunc morem, ut * singulis annis peculiari quodam et festo die præcellum hoc et venerabile Sacramentum singulari veneratione ac solemnitate celebraretur, utque in processionibus reverenter, et honorifice illud per vias et loca publica circumferretur, &c.

Consuetudo asservandi in sacratio Sanctam Eucharistiam, &c. antiqua est. Porro deferri ipsam sacram Eucharistiam ad infirmos et in hunc usum diligenter in Ecclesiis conseruari, præterquam quod cum summa aequitate & ratione conjunctum est, tum multis in Conciliis præceptum invenitur, & vetustissimo Catholica Ecclesia more est observatum. Quare Sancta hæc Synodus retinendum omnino salutarem hunc et necessarium morem statuit.

To which they subjoyn these Canons in the Council of Trent, against the Wickliffs, Hussites, Lutherans, Protestants, and all other dissenters from them.

* Canon 1. Siquis negaverit in Sanctissimo Eucharistia Sacramento contineri, vere, realiter et substantialiter corpus et sanguinem, una cum anima et divinitate Domini nostri Jesu Christi, ac proinde totum Christum: Sed dixerit tantummodo esse in eo, ut in signo, vel figura aut virtute, Anathema sit. * Surjus Ibid.

Canon 2. Siquis dixerit, in Sacrosancta Eucharistia Sacramento remanere substantiam panis et vini, una cum corpore et sanguine Domini nostri Jesu Christi, negaveritque mirabilem illam et singularem conversionem totius substantia panis in corpus, et totius substantia vini in sanguinem, manentibus duntaxat speciebus panis et vini, quam quidem conversionem Catholica Ecclesia aptissime Transubstantiationem appellat, Anathema sit.

Canon 3. Siquis negaverit in venerabili Sacramento Eucharistia sub unaquaque specie, et sub singulis cujusque speciei partibus separatione facta totum Christum contineri, Anathema sit.

Canon 4. Siquis dixerit, peracta consecratione in admirabili Eucharistia Sacramento, non esse corpus et sanguinem Domini nostri Jesu Christi, sed tantum in usu dum sumitur, non autem ante vel post, et in hostia seu particulis consecratis, quæ post communionem reſervantur vel supersunt, non remanere verum corpus Domini, Anathema sit.

Canon 6. Siquis dixerit, in Sancto Eucharistia Sacramento Christum unigenitum Dei filium non esse cultu Latræ etiam externo adorandum, atque ideo nec festiva peculiari celebritate venerandum, neque in processionibus, secundum laudabilem et universalem Ecclesiæ Sanctæ ritum et consuetudinem solenniter circumgeſtandum, vel non publice, ut adoratur populo proponendum, et ejus adoratores esse idololatrias, Anathema sit.

Canon 7. Siquis dixerit, non licere sacram Eucharistiam in sacratio reſervari, sed statim post consecrationem assistantibus necessario distribuendam, aut non licere, ut illa ad infirmos honorifice deferatur, Anathema sit.

These Canons and Doctrines of theirs, are confirmed by the generality of all their <sup>e</sup> Canons and Glosses, in Gratian De Consecratione, Distinctio 4. by all their Schoolmen, Divines, and others, in their Treatises De Sacramento Eucharistia, De Missa Sacrificio, & Transubstantiatione; their <sup>f</sup> Commentators on the Evangelists, Acts, and St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, of which there are thousands, who generally assert, Verum et totum Christi corpus et sanguis, in vera carne et forma et quantitate, quam de Virgine sumpsit, et habuit in cruce, sub specie panis et vini, ubique est vere et realiter in quolibet altari ubi consecratur, vel asservatur, tamen non subſcitur corporis sensibus. Hostia consecrata est identice corpus Christi, et Deus secundum essentiam.

From these their Roman Catholick premises, I shall thus argue: If the very natural body and blood of Jesus Christ, born of the Virgin Mary, crucified for us on the Crosse, together with his humane soul and Deity, be really and substantially present in and under every consecrated Hostia and piece thereof, in every sacred drop of Wine, and in every Church, Pix, Place throughout the world, where the Elements of Bread and Wine are consecrated, or Hostias reserved, as their Councils, Schoolmen, Casuists, Canonists, Missals, and Popes themselves resolve; Then St. Peter and Popes neither are nor can be his Vicar-generals in any such Church or Place, because the sole ground, or chief foundation whereon they found St. Peter and the Popes Universal Vicarship over the Church Militant on earth, is Christ corporal absence from it in his humane body and nature, upon and ever since his ascension into heaven, as they acknowledge: But by their own premised contradictory Resolutions, Christ himself remains always not only spiritually, but likewise corporally and personally present on earth in both his Natures, in every consecrated Hostia, and sacred drop of Wine, and will be so in all their Churches where Hostias are and must be reserved, till the end of the world; therefore they cannot possibly be his Vicars or Successors: For if Christs corporal presence with his Church and Disciples, but in one place alone at one time, before his ascension into Heaven, (he being never corporally present in two places at the self-same time when on earth, as all the Evangelists attest, but only in one) did really exclude, totally disable St. Peter himself to be his Vicar-general, because he needed no Vicar whilst himself was there corporally resident: And since by the rules of the Canon, Civil, and Common Laws, In presentia majoris cessat potentia minoris, the Popes or other Bishops Vicar-generals, and Kings Viceroyes being uselesse, and having no actual Jurisdiction at all as such, when and where Popes, Bishops, or Kings themselves are really present in proper person: Then à multo fortiori, Christs personal corporal real presence as aforesaid, in every Hostia, Chalice, Pix, Church, and on every Altar, (especially in Rome, and every great Cities where there are so many Hostias continually consecrated, reserved, adored, and carried in Processions) must exclude St. Peter and Popes pretended Vicarship in every Church, Place throughout the Popes Dominions, and the world, even to Christs second coming.

And so much the rather, because their Doctors, Writers, Legends assure us, that Christ in his very humane body, nature, since his ascension, hath sundry times descended from his Fathers right hand in heaven, to his Saints and Church on earth, upon several occasions; 1. To visit his Mother Mary in her sickness; 2ly. To interre her body, after he had ascended with her soul into heaven; 3ly. At her corporal assumption into heaven, some 15 or 16 years after his ascension, (many years before St. Peters death) For, 1. They assure us, that her death being predicted by an Angel sent from heaven, who saluted her with sundry Ave Marias; thereupon, Apostoli cum essent in diversis mundi partibus dispersi, in quibus fidem Christi predicabant, desiderans illos videre beatissima Virgo ante mortem suam, affectansque eos esse presentes sacra dormitioni, & ejus corpori impendere sepulturam, Dominus noster Jesus Christus filius ejus, eos fecit esse ante conspectum Matris suæ dilectissimæ. What speeches she made to them, and in what sort they condoled her death, (Christ having left her with them to comfort them and supply his absence) you may read at large in Bernardinus de Busti; she assuring them, Cum filius meus semper permansurus sit vobiscum; Mat. 28. 20. Ego quoque nunquam recedens ab eo vos non deseram, sed ad pugnam confortabo, ad filium advocabo. That likewise, Jesus Christus filius ejus eam in infirmitate visitavit. Ipse Dominus Jesus de cælo descendit cum Angelicis ordinibus, cum Cætu Patriarcharum, cum Martyrum exercitu, cum Virginum Choro, cum societate confessorum, & omnium Sanctorum, qui omnes ipso Domino incipiente subsequentes dulcia cantica circa lectum beatissima Virginis frequentabant, &c. Ipse enim Dominus Jesus post suavissima oscula & dulcissimos amplexus dixit dulcissima matri suæ illud, Cant. 3. Veni de Libano, &c. Ascendit autem cælos Dominus noster Jesus Christus, cum anima gloriosa suæ dilectissimæ matris, cum ineffabili totius curiæ cælestis jubilatione, et ad dextram Throni sui in Gloria eam collocabit, &c. After which, 2ly. Ipse Dominus Jesus sicut suæ dilectissimæ mater corpus ejus mortuum sepeliet: Ita etiam voluit corpus ipsius matris propriis manibus in sepulchro coaptare, &c. Opus enim misericordiae sepelire mortuos. Ergo ipse Pater Misericordiarum Dominus Jesus matris suæ sepultura, in propria persona voluit interesse. 3ly. How he afterwards descended personally with all the Angels, to assume and carry up her body in triumph into heaven, you have * formerly heard. Now these three descents of Christ in his natural natural body (during St. Peters life) did certainly interrupt or suspend his pretended Vicarship. How many scores of times he hath corporally descended from thence, and visibly appeared on earth to several of their Romish Canonized Saints, you may read at large in Vincentius his Speculum Historiale, Jacobus de Voragine, Antonini Chronicon, Hercules Lipomannus, Savins, Capgrave, Ribadeniera, and sundry others who have written the Legends and Stones of their Lives. Our Monkish Chronicles relate, that Christ personally appeared to St. Patrick in Ireland, before he was made a Bishop, dans sibi textum Evangelii, & baculum unum, quæ adhuc manent in patria illa apud summum Archiepiscopum; per quem baculum, ut aiunt, Patricius primus vermes eiecit: After which, Eduxit Dominus Patricium in desertum locum, ubi fossam rotundam intrinsecus obscuram ostendit, (since stiled Purgatorium Patricii) dicens; Quod si veraciter quis penitens per diem & noctem in illa fossa manserit, & fide constans per illam transierit, videbit tormenta malorum, & gaudia beatorum: After which Christ disappeared. They further assert, that Christ appeared to Thomas Becket Archbishop of Canterbury, when he celebrated the Masse, and said unto him with an audible voyce; Thomas, Thomas, Ecclesia mea glorificabitur in sanguine tuo, (twice one after another) & tu verè glorificaberis. That Anno Dom. 1188. Iesus Christus visibiliter apparuit in aere, Cruce pendens, apud Dunlapulam in Anglia, videntibus multis: That about the year 1216. Christ himself in the form of a beautiful Child appeared to St. Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury near Oxford, with this Inscription in his forehead; Iesus Nazarenus Rex Judæorum; saluting him with a Salve dilecte mi, miror quod me non agnoscis, præsertim cum ad lectus tuum in scholis, & alibi jugiter assistam; quod igitur videris in facie mea scriptum, hoc fronti tua singulis noctibus imprime. I shall instance only in two foreign particulars of special Note, omitting all others: The first is, Christs often apparitions to their Seraphical Doctor St. Francis, and sending a Seraphin to him with a Crucifix, who actually imprinted in his hands, feet, and side, the characters of all the wounds which Christ suffered on the Crosse, as Antoninus, Bonaventura, Bernardinus de Senis, Ribadeniera, and others attest in his life. The second is, his frequent apparitions to, and personal familiar almost daily converse with their St. Catharine de Senis, (his most beloved Mistress) whether she were praying, meditating, waking, or sleeping, so that he seemed to be almost perpetually with her: thus related by Antoninus Archb. shop of Florence, and others out of him: That St. Catharine having chased away a great company of Devils which assailed her, quædam magna lux superne totam camerulam suam illustrans apparuit, ac in luce illa Dominus Iesus Christus crucifixus, totaliter cruentatus, vocavitque de cruce Virginem, dicens, Catharina, vides, quanta ego passus sum pro te, &c. Et illa victoria habita de inimicis, cepit sacratissimus sponsus ejus Iesus familiariter conversari cum ea, ut incredibile videretur. Apparebat igitur sibi frequentius Dominus Iesus, et diutius solito cum ea manebat: ducebatque secum aliquando beatissimam genetricem suam, aliquando beatum Dominicum, quandoque Mariam Magdalenam, vel Joannem Evangelistam, vel Apostolum Paulum, & alios, secumque confabulabatur sicut amicus cum domestico suo, et frequenter simul Dominus et ipsa dicebant Psalmos, ambulando per camerulam, sicut solent agere duo Clerici vel religiosi summi officium dicentes. Crescente verò quotidie amplius in ea gratia conditoris, unus dierum Christus ei apparens visibiliter sibi eam desponsavit, adstantibus ibi gloriosissima ejus genetrice Maria, ac beatissimo Johanne Evangelista, Apostolo Paulo, ac beato Dominico, & cum his David Propheta Psalterium in manu gestante; ac supersuavissime modulante. Et tunc Dei genetrix Maria cepit manum extendere ad Filium, postulans, ut ipsam Catharinam Virginem dignaretur sibi desponsare in fide. Quod annuens Dei filius unigenitus, anulum protulit aureum, habentem in suo circulo quatuor margaritas ac adamantem in summitate inclusum; quem anulum digito Virginis dextra sua imponens, ait; Ecce desponso te mihi Creatori & Salvatori tuo in fide; remansitque anulum in digito; non quidem secundum visionem aliorum, sed tantum secundum Virginis visionem. Post dispensationem prædictam cepit Dominus eam paulatim ad conversationem humanam trahere, unde & postquam sibi apparebat, ut ostendisset sibi quædam arcana, et cum ipsa horas et Psalmorum dictaret:

dirisset: Subjungebat, vadas quia hora est jam prandii, &c. Et sis cum eis. Et postea revertaris ad me, &c. & ad cellulam revertens, sponsum suum Jesum imminabat, quem dulcius amplexabatur, & reverentius adorabat. Ex tunc vero cepit, in ea oriri desiderium sacra communionis sumenda, ut non tantum spiritus ejus uniretur sponso suo, sed ut corpus ejus (ut ita dixerim) corpori ejus societur Sacramentaliter. Erat satis inter Laicos vulgatum, quod Catharina ista quotidie communicabat, atque ex sacro absque alio cibo vitam transigebat. Utique verum non erat, non enim quotidie, sed frequenter Sacramentum sumebat. Senis commemoranti Confessori suo significabat, quod tardaret missam suam, quia intendebat adesse, & communicare; sed cum nimis tardaret, peracta consecratione, cum Sacerdos jam pertransisset ad fractionem hostie primam in duas partes, Deo dispensante prater intentionem ejus in tres partes facta est divisio; quarum una in magnitudine quasi unius saba aspectum ejus subterfugit. Ista particula, (which the Priest could no where find, after much search) was carried by Christ himself to St. Catharine, who coming like, was praying in the Church far from the Altar, the Priest not knowing she was there, her Companions being unwilling she should communicate that morning, she thereupon being lothe to grieve them, recurrit ad benignissimum sponsum suum Jesum, qui sublatam a Sacerdote particulam ad eam attulit, et eam propriis manibus communicavit. Cum accipere vellet hostiam parvulam sibi porrigendam, ipsa hostia distans a patina per aliquod spacium, per se accessit ad patinam, vel manum celebrantis divinitus mota, quam ei tradidit. Pluries etiam Sacerdote celebrante, vidit in hostia consecrata puerum Jesum, aliquando etiam sub diversis formis ostendentibus magnitudinem Sacramenti. After which Christ appeared to her with a glorious Crown of Gold in his right hand, and a Crown of Thornes in his left, and proffering her which of them she would chuse; she electing the Crown of Thornes in this life, to receive the Crown of Gold in the next, she thereupon set it on her head with such violence, that it pricked and put her to great torment: Yea Christ himself at another time, actually imprinted the wounds of his body, on her body, in this manner, as she related to her Confessor. Dominum meum vidi crucifixum super me magno cum lumine descendente. Tunc ex sacratissimorum suorum cicatricibus vulnerum quinque in me vidi radios sanguineos descendere, qui ad manus, ad pedes & cor mei tendebant corpusculi, ad latus sinistrum; which put her to such intolerable pain in all the five places, especially at her heart, that she swooned and was like to dye; being thus united to Christ in his passion on earth, which she could not be in heaven, the prints thereof remaining in her body. Not long after, Cum semel ferventius Dominum orasset, ut auferret sibi proprium cor, daretque sibi cor secundum ipsum: videbatur sibi, quod adveniens Dominus latus ejus sinistrum apernit, & cor ejus auferret & absconderet, sique sine corde remaneret: Postque una diem in Capella Ecclesie praeicatorum Senis, circumfusus eam lux de caelis; & in luce apparuit Dominus ejus, habens in manibus cor rubicundum & lucidum; ad cujus aspectum in terras cecidit, et appropinquans Dominus, aperuit latus ejus sinistrum intromittens cor istud, & dicens; Ecce filia sicut postulasti pridie abstuli tibi cor tuum, & dedi tibi cor meum, quo semper vivas; clausitque latus & abscessit: & pro miraculi signo, remansit in ipso loco cicatrix obducta, ut asseruerunt socia, qua pluries hoc viderunt. Post hanc cordis immutationem, (and exchange of her heart for Christs heart) dicebat Confessori suo, tantum gaudium tantamque jubilationem possidere mentem suam, quod grandis erat admiratio qualiter omnia possent in corpore remanere, tantumque ardorem esset in corde suo, quod iste ignis materialis videretur respectu ejus potius refrigerans quam urens, & magis frigidum quam accensus. Altera vice apparuit ei Rex Regum cum caeli Regina matre sua, & Maria Magdalena, dicens, Ecce filia Christiana pro ampliori solatio tuo trado tibi Mariam Magdalenam in matrem, ut possis ad eam cum omni fiducia recurrere, inique curam spiritualem sibi committo. All these particulars (with others of this kind) are recorded for undoubted truths by Antoninus Archbishop of Florence, canonized for a Ron an Saint, by Laurentius Surius, with others; and last of all by Ribadeniera the Jesuit in her Life, in his Fleurs des Vies des Saints, thus specially approved by the Doctors of Theology at Paris, in the French Translation of him by Rene Gaulier Angevin, the last day of November 1608. In les Fleurs des Vies des Saints, A Paris 1637. avec Approbation des Docteurs; who attest in their Approbation thereof, au quel n'avons rien trouve que ne soit conforme à la Foy de l'Eglise Catholique, Apostolique & Romaine : Et pourtant l'avons juge tres-utile & necessaire par estre mis en lumiere ; yea thought worthy to be dedicated, Alc Royme mere du Roy.

Now if this be agreeable to the Faith of the Roman Catholick Church, that Christ so familiarly, frequently, and almost continually conversed with this their famous Canonized St. Catharine, for 20. years space or more together, in his bodily and natural presence on earth, imprinted the five wounds of his own body on hers, shewed himself corporally and visibly present oft times to her, when the Priest lifted up the consecrated Hostia, once actually delivered the Eucharist to her with his own hands, thus solemnly espoused her to himself, and exchanged his own heart for hers, not in imagination only but reality ; How Popes who lived in that age, could be his real Vicar-generals, to supply his corporal or personal absence upon earth, being so visibly present and resident even at Senis and Rome it self, where she frequently was, let them resolve their judicious Profelytes when they are able.

I shall further adde to this, that Paschatius Rathertus, ( one of the first professed asserters of Transubstantiation, and Christs corporal presence in the Eucharist ) with sundry of their Legends, Monkish Historians, Schoolmen, Canonists and Casuists assure us, that as this St. Catharine did frequently see Christ himself, appearing to her in the shape of a petty Infant in the consecrated Hostia, so he hath likewise several times visibly, really, and miraculously appeared therein to several of their Saints, Priests, and others ; sometimes in the forme of a little Infant, sometimes of a Lambe, other times in forme of raw flesh, and frequently in drops of blood issuing out of the Hostia. I shall recite Paschatius his words and instance to this effect at large, being the first of this kind, I have yet observed. Nemo enim qui

*Sanctorum vias & exempla legerit, potest ignorare, quod sæpe hæc mystica corporis et sanguinis Sacramenta, aut propter dubios, aut certe propter ardentius amantes, Christum visibili specie in agni forma, aut carnis et sanguinis colore monstrata sint ; quatenus de se Christus clementer adhuc non credentibus fidem faceret, ita ut dum oblata frangitur vel offertur hostia, videretur agnus in manibus, et cruor in calice, quasi ex immolatione profluere, ut quod latebat in mysterio, patetceret adhuc dubitantibus in miraculo. Fecit enim hoc pietas divina quibusdam jam credentibus, & tamen adhuc dubitantibus, ut & ipsi fiduciam de veritate perciperent, et alii de miraculo ad fidem solidarentur, & de Christi gratia per eandem fidem uberius participarentur. Nam quæ veritas re promittit, sine assensu credenda sunt. Sed quia duri corde sumus, voluit divina munusculum in quibusdam omnibus satisfacere, ut ulterius de his jam nemo dubitet. Porro quod si nec ostensa credantur, nec ea quæ veritas testatur ex fide communicantur, quærat quilibet ob satisfactorem sui quid expectet, quoniam nihil extra veritatem est ; et quicquid veritas habet hoc ostensio per speciem quando placuerit representat. Unde credere oportet, quod et hæc opportunissime ostensa sint, et nihil dubitare de his quæ veritas repromittit ; quia quisquis extra veritatem aliquid querit, non nisi falsitatem invenit, & semetipsum ( sic quæ à Christo dicta sunt non receperit ) extra veritatem secludit. Quod autem dixi sæpe quibusdam ardentius ( Christum amantes ) hæc præmonstrata fuisse, unum à pluribus pandam. Nam quidam Presbyter fuit Religiosus valde * Plegiles nomine, frequenter Missarum solennia celebrans ad corpus Sancti Nini Episcopi & Confessorii, qui cum digno moderamine Sanctam Christo propitio duceret vitam, cepit omnipotentem Deum piis pulsare precibus, ut sibi monstraret naturam corporis Christi atque sanguinis. Itaque non ex infidelitate, ut assolet, sed ex pietate mentis ista petivit. Fuerat enim à puero divinis legibus imbutus, & propter amorem superni Regis olim patria fines & dulcia liquerat arva, ut Christi mysteria exul sedule disceret. Idcirco ejus amore magis succensus, quotidie preciosa munera offerens poscebat sibi præmonstrari, quæ foret species latitans sub forma panis & vini. Non quia de corpore Christi dubius esset, sed quia vel sic Christum cernere vellet, quem nemo mortalium jam super astra levatum, in terris * passum, consficere * passim, potest. Venerat ergo dies, * & idem celebrans pie solennia Missarum more solito procuravit genibus ; Te deprecor, inquit, omnipotens pande mihi exiguo in hoc mysterio naturam corporis Christi, ut mihi liceat eum prospicere præsentem corporeo visu, & formam pueri, quem olim sinus matris tulit vagientem, nunc manibus contrectare. Qui dum talia precaretur, Angelus de celo adveniens affatur ; Surge, inquit, propere,* & si Christum videre placet, adest præsens corporeo vestitus amictu, quem sacra puerpera gessit. Tum venerabilis Presbyter pavidus, ab imo vultum erigens, vidit super aram Patris filium puerum, quem Simeon infantem portare suis ulnis promeruerat. Cui Angelus inquit, quia Christum videre placuit, quem prius sub specie panis verbis mysticis sacrare solebas, nunc oculis conspice, manibus attrecta. Tum Sacerdos caelesti munere fretus, quod dictum mirum est, ulnis trementibus puerum accepit, et pectus proprium Christi pectori junxit. Deinde proflusus in amplexum dat oscula Deo, et suis labiis prexit pia labia Christi. Quibus ita exactis, præclara Dei membra restituit in verticem altaris et replevit coelesti pabulo Christi mensam. Tunc rursus homo prostratus deprecatus est Deum, ut dignaretur ipse iterum verti in pristinam speciem. Qui expleta oratione surgens à terra, invenit corpus Christi in formam remeasse puerum, uti deprecatus fuerat. Et mira omnipotentis Dei dispensatio, qui ob unius desiderium, ita se præbere dignatus est visibilem, non in figura Agni, ut aliis quibusdam sub hoc mysterio, sed in forma pueri, quatenus et veritas patefceret in offenso, et Sacerdotis desiderium impleretur ex miraculo, nostraque fides firmaretur ex relatu. Ceterum tamen non prius idem communicasse pueri corpus et sanguinem legitur, quam rediret in prioris formæ speciem: Ne absurdum videretur quod præsumperat, & fides uberius requiratur interius in eodem, quod exterius visu conspexerat. Hoc interim dixisse sufficiat de offensione carnis Christi pro assertionem veritatis; although this Miracle was seen only by this Priest himself, and no other spectators.

Our famous Historian <sup>9</sup> Willielmus Malmesburiensis, relating this Miracle out of Paschatus, Presbyterum Plegildum, visibiliter speciem pueri in altare contractasse & post libata oscula in panis similitudinem conversum Ecclesiastico more sumpsisse; addes, quod arroganti cavillatione ferunt Berengarium, sic carpere solitum; speciosa certe pax Nebulonis, ut cui oris præbuerat basium, dentium inferret exitium; quale de pñione Judaico, quod in Ecclesiam cum coquoquo Christiano fortè & ludibunde ingressus, * vidit puerum in ara membratim discerpi et victim populo dividi. Id cum innocentia puerili parentibus pro vero assereret, in rogam detrusum, ubi oculo ostio astuabat incendium, multis postea horis, sine jactura corporis, exuviarumq; & etiam crinium à Christianis extraxit. Interrogatusque quomodo voraces ignium globos evaserit, respondit: Ma pulchra foemina, quam vidi sedere in cathedra, cujus filius populo dividebatur, semper mihi in camino astitit ad dextram, (not Christ the little divided Infant) flammeas minas & fumea volumina populo suo sum-movens: A Miracle calculated more for Maries honour, then Christi her Son. To these miraculous apparitions of Christ himself in the forme of a little Child in the Hofia, the Popish Patrons of Transubstantiation have added sundry other Miracles out of forged Authors and Saints Legends; Tho. Bozium De Signis Ecclesie, l. 14. c. 7. Coccinus De Thef. Catholico, l. 6. De Eucharistia, Mr. Brerely Tract. 4. l. 3. Bellarmini of the Sacrifice of the Masse, De Eucharistia, l. 3. c. 8. Baronius Anno 1059. nu. 20. Anno 1091. nu. 20, 21. Mr. Mallon the Jesuit in his Reply, (to omit others) relate 12. more Miracles, collected by Bishop Morton in his Institution of the Lords Supper, Book 4. ch. 2. sect. 1, 2, 3. One to an antient Eremit, Anno 400. out of Simeon Metaphrastes; another in the Kings Chapple at Paris, Anno 1258. wherein Christ appeared in the Hofia in forme of a little Infant; as they say he did to <sup>7</sup> Wintichindus, a Pagan Saxon Prince, converted to the Faith eo maxime miraculo, quod in communione Paschali vidisset sacratissimam Eucharistiam ab omnibus sumi forma pulcherrimi pueri; in which form he frequently appeared to <sup>8</sup> St. Catharine of Senis, when she communicated, (which two last examples Bozium and Coccinus have omitted.) The other Miracles are only his apparitions in forme of a Lambe, <sup>1</sup> finger, raw flesh, or drops of real blood issuing out of the Hofia, or the appearance of blood in the Chalice. Whereunto I shall adde, what <sup>2</sup> our Ailredus Abbas Rievallis, and the <sup>3</sup> Chronicle of Bromton record, that King Edward the Confessor, and Leofric Earl of Chester, being in St. Peters Church of Westminster at Masse; Agitur in altari caeleste mysterium, manibus Sacerdotis divina Sacramenta tractantur. Et ecce speciosus ille forma præ filiis hominum Christus Jesus in ara consistens, oculis utriusque visibiliter corporalibus corporeis apparuit, who, in elevatione corporis Christi Sacramentum illud, a forma panis in formam unius pueri aperte viderunt transmutari: Puero dextra elevata primo Regem, postea Comitem benediciente; So Bromton. Sacraque dextera super Regem extensa, signum Sancti Crucis eum benedicendo impinxit. At Rex dimisso capite, divina adorabat presentiam Majestatis, humiliatoque corpore tanta benedictioni reverentiam exhibebat. Comes itaque hoc viso, versus Regem continuè se vergebat, ut illam sanctam visionem illum faceret intueri. Cui statim Rex ait, Domine Comes, quod tu vides, Dei misericordia cooperante vides, et ego, et Jesum Christum Salvatorem meum in forma humana visibiliter adoro, cujus nomen sit benedictum in infinita secula, Amen. Inde ad preces lacrymasque conversi, inebriantur ab ubertate domus Dei. Post finem officii conferunt de coelesti visione sermonem, suspiriisque crebro sermonem interrompenti. Tunc, ait Rex, Leofrice, per ejus quem vidimus majestatem obtestor, ne quoad usque vixerimus sermo proferatur in publicum, ne vel nos in perniciem nostram ob favorem vulgi pulset elatio, vel fidem deroger dictis infidelum amulatio. This Earl notwithstanding, divina ut creditur inspiratione edoctus, ita Domini sui servavit imperium, ut tanta virtutis sublimitas posteris non latere, revealing it in his confession to a certain religious Monk of Worcester, rogans ut literis tradat tantæ visionis arcum, which was kept secret till long after the Kings death, and then read by the Freers in the ears of all the people. Ita quod Rex voluit esse calatum, Dei est providentia propalatum, ut & Regis humilitas probaretur, et nichilominus prodito miraculo fides credentium confirmaretur. Our<sup>c</sup> Chronicles likewise story of Peter the Hermit, (executed by King John for a false Prophet and Traytor) That Christ had twice appeared to him in shape of a child between the Priests hands, once at York, another time at Pomfret, and that he had breathed on him thence, crying, Peace, Peace, Peace; teaching him many things, which he anon after declared to the Bishops. Therefore he was not only visible, but acting and speaking too in this shape in these Hostia's, if we believe these three domestick Miracles. Moreover, <sup>d</sup> Henry de Knyghton stories, that in the year 1382. Cornelius Clonne, a Knight, (and disciple of Wickliff,) who would by no means believe the consecrated bread to be Christs very body, hearing Masse in the Chappel of the Freers Predicants in London, in fractione Hostie respexit, et vidit oculo suo corporeali in manibus fratris celebrantis veram carnem crudam et sanguinolentam divisam in tres partes. Admirans vero & stupescens, vocavit Armigerum suum ut ipse videret, qui tamen nichil vidit nisi sicut prius solebat. Miles vero intertia particulam similiter quam in calicem mitti debuit, vidit eundem colorem albedinis qua prius erat, sed tamen vidit in medio ejusdem particulæ hoc nomen Ihesus, scriptum<sup>e</sup> literis carnis crudis et sanguineis, quod admirabile erat aspectu. Et in crastino in festo Sanctæ Trinitatis idem frater predicans in Cruce sancti Pauli, pronunciavit istud toti populo, & in fine sermonis idem Miles ibidem presens narravit oretenus totum processum publicè & apertè ad confirmationem fidei nostra: Et promisit se ibi pugnaturum & moriturum in causa ista, quod in Sacramento Altaris est verum corpus Christi, & non panis materialis solum, ut ipsomet prius credidit. Yea<sup>e</sup> Osberne a Monk of Canterbury, in the life of Archbishop Odo relates; That certain Clergy then maintaining that the bread and wine after their consecration remained in their former substance, and were not transubstantiated into the very body and blood of Christ; a special Miracle was then wrought for their conversion, by blood dropping out of the Host, as Odo was breaking it over the Chalice; at the sight whereof Odo himself wept for joy, and these Clergymen which before believed not Transubstantiation, were converted, and blessed the Archbp. that ever he was born. By these & other lying Miracles they endeavour to prove the truth of Christs bodily presence in the Hostia; Th. Bozins concluding<sup>h</sup> supremus locus detur miraculis, velut testimonium ipsius Dei, which Miracles shewed by God, do forcibly confirm the same, adds<sup>i</sup> Mr. Brerely: and<sup>k</sup> Mr. Mallin the Jesuit stiles them, Miraculous demonstrations in confirmation of the Catholick cause; much like the<sup>k</sup> Mules adoration of the Hostia in the Hospital of Drochora in the Kingdom of Valencia, An. 1239. and of Bovibile his sick Mules refusing his pro-

But whatever some Catholick Doctors assert of the reality of these miraculous transubstantiations; yet <sup>k</sup> Tho. Aquinas, yea <sup>l</sup> Vasquez, and <sup>m</sup> Becanus, two Jesuites, but especially Franciscus Collins Professor of Divinity at Milcanus, De Sanguine Christo Miraculofo, printed cum Privilegio Anno 1617. with others, repute all or most of these Apparitions and Miracles; First, not to be the true body, flesh, or blood of Christ, and at most but only a colour or signe thereof: 1. <sup>n</sup> Because they had not the lineaments, shape and proportion of Christs bodie crucified on the Crosse. 2. Because he cannot appear in his proper forme in two places at once. 3ly. Because it were hainous wickednesse to inclose him in a Pix appearing in his own form. 4ly. Because blood cannot now be shed out of his glorified bodie. 5ly. The shedding of his blood out of his bodie and veins was only on the crosse, 6ly. No part of his flesh can be reserved out of his body without great undecencie. Secondly, That they proceeded only from a vehement imagination, or a melancholy, weak or crazie fantasie or apprehension, especially when seen only by one or two persons, not by all others present. Thirdly, That they were only ex parte videntium tantum, & non ex parte Eucharistia. Fourthly, That huiusmodi apparitiones solent fieri per illusionem Daemonum; whereupon Becanus cautions, Qualibet talis apparitio diligenter examinanda est. Harum autem suspecta esse debet apparitio quæ fit mulierculis; wherefore he and their wisest Doctors wave all these apparitions of Christ in the form of flesh and blood in the Eucharist, as Res incerta, de qua nihil affirmare auserim; Yea most <sup>o</sup> Protestants deem them meer figments, Impostures, or impious frauds of their Priests, to delude the vulgar. As for Alexander Alenfis, Gabriel, Palacius, Bozins, Coccins, Breterly, Mallon, and others, who repute them reall Miracles and apparitions of Christs natural body, flesh, and blood; I leave them to consider how little they advance the reputation of their Doctrine of Transubstantiation, only shewing the unconscionablenesse of their Disputers, (as <sup>o</sup> Bishop Morton largely proves) in requiring faith of others to beleeve such and such apparitions of Christ and his blood, which they themselves by their own Reasons, Contradictions and Conclusions have made incredible. To pretermitt other pretended miracles and apparitions as afore said in the Eucharist.

Our <sup>q</sup> Historians likewise record of Hugo de Sancto Victore, Prior of St. Victors near Paris, Quod cum in extrema infirmitate laboraret, & nullum cibum retinere posset, corpus tamen Dominicum sibi dari instanter postulavit, quod cum propter jugem vomitum non posset eucharistiam retinere, & hac de causa fratres ei verum Sacramentum asserre noluissent, rogavit eos ut saltem Sacramentum super ejus latus poneretur. Quo facto latus infirmi aperuit, & hostia corpori se immisit. Others write, that Ille Eucharistiam consecratam videns, sed retinere non valens, erectis manibus ait, Ascendit filius ad Patrem, & Spiritus ad Deum qui creavit illum: & statim expiravit, & corpus Domini disparuit; as they <sup>r</sup> storie that it did in the day of King Stephens Coronation, cum Rex communionem corporis Christi esset percipiturus, Eucharistia inter manum Archiepiscopi & os Regis subito elapsa, disparuit: as his true and perfect bodie, after his resurrection, and before his ascension, vanished out of the two disciples sight, Luk. 24. 31.

These forged Miracles to support their Doctrine of Christs corporal personal presence in his natural bodie and blood in their consecrated Hosts, Chalice by way of Transubstantiation as aforesaid, (which hath really transubstantiated many hundreds of orthodox Christians bodies into ashes, burnt as Hereticks for not believing it) seconded with their adoration of the Hostia in their Elevations, Proceffions, Pixes, Altars, (especially on the Feast of * Corpus Christi) as they no wayes prove what they affirm, so they totally overturn the foundation of St. Peters and their Popes Universal Monarchie and Vicarship, as I have evidenced; Let all Romanists therefore henceforth take their choice, either to renounce St. Peters and the Popes pretences, claims thereto, or else to abjure their Trent Popes, Councils, Doctors, Churches Canons, Articles touching the Eucharists Transubstantiation, reservation, adoration, subversive of and inconsistent therewith; And that upon these further grounds, discovering its fality, vanity, which I shall but briefly touch.

First, It is directly contrary to many expresse Scriptures, to some Articles of the Christian faith, and to the Nature and properties of Christs human body. 2ly. It is accompanied with manifold absurdities, contradictions, impossibilities, and apparent untruths, which others have at large demonstrated, and I shall not insist on. 3ly. It is contrary to the veridict, evidence, testimonie of our senses, both of seeing, feeling, tasting (if not of smelling too) which God, yea Christ himself have made, resolved to be not only competent, but infallible Judges of the truth and real presence of Christs human body, yea ground of the truth of the very Articles of our Faith, concerning his Nativity, Passion, Burial, Resurrection and Ascension into heaven, as these signal Texts assure us, 1 John 1. 1, 2, 3. Mat. 24. 20. c. 13. 17. c. 28. 10. Rev. 1. 7. John 19. 37. Lu. 1. 1, 2, 4. c. 2. 10, 11, 12, 16, 17. 27, 28, 30. c. 23. 47, 48, 55, 56. c. 24. 3, 12, to 36, 38, 39, 40, 50, 51, 52. John 20. 14, to 30. 1 Cor. 15. 5, 6, 7, 8. Acts 1. 3, 4, 9, 10, 11. c. 7. 57. c. 13. 31. And St. Peter himself an eye witness of them frequently avers, Act. 2. 27, 32. c. 3. 15. c. 5. 31, 32. c. 10. 38, to 43. 2 Pet. 1. 16, 17, 18. 4ly. Whereas the Romanists as their last and best refuge, pretend their Transubstantiation to be a Miracle; it is so farre from a miracle, that it is directly contrary to the nature, properties of every real miracle wrought by any person in the Old, or by Christ or his Apostles in the new Testament; and that in these respects; which because others have not fully pressed, I shall most insist on. 1. All miracles are ever so visible, apparent, conspicuous to the eyes and senses of all those in whose presence they were wrought, that they leave no place for any ambiguity or dispute, carrying a self-conviction with them beyond contradiction, being therefore usually stiled in the Scripture, Signa, or Ensigna, in Greek; in Latin, Signa; which we English, Signs; because they are alwayes visible to mens eyes, like Merchant Marks, or Seals upon their Wares; like Comets or signs in heaven, Beacons upon a hill; ensigns of soldiers set up in a field; or as Signs hung up at Innes, Taverns, Shops; or else banda, &c. which we translate Spectaculum in Latine, in English a spectacle, or publike shew, from spec, spectatio, or banda, spectare cum admiratione, to behold a thing with admiration, as we use to behold a Comet, new blasing Starr, or any strange, unusual spectacle, or glorious sight, or monstrous creature; an invisible Miracle, not apparent to mens eyes, senses, being a direct contradiction both to the Nature and property of a miracle, as these direct Scriptures resolve; Exod. 4. 1, to 10. 28. 30. c. 7. 10, 11, 12, 17. to 22. c. 8. 16, to 20. Deut. 7. 19. c. 29. 3. Josh. 24. 17. Num. 14. 22. 1 Kings 18. 20, to 40. John 2. 9, 11, 23. c. 6. 2. 26. c. 5. 25, 26. c. 4. 45, 46, 52, 53, 54. c. 7. 31. c. 9. 8, 9, 10. 16. 25. c. 11. 45, 46, 47. c. 12. 17, 18, 37. Mat. 9. 29. 30, 33. c. 11. 5. c. 22. 23. c. 12. 38, 39. c. 15. 30, 31. c. 21. 14, 15. c. 24. 35. Mar. 7. 35, 36, 37. Lu. 18. 43. c. 23. 8. Act. 2. 2, to 12. 22. c. 3. 2. to 13. c. 4. 16, 21, 22. c. 6. 8. c. 8. 6, 7, 8, 13. c. 9. 41, 42. c. 14. 10, 11. c. 15. 12. c. 9. 11, 12. Heb. 2. 4. with others in the margin. Now this their pretended Miracle of Transubstantiation, which is almost daily and perpetually wrought in all Churches, Countries, but never visible to the eyes, or but rarely seen, never appearing to all the Communicants or peoples eyes, senses present at their Masses or consecrations of the sacred Elements; must necessarily be no miracle, but a meer absurd forgery, or imposture. 2ly. All real Miracles done by Gods appointment or commission, were very rarely wrought, and that only in some places by a few extraordinary persons, as Moses, Aaron, Elias, Elisha in the Old Testament, and by Christ and his Apostles in the New; not daily, ordinarily, nor by every ordinary Prophet, all Evangelists, or Ministers; whence St. Paul even in the Apostles age resolves, 1 Cor. 12. 10. 29. To another is given the working of Miracles; to another divers kinds of Tongues, &c. by the same spirit. Are all workers of Miracles? Have all the gift of Tongues? But this pretended Miracle of Transubstantiation, is almost daily and perpetually wrought in all Churches throughout the world year after year; and that by every ordinary Priest whatsoever, good or bad, holy or unholy, as well as by St. Peter himself, or the greatest Pope, Patriarch, Bishop, Cardinal, as they resolve: Therefore it can be no miracle. 3ly. Every true Miracle wrought by Moses, Aaron, Elisha, Christ, or his Apostles, was wrought for the confirmation of the truth of the Messages, Doctrines, or Articles of faith they were sent to deliver, preach, publish, to work faith or belief thereof in the beholders of them; by the very sight of the Miracles themselves, which were collateral to their Messages, Doctrines; not the very Messages or Doctrines they delivered. But this pretended Miracle of Transubstantiation being invisible, and contrary to the verdict of mens senses, confirms very few or none in any article of the Christian faith; and if at any time visible by an extraordinary apparition of the Hostia in the form of a child, lamb, raw flesh or blood, it is wrought only to confirm the belief of it self, not of any other point or article of our Christian faith: Therefore it is no Miracle. Fifthly, No ordinary part or Ingredient of any Sacrament in the Old or New Testament, was ever a real or proper Miracle, but only a mystrie, or visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace represented in or by it: Nor was ever any real Miracle a necessary part of a Sacrament. But the miracle of Transubstantiation, as they resolve, is a necessary part, ingredient of the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, and soul of their Masse: Therefore no real, but forged Miracle. Sixthly, No real Miracle destroyed the use, or end of that very thing for which it was wrought, and of that sacred Ordinance to which it principally related, but ratified and confirmed it. Now this pretended Miracle of Transubstantiation when ever really or apparently wrought, destroys the end, use of the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, for which it was wrought, and to which it appertains; their Schoolmen, Casuists, Canonists and Legends generally resolving, that when ever the consecrated Hostia or Wine appears to the Priest or Communicant in the form of a little child, lamb, raw flesh, finger or blood, it is a divine Inhibition to them, not to eat, drink, or receive it, as Christ commanded, while it appears in such a form, till it resumes the form or species of bread and wine; which is very observable. Therefore by their own resolutions it can be no miracle, but a meer anti-Sacramental imposture, repugnant to its eating, drinking, the very ends for which it was instituted. Seventhly, No true real Miracle did ever transform the very words, nature of a benediction or consecration, into a meer destructive annihilating execration of the things consecrated. But this of Transubstantiation alters the very words of blessing & consecration, by which it is pretended to be wrought, into a meer destructive annihilating execration, of the very substances of the bread, elements, wine consecrated by their Priests, contrary to all other forms of consecration whatsoever in the Old or New Testament, and in the Church of Rome it self, which never really transubstantiated, much lesse annihilated the substances of the things or persons consecrated, but only altered their common use to a sacred, and thereby preserved, yea priviledged their substances from any violence upon them. For instance; the consecrations of the Tabernacle, Temple, of all the utensils, vessels belonging to them, of Kings, High Priests, Priests, Levites, Prophets, and their vestments, as likewise of the First-burn, first-fruits, Tithes, oblations, altars, dayes to God, by Gods appointment in the Old Testament: Of Apostles, Bishops, Presbyters, Ministers, Deacons, children by baptism under the New: Of Kings, Queens, Princes, Popes, Archbishops, Bishops, Priests, Abbots, Monks, Nonnes, or other Persons: Of Churches, Chapels, Churchyards, Altars, Chalice, Corporals, Priests vestments, Bells, Holywater, Holy-dayes, Chrisme, Swords, Banners, Albes, Images, Pixes, Candles, & other particulars mentioned in their Roman Ceremonials, Pontificals, Rituals, did & do never change, much lesse annihilate the matter, substances of any of them; but only their use; yea the consecrations annexed to their substances, which they exempt, preserve from all violence, injury, prophecies, as<sup>a</sup> sacred, to which they were exposed before their consecrations, as they all resolve and decree. That therefore the very words of benediction, consecration pronounced over the elements of the bread and wine in the Eucharist, should not only transubstantiate but annihilate and destroy their very substances, as some * Romish Grantees assure us, against the use, scope, end of all other consecrations whatsoever, and metamorphose their very benediction into the <sup>b</sup> greatest curse or execration, worse then that Christ denounced against the <sup>c</sup> barren Fig-tree, which made it only to wither and dry up, but did not quite annihilate it; yea worse then the <sup>d</sup> condemnation of the Cities of Sodom and Gomorrah, which God turned into ashes, but not into meer nothing; inflicting on them the very <sup>e</sup> judgement of the last day, when the heavens shall passe away, and the elements, earth, and works that are therein shall be burnt up and dissolved, instead of a benediction and exemption from violence; is not so much miraculous, as monstrous, impossible, incredible, untheological. Eighthly, God and Christ never wrought a Miracle, but to manifest, or advance their glory, divine adoration, and destroy Idolatry, John 2. 11. 1 Kings 18. 24. 24. 32. But this pretended Miracle serves only to introduce and advance a new kind of Idolatry, in adoring the consecrated Host with divine adoration, as if it were God himself: when as it is in truth but a creature; which is both material and formal Idolatry; as <sup>f</sup> sundry Protestant Divines, and some Pontificians acknowledge: Therefore it can be no Miracle: Especially, if in the Ninth place we consider the sandy foundation whereon this Miracle is built, to wit, on these 4. or 5. words pronounced over the Hostia by the Priest, thus prescribed in the Canon of their Masse, Hoc est enim corpus meum: Which being at this day pronounced over the bread, 1. Not by Christ himself in person, as at first, but only by the Priest, who is but Christs Minister, Representative at most. The words & This is my bodie, &c. pronounced by him, must be false, or the Priests body, or can only produce a representation of Christs body, as he is Christ, but in representation. 2ly. Not uttered by Christ then, or Priests now, as words of consecration (his benediction of the bread and cup being <sup>g</sup> precedent to them, Mat. 26. 26, 27. Mar. 14. 22, 23, 24. Lu. 22. 17, 19. 1 Cor. 10. 16. c. 11. 23, 24. 1 Tim. 4. 4, 5.) much lesse of operation, or transubstantiation, directed to the bread it self, or wine, to make them his very body and blood; but only by way of excitation, directed wholly to the Disciples and Communicants, as a reason why they should receive it, as the word Enim infallibly demonstrates, which themselves in the Canon of the Masse annex to Hoc est (enim) corpus meum; as Christ annexed it to hic est enim sanguis meus Novi Testamenti, &c. Mat. 26. 28. 3ly. Because now used only as an historical commemoration or recitation, rehearsing what Christ did and said when he first instituted this Sacrament, and delivered it to his Disciples above 1600 years past; as Lu. 22. 19. 1 Cor. 11. 24, 25. their own Canon of the Masse: and Micrologus, c. 23. assure us by their Qui pridie quam pateretur; accepit panem in sanctas & venerabiles manus suas, &c. Hoc quotiescunque feceritis in mei commemorationem facietis: not as a thing now really acted over again by Christ when the Priest recites this Historie. Which words used by way of historical commemoration of what Christ then did, spake, can no more (in point of reason or experience) actually transubstantiate the very bread and wine now consecrated by the Priest in memorial thereof; then his reading or recital of the Historie of the Creation, Gen. 1. or drowning of the old world, building the Temple, the several battels, slaughters of men in the Old Testament, or of Christs conception, birth, circumcision, crucifixion, burial, resurrection and ascension in the New, in the Church or at Masse, can produce a new actual creation of the world, or new Deluge, Temple, new Battels, slaughters of the self-same or other men, or a new real conception, birth, circumcision, crucifixion, burial, resurrection, ascension of Christ himself; neither the reciting, acting, nor representing of any History past, ever yet producing an actual real reacting of it in specie or individuo; Therefore this historical rehearsing of what Christ did and spake when he instituted his Supper, cannot possibly make every peece of bread, drop of wine, (made, consecrated above 1600 years after Christs passion) his very natural body and blood born of the Virgin Mary, crucified and shed upon the Crosse, by way of adduction or production, without any new addition thereunto, or creation of a new body and blood, which he had not before, <sup>h</sup> no not by a miracle, or divine omnipotency. 4ly. Christ (admit he used the word est, not usual in the Hebrew tongue, which he then spake, as some observe) are not direct or positive; This bread or wine is turned into, or is become, or is made my bodie, and my blood, used in all other real transubstantiations of one thing into another both in the Old and New Testament, as Gen. 19. 26. Exod. 4. 4. c. 7. 10, 17, 18, 20, 21. c. 8. 16, 17. John 2. 9. c. 1. 14. Rev. 16. 4. 6. Whence the Devil himself when he tempted our Saviour to work a transubstantiation of stones into bread, used this expression, Matth. 4. 3. Command these stones to be made bread: But only (as their Latin Translations render it) Hoc est corpus meum: which Verb est, est, or is, relating to the words Hoc, and Hic; and both of them only to the bread and cup, which Christ took, blessed, brake and delivered to his Disciples, as the <sup>1</sup> Evangelists, and <sup>2</sup> St. Paul expressly resolve, (not to any <sup>3</sup> Individuum vagum, materia prima, or <sup>4</sup> plane nihil, as some of their Seraphical Doctors absurdly determine) it must of necessity be interpreted significatively, commemoratively, or sacramentally, not identically; since <sup>5</sup> Disparata de disparatis non pradicantur identice; it being impossible that bread and wine, creatures specifically distinct from Christs mystical body and blood, should be identically his body and blood, but only representatively, commemoratively, or sacramentally, as <sup>6</sup> some of their own Doctors confesse. In which sense it is most usually taken throughout the Old and New Testaments in texts of like nature, as Gen. 9. 17. c. 41. 26, 27. Dan. 2. 38. Ezech. 5. 5. c. 37. 11. Mat. 11. 14. c. 13. 30. c. 8. 37. 1 Cor. 15. 4. Gal. 4. 25. Rev. 17. 9, 12, 15, 18. More particularly Isay 40. 6. All flesh is graspe: surely the people is graspe; that is, as or like to graspe in respect of frailtie, 1 Pet. 1. 24. Job 14. 2. Psal. 102. 11. Psal. 103. 15. Jam. 1. 10. So Ecclef. 1. 2. c. 3. 9. c. 12. 10. All is vanity. Job 7. 16. my daies are vanity. Psal. 39. 5, 11. Surely every man is vanity, every man in his best estate is altogether vanity; Ecclef. 11. 12. Childhood and youth are vanity, that is, like to vanity. Psal. 144. 4. Thus is Is used in all languages by all sorts of persons, and in our own English dialect, as these several instances known to every child, ordinary Porter, and Peasant, will demonstrate. For instance: if any persons come into a Room or Gallery, where are Statues, Pictures, or Hangings garnished with several pourtraitures of Men, Beasts, Fishes, Trees, Flowers, Fruits, they usually say of these Statues or Pictures; This is King Henry the 8. This is King Edward the 6. and so of all other Kings: This is my Father, this is my Mother, this is my Wife, &c. Yea this is the Virgin Mary; This is my Saviour Jesus Christ in her Arms, This is Christ upon his Crosse; This is his body, this is the wound in his side, these are his pierced hands and feet; This is a Lyon, This is a Whale, This is an Eagle, This is a Vine, This is a Rose, this is an Apple; and so of all other Pictures. If we passe through any City where are Innes, Taverns, Shops, with signes affixed to them, we use the self same language of them, This is the Sunne, This is the Kings head, This is the Bear, &c. Stiling the very Houses by the names of the creatures, persons, whose statues or pictures only are affixed thereunto. The like we say of Ships in a Fleet, distinguished by such signes. If we resort to a well furnished Library or Booksellers shop, we likewise say, This is St. Augustine, this is St. Chrysostom, this is Plato, this is Seneca, &c. calling every of these, and all others writings, Authors themselves; Thus we stile our owne and other mens hand-writings, print of Seals, and declarations of their wills in writing, when we mention, yea give them in evidence upon Oath. This is my hand, this is my seal, this is my will; or this is the hand, seal, will of such a person. And to name no more particulars; every Pope in his Bulls and Instruments usually stiles himself St. Peter, the Popes palace, Petri limina, the revenues of the Roman Church, St. Peters Patrimony, yea the rents reserved on St. Peters or our Lady day, St. Peters or our Ladies rents, or Peter-pence, only because payable on the dayes dedicated to their memories. Now that the Verb Is, (against sense, reason, the rules of Grammar, and all these vulgar forms of speech used in all ages, languages by all sorts of persons in these and other particulars) should be predicated only identically, substantially, in This is my body, and necessarily signifie, that the bread is really transubstantiated into, become, made Christs very natural bodie and blood born of the Virgin Mary, but not significatively, representatively, that it is only the figure, representation, or Sacrament of his body and blood; and be so peremptorily asserted, when accompanied with variety of absurdities, impossibilities contradictions which attend this sense; may more justly be stiled a Miracle, (or

Monster, then Transubstantiation, which they found upon it: The rather, because as the Scripture no lesse then ten several times expressly stiles the bread after as well as before its Consecration in the Eucharist, * Bread, because it still remained bread in its substance as well as in its species and accidents; So the word is, est, or is, in sacred Writ, did never yet signifie, is now made, become, turned, or transubstantiated into the very substance of the thing it is predicated of, and that by its bare pronounciation, at the very instant after it is pronounced, but only significatively or improperly as aforesaid, as these instances will most convincingly evidence beyond contradiction. Sundry Evangelical Texts expressly stile and aver, the Church & faithful Christians, to be the members, bodie, bones, flesh of Christ, yea, Christ himself, witness Ephes. 1. 22. The Church, which is his Body: and reciprocally, Col. 1. 24. His body which is the Church. Eph. 4. 11, 12. He gave some Apostles, &c. for the edifying of the Body of Christ. 1 Cor. 12. 27. Now ye are the body of Christ, and Members in particular. Ephes. 5. 30. For ye are Members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bone; and they two (Christ, and his Church) shall be one flesh, which is therefore called Christ. 1 Cor. 12. 12, 13. For as the bodie is one, but hath many Members, even so is Christ; to wit, his Spouse the Church. Ephes. 4. 13. Till we all come, &c. unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ: Whence St * Augustine affirms, Ipsi Christiani cum Capite suo, quod ascendit in celum, Unus est Christus: omnes in illo et Christi, et Christus sumus. Now although Christ took upon him their very * human nature, flesh and blood, and was made man like to them in all things, sinne only excepted; yea <sup>7</sup> made one with them and they with him, as their spiritual head, husband, he dwelling, abiding in them and they in him: whence he cries out when they are persecuted, * Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: and when they are visited, fed, clothed, he particularly affirms, * I was an hungred, and ye gave me meat, I was thirsty and ye gave me drink, I was a stranger and ye took me in, naked, and ye clothed me, sick, and in prison, and ye visited me. Verily I say unto you, in as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me: and so vice versa in the negative; Yea though he superadded of those who are his Apostles, Ministers, He that beareth you beareth me, and he that despiseth you, despiseth me: Neither of all which was ever once affirmed by him of any of his Apostles of the consecrated bread or wine in the Eucharist, whose nature, similitude he never assumed. Yet no Roman Pontiff, Council, Priest or Prelate, did ever from all or any of these Texts professedly assert, or once endeavour to prove, that the Church and every believing Christian, Priest, was really transubstantiated into the very Natural Body, Members, Flesh, Bones of Christ, and into Christ himself; but only into his mystical bodie, members, flesh, bones, in a mystical and spiritual sense; yea though St. Augustine (cited by <sup>b</sup> Gratian, Beda.) and <sup>c</sup> St. Chrysostom too asserts, Quia passus est Dominus pro nobis, commendavit nobis in isto Sacramento sanguinem suum & corpus, quod etiam fecit nosmetipsos, nam et corpus ipsius facti sumus; & per misericordiam ejus quod accepimus nos sumus. Yet Bartholomaeus Brixienensis and other Glossers thus interpret it. Hec relatio refertur ad Ecclesiam, non ad corpus suum sumptum de virgine. Non ergo fecit nos corpus suum quod natum est de Virgine, & sumitur in altari sub specie panis & vini, sed fecit nos corpus suum spirituale, scil. Ecclesiam fidelium: I hough Chrysostom avers, * Nos secum Christus in unam quasi massam, (ut ita dicam) reduct, neque in fide tantum, sed reipsa nos corpus suum effecit. Then much lesse can these words of our Saviour; This is my body, This is my blood of the New Testament, &c. uttered by him but once, necessarily or probably inferr, that the consecrated bread and wine, whose Natures, shapes, accidents, Christ never assumed; which were never stiled Christ himself, his members, flesh, bone, one, or one flesh with him, in Scripture, inferr or imply any real transmutation of them into the very substance of his natural body & blood born of the Virgin, pre-existent so many hundred years before, what ever erroneous Popes, Romish Councils, or Doctors, for their own private lucre (to make their Masse, a real propitiatory sacrifice for quick and dead) have hitherto disputed, defined to the contrary. Finally, Whereas <sup>a</sup> Bellarmino, Maldone, and other Pontificians do principally (next after hoc est corpus meum) ground their Doctrine of Transubstantiation, and Christs corporal personal presence in the Eucharist, on John 6. 53, 54, 55, 56. Verily, verily

D. besides other Docti, & religiosi, & probi viri Catholici of the Roman Church, as <sup>c</sup> Maldoner acknowledgeth, as well as Luther, Oecolampadius, and other Protestants resolve; that this Chapter, Text was never intended of the eating of Christs body and blood in the Sacrament, but only of our mystical or spiritual eating and drinking it by faith alone, as these unanswerable arguments will evidence: 1. Because these words were spoken by <sup>d</sup> Christ near a year or more before the institution of the Lords Supper. 2ly. They were spoken to all the people and Capernautes, who followed Christ only for the loaves, John 6. 26, to 67, to whom he never administred the Sacrament, not to his 12. disciples, <sup>e</sup> so whom only he administred it at his last Supper in private. 3ly. Because it speaks only of the eating of that <sup>f</sup> bread and flesh of his which came down from heaven, not of the Sacramental bread or wine, of which there is not one syllable in this Chapter, being not then instituted. 4ly. Of that eating and drinking which is only spiritual, <sup>g</sup> by faith, not oral by the mouth or teeth, and so St. Peter himself as well as Christ then expounded it, v. 69. 5ly. Of such an eating Christs flesh, and drinking his blood without which none can have spiritual or eternal life: Therefore not of a Sacramental eating; else all infants and others who die before they receive the Sacrament, must necessarily be damned: which the Church of Rome as well as Protestants contradict. 6ly. Of such an eating and drinking only which gives eternal life to all who eat Christs flesh, and drink his blood; which the Sacramental eating doth not, for all unworthy communicants eat and drink damnation to themselves, 1 Cor. 11. 23, 24. 7ly. Of such an eating his flesh and drinking his blood, as their dwelling is in Christ, and Christ in them, John 6. 56. but that dwelling is only spiritual or mystical, <sup>h</sup> by faith alone, not by <sup>i</sup> eating, swallowing, bodily inhabitation, union or commixture with the bodies of the Communicants, as many Romanists in odium hæreticorum assert, by <sup>k</sup> Suarez. his confession. 2ly. Admit this Text meant of the Sacramental eating Christs flesh & drinking his blood; it proves only a quite contrary transubstantiation to that the Romanists assert, to wit, of the flesh of Christ into meat or bread indeed; & of his blood into drink or wine indeed; not of bread into his flesh indeed, as the words infallibly attest. 3ly. It utterly subverts their half-communion, and depriving Lay-communicants totally of drinking Christs blood, by taking from them the sacred Wine, Cup, here severed from their eating his flesh in the consecrated bread; as not only sacrilegious, but damnable, since none by the express Letter of the objected Text, can have any everlasting life, or dwell in Christ, and Christ in them, unless they drink his blood as well as eat his flesh, being here thrice coupled together with the conjunction and, yea ratified with this double asseveration of Christ himself, who is the truth; Verily, Verily, I say unto you; So as they must now either renounce their half communion, or this abused Text, and their Doctrine of Transubstantiation founded thereon: Which as it subverts St. Peters and their Popes usurped Universal Ecclesiastical and Temporal Monarchy, Vicarship, and as it is wholly inconsistent with it, or their Ladies, Queens, Empreffe, Goddesse Marias Sovereignty, or the antient undoubted Ecclesiastical and Temporal Rights of all Christian Kings; so particularly of our Kings of England and Ireland; whose Papal usurpations on their Crowns, were the original occasion of many horrid Conspiracies, Insurrections, Rebellions, Treasons, Wars, Attempts against their sacred Persons, Prerogatives, Subjects Liberties, Properties in former ages, as the ensuing Exact Chronological Vindication, &c. will at large demonstrate during the Reigns of King John and Henry the 3d. to which I shall now apply my self; having been more large in this Introduction to it, to help fill up the vacant Pages left for the second Book, which I originally designed to have annexed thereunto, but amounting to an intire Tome of it self, was necessitated to sever from it.*

AND

The Prologue.

Am now (through Divine assistance) arrived at the Second TOME, and Principally intended part of An Exact Chronological and Historical Demonstration of our British, Roman, Saxon, Danish, Norman, English Kings Supream Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over all Prelates, Persons, Causes, within their Kingdoms; and the Popes and Popish Prelates intollerable Usurpations on, Oppositions against the same: beginning with the Tempestuous Reign of our Unfortunate King John, when the Antientest Charter, Clause, Fine, Liberate, Patent, and other Rolls, yet extant in the Treasury of the Tower of London, begin: the Jawes of All-devouring Time having totally consumed all precedent Rolls of this nature, during his Predecessors Reigns, except some Antient Charters, and other Fragments of Records never reduced into Rolls.

In this Kings Reign we meet with the Highest Attempts, the most Audacious Dangerous Conspiracies, and Treasonable Usurpations, ever formerly made; not only upon the just antient Rights, Priviledges, Prerogatives of the Crown; but also upon this King and his Kingdoms of England and Ireland themselves, occasioned by the Treacheries, Rebellions of some of his disloyal Popish Prelates at home, (instigating the Barons to take up Arms against Him;) and by the Unchristian Praises, Tyranny of Pope Innocent the III. combining with those perfidious Bishops, who perswaded him to Interdict the whole Kingdom, Excommunicate King John himself for sundry years, and at last to deprive him of his Crown, Kingdoms, and give them to the King of France; yea injoyning, exciting him, and other foreign Enemies, to raise puissant forces by Land and Sea, to deprive him and his Posterity of the Crown and Realms of England and Ireland by open force. The Clashes betwixt the Papal Crozier and Royal Scepter during his reign ( arising from small beginnings) and the contests between Him, Stephen Langeion Archbishop of Canterbury, and the Bishops, Barons confederating with him, farre exceeding those of King Henry the I. and II. with Archbishop Arselm, and Becket, his trayterous predecessors, (canonized for their Treasons,) and producing the saddest Tragedies ever acted in any Age on the Theatre of our other Little World; Which though resolutely, and gallantly resisted, encountred by King John, with great Regal Magnanimity, Courage, Prudence, and good success for sundry years at first; yet at last through the Terrours of the Popes long-continued Interdicts, Excommunications, Abjudication of him from his Crown, Kingdoms, the formidable Forces of his Foreign Enemies ready to invade, seise upon Him, and them; the Treachery of many of his own Bishops, Clergy, Nobility, Subjects, (all absolved from their Allegiance to him by this nocent Pope Innocent) on whose cordial assistance he could not safely rely, but principally through the pannick Fears, Terrours, wrought in his mind by the prophecies of Peter the Hermit, forged Letters, and the uncessant intoxicating Sollicitations of Pandulphus the Popes Legate, representing all these Dangers to his sad melancholly Thoughts in their blackest colours; perswading him there was no other possible means left to preserve his Life, Crown, Kingdoms, ward off the impendent Dangers, disperse the Tempestuous Clouds then hanging over him, or to save his Immortal Soul, but by making his peace with God, and taking Sanctuary in Pope Innocents bosom, by casting Himself down at his Papal feet, and resigning his Crown, Kingdoms of England and Ireland into his hands, to protect, dispose of as his Own; was thereupon in conclusion (though with much reluctancy) induced to resigne them by a detestable Charter into this Popes Legates hands, to his use, to become the Popes feudatory under an Annual Rent; yea to do Homage, swear Fealty to him and his successors, as their Vassal, to his perpetual Infamy; as likewise to part with other Chief Flowers of his Royal Ecclesiastical Prerogative, and Jurisdiction over his perfidious Usurping Popish Bishops, to his own and his Successors grand prejudice. Which encouraged succeeding Popes, Prelates upon every opportunity to make many new successive dangerous bold Introachments upon the Prerogatives, Rights, Priviledges of our Kings, their Subjects Liberties, Properties, to their Intollerable Grievance; till at last they were necessitated by degrees to shake off their unsupportable Papal yokes, and Usurpations.

I shall begin with some Histories and Records in the first Year of King Johns Reign, evidencing the Supream Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction both claimed and exercised by him in and over all Persons, Causes within his Realms; with his vigilant care, industry to preserve the same against Foreign Papal, Domestick Episcopal and Monastical Usurpations, upon several emergent occasions: proceeding in a Chronological Method, except only where the Series of the History, (to make it compleat and more intelligible) or some other just occasion, shall necessitate me to resort to Subsequent Years and Records, before their just order of Time.

BOOK III. CHAP. I.

Containing Evidences of King Johns Supream Jurisdiction over all Bishops Religious and Ecclesiastical Persons, Causes, Bishopricks, Monasteries, Tithes, Advowsons, in granting Licenses to elect, and to approve or reject Bishops, Abbots, when elected; examining the Jurisdictions of all Ecclesiastical Courts; Imprisoning, Banishing Bishops, Clergy-men; seizing their Bishopricks, Spiritualities; Confiscating their Goods, Benefices, for their Contempts, and Obedience to the Popes Interdicts, and unjust Commands, with other particulars; and his strenuous vigilant defence of the Rights of his Crown, against Provisions, and other Papal and Prelatical Usurpations in England and Ireland, till the 15. year of his Reign.

IT is very observable, that King John at his Coronation in Westminster Abby, June 9. Anno Dom. 1199. was sworn in the first place by Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury (as (a) Matthew Paris and others relate :) Quod sanctam Ecclesiam & eius ordinatos diligeret; & eam ob incursione malignantium INDEMNEM CONSERVARET; & Dignitates illius bona fide et sine malo ingenio SERVABIT ILLASAS, as (b) Roger Hoveden expresseth it. This Archbishop with all the Bishops, Abbots, Nobles present at, and consenting to this Oath, and doing Homage and Fealty to him, thereby declared him to be Supream Governour, Patron, Protector, and Head on Earth of the Church of England, as well in Ecclesiastical as Temporal affairs, else this Oath had been Nugatory.

The 13. of June following, he was solemnly divorced in Normandy, in the presence of 3. of his Norman Bishops from the Duke of Gloucesters daughter: Unde magnam Summi Pontificis Innocentii tertii, & Curie Romanæ indignationem incurrit, presumens temere contra Leges & Canones dissolvere, quod eorum fuerat Auogitate Colligatum, as (c) Radulfus de Diceto informs us: But he no more valuing their Indignation then he did their Canons and Laws, soon after married Isabel sole daughter and heir of the Earl of Engolseme, who was crowned Queen, Octob. 8. by Archbishop Hubert; this Pope and Cardinals not daring to question, or null his marriage.

Immediately after (d) Pope Innocent the 3d. sent his Legate to King John, desiring him to release Philip Bishop of Bevoire, (taken Prisoner by King Richard the first in the Field, and kept Prisoner by him all his life, notwithstanding this and other Popes importunate Letters for his enlargement) UNDER PAIN OF AN INTERDICT, who had then by the space of two years been detained under most cruel Imprisonment; (some months in his very Armes, in which he was taken fighting, not suffered to be put off day or night) But because the said Bishop was taken in Armes as a Souldier and Plunderer, against the Dignity of his Order, the King (notwithstanding this Popes intreaties and menaces), would not enlarge him untill he had paid 6000. marks of sterling money to his Exchequer, and 2000. marks for his expences, during his Imprisonment under King Richard and himself; which he accordingly paid: And till he had also taken an Oath before the Cardinals and other Bishops, never thereafter to bear Armes, during his life, against any Christians.

In the year 1177. no lesse then 30. Nuns of the Monastery of Ambresbery, were accused and convicted at one time for their Unclean Lives, to the dissolution and infamy of their Order, whereof they had been publicly defamed: Whereupon Rex (King Henry the 2d. by power of his Regal Prerogative) expulsi Sanctimonialibus, de Abbacia de Ambresberie, propter Incontinentiam, & per alios domos Religiosas, in arctiore custodia distribuitis, expelling the Nuns from this Abby for their Incontinency, distributed them throughout other Religious houses, in stricter custody, (by way of penance) and gave it to the Abbess and Nuns of Fount-Everoit, for a perpetual possession; who sending a Covent of Nuns thither from Fount-Everoit, Richard Archbishop of Canterbury inducted them into the Abby of Ambresbery, on the 1. of the Kalends of June, (being the Lords day) King Henry the Father, Bartholomew Bishop of Exeter, John Bishop of Notwich; and many other of the Clergy and people being then present, as (e) Roger de Hoveden relates in precise termes: And by his Charter, Anno 1179. confirmed the Lands of this Abby to them, with many Liberties, and that by advice and consent of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and many other Bishops, Great men, and Barons of the Realm. King John in the first year of his Reign, by his Charter, reciting all the premises in the Prologue, confirmed this Charter of his Father, ratified these Nuns Deprivations and Imprisonments in other Monasteries, for their Incontinency, by his Father, with consent of his Bishops, Nobles, and request of Pope Alexander, transferring this Abby, and all Lands thereto belonging, from one rank of Nuns to another, takes both these Nuns Persons, Lands into his Royal protection, as if they were his own demesnes, grants them several Tithes, Churches, large Priviledges, and prohibits BY HIS REGAL AUTHORITY, GRANTED TO HIM FROM GOD, that none of his Officers or Subjects should disturbe them therein, nor implead them, but in the presence of himself and his Heirs. The Charter it self runs in these words.

This Patent of King John is recited and confirmed by an Inspecimus, Pat. 22. H. 6. pars 1. m. 14. wherein I shall desire all Romish Votaries to consider, the notorious incontinency of these professed Virgin-Nuns in this age, no lesse then 30. of them in one Abby were notoriously defamed, condemned, thrust out of their Abby, and sent Prisoners to other Houses by Pope Alexander the third his direction, King Henry the second, the Archbishop and Bishops, his Nobles and Barons joynt assents, ratified by, and related in 3. Charters, under the Great Seal of England, in three Kings Reigns, (Henry 2. King John, and Henry 6.) as well as related by Roger de Hoveden, therefore no fiction, but an undoubted truth; for which the King, Bishops, and most of his Peers gave their judgement against them: (as King (r) Edward the Confessor formerly did in a like case, against the Abbess and Nuns of Berkley) Neither were or are the Nunneries and Nuns in foreign parts more chaste then these were, as (b) Nicholas de Clemangis (Archdeacon of Baion Anno Dom. 1417.) attests in these words. Restant nunc sola Moniales: De his autem plura dicere verecundia prohibet, ne non de cætu Virginum, sed magis de Lupanaribus, d: dolis & procacia Meretricum, d: stupris & incestuosis operibus dandum sermonem, prolixè trahamus. Nam quid obsecro aliud sunt hoc tempore puellarum Monasteria, nisi quedam, non dico Dei Sanctuaria, sed veneris excreta prostrubula? Sed lascivorum et impudicorum subivum ad libidines explendas receptacula, ut idem hodie sit puellam velare, quod et publice ad scortandum exponere. The like is affirmed, attested by (i) Episcopus Chemmenfis, (k) Cornelius Agrippa, (l) Claudius Espencaus, (m) Alvarus Pelagius, with sundry other Romanists, as well as by our learned John Bale, Bishop of Ossery, for England, in his Acts of English Votaries. But of this enough.

The same first year of his Reign, the Abbot of Westminster dying, the Monks by King Johns license elected Ralph Arundel, Prior of Harle, for their Abbot; after which electioni facto, Dominus Rex qui præsens aderat assensum præbuit: Whereupon he was consecrated Abbot; No Bishops, Abbots, Priors, or other Ecclesiastical persons being elected to any Dignities, but by the Kings previous license, and subsequent assent to the person elected, who might approve or reject him at his Royal pleasure.

In the second year of his Reign, the Dean and Chapter of Loxoven, within this Kings Hereditary Dominions in France, presuming to elect a Bishop without his consent, he sent this memorable Prohibition to them, to preserve this antient right of the Crown, descended to him from his Ancestors.

This Kings appeal to the Pope, mentioned in this Prohibition, was not to make him Judge of his Right, but meerly to preserve it from the Popes and others invasions on it, by any clandestine machinations, or extraordinary means that might be used to interrupt or defraud him of it.

The same year this King by his Charter commanded all Clerks then imprisoned for offences throughout England, to be delivered to Hubert Archbp. of Canterbury, upon his demand of them; the original ground and warrant (as I apprehend) of all Bishops demanding Clerks, imprisoned, arraigned for Felony, and criminal offences, to be delivered to them, to make their Purgations; before which Charter they had no power to demand, nor others to deliver them to their Ordinaries, when demanded as their Clerks. A pregnant evidence of the Kings Supremacy over all Ecclesiastical persons, Clerks.

This King as Supream Patron of the Bishoprick of Norwich, granted the Bishop this memorable Charter to recover all Lands and Tenements thereto belonging, unjustly alienated by his Predecessors.

In the second year of his Reign, Jeoffrey Plantaginet, Archbishop of York, King Johns base Brother, opposed, obstructed the levying of Carvage, (demanded and granted to the King by common consent, paid by all others) on the demesne Lands of his Church or Tenants, beating the Sheriff of *York*s Servants, excommunicating the Sheriff himself by name, with all his Ayders, and interdicted his whole Province of York for attempting to levy it. Whereupon the King, much incensed for these intollerable affronts, summoned him to answer these high contempts, his not going over with him into Normandy when summoned, and also to pay him 3000. marks, due to his Brother King Richard, and by his Writs commanded all the Archbishops Servants, wherever they were found, to be imprisoned, as they were, for beating the Sheriffs Officers, and denying to give the King any of the Archbishops Wine, passing through York, summoned Jossey into his Court to answer all these contempts, and issued Writs to the Sheriff of Yorkshire, to seize all his Goods, Temporalties, and to return them into the Exchequer, which was executed accordingly. The King and Queen repairing to York the next Mid-lent, the Archbishop upon soberer thoughts made his peace with him, submitting to pay such a fine for his offences as 4. Bishops, and 4. Barons elected by them, should adjudge, and absolved William de Sautwell, the Sheriff, and James de Poterne, whom he had excommunicated, and recalled his former Interdict.

The same year there fell out a great (b) difference between this Archbishop, the Dean and Chapter of York, and the Archdeacon of Richmond. The Praecentors place at York falling void, the Dean and Chapter would not suffer him to present Ralph de Kyme, his Official, to it, but themselves gave it to Hugh Murdac, Archdeacon of Cleveland, the day after he had given it to Kyme; and when the Archbishop would have put him into the Praecentors stall, the Dean told him, It belonged not to him to put any man into a stall, neither shall you therein place him, because we have given it by authority of the Council of Lateran: Whereupon when the Archbishop could not have his will, he excommunicated Murdac; he likewise injured Honorius, Archdeacon of Richmond, by challenging to himself the Institutions of Churches and Synodals, against the ancient Dignities and Customs of the Archdeaconsry, which the Archbishop pretended Honorius had resigned and confirmed to him by his Charter, which he denied. The Dean and Chapter, and Honorius, severally complained of these injuries to the King, who thereupon issued these Patents and Writs for their relief, against his violence, to the Sheriff, and Dean and Chapter of York.

Charta 1. Johannis Regis m. 12. dorso.

REX, &c. S. Decano & Capitulo Eborum, &c. Scitis, quod pro debitis quae Eborum Archiepiscopus nobis debet, & pro defactis & aliis causis rationabilibus cepimus in manum nostram Baronum et Regalia quae Archiepiscopus Eborum, de nobis tenet, & hoc fecimus per iudicium Curiae nostrae. Nos autem contra eundem Archiepiscopum ad Dominum Papam appellavimus pro nobis & nostris, & pro statu Regni nostri. Teste G. Filio Petri, Comit. Essex, apud Cuneshburgh, quinto die Marci.

This Honorius Archdeacon of Richmond, complained to the Pope as well as the King, of the injurious encroachments of this Archbishop, who suspended some of his Clerks, interdicted some Churches within his Archdeaconsry, and excommunicated the Archdeacon, all which the Pope in a special Letter requires him to retract, as null and void: He also sent three Epistles more, the first to the Dean and Chapter of York, the second to the Bishop of Ely, and Archdeacon of Northampton, the third to King John himself, to defend Honorius his rights, against the Archbishops injuries and encroachments, recorded at large by Hoveden: That to the King is short but sweet, acknowledging his Supream Ecclesiastical power.

INNOCENTIUS, Episcopus servus servorum Dei, illustri Regi Anglorum, &c. Interest Regis Christianis Ecclesiis, et divos Ecclesiasticos in suo iure tueri, et malignantium impetus ab eorum molestationibus potenter et regulariter extirpare. Cum itaque dilectus filius Magister Honorius Archidiaconus Richmondiae, usque a Deo vir literatus, & honestus exultat, ut ex scientia & honestate ipsius non solum Eboracensis Ecclesiae honor accrescat, sed & tibi etiam utile possit obsequium pervenire. Serenitatem tuam rogamus, roboramus et exhortamur in Domino, eo attentius, quod non minus diligenter quam fideliter negotiis a tua serenitate sibi injectis in curia nostra cognoscimus indulgisse, quatinus eum in sua iustitia maputeneas, & defendas, nec permittas ipsum vel Clericos suos contra libertatem Archidiaconatus Richmondiae, per alienius inquietantiam aggravari. Vale.

That

That to himself is very observable, manifesting by this Popes own Testimony, how little this Archbishop esteemed the Popes power, or Appeals to Rome, being then newly introduced and made use of by this Bishop, (though capacitated to be an Archbishop, confirmed, consecrated by the Popes order) against former customs and privileges of this Realm, will appear by this ranting Letter of Pope Innocent to him.

I N N O C E N T I U S. (a) Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Episcopo Eboraci, Salutem & Apostolicum benedictionem. Si Magister tuum recognoscere Apostolicæ sedis, et debitam ei reverentiam et obedientiam exhiberes, non presumeres plenitudinem potestatis ipsius, et privilegio dignitatis in aliquo derogare, cum ab ea in partem sollicitudinis evocatus, ipsam in tuis necessitatibus, in quas temere te ipsum induceras, sceleris sæpius adjutricem. Non enim excusare te potes, ut debes, quod illud privilegium ignoraris per quod omnibus in sacris gradibus facultas patet ad sedem Apostolicam appellandi, cum et tu ipse aliquando ad nostram audientiam appellaris, et a tuis gravaminibus non semel, sed sæpius ad nos fueris appellatus, nec ipsum privilegium te liceret ignorare. Verum ut cessent cætera, ex eo solo ad invocationem nostri nominis a subditorum tuorum molestationibus debueras abstinere, quod in multis & arduis negotiis, & petisti & obtinuisti favorem tibi Apostolicum exhiberi. Sed ut rerum monstrat effectus, nec auctoritatem nostram attendis, nec sacram tibi gratiam recognoscis, nec appellationibus desers, quæ interponuntur ad sedem Apostolicam aggravatos. Ecce enim cum dilectus filius noster Magister Honorius, Richmondi Archidiaconus, in plena possessione Libertatum Archidiaconatus Richmondi existens, cum Clericis suis a te propter manifesta gravamina, & varias injurias ad sedem Apostolicam appellabatur, tu nihilominus in eum, et quosdam Clericos suos suspensionis et aliquas Ecclesias Archidiaconatus ejusdem interdicti sententiam promulgasti. Nec hoc contentus excessu, postquam ipse iter arripuit ad sedem Apostolicam veniendi, suspensis quibusdam Clericis ejus, et Ecclesiis interdictis, et excommunicatis quibusdam, de sacro sanctum quia de jure non potuisti, certam a cæteris extorsisti pecuniam quantitatem, statum ejus et Clericorum suorum turbans in pluribus et confundens. Quia vero tantæ presumptio- nis excessum, inordinatum nec volumus, nec debemus relinquere sine fraternitatis per Apostolica scripta gravamus, atque precipimus, quod taliter, quæ prædicta sunt cor- rigas per te ipsum, quod adversum te nos non cogas durius commoveri, qui tollera- vimus hæctenas temeritatem tuam in multis. Alioquin noveris nos Venerabili fratri Eliensi Episcopo dilecto filio Abbati de Waltham, per scripta nostra precipiendo man- dasse, et ut prædictus excommunicationis suspensionis, et interdicti sententias taliter a te illatas nullas esse denuncient, et te ad restitutionem eorum quæ vel a Clericis, vel ab Ecclesiis Archidiaconatus ejusdem post appellationem ad nos legitime interpositam extorsisti, et recompensationem damnarum per Censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatio- ne remota compellerint, et quicquid per te vel tuos in præjudicium ejus, vel suorum intulerint immutatum, in statum pristinum nostra freti auctoritate reducant, et sub præmissa te districtione compescant, ne Archidiaconum vel ejus Clericos in sacris mo- lestes, aut statum vel libertates eorum audeas perturbare. Sciturnus pro certo, quod cum durum sit tibi contra stimulum calcitrare, nisi abstineas ab hujusmodi, et mandatis no- stris reberenter obedias, manus nostras in te ultra forte quam timeas curabimus ag- gravare, ne tui nobis impotentur excessus. Datum Laterani, 3. Nonas Februarii, Pontificatus nostri anno.

I find not that this Archbishop was any wayes daunted with this high menacing Epistle, but proceeded still against Honorius, till restrained by the Kings Writs, Ap- peals to Rome being but then in their very Infancy, and that not as to a Supream Ju- dicature, but only by way of complaint, as a Voluntary perswading Arbitrator, and that by the Kings license first obtained, as Learned * Sir Roger Twisden truly observes.

* An Historical Vindication of the Church of England, in point of Schism p. 28, to 40.

This Pope in his Epistle to the Bishop of Ely, (who did nought therein) relates, That K. Henry the 1. when he would create a new Bishoprick at Barleol, because the Archdeacons of Richmond would be prejudiced thereby, obtained from the then Archbishop of York some Privileges, in recompence of part of the Archdeacons then subtracted from it, which the Archdeacons enjoyed ever since, which Jeffrey then endeavoured to substract, confessing hereby that the King had an inherent power without the Pope, to create new Bishopricks, substract, alter the Diocesse, Privileges both of Archbishops, Bishops, & Archdeacons, so as to bind their successors thereby.

In this second year of King John, (b) Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury, against the Kings Royal Prerogative, intending to celebrate a generall Council at Westminster, without the Kings special Writ, thereupon (the King being then in Normandy)

Geoffrey

Geoffry Fitz Peter, Earl of Essex, being then chief Justice of England, sent a Prohibition to inhibit it; yet the Archbishop, contra Prohibitionem Cantuarii, held the Council, wherein he made and promulged severall Decrees, statuens ea a suis subditis inviolabiliter observari. Two of them are very memorable:

The first prohibiting Archbishops, Bishops, Archdeacons or Deans, in their Visitations, (c) Ne subditos suos talliis & exactionibus gravare presumant, sustinemus autem pro multis necessitatibus, quae aliquotiens superveniunt, si manifesta & rationabilis causa extiterit, cum charitate modicum ab eis valeant auxilium postulare. Cum enim dicit Apostolus, Non debent filii Thesaurizare parentibus, sed parentes filiis, multo longe a paterna pietate videtur, si prepositi subditis suis graves existant, quos in cunctis necessitatibus pastoris more debentovere. Archidiaconi, aut sui Decani nullas exactiones vel tallias in Presbyteros seu Clericos exercere presumant.

The second, Sicut in Lateranensi Concilio (salubriter a sanctis Patribus est provisum, inhibemus, ne a personis Ecclesiasticis deducendis ad sedem, vel Sacerdotibus, vel aliis Clericis instituendis, aut sepelendis mortuis, aut benedicendis nubentibus, seu pro chrismate, seu quibuscumque aliis Sacramentis aliquid exigatur. His adjicimus, ne pro licentia celebrandi divina a Sacerdotibus, vel docendi a Magistris aliquid exigatur, & si solutum fuerit, repetatur. De ejusdem etiam Concilii auctoritate prohibemus, ne novi census ab Episcopis, vel Abbatibus aliisve Prælatibus imponantur Ecclesiis, nec veteres auquantur; Si quis autem contra hoc venire presumpserit, portionem cum Gihezi, se noverit habiturum, cujus factum exactione turpi muneris imitatur. By what Law such exactions of Procurations, Fees for Orders, Institutions, Inductions, Licences of Ministers and Schismatics, are since taken and claimed as duties, I cannot yet discover. It seems these Decrees were not esteemed obligatory, nor regarded, (Lyndwood, Aton, and most Histories taking no notice of them) because made against the Kings Prohibition, and Bishops and their Officers profit, though much for the peoples ease.

Geoffry Archbishop of York, having the year before (as you* heard) much incensed the King against him, for opposing the levying of Carvage, for which he compounded and made his peace with the King; the Sheriff and his Officers having exceeded their Commission, not only in spoyling him of all the Goods and Mannors of his Archbishoprick, but likewise violently entering into the Lands, and taking away the Goods of other Clerks and Religious persons: Upon their fore-mentioned agreement, and the Archbishops humiliation and submission, the King issued forth this Writ to preserve the Rights of his See of York, Eborum Archiepiscopum, quedam per Ballivos nostros in damnum ipsius Archiepiscopi sunt attemptata, quæ ob rancorem tempore discordiæ conceptum fieri sustinimus; verum pace postmodum apud Porcestriam, inter nos reformatâ, omnia in præjudicium juris ipsius tempore discordiæ attemptata cassavimus, & adhuc cassamus. Nolumus enim quod occasione eorum quæ durante discordia in dispendium juris ipsius Archiepiscopi vel Ecclesiæ suæ facta fuerint, idem Archiepiscopus vel Ecclesia sua dampnum sustineat, vel aliquod detrimentum incurrat, Teste meipso apud Bangy, duodecimo die Januarii.

In this third year of King John, the Dean and Chapter of Sagion, (within his Dominions in France) knowing that no Bishop ought to be elected or admitted but by his previous consent, nominated four persons to him, petitioning his Majesty to elect one of them for their Bishop, which he did by this Record.

The same year of King John, Geoffry (as some records) or Gilardus Archdeacon of Brechinon, as Hoveden styles him, pretending himself to be elected Bishop of St. Davids in Wales, with the Kings consent, by Provision from Pope Innocent the 3d. intruded himself into possession of the Temporalities thereof, and likewise endeavoured to make it an Archbishoprick, as antiently it was, to the prejudice of the Archbishop of Canterbury, citing Hubert Archbishop to Rome, and procuring a precept to him to consecrate him Bishop of St. Davids. This being the first Papal Provision of any Bishoprick I meet with; I shall recite the whole proceedings of the Pope & Cardinals therein, & the Archbishops and Kings opposition against it. The story whereof is thus related at large by * Roger de Hoveden, Gervasius Dorebernenfis, & our Records.

Prædictus vero Rex Henricus Walliam suo Regno subiugavit, & (d) ideo prædictam Menevensensem Ecclesiam, et alias illarum Ecclesias suffraganeas Menevensis Ecclesiæ, Ecclesiæ regni sui icilicet Cantuariæ subicere cupiens, Bernardum Clericum de Camera sua, quem in Menevensi Ecclesia Wilfrido Episcopo subrogari procuravit, & apud Cantuariam, per regiam (*) violentiam consecrari fecit: Et hic fuit primus Menevensis Ecclesiæ Episcopus a Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo consecratus; & post eum David, & Petrus, a Regibus Angliæ compulsi, similiter a Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo sunt consecrati, præstatis Sacramentis contra Canones extortis de non suscitanda lite super iure Metropolitico contra Cantuariensem Ecclesiam in perpetuum. Bernardus tamen de iuncto Henrico Rege primo, movit questionem super iure Ecclesiæ suæ Metropolitico contra Theobaldum, Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum: Unde Papa Eugenius in hac forma scripsit Theobaldo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo.

d Therefore it was then the Kings (not Popes) Prerogative to put down, create Archbishops, Bishoppicks, enlarge, divide or unite their Provinces and Diocesses, & Prærogative had been truer, fitter.

Epistola Eugenii de Dignitate Metropolitana Ecclesiæ sancti David.

EUGENIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Venerabili Fratri Theobaldo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Venerabilis Frater noster Bernardus, Episcopus S. David, ad nostram præsentiam veniens, Ecclesiam S. David, olim Metropolim fuisse asseruit, viva voce, & eandem dignitatem sibi a nobis restitui postulavit. Cum autem circa petitionem istam invigilans diu in Curia nostra commoratus esset, tu Frater Archiepiscopo, tandem eo præsentem ex adverso confurgens, in præsentia nostra adversus eum querelam deposuisti, quod a bitanti tanquam primo Metropolitano obedientiam subtraxisset, tibi quæ inobediens, & rebellis existeret, cum a Predecessore tuo tanquam a Metropolitano primo consecratus esset & viva voce, & scripto Cantuariensi Ecclesiæ professionem fecisset & in multis postea, tanquam alii suffraganei, tibi obedisset, & assisset. Ille vero consecrationem negare non potuit, sed professionem se fecisse, & obedientiam exhibuisse omnino negavit: Quod tu audiens, duos testes in medium produxisti testimonium perhibere; quod ipse illis videntibus, & audientibus post consecrationem suam, & viva voce, & scripto Cantuariensi Ecclesiæ (f) professionem fecisset. Nos igitur auditis utriusque partis rationibus; & diligentius inquisitis, & testibus tuis studiose examinatis communicato fratrum nostrorum Consilio, iuramenta eorum recipimus, et ut ipse Episcopus tibi tanquam primo Metropolitano obedientiam & reverentiam exhibeat, iustitia dictante præcipimus. (Here the Pope and his Cardinals approve what the King had done without their privy, concerning this Welch Archbishoprick.) Unde quoniam singulis Ecclesiis & Ecclesiasticis personis suam dignitatem & iustitiam volumus conservare, Beati Lucæ Festivitate proximi sequentis Anni tibi & ipsi diem præfiximus, ut tunc præsentibus partibus de dignitate Ecclesiæ S. David, & libertate sua, rei veritatem cognoscamus, & quod iustum fuerit auctore Domino exinde statuamus. Datum Medani, 3. Kal. Julii.

f O the little truth and faith of this ambitious Prelates Allegation.

Epistolam autem istam prædictus Magister Gilardus, invenit in Registro Eugenii Papæ. Cujus rei occasione, & ad prædicti Gilardi instantiam, ius Ecclesiæ suæ publice in Curia Romana protestantis. (being the first president of this kind.) Innocentius Papa, Hubertum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum super statu Menevensis Ecclesiæ, & dignitate Metropolitica literis suis Citavit: (The first citation of this nature, who refused or neglected to appear thereon:) quas etiam literas prædictus Gilardus, ad præpetuum rei gestæ memoriam, in eadem Papæ Registro scribi procuravit. Præcepit etiam idem Papa prædicto Archiepiscopo, quatinus supradicto Gilardo Menevensi electo ita consecrationem impenderet, quod sacramentum illicitum, quale extorqueri solebat: prædecessoris sui ab Episcopis S. David, scilicet de non prosequendo iure Metropolitico contra Cantuariensem Ecclesiam, non exigere, sed tantum Canonicam obedientiam juxta communem formam facere. Præcepit etiam idem Papa, Lincolnensi, Dunelmensi, & Eliensi Episcopis, quod si Archiepiscopus Cantuariæ sæpe dictum Gilardum, consecrare differret, ipsi Apostolica auctoritate freti illum consecrare non differrent.

But neither the Archbishop nor other Bishops obeyed these his Papal Injunctions to them, but oppugned them in the highest degree, for instead of consecrating him Bishop, the Archbishop cancelled his election, upon this account, because it was made at Rome: Thus related at large by (g) Gervasius Dorobernensis, in his life.

Controversiam quam in odium & contemptum Archiepiscopi suscitaverat Gilardus Menevensis Archidiaconus, ipse Archiepiscopus prudentissime redegit ad nichilum, ut ipse G. qui paulo ante Menevensis Ecclesie Archiepiscopus esse volebat, & Ecclesie Cantuariensis subjectionem debitam septem Episcoporum subtrahere moliebatur, ad pedes Archiepiscopi promus accederet, satisfaciens humiliter de tam iniqua presumptione, et eidem Archiepiscopo suum resignavit Archiepiscopatum. Archiepiscopus autem post temporis intervallum eidem G. dedit Ecclesiam, 25. Marcarum, & Clericus Archiepiscopi iuratus sacrus est qui ante fuerat hostis iniquus. Et quia idem G. Menevensis Ecclesie in Curia Romana se dicebat electum, hoc ipsum cassabit Archiepiscopus, & alium sacravit Canonice electum. Dicant alii quod voluerint de operibus Huberti, ego istud maximum censeo quod Episcopos 7. in subjectione retinuit Cantuariensis Ecclesia, et Rebellem Gilardi contrivit astutiam.

How highly King John himself (though then in Normandy with his Queen) was incensed against Gilardus, for procuring Pope Innocent's Procuration and Provision to elect him Bishop of St. Davids, taking possession of the Temporalities thereof by colour of it, without his privity, election, or Royal assent, and endeavouring to new make it an Archbishoprick, to the grand prejudice and derogation of the ancient Rights and Prerogative of his Crown, descended to him from his Ancestors, both to assent or dissent to all Bishops elections within his Dominions, and enjoy their Temporalities during their vacancy, till restored to the Successor by his special order, will appear by these four successive Writs & Proclamations of his, directed to all the Clergy and Laity both of England and Wales in general, and the Chapter of St. Davids in special, strictly enjoining them all upon their duty and allegiance to him, in defence of the Rights and Prerogatives of his Crown, against this Archdeacons and Popes Usurpations, as they tendred his honour, and the publick peace and safety of the Church and Realm, to oppose and resist Gilardus his rash, turbulent, disloyal attempts and Innovations against him, to their power, according to their Allegiance, and no wayes to ayd or countenance him therein, by advice or otherwise, it being unjust to do it. Three of them are thus recorded one after another in the Patent Roll of 3. Johannis, and the other in the 5th. year following.

This was the memorable, vigilant, prudent, gallant opposition made by King John against the first provision of Pope Innocent, who * to eclipse the Kings prerogative, first endeavoured to introduce them aswell in France as in Wales, Ireland and England.

Pope

Pope Innocent the 3d. a man of a haughty Antichristian Spirit (like Hildebrand his predecessor) the better to invade the Rights of Christian Kings and their Subjects, especially of England and France, under a specious pious pretext (set on foot by some of his preceding Pontiffs) of sending them and their Nobles out of their Realms, to rescue the Holy Land out of the Saracens and Infidels hands, and raising monies as well from the Laity as Clergy to maintain this holy Warr, that * so he and his Legates in their absence might usurp their Regal Authority and Supream Government both in Church, State, and impoverish them and their Subjects to enrich themselves with a great part of the moneys raised for this end; in the 3d. year of King John sent forth this general Letter De Subventionem faciendam terræ Jerusalemitanæ, recorded at large by * Hoveden.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, Servus Servorum Dei, Universis Sanctæ Matris Ecclesiæ Prælati, ad quos præsentis literæ pervenerint, salutem, & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Graves Orientalis terræ miseria & necessitates urgentes jam potius, peccatis exigentibus desistere cogimur quam referre, &c. Verum quia id quasi modicum, immo vero modicum ad tot necessitates ipsius Provinciæ sufficere nullatenus reputamus. Universitati vestræ per Apostolica scripta Mandamus, & ex parte Dei omnipotentis in virtute Spiritus Sancti sub interminatione divini Judicii districte præcipimus, quatenus singuli vestrum Quadragesimam partem omnium Ecclesiasticorum reddituum & proventuum suorum, primum tamen deductis usuris, quantum solutio vitari non possit, in Subsidium Terræ sanctæ convertant. Omnibus Clericis tam Subsidii quam Prælati qui Quadragesimam ipsam sponte ac fideliter solverint de Dei omnipotentis Misericordia & beatorum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli Autoritate confisi Quartam partem in junctæ sibi pœnitentiæ relaxamus, dummodo nulla fraus interveniat, & pia devotio suffragetur. Scita autem se culpabiliter, duriter et dure inculpabilem, qui tantillum subsidium in tanta necessitate Creatori et Redemptori suo negaverit exhibere, a quo Corpus & animam & universa bona quæ habet, accepit, & nos qui (licet indigni) vices ejus exerceamus in terris, hujus culpæ duritiem nullatenus dissimulare possemus. Nec aliquo modo credatis, quod per hoc in dispendium vestrum legem vobis imponere intendamus, ut a vobis in posterum quadragesima, quasi debita et consuetudinaria requiratur; immo nullum ex hoc vobis prejudicium volumus generari, qui tantæ necessitatis Articulum nobis, et vobis supervenisse dolemus, et quod simile de cetero non contingat optamus. Volumus etiam & nihilominus vobis precipiendo Mandamus, quatinus vos fratres Archiepiscopi & in Episcopis, in Metropolitana Ecclesia, vel si hoc ibi fieri propter hostilitatem vel aliud evidens impedimentum non poterit, in duobus vel tribus locis provinciæ vestræ sine dilatione convenire, & curetis inter vos juxta formam mandati Apostolici de ipsius terræ subventionem tractare, et post rebellionem suam quilibet vestrum in sua diocesi, Concilium convocet sine mora, auctoritate nostra precipiens Abbatibus, & Prioribus, tam exemplis quam aliis Archidiaconibus, & Decanis Universis omnino Clericis in ejus Diocesi constitutis, juxta estimationem proventus et redditus suos tarent et infra tres menses post factam eis denuntiationem Quadragesimam partem valoris eorum sub ipsius Episcopi testimonio, et aliquot Religiosorum virorum, adhibitis nihilominus ad cautelam aliquibus fidelibus Laicis et discretis, in locum idoneum, ejusdem Diocesis non differetur consignare. Quod & nos vobis fratres Archiepiscopis, & Episcopis sub eadem districte Mandamus. Ab hac autem generalitate monachos Cistercienses, &c. exceptimus.

Here this Pope takes upon him upon pretext of necessity for relief of the holy Land only to advise and recommend to all the Prelates of the holy Church the levying of the fortieth part of their Estates and Benefices, and in what manner to levy it, not absolutely to impose it to their prejudice. Whence * Matthew Paris, & Matthew Westminster thus expresse it; Ad instantiam Innocentiæ Papæ, Data est quadragesima pars reddituum omnium Ecclesiarum ad subsidium terræ promissionis

p. 199. Mar.
Westm: p. 77.

promissions : Therefore a free Gift, not an imposed Tax. Neither would the King of England or France suffer it to be levied in their Realms by the Popes Authority, but only by their Royal Order, grant and assent thereto, as Hoveden thus expressly relates.

Annal, pars posterior, p. 828.

Papa Innocentius, misit unum Cardinalem ad Regem Francie, & ad Regem Anglie, postulans subsidium fieri de terris earum ad subventionem terræ Jerusolomitane. Ad cujus mandatum, ipsi Reges concesserunt se duros ad subventionem prefatæ terræ Quadragesimam partem omnium reddituum suarum de uno Anno; (and no more they stinting the sums and duration of it.) Et Rex Anglie hoc ipsum mandavit fieri de redditibus et Excaetis, et Wardis suis Anglie, et præcepit, ut omnes laici terrarum suarum similimodo quadragesimam partem reddituum suorum darent in Eleemosynam ad subventionem terræ Jerusolomitane. Unde Gulfridus filius Petri, tunc temporis summus Justitiarius Anglie in hac forma scripsit Vicecomitibus, Ballivis Anglie, evidencing this Almes to be imposed, granted not by the Popes or Kings meer absolute power, but the free grant and advise of his Nobles and Peers, as a meer Almes, Gift and Benevolence.

Gulfridus filius Petri Comes Essex, Universis Vicecomitibus Ballivæ suæ, salutem; Sciat quod Dominus Rex Anglie ad instantiam, & prædicationem cujusdam Cardinalis a summo Pontifice missi in Franciam, de consilio Magnatum suorum de partibus transmarinis concessit, ad sanctæ Jerusalem subsidium, quadragesimam partem valoris omnium reddituum, et terrarum suarum unius Anni, tam de Wardis, quam de Excaetis in manu sua existentibus. Quod etiam ipsi Magnates sui ultra mare voluntarie concesserunt; Ad eorum etiam instantiam scripsit Dominus Rex omnibus Angliæ Magnatibus per literas patentes, rogans et inducens eos, quatenus puro Corde et Charitatis intuitu, idem illud de valore omnium reddituum et terrarum suarum unius Anni concederent, * quod quidem nec de debito, nec de consuetudine, nec de coactione, nec de aliqua alia Authoritate Apostolica conceditur vel postulatur. Unde præcepit quod omnes Comites et Barones de qualibet Ballia in primis admoneantur, inducantur diligenter, quatenus pro se hanc collectam faciant in terris suis hoc modo, scilicet ut quilibet quadragesimam partem valoris cujuslibet Villæ suæ, sicut posset poni ad firmam per annum. Et si in eadem Villa fuerint per servitium militare tenentes, dent quadragesimam portionem modo prædicto; si autem fuerint libere tenentes, similiter dent eandem portionem modo prædicto, computato redditu quem Dominis suis solverint per annum. Hanc autem collectam, colligi faciant per tam discretos, & legales qui ad hoc possint & sciant sufficere, qui eam recipiant tam de Comitibus, quam de Baronibus prædictis. Et postquam per manus eorum, fuerit collecta, receptores predictæ collectæ faciant in scriptum redigi distincte & aperte, quantum de quolibet receperint tam de Comitibus quam de Baronibus & Mililibus, & libere tenentibus, & nomina singulorum, & Villarum, quantumcunque de singulis Villis & quorum quælibet sit, imbrevari faciant. Summam autem de Dominicis, & de Wardis, & excaetis, & redditibus Domini Regis faciant separatim imbrevari. Si quis vero Clericus Laicum Feodum habuerit in Ballia aliqua, vel homines tenentes Laicum Feodum in eorum terris, fiat hæc collecta per prædictos collectores modo prædicto. De terris autem Cruce, signatorum prædicta Collecta fiat modo prædicto; Ita tamen quod eorum pecunia separatim reponetur ab alia, & summa pecuniæ, & nomina singulorum, quorum ipsa pecunia fuerit subseribantur, ut illi, qui iter arripuerint pecuniam suam prompte recipiant. Provideatur autem quod pecunia illa sit collecta; ita quod unusquisque Vicecomes simul cum Collectoribus habeat eam apud Novum Templum Londoniæ a die S. Hillarii in quindecim Dies, & imbreviamentum modo prædicto ordinatam, Viz de summa pecuniæ & nominibus eorum qui eam deberint;

* Note this memorable clause

& nominibus Villarum, de quibus data fuerit pecunia prædicta, & quantum de qualibet datum fuerit. Si qui autem contradixerint huic collectæ assensum præbere, nomina eorum imbeuentur, et coram nobis represententur, apud Lundonium, ad terminum prædictum, & hoc breve, & nomina collectorum ibidem habeantur. Valete.

This therefore was but a voluntary precarious Almes and Collection, left arbitrary by the Pope to the King, who by advise of his Nobles and Barons beyond Seas, reduced it to a certainty, and recommended it to the Nobles and Barons of England by way of intreaty, with directions how to levy it in the proportion he had fixed on, as a thing not granted, nor required by the King out of debt, duty or custome, or by any Apostolical authority, but meerly as a voluntary Almes and Benevolence, which other Nobles beyond Sea had voluntarily granted, and the King at their request did by his Letters Patents intreat the English Nobles and Barons out of meer charity to imitate. So as this is a most pregnant evidence against the Popes pretended Jurisdiction to impose any such Tax upon King, Clergy, or Subjects, (as some Popes and Pontificians would thence infer) from this Usurping Popes Letters, whose Agent embezzled much of this coyn for the Popes own private Coffers, as our Historians observe. Indeed this Pope by his special * Letter to all the Archbishops and Bishops of England, commanded them to admonish all those who had formerly taken the Crosse upon them, and afterwards laid it down, to resume it, and repair forthwith to the Earl of Flanders, notwithstanding any Papal Dispensation fraudulently obtained to the contrary from his Predecessors, or else after admonition given them, publicly to excommunicate them by name (if known) on every Lords day and Holy day, with Bell, Book, and Candle, and likewise to interdict them, without admitting any appeal, and to seclude them from all Divine Offices wheresoever they came. But that any Archbishop or Bishop put this Antichristian severe command of his in execution, I find not in our Historians, who barely recite it, and the premises prove it was never put in execution.

Pope Innocent being so vigilantly and strenuously opposed by King Johns Patents and Prohibitions, in this business of conferring the Archbishopricks of St. Davids and Ardmagh, on persons elected without his consent, by his own Papal Consecrations of them, and Provisions to them, contrived how to usher in Provisions by degrees, without any observation, to which purpose he imployed the Archbishop of Ragusa, whom he discharged from that Church for fear of death, to move King John to bestow a Bishoprick and other Benefices on him in England, to relieve his necessities and support his dignity; whereupon the King out of his Royal bounty bestowed the Bishoprick of Karliol, and the Archbishop of York the Church of Melburn upon him. The Pope being informed thereof, sent a Letter to King John, wherein he took upon him by his Apostolical Sees benignity, to grant this Bishoprick and Benefice to him, to supply his wants; admonishing and exhorting the King at his Pontifical request, to confirm this Bishoprick on him, which the King accordingly did at his Petition by this Patent, reciting the Popes Letter.

In the 6. year of King John, the Bishop, Dean and Chapter of Durham, the Dean and Chapter of York, with sundry other Deans and Chapters, Abbots and Priors, within the Province of York, to prevent the unjust arbitrary Excommunications, Suspensions, and Interdicts of Geoffry Archbishop of York, against their own Persons, Tenants, Lands, and Possessions, by reason of some differences between them concerning their Jurisdictions and Ecclesiastical Privileges, which they complained the Archbishop invaded, appearing before the King at York, did there in the Kings own presence appeal him before the Apostolick See, prefixing a certain day, to which the King by these Letters Patents gave his Royal testimony and assent, they not daring to appeal without his license.

To conclude the story of this turbulent Archbishop of York, about two years after (Anno Dom. 1207.) * King John and his Nobles meeting at Winchester, placing his hope and strength in his Treasures, required and received through all England, the 13. part of all movables and other things, as well of the Laity as of all other Ecclesiastical persons and Prelates; all of them murmuring at it, imprecating and * wishing an ill event to such rapine, but not daring to contradict it. Only Geoffry Archbishop of York, not consenting, but openly contradicting it, privily departed from England, and in his recesses, Anathematis sententia innotavit, actually excommunicated all men specially within his Archbishoprick, making this rapine and levying this Tax, and in general all In-baders of the Church or Ecclesiastical things, for non-payment of this Tax. Wherewith the King was so highly offended, that he seized his temporalities, and banished him the Realm till his death, about 7. years after; postquam per septennium pro libertate Ecclesia & executione justitia exilium passus est, write * Matthew Paris, and Matthew Westminster. Such was this Archbishops opposition to the Kings Prerogative and legal aydes esteemed by the disloyal Monks and Clergy of that age.

I am now arrived in my Chronological Method at the original occasion of the highest, longest-lasting, and most tragical contests between King John, and his traiterous perjured Monks, Bishops, Clergy, and the Pope confederating with them, and their most notorious Usurpations upon the undoubted Prerogatives of the Crown; King, Kingdoms of England and Ireland, ever acted on our English Theater in any age: the summe whereof is this.

Upon the death of Hubert Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno Dom: 1205. (the 6. of King Johns reign) there fell out an unhappy difference about the Election of a new Archbishop without the Kings license, against his Prerogative Royal, and afterwards upon a double election, which Pope Innocent the 3d. taking advantage of, vacated both, & forced the Monks at Rome against their wills, oaths, to elect Stephen Langton a Cardinal (his creature) whom he recommended to them, and consecrated Archbishop against the Kings consent; who refusing to admit him Archbishop, thereupon the Pope interdicted the whole Kingdom several years, next excommunicated, after that deposed the King from his Crown, which he gave to the King of France, absolved all his Subjects from their allegiance, and at last by force, menaces, and subtil persuasions, induced the King to resign his Crown, kingdoms to the Pope, and resume them from him as his feudatory. The Monks, Bishops, Popes Antimonarchical gradual Proceedings herein, with this Kings strenuous Oppositions against them for 8. whole years space, are briefly recorded by (a) many of our Historians, but most fully by Matthew Paris, and Matthew Westminster, from whom they extract their Narratives, whose relations thereof I shall present you with at large in their own stile, enlarged with additional Records not extant in them or other Historians, because the ground of all subsequent over-bold Papal and Prelatical Usurpations on the Crown, Kings, Kingdom, Church of England and Ireland.

(b) Defuncto itaq; Archiepiscopo Huberto tertio Idus Maii, antequam corpus ejus sepulturae traderetur, adolescentes quidam de conventu Cantuariensis Ecclesie, (timentes ne Rex mox suo electionem suam imperiret, adds Matthew Westminster) Rege non inquisito, so one; or as another of them expresseth it, Regis consensu non requisito, Reginaldum Subpriorem suum in Archiepiscopum eligerunt, & media de nocte post factam electionem, Hymno, Te Deum Laudamus cantato, prius super majus altare, ac deinde in Archiepiscopali Cathedra posuerunt; Verabantur enim, quod si electio sine Regis consensu ad ipsius aures pervenisset, ipse processum negotii impedire laboraret: (as he had cause) Unde nocte eadem idem Subprior, praestita cautione juratoria, quod sine licentia & literis specialibus Conventus se electum non gereret, vel literas Conventus de rato quas habebat, alicui promulgaret, assumptis secum de Conventu quibusdam Monachis, Curiam Romanam adivit. Hoc autem totum factum est, ut electio illa Regem lateret, donec probarent si rem inchoatam in Curia Romana possent perducere ad effectum. Sed electus praefatus, statim ut in Flandriam applicuisset, spreto quod fecerat juramento, se Cantuariensem esse electum, clara voce confitetur, & ad hoc Romanam se adire Curiam, ut factam electionem confirmaret. Literas insuper Conventus, quas de rato habebat, quibuscumque ostendit, credens in hoc causa suae meritum non mediocriter promoveri. Tandem vero Romanam perveniens, Electionem suam Domino Papa, & ejus Cardinalibus illico publicavit, literasque suas de rato palam omnibus ostendens, constanter a Domino Papa exegit, ut electionem factam, benignitate Apostolica confirmaret. INNOCENTIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei. Venerabilibus fratribus Universis suffraganeis Cantuariensis Ecclesie salutem, & Apostolicam benedictionem. Cum tempore Legis Mosaiacæ, quæ legitur ad perfectum neminem adduxisse, carnales parentes apud Carnalem populum in ea reverentia fuerunt & honore, ut qui eis malediceret, morte mori de mandato Domini juberetur, multo magis sub lege Gratiæ constitutos, quæ preciosissimo Christi sanguine rubriata portas aperit Paradysi, ne legis transgrediendo mandata, mortis damnationem incurrant; tanto convenit diligentius præcavere, quanto noscitur amplius formidandum animæ quam Corporis incurrere detrimentum. Si ergo Carnales Parentes tanta sint reverentia prosequendi; quid est de spiritualibus præsumendum? nisi ut sicut corpus spiritus superat dignitate, sic reverentia & honore spirituales parentes carnalibus præferantur. Hæc autem nos fratres præmississe noveritis, quia cum vestram debeamus desiderare salutem, veremur ne presens tribulatio, quæ vobis (ut dicitur) procurantibus suscitata est, Matrem Cantuariensem Ecclesiam, quam utique velut matrem tenemini revereri, vobis periculum generet animarum, & eidem Ecclesie tantum pariat detrimentum, ut quod dissensiosa contentio generabit, vix possit prolixiori temporum spatio restaurari. Quocirca universitatem vestram monemus attentius & hortamur in Domino, & per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus diligentius attendentes, quid super his honori vestro expediat & saluti, non molestetis indebite Cantuariensem Ecclesiam matrem vestram: cujus honores & jura fidelitatis debito tenemini defendere, ne de vobis merito conqueratur & dicat; Filios nutritivi & exaltavi, ipsi vero me non solummodo non cognoscunt, sed & severissime persequuntur. Non autem perea quæ premissimus, vos a vestra prosequenda justitia dehortamur, sed Pia nos facit affectio trepidare, ne terminis statutis a patribus non contenti, alii faciatis injuriam ea occasione reperta quod velitis prosequi jura vestra. De cætero fratres, omnipotens Dominus illuminet mentes vestras, ut remota omni contentionis materia, debitum matri vestræ non negetis obedientiam, vel honorem, nec contra divinum, nec naturale mandatum aliis faciatis, quod vobis fieri non volitis. Datum Romæ, apud Sanctum Petrum sexto Idus Decembris, Pontificatus nostri Anno Octavo.

* The King had then good cause to make choice of such a one.

Monachi interea Cantuarienses, cum de Supprie suo cognovissent, quod violato Juramento quod fecerat, statim ut in Flandriam applicuisset se Electum gesserat eorum detegendo secretum, commoti sunt vehementer contra eum, & continuo quosdam de Conventu Monachos miserunt ad Regem, requirentes ab eo licentiam Passorem sibi idoneum eligendi. Quibus Rex protinus, absq; omni conditione, benigne annuit quod petebant, et secretius eis alloquens ostendit eis Episcopum Norwicensem, * magna sibi familiaritate conjunctum fore, ipsumq; solum ex omnibus Angliæ Prelatis secretorum suorum esse conscium. Unde sibi et regno suo magnum assererat provenire commodum, si eum ad Archiepiscopatum Cantuariensem transferre potuissent. Rogavit igitur Monachos, ut una cum Clericis suis, quos missurus erat ad conventum, hanc petitionem suam exponerent illis, multos Conventui promittens honores si ipsum exaudire decrevissent. Monachi vero ad propria reversi, Conventui, per opusculum retulerunt ea quæ sibi a Rege fuerant impetrata. Conventus autem ut Regem quem offenderant sibi reconciliarent, convenientes in Capitulo Johannem Norwicensem Episcopum unanimiter elegerunt; & illico quosdam de Conventu Monachos ad Electum dirigentes (qui tunc pro agendis rebus Regis apud Eboracum erat) mandantes ei, ut Cantuariam cum festinatione veniret. Nuntii quoq; præpositumiter expedientes Episcopum jam dictum apud Nottingham invenerunt, qui Regis expletis negotiis ad partes Australes properabat, veniensque que ad Regem, Cantuariam simul profecti sunt: atque die sequenti maxima multitudo in Ecclesia Metropolitana concurrente, Prior Cantuariensis, Rege presente Electionem factam de Johannis de Gray Episcopo Norwicensi, palam cunctis pronuntiavit, & assumentes eum Monachi, cum Hymno Tu Deum Laudamus, portaverunt ad majus Altare, tandem in Cathedra Archiepiscopali illum collocantes: & hoc fuit seminarium totius sequentis discordiæ quæ per secula detrimentum, Angliæ generavit, & damnum irreparabile. Quo facto, Rex videntibus cunctis misit electum illum in possessionem rerum omnium ad Archiepiscopatum pertinentium, & sic singuli ad propria sunt reversi. Sicque in hac electione factus est novissimus error pejor priore, sicut rerum exitus evidenter ostendit.

The next year, 1206. Rex misit ad Curiam Romanam quosdam Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ Monachos, inter quos precipuus, erat Magister Helias de Brantefeld; quibus de fisco copiosas (e) Rex ministravit expensas, ut electionem de Episcopo Norwicensi fallam, impetrarent a Domino Papa confirmari. Miserunt autem eodem tempore, Episcopi Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ suffraganei procuratores Romam, gravem coram Domino Papa querelam proponentes, Quod videlicet Monachi Cantuarienses sine illis electionem temere Archiepiscopi præsumpissent celebrare. Cum ipsi una cum illis de jure communi & consuetudine antiqua electioni interesse debuissent Allegarunt etiam procuratores memorati super premissis Decreta & exempla, quosdam testes producentes, & literas testimoniales exhibentes, quibus ostendere nitebantur, quod ipsi suffraganei una cum Monachis tres Metropolitanos eligerunt. Monachi vero e contrario asseriebant, quod privilegio speciali Romanorum Pontificum, & de consuetudine approbata, & antiqua, sine Episcopis Electiones facere consueverant, quod etiam per testes idoneos docete promiserunt. Auditis hinc inde allegationibus, testibusq; admissis & diligenter examinatis, prefixus est dies a Domino Papa paribus, duodecimo scilicet Calend. Januarii ad pronuntiandum, ut tunc venient, quod jus dictaverit recepturi.

Eodem Anno (f) Johannes Erentius Apostolicæ sedis Legatus Veniens in Angliam, eamq; perlustrans, magnam pecuniam summam congeffit, & tandem apud Raddingum in Crastino Sancti Luca Evangelista Concilium celebravit. Quo facto, sarcinulis cum magna cautela dispositis & prudenter commendatis, festinus viator ad mare perveniens Angliam a tergo salutavit: his business being only to exact money. (g) Circa dies istos, Papa Innocentius suffraganeis Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ Episcopis sententiam diffinitivam sub hac forma direxit. Majores Ecclesiæ causas ad sedem Apostolicam referendas, & Canonica tradit auctoritas, & approbata consuetudo declarat: cum igitur inter vos, & dilectos filios nostros Priorem, & Monachos Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ, super jure illius Archiepiscopi eligendi controversia verteretur, proponentibus vobis quod tum ex jure communi, tum ex antiqua consuetudine, una cum illis debetis ipsius Archiepiscopi electionem celebrare. Illis autem e contrario respondentibus, quod de jure communi & privilegio speciali; & de consuetudine approbata & antiqua Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum eligere deberent sine vobis, lite coram nobis per procuratores idoneos super hoc legitime contestata, diligenter audivimus, quæ partes in presentia nostra proponere curaverunt. Pars siquidem vestra & decreta pariter & exempla studuit allegare, quosdam testes producens, & testimoniales literas exhibens quibus ostendere nitebatur, quod vos tres Metropolitanos elegeratis una cum illis: cum per literas & attestations sit probatum vos & alio loco & alio tempore non sine illis, electiones hujusmodi celebrasse. Testes autem producti ex parte Monachorum, legitime probaverunt, quod Prior & Convencus Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ a longis retro temporibus electiones Episcoporum in Capitulo suo, sine vobis usq; ad hæc tempora celebrarunt, & easdem obtinuerunt a sede Apostolica confirmari. A nobis etiam & predecessores nostros, per privilegii paginam est statutum, ut decedente Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, nullus ibi qualibet surreptionis astutia seu violentia proponatur, nisi quem communi consilio, major pars Monachorum sanioris consilii, secundum Dominum & sacrorum Canonum sanctiones providerit eligendum. Nos igitur his & aliis, quæ coram nobis allegata sunt, auditis & perspicaciter intellectis, quia constat evidenter, quod vos sine illis secundum assertionem vestram eligere non debetis, Monachis exclusis vestra non valet electio; & electio Monachorum sine vobis celebrata, quia a sede Apostolica meruit confirmari valebat. Cumque necessarium fuerit alterutrum confirmare, de communi fratrum nostrorum consilio vobis & successoribus vestris super jure

*Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum eligendi, silentium perpetuum imponimus, & Monachos Cantuarienses ab impetitione ac molestatione vestra, & successorum vestrorum per sententiam diffinitivam absolvimus, Auctoritate Apostolica decernentes, ut Monachi Cantuariensis Ecclesia & successores eorum de cetero Archiepiscopum eligant sine vobis. Venerabilibus Patribus in Christo, Universis Episcopis Cantuariensis Ecclesia suffraganeis, J. Dei gratia, &c. Rogamus vos attentius quatinus sicut honorem & utilitatem Regni nostri & Ecclesia Anglicana diligitis & desideratis, ea qua Justitarius noster vobis ex parte nostra proponet super provisione Ecclesia Cantuariensis diligenter & celeriter exequi studeatis, quia negotium illud magnam instantiam desiderat. Teste me ipso apud Porec. Viceesimo Sexto die Maii. What this business was is not expressed in particular, but in general, it was to preserve the rights and Dignity of the Crown, in relation to the See of Canterbury, to own him only for Archbishop, who was elected by his Royal assent.

Not long after, the Pope summoned the Monks of Canterbury the second time before him concerning the election of the Arch-bishop, to vacate both Elections, and enforce them to a new; thus related by * Matthew Paris.

Circa dies istos, steterunt Roma coram Domino Papa, Monachi Cantuariensis Ecclesia, turpem admodum causam ad invicem agitantes. Nam quadam pars eorum per literas Conventus de rato presentaverunt Reginaldum Suppriorem Cantuariensem, sicut multoties fecerant Electum ad Archiepiscopopatum, instantius postulantes, ut ejus electio confirmaretur. Altera vero pars eorundem Monachorum per literas similiter de Rato, presentaverunt Johannem Episcopum Norwicensem multis rationibus ostendentes, electionem de Supprie nulla esse, tum quia facta erat de nocte, et sine solemnitate et assensu Regis, tum quia a majori & saniori parte Conventus non fuerat celebrata, sicque his rationibus propositis, petierunt ut illa electio confirmaretur, qua clara luce diei. Rege presente et consentiente, cum testibus idoneis extitit celebrata. His auditis & perspicaciter intellectis, procurator Supprioris allegavit, secundam electionem irritam esse & inanem, quia qualiscunq; esset prima electio, sive justa, sive injusta, debuerat prima Cassari, antequam secunda celebraretur electio. Unde constanter postulabat, ut prima electio rata haberetur. Denique post longas hinc & inde disceptationes, cum Dominus Papa intellexisset partes in unicam personam non posse convenire, atque utramque electionem vitiosa & non secundum sacrorum Canonum sanctiones celebratam fuisse, de consilio Cardinalium suorum ambas cassavit, partibus diffinitione Apostolica interdicens, & per sententiam diffinitivam statuens, ne de cetero ad Archiepiscopatus honores alteruter Electorum aspires. Summatim hac fuit causa & seminarium Erroris. Rex posuerat verbum suum in ore duodecim Monachorum Cantuariensium, ut quemcunq; eligerent, ipse acceptaret. Convenerat autem inter Regem & eos, prestito juramento, & fidei interpositione, quod nullo modo alium, quam Johannem Episcopum Norwicensem eligerent. Habebant & similiter Literas Regis.

This

This crafty Pope vacated both these Elections on purpose to force the Monks to elect whom ever he should commend unto them, against the right of the Kings Crown, to grant Licences to elect, and approve the Arch-bishop when elected, that so having wrested out of his hands, the disposition of the See of the Primat and Metropolitan of all England to confer it on his own creatures, he might rule both the Church and Kingdom at his pleasure; in pursuance of which design the perfidious Monks complied with him against the King: as the Historian thus relates. * Sed ipsi Monachi, postquam intellexerunt electionem dicti Johannis Papa nimis displicere & cassari, suggerentibus Cardinalibus & Domino Papa; & affirmantibus licere eis eligere, quemcunq; vellent, ut secrete electionem celebrarent, si strenuum & precipue Anglicum eligerent, elegerunt per consilium Papa Magistrum Stephanum de Langton Cardinalem, quo non erat major in Curia, imo nec ei parem moribus & scientia. Ex tunc igitur non potuit ei Papa in multiformi tribulatione deesse.

* Mat. Paris, p. 113.

CAssatis itaque Electionibus memoratis Dominus Papa nolens diutius sustinere, ut gregi domino cura deesset Pastoralis (the ground of all subsequent provisions to Bishopricks) persuasit Monachis Cantuariensis, qui procuratores coram eo constituti fuerant pro negotio Ecclesie Cantuariensis, ut eligerent Magistrum Stephanum de Langton, Presbyterum Cardinalem, virum in literali scientia tum discretum, & moribus ornatum, asserens ipsius promotionem, tam ipsi Regi, quam universae Ecclesiae Anglicanae plurimum profuturam. Monachi vero adhuc respondentes asserabant, non licere prater Consensum Regium et sui Conventus Canonicam electionem celebrare. At Papa, quasi rapiens verbum ex Ore ipsorum dixit: sciatis vos plenariam habere in Ecclesia Cantuariensi potestatem, nec et super electionibus apud sedem Apostolicam celebratis, * solet assensus Principum expectari. Unde vobis qui tot & tales estis, quod pleno suffragio ad electionem, in virtute obedientiae, et sub pena anathematis precipimus, ut illum in Archiepiscopum eligatis, quem Nos damus vobis in Patrem et Pastorem animarum vestrarum. Monachi quoq; excommunicationis sententiam incurere metuentes, licet inditi et cum murmuratione assensum tamen praeberunt. Solus ex omnibus Monachis Magister Helias de Brantefeld, qui pro parte Regis & Episcopi Norwicensis advenerat, noluit consentire. Ceteri autem omnes cum Hymno Te Deum Laudamus, electum memoratum ad Altare detulerunt. Deinde Decimo Quinto Kalendas Julii in Civitate Victrii, a Papa prefato munus consecrationis suscepit. The Pope to salve this grand encroachment on King John and the Crown of England, endeavoured by gifts and complements to pacifie and court him out of it: To which purpose,

Sub eisdem diebus, Innocentius Papa cupiens in proposito suo Regem Johannem habere favorabilem, quia cognoverat eundem Johannem cupidum esse, & diligentem inquisitorem & acquisiteorem Gemmarum pretiosarum, misit ei hanc Epistolam cum tali Xenio quod in eadem potest perpendi. Innocentius Papa tertius, Johanni Regi Anglorum &c. Inter opes terrenas, quas mortalis oculus concupiscit, & quasi clariora desiderat, aurum, obrizum & lapides pretiosos principatum credimus obtinere. Licet autem his & aliis divitiis vestra regalis abundet excellentia, in signum tamen dilectionis & gratiae, quatuor Annulos Aureos cum diversis lapidibus pretiosis, tuae magnitudini, destinamus. In quibus te volumus specialiter intelligere, formam, numerum, materiam, & colorem, ut mysterium potius quam donum attendas. Rotunditas enim Eternitatem significat, quae initio caret & fine. Habet ergo Regalis discretio quod in forma requirat, ut de terrenis transeat ad caelestia, de temporalibus ad aeterna procedat. Quaternarius autem qui numerus est quadratus, constantiam mentis significavit, quae nec deprimi debet in adversis, nec in prosperis elevari, quod tunc laudabiliter adimplebit, cum quatuor virtutibus principalibus fuerit ordinata, viz. Justitia, Fortitudine, Prudentia, Temperantia. Intelligas ergo in primo, Justitiam quam exerceas in judiciis. In secundo; Fortitudinem quam exhibeas in adversis. In tertio, Prudentiam quam observes in dubiis. In quarto, Temperantiam quam in prosperis non demittas. Per aurum vero sapientia designatur, Quia sicut Aurum praeminet metallis universis, sic sapientia donis omnibus omnibus antecellit. Propheta testante : Requiescet super eum spiritus sapientiæ, &c. Nihil est autem quod Regem magis oportet habere. Unde Rex ille pacificus Solomon, solo a Domino sapientiam postulavit, ut populum sibi commissum perinde sciret gubernare. Porro Smaragdi Viriditas fidem, Saphiri serenitas spem, Granati rubicunditas Charitatem. Topatii Claritas operationem bonam significat, de qua Dominus; Luceat Lux vestra. Habes igitur in Smaragdo quod credas, in Saphiro quod speras, in Granato quod diligas, in Topatio quod exerceas, ut de virtute in virtutem ascendas donec Dominum Deorum videas in Sion. Hæc autem cum ad Regis presentiam pervenissent, primo grātanter ei complacuerunt, sed post non multos dies subsequentes aurum, obrizum, in scoriam, & derisum, gemmæ in gemitus amor in rancorem, sicut sequens sermo declarabit, sunt flebiliter commutata, ut ex sequentibus constiterit.

onis in Monachos Cantuarienses refundere satagebat. Dixit enim quod in præjudicium iuræ libertatis, sine ipsius licentia Supporem suam elegerant, & postmodum, ut quod male gesserant, quasi sibi satisfaciendo palliarent, eligerunt Episcopum Normicensem, & pecuniam de fisco accipientes ad itineris expensas, ut electionem de Episcopo memorato factam apud sedem Apostolicam impetrarent confirmari, in cumulum iniquitatis suæ elegerunt ibi Stephanum de Langetune, inimicum suum publicum, eumque fecerunt in Archiepiscopum consecrari : Ob hanc quoque causam idem Rex in furorem versus, et indignationem, misit Fulconem de Cantelou, & Henricum de Cornhelle, Milites Crudelissimos et humanitatis ignaros cum ministris armatis, ut Monachos Cantuarienses, sicut crimine læsæ majestatis reos, a Regno Angliæ expellerent, vel sententia Capitali condemnarent. Illi autem mandatum Domini sui non segniter exequentes, Cantuariam sunt profecti, et nudatis Ensisbus Monasterium ingressi, voce furiosa Priori et Monachis ex parte Regis præceperunt, ut velut Proditores Regiæ Majestatis, incontinenti de Regno Angliæ exirent. Et si hoc facere noluissent, affirmaverunt cum Juramento, quod ipsi injecto igne, tam in ipso Monasterio, quam in aliis officinis omnes illos cum sp-sibus ædificiis concremarent. Monachi vero nimis inconsulte agentes, sine violentia et omni manuum injectione, recesserunt omnes præter Tredecim valetudinarios; qui in domo infirmorum jacentes, incedere non valebant. Et protinus trajecti in Flandriam, in Abbacia Sancti Bertini honorifice recepti sunt, & in aliis Monasteriis transmarinis. Deinde jubente Rege substituti sunt in Ecclesia Cantuariensi Monachi quidam de Sancto Augustino, ad Ministrandum ibidem, Fulcone præfato procurante, imo omnia bona eorumdem Monachorum distrahente, et confiscante, terris tam Archiepiscopi quam Monachorum remanentibus incultis. Exierunt autem Monachi sæpe dicti, de Monasterio suo in exilium.

(a) Exclusis hoc ordine Monachis Cantuariensibus, (b) Rex Anglorum Johannes ad Papam nuncios cum literis direxit, in quibus expresse et quasi comminando ipsum arguebat, quod electione Normicensis Episcopi turpiter repulsa, Stephanum quendam de Langetuna sibi penitus ignotum, et in Regno Francorum inter hostes

hostes suos publicos diutissime conuersatum, fecerat in Cantuariensem Episcopum consecrari. Et quod magis in prejudicium, et subversionem Libertatum ad Coronam suam spectantium redundat, ipsius Consensu a Monachis qui illum postulasse debuerant, nec rite requisito, eundem Stephanum temere promovere præsumpsit. Unde assererat se sufficienter admirari non posse, quod tam ipse Papa quam uniuersa Curia Romana ad memoriam non reducant, in quantum ejus dilectis Romanæ sedis fuerit hactenus necessaria, in hoc rationis oculum non figentes, quod uberiores sibi fructus perueniant de Regno suo Angliæ quam de omnibus Regionibus citra Alpes constitutis. Addit insuper, quod pro Libertatibus Coronæ suæ stabit si necesse fuerit, usque ad mortem; immutabiliter asserens se non posse ab electione simul et promotione Norwicensis Episcopi quam sibi utilem intelligit, reuocari. Tandem negotii summam in hoc conclusit, quod si de præmissis non fuerit exauditus, omnibus Romanæ petentibus maris semitas angustabit: ne terra sua diutius evacuata ipsi minus ad hostes ab ea depellendos sufficiat. Et cum Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, et alii Ecclesiarum Prelati, tam de Regno Angliæ, quam aliarum terrarum suarum, in omnium scientiarum plenitudine sufficienter abundant, si necessitas coegerit, extra terras suas Iustitiam vel Iudicium ab alienigenis non Eminentabit: A most royal, heroick, just and equal resolution.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus Servus Servorum Dei, Charissimo in Christo Filio, Johanni illustri Anglorum Regi salutem, & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Cum super negotio Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ nos tibi scripserimus, humiliter, diligenter, benigne exhortando ac rogando, tu nobis (ut salva pace tua loquar) rescripsisti quasi comminando, et exprobando contumaciter et proterve. Et cum nos tibi supra jus deferre curemus, tu nobis secundum jus deferre non curas, minus quam deberet attendens, quod si tua nobis devotio plurimum est necessaria, nostra tamen tibi non parum est opportuna. Cumque nos in tali Casu tantum honorem nulli Principum detulimus quantum tibi, tu nostro tantum derogare attendis honori, quantum in simili casu nullus Princeps derogare præsumpsit, quasdam frivolas occasiones pretendens, quibus asseris, quod Electioni de dilecto filio nostro Magistro Stephano, titulo Sancti Chrysogoni Presbytero Cardinali a Monachis Cantuariensibus celebratæ, non potes portare consensum, quia videlicet inter tuos est conuersatus inimicos, et persona ejus est tibi propterea ignota. Porro juxta proverbium Solomonis, frustra jacitur rete ante oculos pennatorum, cum intelligamus illud, ei non esse imputandum ad culpam, sed ad gloriam potius adscribendum, quod Parisius diu vacans liberalibus studiis, in tantum profecit, ut meruerit esse Doctor, non solum in liberalibus facultatibus, verum & in Theologicis disciplinis. Ac si per hoc cum vita concordet Doctrinæ, dignus est habitus præbendam obtinere Parisiensem. Unde mirabile gerimus, si vir tanti nominis de tuo regno ducens originem, tibi potuit esse saltem quoad famam ignotus, præsertim cum ter scripsisses illi postquam nobis extitit in Cardinalem promotus: quod licet disposueris eum ad tuæ familiaritatis obsequium evocare, gaudebas tamen quod ad majus erat officium sublimatus. Sed illud potius te attendere decuisset, quod in terra tua natus est, de parentibus tibi fidelibus ac devotis, quodque in Eboracensi Ecclesia fuerat Prebendatus, quæ longe major & dignior quam Pariacensis existit. Unde non solum ratione carnis & sanguinis, verum & obtentu ecclesiastici beneficii & officii, te ac regnum tuum affectu sincero diligere comprobatur. Nuncii vero tui causam nobis aliam expresse-

nunquam fuerat requisitus ab illis, qui eum a te debuerunt postulare, asserentes quod literæ illæ quibus mandavimus, ut super hoc negotio procuratores ad nos idoneos destinare, ad te minime pervenerunt. Et Monachi Cantuarienses, quamvis pro aliis negotiis ad tuam presentiam accessissent, pro postulando tamen consensu nec literas, nec nuncios direxerunt; Unde iidem nuncii cum multa instantia nobis supplicarunt, quatinus ex quo nobis complacuit hanc tibi honorificentiam reservare, ut Monachi & Cantuarienses regium postularunt assensum, quoniam hoc factum non erat, dilationem congruam concedere dignaremur, infra quam posset id fieri, ne iuri tuo contingeret derogari. Contra personam Electi quiddam ad ultimum proponentes, quod cum manifeste factum sit, Ostium oris claudere debuissent, presertim cum si verum esset, promotionem ejus jam impedire non posset. Licet autem super Electionibus apud sedem Apostolicam celebratis, non consueverit assensus Principum expectari, Duo tamen Monachi fuerunt specialiter deputati; ut ad te pro requirendo assensu venirent, qui apud Ydivoriam fuerunt retenti, ut injunctum tibi mandatum exequi non valerent, & præfatæ literæ de procuratoribus ad nostram præsentiam destinandis, tuis fuerunt Nuntiis assignatæ, ut eas tibi fideliter præsentarent. Nos quoque qui super eandem Ecclesiam Cantuariensem plenitudinem potestatis habemus, regium super hoc dignati sumus implorare favorem. Et Cursor noster qui Apostolicas tibi Literas præsentavit, literas quoque Prioris ac Monachorum, qui ex mandato totius Capituli Cantuariensis Celebraverunt electionem memoratam, super assensu præstendo, Regiæ sublimitati porrexerit. Ideoque non vidimus oportere denuo post hæc omnia regium postulare consensum. Sed illud Agere disposuimus, non declinantes ad dextram vel ad sinistram, quod Sanctorum Patrum Canonice functiones, statuunt faciendum, ut videlicet nihil moræ vel difficultatis relictis dispositionibus auferatur ne gregi Dominico diu desit cura Pastoralis. Quocirca vel discretionis tuæ vel Regali prudentiæ suggeratur a quoquam, quod aliquatinus valeat a consummatione hujus officii revocari, quoniam absque vi & dolo canonice sit Electio de persona idonea concorditer celebrata, sine damno fama & periculo conscientie differre non possemus. Tu ergo Fili Charissime, cujus honori supra jus deferri curavimus secundum jus, nostro studeatis honori deferre, ut gratiam divinam & nostram uberius merearis, ne forte si secus egeris, in eam te difficultatem inducas, de qua non facile valeas expediri, cum tandem oporteat eum vincere,* cui spectatur omne genu Cælestium, terrestrium & infernorum, Atque nos vices in terris, licet immeriti exercemus. INNOCENTIUS Papa, cum Regis Johannis Anglorum cor adeo induratum didicerat (when as his own heart rather was thus hardened) quod nec blandis ejus admonitionibus nec asperis comminationibus adquiesceret, ut Stephanum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum recipere vellet, tactus dolore cordis intrinsecus Willielmo Londinensi dinens, Eustachio Elyensi, & Malgero Wigornienſi Episcopis, de consilio Cardinalium suorum dedit in mandatis, ut accedentes ad Regem memoratum, ipsum pia sollicitudine pro negotio Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ convenirent, salubriter exhortantes in Domino, quatenus eo pacto se vinci à Deo permetteret, ut victus Domini vinceret, ipsumque cui servire, regnare est, in sui favorem provocaret. Quod si forte ipsam contumacem, sicut hactenus extitit, invenirent et Rebellem, Regnum Angliæ totum sub Interdicto concluderent, Auctoritate ei Apostolica denunci-antes: Quod si per hoc pertinaciam suam non duceret corrigendam, ipse manum adhibere curaret Graviozem, cum necesse sit eum vincere, qui pro salute Ecclesiæ Sanctæ Diabolum, et ejus Angelos debellans, claustra Tartarea spoliabit. Suffraganeus quoque Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ Episcopis, aliisque illius Diocesis Prelatis in virtute obedientia per sedis Apostolica literas expressit, ut Archiepiscopum præfatum in Patrem susciperent & Pastorem, tique charitate debita obsequere curarent. Hereupon Londoniensis, Elyensis, atque Wigornienſis Episcopi, ex adjuncto sibi delegationis Officio, ( being more obsequious to the Popes illegal, then their Kings lawfull mandates ) Regem Johannem adeuntes, mandatumque sibi Apostolicum per ordinem exponentes, humiliter lacrymisque profusis supplicabant, quatenus Dominum habens præ oculis, Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem & Monachos ad Ecclesiam suam revocaret, honoraret, & eos charitate perfecta diligeret, scandalum interdicti evitare curaret; ut per hoc retributor meritorum & potentiam sibi multiplicare dignaretur temporalem, & gloriam post Mortem largiretur sine fine mensuram. Cumque idem Episcopi pro ejus salute vellent protrahere sermonem, Rex quasi in furiam versus, contra Dominum Papam et ejus Cardinales in verba blasphemiarum prorupit, jurans per dentes Dei, quod si ipsi vel alii quicunque ausu temerario terras suas supponerent Interdictæ, ipse incontinenti universos Angliæ Prelatos, Clericos pariter et ordinatos, ad Papam mitteret, et bona eorum omnia confiscaret. Addit etiam, quod Romanos quoscunque sive in quibuscunque terris suis reperiri potuissent, erutis oculis naribusque præcisis, Romanam destinaret: At his intersignis a cæteris possent nationibus ibidem discerni. Ipsiſ insuper Episcopis expresse præcepit, quatenus cum summa festinatione a suo conspectu recederent, si suorum corporum vellent scandali discrimine evitare. A most Heroick, Royal resolution, worthy a King of England, thus affronted by a Tyrannizing Usurping Pope, and perfidious Bishops.

Nota.

The King before this final harsh Answer given to them, had condescended as far as possible to gratifie the Pope in receiving Stephen Langhron to be Archbishop of Canterbury, upon these Bishops first acquainting him with the Popes mandate to them, promising to do any thing therein which his Council should think fit and reasonable, saving in all things to him and his Heirs the right and dignity of the Crown belonging to them, as appears by his Letters Patents to these Bishops, attested by 7. Earls, and 3. Barons, ( which our Monkish Historians conceale ) near 3. months before the Interdict.

Which he and the Bishops concealing from the people, and raising false scandalous rumors touching the Kings proceedings herein, to alienate his Subjects affections from him, the King thereupon was enforced by his Letters Patents and Proclamations, to publish the truth thereof to all his Subjects in Kent, ( most concerned therein, being under the Archbishop's Jurisdiction, and most of them Tenants to the Archbishoprick ) to undeceive them.

The Bishops after the Kings final peremptory Answer to them, formerly recited, resolved to enforce the King to quit his Royal right and dignity, by an Antichristian Interdict of his Kingdom, which they could not perswade him to part with by their Treary; thus related by * Matthew Paris.

Recedentes autem Episcopi memorati, cum fructum penitentia in Rege non invenerunt, in Quadragesima sequenti, executionem sibi a summo Pontifice demandatam, exequi non verentes, prima die Luna in passione Domini, qua tunc contigit decimo Kalendas Aprilis, sub generali Interdicto totam Angliam incluserunt: quod sicut in Autentico Domini Papæ, expressum habetur, non obstantibus privilegiis, ab omnibus est inviolabiliter observatum. Cessaverunt itaque in Anglia omnia Ecclesiastica Sacramenta, præter solummodo confessionem et viaticum in ultima necessitate, et Baptisma parvulorum; (Quod ex calida indulgentia Papæ concessum est ut ab alienatis a Rege sibi conciliatis Regni subditis tam Regnum quam Regem sibi subiceret, addit * Matthew Parker.) corpora quoque defunctorum de Civitatibus et villis efferebantur, et mox canum in bibulis et fossatis sine orationibus et Sacerdotum ministerio sepeliebantur. † Trevisa, Fabian, Caxton, Fox, Speed, with others adde, That all the doors of Churches and other places where Divine Service before was used, first in London, and after in all places throughout the Land, were shut up with Keys, Walls, and other fastenings, no publick Prayers, Masses, or Divine Service must be once celebrated within them for sundry years ensuing; by which unchristian Interdict this flourishing Church of England was publicly deprived for many years together of the very Face of Christianity, even by Pope Innocent, Christs pretended Vicar, who acted here like Julian his professed Enemy, immuring up the doors of all Christian Temples, in despite of their God, and for the Kings bare crossing of his unjust Papal Usurpations, in defence of his Prerogative Royal, censured even God and Christ himself, to lose their publick Worship, and all the People, Bishops, Clergy to hazard their souls, living like Infidels, without Gods Service and blessed Sacraments, yea and dying, like Dogs to be tumbled into every ditch without Christian buriall: So well did he pursue our Saviours trebled precept to Peter, whereon he founded his Papal Sovereignty, John 22. 16, 17. Feed my Sheep, Feed my Lambs. Matthew Paris subjoyns, Quid plura? Recesserunt latenter ab Anglia, Willielmus Londinensis, Eustachius Elyensis, Malgerus Wygorniensis, Jozelinus Bathoniensis, & Egidius Herefordensis Episcopi, (chief Actors in this unchristian Tragedy) satius Arbitrantes sevitiam commoti Regis ad tempus declinare, quam in terra Interdicta sine fructu residere. † But before their departure they excommunicated all the Kings Officers, who seized their Temporalities and Goods for this their Treasonable and Antichristian proceedings, not only against himself, but his whole Realm, though not guilty of any contempt against the Pope.

Porro Clericorum Rege iubente, oblerata sunt ubiq; & ad commodum filci distracta, Presbyterorum & Clericorum focaria per totam Angliam a Ministris Regis captæ sunt, & graviter ad se redimendum compulsæ: viri religiosi sive quicunq; ordinati qui itinerantes reperti sunt in via ab equis suis projiciebantur, spoliabantur, & a satellitibus Regis turpiter tractabantur, nec fuit qui eis iustitiam exhiberet. Venerunt ea tempestate in confinio Walliæ ad regem, ministri cujusdam vicecomitis, ducentes prædonem unum, manibus a tergo victis qui sacerdotem quendam in via spoliaverat & interfecerat, querentes a Rege quid super tali eventu sibi fieri placeret. Quibus incontinenter respondit dicens: Inimicum meum interemit, solvite illum & finite abire, *Patentes quoq; Archiepiscopi & Episcoporum qui Angliam sub interdicto posuerunt, jubente Rege capiebantur, atque bonis omnibus spoliati in carcerem trudebantur. After this general seizure of the Bishops and Clergies Temporalities and goods, such of them as submitted to the King, and refused to comply with the Interdict, celebrating Divine Service, and administering the Sacraments to the people according to their duties both to God, the King and people, the King by special writs restored their Temporalities, chattles, goods to them, retaining in his hands the Lands and goods of all Abbots, Priors, Religious houses and Clerks, who submitted to the Interdict, as is evident by these two Patents for restoring the Possessions, lands and goods of the Bishops of Winchester, and Norwich, who complied with the King, as did Philip Bishop of Duresme, heartning him to contemne the Popes causelesse curse, though at last, when the King surrendered his Crown, they were all enforced to cry peccavi for it, as Godwin observes,

Matthew Paris informs us, that John Abbot of St. Albons, being specially commanded by the King to celebrate divine service during the Interdict, called all his Moncks into the Chapter-house, perswading them to obey God (meaning the Pope) rather than man (the King) and patiently to endure the Kings anger, which God in due time would bring to an end. For which high contempt, the King seised all the Temporalities of the Abby, prosecuted this Abbot, put out the Officers of the Abby, and placed his own in their steads, till this Abbot at last complied, and payd six hundred markes to the King, to purchase his peace and take off the sequestration.

Hic in interdicto multas pressuras, & tribulationes perpeffus est, quarum unam huic libello duximus inferendam; significavit ei Rex Johannes, ut ipse pro Papali mandato in Interdicto divina celebraret. Et super hoc, habito consilio in Capitulo, ait, Fratres oportet obedire magis Deo, (the celebrating of Divine Service as he commanded, had been to obey God, not to intermit it on the Popes Inhibition, when both God and the King commanded it) quam hominibus; sustineamus iram principis, dabit Deus his quoque finem. Et sic Domino Papæ obediens, quamvis Magister Alexander filius Cementarii (tunc Minister Regis) consulisset in contrarium, noluit Regi in hoc casu obedire, Iratus igitur Rex vehementer de contemptu sui mandati (accipiens sic sponte malignandi occasionem) occupavit in manu sua totam Abbatiam.

The same year the white Monks complied with God and the King, in saying divine service, for which presumption this Antichristian Pope suspended them the second time. Albi Monachi in principio Interdicti cessantes, postea ad mandatum sui principalis Divina celebrare presumpserunt, sed hac presumptio cum ad summum Pontificis noticiam pervenisset, ad sui maiorem confusionem denuo sunt suspensi.

The King perceiving that the Pope, and Bishops, intended not only to seduce but to absolve his Subjects from their allegiance to him, like a wise Prince, required pledges from all the great men he suspected, to be delivered to him for their future fidelity, which most of them submitted to, others refused, thus related and aggravated by our Monks to render him odious.

INTER hæc & consimilia opera Impietatis, Rex Johannes in se reversus metuebat, ne Dominus Papa post Interdictum, manum in eum extenderet graviore, illum nominatim excommunicando, vel Magnates Anglia ab ejus fidelitate absolvendo. Unde ne Regni iura amittere videretur, misit manum militarem ad omnes Regni potentes, & quos præcipue suspectos habebat, exigens obfides ab eis, quibus posset eos, si forte processu temporis ab ejus fidelitate absolverentur, ad debitum revocare obsequium; Adquieverunt multi Regis iussionibus, & alii filios, alii vero nepotes & carnaliter propinquos nunciis tradebant. Venientes tandem ad Willielmum de Brause virum nobilem, & obfides ab eo, sicut ab aliis fecerat exigentes, repagulum conditionis invenerunt. Matildis enim uxor ejusdem Willielmi procacitate muliebri verbum rapiens ex ore viri, nunciis respondit. Pueros meos Domino vestro Regi Johanni non tradam, quia Arthurum Nepotem suum quem honorifice custodisse debuerat, turpiter interfecit. Quod verbum, cum vir ejus audisset, increpavit eam & dixit: Quasi una ex stultis mulieribus contra Dominum nostrum Regem, locuta es. Nam si ipsum in aliquo offendi; paratus sum & ero Domino meo, & sine obfidibus satisfacere, secundum iudicium Curia sua & Baronum parium meorum, certo mihi assignato die & loco. Nuncii autem ad Regem reversi, cum ei quæ audierant, retulissent, Rex graviter perturbatus, misit Milites suos & servientes latenter, qui ipsum Willielmum cum tota sua familia comprehenderent, & sibi sub omni festinatione præsentarent. Sed idem Willielmus ab amicis suis præmonitus, cum uxore sua, & filiis & propinquis ad Hyberniam aufugit. * Matthew Westminster (exceeding all bounds of truth and modesty) superadds, Rex vero interim nunc hunc, nunc illum, de magnatibus Regni, vel pecunia injuste multavit, vel libertatibus, aut possessionibus spoliavit, nonnullos uxoribus suis Zelotipavit, filias destitavit, ita quod manifeste tam Deo, quam hominibus exosus videretur & detestabilis. Insuper ut appareret ejus insatiabilis avaritia, gulæ inextinguibilis sicut & corporis libido, captivam avium prohibuit, & nobilium arctavit venationes, unde non tantum amorem omnium amisit, imo odium incurrit inexorabile, etiam exosum cum habuit uxor propria, quam de adulterio adulter defamavit, & suspectos eidem familiares, ignominiose necavit, & in arcta custodia ipsam iussit custodiri: & inter cætera ipsius flagitia, apud Nottingham, quamplures obfides pueros innocentes, alter Herodes patibulo fecit suspendi. Unde tam Anglici, quam alieni desubjugo intollerabili talis tyranni cupientes jam excurrere, caperunt districte cogitare ad cuius principis finem aliquod refugium possent invenire. But this doubtlesse is a meer Monkish forgery, contrary to all rules of Policy, as well as Justice, and his Subjects adhering to him in such a time of danger.

Yea several Bishopricks and Abbies becoming void during the Interdict, thereupon the King granted Licences to elect new Bishops, Abbots, Priors, such as he recommended and approved, who were accordingly admitted to them, and discharged their spiritual functions in them, notwithstanding the Popes Inhibition, when <sup>* some of</sup> the Bishops, and others of the Rebellious Clergy who fled beyond Seas, dyed of severall diseases, by the just Judgement of God, during the Interdict they pronounced.

The King being exasperated against the Rebellious Clergy, took all just and legal occasions to exercise his severity against some of them, to reduce others to obedience; which Matthew Paris thus relates, in odium Regis, (if we may credit him) in one signal example at Oxford.

Anno Domini 1209.

PER id tempus, Clericus quidam apud Oxoniam, liberalibus vacans disciplinis, mulierem quandam casu interfecit, quam cum mortuam deprehendisset, per fugam sibi consuluit. Praefectus autem urbis & multi alii accurrentes cum mulierem exanimem invenerunt, ceperunt querere homicidam illam in hospitio suo, quod cum tribus sociis suis Clericis locaverat, & facti reum non inveniētes, ceperunt tres socios ejus Clericos memoratos, & de homicidio penitus nescios, & eos in carcerem retruferunt. Deinde post dies paucos, Rege Anglorum iubente, in contemptum Ecclesiasticæ libertatis, extra villam educi suspendio perierunt. Quod cum factum fuisset, recesserunt ab Oxonia ad tria Millia Clericorum tam Magistri quam Discipuli, ita quod nec unus ex omni Universitate remansit; quorum quidam apud Cantebriam, quidam vero apud Radingum, liberalibus studiis vacantes, Villam Oxonia vacuam reliquerunt. Yet, Eodem anno Hugo Archidiaconus Wellensis, & Regis Cancellarius, ad Episcopatum Lincolniensem, eodem Rege procurante, electus est, qui continuo post factam Electionem, totius Episcopatus a Rege liberam dispositionem accepit: And was consecrated by the Archbishop of Rohan, so as the King during the Interdict disposed of his Bishopricks as before, to such who were loyall and obedient to him.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 218, 219. Mar. Westm. p. 88.

Whereupon the Pope considering how much his Interdicts were generally slighted throughout England, proceeded one degree further, to excommunicare the King by name in all Conventual Churches, every Lords day and Holy day, though no Divine Service must be used in Parish Churches; such was his daring Impiety, thus related by his Creatures.

SUB his denique diebus, cum Rex Anglorum Johannes, jam fere per biennium, ut dictum est, generaliter per totam Angliam persecutionem gravissimam ratione. Interdictam contra viros Ecclesiasticos, quam Laicos nonnullos infatigabiliter continuasset, & de correctione simul & satisfactione omnibus stem omnimodam ademisset: Papa Innocentius ipse Rebellionem diutius inultam dissimulare non potuit: (though he could not only dispence with, but countenance his Bishops and Monks Rebellions against the King.) Unde de consilio fratrum suorum Cardinalium, ad extirpandum radicibus Ecclesiæ scandalum, Londoniensi, Helyensi, & Wigornienfi Episcopis, dedit in mandatis, Ut Regem memoratum nominatim excommunicatum pronuntiarent, et sententiam singulis diebus dominicis et festivis in omnibus Ecclesiis Conventualibus per totam Angliam solemniter publicantes, ipsum facerent ab omnibus arctius exitari.

Sed cum Episcopi jam d.ñi confratribus suis, qui in Anglia remanserant Episcopis, alii que Ecclesiarum Pralatu publicationem sententia auctoritate Apostolica commississent: (they being willing to sleep in a whole skin, and translate this dangerous business to others. But they like prudent and loyal subjects slighting the Popes commands:) effecti sunt universi metu Regio vel favore, canes muti, non audentes latrare. Unde injunctum sibi officium exequi dissimulantes, in mandatis Apostolicis secundum juris ordinem minime processerunt. Ueruntamen sententia in hrevi facta omnibus notissima in viciis, plateis, necnon in aliis hominum conventiculis, confabulatione licet secretissima, omnium ora replevit. Inter quos cum die quadam federet apud Westmonasterium ad Scaccarium Gaufridus Archidiaconus Norwicensis, Regiis intendens negotiis, cepit secretius sermocinari cum sociis suis assidentibus de sententia in Regem lata, dicens, non esse tutum viciis beneficiatis in obsequio Regis excommunicati ulterius inimozari. Et his dictis, ad propria, non licentiatu recessit. Sed cum post paululum, ea quæ facta fuerunt, ad Regis notitiam pervenissent, non mediocriter perturbatus, misit Willielmum Talbot Militem cum Armata manu, qui ipsum Archidiaconum comprehensum, et vinculis asperimis constrictum sub Carcerali Custodia recluserunt, ubi post dies paucos Rege præfato jubente, * Capa indutus plumbea, tam victualium penuria, quam ipsius Capæ ponderositate compressus, migrabit ad Dominum. During this Interdict and Excommunication, Alexander Abbot of the Benedictines, vir corpore elegantissimus, facie venerabilis, literarum plenitudine imbutus, ita ut Parisiis celebris haberetur, Magister, et Lector in Theologia, (as (a) Matthew Westminster, (b) Thomas Sprou, (c) Baleus, and (d) others inform us) openly pleaded and fomented the Kings cause against the Pope, out of Ambition, write the Monks, but in truth out of true grounds of Conscience and Religion, as Matthew Paris his relation (though partial) discovers.

(e) Ingessit se hac Interdicti tempestate consiliis Regis Pseudotheologus, quidam Magister Alexander, dictus Cementarius, qui suis iniquis prædicationibus Regem non mediocriter ad crudelitatem commovit. Dixit enim illud generale flagellum Angliæ, non ex culpa Regis, sed ex subditorum flagitiis provenisse: Affirmabit etiam ipsum Regem virgam esse furoris Domini, et ad hoc principem constitutum, ut regat populos aliosque subditos in virga ferrea, & tanquam vas figuli confringat universos, ad alligandos potentes in compedibus, & nobiles suos manicis ferreis. Ad Papam quoque non pertinere de Regum, sive de quorumlibet potentum laica possessione, vel subditorum regimine, (*judicare) verisimilibus quibusdam probavit Argumentis: Cum præcipue principi Apostolorum Petro, nihil a Domino nisi Ecclesiæ tantam, ac rerum Ecclesiasticarum sit collata potestas. His igitur & his similibus fallaciis, Regis adeo favorem promeruit, ut plurima a viris Religiosis Beneficia per Regis violentiam, obtineret. Sed cum tandem ipsius perversitas ad summi Pontificis aures pervolasset, ipso Papa procurante, bonis ac Beneficiis omnibus spoliatus, ad tantam demum miseriam perductus est, ut in habitu pauperimo & cultu, necessitate compulsus sit panem suum cum dolore ostiatim mendicare. Quem videntes multi subfannando dicebant; Ecce homo, qui non posuit Dominum adiutorem suum dum speravit in multitudine divitiarum suarum, & prevaluit in vanitate sua. Fiat ergo nunc contra Dominum semper, & dispareat de terra memoria ejus, pro eo quod non est recordatus ut faceret misericordiam. Propterea Deus destruet eum in finem, & oratio ejus erit in peccatum, ut eradatur habitatio ejus de terra viventium. Sapientia imbutus & Regis conuictissimus, as Thomas Sprot describes him. (g) Balans 8 Centur. 3. in his life informes us, that he was Abbot of the Benedictines in Canterbury; and for Scriptorum his eminent Learning, sent by King John Anno 1206. with his solemn Messengers Brit. sect. 57. to Rome, Us cum magnis illis proceribus, super sceperi sui iure & auctoritate Regia in Anglorum Regno disceptaret: Quoniam Romani Pontifices, Tyrannide plu quam Pharaonica in Regnis Christianorum omnia confundebant, Regnum (ut fallurum esse Antichristum Paulus admonuit) super omne quod dicitur Deus usurpantes, Probabat igitur rationibus & scripturis coram Rabbis illis, Non esse in Regnis a Deo constitutis, potestate Regia Dominationem maiorem: Episcoporum vero nullum esse temporale Regimen dicebat, cum Christi Regnum de hoc mundo non sit. Allega vitque Gregorij magni dicta ad Augustinum monachum, de Anglorum Ecclesia ab omni seruitutis iugo immunitate, atque contra omnes in ea condictione prebalebat. He writ 3. Books against the Popes Usurpations and Power, viz. De Cessione Papali, De Ecclesia Potestate, De Potestate Vicaria, in defence of his Sovereign King John; for which his Loyalty he was afterwards by the Popes power deprived of all his Benefices, by Pandulphus the Popes Legat, (after King Johns surrender of his Crown) and thus enforced to beg his bread, when the Arch-traytors to the King were restored to their Bishopricks, with all the profits of them and damages sustained, during their banishment for their Treasons. Thus

This severity of the Pope against the Kings loyal Clerks and Champions, might justly excuse his severity against his disloyal perjured Bishops, Monks, and Traytors, especially against Hugh Bishop of Lincoln, to which Bishoprick he caused him to be elected, advanced, yet proved Treacherous to him.

Eodem tempore Hugo Lincolnensis electus, impetrata a Rege licentia ad partes transfretandi Gallicanas, ut ab Archiepiscopo Rothomagensi consecrationem acciperet, continuo ut Normanniam applicuit, contulit se ad Stephanum Archiepiscopum Canuariensem, & facta ei Canonica obedientia, Decimo tertio Kalendas Januarii, munus ab eo consecrationis accepit. Sed cum id a Rege compertum fuisset, suscepit in manu sua Episcopatum iam dictum: Atque omnia illius emolumenta in usus suos convertit. Waltero quoque de Gray sigillum suum tradens, Rex fecit eum Cancellarium suum, qui in omnibus regni Agendis, Regis studuit facere voluntatem.

What little regard or dread the Nobility of England then had of the Popes Interdict, or personal excommunication of King John, though they had general notice thereof, will appear by all their attendance on and communication with him at Windsor, during Christs Nativity: Of which Matthew Paris, and Matthew Westminster take special notice, and thus relate.

Anno Dominicæ Nativitatis Millesimo ducentesimo Decimo, Rex Johannes fuit ad Natale apud Windlethores, presentibus omnibus Angliæ Magnatibus, & communicantibus ei, non obstante sententiâ qua fuerat innodatus, quæ licet non publicata, omnium tamen partium Angliæ climata pervolavit, & aures subintravit. This they did for the most part out of loyalty, but others out of fear. Omnibus enim sese subtrahentibus Rex nocive infidebatur.

How injurious Pope Innocents Interdict and excommunications were against King John, may be evidenced by his excommunicating his Nephew Orho the Emperor, his confederate, just about the same time, with some others upon the like account, (Only for executing his coronation Oath, which this Pope himself had given him, in rescuing the Castles and Lands of the Empire out of his usurping Powers) thus impartially recorded by Mat: Paris, not impertinent to our English affairs.

Circa dies istos Orho Romanorum Imperator memor Sacramenti quod fecerat, cum a Papa ad Imperium fuerat sublimatus, quod videlicet dignitates Imperii conservaret, & iura dispersa pro possibilitate sua revocaret, fecit per Sacramentum legalium hominum imperii

Unde Imperator quia quod suum erat revocare studuit, ipsum Papam sine merito ad odium provocavit. Fredericum quoq; Regem Sicilia, idem Imperator graviter persequutus est, qui similiter dum vacaret imperium quasdam munitiones occupatas detinuit. Unde Papa memoratus ipsum Imperatorem per Nuncios, & literas frequenter admonere studuit; ut eum * a persecutione Romana Ecclesia, quam a Regis Sicilia ac tutela commissa sedi Apostolica exheredatione, cessaret. Imperator autem Nunciis domini Papæ tale perhibetur dedisse responsum; Si inquit summus Pontifex Imperii jura injuste possidere desiderat, a Sacramento quod tempore Consecrationis meæ ad dignitatem Imperialem me jurare compulsi, absolbat; quod videlicet dispersa Imperii jura revocarem. Denique cum Papa ipsum Imperatorem a præstito juramento, quod omnes Imperatores in sua consecratione, inspectis sacrosanctis Evangelis jurare tenentur, absolvere noluit, & Imperatore contra Imperii Jura, quæ jam parte maxima, in manu potenti revocaverat, reddere contempsit: idem Papa in ipsum Imperatorem, *sententiam excommunicationis tulit, atque Universos, tam Alemanniæ quam Imperii Romani Magnates, ab ejus fidelitate absolvit. Et hoc odium Regis Johannis, & iram efficaciter obduravit. This being just King Johns case, in relation to the Archbishoprick of Canterbury. And was he here in either the Vicar of Christ or St. Peters successor? or could the Devil himself, had he sat in his chair, have given a more unjust diabolical sentence in such a case as this, pronounced by a misnamed Innocent?

* Behold the Popes Justice.

* Excellent Papal Justice.

It is very observable what Glorious Victories, and admirable successes, without effusion of blood, both in Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, God gave to King John whiles under the Popes Interdict, curse, and excommunication, (as not offended with him) which the Monks his greatest enemies thus relate.

The Chronicle compiled by the School-master of St. Albans, in the last year of K. Henry the 4th. and then printed by him, reprinted by Winkyn de Worde 1502. by William Caxtons appointment, whose Title it bears, adds much to this relation, of a conference first between the King and exiled Bishops, and soon after between these Nuncios and the King, relating their insolent speeches and behaviour towards him, omitted by other Historians, ( transcribed in part by Mr. Fox ) which I shall here insert.

* These foure Byshops ( who Interdicted the Kingdom, and cursed all them that put or should meddle with holy Chirche goods, against the will of them that ought theym ) went over the Sea, and came to the Byshop of Canterbury, and told him all the thing. And the Archbyshop to them said, that they should goe againe to Canterbury, and hee should come thither to them, or else hee would send unto them certaine persons in his stead that should doe as much as if hee himselfe were there. And when the Byshops heard this, they turned againe into England, and came unto Canterbury: The tydings came to the King that the Byshops were come againe to Canterbury, and himselfe might not come thither that tyme, hee sent thither Byshops, Earles, and Abbots, for to treat with them, that the King should receive the Archbyshop Stephen, and the Priour, and all the Monkes of Canterbury, that hee should never after that tyme nothing take of holy Chirche against the will of them that oweth the goodes. And that the King should make full amends to them of whom hee had any good: taken. And the holy Church should have all Fraunchise as far forth as they had in Saint Edwards tyme the holy Confessor.

So when the fourme of accordment thus was ordeined, it was in a paire of Indentures, and they put their Seales to that one part, and they that came in the Kings name put their Seales to that other part of the Indentures. And foure Bishops a-boyesaid took the one part of the Indentures to them, and that other part of the Indentures they bare with them to shew to the King. When the King saw the fourme and understood, he held him full well appaid of all manner of things as they had ordeined, saving as touching restitution of the goods for to make agen. To that thing hee would not accord, and so hee sent word agen to the foure Bishops, that they should do out and put away that one poynt of restitution. * But they answered, That they would not doe one word out. Tho sent the King to the Archbyshop by the foure Bishops, that hee should come to Canterbury for to speake with him there, and sent unto him safe conduct under Pledges. That is to say, his Justices, Gilbert Peyreum, William de la Breuer, and John Fitz Hugh, that in their conduct safely hee should come and goe agen at his owne will: And thus in this manner the Archbyshop Stephen came to Canterbury. When the Archbyshop was come, the King came to Chilhez, for hee would no nighe Canterbury at that tyme. But hee sent by his Tresorer Bishop of Winchester, that hee should doe out of the Indentures the clause of restitution for to make of the goodes. And the Archbyshop made his * Oathe, that hee would not never doe out w word thereof, ne yet it change, of that the Bishops had spoken and ordeined. And tho the Archbyshop yede agen to Rome, without any more doing. King John was then * wrother then ever hee was before, and let make a common cry throughout all England, that all those that had holy Church Rents, and went over the Sea, that they should come againe into England at a certain day, or else they should lose their Rents for evermore. And that he commanded to every Sheriffe throughout all England, that they should enquire if any Bishop, Abbot or Priour, or any other Prelate of holy Church, fro that day afterwarde receive any Commandement that cometh from the Pope, that they should take the body and bring it before him, and that they should take into the Kings hands all their Lands of holy Church, that were gave to any man by the Archbyshop or by the Priour of Canterbury, from the tyme of the Election of the Archbyshop. And commanded that all the Wodes that were the Archbishops should be cast down unto the ground, and all fould. And in the same yeare the * Irishmen began to Warre upon King John, and the King ordeined him for to goe into Ireland, and lete arear an huge Tax throughout all England, that is for to say, Thirty Thousand Marks; And thus hee sent throughout all England unto the Monks of the Order of Cisteaux, that they should help him of Six Thousand Marke of Silver. And they answered and said, That they durst nothing doe without their chiefe Abbot of Cisteaux. Wherefore King John when hee came agen from Ireland, did them soe much sorrow and care, that they wist not whyder to abide, for hee took soe much raunsome of every house, and the summe amounted to Nine Thousand and Three Hundred Marke, soe that they were cleane lost and destroyed, and voyded their houses and their lords throughout all England. And the Abbot of Waverlay drade soe much his menace, that hee forooke all the Abby and went thence, and privily ordeined him over the See to the house of Cisteaux. When the tydings came to the Pope, that the King had done soe much malice, then hee was towards the King full wroth, and sent two Legates unto the King, that one was called Pandulfe, and that other Durham, that they should warne the King in the Popes name, that hee should cease of his Persecution that hee did unto holy Church, and amend the wrong and the trespasse that hee had done to the Archbyshop of Canterbury, and

And that hee should restore all the goodes agen that hee had taken of them agens their will, and else they should curse him by name. And to do this thing and to confirm the Pope toke them his Letters in Bulles Patents.

These two Legates came into England, and came to the King to Northampton, there that hee held his Parliamenr, and full courteously they him salwed, and said, Syr we come from the Pope of Rome, the peace of the holy Chirche, and the Lond to amend. And wee admonish you first in the Popes hall, that yee make full restitution of the goodes that yee have ravished and taken of holy Chirche, and of the Lond, and that yee receive Stephen Archbysshop of Canterbury into his Dignitie, and the Priour of Canterbury and his Monkes, and that yee yeld agen unto the Archbysshop all his Londs and Rents without any withhoulding. And Syr yet mozeover, That yee shall make restitution unto all holy Chirche, whereof they shall hould them well apaid.

Tho answered the King, as touching the Priour and his Monkes of Canterbury, all that yee have said I will doe gladly, and all things that yee will ordeine; But as touching the Archbysshop, I shall tell you in my hert as it lyes, That the Archbysshop leave his Archbysshoprick, and that the Pope then for him would pray, and then upon a venture mee should lyke some other Bysshoprick to give him in England: And upon this condition I will him accept and receive. And neverthelesse, as Archbysshop in England if hee abyde, hee shall never have soe good safe conduyte, but that hee shall be take.

Tho said Pandulph unto the King, Sir, holy Chirche was wont never to discharge an Archbysshop without cause reasonable: But it ever hath bene wont to chastize Princes, that to God and holy Chirche were disobedient. What how now said the King, menace yee mee? Nay said Pandulph, But yee now have openly tould, as it standeth in your heart.

And to you wee will tell what is the Popes will; And thus it standeth, that hee hath you wholly enterdyted and accursed for the wrongs that yee have done to holy Chirche, and to the Clergy. And forasmuch as yee dwell, and heth in will to abyde in malice and in wretchednesse, and will not come out thereof ne to amend, yee shall understand, that this time afterward the sentence is upon you geven, and houldeth stede and strength, and upon all tho that with you hath communed before this time, whether they bene Earles, Barons or Knights, or any other whatsoever that they be, wee them assoylle safely unto this day. And from this tyme afterward, of what condition soever they bene, wee them accurse, that with you comyne ony word, and doe wee sentence upon them openly and specially. And wee assoylle cleane Earles, Barons, Knights, and all other men of their homages, services and feauties, that they should unto you doe. And this tydyng to conferme, wee geve plaine power to the Bysshop of Winchester, and to the Bysshop of Norwich; And the same power wee geve into Scotland, to the Bysshops of Rochester and of Salisbury: And in Wales wee geve the same power to the Bysshop of Saint Davids, and of Landaff, and of Saint Asse; And mozeover wee sente thughout all Chyftendome, that all the Bysshops beyond the Sea, that they doe accurse all those that helpe you, or any Counsell giveth you in any manner nede that yee have to doe in any part of the World. with you for to fight, as with him that is Enemy to all holy Chirche. Tho answered the King, What may yee doe more to mee? Tho answered Pandulph, Wee say to you in the * word of God, that yee, ne no heyre that yee have never after this day may be Crowned. Tho said the King, By him that is Almighty God, and I had wist this ere that yee came into my Londe, that yee had brought mee such eydings, I should have made you ride all one year. Tho answered Pandulph, Full well wende wee at our first cominge, that yee would have beene obeyent to God, and holy Chirche, and have fulfilled the Popes Commandement; And now wee have shewed unto you, and pronounced the Popes will, as wee were charged therewith. And as now yee have said, that if yee had wist the cause of our coming, that yee would have dauid to ryde all an hoole yeare. And as well yee might have said, that yee would have taken an hoole yeare of respyte by the Popes leave. But for to suffer what dethe yee could ordeyne, wee shall not spare for to tell you hooly all the Popes Message, and his will that wee were charged with.

And anone tho commaunded the King, the Shyriffs, and Baylyffs of Northampton, that were in the Kings presence, that they should bring forth all the Prysoners, that they might bee done to death before Pandulph, for bycause the King wened that they would have gaynsaid their deeds for cause of the Dethe, all thing that they had spoken afore. When the Prysoners were come before the King, the King commaunded some to bee hanged, and some to bee drawne, and some to drawe out their Eyne out of their head. And among all other there was a Clerke that had falsfyde the Kings monye, and the King commaunded that hee should be hanged and drawed. And when Pandulph heard this Commandement of the King, hee sterke him upright quickly, and anone * axed a Booke and a Candle, and would have cursyd the King, and all them that would set upon the Clerke any hand; And Pandulph himselve went for to take a Crosse. And the King followed him and delivered him the Clerke by the hond, that hee should doe with him what hee would; and thus was the Clerke delivered, and went thens. And Pandulph and Duraunt his fellow, wente from the King, and came agone to the Pope of Rome, and tould him, that King Johan would not amended bee, but ever abode soe accursyd. And neverthelesse the Pope graunted that yeare throughout all England, that Priests might sing Masse in covenable Churches, and consecrate our Lords body, and give it to syck men which were likely to passe out of this World; and alsoe that men might Chrysten Children over all the Londe. And when the Pope wist and saw that the King would not be under the rule of holy Chirche for no manner thing, the Pope then sente to the King of Fraunce in remission of his synnes, that hee should take with him all the power that he might, and goe into England for to destroy the King John. Thus far this Chronicle.

Can any Christian or Loyal Subject, though the most passionate Votary to the Church of Rome, read these proceedings without the highest detestation and abomination of them, as diametrically repugnant to the practise and precepts of Christ, of St. Peter, all the Apostles, and to the principles of Christian Religion? or at least not acknowledge with * Parsons the Jesuit, (no friend to our Kings or Monarchy) That many godly wise men at that time did wish, that Pope Innocent had not stood so hard with King John in such a point as this was, for contenting him with a person gratefull to him in that See: The dismal effects whereof both to the King and Kingdom, Lords and Commons, Bishops and Clergy themselves, being most gastly, rufull, execrable to all godly sober minded Christians, and moral Heathens.

But to return to Matthew Paris his relation of some of these proceedings.

Eodem Anno (1211.) Innocentius Papa cum Rex Anglorum Johannes, Nunciis ejus sibi monita prædicantibus salubria, acquiescere contempsisset, multimodam ipsius contumaciam supra modum admirans, (instead of ordering and reforming his own) Reges et alios omnes tam pauperes, quam potentes ad Coronam Angliæ

Angliæ Spectantes, a Regis fidelitate et subiectione absolvit, discriete et sub pœna excommunicationis prohibens universis et singulis quatinus ipsum, in mensa, consilio, et colloquio arctius evitarent, (which few or none submitted to.) Habuit autem Rex hac Interdicti tempestate consiliarios * iniquissimos, (or fautores & consiliarios præcipuos in hoc errore & pertinacia, so Matthew Westminster) quorum nomina pro parte hic ponere non omitam. Willielmus quoque frater Regis, & Comes Sariseniensis, Albericus de Veer, Comes Oxonienfis, Gaufridus filius Petri, Anglia Justitiarius, Tres Episcopi Curiales, Philippus Dunelmensis, Petrus Wintoniensis, et Johannes Norwicensis, Richardus de Marisco, Regis Cancellarius, Hugo de Nevilla, Proto-torretarius, Willielmus de Wotham, Custos Portuum Maris, Roberius de Veteri Ponte, & Two frater ejus, Brianus de Insula, & Gaufridus de Luci, Hugo de Bailul, & Bernardus frater ejus, Willielmus de Cantelu, & Willielmus filius ejus, Fulco de Cantelu, & Riginaldus de Cornhelle, Vicecomes Kancia, Roberius de Braibroc, & Henricus filius ejus, Philippus de Uletores, & Johannes de Bassingburne, Philippus Marci, Castellanus de Nottingham, Petrus de Maulei, & Roberius de Gangi, Gerardus de Aric, & Ingelardus nepos ejus, Falco & Willielmus Brivere, Petrus filius Hereberti, & Thomas Bassit, & alii multi quos longum esset enumerare, qui Regi in omnibus placere cupientes, consilium non pro ratione, sed pro voluntate (or impetu voluntatis perniciosum, as Matthew Westminster) dederunt. Thus the defaming pencils of every Monk did brand those faithfull Counsellors and Subjects then adhering to the King, against the Usurping Pope, Trayterous Bishops, and their Brother Monks of Cancerbury.

When this Antichristian absolution of the Nobles and all other Subjects from the Kings allegiance would not shake his most magnanimous resolution, nor his peoples Loyalty, the Popes Legates, and Popish Prelates forged new deviles to effect their designs by fraud and terror, to which purpose they procured sundry Letters from severall quarters to be brought to him, whiles he sat at dinner at Nottingham, intending to invade and extirpate the Welshmen with a formidable Army, (whom they had stirred up to Rebell against him, and invade England) to divert him from his design, all to this effect, That there was a secret Plot laid to betray and destroy him: which he causing to be read to him after dinner, he adhuc spretis his comminationibus, marched to Chester, where he met with new Letters to the like effect, which caused him to dismisse his Army and design against the Welshmen.

Iterum venerunt ad eum nuncii & literæ, quod videlicet Rex, si bellum aggrediretur inceptum, aut a suis magnatibus perimeretur, aut hostibus ad perdendum traderetur. Rex autem cum talia audisset, perturbatus est valde, & animo consternatus, atque cum intellexisset Magnates Angliæ, a suo esse fidelitate absolutos, majorem literis sibi destinatis fidem adhibuit. Unde propositum utiliter commutans, jussit omnem exercitum ad propria remeare, veniensque ad Urbem Londoniarum, misit nuncios ad magnates universos, sibi de fidelitate suspectos, exigens obsides ab eis, ut probaret qui vellent & qui nollent, ejus obtemperare præceptis. Illi vero Regis jussoribus resistere non audentes, remiservnt Filios, Nepotes, & Cognatos suos, ad libitum Regis Et sic indignatio ejus aliquantulum conquievit. Veruntamen Eustachius de Vescei, & Robertus filius Walteri, de prodicione memorata accusati & Regi nimis suspecti, recesserunt ab Angliæ, Eustachius videlicet in Scotiam, & Robertus ad Gallias divertentes.

Besides, the Prelates and Priests suborned and set up one Peter an Hermit, a Anno 1212. counterfeit Prophet, to terrifie the King, and alienate the peoples hearts from him by his false Prophecies, thus reported by Matthew Paris and others.

SUB hiis quoque diebus, erat in provincia Eboracensi, Heremita quidam Petrus nomine, qui eo quod multis futura multa prædixerat, sapiens dicebatur. Hic inter alia quæ spiritu cunctis astantibus, & audire volentibus, illud prædicando publice asseribat, quod non foret Rex in die Dominicæ Ascensionis proximo sequentis nec deinceps, sed die illa coronam Angliæ, ad alium transferri prædixit. & ipso jubente, ad ejus presentiam adductus fuisset: Quæsit ab eo Rex, si die illo esset moriturus, vel quo ordine a regni solio privaretur? Qui respondit: Noveritis certissime, quod die prædicta Rex non eris. Et si de mendacio convictus fueris, de me quod placueris facias. Cui Rex, fiat, inquit, secundum verbum tuum. Tunc Rex tradidit illum Willielmo de Harecurt custodiendum, quem idem Willielmus, Custodibus & Arctioribus vinculis constrictum, apud Corruum incarcerationis, donec probaret quem exitum res haberet. Quod verbum in brevi per remotas provincias ita disseminatum est, quod fere omnes, qui hoc audierunt, dictis ejus adeo fidem adhibuerunt, ac si assertio illius de Caeso fuisset.

Popes Interdict.

* Mr. Fox, and some other Historians observe, that this false counterfeit Prophet, set up by the Prelates and Priests, called Peter Wakefeild of Poiz, was an idle gadder about, and a prattling Merchant: This Peter they made to Prophecy lyes, rumouring his Prophecies abroad, to bring the King out of all credit with his people. They noised it daily amongst the Commons of the Realm, that Christ had twice appeared to this Prophet of theirs in shape of a Child between the Priests hands, once at York, another time at Pomfret, and that he had breathed on him thrice, saying, Peace, Peace, Peace, and teaching many things which hee anon after declared to the Bishops, and bid the people amend their naughty living. Being rapt also in spirit, they said, hee beheld the Joyes of Heaven, and sorrowes of Hell. * For scant were there three (saith the Chronicle) among a thousand that lived Christianly. This counterfeit soothfayer prophesied of King John, that he should raigne no longer then the Ascension day, within the yeare of our Lord 1213. which was the 14th. from his Coronation, and this (hee said) hee had by Revelation. Then was it of him demanded, whether hee should, be slaine or expelled, or should of himself give over the Crown? He answered, hee could not tell, but of this he was sure (he said) that neither hee, nor any of his Stock or Linage should raigne, that day once finished. The King hearing of this laughed much at it, and made but a scoffe thereof: Tush (saith hee) it is but an Ideot Knave, and such a one as lacketh his right wits; "But when this foolish Prophet had so escaped the danger of the Kings displeasure, and that he made no more of it, he got him abroad and prated thereof at large" (as hee was a very idle vagabond) and used to tattle, and talk more then enough: so that they which loved the King caused him anon after to be apprehended as a Malefactor, and to be thrown into prison, the King not knowing thereof. Anon after, the fame of this phantastical Prophet went all the Realme over, and his name was known every where (as foolishnesse is much regarded of people where Wisdome is not in place) specially because hee was then imprisoned for the matter, the rumor was the larger; their wanderings were the wantoner, their practising the foolishher, their busie talks and other idle occupys the greater, continually from thence (as the rude manner of people is) old Gossips tales went abroad, new tales were invented, Fables were added to Fables, and lies grew upon lies: so that every day new slanders were raised on the King, and not one of them true; Rumors arose, blasphemies were spread, the enemies rejoiced, And treasons by the Priests were maintained, and what likewise was surmised, or other subtilty practised, all then was Fathered upon this foolish Prophet: As Thus saith Peter Wakefeild, thus hath he Prophecied, and this shall come to passe, yea many times when hee thought nothing lesse. When the Ascension day was come which was Prophecied of before, King John Commanded his Regall Tent to be spread abroad in the open field, passing that day with his Noble Council, and men of Honour, in the greatest solemnity that ever hee did afore, solacing himself with Muscicall instruments and songs, most in sight amongst his trusty friends. When that day was past in all prosperity and mirth, his enemies being confounded, turned all to an Allegorical understanding, to make the Prophecy good, and said He is no longer King, for the Pope raigneth, and not hee, yet hee raigned still and his son after him to proove that Prophet a lyer. Then was the King by his Council perswaded that this false Prophet had troubled all the Realm, perverted the hearts of the people, and raised the Commons against him. For his words went over the Sea by the help of his Prelates, and came to the French Kings ear, and gave unto him a great encouragement to invade the Land, he had not not else done it so suddenly. But hee was most foully deceived; as all they are and shall bee, that put their trust in such Dark drowsie dreams of Hypocrites. The King therefore commanded that he should be drawn, and hanged like a Traitor.

When these false Prophecies would not work the King to comply with their ends; the Pope, at the Bishops petition, having proceeded to the utmost extremity, judicially to depose him, and to give his Crown to his enemy the King of France, commanded him with force of armes to seise upon his Kingdom, exciting all Souldiers and Warriors in divers Nations to take up armes against him, under the self same Indulgences as those that visited the Holy land, and fought against the Saracens in which Treasonable proceedings his English Bishops were employed as principal actors, thus related by Matthew Paris.

Circa hos denique dies, Maugerius Bishop of Worcester one of the Rebellious Bishops dying in exile at Pontinnac (ob libertatem Ecclesie Anglicane, & executionem Iustitia write our malicious partial Monks,) Stephanus Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, Willielmus Londinensis, & Elias Eliensis Episcopi Romani profecti, innuerunt Domino Papa multimodas rebelliones, & enormitates quas fecerat Rex Anglorum Iohannes (they should rather have remembered and repeated of their own manifold Treasons, and Rebellions against their King) a tempore interdicti usque in presentem diem: maris sibi et crudelitatis contra Dominum sanctum, Ecclesiam insatigabiliter aggravando. Unde humiliter Dominum Papam supplicabant ut Anglicanæ Ecclesie iam quasi in extremis laboranti dignaretur pie miserationis intuitu subvenire. Tunc Papa gravi maxore propter desolationem regni Anglie confectus, de consilio Cardinalium, Episcoporum, et aliarum virorum prudentium, sententialiter definivit, ut Rex Anglorum Iohannes a solio regni deponeretur, et alius Papa procurante, succederet, qui dignior haberetur. Ad huius quoque sententie executionem scripsit Dominus Papa potentissimo Regi Francorum Phelippo, quatenus in remissionem omnium suorum peccaminum, hunc laborem assumeret, ut Rege Anglorum a solio Regni expulso, ipse et successores sui regnum Anglie jure perpetuo possiderent. Scripsit insuper omnibus Magnatibus, militibus, aliisque bellatoribus per diversas nationes constitutis, ut ad Regis Anglorum defectionem sese cruce signarent, Regemque Francorum in hac expeditione ducem sequentes, vindicare injuriam Universalis Ecclesie laborarent. Statuit preterea ut quicumque ad expugnandum Regem illum contumacem opus impenderint vel auxilium, sicut illi qui sepulchrum Domini visitant, tam in rebus, quam in personis, et animarum suffragiis in pace Ecclesie securi permaneant. His ita gestis, misit Dominus Papa a latere suo Pandulphum subdiaconum ad partes Gallicanas, cum Archiepiscopo & Episcopis supradictis, ut in ipsius presentia, ea quæ superius digesta sunt, exequatur. Sed Pandulphus a Papa recedens, remotis omnibus secretissima allocutione sciscitatus est, (of purpose to overreach and trepan both the Kings of England and France, and work his own designs on both) si forte in Rege Anglorum fructum penitentia inveniret ita quod vellet satisfacere Domino, & Ecclesie Romana, atque aliis omnibus illud negotium spectantibus, quid sibi inde fieri placeret? Tunc Papa Pandolpho quandam pacis formam evidenter expressit, cui si Rex assentire decreverit, apud sedem Apostolicam poterit gratiam invenire. Hæc autem pacis forma inferius descripta continetur. Per idem tempus Rex capi fecit Galfridum de Norwic clericum suum fidelem, prudentem, & elegantem, & in Castro de Nottingham pæna excogitata usque mortem torqueri. Quod videns Magister Willielmus de Neccota socius dicti Galfridi, vir non minoris valoris, fugit in Franciam, & apud Curbolium diu latitavit, ne sicut Galfridum immerito necaretur.

These Clerks then secretly confederated with the Bishops to depose the King; who to secure himself against their confederates by special Writs (issued to all the Sheriffs of England, remaining on Record though not printed in our Historians) banished all those out of the Realm, who had received any Churches, or Rents from the Archbishops or Bishops of England, or Priour of Canterbury then beyond the Seas, who deprived of him his Crown, and to seise their Churches and rents to his use, and return them into his Exchequer.

The next year, Anno Domini Millesimo Ducentesimo Decimo tertio Mense Januario, redierunt a Curia Romana Stephanus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, Willielmus Londonensis, & Elyensis Episcopi, & habito in paribus transmarinis Concilio, Regi Francorum, & Episcopis Gallicanis cum Clero pariter & populo, sententiam, quæ in Regem Anglorum Romæ pro Contumacia lata fuerat, solenniter promulgarunt. Deinde ex parte Domini Papæ, tam Regi Francorum, quam ceteris universis in remissionem suorum peccaminum injunxerunt, ut omnes pariter ad Angliam hostiliter accedentes, Johannem Regem a Regni solio deponerent, et alium qui dignus esset auctoritate Apostolica subrogarent. Tunc Rex Francorum rem diu desideratam intelligens, accinxit se ad pugnam, atque omnes suæ ditionis homines, Duces videlicet, Comites et Barones, Milites et servientes, cum equis et Armis iussit in Octavis Paschæ, sub nomine Culvertagii apud Rothomagum, ita potenter convenire, ne crimine læsæ Majestatis damnum exheredationis incurrere viderentur, vulgariter sub nomine Felonis. Fecit præterea omnes naves suæ potestatis, & alias multas quas colligere poterat frumento, vino, carne & diversis armamentis optime munire, ut in omnium copiam rerum tam numerosus exercitus abundaret. Tunc temporis quoque Rex vulpina calliditate ab omnibus Religiosorum domibus ad excusandum excusationes in peccatis, chartas exegit, quibus testarentur se gratis contulisse, quacunq; ab eis violenter extorsit. Upon those great Preparations of the French against England.

REX Anglorum Johannes, de omnibus quæ in transmarinis partibus agebantur, per exploratores edoctus, cogitavit qualiter callide insidiis sibi paratis resistere potuisset. Fecit itaque mense Martio idem Rex inbreviare omnes Naves de universis portibus totius Angliæ per hoc Breve, quod singulis portuum Ballivis in hæc verba direxit.

Johannes Rex Angliæ, &c. Precipimus tibi quatenus statim visis literis istis, eas in propria persona, una cum Ballivo portuum ad singulos Portus de Balliva tua, & facias diligenter inbreviare omnes naves ibi inventas, quæ possunt ferre sex equos, vel plures, & præcipias ex parte nostra magistris omnium navium illarum, & illis quorum naves sunt; quod sicut se, & Naves suas, & omnia sua diligunt habeant illas apud Portesm in media Quadragesima, bene adornatas bonis & probis Marinellis & bene armatis, qui ituri sunt in servitium nostrum ad liberationes nostras; & tunc habeas ibi memoriter & distincte inbrevium quot naves in singulis portibus inventis, & quorum ipsæ sint, & quot equos qualibet ferre possit. Et tunc facias nobis scire quot & quæ naves non fuerint in portibus suis die dominica proxima post cineres sicut preceperamus, & habeas hoc breve. Teste meipso apud Novum Templum, tertia die Martii.

His

Johannes Rex Anglia, &c. Summone per bonos summonitores Comites, Barons, Milites, & omnes liberos homines & servientes vel quicunque sint, & de quocunque teneant, qui arma habere debeant, vel arma habere possint; & qui homagium nobis vel ligantiam fecerunt, quod sicut nos, & seipsos & omnia sua diligunt, sint apud Doveram ad instans clausum Pascha, bene parati cum equis & armis, & cum toto posse suo, ad defendendum caput nostrum, et capita sua, et terram Angliæ, et quod nullus remaneat, qui arma portare possit, sub nomine * Culvertagii et perpetuæ servitutis. Et unusquisque sequatur Dominum suum, & qui terram non habent, & arma habere possint, illuc veniant ad capiendum soliditas nostras: Et tu omnem attractum victualium, & omnia mercata Ballivarum tuarum venire facias, ut sequantur exercitum nostrum, ita quod nullum mercatum de Ballivis tuis alibi teneatur, & tu ipse tunc sis ibi cum pradiis summotionibus. Et scias quod scire volumus quomodo venerint de Ballivis tuis, & qui venerint & qui non. Et videmus quod tu ita effortate venias cum equis & armis, & hoc ita exequaris ne inde ad corpus tuum nos capere debeamus. Et tu inde habeas rotulum tuum ad nos certificandum qui remanserint.

His ergo literis per Angliam divulgatis conveniunt ad maritima in locis diversis & Regi magis suspectis, videlicet apud Doveram, Ferverham, & Gipewicum, homines diversæ conditionis & ætatis, nihil magis quam opprobrium Culvertagii motuentes. Sed cum post dies paucos tantæ multitudinis victus defuisset, remiserunt ad propria Principes Militie ex inermi vulgo multitudinem copiosam, milites solummodo, servientes & liberos homines cum Balistariis & sagitariis juxta maritimam retinentes. Venit præterea de Hibernia Johannes Episcopus Norwicensis, cum militibus quingentis & equitibus multis ad Regem, & ab ipso gratanter susceptus est. Omnibus igitur congregatis ad pugnam, æstimati sunt in exercitu apud Barham donam inter milites electos, & servientes strenuos & bene armatos, sexaginta millia virorum fortium, quibus si erga Regem Angliæ et defensionem Patriæ cor fuisset et anima una, non fuisset Princeps sub Cælo, contra quem regnum Angliæ se non defenderet. Constituit præterea Rex cum adversariis, navale prælium conferre, ut eos pelago submergeret antequam terram occuparent. Habebat namque cladem ubertorem quam Rex Francorum, unde maximam securitatem concepit hostibus resistendi.

What King John in point of prudence, Policy, Valour, Warre, Justice, Conscience, could have done more then he did to protect and defend the invaded Rights of his Crown, Kingdom, people, Church of England against the manifold unparalleld Treasons, Policies, Stratagems, Usurpations, affronts, unjust demands, Interdict, excommunication, dijudication from his Crown and Kingdoms, and intended invasions of this insolent Pope and his Agents, his own perjured Trayterous Bishops, Monks, Clergy, and their domestick confederats; his French and other forraign enemies, with admirable courage, gallantry, prudence, success, for 8. years space together, transcends my understanding to define, the times and circumstances duly considered, for which he really deserved more honour, thanks from the Crown, Church, Realm and people of England, then all of his predecessors, had he still persevered in his former unshaken magnanimous Resolutions, and not been decoyed by Pandulphus; must strangely to fail in his last actings, his Army and Navy then raised, through Gods assistance being able to have encountered all the forces raised against him, and dissipated them like a mist before the Sun.

BOOK III. CHAP. II.

Of King Johns most unworthy prostitution not only of the undoubted Rights and Privileges of his Crown, but of Himself, his Diadem, Kingdoms of England and Ireland, after so many years glorious Contests, to the Tyrannical Usurpations of Pope Innocent, and his own Trayterous Bishops and Clergy : Of his resignation of his Crown and Kingdoms by two several Charters, to the Pope and his Successors, and resuming of them as their Feudatory under an Annual Rent : His Oath of Homage and Fealty to the Pope : The Validity of these Charters, Rents, and their payment debated ; The present, subsequent Oppositions against them : His Oppositions to the Encroachments of his Treacherous, Rebellious Bishops and Clergy, who dealt most Treacherously with, and stirred up the Barons Wars, Rebellions against him, when they had enforced him to resign his Crown, and protested against his Vnkingly actions, when accomplished by their own procurement and designs : With other memorable particulars and Records relating to these Transactions ; and this Kings Charters, proceedings in Ecclesiastical Elections, Affairs, as Supream Patron therein, within his own Dominions.

HAVING presented you with King Johns most heroick, vigilant, strenuous defence of his supream Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction over all persons, causes, within his Realms and Dominions for 14. years space ; I shall in the next place inform you, by what arts, menaces, fears, terrours he was at last ( by the intoxications of the Pope, and his Legate Pandulphus, when he had raised such a puissant Army as might have secured him against all Foreign Invaders, (a) a small part of his Navy burning and sinking all the French Kings Fleet in Flanders, soon after the surrender of his Crown ) suddenly emasculated, and totally metamorphosed into a quite contrary person, resolution, and induced not only to part with most of the antient Ecclesiastical Prerogatives united to his Crown, but with his very Crown, Kingdoms themselves, which he resigned to the Pope, becoming his sworn Vassal, Tenant for his own Kingdoms, under an annual rent, which rendred him a scorn, derision to his Bishops, Barons, Subjects, and all other Christian Kings ; with the Arguments and Policies by which the Pope and his Legates effected these their unjust designs.

You heard in the precedent Chapter what a puissant Army and Navy King John had provided to resist the Invasions of the French King and all his Confederates, who conspired to deprive him of his Crown, Kingdoms ; and what secret Agreements, Articles, Instructions the Pope had given to Pandulphus to communicate to K. John, whereby he might purchase his peace at Rome, if condescended to by him, without any hesitation. I shall now proceed to inform you out of Matthew Paris, how Pandulphus proceeded to accomplish the Popes designs, and decoy King John to submit to his most unworthy Proposals.

O Rex potentissimus, ex parte Pandulphi subdiaconi ac Domini Papæ familiaris, qui pro utilitate vestra, & Regni vestri, vobiscum petit habere colloquium: proponit enim quandam tibi pacis formam, qua poteris Deo & Ecclesiæ reconciliari: licet in Curia Romana à jure Regni Angliæ abjudicatus fueris, & sententialiter condemnatus. Rex vero cum Templariorum verba intellexisset, misit Templarios memoratos propter Pandulphum quantocius transfretare. Venit ergo Pandulphus, (ut dictum est) invitatus ad Regem, & apud Doveram, cum ipso loquutus est, dicens: Ecce Rex Francorum potentissimus in Ostio Sequanæ fluminis cum innumera navium multitudine & maximo militem, equitum, peditumque stipatus agmine ad hoc expectat, ut majoribus adhuc vallatus catervis, super vos & Regnum vestrum hostiliter veniat, & quasi Domino & summo Pontifici rebellem, a Regno te violenter depellat, atque autoritate sedis Apostolicæ Regnum Angliæ perpetuo jure possideat. Veniunt & cum illo omnes Episcopi dudum ab Angliâ proscripti, cum Clericis & Laicis exultantibus: ut ipso duce sedes Episcopales, cum rebus aliis, te invito recipiant, & obsequium vobis olim & antecessoribus vestris exhibitum, ipsi de cætero reverenter impendant. Jactat se præterea idem Rex Chartas habere omnium fere Angliæ Magnatum de fidelitate & subjectione, unde plenam concepit securitatem ad finem optimum rem perducere inchoatam. Consule ergo saltem nunc quasi in extremis agens, utilitati tue, ut ad penitentiam redeas, & Dominum quem contra te ad vindictam provocasti gravissimam placore ne differas, si enim sufficientem volueris præstare cautionem, judicio Ecclesiæ parendi, & humiliari pro ipso, qui se pro te humiliavit, poteris ex Clementia sedis Apostolicæ Regnum recuperare, a quo pro contumacia Romæ abjudicatus fuisti. Nunc autem ne supergaudeant de te inimici tui, revertere ad cor tuum, cavens ne te in talem difficultatem inducas, de qua te volens expedire non valeas.

Rex denique Johannes his auditis ac medullitus intellectis, confusus est valde, & mente nimis perturbatus, videns undique sibi periculum imminere. Erant enim quatuor causæ principales quæ ipsum ad penitentiam simul ad satisfactionem compulerunt. Prima, Quod iam per quinquennium excommunicatus permaneras. Deumque & Sanctam Ecclesiam in tantum offenderas, quod de salute animæ penitus desperabas. Secunda, Quod Regis Francorum adventum metuebas, qui circa maris littora cum innumera Armatarum copia expectans, insidias suæ dejectionis parabat. Tertia, Quod si forte cum hostibus supervenientibus belli certamen iniret, Verebatur ne a Magnatibus Angliæ, & propria gente, solus in Campis relinqueretur, aut inimicis ad perdendum traderetur. Quartam, Verò causam aliis plus omnibus timebat: Instabat enim dies Dominica Ascensionis, in qua juxta Prophetiam, P. Heremite, de quo superius relatum est, cum ipsa vita Regnum, tam temporale quam æternum amittere vergebatur. His autem & consimilibus causis in desperationem dilapsus, persuasionibus Pandulphi & quievit, & subscriptam pacis formam non sine dolore concessit. Juravit ergo Rex, tacitis Sacrosanctis Evangelii in præsentia Pandulphi, se judicio Ecclesiæ pariturum, & sexdecim cum eo Comites & Barones ex potentioribus Regni in animam ipsius Regis, Quod si forte facti panisteret eum pro possibilitate ad satisfactionem compellerent.

Hereupon this perplexed King, intoxicated by Pandulphus, entertained the most dishonourable terms of Peace that ever were formerly proposed to him.

Convenerunt apud Doveram, decima tertia die Maii, videlicet die Lunæ proxima ante Ascensionem Domini, Rex & Pandulphus, cum Comitibus, Baronibus, & turba multa nimis, ubi in subscriptam pacis formam unanimiter consenserunt.

JOHANNES Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, Omnibus præsentibus Literas suspecturis, salutem. Per hæc Patentes Literas, sigillo nostro munitas, volumus esse notum, quod nobis præsentibus, hi quatuor Barones nostri, Willielmus scilicet Comes Sarisbury, frater noster, & Reginaldus Comes Bovonie, Willielmus Comes Warennæ, & Willielmus Comes de Ferrariis, juraverunt in animam nostram, quod nos subscriptam pacis formam, bona fide per omnia curabimus observare. In primis itaque solemniter absolute juravimus stare mandatis Domini Papæ, coram ejus Legato & Nuncio, super omnibus pro quibus excommunicati sumus, ab ipso & veram pacem, & plenam securitatem præstabimus venerabilibus viris Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, *W. de Vesci, necnon & ceteris Clericis & Laicis ad hoc negotium contingentibus, praestando simul coram eodem Legato vel Delegato publice juramentum, quod ipsi cum suis nec laedemus, nec laedi faciemus, vel permittemus in personis vel rebus; illisque dimittimus omnem indignationem, & in gratiam nostram eosdem recipiemus, ac tenebimus bona fide; quodque praefatos Archiepiscopum et Episcopos non impediemus, nec faciemus nec permittemus aliquatenus impediri, quo minus ipsi libere suum exequantur officium et plena Jurisdictionis suae auctoritate, prout debent utantur. Et super his tam Domino Papae, quam ipsi Archiepiscopo, & singulis Episcopis nostras Patentes Literas exhibebimus, facientes ab Episcopis, & Comitibus, & Baronibus nostris, quot & quos praefati Archiepiscopus & Episcopi postulant juramenta, & eorum Patentes Literas exhiberi, quod ipsi bona fide studebunt, ut haec pax & securitas firmiter observetur. Et si forte, quod Deus avertat, per nos ipsos, vel alios contra venerimus, ipsi pro Ecclesia contra violatores pacis & securitatis, mandatis Apostolicis inhærebunt, nosque perpetuo vacantium Ecclesiarum custodias amittamus. Quod si forte nequiverimus ad hanc ultimam partem juramenti eos inducere, videlicet, quod si per nosmetipsos, vel alios contra venerimus, ipsi pro Ecclesia contra violatores pacis & securitatis, mandatis Apostolicis inhærebunt. Nos propter hoc Domino Papae ac Ecclesiae Romanae per nostras Patentes Literas, obligavimus omne jus Patronatus, quod habemus in Ecclesiis Anglicanis. Et sic omnes Literas quae pro securitate praedictorum sunt exhibendae, praetatis Archiepiscopo & Episcopis ante suum ingressum in Angliam transmittemus. Si vero nobis placuerit, saepe fatus Archiepiscopus & Episcopi praestabunt, salvo honore Dei & Ecclesiae, juratoriam cautionem, & literatoriam, quod ipsi nec per se, nec per alium contra personam nostram vel Coronam nostram aliquid attentabunt, nobis praedictam eis pacem & securitatem servantibus illibatam. De Ablatis autem plenam restitutionem, & de damnis recompensationem sufficientem omnibus impendemus, tam Clericis quam Laicis ad hoc negotium pertinentibus, non solum rerum, sed omnium libertatum & restitutas conservabimus libertates. Archiepiscopo quidem, & Episcopo Lincolnensi a tempore sua consecrationis, aliis autem a tempore discordia inchoata. Nec obstat aliqua pactio, vel promissio, seu concessio quo minus & damna recompensentur & restituantur ablata tam vivorum, quam & defunctorum. Nec aliquid retinebimus pretextu servitii, quod nobis debuerat impendi, sed postea nobis debita pro servitio recompensatio tribuetur. Statimque omnes quos detinemus Clericos, faciemus absolutos dimitti, ac restitui propria libertati, cum Laicis qui huius occasione negotii detinentur. Incontinenti quoque post adventum illius qui nos debet absolvere, faciemus de parte restitutionis ablatorum octo Millia librarum legalium Esterlingorum pro solvendis debitis, & faciendis expensis Nunciis praedictorum Archiepiscoporum, & Episcoporum, & Monachorum Cantuariensium assignari, sine impedimento quolibet per potestatem nostram, ad eos libere deferendum ut expediat veniant in Angliam honorifice revocati, videlicet Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, duo Millia & Quingentas Libras. W. Londinensi septingentas & quinquaginta Libras. J. Bathoniensi septingentas & quinquaginta Libras. H. Lincolnensi septingentas & quinquaginta Libras. Priori & Monachis Cantuariensibus Mille Libras, & protinus postquam pacem illam duxerimus acceptandam, assignari faciemus absque mora Archiepiscopo & Episcopis Clericis ac Ecclesiis universis, in manibus nunciorum, vel procuratorum ipsorum, mobilia omnia cum administratione libera eorundem, & in pace dimitti. Interdictum vero utlagatio vulgariter nuncupatum, quod proponi fecimus contra Ecclesiasticas personas, publice revocabimus, protestando per nostras Patentes Literas Archiepiscopo tribuendas, id ad nos nullatenus pertinere, quod illud de cetero contra Ecclesiasticas personas nullatenus faciemus proponi: revocantes praeterea utlagationem Laicorum ad hoc negotium pertinentium, & remittentes omnia quae post Interdictum recepimus ab hominibus Ecclesiasticis praeter Regni consuetudinem & Ecclesiae libertatem. Si vero super damnis vel ablatis aut eorum quantitate vel aestimatione, quaestio fuerit de falso suborta, per Legatum vel delegatum Domini Papae, receptis probationibus terminetur. Et his omnibus rite peractis, relaxabitur sententia Interdicti, (not before.) Super ceteris autem capitulis, si quae fuerint dubitationes subortae, de quibus merito debeat dubitari, nisi per Legatum vel delegatum Domini Papae, de partium fuerint voluntate sopitae, ad ipsius referantur arbitrium, ut super his quae ipse decreverit observentur. Nota.

Rebus ut jam dictum est, expeditis, conveniunt iterum Rex Anglorum, & Pandulphus, cum Proceribus Regni, apud domum Milium Templi, juxta Doveram, decimo quinto quinto die Maii, in vigilia scilicet Dominicæ Ascensionis, ubi idem Rex, iuxta quod Romæ fuerat sententiatum resignavit Coronam suam, cum Regnis Angliæ et Hiberniæ, in manus Domini Papæ, cuius tunc vices gerebat Pandulphus memoratus.

The School-master of (a) St. Albans, William Caxton, (b) Speel, and other of our Chronologers, relate the forme and manner of the resignation of his Crowne to be thus.

Thence put the King him to the Court of Rome; and thence gaue hee up the Reame of Englonde and of Irelande for him and for his Heyres for evermore that should come after him, soe that King John and his Heyres should take the two Reames of the Popes hands, and should every yeare pay ferme unto the Court of Rome a Thousand Marke of Silver. And tho took the King the Crowne off his head, and set it upon Pandulphus his knees, (at whose feet he also laid his Scepter, Robe, Sword, and Ring, his Royall enignes, as (c) John de Serres relates) and these words said hee in hearing of all the great Lords of Englonde.

Here I resigne up the Crowne and the Realme of Englonde, into the Pope Innocentius his hands the third, and put mee hooly in his Mercy, and in his Ordinance.

Tho received Pandulph the Crowne of King John, and kept it five dayes as foze leasing, takyng off two Reames of Englonde, and of Irelande; And confermed all manner of thing by his Chartre that followeth after. There recited in English, in Mr. Fox his Acts and Monuments; but I shall present you with it as recorded by Matthew Paris, (if there were two successive Charters made, as he and others relate.)

Charta itaque Regis in scriptum, ut dictum est redacta, tradidit eam Rex Pandulpho Romam Papæ Innocentio deferendam, & continuo cunctis videntibus homagium fecit subscriptum. Ego Johannes Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, et Dominus Hybernæ, ab hac hora et in antea fidelis ero Deo et Beato Petro, et Ecclesiæ Romanæ, et Domino meo Papæ Domino Innocentio ejusque successoribus Catholice intransibus. Non ero in facto, in dicto, consensu vel consilio ut vitam perdant vel membra, vel mala captione capiantur. Eorum damnum si scivero impediam, et remanere faciam si potero, alioquin eis quam citius potero intimabo, vel tali personæ dicam, quam eis credam pro certo dicturam. Consilium quod mihi crediderint, per se vel per nuncios suos, seu Literas suas secretum tenebo, et ad eorum damnum nulli pandam me sciente. * Patrimonium Beati Petri et specialiter Regnum Angliæ, et Regnum Hybernæ, adjutor ero ad tenendum et defendendum contra omnes homines pro posse meo. Sic me adjuvet Deus, et hæc Sancta Evangelia, Amen.

* How this came to be St. Peters Patrimony, against his express precept, 1 Pet. 2. 13, to 18. c. 5. 2, 3, 4. I cannot define.

Acta autem sunt hæc, ut prædictum est, in vigilia Dominicæ Ascensionis præsentibus Episcopis, Comitibus, & Magistris supradictis. Pandulphus autem (with most Antichristian pride, and intollerable insolency) pecuniam, quam in arcam subsecutionis Rex contulerat, sub pede suo concubavit, Archiepiscopo dolente et reclamante.

Having thus presented you with a full and faithfull History of King Johns resignation of his Crown and Kingdoms of England and Ireland, to Pope Innocent and his Successors, the successive Interdicts, Excommunications, Abjudications from the Crown, Treasons of his Prelates, Subjects, Forces of his invading foreign Enemies, unchristian Frauds, unrighteous Policies by which it was effected, and this gallant Kings enforcements to it, against all his former Heroick Oppositions, Resolutions: I shall desire the greatest Voraries to the See of Rome, to resolve these Quarres.

1. Whether Pope Innocent (who in all his former Epistles, proceedings against King King John, pretended that he sought nothing else or more but King Johns repentance, and reception of Stephen Langhton Archbishop of Canterbury, and greived at nothing so much as Englands desolation) did yet by all the premised circumventions, frauds, practises, display to all the world, that the principal thing he sought after, was the very Crown, Kingdoms of England and Ireland, to unite them to the See of Rome; as St. Peters pretended Patrimony, though with the Kings and Kingdoms great greif and desolation?

2. Whether this Resignation gained, extorted from King John by so many years successive unchristian detestable Perjuries, Treasons, Interdicts, Excommunications, Abjudication from the Crown, Hypocrisies, Frauds, Menaces, Lyes, false suggestions by Pope Innocent himself, (who was sole Judge of King John in his own case) and his confederates, and such unjust invasions of the Rights of his Crown, can in point of Justice, Law, Reason, Conscience be reputed a Good, Valid, Legal or equitable Title for him and his successors to claime the Realms of England and Ireland, as part of St. Peters Patrimony, or the rents reserved annually out of them, as a just Papal revenue, admitting King John had a legal power to resign his Kingdoms without the joyn consent of all his Nobility, subjects, Kingdoms, which he had not, as they oft protested both in and out of Parliament?

3. Whether all or many of these abominable, insolent, injurious, Machivillian if not Atheisticall practises, proceedings against King John, diametrically repugnant to all rules of Christianity, Piety, Justice, moral honesty, and expresse precepts of Christ himself, St. Peter and Paul forecited, proclaim not this Pope Innocent one of the grandest Nocents, Hypocrites, Antimonarchs, Impostors, Usurpers, Atheists, Monster of Impiety, Arrogancy, Covetousness, Ambition, that ever sat in St. Peters pretended chair; and King John the only Innocent and pattern of patience, justice, clemency, and unparalleled humility, farre below his Royal dignity, and the place, person, and publick trust he then sustained, notwithstanding our Monkish Historians defamations of him?

4. Whether the serious consideration of these proceedings of Innocent, seconded with those succeeding them, were not of themselves a sufficient ground for the King and Kingdoms of England and Ireland, without any guilt of Scisme or Injustice, for ever to exterminate the Usurped Antimonarchical Usurpations, and forraign jurisdiction of the Bishops and See of Rome, and to hold no future communion with them, to prevent the like attempts? especially when so magnified, justified by our Monkish Historians in that age, by late Popish Parasites of all sorts, and most succeeding Popes, who still make fresh successive claimes to the Crown, Kingdoms of England and Ireland, and the annual rent then reserved out of them as St. Peters undoubted Patrimony. But more of this in due place.

Pope Innocent and Pandulphus having thus cheated, decoyed King John of his Crown, Kingdoms; yea all his Regal Honour, Glory, Wisdom, Magnanimity and Renown acquired by his former oppositions against them; and the King of France (their meare itaiking horse to gain this rich booty, to his vast and fruitlesse expence) of his elevated hopes to possesse and enjoy it by the Popes donation, his next designe was, how to take off and pacify the French King from his intended invasions; and so sent the Archbishop and his confederates into England, there to insult over and trample upon King John, as they had done abroad; wherein he thus proceeded.

HIS ita gestis, Pandulphus cum Cartis memoratis transiretravit ad Gallias, Octo millia Librarum Esterlingorum secum gerens ut Archiepiscopo & Episcopis, Monachisque Cantuariensibus, ac cæteris causa interdicti exulantibus in parte restitutionis faceret ablatorum. Cum autem tenor Cartarum, & prefatæ pacis forma, illis omnibus placuisset, persuasit diligenter Pandulfus, ut pacifice redirent in Angliam Episcopi supradicti, residuum restitutionis illico percepturi: Deinde Regem Francorum diligenter admonere cepit, qui jam paratus fuerat in manu violenta ad Angliam hostiliter transfretare, ut desisteret a proposito, & ad propria pacifice remearet, non enim potuit sine offensione summi Pontificis terram Angliæ, vel ipsum Regem infestare, cum ille paratus sit Deo, & sanctæ Ecclesiæ ejusq; ordinatis satisfacere, atque Domini Papæ Catholicis jussionibus obedire. Hæc audiens Rex Francorum, iratus valde dixit, se jam in apparatu Navium, Victualium & Armorum plusquam seraginta Millia librarum expendisse & ex præcepto

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. P. 228.

Domini Papæ Laborem prefatum & in peccatorum remissionem suscepisse. Et ut verum fateamur, idem Rex suggestionibus Pandulphi ascensum nullatenus præbuisset, nisi solus Comes Flandrensis Philippus ipsum sequi contraxisset. Fuerat enim Regi Anglorum confederatus, & ideo contra pactum suum venire noluit. Dixit præterea idem Comes injustum fuisse idem bellum, quod ad debellandum Regem Anglorum suscepit, cum nullus Antecessorum suorum jus aliquod sibi hæcenus in Regno Angliæ vendicasset. Adjunxit insuper quod Rex Francorum terras suas & castella injuste occupaverat & occupatam hereditatem suam contra justitiam detinebat, quare cum ipso ad Angliam venire nolebat.

Lo here a cleer confession of the Earl of Flanders, of the Injustice of King Johns deprivation, and King of France his intended Warre to deprive him of his Kingdom by the Popes command: who being diverted by Pandulph from invading England, turned all his forces and Fleet upon Flanders; and by a divine retaliation had all his Navy burnt and taken by a final party of King Johns ships, summoned to resist King Philips landing in England, to his great greif, vexation, and damage, the English burning above a 100. of his ships on shore, and taking above 300. more, laden with Wine, Victuals, Armes, and other things. The many insolences of the Popes Legat, and exiled Bishops Treasons, rebellions against King John, encouraged his Nobles in like manner to disobey, and capitulate with him, and that upon this occasion.

REX apud Portesmue exercitum congregavit immensum, ut ad Pictaviam transiret, disponens a parte Occidentali, sicut illi qui erant in Flandria a parte Orientali, Regem & Regnum Francorum inquietare, necnon cum omni nisu terras amissas, ad suum dominium revocare. Sed aliter accidit quam sperabat, Mag-nates enim Angliæ ipsum sequi noluerunt nisi prius a sententia Excommunicationis absolberetur. Hac ergo districtione, Rex compul-sus, misit Chartas * viginti (quator Comitum & Baronum ad Archiepiscopum & Episcopos præscriptos, ad maiorem securitatem, ut omni metu deposito, venirent in Angliam, omnia sua et ablatozū damna, secundum præscrip-tæ pacis formam, illico percepturi.

REX Venerabili Patri in Christo S. Dei gratia Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, &c. I. eadem gratia Rex Anglia, &c. Sciatis quod per has Literas nostras Patentes protestamur, quod ad nos nullatenus pertinet Clericos Atlagare. Teste meipso apud Templum de Swell, xv. die Maii. Anno &c. Decimo quinto.

Never was any King of England before or since so fettered, and reduced to such extremities and Unkingly condiscentions, to Trayterous, Rebellious Prelates, and their Confederates, who had Interdicted his Kingdom for seven years space, excommunicated, deprived him of his Crown, engaged the French, all his foreign Enemies, and most Christian Nobles, Souldiers, in a publick Crossodo against him, as if he had been a Saracen, thereby enforcing him to resign his Crown, Kingdoms to the Pope, to swear Homage to him as his Vassal, and to hold his Kingdoms from him under an annual Rent; and then by his Writs, Letters Patents, his Nobles Letters, Oaths, thus submissively to write unto, send for them again and again to hasten their return, engage to perform all agreements made on their behalf, to their full content, under such forfeitures as these, and to receive them with all honour, before their least submission, precedent humble addresses to him, or Interdict released; all which sufficiently discovers their pride, obstinacy, disloyalty, and his unparallel'd humility. Upon receipt of these Letters, the Archbishop and Bishops not making such haste into England as the King expected, he thereupon sent this second Letter to them to hasten their return, and appointed Bishops, Earls, Barons, to receive them at their Landing, and to conduct them to him with all safety and honour, instead of guarding them to a deserved Execution.

Venerabilibus in Christo Patribus S. Dei gratia Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo totius Anglia Primati, & Sanctæ Ecclesiæ Romana Cardinali, & omnibus suffraganeis suis Episcopis cum eo existentibus. I. eadem gratia Rex Anglia, &c. Mandamus vobis quod bene veneritis in Angliam, scientes quod jamdiu vos expectabimus, et adventum vestrum desiderabimus, unde in occursum vestrum mittimus fideles nostros Dominum H. Dublinensem Archiepiscopum, J. Norwicensem Episcopum, W. Comitem Arundell, Matthæum filium Herberti, W. Archidiaconum Huntingtonia, rogantes quatenus ad nos venite festinetis, sicut prædicti fideles nostri vobis dicent. Teste meipso apud Stokes Episcopi, primo die Julii.

And to take away all pretexts for their delay, he sends them this second Patent, disclaiming his intended Utlay of Treason against them and their Confederates, and undoubted Regal power to Out-law any Clerks for Treachery and Rebellion, when as neither they nor the Pope ever renounced their Usurped power to Interdict, Excommunicate, Dethrone, and give away his Realms to his mortal foreign Enemies.

REX Omnibus, &c. Sciatis quod Interdictum quod vulgariter Atlagatio nuncupatur, quod proponi fecimus contra personas Ecclesiasticas, publice revocavimus et revocamus, protestantes per has Literas nostras Patentes, id ad nos de personis Ecclesiasticis minime pertinere, nec illud de cetero contra personas Ecclesiasticas, faciemus ullatenus promulgari. Teste meipso apud Bellum, Decimo tertio die Junii. Anno Decimo quinto.

The 17. of August following these Bishops Landed at Dover, and were conducted in state to the King at Winchester; the manner of the Kings extraordinary humiliation to, reception of, and begging pardon from them, prostrating himself to the ground at their feet, and their insolent proud carriage towards their offended Sovereign, though with some Crocadiles tears, is thus related by Matthew Paris.

eorum adventum cognovisset, venit obviam illis, et viso Archiepisco-profusus, (they should rather have fallen down at the Kings feet, and craved par-own and the Popes advantage, and his dishonour and prejudice.) In hac autem absolutione iuravit Rex, tactis Sacrosanctis Evangelis, quod Sanctam

There were other Writs sent to the Kings Judges to proceed in the said Inquisition.

REX, G. filio Petri Com. Essex, & Simoni de Pateshull, &c. Mandamus vobis quod procedatis in Inquisitione facienda de Ablatis et dampnis per Archiepiscopatum Cantuariensem, sicut provisum est ad terminum ad hoc constitutum, et distincte inbreviari faciatis ex parte nostra, et Archiepiscopus ex parte sua, quid singuli solverint Balivis nostris, et quid ab eis exigitur, et quantum et quare, quia quod Balivi nostri recognoverint se recepisse de hiis quæ ad hoc negotium pertinent, id reddi faciemus. Et si de aliquo orta fuerit contentio unde fieri debeat probatio, probationem inde audire volumus coram nobis in presentia Domini Archiepiscopi ad terminum quem nos et ipse providebimus, quia Contentionem illam coram nobis terminari volumus, qui solutionem facturi sumus: præterea provideatis vobis de articulis exactionum et receptionum. Audivimus enim quod quedam exactiones sicut de serviciis nobis factis in exercitiis Walliæ et Hyberniæ, et de quibusdam aliis quæ ad hoc negotium nequaquam pertinent.

After this generall compliance with them, the King conceiving he had given them full content, and settled all things in peace, resolved to passe with an Army into Picardy, whither the Nobles refused to follow him, animated by the example and secret persuasions of the Bishops, to divert him from invading France, where they had been succoured; which Matthew Paris relates in these words.

INde vero apud Portesmuë, Rex cum festinatione veniens ut transfretaret in Pictaviâ, Galfrido filio Petri, & Episcopo Winton. Regnum Anglia commisit, præcipiens ut cum Consilio Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi (though his most implacable Enemy) omnia Regni negotia ordinarent. Quo factò venerunt ibidem, ad Regem numerosa militum multitudo (by the Archbishop and his Confederates instigation) conquirentes, quod in diutina, quam ibi fecerant expectatione, omnem pecuniam suam consumpserant, unde ipsum sequi nequiverant, nisi de fisco illis necessaria ministrarentur. Quod cum Rex facere recusasset, iratus cum privata Familia Naves ascendit & post triduum apud Gersea insulam applicuit, magnatibus suis domum reversis, ubi cum Rex sese derelictum cernebat, necessitate compulsus ad Angliam remeavit.

Whiles these things were acting, the Archbishop, Bishops, Nobles meeting at St. Albans, about the damages to be restored by the King to the Bishops during their exile, by the Archbishops and Bishops instigation, to depresse the King all they could, fell to demand the confirmation of their Liberties, granted by his Grandfather King Henry the 1. which the King condescended to.

Dum hæc agerentur, interfuerint Consilio apud Sanctum Albanum, Galfridus filius Petri, & Episcopus Wintonia, cum Archiepiscopo, & Episcopis, & Magnatibus Regni: ubi cunctis pace Regis denunciata, ex ejusdem Regis parte firmiter præceptum est, quatenus leges Henrici avi sui ab omnibus in Regno custodirentur, & omnes leges iniqua penitus enervarentur. Denunciatum est præterea, Vicecomitibus, forestariis, aliisque Ministris Regis sicut vitam & membra sua diligunt, ne a quoquam aliquid violenter extorqueant vel alicui injuriam irrogare præsumant, aut scotalla alicubi in Regno faciant, sicut facere consueverunt. Rex vero Johannes cum se a quibusdam Magnatibus quasi derelictum cognovisset, (by reason of some new Treasons then hatching against him by the Archbishop) magnum congregavit exercitum, ut rebelles ad consuetum obsequium revocaret. Cumque arma movere incepisset, venit ad eum Archiepiscopus apud Northamptonam dicens, plurimum in injuriam sui Sacramenti, quod in absolutione sua præstiterat, redundare, si absque iudicio Curia sua contra quempiam bellum moveret. Quod audiens Rex cum ingenti strepitu, dixit, se Regni negotia propter Archiepiscopum non differre, cum Laica iudicia ad ipsum non pertineant. In craftino autem summo diluculo iter turibundus arripens, versus Nottingham properavit: Sequutus est quoque Regem Archiepiscopus memoratus constanter affirmans, (like another Pope Innocent, in a presumptuous daring manner) quod nisi ab inceptis celerius desisteret, omnes qui versus quempiam ante relaxationem Interdicti hostiliter arma gestarent, præter ipsum solum anathematis vinculo innodaret. Sicque ab inceptis Regem revocans Archiepiscopus, non prius ab eo recessit, donec diem competentem ad Curiam Regis veniendi, & ibidem juri parendi Baronibus impetrasset.

This English Pope and Arch-traytor in pursuance of his implacable malice and revenge against the King, (notwithstanding his extraordinary favours and submissions to him) soon after caused all the Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Deans, and Nobles of the Realm to meet together at London upon pretext of satisfying his and the exiled Bishops damages, but in verity to engage them in a New Rebellion against the King to deprive him of his Crown, and conferre it on Lewis the French Kings son, as they did in the conclusion, under pretext of demanding the confirmation of the Charter and Liberties granted by King Henry the first, there produced by the Archbishop, which the King had but newly ratified at St. Albans; thus storied by Matthew Paris.

dict was contrived by him, as a curb upon the King) ubi Archiepiscopus indulsit tam Ecclesiis Conventualibus quam Presbyteris secularibus ut horas canonicas in Ecclesiis suis audientibus Parochianis suppressa Voce cantarent ( before the Interdict was released.)

Archiepiscopus vero promisit eis fidelissimum auxilium suum pro posse suo, et sic confederatione facta inter eos, Colloquium solutum est: This being the real design of this Assembly.

These most unchristian disloyal proceedings of the Pope, his legats, Archbishops, Bishops, and English Clergy against the King, so much alienated his affections from the very Christian Religion they professed with their Mouths, but denied in their hearts, praetises, that ( if we credit * Matthew Paris, who willingly traduces him upon all occasions ) after the death of Geoffery Fitz-Peter cheif Justice of England ( the cheif pillar and support of the Realm of England ) King John conceiving himself absolved from, and that he had liberty to go against all the Oaths, agreements, & extricate himself from the unjust conditions of peace he had made volenter, with much grief and reluctance wherewith he was entangled: prout ipsum graviter et amarissime, quod ad prædictæ pacis consensum inclinaretur. the Pope, his own Bishops and rebellious subjects, who were Christians, he resolved to put himself and his Realm into their hands, and to renounce the Christian Religion, which the premised proceedings of the Pope and Prelates against him made him repute as vain and ineffectual. Such was the fruit of these Antichristian proceedings against him, Misit ergo nuncios secretissimos cum festinatione summa, videlicet Thomam Hardentonum, & Radulphum filium Nicholai Milites, & Robertum de Londino clericum, ad Admiratum Murmelium Regem magni Africæ, Marocchiæ, & Hispaniæ: significans eadem, quod se et Regnum suum libenter redderet eidem et dederet et debitum teneret ab ipso, si placeret ei, sub tributo. Necnon et legem Christianam quam vanam censuit, relinquens, legi Mahometæ fideliter adhereret. To which message being delivered, Murmelius after a little deliberation returned this modest answer. Modo inspexi librum in Græco scriptum, cujusdam Græci sapientis & Christiani, nomine Pauli (the Apostle) cujus alius & verba mihi maxime complacent, & accepto: Unum tamen de ipso mihi displicet, quod in lege sub qua natus est non stetit, sed ad alia tanquam transfuga & inconstans avolvit. Et idcirco de domino vestro Anglorum Rege, qui relicta piissima et mundissima lege Christianorum sub qua nascebatur, cereus et instabilis gliscit transmeare. Non it qui nihil ignorat Deus omnipotens, si ex lex essem, illam præ omnibus eligerem, & acceptam amplexar m. Postea vero sciscitabatur, cujus conditionis esset Rex Angliæ & regnum ejus. Of which T. Hardenton gave this account of the King, that he was Egregie & ingenue atavis Regibus magnis procreatus: & of the kingdom, terra ejus opulenta & suis contenta bonis, &c. Regnum etiam ab * injuncto & coronato gubernatur, ab antiquo liberum esse dignoscitur, ad nullius præterquam Dei spectans Dominationem: (the more shame for the Pope to invade & make it Tributary) *Ecclesia etiam & nostra cultus religionis plus quam in aliqua mundi parte ibidem prosperatur, ac * Papalibus & Regiis legibus pacifice gubernatur.* Hereupon, *Tracto igitur ab alto præcordiali suspirio, respondit Rex, Nunquam legi vel audivi, quod aliquis Rex tam prosperum Regnum possidens subiectum et obediens, suum sic vellet sponte pessundare Principatum, ut de libero faceret tributarium, de suo alienum, de sælici, miserum; et se alterius sine vulnere victum, dedere voluntati. Quinimo de multis legi & audivi (qui) sibi libertatem (quod laudabile est) compararent: Nunc autem audio, quod Dominus vester * miser, deses et imbellis, qui nullo nullior est, de libero servus fieri desiderat, qui omnium mortaliū miserrimus est.* Postea vero sed cum contemptu inquisivit cujus ætatis esset, staturæ ac staturæ: Cui Responsum est quod ætate fuit quinquagenarius, & omnino canus, corpore fortis, nec procerus, sed potius compactus, & formæ ad robora convenientis &c. Quod cum audisset Rex, respondit, Virtus ejus juvenilis ac virilis tepuit jam & refrigeravit. Infra decennium, dato quod tamdiu victurus sit, virtus ejus deficiet antequam arduum quid consummaverit, si nunc inciperet in defectum declinaret, nec aliquid valeret. Quinquagenarius enim decidit occulte, sexagenarius manifeste. Pacem de cætero sibi adquirat & quiescat. Colligens ergo omnia inquisita & responsa Nunciorum, post parvum silentium, facta subannatione, in signum magna indignationis, sprevit ille Admiratus Regem Johannem, dicens, nullus est Rex ille, sed Regulus jam desipiens & senescens; nec curio de eo: Indignus est mihi confederari; & conspiciens Thomam & Radulphum torvo vultu, Ait, Non redeatis iterum ad me in præsentiam, nec videant oculi vestri amplius faciem meam. Fama, sed potius infamia Domini vestri, jam Apostatæ desipientis factorem exhalat in conspectu meo teterrimum. Ipso igitur retento & spretis aliis, Rex cum eo multa loquebatur secretius quæ postea ipse Robertus amicis suis patefecit. Inquisivit autem dictus Rex ab eodem, si Rex Angliæ Johannes * aliquibus polleret moribus, & si liberos strenuos procreasset; & si potens esset in vi generativa. Addiditque quod si Robertus

Robertus super his interrogatis miratur, nunquam precipue clerico crederet Christiano. Tunc Robertus sub attestatione legis Christiana se prorsus, ad omnia interrogata veraciter responditur. Dixit igitur affirmative quod potius fuit Tyrannus, quam Rex; potius subversor quam gubernator, oppressor suorum, & fautor alienorum. Leo suis subditis, Agnus alienigenis & rebellibus, qui per desidia suam Normania Ducatum, & alias multas terras amiserat. Et insuper Anglia Regnum, amittere vel destruire sitiebat. Pecunia extoritur insatiabilis, possessionum suorum naturalium invasor & Destructor. Paucos vel potius nullos strenuos generavit sed patrizantes. Sponsam sibi habet exosam, & ipsum odientem, incestam, maleficam, & adulteram, & super hac sapiens conv. Nam: unde Rex sponsus ejus comprehensus laqueo iussit super stratum ejus suffocari. Ipse Rex nihilominus multos procerum suorum & etiam consanguineos Zelo impavit violentior, ac filias corruptis nobiles, & sorores, In cultu autem Christiano prout audistis fluctuans & defusus. Hæc cum audisset Rex Admiralius non tamen sicut prius ipsum sprexit, sed detestabatur & in sua lege maledixit & ait; Quare permittunt miseri Anglici talem super se regnare & dominari? vere effeminati sunt & serviles. Respondit Robertus patientissimi hominum sunt Anglici donec supra modum offendantur & damnificentur. Nunc autem sicut Leo vel Elephas cum laesum se senserit vel erementum, irascuntur, & executre colla de sub jugo opprimuntis, etsi sero proponunt & conantur. Et cum hæc omnia ipse Rex Admiralius audierat, Anglorum nimiam redarguit patientiam; quam formidolositate recta interpretatione fuisse interpretas asseruit qui ad omnia presens extiterat. Multos autem præter hos tractatus, & confabulationes habuit Idem Rex cum eodem Roberto, quæ postea Amicis plenius in Anglia declaravit. Collatis igitur ipsi Roberto muneribus preciosis in auro & argento, gemmis variis & holofericis ipsum in pace dimisit. Recedentes autem nuncios alios, nec salutavit nec aliquibus muneribus honoravit; Cumque autem ad propria remeassent nuntii & quæ viderant & audiverant domino suo renuciassent doluit, dominus eorum Rex Johannes vehementer usque ad Spiritus Amaritudinem, quod sic ab ipso Rege Admiralio contemnebatur, et quod in proposito suo impediabatur. Robertus autem de extraneis donis sibi collatis Regem liberaliter respexit, ut saltem sic preciperet, quod favorabilis alliis audiretur, licet primo repulsus tacuisset. Unde ipse Rex ipsum plus aliis honoravit, & quasi propriam Custodiam Abbatis potius sancti Albani, quamvis non vacaret, improbus exactor concessit, ut sic de alieno Clericum suum fidei transgressor remuneraret. Ipse igitur Robertus, inconsulto imo invito Abbate, qui protempore fuit, videlicet Johanne de Colla viro religiosissimo & literatissimo, omnia quæ in Ecclesia, & Curia fuerunt, pro libitu diripuit, & sibi appropriavit. * A very probable tale that he should thus defame King John, and yet be rewarded and advanced by him for this Embassy.

* It was granted him 3 years, or more before this fictitious Embassy. * The true ground of this fiction, and slander of King John.

* Note this Embassy or his relation of himself and King John.

If this Embassy to Admiralius were a real truth, it discovers the transcendent wickedness and impiety of the Popes, Archbishops, and Bishops Treasons to, cheats put upon King John, which should cast him upon such a temptation and necessity as this, to trust a Saracen rather than a Christian, and to renounce the Christian Religion as vain: But the whole contexture proves it a most scandalous malicious forgery of this Monke of St. Albans, for sequestering that Abby.

1. It is recorded by no other Historian but himself. 2. All the parts thereof appear to be a malicious Satyr, Libel, invective against King John, invented by the Historians under the Person of Murmelius and Robert one of the Ambassadors, to render him odious to his subjects, excite them to rebel against him and deprive him of his Crown, as a person unfit and unworthy to reign over them, and to justify their election of Lewis of France for their King. 4. All the premised passages Glorious Victories, successes of King John, prove him to be a quite contrary person to what was here represented to Admiralius. 5. Had he formerly resigned up his Crown and Kingdom or under an Annual Tribute Rent to the Pope, as this Monk relates, King John had then no power to surrender or subject them to Murmelius a Saracen without the Popes consent. 6. This Kingdom being subject to none but God, it was a very great impiety in the Pope to unite and enthrall it to the See of Rome. 7ly. That King John would renounce the Christian Religion as vain, and embrace the Mahumetan as true, is most improbable; it had been truer of Pope Innocent. For 1. King John commanded all Bishops, Abbots, Monks, Priests, to celebrate Divine Service and Sacraments, during the above 6. years Interdict, in all their Churches, when the impious Pope and Prelates prohibited them, and suspended those who obeyed his pious precept. 2ly. He seized all the Temporalities, Benefices, Goods, of those who disobeyed him. 3ly. He encouraged all who celebrated Divine Service and Sacraments. 4ly. He with most passionate importunity pressed the Pope and Bishops to release the Interdict, and that Divine Service and Sacraments might be every where administred, which they both delayed and refused, till their own covetous and ambitious ends were satisfied, shewing himself a far more religious, devout, zealous Christian, then the Pope, Bishops, and his Clergy, who for above 6. years space together suspended all Divine Service and Sacraments throughout his Realm, against his will and Writs, to wreck their own malice upon this King, and deprive him at last of his Crown and Kingdoms. 5ly. His constant profession and maintenance of the Christian Religion during his life,* the 5. Religious houses he built, and his piety at his death, prove this to be a malicious forgery, that he would embrace Mahumetanism, and abjure the Christian Religion. 6ly. It is very improbable, as this forged Narrative relates, that King John would make himself and his opulent Kingdom a Tributary and Vassal to another Prince so remote, of his own voluntary motion, without War or Conquest. 7ly. That King John should send such mean and despicable Ambassadors as these here mentioned, to so great a Prince as Marmelins, about so weighty an affair as this. 8ly. That he should do it with such privacy, that none of his Nobles should know or consent unto it. 9ly. That these Messengers should find this Saracen King reading St. Pauls Epistles, when they were presented to him, and that he should profess the Christian Religion to be the best and purest of any, yet blame St. Paul for electing it before that wherein he was educated. 10ly. That Robert should make such a relation to him and them concerning Admirallus his description of his own deformity, of King John his Masters Tyranny, Vices, and unworthinesse to reign; and King John continue him in his favour notwithstanding. 11ly. That Robert only of the three should be rewarded by Marmelins, and that with so many and rich presents, being so despicable a person, and the first (who was the most honorable, eloquent, properest person) go unrewarded. 12ly. The ground of this Historians malice, and frequent Invectives against King John, and this forged Legend of his against him and this Robert, was because the King seized the Lands and Monastery of St. Albans into his hands, (whereof he was a Monk) for their Abbots and Monks refusal to celebrate Divine Service during the Interdict, upon the Kings command, and committing the custody thereof to this Robert, at least three or four years before this pretended Embassy, discovers Roberts Embassy thither, and claiming the custody of this Abby, by giving him a great share of the gifts bestowed on him by Marmelins, to be a meer * forged Fable. 13ly. He subjoyns this further forgery of King Johns mis-belief, and denying the Resurrection of the dead, (grounded only upon his speech or jest of a fat Stagge) * Diebus quoque sub eisdem adeo inspiebat Rex Johannes ut de mortuorum Resurrectione futura, & alia fidem Christianam contingentibus male sentiret, & quadam inenabilia diceret deliramenta, quorum unum duximus recitandum, (as the worst of all the rest, and that but a truth, discovering his little esteem of the merits of Popish Masses, by which the Monks got and held their livings) Contigit ut venatu capto cervo quodam pinguisimo, in presentia Regis cum excoarietur, & acridens diceret, O quam prospere vixit iste, nunquam tamen missam audivit!

To make King John some amends for these malicious slanders, (who to over-top his new English Pope and Barons, by that Papal hand by which himself was subjected to them) this Historian gives Pope Innocent the 3d. this true Character; evidencing him to be little better then a Devil incarnate.

The time of his arrivall, manner of his reception, Pomp, Covetousnesse, new U-surpationous as well on the Bishops and Clergy, as the King, Kingdom, Subjects, are thus recorded by Matthew Paris.

Eodem Anno, circa Festum Sancti Michaelis, venit in Angliam Nicholaus Tusculanensis Episcopus, & Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, ut dissensiones inter Regnum et Sacerdotium auctoritate Apostolica reformaret: Et licet terra Interdicta fuisset, ubique tamen cum processione sollemni & cantuum modulatione & indumentis festi-vis, honorifice receptus est. Cumque ad Westmonasterium pervenisset, Willielmum Abbatem dilapidationis & incontinentiæ a Monachis suis accusatum illico degradavit. Venerunt autem ad eum Oxonia Burgenses quorum instinctu & præsumptione duo Cle-rici (de quibus superius fecimus mentionem) suspensi fuerant absolutionem postulan-tes. Quibus indicta pœnitentia inter cætera præcepit, ut ad singulas Civitatis Ecclesias, depositis indumentis, pedibusque nudis flagella portantes in manibus euntes, a Presbyte-ris Parochianis absolutionis beneficium cum Psalmo Quinquagesimo impetrarent. Nec licuit eis nisi diebus singulis, singulas petere Ecclesias, ut tam ipsi quam alii talia præsumere formidarent. Legatus itaque cum septem tantum equitaturis in Angliam veniens, quinquaginta in brevi & familia multa stipatus incessit. Conveniente tandem Archiepifcopo Cantuariensi, cum Episcopis, & Magnatibus Regni Londonii, in præsentia Regis & Cardinalium, tractatum est ibidem, per triduum inter Regnum et Sa-cerdotium de damnis Episcoporum et Ablatis, facta ex parte Regis oblatione Episcopis præfatis ad plenariam restitutionem: Centum Mille Marcarum argenti continuo numerandarum: (A vast sum, besides what they formerly received.) Et si vero post inquisitionem investi-gari possit, Custodes Ecclesiarum, aliosve Regis Ministros am-plius abstulisse, Juratoꝝiam obtulit Rex et fideiustoroꝝiam cautionem,

quod pro Episcoporum, et ipsius Legati arbitrio, infra sequens Pascha satisfactionem plenam omnibus faceret ablatorum. Ad hoc autem Legatus consentit, (being most just and satisfactory) volens instanter hoc fieri, indigne ferens quod non statim suscepta fuit oblatio. Unde protinus suspicatum est, Legatum plus æquo parti Regis consentire. Episcopi quoque negotium protrahentes, ablati conditionibus obviabant. Habito consilio, ut prius inquirerent de ablatis & damnis, & summam diligentius Regi inquisitam ostenderent, & sic simul acciperent quod querebant. (Such was their unsatiable avarice and perverseness, thus to continue the Interdict on the whole Realm on this account.) Audiens itaque Rex dilationem sibi dilectam, præbuit illico consensum. Et sic eo die, infecto negotio recesserunt.

The next dayes proceedings clearly demonstrate that the true design of this meeting by secret compact between the Legate, Archbishop, and Bishops, under pretext of satisfying their damages, and releating the Interdict, was only to decoy and enforce the King to a new resignation of his Crown, in the presence of the Archbishop, Bishops and Clergy, (not present at the first resignation, if really made) and procure a second Charter of surrender of his Kingdoms of England and Ireland, to the Pope and his Successors, and resumption of them from him under an annual rent, and new Oath of Homage to him, the first Charter being either forged, or not really sealed or delivered, and a meer nullity. Which last Charter though the Archbishop, Bishops and Barons totally disliked, disclaimed, and never assented to, after it was sealed and delivered, yet they covertly promoted, and never dissuaded him from it, to render him odious and despicable to all his Subjects, and foreign Princes, to effect their own designs upon him.

* Mat. Paris. p. 237.

* It seems there was but one Charter, yet twice sealed and delivered, as this passage intimates.

Veniens vero die crastina, convenerunt omnes iterum ad Sanctum Paulum in Ecclesia Cathedrali: ubi post multos, et varios de Interdicti relaxatione tractatus, ante majus altare coram Clero et populo exacta est a Rege et innovata, illa non formosa sed famosa subjectio; qua in manum Domini Papæ Diademate cum Regno resignato, tam Dominum Pyberniæ quam Regnum subdidit Anglicanum. * Charta quoque Regis, de qua superius diximus, quæ prius cera signata fuerat, et Pandulpho tradita; nunc auro Bullata est, et Legato ad opus Domini Papæ et Romanæ Ecclesiæ resignata. Super ablatorum vero restitutione, tertio nonas Novembris apud Radinum diem statuerunt. Cumque die jam prælibato, omnes ut superius, convenissent, Rex die illa non comparuit, sed die tertia apud Wallingford, iterum pariter convenerunt. Ubi Rex ut supra de omnibus ablatis, Episcopis et aliis universis se satisfacturum gratanter spopondit. (Yet to the unsatiable covetousness and perverseness of the Bishops.) Sed hoc illis quoque Castella diruta, domus subvertæ, pomeria cum nemoribus succisa fuerant, parum videbatur. Unde Rex et Episcopi in hoc pariter consenserunt, ut in arbitrio quatuor Baronum se ponerent; et sic ipsorum iudicio satisfaceret universis. After this, Convenerunt iterum Rex cum Legato, Archiepiscopo, cum Episcopis, Magnatibus, ac omnibus viris Religiosis, ad Interdicti negotium contingentibus, apud Radinum, octavo Idus Decembris: Ubi singuli Chartam prærexerunt in publicum, omnium ablatorum pariter & damnorum summam continentem. Sed Legato Regi favorem præbente, solutio omnium dilationem accepit, excepto quod Archiepiscopus & Episcopi, dudum ab Anglia proscripti, ibidem quindecim Millia Marcarum Argenti perceperunt.

By which relation we may discover, 1. The insatiable avarice, obstinacy, perverseness of the Bishops, to any cordiall, dutifull agreement with the King; and the great trouble, vexation, delays, and frequent meetings they put the King and Nobles to, about their pretended damages. 2ly. Their transcendent impiety, in robbing God and the whole Kingdome of his Divine publick service, by deferring the release of the Interdict from time to time, till all their unreasonable demands were satisfied. 3ly. Their execrable Treason and disloyalty, in enforcing the King once or twice actually to resign his Crown to the Pope, and swear Homage to him, to procure a future discharge of the Interdict, and yet maliciously keeping it on foot till, or after full satisfaction made by the King of all their excessive damages, and unreasonable demands.

Before I proceed further in this Chronological History, I shall present you with a true Transcript of the second Charter of Resignation, made by King John at Pauls, out of the Charter Roll in the Tower of London; and of the Homage he then swore to the Pope, being almost the same in syllables with the first, (if any such) but different in some material words, clauses, here noted in the Margin, which second Charter is not printed in any of our Historians.

JOHANNES Dei gratia &c. Omnibus Christi fidelibus presentem Chartam inspecturis, salutem. Before I present you at large with the Judgements, Resolutions of others concerning the Nullity of King John's Charters, and the Rent reserved on them, in the age wherein they were made, and since: I shall crave leave to acquaint you with my own thoughts concerning this doubt, whether he made & sealed two Charters, or only one?

I am clear of opinion that King John never made and sealed but one Charter, and took but one Oath of Homage and Fealty to the Pope, to wit the last, sealed with a Golden Seal, not two, as Matthew Paris, and others misguided by him, conceive; for which I have these strong inducements.

1. This only is extant on Record in the Charter Rolls of King John, the other not, nor any mention or memorial concerning it; and had the first (of so great moment to the King, Kingdom, Pope) been real, it would have been carefully recorded in the Charter Rolls as well as the latter. 2ly. There is no mention made in any of Pope Innocent's Letters, Messages to the Barons and Bishops of England, King John himself, the French King, or any else, but only of this latter Charter, sealed with his Bull of Gold. 3ly. King John himself, his Bishops, Barons, in their Appeals and Invectives against him, hereafter cited, mention only the latter Charter, without any intimation of a precedent. 4ly. Matthew Paris himself, in his ensuing passages Anno 1231. concerning Stephen Langtons protestation and appeal against it, and the vacating of the new Chancellors election by the Pope, and the Embassadors and Proxie of King Henry the 3d. and the whole Kingdom in the Council of Lyons, Anno 1245. mention only one Charter then casually burnt; and the Parliament of 40 E. 3. do the like: Therefore but one. 5ly. Because the Popes, Cardinals, Kings Letters and Records concerning it, hereafter transcribed, resolve as much. 6ly. It is very improbable that the Pope would demand, or King John make two distinct Resignations of his Crown and Kingdoms, by two Charters, and take two Oathes of Homage and Fealty to him, and that almost in the self-same words, without any additional clauses, covenants, either by the King or Pope, within the compass of five moneths, the first bearing date May 15. the other the 3d. of October next following. And if King John was so unwilling, and hardly enforced, perswaded to seal the first Charter, and so much grieved, perplexed, reproached, contemned, derided as he was, for sealing the first Charter, as Matthew Paris and others relate, & the release of the Interdict continued still as a bridle over him after its sealing, when he expected its final release, he would never have sealed the second; through any menaces, force, or persuasions whatsoever, especially before the Interdict was finally discharged, which continued long after the last Charter was sealed, through the Archbishop and Bishops obstinacy, Treachery, Impiety. 7ly. It is not probable the Barons or Bishops would have permitted him in their presence to have made a second Charter and Homage to the Pope, since they so much detested the first. 8ly. Matthew Paris his relation of his proffer to resign his Crown and Kingdoms to Murmelius the Sarazen, compared with those Messengers relations to him, touching the present freedom of the Kingdom, subject only unto God, after his first supposed surrender of it by Charter and Homage to the Pope, proves this Embassy to be fabulous, or his first Charter of Resignation fictitious, both being inconsistent. 9ly. His own relation what moved King John to send to the Pope to resign his Crown and Kingdoms to him, on purpose to curbe the Archbishop, Bishops, and Barons, after their restitution, and to bribe him with a great sum of money to effect it, knowing him to be the most covetous, ambitious, proud person in the world, contradicts the story and inducements for making his first Charter sealed with Wax, upon far different grounds. In fine, I conceive this mistake of two distinct Charters, (the one sealed with Wax, the other with Gold,) surrendring the Kingdoms of England and Ireland to the Pope, and resumng them under an annual rent, grew from this occasion. Pandulphus the Popes first Legate brought a form of an accord of Peace between the Pope, exiled Bishops, and their confederates and King John, drawn at Rome, which if he would submit to, he might be received into the Popes favour, the Churches bosom, and preserve both his kingdoms and life: This agreement he swore to, and sealed the 13th. day of May, and delivered to Pandulphus, recorded by Mat. Paris at large; the Earls and Barons siding with the Pope, were to enforce him to perform and see it duly observed; perchance he then treated with him three dayes after concerning the resignation of his Crown and kingdoms to the Pope, and had some oath or engagement from him afterwards to ratifie it under his seal, which this Monk mistook for the Charter, actually surrendring his crown in October following, which I conceive to be the Charter recited in the Autographum of Pope Innocent Bull under his Seal, witnessed with the Subscriptions and Seals of 12. Cardinals; and 3. Bishops dated Novemb: 4. 1213. a full moneth after this second Charter October 3. before, and sent to King John; wherein the Pope declared to him, how willingly and joyfully he accepted the Kingdoms resigned to him, and set them again to King John, (which Dr. Craken-thorp mistooke for his first Charter) and the same with that in the Manuscript collection of Nicholas Cardinal of Aragon.

There are several Opinions among Popes, their Flatterers, Historians, and others concerning the Popes right to England and Ireland; and these two Charters of King John granting, and resumng from Pope Innocent and his successors his Realms of England and Ireland under an annual Rent; which I think fit here to relate and examine, ere I proceed further, being the grandest Papal encroachment on the Crown.

(a) Lelius Zecchus, (b) Marta, (c) Alvarus Pelagius, (d) Augustinus Steuchus, and other Popish parasites, as they assert in general, That the Pope is absolutely the Lord of the whole Christian world, and that Kings and Emperors must acknowledge their Empires and Kingdoms to be held of him, the whole world being his territory: So they assert, that the Emperor of Rome, Germany, the Kings of France, Aragon, Naples, Granado, Portugal, Spain, Sicily, Jerusalem, Bohemia, Hungaria, Denmark, Swecia, Norway, Croatia, Dalmatia, and Scotland, are the Popes Vassals, Tributaries, holding all their Crowns, Kingdoms from him as his Fendatories, under several annual rents and tributes, and an Oath of Homage and Fealty. It is no wonder therefore if they pretend the like Title under the like Tenure and Vassallage to the Realms of England and Ireland. Pope Alexander the 2d. had the impudency to affirm, That ever since the kingdom of England received Christianity, it hath been in the hands and power of St: Peter, if his Epistle be not forged by (e) Baronius. If this were a truth, then King Johns resignation of his kingdom to the Pope, was only a restitution of that antient right the Pope had thereto before in Recognition of the Popes Sovereign Dominion over

But none of our Monks or Historians of that or any age since, though professed Votaries to the Pope, ever made such a pretence or conclusion as this. Therefore it is a meer forgery.

(a) Cardinal Bellarmine and other Romanists falsely averre, That the kingdom of England was semper Beneficium et Tributarium Romano Pontifici; because King Ina and Offa, Anno 740. Adolphus Anno 847. paid a penny for every house to Saint Peter by way of Tribute, confirmed by several Lawes: And King Henry the 2d. acknowledged the Pope to be his Temporal Lord, himself his Feudatory, and his Kingdom the Popes Patrimony: The falshood of which having at large refuted, I shall preternit as fabulous; only if true, it quite subverts or enervates this Charter of King John and reservation of the annual rent, as a New thing, honor, rent, not formerly acknowledged by his predecessors. But their principal Title to England and Ireland is from King Johns Charter under his golden Bull, which they boast to be yet extant in the Vatican; by which the Pope hath (as Bellarmine and Martia assert) Directum Dominium in Regnum Angliæ et Hiberniæ, that King John and his Successors are thereby made Feudatories and Vassals to the Pope, whence b Pope Innocent the 3d. in a vaunting manner said of King John, Clavallus noster est Rex Angliæ, et Romanæ Ecclesiæ.

To counterplead and enervate this Grand pretended Title of the Pope, I shall desire the Readers to consider;

1. That Sir Thomas Moor Lord Chancellor of England (who (c) lost his head under King Henry the 8. his Master (in defence of the Popes Supremacy in England) is so far ashamed of Pope Innocents proceedings against King John, that he avowes it in print, (d) to be utterly UNTRUE; that King John did make his Realms thus Tributary to the Pope, or that ever such pensions were paid to Rome for them; (wherein doubtlesse he mistakes) Adding, That if he so did, or any other English King should so do, such an act was of no validity at all, as Rossius Warwicensis also resolves.

2ly. That (e) Edmond Campian (a great Advocate for the Papacy) writes; Such Instruments might happily then be moved and drawn, and yet dye unratified, though the copies stand recorded; denying any annual pensions paid thereby for England or Ireland to Rome.

3ly. (f) M. Antonius Coccius Sabellius informes us; That this pretended Rent out of England and Ireland was granted by King John out of a Religious Vow, to expiate his gaining these kingdoms by fratricide; without mentioning any Charter or resignation. Haud merito post Johannes Rex Angliæ, Ricardum fratrem interfecit, Regnumque parricidio adeptus, à Ludovico Philippi filio, qui tum in Gallia regnabat gravi bello petitus est. Tum vero novisse fertur, si regnum sibi incolume mansisset, futurum ut Angliæ et Hyberniciæ vectigales essent Apostolicæ sedis, magnumque auro pondus voto nuncupavit, quod duæ Illustræ Insulæ quotannis Romano Pontifici penderent; sui itaque voti damnatus, quum ipse, tum Successores plerique ut rite acumerat, ratum habuere. But this voluminous Historian is utterly mistaken in his whole relation of this pension: For 1. King John did not murder his brother, King Richard, who died of a shot out of Chalus Castle, as all our (g) Historians record. 2ly. He obtained not the Realm by parricide, but by his Brothers special bequest at his death, and heir to him. 3ly. This Rent was granted before Lewis the French Kings Sonne warred on him; upon Philips intended invasion; but admit it true, the very force of warr nulls it. 4ly. None of our Historians mention any such Vow of King John, as the cause of this grant. 5ly. Not one, much lesse many of his Successors acknowledged it rightly granted, nor ever confirmed, but protested against it, as null; though one or two of them now and then voluntarily paid it, upon other grounds. * Raphael Volaterranus Geogr. l. 3. f. 54. concurring with Sabellius records, that Johannis cum gravi bello à Ludovico Gallorum Rege premittitur, EX VOTO Angliam, Iberniamque Romano Pontifici Vectigales fecit, ut anni Marcus 70. quotannis penderent, Anno salutis 1208. he being mistaken in the occasion, quarrel, summe, summe year of the grant, which was not till 1213. and Lewis his warre above a year after that: And admit it true, this Vow, Grant being made by Dureffe and force of Warr, can be of no validity.

4ly. (b) Polydor Virgil a Stranger, (but yet the last collector of the Popes Peter-pence in England, who pried into our Histories, Annals) and the (i) Century writers out of him, write thus of this Rent and Grant: reciting King Johns surrender of his Crown, Nunquam nisi à Romano Papa recepturus (sic enim fieri jusserat Innocentius crudelis et sanguinis Anglici silentissimus, add the Centuriators) ex quo fama est Johannem cupientem perpetuare memoriam muneris accepti (therefore a meer free gift, not tribute, in their judgements) ea lege fuisse se Beneficiarium (not tributarium) ut Reges deinceps à Pontifice duntaxat Romano iura regni consequerentur. Ceterum has reconciliationis Leges qui secuti sunt Reges minime serbavit, neque Annales Anglici de huiusmodi donatione loquuntur. Johanni tantummodo qui deliquisset imposita, non item Successoribus sustinenda fuisse satis constat. So that by this resolution of the Popes own Collector in England, the grant of these annual rents obliged only King John himself, the delinquent, who imposed them, not his heirs, successors or kingdoms in the least degree: To which the Century collectors assent.

5ly. (a) Matthew Paris, and Matthew Westminster themselves, (both Monks, extraordinary Votaries to the Popes, and inveterate Enemies to King John) deride & scorn his Charter to the Pope, which they first inserted into their Histories, styling it Lugubrem, detestabilem, non formosam, sed famosam subiectionem, Scriptum toto mundo execrabile, &c. And relate the Judgements of the English, French, and others, who reputed it Null, voyd, and a most detestable example; thereby sufficiently intimating their own concurrence therein.

6ly. As the Archbishop of Dublin openly protested against the first Charter and the Legates insolency when he received it, and the money he trampled under his feet, as [b] Matthew Paris himself records: so he writes, That Stephen Langton the Archbp. the Popes own Legate, great creature, and a Cardinal, though he underhand consented to and abetted it, to render King John despicable, detestable to his Barons, Subjects, and all forreign Princes, to accomplish his own designs and wreck his malice upon the King, yet (to preserve the hereditary Rights of the Kingdom inviolable, and accomplish his own ends the better) so soon as this Charter was sealed, and presented at the high Altar in Pauls, and delivered to the Popes Nuntio, he stepping out in the presence of the King, Legate, Barons, and all there present, in the name of the Clergy and Kingdom, boldly and earnestly presented at the same Altar in solemn manner his Appeal against this Charter, so detestable to the whole world; as Rossius Martinus, Dr. Beard, and others relate. But hear [a] Matthew Paris himself. Ralph Bishop of Chichester, then Chancellor of England being elected Archbishop of Canterbury by the Monks after the death of Richard, and the Monks of Canterbury pressing the Pope to confirm his election, Anno 1231. thereupon the Pope made diligent inquiry of Simon Langton (Stephens Brother, elected, but rejected by King John, and the Pope too at his request, to be Archbp. of York;) concerning Ralphs person and disposition; thereupon Respondit, illum curialem esse, & illiteratum, rapidum in verbis, & festinum: & quod durum est, si ad illam dignitatem promoveretur, moliret volentem, ut anhelante ad hoc Rege, cum toto regno iuvante, exiret Angliam de sub iugo domini Papæ et Curie Romanæ, qui eidem tenetur sub tributo; ut soluto vinculo tributi, quo tenebatur eam Rex Johannes, solita Deo et Ecclesiæ sanctæ servaret libertate. Et ad hoc velle usque ad expositionem capitis decretare, immixtus iuri et appellationibus Stephani Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi; quas fecit solenniter idem Stephanus ante Altare Sancti Pauli Ecclesiæ Cathedrali Londinensi, cum redderet coronam Angliæ memoratus Rex Johannes in manus Legati, conficiens scriptum toto mundo execrabile. Papa autem his auditis sermonibus, postulacione cassata, concessit, ut Conventus Cantuariensis alium Archiepiscopum, ac talem eligerent, qui sibi esset Pastor Animarum salubris, et Ecclesiæ utilis Anglicanæ, et Romanæ fidelis ac devotus

tus. Monachi igitur domum reverts, Conventus retulerunt quomodo fuerant a ſuo deſiderio defraudati. And after the Election of two others, whom the Pope rejected, were enforced to elect St. Edmond whom the Pope recommended to them.

In this Historical paſſage, there are ſeven moſt obſervable circumſtances conſiderable. 1. That Simon Langton, brother to Stephen Archbiſhop of Canterbury, his principal agent for his reſtitution, privy to all his Actions, being made Archdeacon of Canterbury by him, and at this time holding that office, informed the Pope of theſe Appeals of his brother Stephen Archbiſhop of Canterbury, publiſhly made at Pauls Church London; when King John there ſummoned his Barons, and ſealed his Charter to him: Therefore no fiction, but a real truth. 2ly. That this information was within 16. years after the reſignation and charter thus made. 3ly. That King Henry the 3d. and the whole kingdom then groaned under, and reſolved to caſt off this unjuſt Tribute, Charter, and to proteſt againſt it as invalid. 4ly. That if Ralph were admitted and conſecrated Archbiſhop (the deſign in electing him to that place) he would certainly with the peril of his life proteſt againſt this reſerved Rent and Charter as voyd in Law, becauſe Stephen his predeceſſor had thus appealed againſt it at the very ſealing and delivery thereof, as not only voyd, but deteſtable, and therefore the King and kingdom would wholly exempt themſelves from it; which had been a vain ſurmiſe had there been no ſuch appeal. 5ly. That Simon himſelf, as well as his Brother Stephen, acknowledged this Charter and Tribute, to be not only deteſtable in it ſelf, and to the King and kingdom of England, but even to the whole world; and therefore certainly moſt illegal and invalid. 6ly. That Pope Gregory the 9th believed both the truth of this relation and Appeal, and upon this information and ground alone vacated the election of Ralph, to prevent this deſign of the King, kingdom, and Archbiſhop elect, to ſhake off this Tribute and yoaſ of bondage, enforcing them to elect another more compliant with his deſignes, to preſerve his intereſt in this annual Rent, though reſerved by ſuch a moſt deteſtable Charter. 7ly. That it was afterwards inſiſted upon in the Council of Lyons, and not gainſaid by the Pope.

8ly. That the Engliſh Barons themſelves, though they were preſent, and & connived at this charters ſealing and delivery by the King, the better to effect their own deſigns againſt him, being made moſt contemptible and quite deſtroyed of his Royal honor, and moſt of his authority thereby, yet they abominated, declaimed, proteſted againſt it and him with higheſt Indignation and deteſtation when executed, witneſſe theſe paſſages and Speeches of theirs recorded by (a) Matthew Paris, Firſt, within few moneths after this ſecond reſignation and Charter, Anno 1215. All the Nobles aſſembled in a Great Council at London, together with the Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Abbots, Priors and Clergy (where the King ratified the Great charter, and Charter of the Forreſt, and Charter concerning the freedom of Elections to Biſhopricks and Monafteries) perceiving King John heart both by his geſtures and ſpeeches to be totally averted from them, and himſelf almoſt diſtracted with ſad melancholly thoughts, for ſealing his ſecond Charter to the Pope, and Confirmation of the Great Charter, and that of elections) antequam ipſum Concilium ſolveretur continua mente præſaga futuros eventus ponderabant; dicentes; Ne nobis immo toti Angliæ carenti rege veraci, et oppreſſæ Tyranno ſubdolo, et ſummis conatibus regnum Angliæ evertenti. Nos jam Romæ ſubjecit et Romanæ Curie, ut protectionem ab ea conſequeremur, timendum eſt ne injurioſas ſuppeditationes in poſterum inveniamus; Nunquam audivimus de aliquo Rege, qui nollet colla ſervitutis ſubtrahere, iſte ſponte ſuccumbit. Et ſic lamentantes Regem recedendo reliquerunt, ad propria revertentes. A ſtrong evidence they never adviſed, aſſented to, or approved it (as both Charters falſly recite) but thus openly and joynly declaimed againſt, lamented the ſad conſequences of it, which they both foreſaw, feared, and thereupon departed from him to their homes with much grief and diſcontent, as one who had uſed his utmoſt endeavours to ſubvert a miſerable Kingdom, by ſubjecting his own and their free necks to the Pope & Court of Rome, under pretext of obtaining protection from them. After this, Anno 1216. the Barons being driven almoſt to deſperation, reſolving utterly to reject King John and elect a new King, which they did, thus openly inveighed againſt him, for this his Charter, dicentes of Resignation, and against Pope Innocent himself, making it the principal argument of their revolt from him.

Circa hoc dies, cum denique Barones, qui jam omnia amiserant, quæ propensius in mundo diligebant, & spem boni melioris penitus non habebant, ut per se recuperarent amissa, tanto summo dolore Cordis intrinsecus, & quid agerent ignorabant, male dicentes Regis versutiam, tergiversationes et infidelitatem, et ducentes suspicia geminando: *Ale tibi Johannes Regum ultime, Anglozum Principum Abominatio, Nobilitatis Anglicanæ Confusio. Cumque aliquandiu, quem oligerent basitassent, demum in hæc pariter consenserunt, ut Lodovicum filium Philippi Regis Francorum sibi præficerent, & ipsum in Regem Angliæ sublimarent.

Besides King John himself in his Letters to the Pope complains, that his Earls and Barons were devout and loving to him till he had subjected himself to his Dominion, but since that time, & specialiter ab hoc, they did all rise up against him. And, when he alleged to them, that the Realm of England was St. Peters patrimony, and held of the Pope, &c. they slighted it so, as to return no answer to it. Yea Pope Innocent himself in his Epistle to all Christian people wherein he Nulls the Great charter of Liberties complains thus of the Barons, ut ordine perverso in illum insurgerent postquam Ecclesiæ satisfecit, qui assistebat eidem quando Ecclesiam offendeabant. And the French Kings Barons, H. the 3. and his Proctors in the Council of Lyons, with the Parl. of 40 E. 3. peremptorily affirm, that the Barons never assented to it: Therefore this clause inserted into the Patent that it was made, Communi Consilio Baronum Proctorum; must needs be a false suggestion and untruth, which makes it Null in Law.

8ly. There is an ancient Manuscript stiled * Enlogium in the famous Library of Sir Robert Cotton, which records, that in the year 1214. (soon after this Surrender and Charter of King John) there was a Parliament called at London, wherein Stephen Archbishop of Canterbury, and all his Clergy, cum tota laicali secta, with all the Lay sect being present. Per Domini Papa praeceptum illa obligatio praefata, quam Rex Domino Papa fecerat, cum fidelitate et homagio relatur omnino, primo die Julii. It then Pope Innocent himself in full Parliament totally released King Johns Charter, Obligation, Rent, Homage and Fealty made him for these kingdoms, immediately after their making (upon the Archbishops appeal against it, or as extorted from him by such atheistical impious Interdicts, Excommunications, menaces, frauds, circumventions, Crossadoes, and foreign forces raised against him, and fraught with nothing but untrue suggestions, not upon any real considerations, as the Author of this Treatise positively asserts) How any of his Successors or Roman Advocates (especially in this Age) can in justice or equity insist thereon to intitle themselves to the Sovereign Temporal Dominion, Jurisdiction of England and Ireland as St. Peters Patrimony, without the greatest absurdity and shamelesse impudence, no rational creature can discover.

9ly. After King Johns surrender of his kingdom, and confirmation of the Charters to the Kingdom and Bishops, with the Popes ratification of them too, his friends, courtiers, flatterers, soldiers, and common people; for this his Resignation of his Crown, did thus deride and jeer him to his very face, to exasperate him against the treacherous Bishops and his Barons, as well as against the Pope, and raise New Commotions.

His peractis & ex utraque parte approbatis, exultaverunt omnes, credentes Deum, misericorditer Cor Regis tetigisse, Cor ab eo lapideum abstulisse, & Cor Carneum addidisse, & ut in eo fieret optima dextrae Excelsi permutatio. Speraveruntque omnes & singuli Angliam quasi Aegyptiaco Jugo, quo diu ante premebatur, per Dei gratiam suis temporibus liberatam, tam per Romanae Ecclesiae protectionem, cujus alis se credebant obumbrari, & sic velut sub Clypeo Divinae Militiae, cui servire regnare est, pace & libertate gaudere, tum propter Regis humiliationem desideratam; quam speraverant omni mansuetudini & paci feliciter inclinatam. Sed longe alter, proh pudor, et proh dolor, et nimis dissimili quam speratum fuit evenit. (Treachery, Perjury, Fraud, Rebellions, Hypocrisy and Accords obtained by wicked Machivillian Policies, never ending in expected Tranquillity and security) Credebatur fortuna aridendo Nectar propinasse, cum fellita pocula, & venena preparavit. Ecce enim filii Belial (diabolo procurante) qui successibus hominum ex antiqua sua consuetudine, videlicet ruptani nequissimi qui bella potius quam pacem voluerunt, regis auribus verba discordiae susurrando instillarunt. Dixerunt enim grunniendo et derisionibus multiplicatis subannando: Ecce vigesimus quintus Rex in Anglia, ecce jam non Rex nec etiam Regulus, sed Regum opprobrium: malle deberet non Rex: quam sic Rex esse. Ecce Rex sine regno: Dominus sine dominio: Ecce Alficus nauci et angularis, rota quinta in plastro: Regum ultimus, et populi abjectio. Deus miser et servus ultimae conditionis, ad quam servitutis miseriam devolutus es? Fuisti Rex, nunc ser: fuisti maximus, nunc minimus. Nihil infelicius quam fuisse scelerem. Et sic fram provocantes, addendo flammam vento ab igne sulphureo scintillas excitaverunt. Therefore there was certainly no common universal consent to this surrender, Charter, but a generall detestation of, and declaration against it in the highest degree; which made it null in Law.

10ly. Whereas it is recited in the Charter: Nos gratia Spiritus Sancti inspirante, non vi induci, nec timore coacti, sed nostra bona et spontanea voluntate offerimus et libere concedimus Deo et Sanctis Apostolis, &c. & Domino nostro Papa Innocentio tertio, usque Catholicis Successoribus, totum Regnum Angliae, & totum Regnum Hiberniae, &c. This is most false and untrue: For as King John was enforced enforced to it fore against his will to his great grief, as the premises evidence: So he was so much ashamed of, and exceedingly discontented at it, that rejecting all the English; he deeply lamented that ever he was born into the world, or that ever his mother nursed him to do such detestable, unroyal, shamefull actions, and was almost quite distracted with the thoughts thereof, which Matthew Paris thus expresseth.

Tunc Rex nimis credulus susurris abominabilium Ruptariorum, quos ex consuetudine in propriam perniciem nimis libenter; abjectis naturalibus suis hominibus, educaverat; animum summutavit; & cor ejus pessimis consiliis inclinavit: leve est enim fluctuantem movere, & proclivum ad mala, ad flagitia precipitare. Tunc Rex ab alto ducens suspiria, concepta indignatione maxima, cepit in seipso tabescere, lamentationibus multiplicatis conquerendo dicere: ut quid me genuit mater mea infelix, et impudica? At quid genibus exceptus? ut quid uberibus ablactatus infauustum accepi incrementum? Ferrum mihi potius quam Alimentum debuit preparari. Cepit frendere dentibus, oculis torvis intuitum retorquere, arreptos buculos et stipites more furiosi nunc corrodere, nunc corolos confringere. Et inordinatorum gestuum plurimis argumentis, conceptum dolorem, imo furorem manifestare. &c. And when he heard tidings of the defeat of his Forces in France by King Philip, soon after this surrender and Charter, (where Matthew Paris observes; In hoc autem casu Rex Anglorum, qua raginta Millia Marcarum, qua tempore Interdicti à Monachis Cisterciensibus, consilio Ricardi de Marisco & similium aulicorum impudenter abstulerat, consumpsit, ut falem faceret Proverbio, quo dicitur;

animo nimis consternatus, affantibus dixit; Postquam Deo reconciliatus, me ac mea regna, proh dolor, Romanæ subjecti Ecclesiæ, nulla mihi prospera, sed contraria omnia advennerunt. Yea the shame and infamy of it stuck upon his spirit till his dying day.

111y. Philip King of France, together with his Sonne Lewis, & his Proctor, and all the Nobles of France Anno 1216. with one mouth, protested against this Charter and resignation to Walo the Popes own Legat, (when purposely sent to them by Pope Innocent to dissuade them from invading England, as being then St. Peters Patrimony) not only as null, void in it self for several reasons, but of most pernicious example to all kingdoms; thus at large recorded by Matthew Paris.

Sub his diebus, Magister Walo a Domino Papa missus venit in Franciam, ut Lodovici progressum in Angliam autoritate Apostolica impediret. Qui cum ad Regem Philippum pervenisset, porrexit litteras ex parte Domini Papæ deprecatorias; in quibus continebatur, ne præter mitteret filium suum Lodovicum cum Angliam hostiliter adire, vel Regem Anglorum inquietare in aliquo: sed ipsum, ut Romanæ Ecclesiæ vassallum protegeret, defenderet, et diligeret; cujus regnum ad Romanam Ecclesiam ratione Domini pertinebat. Rex autem Francorum, cum hæc verba intellexisset, incontinenti respondit: Regnum Angliæ patrimonium Petri nunquam fuit; nec est, nec erit. Rex enim Johannes, multis retroactis diebus, volens fratrem suum Regem Richardum a regno Angliæ injuste privare, et inde de proditione accusatus, et coram eo convictus; damnatus fuit per judicium in Curia ipsius Regis: quam sententiam pronuntiavit Hugo de Pusat, & Episcopus Dunelmensis. IN crastino itaque procurante Rege Francorum supervenit Lodovicus ad colloquium, & torvo vultu respiciens Legatum juxta Patrem suum resedit. Quo facto, Legatus multis precibus cepit rogare Lodovicum, ne iret in Angliam ad invadendum, vel occupandum patrimonium Romanæ Ecclesiæ, et patrem ejus, ut prius fecerat, ne ipsum permetteret ire. Rex autem Francorum Legato protinus respondit, dicens; Ego Domino Papæ, & Ecclesiæ Romanæ devotus semper fui, & fidelis, & in omnibus agendis suis negotia sua omnia efficaciter hucusq; promovi: Sed nec modo per consilium meum, vel auxilium Filius meus Lodovicus contra Romanam Ecclesiam aliquid attentabit. Veruntamen si jus aliquod de regno Angliæ sibi vendicat, audiat, & quod justum fuerit, concedatur eidem. Ad hæc miles quidam, quem Lodovicus procuratorem suum constituerat, surgens, audientibus cunctis respondit: Domine Rex, res notissima est omnibus, quod Johannes dictus Rex Angliæ, pro Arthuri nepotis prodicione, quem propriis manibus interemit, in curia vestra, per judicium Parium suorum ad mortem sit condemnatus: ac postmodum a Baronibus Angliæ pro multis homicidiis & enormitatibus aliis, quas ibidem fecerat, ne regnaret super eos reprobatus. Unde Barones contra eum guerram moverunt, ut ipsum a folio regni immutabiliter depellerent. Præterea Rex sæpe dictus, præter assensum Magnatum suorum, regnum Angliæ Domino Papæ contulit et Ecclesiæ Romanæ, ut iterum illud reciperet ab eis tenendum sub annuo tributo mille marcarum. Et si coronam Angliæ sine Baronibus alicui dare non potuit, potuit tamen dimittere eam. Quam statim cum resignavit, Rex esse desistit, et Regnum sine Rege vacavit. Vacans itaque regnum sine Baronibus ordinari non debuit. Unde Barones elegerunt dominum Lodovicum ratione uxoris suæ; cujus mater, Regina scilicet Cassella, sola ex omnibus fratribus & sororibus Regis Angliæ vivens fuit. Tunc Legatus proposuit, quod Rex Johannes erat Cruce signatus, unde ex constitutione generalis Concilii pacem habere debuit usque in quatuor Annos, & omnia sub protectione sedis Apostolicæ secura permanere: unde medio tempore Lodovicus non debuit guerram dicto Regi movere, nec eum a regno privare. Ad hæc procurator Lodovici respondit: Rex Johannes ante crucem sumptam guerram moverat Domino Lodovico; & castrum de Buncham obsederat & illud destruxerat, &c. Legatus itaque his rationibus non contentus; prohibuit, sicut prius, sub pœna excommunicationis, ne Lodovicus Angliam intrare præsumeret: & patrem ejus, ne ipsum ire permetteret. His auditis, Lodovicus Patri suo dixit: Domine: etsi ego homo vester ligeus sum de feudo quod mihi dedisti in partibus Cismarinis, de regno Angliæ ad vos non pertinet statuere quicquam: unde me sub jicio judicio Parium meorum, si debetis cogere me ne prosequar jus meum: quia pro hereditate uxoris meæ usque ad mortem, si necessitas coegerit, decertabo. Et his dictis Lodovicus cum suis a colloquio recessit: Quod videns Legatus, Rogavit Regem Francorum, ut saluum sibi conductum præberet usque ad mare. Cui Rex respondit: Per terram nostram propriam conductum libenter præstabo; sed si forte incideris in manus Eustachii monachi, vel aliorum hominum Lodovici, qui custodiant semitas maris; non mihi imputes, si quid sinistri tibi contingat. Hæc audiens Legatus, iratus a Curia recessit.

By which passages it is apparent, that the King of France, his Son Lewis, and all the Nobility of France, unanimously resolved, with highest indignation and detestation tation, this Charter to be a meer nullity, because made by King John, then no lawfull King, and without the Barons consent, and of dangerous president to all other Kingdoms; thereupon thus slighted the Popes command, and his Legates, not to War upon King John, or invade England, being St. Peters Patrimony. And dare any Pope or other Champion of the Church of Rome, now own or iustifie such a universally condemned Charter as this?

12ly. King Henry the 3d. (King Johns heir, and next successor) though much devoted to the Pope and his Legate, as * instrumental to Crown and restore him to the actual possession of his Kingdoms, after his Fathers death, not only disclaimed and endeavoured by the assistance of his Chancellor and whole Kingdom, to free himself from the Vassallage of this pretended Rent and Charter, Anno 1231. as you have heard, but in the general Council of Lyons, Anno 1245. (about 31. years next after this grant and Oblation) by his Ambassadors and Advocate, made a special protestation against it, as a meer Nullity, extorted by War, Force from King John, against the Archbishops protestation, and against the Barons consent; thus related by (a) Matthew Paris, and (b) Matthew Westminster.

Per idem tempus, Rex sano fretus Consilio, ex quo certificabatur de Concilio generali in proximo Lugduni celebrando, Nuncios solennes ad Concilium destinavit; videlicet Comitem Rogerum Bigod, Johannem filium Gislefridi, Gulielmum Cantilupo, Philippum Basset, Radulphum filium Nicholai, Milites, et Gulielmum de Powic, Clericum: ut Domino Papæ, et toti Concilio gravamina exponerent quæ Regno Angliæ in multis a Romana Curia diatim inferentur: præcipue de Tributo in guerræ tempore extorto, in quod nunquam consensit Regni universitas, cui contradicatum fuit et aperte per Stephanum Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, reclamantem. Quod in posterum factum est.

In this Council when assembled, on the very day that Pope Innocent the fourth propounded his complaints against the Emperour Frederick, to depose him, Gulielmus de Powic, qui cum Nobilibus Domini Regis Angliæ procuratoribus Comite Rogerio, et aliis sociis præsens affuit, volens hæc prædicta, per interruptionem differre, surgens in medio, gravamina Regis et Regni Angliæ proponens satis eleganter: CONQUESTUS EST GRAVITER, QUOD PER CURIAM ROMANAM EXTORTUM EST TRIBUTUM INJURIOSE NIMIS TEMPORE GUERRÆ A REGE JOHANNE, DUM SUMMA MENTIS ANGUSTIA TORQUERETUR, CUI ETIAM MANIFESTE CONTRADICTUM FUIT, ET EX PARTE UNIVERSITATIS REGNI; RECLAMATUM, QUOD TALIA Nullo modo FACERE POTERAT, PER OS VENERABILIS STEPHANI CANTUARIENSIS ARCHIEPISCOPI, QUO NON ERAT TUNC MAJOR IN REGNO. IN QUOD TRIBUTUM NUNQUAM PATRES NOSTRI CONSENSERUNT, VEL ALIQUO TEMPORE CONSENTIENT, UNDE SIBI PETIT INSTANTER EXHIBERI JUSTITIAM CUM REMEDIO. Ad quod Papa non oculos elevans, nec vocem, dissimulavit, donec quæ magis sum angebant præmitus eruperasset.

From the consideration of which passage, and that of Simon Langton Archdeacon, and of his Brother Stephen Langton Archbishop of Canterbury, thus recorded by Archbishop Parker his Successor, in his Life, Sed Stephanus Langton etsi has injurias & calumnias tam Regi quam Regno constavit, tamen cum rebus compositis in Cantuariensi Archiepiscopatu chiepiscopa u cum Regis benevolentia sedisset quietus, victus amore atque charitate Patriæ, cum Johannes Rex in Pandulphi manus Sceptum et Diadema Regium concessisset, iniquissimo id animo ferens, accedens ad altare, ob tam indignum Papæ factum continere se non potuit quin in appellationis vocem, a tam grandi illato Angliæ præjudicio prorupit. I am clear of opinion, that Archiepiscopo dolente & reclamante, applied by * Matthew Paris and others to the Archbishop of Dublin, at the sealing of the first Charter, and Legates trampling on the earnest money or rent, was in verity the appeal of Stephen Archbishop of Canterbury, at the sealing and delivering of the second Charter, (unlesse one of them appealed for Ireland, the other for England) since the Archbishop of Dublin appeal was never insisted on in the Council of Lyons or elsewhere, but only this of Archbishop Langtons; which had it not been true as well as the other Allegations, the King and his Advocates would never have propounded them so solemnly in this general Council, and Pope Innocent the 4th. for his own and his Predecessors honour (Innocent the 3d.) would have there denyed this appeal to be true; but his stupid silence, without the least reply either then or afterwards, is a convincing argument of their verity, and this Charters nullity.

3ly. * Matthew Paris relates, that the Pope setting his Study in Lyons on fire, a little before this Council, to burn some lose papers and things of small value, that so by pretext thereof, Occasionum Dominus Papa acciperet pecuniam petendi & extorquendi a Prælati ad Concilium properantibus; the fire exceeding his intended bounds, Cumbusta sunt etiam quadam qua habebantur chariora. Et fuit multorum assertio, quod detestabilis illa Charta, quæ de tributo Angliæ, sub nobilibus memoriæ Rege Johanne confecta fuerat, eodem incendio in cinerem est redacta. And if so, (as is most probable by his fore-mentioned silence in the Council, to Powicks complaint against it) how a Charter thus burnt, nulled by divine providence, gotten by such sinister, forcible, fraudulent means, should be still in force, no Lawyer or Statesman can resolve.

MIt igitur ad singulos Episcopos Angliæ, præcipiens districtissime, ut quisbet eorum illi Chartæ detestabili, quam lachrymabilis memoriæ Rex Anglorum Johannes, reclamante Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi Stephano, incoeliciter confecit de tributo, signum suum appenderet, ut magis roborata perpetuaretur. Quod ipsi Episcopi timore inexcusabiliter examinati, non sine enormi Regis et Regni, (prohdoloꝝ) fecerunt præjudicio. Unde cum Dominus Rex hoc audisset, in maximam iram excandens juravit, quod etsi etiam ipsi Episcopi turpiter sint incurvati, ipse firmiter staret pro Regni libertate, nec unquam dum vitales carperet auras, censum sub nomine tributæ Curia Romanæ persolveret. Porro Episcopus Londinensis s. ultimus et inbitus in arcum præbium versus, signum suum dictæ Chartæ apponens, minus aliis meruit reprehendi. Simili quoque modo, cuidam amplæ Chartæ transcripæ de verbo ad verbum, (as that of K. John's Charter was) secundum Chartam Bulla Papali communitam, de sententia depositionis in Imperatorem Fredericum lata, apposuerunt omnes Prælati signa sua, tam ad majorem roborationem quam memoriæ rei sempiternam.

From whence I shall observe: 1. That King John's original Charter was then either actually burnt or lost, else what needed this desired subscription and sealing a new transcript of it? 2ly. That this Pope held it invalid (if not burnt) for want of the Bishops

Bishops seals and subscriptions to confirm it. 3ly. The unparallel'd Treachery, Unworthinesse, Cowardice, Slavery of all the English Archbishops and Bishops in that age, who fearing the Pope more then either * God himself or their King, (against Gods and St. Peters peremptory commands) out of an Unenglish, Unmanly, Unchristian fear of his indignation, after such a general complaint against this Charter and Tribute, made by the King and whole Kingdom in the general Council of Lyons, and the protestation of Archbishop Langhton himself, in the name of all the people of England, durst thus presume upon the Popes Decree, Mandate, without the Kings, Barons, Kingdoms privity, and against their resolutions, Trayterously to subscribe, seal, and as much as in them lay raise this detestable Charter; such broken reeds were they then for the King, Church, Barons, Kingdom to depend on; yea so perfidious to them, as upon all extremities to desert, betray them, to advance the Pope and his interest, to the Kings, Kingdoms, Churches, their own prejudice and intralling. 4ly. Their like unworthy compliance in setting all their seals to the Popes excommunication of the Emperor Frederick, the Kings alley, though his Embassadors protested against it in the Council of Lyons. 5ly. The Kings just indignation against the Bishops, for this their Treachery, Cowardice, and Unworthy compliance, and his magnanimous resolution to unburthen the Kingdom of Papal exactions, and never to pay this Rent or Tribute to Rome whiles he breathed. 6ly. That neither the King nor Barons ever subscribed or ratified this Transcript, but only the degenerate, craven Bishops, and that in a clandestine manner. Therefore it neither obliged the King, Barons, Kingdom, or Commonalty of the Realm, and was but a meer insignificant nullity.

15ly. That the Parliament of England, Anno 40 Edw. 3. was specially summoned for this particular occasion of King Johns Charter, and the Rent therein granted, which the Pope (after above 50. years discontinuance and non-claime) intended to revive and put in execution, by issuing out a Proceffe against the King and Kingdom, to demand the Homage and Rent reserved to him and his Successors by vertue of that Charter; whereupon the King craved the advice of the Bishops, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Knights, Citizens, and Burgeses then assembled, in case the Pope should proceed against him or the Realm for this cause, and what they would do therein; who upon mature deliberation severally resolved, that King John had no power at all to make such a Charter, or grant such a Rent, without his Barons and Commons consents: That it appeared by several evidences, they never gave their assents thereto, and so the Charter null and voyd: and that if the Pope should issue out any Proceffe to demand the Homage or Rent against the King or his Kingdoms, they would resist him with all their might. I shall here present you with a true Transcript of the Parliament Roll it self, thus Recorded in French.

Since this unanimous gallant peremptory resolution of K. Edward the 3d. and all his Bishops, Dukes, Earls, Barons, Commons assembled in this Parliament, against this Charter, thus resolved to be null and voyd, and to resist the Pope with all their power in case he should demand or issue any processe against the King or his kingdom to recover it, ( being 297. years past ) No Pope ever presumed (for ought I can find) to demand this Homage or Rent of any of our Kings, or to send out Processe to endeavour its recovery; And a discontinuance, non-claim of this Charter, Homage, Rent for so long a space, upon such a solemn deliberate Parliamentary resolution, entred with special care in the Parliament Rolls, must needs be a perpetual barre in point of Law and Justice, against such a voyd, injurious Charter, procured with so much perjury, treachery, impiety, fraud, force, circumvention, as you have already heard.

16ly. All our Histories, Chronicles, generally Old and New, declaim against this Charter as most detestable, infamous, illegal, null in Law, and no wayes obligatory to our kings or kingdoms in the least degree; yea the Author of the Answer to Bellarmines Apologia, cap. 3. and learned Dr. Richard Crakenthorp in his Treatise of the Popes Temporal Monarchy, cap. 12. p. 245. to 262. proves the Nullity of it by 4. strong Arguments, and Mr. John Speed in his History of Great Britain, London 1623. p. 577, 580, 581. proves both Charters voyd by many more Reasons; the summe of them is, That this was an act in King John 1. Of manifest perjury against his Coronation Oath. 2ly. Of Constraint. 3ly. Of Combination. 4ly. Of fear, he being drawn thereto by the Pope himself, who had set up both the French power, and his own Barons and Prelates against him. 5ly. An act of a person actually interdicted, excommunicated by the Pope himself, and so unable to avouch or grant any thing to the Church or Pope. 6ly. The witnesses, if any were, stood excommunicated cated for conversing with him. 7ly. Neither the Barons. 8ly. Nor the Clergy. 9ly. Nor the body of the Kingdom, people. 10ly. Nor his next heir and successor to the Crown ever consented thereto. 11ly. Fraught with many false untruths; as done freely and voluntarily, without fear or force, in a general assembly of the Barons by their advice and consent, by the inspiration of the holy Ghost; because the King had nothing fit to give away to God or the Pope for the satisfaction of his sins; but his crown and kingdoms. 12ly. From the proviso of exception in the Grant, Salvis nobis & heredibus nostris, Justitiis, Libertatibus, & Regalibus nostris, extant in both charters (if there were two) which saves the right of Sovereignty, Kingship, and Sovereign Dominion in and over the Kingdoms of England and Ireland intirely to the King; which he never transferred to the Pope. The Liberty of a King is freely and absolutely to rule his Subjects according to Law, without being subject or servant to any Superiour, and the very essence of Regality, Independency of Authority, on any but God alone. Now these being expressly reserved, excepted; utterly made void whatsoever was before mentioned, either as granting Sovereignty, and doing homage and fealty by his Successors for the Kingdoms to the Pope; as his Subjects, and the subsequent clause of losing the right and inheritance of the crown, in case of contradicting ought therein mentioned; after due admonition, a meer Nullity, inconsistent with Monarchy, or the Kings or kingdoms Rights.

To which reasons I shall subjoyn, 1. That this Charter was procured by the Popes own wrongs and Duresse against King John; 1. By interdicting his whole kingdom; 2ly. Excommunicating him by name; 3ly. Absolving all his Subjects from their Oaths of Allegiance and Fealty; 4ly. By depriving both him and his heirs of their kingdoms, and giving them to the French King and his heirs. 5ly. By publishing a general Crossado for all Christian Barons, Knights, to assist the French King to deprive him of his kingdoms by force of arms. In all which Antichristian proceedings the Pope being both Judge and Party, & K. John the only person injured; these his own wrongs, frauds, force, can give him no just Title by any Laws; Frauds and circumventions being expressly (a) prohibited Christians in the Gospel, especially towards one another. It is an old received Maxim in all Laws, (b) Fraus & Dolus non minus patrocinantur; whence Charters, Dowers, Remitters gained by fraud, collusion, circumvention, force, are meer Nullities. That (c) Nemo in propria causa potest esse Judex (especially if Judex & Testis too.) Yea Pope Gregory the 1. and a whole Council denounced an Anathema against the Pope himself, or any other that should presume to be a Judge in his own cause, sive in rusticano, sive in urbano pradio; (much more then in case of two kingdoms,) whence Bartholomew Buxiensis, Dr. John Thierry and other Canonists in their Glosses on Gratian, caus. 16. qu. 6. resolve downright Papa in sua causa Judex esse non debet; yet Alvarus Pelagius De Planctu Eccles. l. 1. Artic. 34, 35. affirms the contrary upon this strong presumption and supposition: Quod non debet aliquam causam a se remittere, immo non potest (licet suspectus) quamdiu est Papa, Papa enim aut sanctus est aut sanctus presumitur; non enim presumendum est quod alias faciat Papa quam Christus vel Petrus cujus est Vicarius & Successor; Which presumption ceased in King Johns case, neither of them being ever Judges in their own case, but submitting to the Judgement and execution of the Civil Magistrate; and never denouncing such Interdicts, curses against any, nor procuring such a surrender, charter of temporal kingdoms to themselves as the Pope did here; much lesse by such unchristian practises. To which I shall adde, that this is a Maxim frequently resolved in Law-books by all the Judges of the Realm, That none can be judge in his own case, who have further adjudged, that if an Act of Parl. make any person Judge in his own case, the very Act itself is voyd in Law, being against the Law of Nature, which ought not to be violated, and all Judgements given thereon are voyd. Since therefore all these Judgements of Interdict, Excommunication, Deposition, transferring his Crown to the French, this Agreement from Rome, and oath to perform it, were all made by the Pope himself, both Judge, Party, chief Witnesse, and his professed Enemy too, and that upon his Legates and Bishops bare Informations and false Suggestions; in Kings Johns absence, without Oath, Summons, or Liberry to purge himself before any Lawfull, indifferent Judge, Arbitrator, or Tribunal; thereupon the Charters on this Account are meer Nullities in Law to all intents and purposes.

2ly. If Pope Innocents deprivation of King John and his heirs; and giving away his his Crown to the King of France and his heirs were good in Law, (as he reputed them) then King John after this Sentence and grant to the French King had no power to resign to, or resume his Crown and Kingdoms from this Pope; nor he to appropriate them to himself as St. Peters Patrimony, against his grant to the King of France, who by his own command was at so prodigal expence in raising an Army to take possession thereof. And so this Resignation, Charter voyd by his own Act.

3ly. It is a received Maxime in the Lawes of [a] England, (seconded by sundry Statutes, hundreds of Resolutions by all the learned Judges of the Realm from age to age) That if the King be misinformed, circumvented, or mistaken in the considerations, grounds, motives of his Grants, especially by the circumvention of those to whom they are made; the Charters of grant in such cases are meerly voyd to all intents. Therefore this Charter must be so above any I ever yet read. For 1. it recites, That King John publickly acknowledged, he had offended God, and his holy mother the Church (meaning the Pope and his Traiterous exiled Bishops) in many things, for which he much needed Gods mercy; to wit, in not admitting Stephen Langton, unduly elected, to be Archbishop by this Popes own practises, force, fraud, against the just rights of his Crown and Liberties of the Church of England; in not submitting to his impious Interdict, but commanding all Bishops, Priests, to celebrate divine Service, Sacraments notwithstanding it, and punishing those who disobeyed; in not subjecting himself to his Excommunications, unreasonable demands, seizing the Temporalities, goods of his Treacherous Bishops; and refusing to restore them, for interdicting his Realm, and depriving him of his Crown; &c. When as this Pope and they on the contrary by these impious proceedings, had more highly offended God, his Church, & the King, for which they more needed mercie, and to make publick acknowledgement and satisfaction thereof to the King by some humble Addresse; rather then to extort this Charter from him upon such a false surmise. 2ly. That he needed to humble himself and both his kingdoms, for these his pretended personal sinnes, whereof his kingdoms (especially Ireland) were not guilty, and so needed not to be humbled for them. 3ly. That he had nothing fit or worthy to make satisfaction to God or his Church for these his surmised sins, but the humbling of himself and his Kingdom so farr as this (against all rules of Law, Justice, and without president in any precedent age whatsoever in sacred or prophane storie) to resign both his Crown, kingdoms to this Pope and his Successors, resume them from his Legat as his Tributary under an annual rent; and to swear homage and fealty to him and them; when as God himself (the King of Kings) never required any such satisfaction from the worst of the Kings of Israel and Judah; and this satisfaction was neither actually made to God, nor yet to his Church, but meerly to Pope Innocent himself and his Successors, who was then neither God, nor his Church, but a professed Enemy to both; as his above six years continued Interdict and proceedings demonstrate. Besides, the Church offended by his proceedings, if any, was the Church only of England, by the Archbishops, Bishops, and Monks of Canterburies, confiscations and exile; not the Church or Pope of Rome, who had no Right to dispose of the See of Canterbury, or any of the Bishops and Monks seized Temporalities: Therefore the satisfaction and Charter should have been only made to the Church of England, and those Bishops, Monks, not to this Pope Nocent, and his Successors. 4ly. The satisfaction that was made; by the King to the Archbishop, Bishops and Monks, in admitting, restoring them to their Temporalities, goods confiscated, and what ever unreasonable damage they could pretend to, (though Arch Traitors, Rebels, Enemies to him, deserving rather a Gibbet, after so many successive Treasons and Practises against him;) was more then sufficient, (being then made and secured to the Church he had offended) without this resignation, or oblation of his kingdoms to this Pope, by this charter, and swearing homage to him. And so the charter void upon this account. 5ly. That this Charter was made by the inspiration of the holy Ghost, is as direct a lye and blasphemy against the holy Ghost, as that of Ananias to St. Peter; who lyed not only to men, but to God. For, 1. The holy Ghost never instructed any King to resign up his Kingdoms, without his Subjects consents, to any who had not the least right or pretence thereto. 2ly. He never taught any Pope, Prelate, Apostle, or Clergy-man, to receive Crowns, Scepters, kingdoms, or Oaths of Fealty, Homage, and subjection from Kings to them, as their Vassals, but expressly prohibits them to do it; commanding them to live in subjection to them, and not intangle themselves in the affairs of this world; as I have largely demonstrated demonstrated. 3ly. The * premised passages of Mat. Paris, Mat. Westmister, and others assures us, That Pope Innocent, and his Legate Pandulphus inspired those motions into King John, which induced him to make this Charter: which were full of Antichristian menaces, and untruths, (As that near all the Barons and Commons of England, had by their Charters promised homage and fealty to the King of France, and to assist him to seise his Crown and kingdoms by force of arms, &c.) Now whether such an insolent Impostor as Pandulphus, such an Antichristian Pope as this Innocent, were in truth the holy Ghost, or their false fraudulent menaces, surmises, infused into this King by the inspirations of the holy Ghost, or can be so reputed without blasphemy, let all sober Christians judge; they really proceeding from the very father of Lyes, the * Devil. 6ly. This pretended holy Ghost inspired him, to insert these 8. notorious Lyes, and false Suggestions together into the very next words of the Charter: 1. That he did it, non vi induci; for the later Charter, but the first, non vi interdicti; 2. Nec timore coacti; 3. Sed nostra bona spontaneaue voluntate; (which 3. * all the premised passages disprove.) 4. Ac Communis consilio Baronum nostrorum offerimus, as the last, or conferimus, as the first Charter. (Contradicted by the * Barons themselves, King Henry the 3d. the whole Kingdom, and their Proctors to the Popes face in the Council of Lyons, King Edward the 3d. and his whole Parliament, by our Historian, yea the French King and all his Nobles, as you have heard.) 5. Libere concedimus, &c. 6ly. Deo, & Sanctis Apostolis Petro & Paulo, (who neither required, approved, nor accepted this satisfaction, nor to whom King John ever intended it.) 7ly. Et Sancta Ecclesia Romana matri nostre, (she being then his and our Churches stepmother, enemy, not mother) all made stales to usher in this clause; which hath the sole colour of truth; Ac Dominus noster is added in the last, not in the first charter) Papa Innocentio, iusque Catholicis successoribus totum Regnum Anglie, & totum Regnum Hybernie (the word nostrum is omitted in both Charters, and annexed to neither; therefore void in Law) cum omni iure, & pertinentiis suis: 8ly. For this pretended end, Pro remissione omnium peccatorum meorum (the only supposed delinquent). & totius generis nostri, tam pro vivis, quam pro defunctis; the later whereof were no wayes privie to, nor guilty of his surmised offences against the Pope and Church. Which Charter being against his Oath, trust, office, duty, and the Laws, increased his Sins, but could no wayes tend towards the remission of them, as this Pope and Pandulphus untruly suggested. 7ly. Its Nullity in Law is most apparent, from these 3. grand defects: 1. King Johns surrender of his Crowns, kingdoms to Pandulphus at least 9. dayes before, was only by word of mouth, not Patent, or Charter, and so voyd in Law. 2ly. Pandulphus had no special Letter of Atorney from the Pope, either to receive this charter or surrender to the Popes use, or regrant his kingdoms to King John under this special annual rent, homage, and other conditions. 3ly. Here is no reconveyance of them from the Pope or his Legat to King John by any special Bull, but only King Johns bare charter to the Pope. Therefore all a meer void Pageantry, passing just nothing. 8ly. The Tenure of King John in the last Charter quite subverts the Popes Title: For whereas the first runs, Et amodo illa ab eo, (to wit, Pope Innocent) the later is, amodo illa A Deo, & Ecclesia Romana tanquam feudum (the first is secundarius) recipientes & tenentes. That the Kings of * England hold their Crowns, Kingdoms, immediatly and only from God (and King John as well as his Predecessors, not from the Pope or Church of Rome) I have formerly evidenced: Therefore he by this Charter holding and receiving it only from God (not the Pope) to whom he here granted it, (as concedimus Deo evidenceth) * by whom alone Kings reign, & receive their kingdoms, the Pope being not mentioned in this clause, and the Church of Rome no party to this Charter, nor Proprietarie of our Realms, nor exalted so as to out God himself of the Kings immediate Tenure of his Crown from him alone, as his Sovereign Lord, the Charter must needs be void. 9ly. Upon this account, the Oath of Homage made and sworn by the King to Pope Innocent in the presence of his Legat Pandulphus, seeing all the branches thereof relate only to him and his Successors, not to God, St. Peter, St. Paul, or the Church of Rome (only inserted for a blind, in the prologue, not in any branches of the Oath) must necessarily be void in Law and conscience; else God the Supream Landlord, and his Church alone commanding one thing, and the Pope another contrary thereunto, (as oft he doth) the King and his Successors by his Oath and Homage should be bound to obey the Pope, before God or the Church, under pain of forfeiting their right in the two kingdoms, which were both irreligious and absurd. 10ly. The Clause whereby the King obligeth his heirs and successors to do homage to the Pope and his Successors, and not to contradict any thing in this charter under pain of forfeiting his Right to these kingdoms, is contrary to the Rights and Prerogatives of the Crown, specially excepted out of this grant, yea contrary to the coronation Oath, and Laws of the Realm: Therefore it makes the Charter Null to all intents, of which anon more largely. 11ly. It is observable, 1. That the thousand marks yearly pension for England and Ireland at two several feasts, Michaelmas and Easter, is no reservation made by the Pope, (and so no rent-service at all) but a special grant of the King himself. 2ly. That he granted it only as an inducium, or token of this his perpetua oblationis, (so the last Charter, not obligationis as the first) & concessionis thrice stiles it: Therefore being only an Oblation (not obligation) made by him unto God to expiate his sins, it could not be a Tribute, rent-service or rent-charge, but a meer voluntary pension. 3ly. That he granted it only de propriis & specialibus redditibus nostris (not heredum nostrorum, a great flaw) praedictorum regnorum (without the word nostrorum in the first, inserted into the last) and so out of his Exchequer only, not his Demesnes. 4ly. That it was in lieu of all other services; pro omni servitio & consuetudine (qua in the first, but quod in the later charter) pro ipsis facere debemus; except only Peter-pence: Therefore no Tribute, but a pension, to exempt him from all other duties formerly exacted out of either kingdom, not a rent, or service now due by his resignation & resumption of his Crown and kingdom from the Pope. 5ly. That this Annual oblation is not granted by the King to God, or to St. Peter, and St. Paul, (the chief pretended Landlords) and which is more considerable, not to Pope Innocent himself and his canonical Successors, but only Ecclesia Romana; Now although * Alvarus Pelagius informs us, Ubiunque est Papa, ibi est Ecclesia Catholica; Yet whether the Pope alone, or the Pope with his Cardinals, or the Pope with his Cardinals and Diocesan Bishops, or the Pope and a General Council jointly; or a General Council alone, or the Cardinals, and Clergy of Rome, without the Pope, be the Church of Rome, is yet * unconcluded, undecided by their great Doctors; and so the grant void for uncertainty. 6ly. There is no grant or clause of Distress, Interdict, Excommunication, Sequestration, Entry into the demesne of these Realms, or any other coercive means to recover this Rent in Law or Equity, if in arrear and unpaid at the terms in this Charter mentioned, (a very great oversight) and so a meer voluntary pension, oblation to be paid at will, but no Tribute or real rent, as hath been generally mistaken.

Now because I found no mention in our Histories of any payment of this Annuity or oblation to this Pope or his Successors, by King John himself, or any of his Successors, but only an intimation by King Henry the 3d. and kingdom - (complaining against it in the Council of Lyons, and endeavouring an exemption from it) that it was demanded, and paid too as a kind of Tribute and publike Grievance; I did for my own satisfaction make diligent search in the Liberate, Clause and Patent Rolls, to discover what demands and payments were heretofore made thereof by any king, which I shall here present you with as a rarity not formerly observed by any.

Upon my strictest search, I can find no payment thereof to Pope Innocent by King John himself which granted it, but only † for one year before-hand when he sealed his Charter, who dying about 3. years after, during which his kingdom was infested with civil Wars between him and his Barons, invaded by Lewes of France made King by the Barons in his stead, his Lands, Rents seized, his treasure exhausted, and the people every where miserably plundered, it is probable there neither was nor could be expected any other punctual payment of it. His Son and Successor H. the 3d. being an Infant, crowned at Glocester by Walo the Popes Legat, (who was very instrumental to restore him to his Crown, and expell Lewes, only to preserve the Popes interest rather than the Kings) after his Coronation Oath, by this Legats means, fecit homagium Stæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ et Dom. Innocentio Papæ de regno Angliæ et Hiberniæ; et juravit, quod mille marcas quas Pater ejus tulerat Romanæ Ecclesiæ (therefore his Fathers meer grant, not Popes reservation) fideliter persolveret quamdiu prædicta regna teneret; as * Matthew Paris records, yet notwithstanding this Oath (made by an Infant King not ten years old, and so void in Law) I cannot find in the Liberate Rolls (where all warrants for payments of all Pensions granted by the King, or sums of money issued out of his Exchequer to any persons are carefully entred) any warrant to pay this oblation, till the 12th. year of King Henry the 3d. (full 15 years after its first grant by King John) when the

The ground of this Warrant I conceive to be this: After the death of Stephen Langton, the Monks of Canterbury gaining the Kings license to elect an Archbishop, chose * Walter de Hevesham a Monk, whom the King refused to allow of for sundry reasons, resolving to make Richard his Chancellor Archbishop: Walter posting to Rome to get confirmation and consecration from the Pope, and the Kings Proctors there excepting against him; pressing the vacating of his election; and making Richard Archbishop with much importunitie, they could not prevail with the Pope or Cardinals to stop Walters confirmation, or promote Richard, till Habito tractatu detestabili de promissis, promiserunt Domino Papa ex parte Regis Anglorum Decimationem omnium rerum mobilium, ab universo Regno Angliæ & Hybernix, ad guerram suam contra Imperatorem sustinendam, ut eis in Regis proposito exaudiret: whereupon the Pope and Cardinals forthwith vacated Walters election for his insufficiency, and made Richard Archbishop. No doubt the same occasion drew on the payment of this Pension, being both the same year, and the warrant after the tenth promised, was most probably seconded with a promise of paying this pension, else the Pope and Cardinals would not have so readily gratified the King in this his importunate sute: which being fully granted, the King by way of gratitude made this other Warrant for payment of this annual Pension the very next year, for one moiety at Michaelmas 12. and another moiety at Easter 13. of his reign.

The King having now obtained his end, by these two successive annual payments, had no minde nor care to pay it afterwards, the rather because the Pope and his Cardinals fell at variance about it; the Cardinals demanding the moiety thereof, as reserved not to the Pope and his successors, but to the Church of Rome, of which they were the most noble members and Pillars, they being much displeased with King Henry for paying the whole thousand marks to the Pope alone, and not paying the moiety thereof to them. Whereof the King being informed, to avoyd the Cardinals causeless displeasures, and continue in their favours of which he had then special occasion, and withall to please the Pope whose Counsel and assistance he then needed, and implored, writ thus unto the Cardinals in the 19th. year of his reign.

At the same time the King writ and sent several Letters to the Pope, and to every Cardinal severally, closely sealed, and a general letter to all the Cardinals, unsealed, by his Procurators, imploring an extraordinary favour from them, which partly induced him three years after to pay this pension as formerly, and leave it to themselves to divide, as these letters to them more then insinuate, compared with the former.

Eodem tempore ortus est rumor sinister, & ex rumore suspicio non modica, quod Dominus Papatancorem in corde retinuit, cum tamen non subsisteret causationabilis: iratus est valde, et multiformiter ampullose coepit comminari Anglorum Regi et Regno, ut si posset Fredericum edomare, et per consequens recalcitrantium Anglorum qui de oppressionibus Romanæ Curie, et maxime de Tributo in Concilio conquesti sunt, insolentem superbiam conculcabit. Non enim, ut ei videbatur, licuit miseris Anglis, pro multiformi etiam injuria (so they repayed this Annual Pension amongst the rest, as the greatest) flagellatis lachrymari vel mutire. Conabaturque in illo diuturno ac secreto Colloquio, quod habuit apud Cluniacum cum Rege Francorum, persuadere & acuire Regem ipsum, ut insurgeret ad tantæ injuriæ vindictam tantam, ut ipsum Regulum Anglorum, vel usque ad exheredationem impugnaret, vel enormiter læsum sese omni modo voluntati Romanæ Curie, vellet, nollet inclinaret. Et ad hoc jubaret eum omni conatu Ecclesia et Papalis Auctoritas. Quod constanter Rex Francorum dicitur renuisse, tum quia ipsi Reges consanguinei sunt, & eorum Reginæ sorores: tum quia jus non habet Rex Francorum in Regnum Angliæ manifestum: tum quia Treugæ inter ipsos Reges initæ sunt quas maluit prolongare, ratione peregrinationis suæ, quam proditiose rescindere: tum quia instabat validior inimicus & Ecclesiæ Romanæ nocivior, videlicet Fredericus edomandus: tum quia antequam Regnum Angliæ, Francis cederet, non modicus sanguis Christianus effunderetur: tum quia Christiani in terra Sancta jam a Paganis oppressi & obsessi Regis Francorum adventum desideratum, quasi naufragantibus aura lenioris prosperitatem præstolantur.

Nota.

Before all which sober, serious, Christian Considerations, this Antichristian Pope endeavoured to preferre his own private Revenge, and thousand Mark Annual Pension out of England and Ireland, thus complained against and then detained.

The very next year after, 31 H. 3. I find this Warrant issued for its payment, to the Treasurer of the New Temple, as a meer voluntary Annual Pension issuing out of his Exchequer.

Pope conferred any Bishoprick or Benefice in England upon his Cardinals or Nephews, or any Italian by his Provisions, they should earnestly petition the King, it might be thus provided: by which he was the more inflamed to the Popes Usurpations, instead of being exempted from them.

The next warrant I have found for its payment, is 4. years after, and that only for that year, (35 H 3.) without stiling in a duty, which was to issue only out of the Kings Exchequer, like other ordinary pensions. This payment was (as I suppose) to obtain the Popes favour to confirm Ethelmare the Kings Brother Bishop of Winchester, which he did this year at the Kings solicitation, * *Non obstantibus iuventute, & literarum ignorantia, & omnimoda ad tantam dignitatem, & tot animarum regimen insufficientia. The principal cause of this warrant was (if I mistake not) to procure the Popes dispensation with his Oath made to the Barons for observing the Statutes made by them at Oxford, which he solicited for and received this year, as * Mat. Paris informs us, Paniturat eum jam jurare taliter, metuens quodammodo notam perjurii, misit igitur ad Papam secretè, rogans, ut ab hoc se juramento absolueret, quod facillimè impetravit; and thereupon issued this warrant for this years Pension.

After this Warrant it continued unpaid for 7. years together, whereupon the Pope to allure and enable the King to pay him the 7. years Arrears, with a greater overplus to his own Coffers, gave him a Tenth to be collected of the Clergy and Religious persons throughout Ireland; whereupon the King issued these two Patents in the 51. year of his reign to the Collectors of this Tenth, to make payment thereof without delay out of the Tenths collected, which should be allowed them on Account, being the first warrant of this Nature.

This is the last payment during King Henry the 3d. his reign; who paid it with much reluctancy and unwillingness, delaying it many years together, and never issuing out Warrants to pay it, but when he had extraordinary pressing occasions to make use of the Popes and Cardinals favour and assistance, whereby he might reap far greater advantages then the damage of its payment now and then at his own pleasure, amounted to.

King Henry the 3d. deceasing in the 57. year of his reign, and King Edward the 1. succeeding him, Pope Gregory the X. in the 3d. year of his reign, sent this complementary Bull unto him, (the original whereof I found in the White Tower, with sundry other Bulls of consequence, long buried under dust and cob-webs) humbly requiring and beseeching the King to assist and advise Nogerus his Chaplain, in collecting the Tribute of the Church of Rome, and Peter-pence, in England, Wales, Scotland, and Ireland, to give him a safe conduct whenever desired, and particularly to assign unto him freely and fully seven years arrears, formerly due, and that present years Annual Pension, wherein he stood bound to the Church: The Transcript whereof I shall here present you with.

I cannot find in the Liberate or other Rolls, that those arrears were ever satisfied by King Edward the 1. which incurred in his Father King Henry the 3d. his reign: But by Pope Martin the 4th. his Bull, and his Nuncios solemn acquittance to him, declared by his agreement before Witnesses of quality, and attested under their Seals, it appears, that King Edward the 1. after a Treaty about these 8. years arrears, was contented and promised to pay 4000. Marks for 4. years incurred during his reign, at the Feast of Michaelmas, Anno 1277. by the hands of foreign Marchants there named, the receipt whereof he acknowledged by his Bull, in form following.

MARTINUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Karissimo in Christo filio Edwardo Regi Angliæ Illustri salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ex parte tua fuit propositum coram Nobis, ut cum de Anno Censu Mille Marcarum Argenti in quo Ecclesiæ Romanæ teneris pro Octennio jam transacto in festo Beati Michaelis de mense Septembris tunc currente Anno Domini Millesimo Ducentesimo septuagesimo septimo, terminato, ipsi Romanæ Ecclesiæ fuerit pro parte tua per diversas solutiones integre satisfactum, nec fueris de satisfactione hujusmodi a sede Apostolica opportunas quietationis literas assecutus. Petebatur a nobis ut providere tibi in hac parte paterna diligentia curaremur. Nos igitur Petitioni tuæ, utpote justæ benignius annuentes, præsentium tenore facemur, de Censu hujusmodi pro prefato Octennio fore prefatæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ satisfactum. Ad tuam tuorumque Heredum cautelam & futuram memoriam presentes tibi Literas concedentes. Dat. apud Urbem veterem 11. Non. Feb. Pontificatus nostri Anno primo.

Universis presentes Literas inspecturis Gisfredus de Vezano Canonicus Cameracensis, Cameræ Domini Papæ Clericus, Apostolicæ sedis in Angliæ Nuncius salutem in Domino.

Noveritis nos Litteras apostolicas vera Bulla & integro filo bullatas recepisse in hæc verba. "Martinus Episcopus servus servorum Dei Gisfredo Cameræ nostræ Clerico salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Cum super solutione annui census Mille marcarum Sterlingorum in quo Karissimus in Christo filius noster Rex Angliæ Illustris pro triennio præterito et etiam pro instanti Anno in proximo terminando nobis et Ecclesiæ Romanæ tenetur, tibi, nostro et ipsius Romanæ Ecclesiæ nomine faciendâ, sub certa forma eundem Regem per nostras Literas requiramus. Nos de discretionis tuæ industria plenarie confideutes, faciendi eidem Regi nostro & Ecclesiæ prefatæ nomine, refutationem plenariam de hujusmodi censu quatuor Annorum postquam de illo tibi nostro, & ipsius Ecclesiæ venimus fueris integre satisfactum, plenam tibi Auctoritate presentium concedimus facultatem. Dat. apud urbem Veterem Duodecimo Kalend. Septembris. Pontificatus nostri Anno primo. Cumque Serenissimus Dominus Edwardus Rex Angliæ Illustris vobis nomine sanctissimi Patris Domini Martini summi Pontificis & Romanæ Ecclesiæ pro annuo Censu mille Marcarum Marcarum in quo idem Rex summo Pontifici et Ecclesie Romanæ tenetur quatuor Millia Marcarum sterlingorum per manus Barontini Walteri, Richardi, Gudicionis, & Henrici de Podio de Societate Ricardorum de Luka, pro quatuor Annis in premissis Literis Apostolicis comprehensis & terminatis in festo sancti Michaelis proximo præterito Currente Anno Domini Millesimo Ducentesimo Octogesimo primo persolverit, et recognoscimus et confiteamur de ipsis quatuor Millibus Marcarum nobis esse promissi nomine a dicto Domino Rege per Manus dictorum Barontini, Ricardi et Henrici pro supradictis quatuor Annis integre satisfactum. Nos concessa nobis per easdem Literas Apostolicas facultate facimus eidem Domino Regi nomine Domini nostri summi Pontificis & Romanæ Ecclesie Refutationem plenariâ de huiusmodi Censu prædictorum quatuor Annoꝝ de quibus præfata Litteræ Apostolicæ faciunt mentionem, et qui in dicto festo sancti Michaelis proximo præterito terminati fuisse noscuntur. In quorum omnium testimonium has Literas Patentes fecimus & sigillo nostro munivimus. Et Venerabiles Patres Domini Godefridus Wigornensis & Willielmus Norwicensis Episcopi, ac Magister Ardicio Primicerius Mediolan. Domini Papæ Capellanus & in Anglia Nuncius, qui dictas Literas Apostolicas viderunt, & recognitioni, ac confessioni nec non refutationi premissis interfuerunt sua sigilla presentibus apponi fecerunt, ad majoris roboris firmitatem. Dat. London. sexto Idus Novembris Anno Domini supradicto.

Et Memorandum quod istæ duæ Literæ precedentes Liberatæ fuerunt Thoma de Gunneis, apud Cestriam die Sabbati proximo ante festum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli Anno &c. Decimo per manum Johannis de Langeton, in Garderoba Regis custodiendæ.

King Edward was very backwards to pay this Pension any more, so that Pope Martin the 4th. dying, Anno 1285. and Honorius the 4th. succeeding, sent Letters to the King, requesting him to pay 3. years arrears then due unto him, which he refused or neglected to do during his Papacy: whereupon Pope Nicholas his Successor in the 17. year of his reign, sent this Bull unto him, entred in the Clause Rolls, requiring him to pay the said 3. years arrears, and 2. years more since incurred, intirely and freely, that so he receiving it gratefully, might from thence deservedly commend his Munificence: Intimating thereby, that it was rather a voluntary bounty, then duty in this King to pay it, who thereupon issued a Warrant to his Treasurer for payment thereof, and to receive an acquittance for it, the Transcripe whereof I shall here present you with.

NICHOLAUS Episcopus Særvus Særvorum Dei, Charissimo in Christo Filio Edwardo Regi Angliæ illustri, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Clauſ. 17 E. 1. m. 4. Honorem tuum fili Charissime decere credimus, ac tui & Regni tui profectibus expedire, ut quod iuste debes Sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ, Matri tuæ, sic promptus exolvās, quod gratiam acquiras ex debito, & commendari mereatur Celsitudo Regia ex affectu. Cum igitur Census Annuus Mille Marcarum sterlingorum a te, sicut nosſi, eidem Romanæ Ecclesiæ debeatur, ac felicis recordationis Honorius Papa quartus, Prædecessor noster super Solutione ipsius Census, de tribus Annis debiti faciendâ a te sub certa forma tibi direxerit scripta sua, et nondum Camera sedis Apostolicæ de dicto Censu pro eisdem tribus Annis satisfactum existat, Serenitatem Regiam requirimus et rogamus attente, per Apostolica tibi scripta mandantes, quatenus Censum ipsum pro eisdem tribus Annis jam præteritis et etiam pro duobus sequentibus terminandis in proximo futuro Festo Beati Michaelis, dilecto filio Magistro Gisleredo Camera nostre Clerico in Angliâ commoranti, has tibi Literas præsentanti, nostro et Ecclesiæ prædictæ nomine facias integre et liberaliter assignari. Ita quod nos id gratum habentes Magnificentiâ tuam possimus exinde merito commendare. Dat. Romæ, apud Sanctum Petrum, iij. Kalend. Maii. Pontificatus nostri Anno primo.

Et memorandum quod die Veneris proxima post Festum Assumptionis Beatæ Mariæ, Anno Regni &c. Decimo septimo apud Ledes, liberata fuit ista Bulla, Magistro Wilhelmo de Luda, tunc custodi Garderobæ Domini Regis, in eadem Garderoba custodienda.

Upon receipt hereof, the King to gratifie this Pope, (of whose favour and assistance he was then to make extraordinary use, about his great affairs in France and Gascoign, as is evident by his Letters and Proxies to him and his Cardinals, entred in Rot. Vasconia Anno 17 E. 1. pars 2. m. 2. dorso) issued this Warrant to his Treasurer to pay these arrears.

This is the very last demand and payment of this Annual Pension I can yet discover, by King Edward the 1. or any of his Successors; the contests between this King Edward, his Successors, Nobles, Parliaments, and Popes, growing so high concerning the title to Scotland, Provisions, First-fruits, and other Usurpations on the King, Crown, Kingdom, Church, people, that they would never pay this pretended, illegal Tribute any more; and when the Pope intended about 58. years after this, to demand it and the arrears thereof from King Edward the 3d. you have * heard how he and his whole Parliament Anno 40 E. 3. resolved to withstand him therein with all their might, as being void and un-obligatory either to the King or Kingdom.

Now lest any Pontificians should conclude from these recited voluntary payments of it by some of our Kings now and then, that they admitted it a just right and duty, to which they were bound by King Johns Charter, the premises quite refute it, not one of our Kings paying it constantly, willingly, cordially, as a duty, but meerly as a Political bribe or gratuity, to get the quicker dispatch of their affairs they were then necessitated to transact at Rome, where nothing would succeed well without money, and Annual Pensions too, (of 50. 60. 100. Marks by the year, besides other gratuities) given and paid by our Kings as well to Cardinals and Popes Notaries, as to the Pope himself, without which our Kings themselves could hardly, and that with much expence and delay, obtain their justest suites. There are many presidents of such Annual Pensions given and paid to Cardinals, Notaries, Officers of Popes, in our Patent and Liberate Rolls, for the foresaid ends. I shall present you only with these few instead of many others.

In all these Pensions and Annuities, I shall desire the Readers to observe, 1. That they are granted out of the Kings Eschequer only; payable half yearly at the feasts of Easter & Michaelmas; just as King Johns pension of a thousand Marks by the year to the Pope was, 2ly. That the warrants for payment of the one & other run in the same form. 3ly. That the sole motive or ground of our Kings granting and paying these pensions, was only to get the easier dispatch of their businesses in the Court of Rome by the assistance of these their Pensioners, which otherwise (for Rome and the Popes credit) they could not obtain, were their suits never so reasonable. And this was the sole reason why any of our Kings paid this annuity, first granted by King John, at any time to any Pope, even to procure a speedy auspicious answer, or else assistance from him in their their affairs with forreign Princes, or relating to their own Rebellious Prelates, Subjects, or complaints against the Popes and his Legates intollerable Usurpations, Exactions on their Crowns, or Subjects; Not that they ever reputed King Johns Charters valid, or obligatory to him or them in the least degree, they protesting, resolving the contrary, as the premises demonstrate.

Now to evidence this Charter and Rent yet more fully to be null in Law beyond contradiction, I shall desire the Popes learnedest Advocates pleading for their validity to take notice of these particulars:

* Surius Concil
Tom. 2. p. 865,

1. That the whole 8. Council of Toledo in Spain under King Recesvimb, and this King himself about Anno 660. decreed, That not only the antient Crown-lands of the kingdom, but whatever Lands and Revenues their Kings acquired, qua pro solo consistat eos imperii percipisse fastigio, should not descend to their sons, but to the Successor of the Realm; and not be alienated from the crown, nor subjected to the Kings person, but Regal power; Regem terrenum jura faciunt, non persona, quia non constat sui meipocritate, sed sublimitatis honore. Qua ergo honori debentur, honori deserviant, & quæ Reges accumulunt Regno relinquunt, ut quia eos regni gloria decorat, ipsi quoque regni gloriam non extenuent, sed exornent, by enlarging, not extenuating or alienating the Revenues thereof; which this Council enjoyned their succeeding Kings by Oath to observe.

2. That it is the general received Resolution of the learnedest Doctors and Professors of the Civil Law, That no Emperor or King elective or hereditary, can alienate or subject the Royalties of his Crown, kingdom to any other person whatsoever, (especially to a forreign Prince or Potentate) without the general consent of his Nobles, Barons, Subjects; they being in truth but Trustees, not Proprietors of all their Crown-lands, Rents, Revenues, for the Defence, Government and Benefit of their kingdoms, not absolute Inheritors of them; and the alienation thereof a direct breach both of their Oaths, Trusts; and their Supream Sovereign power, essential to, inseparable from their Regalities: This they resolve in the cases of Constantine, Charles the Great, Pepins, and Othoes pretended Donations of Rome and Italy to the Pope and his Successors, the same in substance with King Johns.

(a) Lucas de Penna, a most eminent Professor of the Civil Law, resolves, Imperii Regalia sunt inalienabilia; and although the Emperor should swear, that he would not revoke such Royalties as were alienated to the prejudice of his Crown and dignity, possit tamen ea, non obstante Juramento revocare; because the Emperor at his Coronation swears, Jura regni sui et honorem Coronæ illibata servare.

From whence he (and [b] others) inferre, That by vertue of this Oath, the Emperors are strictly obliged in duty both to God and to the Empire, to take unto themselves not only those fair and large Territories which the Pope hath either by fraud or force invaded, decking himself with the plumes of their Eagle; but especially they ought to resume that Dominion and Sovereignty of Authority in those very Lands which the Pope now challengeth as his own. For this Sovereignty being the most proper and essential Privilege belonging to any Imperial Crown; by vertue of this their sacred Oath, they ought utterly to refuse (as they may) that other coacted Oath whereby they are most injuriously tied to permit the Pope (that man of sinne) quietly to enjoy their Imperial Possessions, Rights, Royalties, and tread both themselves and their Crowns under feet. The Romish(c) Gelders of all passages in Books that make against their Roman Pontif, or Religion, have gelt this masculine passage (of no lesse then 178. lines in folio) out of Penna, which comes home to King Johns case.

(d) Baldus Perusinus a learned Civilian, writing of the pretended Donation of Constantine to the Pope, delivers this as his own and other Doctors resolutions therein. They determin, Hanc donationem quoad expropriationem territorii, Dignitatis et Jurisdictionis, non valere, nec possibilem esse. The commodities, profits, and profitable Dominion may be granted, salva semper ab Imperio recognitione et fide. For to say, that the Emperor could by this donation mutilare Imperium, and cut off the Members thereof, est species fatuitatis; it being never his intention: nor yes King John, as the Saving in the Charter fully demonstrateth.

(a) Fr. Arctinnus a Grand Doctor of the Civil Law, not only assents unto, but highly applauds the judgement of Baldus herein; Eleganter tradit Baldus, quod Imperator non potest dare quoniam Imperii, neither a third, nor a fourth part, nor half of his Empire; whereby Baldus means, That the Empire being an intire and universal power, the Emperor by giving ought, ceaseth not to be the Universal Lord of all belonging to the Empire.

(b) Franciscus Vargas layes down these 2. Positions, 1. Suprema Principis potestas est prorsus inalienabilis. 2. Impossibile est Imperatorem facere aliquem vel parem sibi, vel superiorem; citing Baldus, with divers other Lawyers concurring with him herein: His reason is, Quia Lex Regia contradicit; and that it is inconsistent with Regality: Therefore King John could not alienate his Regality, nor make the Pope his superiour in his own Realms.

Didacus Conarruvius writing of the Supream Sovereignty belonging to a King or Emperour, resolves; (c) Nullo modo alienari potest, though in giving Lands, Cities or Territories, the King use never so ample and abundant words in his charter, Because this Sovereignty is essential to Regal Majesty. He and Vargas citing Gulielmum Benedicium, Carolus Degraffatus, and Felinus concurring with them herein.

Boetius Epon. professedly, and at large discusseth this point, and thus resolves it; (d) The Donation of Constantine did no way concern the alienating or giving up of the Roman Empire; but only the alienating of all the places in Italy, and in the whole West. Constantine did not Abdicate his Empire, or give it to the Pope ne per Occidentem quidem, no not in the West, nor in Italy, nor in the very City of Rome; he honoured the Pope as much as he could, citra imperium vel abdicacionem, vel alienacionem nullo modo, without either abdicating, or any way alienating the Empire. He gave to the Pope a certain right of Jurisdiction, and Rule in the Western Regions, Imperio Romano inferius atque minus, but inferiour and lesse then Imperial Authority. He gave to the Pope Imperium honorarium duntaxat et secundarium, sed minime supremum, an honourable and secondary Government, but not the Supream. That supream Authority in solidum penes Constantinum remansit etiam in Occidente. And in his Commentary, which for the honour and credit of Constantines Donation he hath made upon it, he sets this down with a Memorandum, Notabis hinc, That the Empire or Sovereignty in Italy and in the West, was not transferred by Constantine to the Pope, and very often he repeats the like.

Albericus de Rosace, a famous Civilian, is most punctual in this particular. (g) Let us see (saith he) whether Constantines Donation could be of force to the prejudice of his Successors? Accursius holds it could not: so doth John de Parisiis, Because none being deputed to an Office, may doe ought against his own Office. But it is against the Office deputed to the Emperour, to impair his Empire, or to cut and take away any one part from it; For by the same reason that he may cut away one part, he may cut away also another, and so may his Successors; and so the Empire should at last be brought to nothing and utterly destroyed, which is against the Publique good, and the end why the Empire is ordained. Ex quo verè credo, Whereupon I do truly believe, that the aforesaid Donation De Jure, cannot be of force to prejudice the Empire, or the Successors. He adds, (h) That prescriptio dat utile Dominium Ecclesie, (prestitis tamen Tributis & Censibus Imperatorum) Directum non tollit. Contra Principem non nisi quoad utile Dominium prescribitur; because the Pope in using this Dominion, doth it as the Emperours Deputy or Minister, and in the Emperours name, and so the Sovereignty still rests in the Emperour, against which there is no prescription. As for prescription by the Canon Law, that is least available for the Pope: For by the Canon Law there is required to a valid prescription, TITULUS, & BONA FIDES; Both which (in this case of Constantines Donation, and so in King Johns too) he saith, seem to be wanting, for there is a Title pretended, where there is no Title at all, quia datus per eum quid dare non potuit, and because the alienation is made contrary to Law, as we have shewed:

Bona fides also is here wanting, because the Pope and his Successors knew, Res esse alienas, hoc est Imperii. Thus Albericus most clearly resolves, whose words and reasons extend as fully to King John's Charter, as to Constantine's pretended Donation to the Pope.

[a] Antonius Rosellus, (noble both for his birth and learning in the Civil Law, and other Literature,) though he defends the Donations made to Popes by Constantine, Charles, Lewis and Otho; yet after long debate, he concludes thus: Firmiter teneo, That as to those lands and territories which the Pope hath from antient times possessed by virtue of those gifts, they are good for the possession, profits, & utile Dominium, being therein the Imperial right is not taken away, SED DIRECTUM IMPERIUM EST PENE CAESAREM. Directum Imperium est in omnibus Caesaris, irremovibile, vel inalienabile; Habet ergo Papa executionem potestatis, in the Territories given him, but he hath not the Sovereign power over them, that belongs to the Emperor; who in all temporal goods and possessions is the Sovereign Prince; For as we daily see the Emperor gives Dukedoms, Earldoms, or Kingdoms, et tamen retinet in directo Dominio ipsam Jurisdictionem et Jus Imperii in ipsis bonis, aut commissis; even so in those gifts given by the Emperors to the Church or Pope IUS IMPERII et Jurisdictionem retinuit, et retinet, quamvis utile Dominium ejus, et executionem potestatis Pontifici commisit. He subjoyns, The Donation to the Pope is good, quoad proprietatem & dominium particulare, sed non quoad Jurisdictionem totalem & Jus Imperii. Although the Pope be capable of Imperial right quoad subsidium, non tamen est capax principaliter, & ideo impossibile est per viam prescriptionis. Nay it is impossible, that in the same person should subsist the Imperial Authority and the Priesthood; & ideo impossibile est per viam prescriptionis. He further resolves, If there happen a controversie betwixt the Pope and the Prince concerning any meer temporal matter, I think the Emperour himself ought to be Judge herein; seeing in Temporal matters he is above all, even the Pope himself; & ipse est Judex suae causae, the Emperour is Judge in his own cause, as the Law teacheth. (Therefore King John, his Successors and Parliaments are meet Judges in the case of England, by like reason, who have adjudged this Kings Charter voyd.) He proceeds one step further.

Whereas the Popes to make sure that Authority which they use in the Patrimony of St. Peter, cause the Emperours to swear, that he will not exercise that Imperial Authority which he hath in those Lands, but permit the Popes to enjoy the same as they have used, (tying the Emperours by this Oath from the exercise of any Imperial Jurisdiction in those Territories) this learned Lawyer teacheth; That Emperours indeed after they have once taken this Oath, cannot intermeddle in those Lands, but ought by virtue of their Oath, leave the Jurisdiction therein to the Pope; But withall he adds, that seeing the Emperour retaineth still the direct dominion in those Lands, which dominion he cannot possibly passe away to the Pope, his Successors need not to take that Oath, and not taking it (saith he) they may actually use their own Imperial Rights, and Jurisdiction in the same, and it were better they would do so.

(d) Sed nec pignori dari pars Imperii poterit, nisi consensu simili, non ea tantum de causa quod ex pignoris datione sequi alienatio soleat, sed quod et Rex teneatur populo ad exercendum per se summum Imperium, et populus partibus suis ad conservandum hoc exercitum in sua integritate, cujus rei gratia in societatem civilem coitum est. (d) Patrimonium quoque populi, cujus fructus destinati sunt ad sustentanda Reipublicæ, aut Regiæ dignitatis onera, a Regibus alienari nec in totum nec in partem potest: Nam in hoc jus majus fructuario non habent. Nec admitto distinctionem, si res modicum videat, quia quod meum non est, ejus nec exiguam partem alienare mihi jus est, sed in rebus modicis quam in magnis consensus populi ex scientia, et ex silentio facilius præsumitur. Existimat (f) Barclaius, Si Rex regnum alienet, aut alii subiciat, amitti ab eo regnum. Ego hic subsisto. Nam talis actus si regnum electione aut successoria lege deferatur, Nullus est; quæ autem nulla sunt, nullum habent Juris effectum. Unde & de usufructuario, cui Regem talem similem diximus, verior mihi videtur Jurisconsultorum sententia, si extraneus Jus suum cedat, nihil eum agere. Et quod dicitur ad Dominum proprietatis reverti usufructum, intelligendum legitimo tempore. Si tamen Rex re ipsa eam traderet regnum, aut subicere molitur, quin ei resisti in hoc possit, non dubito. In fine, he resolves thus, (g) That the contracts of Kings prejudicial to their kingdoms, binde neither their Successors nor kingdoms, but are void. (h) Apud Sapientes cassa habebantur, quæ neque dari, neque accipi salva republica poterant. Si quo casu contractus incipiat vergere non ad damnum modo aliquod, sed ad perniciem publicam, ita ut ab initio contractus in extensione ad illum casum censendus fuisset injustus & illicitus; tunc non tantum revocari eum contractum posse, quam declarari eum non ultra obligare, quasi factum sub conditione sine qua juxta fieri non potuit. Illud quoque a multis (i) traditum, beneficiorum Principum quæ liberaliter sunt concessa semper posse revocari, sine distinctione transmittendum non est; i. e. nisi quod subditos attinet ad pœnam, aut ob utilitatem publicam, Contractibus vero eorum qui sine Jure Imperium invaserunt, (the case of King John as to the Pope) non tenebuntur populi aut veri Reges, nam hi jus obligandi populum non habuerunt. And in his Adnotata he recites these examples of revocations of such gifts made by the Roman and Græcian Emperors; and Kings of France, Arragon, and Poland. So that by Grotius his own Resolution, with the resolves of the Historians, Emperors, Kings, and near 20. famous Civilians cited by him in the Margin, King John's Charter and Pension must needs be void in Law to all intents, against himself, his Successors, kingdoms, their reasons, and resolutions extending punctually thereunto.

a French King to bind himself to the alienation of any Lands, Towns or Territories belonging to the Crown, without the consent of the General Estates of France, and of his Sovereign Courts and Officers, in whose hands the Authority of the whole Realm remained: And that he had no power to release his Right to any of the territories belonging to the Crown of France, without his Kingdoms and Parliaments consents; no nor to purchase his own freedom and ransom thereby; wherein all the Civilians of France concurred with him. Much lesse then could King John surrender and alienate both his Kingdoms to the Pope without any consideration at all.

I shall conclude with the Authority of that most famous Grand Lawyer and Statesman John Bodin, in his Book of Commonwealth, translated into most Languages; where he thus resolves at large, with abundance of Reason and ingenuity, against the power of Kings or Republiques to alienate the publike Revenues, discovering the manifold mischiefs, frauds ensuing thereupon.

Nota.

OF the Regal Revenues, some are publique, some are private; the last may be sold and made away, the first never. And to the end Princes should not be forced to overcharge their Subjects with Imposts, or to seek any unlawfull means to forfeit their Goods, All Monarchs and States have held it for a generall and undoubted Law, That the publique Revenues should be holy, sacred, and inalienable, either by Contract or Prescription. In like sort Kings (especially in this Realm of France) granting their Letters Patents for the re-union of Crown Lands, declare, That they have taken an Oath coming to the Crown, in no sort to sell or make away the Revenues. And although it were duly and directly made away, were it for ever, yet is it alwayes subject to be redeemed, and in such sort as the Prescription of an hundred years, which gives a just title to the possessor, doth not touch the Revenues of the Crown: The Edicts, Decrees, and Ordinances of this Realm are notorious, not only against private men, but even against Princes of the Blood, who have been put from the division of the Revenues, and the Prescription of an hundred years: And this is not peculiar to this Realm alone, but common to the Kings of England, Spain, Poland, and Hungary, who are accustomed to swear not to alienate the Revenues of the Crown. The which is also observed in Popular and Aristocratical States; and even at Venice the Law allows no Prescription, (the which many would limit to six-score years) nor yet the Cantons of the Swissers. For King Henry 2. having requested the Seignior of Lucerne to engage themselves for a certain sum of money, Hugo the chief Magistrate made answer to the Ambassador, That both the Senate and Commons of Lucerne had sworn never to pawn nor engage their Lands. We read also that the same Ordinances were religiously observed in the two most goodly Common-weals that ever were, Athens and Rome, wherein two Great Personages Themistocles and Cato the Censor, caused all the publique Revenues to be seized on, the which had through tract of time, and sufferance of Magistrates, been usurped by private men; saying in their Orations, Nec mortales contra Deum immortalem, nec privatos contra Rempublicam prescribere posse: That mortall men could never prescribe against the immortall God, nor private men against the Common-weal. And therefore the Court of Parliament upon a civil request obtained by the Kings Proctor General, against a Decree made in favour of the Successors of Felix of Nogaret, to whom King Philip the fair 260. years before had given the Lands and Seignior of Calvillon, for his virtues and well deserving of the Common-weale, whereby it was revoked unto the Council, shewing thereby, That Prescription hath no place when there is any question of the Revenues of the Crown. And the Court of Parliament at Rouen, by a sentence given the 14. February 1511. betwixt the Kings Proctor, and the Religious of St. Omer, adjudging adjudging the possession of certain goods unto the King, allowing the Religious to relieve themselves by some other means, and to prove it duely by way of Inquest; and for cause; which words (and for cause) are not to be understood for the poor subjects of the Country only, but generally for all. And oftentimes the Treaties made betwixt Princes, have no other difficulties but for the preservation of the Revenues, the which Princes cannot alienate to the prejudice of the publique. Henry the 8. King of England, in a Treaty made with the Pope, and Potentates of Italy, in the year 1527. caused this clause to be added, That they might not give away any thing of the Crown of France, for the redeeming of King Francis, and upon this point the breach of the Treaty of Madrid was grounded; for that the antient custome of this Realm, conformable to the Edicts or Ordinances of other Nations, requirer the consent of the three Estates, the which is observed in Poland by a Law made by Alexander King of Poland, according to the disposition of the Common Law, unless the sale were made at such time as the Enemy had invaded the Country; and that the forme be observed from point to point, as in the alienation of Pupils goods, (the Common-weale being alwayes regarded as a Pupil) and if there be any thing omitted, it is all of no force, or at least it is subject to rescission, without restitution unto the Purchaser of the thing purchased: Neither can the Prince challenge that unto himself which belongs unto the publique, no more then a Husband can his Wives Dowry, wherein the Prince hath lesse right; for the Husband may abuse the fruits of his Wives Dowry at his pleasure, but a Prince may well use, but not abuse the fruits of a publique Dowry: As the Citizens that were in society with the Athenians complained, That the publique money was to be put in Apolloses Treasury, and not to be wasted by the Athenians. Our Kings have and do acknowledge, that the propriety of the Crown Lands is not the Princes; for King Charles the 5. and 7. would not have the Crown Lands pawned, unless the Parliament at the instance of the Kings Proctor had so decreed, as we may see in the antient Registers of the Court of Parliament, and Chamber of Accounts: And the reason is, for that the Revenues belong unto the Common-weale, as wise Princes have alwayes acknowledged. And when as K. Lewis the 8. dyed, (having given much by his Testament to poor Widdows and Orphans) he commanded all his Jewells and moveables to be sold, to perform his Legacies, least that any thing belonging to the Crown should be sold, as having no Interest in it. And for this cause Pertinax the Roman Emperor caused his name, being written upon the publique Lands, to be rased out, saying, That it was the very Inheritance of the Common-weale, and not the Emperors, although they enjoy the Rents for the maintenance of their houses and the Common-weale. And we do also read that Antoninus Pius lived of his own Inheritance, applying nothing that belonged to the publique to his private use. Whom K. Lewis the 12. (called the Father of his Country) doth seem to imitate, who would not mingle his Patrimony and Revenues with that of the publique, erecting the Chamber of Blois for his Lands at Blois, Couffy, and Monfort; and yet many have erroneously confounded the publique with the Princes private Lands. Neither is it lawfull for Sovereign Princes to abuse the fruits and Revenues of the Crown Lands, although the Common-weale be in quiet, and free from all trouble, for that they have the use only, and ought (the Common-weale and their house being maintained) to keep the surplusage for publique necessity. Although that Pericles said to the Ambassadors of the Confederates, That they had no Interest in the imployment of the Treasure, so as they were maintained in peace; for it was contained in the Treaty of

Alliance, that the money which should be raised in the time of peace, should be guarded in Apolloes Temple, and that it should not be employed but by a common consent. But there is great difference between the Treasury or Exchequer in a Monarchy and in popular States; for a Prince may have a Treasury of his private Patrimony, the which was called Fiscus by the Antients, and that of the publique Revenues Aerarium; the one being divided from the other by the ancient Laws, the which can have no place in a popular or Aristocratical Estate. Yet there never wanted Flatterers to perswade Princes to sell their Revenues of the Crown, to make a great benefit; the which is a Tyrannical Opinion, and the ruine of a Common-weale. For it is well known, that the publique Revenues consist chiefly in that which Dukes, Marquesses, Earles, and Barons did sometimes possesse, the which either by Succession, Dowry, or by Confiscation have come unto the State, in Lordships, Coppy-holds, in Fees, Alienations, Sales, Seisures, Rents, Amercements, Rights, Confiscations, and other Regalities, the which are not subject to Imposts and ordinary Charges, and oftentimes are gotten by them which are free from all Charges. Moreover, Commissioners granted to sell the publique Revenues for the making of money speedily, allow it to be sold for Ten Years purchase, when as private Lands in Fee with Justice, are sold for Thirty Years purchase, and those that have Dignities at Fifty Years and more; so as some with the purchase of the publique Lands, reap in one year more profit by the Jurisdiction, then they paid for the Land. Others have paid nothing at all, taking the Valuation of the Revenue by Extracts from the Chamber of Accounts, given in by the receivers in Ten Years, who oftentimes have not received any thing, for that the profits of inferiour Justice is made in the chief and Regal Court. As for Sales the purchaser hath more profit then the Interest of the money which they have paid can amount unto; As also the receivers of the Revenues are not accustomed to give any account of Casualties, but for a small part. And in Farming out the Crown Lands the Farmers are liable to Subsidies, and are charged according to their abilities.

Nota.

There are infinite more abuses which the Common-wealth sustains by Sales of their Revenues; but the greatest is, that the money which is made is not put out to Rent, (like to those that think to be good husbands) but is most commonly wasted and given unto them that have least deserved; and so for want of money to redeem this Land, the Common-weale falls to decay, then do they also sell the Commons, whereby the poor are relieved. It were more fit to sell the waste Lands of the Common-weale, the which no man will hire, and brings no benefit to the Common-weale, to the end the Treasury may be enriched, and that the Citizens may profit by the tilling thereof: But if they may have a Farmer it is not lawfull to sell it: Although that Aristotle commends them of Constantinople, who sold their Lands for a continual Rent, the which is a meer Alienation, and money taken before, diminisheth the Rent; the which was expressly defended by an Edict made by Charles the Ninth. And although that afterwards he made another Edict for the renting out of waste Lands, and paying of Fines, by the perswasion of such as sought to make money; For the Parliament of Paris upon the Verification of the said Edict, decreed, That the Rents should not be redeemed, and that there should be no Fine pay'd at the beginning; and for that the Commissioners for this Sale did sue unto the King that it might be lawfull to give money at the entry: The Court (all the Chambers being assembled) decreed, That the purchasers might not give above a third of the sum at the entry, in regard of the value of the Lands; the which third part should be received by the receivers of the Revenues, a part to be employ- employed to redeem the revenues that are sold imposing a Quadruple penalty to be Levied as well upon Receivers, as those that had gotten any assignation of the said Moneyes. And it is not here needful to relate what losses the King and Common weal have sustayned by such Alienation of the Waste Lands. King Francis the second coming to the Crown, Commanded his Protectors and Magistrates to redeem the publique Revenues from private occupiers, wherein he Complained, that the Crown Lands and Revenues were so dismembred and wasted; as that which remained did not suffice for the charges that were layd upon them. But our King hath far greater cause to Complaine now, when as there scarce remaines any thing that is to be sold. In the general Accounts of the Treasure made in January, in the year 1572. there was no receipt made of any Revenues, although there was six and Thirty Thousand Crowns in the Receipt. When as King Francis died, as it appeareth by an Account of the Treasure made in the year 1569. and by the same Est as the Alienation of the revenues, Impositions, and Subsidies amounted to Fourteen Millions Nine Hundred sixty and one Thousand Four Hundred and seventy Livres fifteen Soutz and eighty deniers; not comprehending Twelve Hundred Thousand Livres, for the fourth and half fourth, and Four Hundred and fifty Thousand Livres upon the strike of Salt, the which the Countrey Guienne redeemed in the years 1549. and 1553. Whereby it plainly appears that the Kings Revenues are almost all engaged and made away, for fifteen or sixteen Millions at the most, the which is worth above Fifty Millions, for that Earldoms, Barones and other seignories have not been sold for above nine years purchase: and if it were redeemed and let to Farme it would amount yearly to almost Three Millions, the which would suffice to maintaine the Kings house in state, and to pay most of the officers their wages, not meddling with any of the other ordinary or extraordinary charges. And if we may compare a smal Kingdom with a greater, the revenues of the Crown of England comprehending the Land, subsidies, Taxes, Customs, Imposts and all other charges amount to little more then sixscore and ten Thousand pounds sterling a year, having a good part of the temporal Lands of the Church annexed to it; and yet the Queen doth maintaine her Court, and the estate of her Realm very Royally, and redeemed the Revenues (not selling any.)

See Bodin in his Common-wealth, Lib. 6. p. 654, 655.

3dly: As all these Civilians, States, Kingdoms, Statesmen abroad, so our own Parliaments, Lawes, Judges, Lawyers at home from age to age, have unanimously resolved, That the Kings of England cannot give, grant, alienate, sell, mortgage their kingdoms, nor the Manors, Lands, Rents, Revenues, Forts, ancient Jewels, Ships, Magazines belonging to the Crown, sealed on them in trust for the maintenance of their Government, the safety of the kingdom, and ease of the people from publike Taxes, without common consent of their Parliaments, Lords, Subjects; and that if any alienations be made of them they may and ought to be resumed; as not only void in Law, but contrary both to the Oath; and duty of those Kings who alienated them.

1. This is most apparent, by the description of our Kings Office used at their Coronations (the substance whereof still remaineth in the Oath yet taken) thus expressed in the Lawes of King Edward the Confessor, Lex 17. (a) Moreover, The King by his Right, and by his Office, ought to defend and conserve fully and wholly in all amplenesse, WITHTHOUT DISMINUTION, all the Lands, Honors, Dignities, Rights and Liberties of the Crown of his kingdom: And further to reduce into their pristine state all such things as have been disperfed, wasted and lost which appertain to his kingdom. Therefore this Surrender and Charter of King John was expressly against his Office; Duty of a King; and he and his Successors might and ought in justice to recall it, as voyd, prejudicial, and dishonorable.

2ly. By the several Acts of Resumption in all ages of lands given or alienated from the Crown by our Kings. The first I shall mention, is that of King Henry the 2. thus related in (<sup>a</sup>) Brompton, (<sup>b</sup>) Nubrigenfis, and others. Anno Dom: 1155. Quomodo Dominica Regis redintegranur. Considerans autem Rex (Henricus secundus) quod Regii redditus breves essent, qui avito tempore uberes fuerant, eo quod Regia Dominica per molliam Regis Stephani ad alios multosq; dominos majori ex parte migrasset, præcepit ea cum omni integritate, a quibuscumq; detentoribus resignari, et in jus pristinum revocari. Et hi quidem qui regis oppidis seu vicis hactenus incliti fuerant; Chartas quas a Rege Stephano vel extorserunt, vel obsequiis emerant, quibus tuti forent protulerunt: sed quoniam Chartæ inbaloris Iuri legitimi Principis præjudicium facere minime debuerunt, eisdem Instrumentis esse tuti minime potuerunt. So Nubrigenfis; or as Brompton. Quidem verò in dies Chartas Regis Stephani protulerant: Quibus à Rege responsum est, Quod Chartæ Inbaloris præjudicium legitimo Principi minime facere debeant. (The case of K. Johns Charters in relation to his Successors.) Itaque primo indignati, deinde conterriti, et contristati ægre quidem, sed tamen integre Usurpata, et diu tanquam solido jure detenta resignarunt. Cumque in cunctis Regni provinciis, omnes usque ad unum (de quo post pauca dicitur,) voluntati Regis parissent, Rex transhumbranas Provincias adiit. Comitumque Albemarlensem Gulielmum, qui ibidem sub Stephano Rex verior fuerat, de re consimili, eodemque, & ceteros pondere authoritatis convenit. Ille diu bastans multumque astuans, tandem corde saurins, potestatis succubuit, et quæcumque ex Regio dominio pluribus jam annis possederat, cum ingenti anxietate resignavit, maxime famosum illud, et nobile Castrum quod dicitur Scarceburgh, quod idem Comes in Eboracensi provincia super rupis planiciem & intrinsecus Insaniam angustissimè fabricavit. In eadem ergo Provincia Rebus ad votum gestis, Rex ad superiora Angliæ remeans, solum Hugonem de Mortuo Mari virum fortem, & nobilem rebellem invenit, Castrum Regium de Brugenorth retinendo. Qui cum iuberetur propriis esse contentus, & reddere qua de jure regio possidebat pertinacissime rennit, & se ad resistendum modis quibus potuit præparavit. Rex vero Exercitum celeriter congregato, Brigiam obsedit, & post tempus modicum fortiter oppugnatum in deditionem recepit, & dicto Comiti, cuius cor paulo ante quasi cor Leonis fuerat, humiliato & supplici veniam largitus est. After which to compleat this resumption, Item repetiit a Rege Scotozum Northumbriam, Regi quoque Scotozum, qui boziales Angliæ regiones, scilicet Northumbriam, Cumberlandiam, et Westmezlandiam nomine dictæ Imperatricis et hæredis ejus olim ad David Regem Scotozum adquisitas tanquam jus proprium possidebat, mandare curavit, regem Angliæ non debere tanta regni sui parte fraudari, justumque est reddi quod fuit suo nomine adquisitum. Ille vero Rex Scotiæ Regem Angliæ in hac parte prudenter prævalere, Considerans, prænominatos fines cum integritate restituit, repetenti et ab eo vicissim Comitatum Huntingdoniæ, pisco sibi Jure competentem recepit.

Therefore King Johns Charters upon this account might more justly be declared void, and repealed (if ever valid) then any others repealed by these Acts, which conveyed not the whole Kingdoms of England and Ireland, but only some parcels of the Crown Lands and Revenues, still held of our Kings by rents and services, as supreme Lords.*

3ly. By this resolution of (f.) Matthew Paris himself, and the Lawyers of England, Anno Dom. 1251. in the case of King Henry the 3d. his secret mortgage of his Realm to the Pope, for monies borrowed of him in his Wars, and disbursed therein by the Pope, which they declared to be null, void, and blasted at least by Gods divine Judgement: Ipsa quoque tempore Rex secus quam deceret aut expediret, se, suumque Regnum sub poena exheredationis, quod tamen facere nec potuit, nec debuit, Dom: Papæ obligavit, ad solutionem totius thesauri, quam in expeditione sui belli pro ipso Rege foret expositurus. Unde Papa nulla gerens super Anglia viscera pietatis, large, imò prodigaliter, multo pecuniam ab Italicis Usurariis (quos Mercatores vocant) accepit. Quam ipsomet Papa extorquebat, & mulgente a Rege, Anglia ultima servitutis pedissequa, solvere cogebatur. Sed iusto Dei iudicio tota illa innumerabilis pecunia, rapta & praedata, penitus nullum vel Papa vel Regi commodum suscitavit. If this King could not mortgage his kingdom to the Pope for monies lent, much lesse could King John surrender his kingdoms of England and Ireland to the Pope and his Successors, and resume them under an annual Rent, without any consideration.

4ly. The (1) Title of the Crown and kingdom of France being devolved by meer right upon King Edward the 3d: there grew some fears and jealousies in the Nobility and Commons of England, that they should be put in subjection to the Crown and Realm of France, against Law, and their antient privileges: to prevent which, the King and Parliament in the 14 of Edward the 3d. Statute 4. passed a special Act, printed in our Statutes at large, declaring, That the Realm of England never was, nor ought to be in subjection, nor in the obeysance of the Kings of France, nor of the Realm of France. And then Enacted, That the King of England or his Heirs, by colour of his or their Titles to the Crown, Seal, Arms and Title of the King of France, should not in any time to come put the Realm of England, or people of the same, of what estate or condition soever they be, in subjection or obeysance of him, nor his heirs or successors, AS KINGS OF FRANCE: nor be subject nor obedient, but shall be free and quit of all manner of subjection and obeysance, as they were wont to be, in the times of his Progenitors Kings of England FOR EVER. If the Kings of England themselves could not thus put the Realm, or all or any one of their English subjects in subjection and obeysance to the kingdom and Crown of France, as they were Kings of France, when rightfull Kings both of France and England, as this Act declares and resolves, much lesse then could King John, without their assent, subject both himself, his Crown, kingdoms of England and Ireland, and all his Successors to the Pope, under Homage and an Annual Tribute, he having not the least colour of Title or Right to either, and to whom they were not formerly subject, as the English were to King Edward before the Crown of France descended to him, being their lawfull King.

5ly. In the Parliament of 2 E 3. All the Commons of England in their Petition, with the King, Lords, Commons, and whole Parliament of 16 R. 2. in c. 5. of Præmunire, declare and resolve, That the Crown and Kingdom of England hath been so free at all times, that it hath been in subjection to no Realm, or foreign power, but immediately subject to God, and to none other. Which by Popes Provisions and suites in the Court of Rome for Benefices and other particulars (restrained in this Act under the penalty of a Præmunire) should in all things touching the Regality thereof be submitted to the Bishop of Rome, and the Lawes and Statutes of the Realm be by him defeated, and frustrated at his will, to the destruction of the King, his Sovereignty, Crown, Regality, and of all his Realm; in defence whereof in all points, they would live and die, against the Popes usurpation thereon, restrained, highly punished by this Law. If then the Resolution of this whole Parliament, King & kingdom be true, King John subjecting and resignation of his Crown, kingdoms to the Pope and his successors, and Homage to them as their Vassal and Feudary by this Charter, must needs be voyd, null, as being most destructive to his Sovereignty, Crown, Regality, and both Realms of England and Ireland; and the ground of all Papal Encroachments complained of in this Statute of King Richard.

8ly. It is declared, adjudged by (e) several Acts of Parliament, and all our Law-books, That Feoffments or Obligations made by menaces, force and Dureffe, are voydable, and not obligatory in point of Law. To instance in particulars of greatest publike concernment. In the Grand Parliamentary Council about the year of Christ 536. under our famous (f) British King Arthwr, wherein were sundry Kings, Princes, Dukes, Earls, Nobles, Archbishops and Bishops present; this King receiving a Letter from the Roman Senate, and their Procurator Lucius Tiberius, exalting the payment of the annual Tribute due to the Roman Senate and State from the Britons, which the Roman Emperor Julius Caesar reserved and commanded them annually to pay to the Romans upon their conquest of them: The Letter being read before the King and this Great Great Council, they all unanimously adjudged: That this Tribute was exacted ex irrationabili causa, because it was exacted by Julius Cesar, who, invited by the divisions of the old Britons, arrived in Britain, and by force and violence subjected it to their power, shaken with domestick commotions. Now for that they obtained it in this manner by force, Electigal ex ea injuste ceperunt; Nihil enim quod vi et violentia acquiritur, iuste ab ullo possidetur, qui violentiam intulit. Irrationabilem ergo causam præten- dit, quambis Iure sibi tributarios arbitrat. Whereupon they all peremptorily resolved not to pay to quod intantum est, being thus extorted by force. The very case of the Rent, Pension, annual Tribute and Surrender of King John, extorted from him both by force and fraud. 2dly. Upon this very ground, King (a) Harold receiving a Message from William the Conquerour before he actually invaded England, That according to his covenant with, and Oath made to him whiles in Normandy, that the Realm of England should remain unto him after the death of Edward the Confessor, he would deliver him the possession thereof, to avoid effusion of Christian blood; returned this answer to him, That he made this Oath through force and fear of death, whiles under his power in Normandy: That a forced Oath is not to be kept. For if an Oath which a Virgin had knowingly made concerning her body in her fathers house, without her parents assent, was revocable and void: much more the Oath which he being under the Scepter of the King, had made without his knowledge, by compulsion, ought to be nulled and made void. Moreover he affirmed, Nimis præsumptuosum fuisse, quod absque generali consensu Regni hære- ditatem vobis iuraverat alienandam. That King Edward being then living, he could neither give away the kingdom in possession or reversion to him or any other, without the Kings consent, ETSINE POPULI CONSENSU, SENATUS DECRETO super Regnum Angliæ mulierem extraneam inconsultis Principibus me non debere, nec sine grandi injuria posse adducere, nobis. That however he and Edward had tampered for the Kingdom, yet Edward himself coming in by Election, not by any title of Inheritance, his promise (that he should enjoy it after him) was of no validity; for how could he give that, wherein he was not interested? All which Allegations militate most strongly against the validity of King Johns Charter, Pension, and Oath of Homage to the Pope, gotten by meer force, from one who had no right to grant, or alienate his kingdoms, or prejudice his Successors. 3ly. The Barons having by force of arms extorted the Confirmation of the Great Charter from King John, Pope Innocent the 3d. himself upon King Johns complaint unto him against this force, repealed and nulled the Great Charter of their Liberties by his Bull, upon the account of force and fraud, Videns se omni consilio & auxilio destitutum, quicquid illi ausus fuisset potere, non est ausus ipse negare. Unde compulsus est per vim et metum, qui cadere poterat in virum etiam constantissimum, compositionem inter cum ipsis, non solum vilem et turpem, verum etiam illicitam et iniquam; in nimiam derogationem ac diminutionem sui juris pariter et honoris, &c. Nos tantæ malignitatis audaciam dissimulare nolentes in Apostolicæ sedis contemptum; Regalis juris dispendium, Anglicanæ gentis opprobrium, &c. nisi per auctoritatem nostram revocarentur omnia, quæ a tanto Principe Cruce signato taliter sunt extorta; et ipso volente ea servare, ex parte Dei omnipotentis Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, auctoritate quoque Apostolorum ejus Petri et Pauli ac nostra, de communi fratrum nostrorum consilio, compositionem hujusmodi reprobamus penitus et damnamus, sub intimatione Anathematis; prohibentes ne dictus Rex eas observari præsumat, aut Barones cum complicibus suis ipsam extgant observari; tam sanctam quam obligationes, & cautiones quacumque pro ipso vel de ipsa sunt factæ, irritantes penitus et cassantes, ut nullo unquam tempore aliquam habeant firmitatem. Therefore from this Popes own resolution against the Great Charter, within two years after King Johns most detestable Charter to himself of his kingdoms surrender, homage, and annual annual pension, made with greater evidences of external and internal force, fear, (besides apparent fraud) more injurious to the Kings Crown, opprobrious to the English Nation, then his Grand Charter to the Barons thus nulled, repealed, as never to be observed by the King or Barons, must much more then be void, and the observation thereof to be never exacted by the Pope or his complices. Upon this Account the * Great Charter was afterwards reconfirmed by New Oathes, and several Parliaments, without any force or fear upon our Kings, to take away all disputes concerning its validity. 4ly. Judgements, Acts of Parliament themselves when obtained by force, fear, fraud, circumvention, derogatory to the Kings Prerogative, and Rights of the Crown, have been totally repealed, nulled, and declared void by subsequent Parliaments for these very reasons; witness the Parliament of 15 E. 3. reversed by 15 E. 3. Stat. 2. in the print, but in truth by 17 E. 3. rot. parl. nu. 3. the Parliament of 10 R. 2. reversed by 11 R. 2. c. 3. & rot. Parl. nu. 70. 113. & 21 R. 2. repealed by 1 H. 4. c. 3. the Parliaments of 38 & 39 H. 6. & 17 E. 4. c. 7. 1 Rich. 3. reversed by 1 H. 7. c. 1. Therefore much more ought King Johns forced Charters to be null and voyd upon this account, by the Fundamental Lawes of England, wherewith the Civil Law accords, it being a principle in that Law ratified by a perpetual Edict, (a) Interpositas metu transactiones ratas non haberi. And the Emperors Honorius and Theodosius in their Code of Lawes, command, Thas those Sales, Donations and Transactions shall be void, quæ per potentiam extorta sunt, which are extorted by power, as King Johns Charter was;

5. Pope Paschal the 2. being in the Army of the Emperor Henry the 5th. almost in nature of a prisoner, about Investitures per Annulum & Baculum, of which he endeavoured to deprive the Emperor, after many contestations about them, did resign up the right of Investitures to the Emperor when he crowned and anointed him, Dato sibi in presenti per manum Apostolico sub testimonio assistentis Ecclesie, privilegio investitura Ecclesiastica, juxta quod miris que predecessorum placuerat, & permancere consueverat, cuius inbulsum stabilitatem Dominus Papa mox sub Anathemate confirmavit: Whereupon they all sang Gloria in excelsis, &c. supposing all schismes and scandals utterly abolished thereby out of Christs kingdom. After which the Pope with all his Bishops, Cardinals, Clerks, as well great as small, prospere Imperatori imprecantibus, & nimio amoris vinculo cum aliquandiu deducensibus per Longobardiam ad Alpes, inde ad terras Germanicas feliciter est reversus. The very next year this Pope calling a Council of Bishops to Lateran, Gerhard Bishop of Engolism read the Popes Writing made to the Emperor before all the Council; Privilegium illud, quod non est Privilegium, sed verè dici debet PRAVILEGIUM pro liberatorum capitulorum Ecclesie, a Domino Paschali Papa, per violentiam Regis Henrici extortum. And upon this pretext, that it was extorted by force, they all passed this sentence upon it; Omnes hoc in sancto Concilio congregati canonica censura, et auctoritate Ecclesiastica iudicio sancti Spiritus denunciabimus, et irritum esse iudicamus; et omnino ne quid auctoritatis et efficacitatis habeat penitus ecommunicamus; et clamabant omnes Amen, Amen. 6ly. After him,

* Pope Boniface the 8. Ann. 1301. in his Bull to K. Edw. the 1. (relating some things done by the Kings of Scotland, which seemed prejudicial to their Rights, whereof the King of England took advantage to prove his Sovereign Dominion over Scotland) resolved; Et licet contra morem solitum aliqua fuerint hactenus in prejudicium, et tamen utpote per vim et metum, quæ cadere poterunt in constantem, illicita, nequaquam debent de jure subsistere, aut in eiusdem Regni præiudicium redundare. If then Pope Paschal the 2. and the whole Lateran Council adjudged his Charter or Bull of Priviledge, surrendring up to the Emperor only his antient, just right of Investitures, to be null, void, and of no efficacy at all, because extorted from the Pope by violence of the Emperor, notwithstanding his confirmation of the irrepealeable efficacy thereof with an Anathema, his, and all his Bishops, Cardinals, and Clergyes approbations thereof, prayers for the Emperor, and great expressions of love and loyalty to him when and immediately after it was made, but the very year before. And if by Pope Boniface his resolution, things done through force or fear ought not to stand in Law, or be prejudicial to the Realm of Scotland, All Popes and their Advocates, unlesse strangely intoxicated or blinded with partiality, must now at last acknowledge, that King Johns Charter extorted from him, with greater force, violence, fear, then that from Pope Paschal, detestable to all the world, dishonourable dishonourable to the King, destructive to the Crown and its Regalities, prejudicial to the whole Kingdom, and so frequently condemned, abominated in all ages; and the Annual Pension, Oblation granted in it, was originally null, void, unobligatory in it self both to King John, his Successors and Kingdoms, for all the premised reasons and Authorities.

I have thus largely insisted on the proof of this Charters nullity for 2. reasons. 1. Because Popes and their Parasites have so much vaunted of, and insisted on it in former and late times, as intitling the Pope to the supreme Dominion and Sovereignty of England and Ireland, and the Annual Pension of one Thousand Marks, as the grandest evidence of our Kings and Kingdoms vassalage to the Church of Rome. 2ly. Because it was the principal ground, occasion, introduction to all subsequent intollerable Usurpations, Enchroachments, Exactions of Popes upon our Kings, Kingdoms, Churches, Rights, Priviledges, Properties; the subverting, nulling whereof, will null and invalid all other Usurpations founded on, or springing from it. Which considerations may justly excuse my prolixity in discussing its invalidity, and depressing somewhat therein from my Chronological order.

I now return to my Historical method, from the time of this Charters sealing.

The Pope and his Legate Nicholas having by this Charter in a manner dethroned King John of his Regal Dignity; Authority, and made themselves more then Kings, Lords both of England and Ireland in their own apprehensions, began forthwith to play R E X, to shew themselves professed Tyrants, usurping the sovereign Authority both in Church and State, presenting to all Bishopricks, Abbies, Spiritual Promotions, and Benefices then void, without the Patrons consent, by way of Provision and Collation, (which they oft attempted, but never could effect till now) to the prejudice of the Crown; and intravelling of the Church of England, not vouchsafing to consult either with the King himself, the Archbishop or Bishops concerning their disposal: Thus storied by Matthew Paris.

Eodem tempore Innocentius Papa, Nicholas Apostolicę sedis Legato, Literas sub hac forma direxit. Cum non possit Ecclesię Domini melius provideri, quam si eis Pastores præfiantur idonei, qui non tam præsumant quam prodesse; fraternitati tuę, de quę plenam fiduciam obtinemus, per Apostolica scripta mandamus: quatenus Episcopatus et Abbatis Anglię nunc vacantes, factas cum tuo consilio de personis idoneis per electionem vel postulationem Canonicam ordinari; qui non solum vita, sed et scientia sint præclari, verum etiam Regi fideles et Regno utiles, nec non ad auxilium et concilium efficaces, assensu Regio requisito. (Now inserted only to court the King out of his right, rather then to preserve it, as the sequel proved.) Cum ergo vacantium Ecclesiarum Capitulis, nostris Literis demus in mandatis, ut tuo consilio adquiescant; tu Dominum habens præ oculis, consulas super his viros probidos et honestos, qui plene noverint merita personarum; ne te cuiusquam astutia circumvenire contingat. Si qui vero contradictores fuerint vel rebelles, tu eos per Censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatione remota, compellas. Datum Laterani Calendis Novembriis, Pontificatus nostri Anno Decimo Sexto, Legatus vero cum huiusmodi authenticum à Domino Papa accepisset, factus de Rege Tyrannus, spreto Archiepiscopi et Episcoporum Regni consilio, cum Clericis Regis et Ministris ad vacantes accedens Ecclesias, ordinationes earum, secundum antiquum Anglię abusum, de personis minus idoneis celebrare præsumpsit. Nonnullos vero diversis ordinis, pro gravamine manifesto ad audientiam summi Pontificis appellantes, sed suspensos ad Curiam Romanam destinavit. rum indignationem, et multorum maledictionem pro benedictione promeruit : dum iusticiam in injuriam, iudicium in p[re]iudicium commutabit.

This was the very original of Popes Provisions, and disposals of Bishopricks, Abbies, with all sorts of spiritual Promotions and Benefices in England, ( * formerly attempted, resisted, but not obtained till now ) no Pope presuming to conferre any Bishoprick, Benchce, or Prebendary, in * France or England, Usque ad tempora Domini Innocentii 3. qui primus assumpsit sibi ius istud in tempore suo ; as the French Agent remonstrated to Pope Innocent the 4th. These Provisions after this Legate had thus once introduced with an high Tyrannical power, by pretext of Pope Innocents Bull, soon over-flowed the whole Church of England ( and France too ) like a general deluge; for many succeeding ages, notwithstanding all oppositions and bootlesse complaints against them. Which the Archbishop & Bishops fore-seeing, (though the chief instruments to dethrone their lawfull indulgent King, and set up these Romish Tyrants in his Throne) to obviate this intollerable Papal innovation, and crush this Crocodile in the shell, perceiving withall the Legate more ready to gratifie the King and his Clerks in the disposal of Bishopricks & Ecclesiastical preferments, then themselves or their Confederates, meeting together at Dunstaple, drew up an Appeal against his proceedings, which he slighting, and sending to Rome by Pandulphus, together with K. Johns Charter, so highly magnified the King, and made such complaints to the Pope against the Archbishop and Bishops, as frustrated their Appeal, witness this relation.

DEinde post octavas Epiphaniæ conveniunt apud Dunstapliam Stephanus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, cum suis Suffraganeis, ut de negotiis Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ tractarent ibidem. Molestè enim supra modum ferebant, quod Legatus supradictus, ut prædiximus, illis inconsultis, Regis favens voluntatibus, in Ecclesiis vacantibus Prælatos minus sufficientes posuerat, intrusione magis quam electione Canonica. Tandem cum hinc inde varia sorte tractassent, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis duos Clericos, apud Burtonam super flumen Trente, ubi tunc Legatus erat, misit, qui eadem ex parte Domini Cantuariensis interposita appellatione prohibuerunt, ne contra dignitatem suam, ad quam ordinatio Ecclesiarum suarum Diocæsis de jure spectabat, Prælatos in Ecclesiis vacantibus instituere præsumeret. Legatus autem appellationi factæ non deferens, misit assensu Regio Pandulphum jam sæpe dictum, ad Curiam Romanam, ut Archiepiscopi et Episcoporum propositum irritaret. Quo cum pervenisset, famam Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis in conspectu summi Pontificis non mediocriter denigravit: Regemq; Anglorum tantis ibidem extulit laudum præconiis; offerens se Regem tam humilem tamque modestum eatenus non vidisse, ut in oculis Domini Papæ idem Rex gratiam admirabilem obtineret. Restitit autem Pandulpho ibidem Magister Simon de Langetuna, frater Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis. Sed quoniam Charta Regis auro Bullata, Domino Papæ de subiectione et Tributo Regni Angliæ et Hybernæ a prædicto Pandulpho nuper delata fuerat, Magister Simon in suis contradictionibus non potuit exaudiri. Asserebat præterea Pandulphus memoratus, in præsentia Domini Papæ, Archiepiscopum et Episcopos in exactione, et ablatozorum restitutione tempore Interdicti, nimis esse rigidos et avaros, quodque ipsum Regem et Regni Libertates plus æquo deprimebant. Et sic propositum Archiepiscopi & Episcoporum ad tempus accepit dilationem. A just reward for their former compliances with the Pope, against their most humble and modest King, thus highly applauded by Pandulphus, though most untruly aspersed by the Bishops and our Monkish Historians.

Nota.

Upon Pandulphus his information of the extraordinary covetousnesse and unreasonable of the Bishops, touching the Kings satisfaction of all their particular damages, beyond the rates of Justice or Conscience, before the Interdict released; and at the earnest solicitation of the Kings Ambassadors and Procurators, sent to the Pope to reduce the Bishops damages to certainty; and the Kings caution both by

by his Oath and Parent to pay them, that so the Interdict might be released: The Pope upon hearing all parties, made this agreement between them; which he sent to his Legate, with orders to release the Interdict, the more to ingratiate himself with the King, Nobles, and Commons of the Realm, now become his Vassals.

The Charter Roll thus differs from Matthew Paris: Cestrie & Wintonia Comitum, & W. Briwere, & W. Marr. Com. de Pembrock, si in Anglia fuerit, & Com. de Ferrariis, vel de Arundell. Et si absens fuerit dictus Marr. ita quod tam Hæredes ipsius Regis, quam successores eorum pari obligatione tenebuntur asstricti. Quo-circa mandamus quatenus secundum præscriptam formam procedere non postponas, nisi forte in aliam formam partes conuenerint de mera & libera voluntate: Et si quid fuerit attemptatum circa personam dicti Regis occasione Juramenti præstiti Archi-episcopo ab eodem Rege in Pasch. præter formam mandati nostri, acceptata forma ista denuncies illud penitus non valere.

The King receiving from his Agents the Popes Letters and Agreement touching the release of the Interdict, whiles he was demolishing the Castle of Malesin in France, which he had newly taken, dispatched Letters to William Earl Marshall, all the Barons, Knights, and Subjects of England in general, and to several Corporations in special, to inform them thereof, and to give their uttermost assistance for the speedy discharge of the Interdict, which had so long continued on the whole Realm, which I shall here insert out of the Records, being not extant in our Historians.

and English Bishops most Atheistically Impious, who continued this Interdict on the whole Church and Realm, so many years, months, days together, to Gods disservice, Religions scandal, the prejudice of the peoples souls, and irreparable damage of the Church both in spirituals and temporals, out of meer ambition, pride, avarice, Rebellion, obstinacy and usurpation? The King (as a reward for this service, as I conjecture) bestowed the custody of the rich Abby of St. Edmonds upon this Legat; by these his Letters Patents.

Asserebant enim quod licet ab Anglia non exierint, remanserant tamen in continua Regis & ministrorum ejus persequutione corporum suorum, & rerum non indemni fatigatione: Legatus vero universa multitudini conquerenti ita respondit, quod videlicet de damnis eorum & injuriis in literis Domini Papæ nulla mentio facta fuerat. Unde nec debuit, nec de jure potuit mandati Apostolici fines præterire. Sed tamen consilium dedit, ut de injuriis & damnis coram Domino Papa querelam deponerent & peterent sibi Justitiæ plenitudinem exhiberi. His igitur auditis Universitas illa conquerentium Prælatorum sine spe melioris proventus ad propria sunt reversi.

Teste meipso apud Porcest. Decimo Septimo die Julii Anno Decimo Quinto.

You have heard how this Archbishop and his Suffragans were restored to their Bishopricks, and all damages sustained out of the Kings Coffers, and otherwise rewarded for their unparallel'd Treasons and Rebellions against King John. Yet on the contrary, all the Bishops and Clergy men who faithfully adhered to, complied or communicated with him, or any other excommunicated person, or received any Benefices from them during the Interdict and Excommunication, were by these Trayterous Prelates (made their Judges) and Popes censures, ordered to be suspended from all their Ecclesiastical Offices, Benefices, Preferments, and ordered to appear personally at Rome, before the Pope to be examined, ere their suspensions released, except only such as had given satisfaction to the Church for this offence, as this Record attests, mitigating this rigour in some part only.

N. Tusculanensi Episcopo, Apostolicæ sedis Legato. Olim (prout bene meminimus) Venerabilibus fratribus S. Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinali, W. London, E. Elyensi, E. Herefordensi, & H. Lincolnensi Episcopis, nostris dedimus Literis in mandatis, ut viros Ecclesiasticos qui Charissimo in Christo filio J. Regi Angliæ Illustri, tunc excommunicationis vinculo innodato, Ministerium, consilium vel auxilium præstiterunt, in hiis quæ sunt contra Justitiâ et libertatem Ecclesiasticam attemptata: Illos quoque qui ab eodem Rege post excommunicationem, vel ab aliis excommunicatis scienter per collationem vel præsentationem Ecclesiastica beneficia sunt adepti, et similiter eos qui ob causas excommunicati prædictas, excommunicationis suæ tempore beneficia contulere, similiter Clericos et viros Religiosos qui publice communicaverunt præfato Regi, et aliis excommunicatis Authoritate Apostolica nominatim in Casibus non concessis, ab officiis officiis et beneficiis Ecclesiasticis suspendere, donec se Apostolicæ conspectui præsentarent, cum suarum testimonio literarum plenam et meram continentium veritatem. Illis duntaxat exceptis qui per satisfactionem condignam ad mandatum Ecclesiæ redierunt. (This was the first sentence denounced against them, which because it now seemed too severe and burdensome, was thus qualified.) Quia vero divina gratia inspirante idem Rex ad mandatum Ecclesiæ rediit, propter quod ejus meruit gratiam & favorem, et nimis onerosum esset ac durum ut tanta Clericorum multitudo, præsertim cum quidam illorum minus, quidam vero gravius in præmissis deliquisse noscantur, ad nostram præsentiam elaboraret. Mandamus quatenus cum eis quos minus excessisse constiterit, misericorditer agas, prout pensatis undique circumstantiis videris expedire.

How mercifully these Ecclesiastical persons were dealt with for their Loyalty to the King, is evident by the * fore-mentioned proceedings against the White Monk, but especially against Alexander Cementarius, (enforced to beg his bread) who had many other fellow sufferers in a very high degree, instead of being advanced, rewarded, or at least indemnified, for their fidelity to their Sovereign.

Abbatem de Washam, missum ex parte Legati; fracto ipsius sigillo in capitulo. Cujus loco substitutus est Willielmus de Haver, Prior Frontonie Monachus Gadenensis; by this Legates usurped power, who plaid the part of a Pope as well as King in England.

The turbulent, traitorous Archbishop after the Interdict released, out of malice and discontent, stirred up the Barons to a new insurrection against the King about their Liberties, the ground-work whereof he had laid the year before; in pursuance of which, * Convenerunt ad colloquium apud Sanctum Edmundum Comes & Barones Angliæ, quasi orationis gratia, licet in causa aliud fuisset. Nam cum diu & secretius tractare cepissent, producta est in medium Charta quædam Henrici Regis primi, quam iidem Barones à Stephano Archiepiscopo (ut prædictum est) in Circe Londoniæ acceperant. Continebat autem Charta quasdam Libertates, & Leges Regis Edwardi Sancti, Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ pariter & Magnatibus Regni concessas, exceptis quibusdam Libertatibus quas idem Rex de suo adjecit. Itaque convenerunt Universi ad Ecclesiæ Sancti Edmundi, & incipientibus Majoribus, juraverunt super majori altare, quod si Rex Leges et Libertates jam dictas concedere diffugeret, ipsi ei guerram tam diu moverent et ab ejus fidelitate se subtraherent, donec eis per Chartam sigillo suo munitam confirmaret omnia quæ petebant. Atque in hoc tandem, communiter consenserunt, ut post natale Domini simul omnes ad Regem venientes, Libertates præscriptas sibi peterent confirmari. Atque interim in equis sibi et Armis taliter providere quod si forte Rex a proprio vellet juramento, quod bene credebant, resilire propter suam duplicitatem, ipsi protinus per captivum *Castro*rum suorum, eum ad satisfactionem compellerent. Et his ita gestis unusquisque ad propria remeavit.

* Mar. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 243.

* After the Nativity, Anno 1215. they all coming to the King, demanded the confirmation of this Charter, who craved time to advise thereon till after Easter, being a great and difficult matter, highly concerning both himself and his Crown; the Archbishop and two more becoming his sureties, that then he should give satisfaction to all of them. The Barons against the time, rather preparing themselves for a Battle, then Conference with the King, assembled together at Stamford, with an Army inestimable for number, having Archbishop Stephen their principal Adversary and Consister, who yet seemed to side with the King, and was most assiduous about him: The Barons marching as far as Brackley, the King sent the Archbishop to treat with them, who brought back a Schedule of their claimed Liberties, with this Message, That if he presently confirmed them not to them by his Charter, they would force him to it, by seizing all his Castles and Possessions. Whereupon the King replied,

Why

Why do they not also demand the Kingdom, swearing never to enslave himself to such a concession? The Archbishop returning with this peremptory answer, the Barons forthwith seized Bedford Castle, and were admitted into London, the Citizens siding with them: whereupon the King appointed to treat with them at Running-mere, whither the Barons came with armed multitudes from all parts of the Realm; where after some parly, the King granted them their utmost desires, not only for their Liberties specified in Magna Charta, and Charta Foresta, which he then sealed, and by his Writs commanded to be put in due execution, but also that 25. Peers elected by them (to whom all were sworn to obey) should force the King to observe these Charters, if ever he receded from them, by seizing all his Castles, * Juratum est etiam a parte Regis, Quod Anglicana Ecclesia Libera sit, & quod omnes homines de Regno nostro habeant & teneant omnes Libertates prefatas, jura & consuetudines bene & in pace, libere & quiete, plene & integre, sibi & heredibus suis, de nobis & heredibus nostris, in omnibus rebus & locis in perpetuum: Et quod omnia supradicta, bona fide & sine malo ingenio, observabimus. All the Barons and Commons of the Realm then and afterwards taking the same Oath.

The Archbishop and Barons thrust into this new Charter many Articles, Clauses for their own, the Churches, and Popes advantage, not extant in the Charter of King Henry the 1. For whereas the first branch of his Charter runs thus: * Sanctam Dei Ecclesiam liberam facio: Ita quod nec eam vendam, nec ad firmam ponam, nec mortuo Archiepiscopo, vel Episcopo, vel Abbate, aliquid accipiam de dominio Ecclesie, vel de hominibus, donec successor in eam ingreditur. This clause is thus altered and enlarged in King Johns Charter: * In primis concessisse Deo, et hac presenti Charta nostra confirmasse pro nobis et heredibus nostris in perpetuum, quod Anglicana Ecclesia libera sit, et habeat jura sua integra, suas et libertates illas, et ita volumus observari, quod apparet ex eo, quod libertatem electionum quæ maxima et magis necessaria reputatur Ecclesie Anglicanæ, mera et spontanea voluntate, ante discordiam inter nos et Barones nostros manifeste motam, concessimus, et Charta nostra confirmabimus, et eam obtinuimus a Domino Papa Innocentio Papa tertio, confirmari: quam et nos observabimus, et ab heredibus nostris in perpetuum bona fide volumus observari. By which Clause the Archbishop and Bishops cunningly obtained and wrested a new Charter from the King, concerning the freedom of Elections to Bishopricks and Abbies, (never insisted on before) to deprive the King of his antient Right and Prerogative of recommending such as he thought fit and faithfull to him and the Kingdom thereunto, as right Patron of them. And whereas no Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, Clerk, or Religious person could go out of the Realm, or repair to Rome, or to the Pope upon any occasion or Appeal, without the Kings special license first obtained; nor return without it in cases of contempt; they inserted this Article into this Charter: * Liceat unicuique de cetero exire de Regno nostro, et redire salvo et secure per terram et per aquam, salva fide nostra; nisi in tempore guerræ per aliquod breve tempus, propter communem utilitatem Regni; exceptis Impersonatis et Atlagatis, secundum Legem Regni, et gente contra nos guerrina et Mercatoribus. By which they obtained liberty to depart the Realm, and repair to the Pope or Court of Rome, to all foreign Monasteries, Councils, and to return again freely at their pleasure, to the great prejudice of the King, Kingdom, and enlargement of the Popes usurped power and encroachments on the Crown. They likewise inserted for the Clergies advantage: * Nulla Ecclesiastica persona amercietur secundum quantitatem beneficii sui, sed secundum Laicum tenementum suum, (of which they had seldome any) & secundum quantitatem delicti. Moreover the Archbishop and Clergy would not be satisfied with this Great Charter, thus ratified and sworn unto by the King, without another special Charter to themselves concerning the freedom of Elections, which the King himself must not only confirm and seal, but the Pope too: * Concessit insuper eodem Anno Rex Johannes, ut prius corda Prelatorum et Magnatum sibi conciliaret, liberas in omnibus Ecclesiæ Angliæ electiones. Et procuraverunt tam ipse Rex, Rex, quam Magnates et Prelati, ut illa sua similiter hac Charta et concessio, A PAPA CONFIRMARETUR, (an Innovation not formerly usual, much advancing, countenancing the Popes usurped power above the Crown, as if his ratification were more valid then the Kings Charter under his Great Seal) unde ad maiorem securitatem, Regalis Charta in Papali confirmatione inseritur Bullata. Volens autem Rex Johannes ad maiorem securitatem et robur diuturnitatis hæc insolabiliter observari; (as if the Popes Bull were then more valid and perpetual then his own Charters) misit ad Dominum Papam Innocentium: rogans constanter, ut huic pæ concessioni et confirmationi suæ favorem dignaretur exhibere, et eandem Bullæ munimine confirmare. Quæ quia jam factus fuit obsequens Papæ vassallus (an honourable Title for a King of England) et Rex Apostolicus, meruit quæ petiit citius impetrare sub hac forma.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Venerabilibus fratribus & dilectis filiis universis Ecclesiarum Prelatis per Angliam constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Dignis laudibus attollimus magnificentiam creatoris, postquam idem, qui est mirabilis & terribilis in consiliis super filios hominum, aliquamdiu tolleravit ut per stando discurret per Areolam horti sui spem tempestatis quasi ludens, taliter in orbe terrarum, ut sic ostenderet infirmitatem & insufficientiam nobis, statim cum voluit, dixit & Aquiloni, da, & Austro, noli prohibere, imperansque ventis per mare, statuit procellam in aurâ, ut nautæ portum inveniant præoptatum. Cumque enim inter Regnum et Sacerdotium Anglicanum, non sine magno periculo atque damno, super electionibus Prelatorum gravis fuerit controversia diutius agitata; illo tandem, cui nihil impossibile est, quique ubi vult spirat mirabiliter operante, Charissimus Johannes Rex Anglorum illustris, liberaliter ex mera et spontanea voluntate, (Therefore an Act of grace, though forced, not of right, duty to the Bishops and Church) de consensu communi Baronum suorum, pro salute animæ suæ, et prædecessorum suorum et successorum, nobis concessit, et suis Literis confirmavit: ut de cætero in universis et singulis Ecclesiis ac Monasteriis, Cathedralibus et Conventualibus totius Regni Angliæ, in perpetuum liberæ fiant electiones quorumcumque Prelatorum, majorum et etiam minorum. Nos igitur hoc gratum et ratum habentes, concessionem huiusmodi vobis et per vos Ecclesiis et successoribus vestris, prout in eisdem Literis Regis perspeximus contineri, auctoritate Apostolica confirmamus, et præsentis scripti patrocinio communimus. Ad maiorem autem firmitatem, et perpetuam memoriam huius rei, præfatos Regis Literas super hoc confectas, præsentibus misceri fecimus, quarum tenor talis est.

Charta 16 Johannis Regis, part 2. m. 3. jntus.

REX S. Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, &c. Noverit sanctitas vestra quod grata est nobis, & accepta forma nobis nota de Electionibus faciendis, Salvo in omnibus Jure nostro. Dimittimus autem post nos Venerabilem Patrem nostrum P. Wintonensem Episcopum, una cum aliis fidelibus nostris quos deputabimus & potentes faciemus ad assensum nostrum præstandum in humilissimi Electionibus salva dignitate nostra. Sciatque etiam quod nulla inter nos est controversia. Teste me ipso apud Turrim London. Duodecimo die Jun.

This Charter (though it saved this part of the Kings Prerogative, to petition him and his Heirs for licenses to elect & for his assent) gave a great wound to his Ecclesiastical Supremacy, and made all Chapters, Covents, Bishops, Monks, yea Popes and their Agents to slight his Regal Authority, and licenses too, insomuch that he could preferre no person to any Bishoprick, Monastery, or Elective Dignity, but whom the Electors pleased to make choice of; and if he recommended any to them, though never so fit, and with great importunity, courtship, and submission to every Chapter or Covent, yet they to shew their pride, power, and preserve their freedom in Elections

Elections, would scildome elect any whom our Kings recommended, unlesse upon some special reasons for their own emolument.

The Archbishop besides this general Charter, obtained from the King this special Charter to him and his successors, of the Advowson, custody, disposition of the Bishoprick and Temporalities of Rochester, during the vacancy, and that they should restore the Bishop of Rochester his Regalia, and receive Fealty from him as Patron of this Bishoprick, without his regal assent before or after the election, reserving only a Fealty from the Bishop of Rochester, as to his Prince, but not for his Lands; whereby he created the Archbishop a petty King, and in some sort unkinged himself as to this Bishoprick, giving away all the services due to him and his Heirs out of it; to the Archbishop and his successors, to reclaime him from his Treachery and Rebellion by this transcendent favour, which he presently turned into treachery.

JOHANNES Dei gratia Rex Anglia, &c. Archiepiscopis, &c. Sciatis nos pro saluto anime nostre, & antecessorum, & successorum nostrorum Regum Anglia, de communi consilio Episcoporum, Comitum, Baronum, & aliorum fidelium nostrorum reddidisse & concessisse Deo & Ecclesie Christi Cantuar. & Venerabili Patri nostro S. Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, totius Angliae Primati, & Sanctae Romanae Ecclesiae Cardinali, Patronatum Ecclesiae Episcopatus Rossensis, cum omnibus pertinentiis, dignitatibus, libertatibus, & liberis consuetudinibus suis. Ita quod vacante illa sede Episcopali custodiam, et ordinationem illius Ecclesiae, idem Archiepiscopus et successores sui habeant libere et pacifice in perpetuum ut Patroni. Ita quod in Ordinatione illius Ecclesiae de Episcopo et Episcopi electione, nec ante, nec post electionem Episcopi (marcko ii) Regius requiretur assensus, set totum ad Archiepiscopum quicumque fuerit pertinebit. Episcopus autem vel electus loci illius temporalia quae prius vocabantur Regalia, de manu praedicti Archiepiscopi et successorum suorum plenarie recipiet, et fidelitatem ei faciet de feodis pertinentibus ad Ecclesiam illam Episcopalem tanquam Patrono ejusdem Episcopatus: servitia autem quae nobis inde et Heredibus nostris debentur, Episcopus, qui pro tempore ibi fuerit faciet praedicto Archiepiscopo & successoribus suis in perpetuum tanquam Dominis et Patronis, et ipse Archiepiscopus et successores sui eadem servitia per manus suas nobis et successoribus nostris facient. Faciet quoque Episcopus Rossensis nobis et Heredibus nostris fidelitatem tanquam Principi, set non propter feodum. Quare volumus et firmiter precipimus, quod praedictus Archiepiscopus et successores sui praedictum Patronatum Episcopatus Rossensis cum custodia et ordinatione ejusdem, cum vacaverit, habeant et teneant libere et quiete, pacifice, integre, et plenarie, cum omnibus pertinentiis dignitatibus, Libertatibus, et liberis consuetudinibus imperpetuum sicut praedictum est. Prohibemus autem ex parte Dei omnipotentis, et Beatae Mariae, et omnium Sanctorum, et nostra, ne quis contra hanc piam et liberalem redditionem et concessionem nostram venire praesumat. Quod si quis fecerit maledictionem Dei et Beatae Petri, et omnium Sanctorum ac nostram incurrat. Testibus Dominis W. Londoniensi, P. Wintoniensi, R. Elyensi, E. Herefordensi, J. Bathoniensi, & Glasc. How well he requited the King, by betraying Rochester Castle to the Barons, soon after you shall hear more.

The Archbishop, Bishops, and Barons, having by treachery fraud, and force thus wrested all these Charters, and confirmations from King John, thereby in a manner totally devided him of all his Ecclesiasticall and Civil Royal authority in Church and State, deemed themselves, the Church and Kingdom in a most happy secure, flourishing, prosperous condition for the future; when God by his providence suddenly blasted all their hopes, by alienating the Kings heart from them, and by making use even of the Popes usurped power, interest in England, (which they were the principal instruments to promote to dethrone their Lawful King,) the instrument to scourge, excommunicate, punish and revenge their Rebellions against the King, and null most of the Charters wrested from him, by his Bulls. For King John with drawing and obscuring himself from his Bishops and Barons in the Isle of Wight, sent messengers secretly to Rome, to complain and appeal to the Pope against their Treasons, rebellions, and the Charters forcibly extorted from him, whiles under the Popes protection; who thereupon vacated the Charters, thus recorded by Matthew Paris.

PER idem tempus steterunt Roma in praesentia Domini Papae, nuncij Regis Anglorum; allegantes coram eo rebelliones et iniurias, quas Barones Angliae (by the Archbishops intigation) excitaverant adversus Regem memoratum, exigentes ab eo quasdam Leges et libertates iniquas, quas dignitatem Regiam non deceuit confirmare. Et cum post motam inter eos discordiam, Rex et Barones de pace tractaturi multoties convenissent; idem Rex publice protestatus est coram eis, Regnum Angliae ratione Domini ad Romanam Ecclesiam specialiter pertinere. (which be only complementally affirmed; but the Barons utterly denied it.) Unde nec potuit nec debuit praeter conscientiam Domini Papae de novo aliquid statuere, vel quicquam in ejus praedictum in Regno immutare. Quocirca cum interposita appellatione, seipsum et omnia iura regni sui sub protectione sedis Apostolicae supposuisset; dicti Barones appellationi factae non deferentes, civitatem Londoniarum, quae caput regni sui est, prodicione sibi traditam occuparunt, et adhuc detinent occupatam. Quod cum factum fuisset, ad equos convolantes et arma, exegerunt a Rege libertates praescriptas sibi confirmari. Ipseque eorum metuens impetum, quod petebant non ausus est denegare. Porrexerunt ergo nuncij memorati Domino Papae quaedam capitula de charta praedicta, in scriptam redacta, quae causa Regis magis videbantur congruere. Quae cum diligenter inspexisset, cum admiratione respondit, rugis contractis indignationem testantibus: Nunquid Barones Angliae Regem cruce signatum, et sub protectione sedis Apostolicae constitutum, a solio regni nituntur expellere, et Dominium Romanae Ecclesiae ad altum transferre? Per sanctum Petrum, hanc injuriam non poterimus praeterire impunitam. Tunc Papa habita deliberatione cum Cardinalibus, chartam saepe dictam de libertatibus Regni Angliae concessis, in perpetuum per sententiam diffinitivam damnatam cassavit, et in illius rei testimonium, Regi Anglorum privilegium subscriptum transmisit.

( By which sentence, and the several grounds, reasons therein alleaged for avoyding the great Charter as obtained from the King through force, fear, circumvention, rebellion, this Pope totally nuls and subverts King Johns Charter of Resignation and oblation made unto himself by like means but the year before. )

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, universis Christi fidelibus hanc paginam inspecturis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Etsi Charissimus in Christo filius noster Johannes Rex Anglorum illustris, Deum et Ecclesiam vehementer offenderit, unde nos eum vinculo communicationis inmodavimus, et regnum ejus Ecclesiastico subjecimus interdicto; ipse tamen (illo misericorditer inspirante) qui non vult mortem mortem peccatoris, sed convertatur & vivat, tandem conversus ad cor, Deo et Ecclesiæ humiliter satisfecit; in tantum, quod non solum recompensationem pro damnis, et restitutionem exhibuit pro ablatiis, verum etiam plenariam libertatem contulit Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ. Quinimo utraque sententia relaxata, regnum suum tam Angliæ quam Hybernæ, beato Petro et Ecclesiæ Romanæ concessit, recipiens illud a nobis in feudum sub annuo censu Mille Marcarum, fidelitatis nobis inde præstato juramento, sicut per privilegium ejus Apparet. Aurea Bulla munus. Adhuc etiam Omnipotenti Deo amplius placere desiderans, signum vivificæ Crucis reverenter accepit, profecturus in subsidium Terræ Sanctæ, ad quod se magnifice præparabat. Sed humani generis inimicus, qui semper consuevit bonis actibus invidere, suis calidis artibus adversus eum Barones Angliæ conturbavit, ita ut ordine perverso in filium insurgerent, postquam conversus Ecclesiæ satisfecit, qui assistebant eidem quando Ecclesiam offendebat. Orta siquidem inter eos dissensionis materia, cum plures dies statuti fuissent, ad tractandum de pace, utrinque interim sollemnes Nunci ad nostram fuerunt præsentiam destinati. Cum quibus habito diligenti tractatu, post plenam deliberationem scripsimus per eisdem Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo et Episcopis Anglicanis; præcipiendo mandantes, ut ad reformandam inter utroque veram et plenam concordiam diligens impenderent studium et operam efficacem, omnes conjurationes et conspirationes, si quæ fuerant forte præsumptæ a tempore subortæ discordiæ inter regnum et sacerdotium, Apostolica denuntiantes Authoritate cassatas, et per excommunicationis sententiam inhibentes notalia de cetero præsumerentur a quoquam. Magnates et Nobiles Angliæ monendo prudenter, et efficaciter injungendo, ut per manifesta devotionis et humilitatis indicia, ipsum Regem sibi placare studerent: ac deinde si quid ab eo ducerent postulandum, non insolenter sed humiliter implozarent, regalem conservantes ei honorem, et exhibentes servitia consueta, quæ ipsi et prædecessores eorum sibi et prædecessoribus impenderunt: cum ab eis ipse Rex non debet absque judicio spoliari, ut sic quod intenderent, possent facilius obtinere. Nos enim eundem Regem per Litteras nostras Rogavimus & monuimus, & per præfatos Archiepiscopum & Episcopos nihilominus rogari & moveri mandavimus, in remissionem sibi peccatorum injungentes: quatenus prædictos Magnates, et nobiles benigne tractaret et iustas eorum petitiones clementer admitteret; ut et ipsi congruendo cognoscerent eum in mollioribus tantum divina gratia esse mutatum, ac per hoc ipsi et hæredes eorum sibi et hæredibus suis deberent promptius et devotius * Familiari: plena eis in veniendo, morando et recedendo securitate concessa, ita quod si forte nequirit inter eos concordia provenire, in Curia sua per pares eorum secundum leges et consuetudines regni suborta dissensio sopiretur. Verum antequam Nuncii cum hoc provido & iusto mandato rediissent, illi * juramento fidelitatis omnino contempto, cum et si Rex eos injuste gravasset, ipsi tamen non debuerint sic agere contra eum, ut in causa sua iidem iudices et executores esserent. (Was not himself so in all his proceedings against King John?) Vassalli contra Dominum, et milites contra Regem, publice conjurantes non solum cum aliis, sed cum ejus manifestissimis inimicis præsumpserunt contra eum arma movere: (And did not the Pope, Archbishops, Bishops and their partizans, then joyne with the French to invade and depose King John their lawful King, though his vassals and soldiers?) * Did not himself excite his own Prelates, Barons, Subjects, the French, and all Christian soldiers against him by like subtle arts?

Occupantes et devastantes terras illius ita quoque quod civitatem Londinensem, quæ sedes est regni, prodicione sibi traditam invaserunt. Interim autem præfatis Nunciis revertentibus, Rex obtulit eis secundum formam mandati nostri justitia plenitudinem exhibere, quam ipsi omnino spernentes, ceperunt manus extendere ad peiora. (And did not the Pope and exiled Bishops the like before?) Unde Rex ipse ad audientiam nostram appellans, obtulit eis exhibere justitiam coram nobis, ad quem hujus causæ judicium ratione Domini pertinebat: quod ipsi sunt penitus aspernati. (Not acknowledging the Popes Dominion over them by King John's Charter.) Deinde obtulit illis, ut tam ab ipso quam ab illis quatuor viri eligerentur prudentes, qui una nobiscum subortam inter eos discordiam terminarent; promittens, quod ante omnia revocaret universos abusus quicunque fuissent in Angliæ suo tempore introducti: sed nec hoc illi dignati sunt acceptare. Tandem illis Rex proposuit, quod cum regni dominium ad Romanam Ecclesiam pertineret, ipse non poterat nec debebat absque nostro speciali mandato quicquam de illo in nostrum præjudicium immutare. Unde rursus ad nostram audientiam appellavit, seipsum ac regnum cum omni honore, ac jure suo Apostolicæ protectioni supponens. Sed cum nullo modo proficeret, postulavit ab Archiepiscopo et Episcopis, ut nostrum exqueretur mandatum; Jus Ecclesiæ Romanæ defenderent, ac tuerentur eundem secundum formam privilegii Cruce signatis indultis. Porro, cum ipsi nihil horum facere voluissent, (Though they readily Interdicted the whole Realm, excommunicated the King, and deprived him of his Crown upon the Popes command before) videns se omni auxilio et consilio destitutum; quicquid illi ausi sunt petere, non est ausus ipse negare. Unde compulsus est per vim et metum, qui cadere poterat in vicum etiam Constantissimum, compositionem inire cum ipsis non solum vilem et turpem, verum etiam et iniquam; in nimiam derogationem ac diminutionem sui juris pariter et honoris. (And was he not thus compelled by force, fear, more vilely to resign his Crown, kingdoms, to this Pope and resume them from him by his Charter?) Quia vero nobis a Domino dictum est in Propheta. Constitui te super gentes & regna ut evellas & destruas, ædifices, & plantes. (Spoken to Jeremiah not the Pope, not then in being as I have largely proved) Itemque per alium Prophetam: Dissolve colligationes impietatis, solve fasciculos deprimentes. Nos tantæ malignitatis audaciam dissimulare nolentes, in Apostolicæ sedis contemptum, Regalis Juris dispendium, Anglicanæ Gentis opprobrium, et grave periculum totius negotii crucifixi; quod ubique immineret nisi per Auctoritatem nostram revocarentur omnia, quæ a tanto Principe Crucesignato taliter sunt extorta, et ipso volente ea servare, ex parte Dei omnipotentis Patris et Filii et Spiritus sancti, auctoritate quoque Apostolorum ejus Petri et Pauli, ac nostra, de communi fratrum nostrorum consilio compositionem hujusmodi reprobamus penitus et damnamus sub intimatione anathematis prohibentes ne dictus Rex eam observare presumat, aut Barones cum complicitibus suis ipsam erigant observari; tam Chartam, quam obligationes seu cautiones quæcunque pro ipsa vel de ipsa sunt factæ, irritantes penitus ex cassantes; ut nullo unquam tempore aliquam habeant firmitatem. INNOCENTIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Nobilibus viris Baronibus Anglia spiritum consilii sanioris. Utinam in persecutione quam temere commovistis adversus dominum vestrum Regem, attendissetis prudentius fide-tatis præstitæ juramentum, jus Apostolicæ sedis, nostræ provisionis mandatum, et privilegium Crucesignatis indultum. Quia procul-dubio non sic processistis ad factum, quin omnes qui illud audiunt, quasi facinus detestantur; præsertim cum in causa vestra vos ipsos judices et executores feceritis eodem Rege parato Curia sua, vobis per pares vestros secundum consuetudines et leges regni, iustitiæ plenitudinem exhibere, vel coram nobis, ad quem hujus causæ judiciū ratione Domini pertinet, vel etiam coram arbitris eligendis hinc inde una nobiscum in ipso negotio processuris. Unde cum nihil horum dignati fueritis acceptare, ad nostram audientiam ap-pellabit, seipsum ac regnum cum omni honore et jure suo Apostolicæ protectioni supponens: publice protestando, quod cum ejusdem Regni dominium ad Romanam Ecclesiam pertineret, ipse non poterat nec debebat quicquam de illo in nostrum præjudiciū immutare. Cum igitur illa compositio qualis qualis ad quam per vim et metum induxistis eundem, non solum sit vilis et turpis, verum etiam illicita et iniqua, ut merito sit ab omnibus reprobanda, maxime propter modum: (and was not Kings Johns Charter to himself and successors much more such upon the same account?) nos qui tam Regi quam regno tenemur et spiritualiter et temporaliter providere, per Apostolica scripta vobis præcipiendo mandamus, & in recta fide consulimus, quatenus facientes de necessitate virtutem, renunciatis compositioni hujusmodi per vos ipsos, et satisfaciatis eidem Regi ac suis de damnis et injuriis irrogatis: ut idem Rex per manifesta devotionis et humilitatis indicia placatus a vobis, per seipsum emendet et benigne concedat quicquid de jure fuerit concedendum. Ad quod etiam & nos ipsum efficaciter inducimus. Quoniam sicut nolumus, quod ipse Rex suo jure privetur: ita volumus ut ipse a vestri gravamine desistat: nec per consuetudines pravas et exactiones iniquas, sub nostro dominio regnum Angliæ opprimatur. Erigatur firmum et stabile in perpetuum, quod tali modo fuit ordinatum. Inspiret igitur vobis ille qui neminem vult perire, ut adquiescatis humiliter nostris salubribus consiliis et mandatis, ne si secus egeritis, in eum incidatis necessitatis ar-ticulum quem tandem evadere sine multo gravamine non possitis.
Quemadmodum ut de cæteris taceamus, nulla ratione dissimulare possemus grave periculum totius negotii Crucifixi quod utique eminere, nisi per Auctoritatem nostram re-vocarentur omnino, quæ a tanto Principe Cruce signato taliter sunt extorta, et ipso volente illa observari. Quare dum apud nos Archiepiscopus & Episcopi Anglia presentes existerint in Concilio generali quod ad expediendum crucis negotium principaliter intendimus celebrare: procuratores idoneos ad nostram presentiam destinavi, securi vos nostro beneplacito committentes, quia nos ea favente Domino statuemus per qua gravaminibus & abusibus de Regno Angliæ proflus excludis, Rex suo sit jure et honore contentus, et tam clerus quam populus universus debita pace ac libertate letetur. Datum Agnani nono Calendas Septembris Pontificatus nostri

So much did they (together with the Archbishop their ringleader) then slight and Contemn the Pope with his Bulls, mandates and Apostolical Authority when they crossed their own interests, and humors.

In the mean time the treacherous Archbishop, to demonstrate his gratitude to King John for the Patronage and Royalty of the Bishoprick of Rochester newly* conferred on him and his successors, delivered up Rochester Castle with all the ammunition therein to the Barons: Erat autem paulo ante castrum illud a Rege Archiepiscopo fiducialiter commissum: veruntamen qua conscientia nescio. Dominus scit, regis illud tradiderit inimicis. Such an ingreatull Archtraitor proved he to his indulgent Sovereign; who after 3. The Archbishop and some of his Suffragans, cordial to the Barons, though pre-

Adiecit etiam, Quod cruce signati eramus, & presbiterii beneficium & privilegium cruce signatorum, ne turbaretur terra nostra, (therefore the Kings, nor St. Peter's Patrimony, nor the Popes) & ne consumeretur in malis usus quam in subsidium terræ Sanctæ expendere proposueramus, & appellavimus, per W. Maraschallum, Comitem Pembrock, & W. Comitem Warren. contra perturbatores pacis terræ nostræ. Verum quia cruce signati fuimus volentes in omnibus cum humilitate & mansuetudine procedere, salva appellatione nostra, obtulimus Baronibus illis, quod omnes malas consuetudines suscitatas, et per quemcumque introductas temporibus nostris penitus adoleremus, nec non et malas consuetudines tempore Regis Richardi, fratris nostri, subortas extirparemus; de consuetudinibus autem tempore Patris nostri suscitatis, si quæ essent quæ eos gravarent, per consilium fidelium nostrorum operaremur. Sed nec his nec aliis prædictis contenti, omnia præmissa recusarunt. Videntes igitur quod ipsi manifeste nitebantur ad turbationem Regni nostri, rogavimus Dominum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum, et ejus Suffraganeos, quod exequerentur mandatum vestrum, scilicet, quod secundum tenorem Literarum vestrarum consueta nobis exhibere et servitia. Et postea si quæ a nobis petere vellent, cum humilitate et sine armis ea a nobis peterent, denunciantes eos excommunicatos qui post prædicta eis oblata pacem Regni nostri perturbarent. Et videbatur Episcopo Eron. et Magistro Pandulfo qui præsentibus erant, quod de jure per sententiam excommunicationis eos compescere debebant: sed Archiepiscopus respondens ait, quod sententiam excommunicationis in eos nullo modo proferret, quia bene sciebat mentem vestram, et videbatur nobis similiter, quod ita facere debebat, quia mandavimus gentem copiosam de terris extraneorum ad succursum terræ nostræ. Et promisit nobis quod si eos revocare vellemus, non solum sententiam excommunicationis in eos inferret, verum etiam in quantum posset eis resistere: Unde gentem nostram revocabimus. Postmodum autem obtulimus eis per Literas nostras Patentes, per Dominum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum, & duos vel tres Suffraganeos ejus eis delatas, quod nos eligerimus, ex parte nostra quatuor, & ipsi ex parte sua quatuor; Ita quod vos superiores constitueremini, de omnibus querelis Libertatum quas ipsi proponerent et ad suas nos responderemus, quod quicquid vos una cum illis Otto statueretis super omnibus quæ ipsi peterent a nobis, nos gratum haberemus et teneremus. Et quamvis se humiliare noluerunt versus nos sicut debuerunt, nos tamen pro servitio Dei, et succursu Terræ Sanctæ in tantum nos humiliavimus, quod hæc prædicta eis obtulimus. Et præterea eis obtulimus quod de omnibus petitionibus suis per considerationem Partium suorum Justitiæ plenitudinem eis exhiberemus. Quod ipsi recusarunt. Ad hæc Domine, die Veneris in crastino Ascensionis Domini, venit ad nos frater Willielmus de Camera vestra, vester familiaris, deferens nobis Literas vestras continentes, quod disposito peregrinationis nostræ itinere sanctitatis vestre pedibus aliquem de nostris in Concilio representaremus, paternitatem vestram de processu nostro et itineris nostri expeditione certificantes, super quo pie paternitati vestræ taliter respondemus, quod cum perberis Baronum prædictorum inquietationibus ut ex præmissis vobis innuit affligamur, nec possumus in eis bonum pacis invenire, quosalem concordem afficiamur, ut sic facilius proposito insisteremus, vos de de itinere nostro, et itineris nostri expeditione certos reddere non possumus: Unum pro certo scientes, quod multi signatorum qui ad Terræ Sanctæ incursum se accinxerunt de partibus longinquis, viri magni & nobiles ut in conforio nostro eos reciperemus benigne per suas Literas & Nuncios postulaverunt, quos pro prædictis incommodis super mandatis suis adhuc certificare non potuimus. Præterea Pater Reverende in præsentia prædicti fratris Willielmi vestri familiaris, necnon & Venerabilium Patrum Wygornienfis & Coventrensis Episcoporum, obtulimus prædictis Baronibus, quod de omnibus petitionibus suis quas a nobis erigunt in vos benignissime compromitteremus, ut vos qui plenitudine potestatis gaudetis, quod iustum foret statueretis, et hæc omnia efficere renuunt. Igitur pie Pater dominationi vestræ præsentia durimus declaranda, ut de consueta benignitate vestra quod nobis videritis expedire inde statuatis. Teste meipso apud Odiham, xxix. die Maii.

Soon after this Letter of complaint to the Pope (whose power and usurpations increased by the Barons Rebellions) there was a General Council held at Rome, to which the Archbishop was summoned, and there suspended from his Archbishoprick upon the Kings complaints against him.

An.Dom. 1115

Eodem Anno celebrata est Rome, Sancta & universalis Synodus in Ecclesia Sancti Salvatoris, quæ Constantiana appellatur, mense Novembri, præsidente Papa Domino Innocentio tertio, Pontificatus ejus Anno Decimo octavo.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 262, 263, 264.

In hoc Concilio steterunt contra Stephanum Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, procuratores Regis Anglorum, Abbas videlicet de Billo loco, Thomas de Handintona, & Godefridus de Croucumbe, Milites, constanter accusantes eum de committenda Baronum Angliæ, quodque ipsius favore et consilio iidem Barones dictum Regem a solio depellere molirentur. Et cum a sede Apostolica Literas accepisset, ut dictos Magnates per censuram Ecclesiasticam a persecutione Regis restrainaret, ipse id facere dissimulans, ab Episcopo Wintoniensi, et suis conjudicibus a divindorum celebratione et ingressu Ecclesiæ suspensus: sicque ad Concilium properans, manifestis indicibus se fuisse præceptis Apostolicis rebellem offendit. His & aliis multis, in hunc modum allegatis, Archiepiscopus quasi convictus, & non mediocriter confusus, nihil respondit; nisi quod a suspensione petuit absolvi. Cui Papa cum indignatione tale fertur dedisse responsum: Frater, *per Sanctum Petrum non ita de sacris beneficium absolutionis impetrabis, qui non solum ipsi Anglorum Regi, (This was no crime in him heretofore, but a virtue, by this Popes resolution) verum etiam Romanæ Ecclesiæ, tot et tales injurias irrogasti. (This indeed was the only cause of his indignation, not his injuries to the King.) Volumus quoque cum plena fraterni nostrorum deliberatione decernere, qualiter tam temerarium puniamus excessum. Tandem habito super hoc cum Cardinalibus tractatu, suspensionis sententiam in ipsum Archiepiscopum subscriptis Literis confirmavit. (A just, divine retaliation for all his former Treasonable compliances with this Pope, and after that with the Barons against King John, from whom he had received so many obliging favours.)

When this suspension of the Archbishop was executed, the Pope commanded all his Suffragans and Subjects to disobey him, till by his humiliation and giving sufficient caution for his future deportment, he should demerit it, as this Bull, or Letter to all the Clergy and Laity of his Province evidenceth.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Dilectis filiis Clericis & Laicis per Cantuariensem Provinciam constitutis, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ad commune volumus notitiam pervenire, quod nos suspensionis sententiam quam Venerabilis frater noster P. Wintoniensis Episcopus, & dilectus filius P. Subdiaconus, & familiaris noster Norwicensis electus, in Stephanum Cantuariensem Archiepiscopum auctoritate Apostolica protulerunt, protulerunt, ratam habemus, & precipimus inviolabiliter observari, donec idem Archiepiscopus, qui eam humiliter servat, mereatur ipsam juxta formam Ecclesie Canonice praescriptam relaxari, uno vinculo in aliud commutato. Quocirca universitati vestra per A-cum interim nullam debeat is eidem obedientiam exhibere. Datum Laterani, 2. nonas Novembrii. Pontificatus nostri Anno xviii.

Here we cannot but with admiration consider, the just retaliation inflicted by Gods wonderfull providence on this Arch-traytor to King John. 1. The whole Kingdom must be Interdicted by the Pope at this Arch-prelates instigation, for the Kings not admitting him to the actual possession of the See of Canterbury, against the rights of his Crown and Kingdom. 2ly. The King himself must be personally Excommunicated and not conversed with. 3ly. All his Subjects absolved from their allegiance and obedience to him, till his humiliation to the Pope: And now this Pope even at Rome it self, not only suspends, but ratifies this Archbishops actual suspension from his Arch-bishoprick, absolves all Clerks & Laymen in his Province from their obedience to him, and commands them to yeild him no obedience at all, till he should humble himself to, and give satisfaction and caution to him for his future good behaviour. 2ly. That this Archbishop (the Popes chief instrument to humble, depose K. John, & set up the Pope in his Throne) should become the greatest stickler against this Pope, the contemner, flighter of his Interdicts, Excommunications, Censures, wherewith himself so much terrified the King and Kingdom before. 3ly. That this Pope who had been the Kings professed Enemy and Dethroner, should now become his prime Protector against those Bishops and Barons which himself first engaged to Rebell against him; though not upon King Johns own account as their lawfull King, yet as his Vassal and Tributary to the Church of Rome, much against his will, which providentially proved his greatest advantage in some respects, though most prejudicial and dishonourable to him in others. 4ly. The just punishment inflicted by God and this Pope upon Simon the Archbishops Brother, a great stickler for him, and professed Enemy to the King, and that at this very time, upon this occasion.

The Archbishoprick of York becoming void, the King by his Letters Patents granted the Chapter of York a License to elect a new Archbishop, in the presence of five Commissioners, therein specially named, and with their consents, to prevent the election of this Simon Langhton, the Archbishops Brother, a great Enemy to the King, this being the first License granted by him, after his forecited Charter to the Archbishop and Bishops for the freedom of Elections.

The Chapter notwithstanding the Kings and Popes inhibition likewise, to gratifie Stephen Archbishop of Canterbury, elected Simon Langhton his Brother Archbishop of Tork: * Vir quidem parum habens gratia popularis, vnam Dei: sed procurante Rege cito cassatus est. Poterat enim Rex jam factus Tributarius Papa, difficilia impetrare; Timebat autem Rex, ne si Stephanus Cantuariæ Archiepiscopus in Australibus, & frater ejus Simon Ebor. Archiepiscopus factus in septentrionalibus dominarentur, quasi maximi Prælati in Anglia, omnia ad votum eorum disponerentur, et alter alterius auxilio fulciretur. So Matthew Westminster. Of which Matthew Paris renders us this larger account.

Circa dies istos, Canonici Eboracensis Ecclesie, multo jam tempore Pastore viduati, impetrata a Rege licentia, ad electionem faciendam pariter conveniunt. Et licet a Rege multis precibus fuissent rogati, ut Walter de Gray, Wigorniensem Episcopum, sibi susciperent in Pastorem; tamen reclamantes illiteratum, ipsum eligere disulerunt. Veruntamen in electione procedentes, elegerunt Magistrum Simonem de Langetona, fratrem Archiepiscopi Cantuariensis, sperantes in eo scientiam, quam appellant sapientiam, scilicet morum aromate conditam scientiam, insuper favorem Domini Papæ obtinere. Sed cum facta electio ad Regis audientiam pervenisset, misit Nuncios ad Curiam Romanam, qui contra electionem illam in presentia Domini Papæ exceptiones hujusmodi induxerunt. Allegabant enim Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem Regis Angliæ hostem esse publicum, ut qui Baronibus Angliæ incentivum contra Regem eundem præbuit et consensum. Unde si dictus Simon, qui frater ejus est Archiepiscopi memorati, ad Archiepiscopatum Eboracensem promoveretur, par Regis et Regni diu stare non poterit. Hæc igitur & similia allegantes incommoda, Papam ad consensum induxerunt: Unde Capitulo Eboracensi scripsit in hæc verba.

The Canons of York, notwithstanding this Bull, appearing in the Council at Rome, were so bold as to justify their election, and present Simon Langton to the Pope for their Archbishop elect, and presse his confirmation of him: Which Matthew Paris thus relates, together with its event.

Mat. Paris,
Histor. Angl.
p. 263.

HIS ita gestis, Canonici Eboracensis Ecclesiæ præsentaverunt Domino Papæ Magistrum Simonem de Langetona, postulantes ut ejus electionem confirmaret. Quibus Papa: Robertis quod ipsum non habemus pro electo, qui illum ad tantam dignitatem promoveri certis de causis non patimur. Et cum præcipue contra prohibitionem nostram ista sit electio celebrata, nos eam cassamus penitus, et in perpetuum damnamus; decernentes utique ut intelligibilis fiat, ne absque dispensatione sedis Apostolicæ ad Pontificalem eligi valeat dignitatem. Cassata igitur electione prædicta, dominus Papa Canonicis præcepit ut statim in electione procederent, sin minus ipse eis pastorem provideret ido-neum. (By his newly usurped power of provisions.) Tunc Canonici sicut prius provisum fuerat, postulaverunt Walterum de Grai Episcopum Wigorniensem, propter carnis mundiciam, ut asserbant; ut qui ab utero matris permanserat usq; in presentem diem. Ad hoc dicitur Papa respondisse: Per sanctum Petrum, virginital magna virtus est, et nos eum damus vobis. Itaque accepto Pallio Episcopus me-moratus, rediit in Angliam obligatus in Curia Romana de decem Solidis Librarum legalium Esterlingorum. (Which he Paid to this Pope for his Pall, as a true successor to Simon Magnus, not to Simon Peter, in his Symonical extortions.) In fine autem, soluto Concilio, extorsit Papa de unoquoque Prelato infini-tam pecuniam: quam cum vicariis cogerentur ab usurariis suis mutuo duris conditionibus sumere.

Nota.

Vitæ Viginti
Trium Sancti
tum, p. 117.

Matthew Paris in the Life of William Abbot of St. Albans, present in this Council, relates that, Idem Abbas Willielmus, cum soluto Concilio, accepta licentia cum benedictione, vellet recedere; in muneribus non respecto, dixit ei Papa: Nonne tu es Abbas Sancti Albani, qui tot privilegiorum beneficia a nostra sede toties obtinisti?
Siccone decet talem ac tantum virum, me non respecto recedere? Et cum obtulisset quinquaginta Marcas, amice redargutus, coactus est antequam exisset a Camera (in quam poenituit eum intrasse) non sine turpi convivio, super solutionem Centum Marcarum satisfacere, quas mutuo ab usurariis Curie, non sine duris accepit conditionibus. Levis tamen hoc tulit Abbas et æquanimis, quia hoc idem fecit Prælati universis. Quam pecuniam numeratam, cum per aliquem de suis ante pedes Papales humiliter ac devote obtu-lisset, dedit ei cum sua benedictione sic comparata, remeandi licentiam. Et sic recedens, Romam murmurando saluavit, ibique reliquit eum Magister Rogerus Porre-tanus.

tanus, (one of his Monks who accompanied him to Rome) vir supra modum ambitiosus, (who advised this Abbot whilst at Rome) ut Abbas resignaret Abbatiatum suum in manus Papa, sub obtentu sanctificationis, sciturus quod maiorem & auctoritatem pro caris acciperet dignitatem, si Papa in tanto viro, talem videret humilitatem, & tam evidentis sanctitatis argumentum. Sed Abbas nolens certa pro incertis commutare, consiliis ejus nullatenus acquievit: Dixitque ei, Magister, dictum est in proverbio vulgari:

Hoc fecisti tu de redditu tuo Bathoniensi quem dimisisti, inhians uberiori, quem tamen nunquam consequi valuisti. Beatus Rogerus redarguit & confusus. There being nothing given, but every Ecclesiastical preferment sold by this Pope, to those that would give most money for it, yet no Symony nor crime in this Innocent.

Audiens autem Rex Barones Anglia esse excommunicatos, Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem suspensum, Simonem fratrem ejus cassatum, Walterum de Gray promotum, & quod de Castro Roffensi pro lubitu disposuisset: elevatum est nimis Cor ejus, & continuo Castra movens, apud Sanctum Albani cum festinatione perrexit. Quo cum pervenisset, praesens Convenit Capitulum intravit, Literas de suspensione Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi fecit manifeste recitari; constanter exigens a Conventu, quatenus sub testimonio sigilli sui prelate suspensionis confirmatio ad omnes Angliae Ecclesias, tam Cathedralis quam Conventuales, publicanda mitteretur. Iuxta illud Poeticum: Strido supplicat ense potens. Quod cum ei a Conventu concessum fuisset, forte indito, continuo post Capitulum in Claustro cum paucis Consiliariis seorsim recedens, disposuit qualiter inimicos suos, Magnates scilicet Angliae confunderet, et quemadmodum exteris nationibus, quae sub ipso militabant, stipendia provideret. Tandem Rex dubs ordinavit exercitus: ut videlicet ex uno Baronum irruptiones Londini morantium reprimeret; ex altero, ipse Aquilonares Angliae provincias igne simul & ferro, quaque sibi obvia concutendo, deleteret. These Soldiers of the King were so incensed against the Rebellious Priests and Clergy, * Ut Sacerdotes ipsi altaribus affantes, signum Sanctae Crucis manibus hauriantes, vel ipsum Dominicum corpus trahentes, sacris vestimentis venerabiles, altaribus affantes religione deferendi; irreverenter capiebantur, cruciabantur, stollabantur, vulnerabantur: nec fuit Pontifex, Sacerdos, vel Levita, qui vulneribus inflicis oleum infunderet vel vinum: They likewise pillaged the Cathedral Church of Ely, which they entred with drawn Swords, and forced the Prior to pay them 200. Marks of silver to save their lives, and Church from burning, and wasted all the Barons Houses, Mannors, Lands with fire and sword.

King John by reason of these high contents between the Priesthood and Kingship, the Barons Liberties and his own Prerogative, was necessitated to resign up almost all his Ecclesiastical, as well as Temporal Jurisdiction, to the Pope and his Legates, retaining only his ancient right of granting Licenses to Chapters, Covents, to elect Bishops, Abbots, Abbesses, Priors, Deans, and of assenting to their Elections when made; which yet must be left arbitrary, with a si placet to the Pope and his Nuncios approbations, who rejected or confirmed the person recommended, elected, assented to by the King, at their pleasures, who could hardly procure any Chapter or Convent to elect any person he had a mind to preferre, but with many petitions, solicitations to them by himself and his instruments, and by other unkingly shifts and devices, being oft crossed, affronted, and seldom gratified therein, but with much difficulty and intreaty, as these ensuing Records demonstrate.

REX Domino P. Wintoniensi Episcopo Justiciario Angliae, &c. Quoniam arduis perplexi negotiis in partibus Pistavia petitioni Prioris & conventus sancti Albani nobis facta, de eligendo sibi Abbate operam non potuimus ad praesens dare efficacem: Mandavimus eisdem, ut ab electione facienda cessent donec in Angliam venerimus, et post 15. dies ex quo audierint nos advenisse in Angliam, coram nobis compareant nobiscum locuturi. Nos igitur eos inducatis ne dilationem istam moleste ferant, providentes ne interim electionem facere presumant. Terras autem eorum, tenementa, Nemora & homines, & omnia sua, sub protectione & Custodia nostra iura esse faciatis & tranquilla, ita quod in nullo vastentur, destruantur, vel minuantur; Teste me ipso apud Niort, vicesimo primo die Septembris. To such shifts was the King put by his Charter for free elections, to obtain his ends.

How much the Covent and Monks of Durham opposed, affronted King John in the election of their Bishop, whereupon he was enforced to make use of the Popes and Legates plenitude of power, and yet could not effect his ends, but the Pope obtains his, to dispose of all Elections and Bishopricks at his pleasure, will appear by these Records.

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus Servus Servorum Dei. Charissimo in Christo filio Johanni illustri Anglorum Regi salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Credentes utilitati & honori tuo plurimum expedire si Venerabilis frater noster Norwicensis Episcopus, quem tibi omnino devotum cognovimus et fidelem, ad Dunolmensem Ecclesiam transferretur, ignari capitulum illius Ecclesiæ dilectum Sarisburyensem Decanum, virum præfecto scientia, vita & fama præclarum concorditer eligerint in Pastorem, Venerabili fratri nostro Thusculan. Episcopo Apostolicæ Sedis Legato, direximus scripta nostra, ut faceret Dunolmense Capitulum Norwicensem Episcopum prædictum in suum Episcopum postulare. Cumque Legatus ad eorum accessisset Ecclesiam, ipsi decretum electionis quam fecerant præsentantes, ab eo confirmationem cum instantia postularunt. Legatus autem habens profecto Zelum sed non secundum Scientiam, in hac parte cum nos consuluisse debuerit, sine nostri exquisitione mandati, ex quo videbat electionem concordem fuisse processum apud idem Capitulum plurimum insistit ut Norwicensem prædictum in Episcopum postularent, set illis electioni firmiter innitentibus, tandem ad hoc eos per multam coartavit instantiam, ut salvo jure electionis, postulatio fieret, & utriusq; electiois & postulationis videlicet, præsentaretur Apostolicæ sedi decretum. Accedentes autem ad sedem Apostolicam Duo Monachi ex parte Dunolm. præsentato nobis utroque decreto apud nos pro electionis affirmatione sicut in mandatis acceperant, insisterunt, eidem firmiter inhzendo, præsertim cum in majori concordia electio quam postulatio celebrata fuisset, prout ex subscriptionibus apparebat. Nos vero electionem protinus confirmare distulimus, quia non fuerat Regius requisitus assensus. Verum memorato Decano monendo & suggerendo mandavimus, ut quantum in eo est negotium ipsum omnino transferat in nostrum arbitrium, ita ut sive de juris rigore, sive de moderate providentiæ prout expedire viderimus procedamus. Cum igitur sit idem Decanus plene sufficiens ad officium pastorale, ac nos providere intendamus, utraque transcripta Literarum quas accepimus a Legato, nec non utriusque decreti regali excellenti mittimus præsentibus interclusa; & nihilominus consulentes, ut super ordinatione Dunolmensis quam Norwicensis Ecclesiæ, si eam vacare contigerit, te penitus nostro committas Arbitrio, quia quantum cum Domino poterimus, libenter et efficaciter intendemus ad ea quæ tuum respiciant commodum et honorem. Cæterum dilectus filius Magister Annuncius tuus, vir providus & fidelis, serenitati Regiæ viva voce plenius exprimere poterit super hiis & aliis sicut a nobis accepit, nostræ beneplacitum voluntatis. Tu ergo beneplacitum tuum nobis differas intimare. Dat. Roma apud Sanctum Petrum, ii. Idus Maii. Pontificatus nostri Anno Septimo Decimo. I find not in any of our Historians, nor in Godwins Catalogue, that he was ever consecrated Bishop of Winchester, notwithstanding his election, and the Kings approbation and Letters on his behalf, so that he miscarried in this design, as he did in this of Hugo Foliot to St. Davids.

The concluſion was this: That the Monks of Glastonbury prevailed with money and importunity to have their Abby ſevered from the Biſhoprick, and to be govern- ed by an Abbot as formerly, parting with no leſſe then 4. Mannors, and the Patro- nage of 6. Benefices to Joceline Biſhop of Bath and Wells, and his Succeſſors, by way of compoſition, to obtain this diſunion.

Godwins Cata- logue of Bps. p. 196. in the liſe of Joceline.

The Pope and his Legates having ſtripped King John of his Crown, and moſt of the Prerogatives thereto belonging, ſeemed to make him ſome kind of recompence, by theſe two inſignificant empty Priviledges which they indulged to him, to give him ſome content, being meer Cyphers in themſelves, without any ſubſtance.

In this 16. year of King John, Robert de Corcu a Cardinal of Rome, by the Popes Authority, held a Council at Burdeaux in France, wherein he made ſundry Decrees concerning Jews, Tithes, and other particulars, enſcroaching upon the Rights of Temporal Princes and Barons, ſubjecting their perſons to Excommunications, and Lands to Interdictions: and that in particular. From all which Statutes and Canons this Legate ſpecially exempted King Johns and his Heirs rights, as no wayes to be im- paired thereby, but rather preſerved; which was but a meer Complement, neither he nor his Kingdoms or Subjects being obliged thereby.

Besides, the Pope to gratifie King John by putting a Feather in his Cap, when he had wrested his Crown from his head, and Scepter out of his hand, granted him this pretended new priviledge, exempting his Chappels from Episcopal Excommunication and Jurisdiction, without the Popes special command; which in truth were by the Laws of the Realm exempted from them long before, by the Kings inherent Regal prerogative; by which kind of grants of pretended priviledges the Pope came to challenge and enroach new Jurisdictions in the Realm, which they never exercised nor claimed before.

filio Johanni illustri Regi Anglorum, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem.
Apostolicæ sedis ampla benignitas sincere obsequentium vota fidelium favore benevolo prosequi consuevit, & illustrium virorum personas quas in devotione sua promptas invenerit & ferventes, quibusdam titulis decentius decorare. Ut igitur ex speciali devotione quam ad Romanam Ecclesiam et personam nostram habere dignosceris, Apostolicum tibi sentias accrevisse favo-rem, statuimus ne a quoquam tua possit Excommunicari vel Interdicti Capella sine mandato sedis Apostolicæ speciali. Tu ergo ne inde nascantur injuriæ unde jura nascuntur, talem te super his satagas exhibere, ne per abusum (quod absit) privari ab hujusmodi be-neficio merearis; quia juxta Canonicas sanctiones, privilegium meretur amittere, qui permessa sibi abutitur potestate. (And had not this Pope by this rule forfeited all his pretended priviledges and right in England long before, by his Interdict, Excommunication, and dis-inheriting of K. John and his Heirs for ever?) Nulli ergo omnino hominum liceat hanc paginam nostræ constitutionis infringere, vel ei ausu temerario contra ire; si quis autem hoc attemptare præsumpserit, indignationem Omnipotentis Dei, et Beatorum Petri et Pauli Apostolorum ejus, se noverit in-cursum. Dat. Roma, apud Sanctum Petrum, xvij. die Kalend. Maii. Pontificatus nostri Anno xvij.

This priviledge was made the ground of exempting the Kings Free Chappels from the ordinary Taxes of the Clergy, Provisions of the Pope, Procurations, Tenthes, Archiepiscopal and Episcopal Visitations, as will hereafter appear; when as in truth the Common Law of England, Prescription time out of mind, and the Great Parliamentary Council of Clarendon, gave them this exemption without the help of this Bull.

The greatest and best advantage King John gained by the surrender of his Crown, and most of his Regal Jurisdiction to the Pope, was his real assistance of him against his Arch-enemy Stephen Archbishop of Canterbury, and his Rebellious Barons, rather to preserve his own usurped interest in England than King John. In pursuance whereof, he having formerly excommunicated all the Barons in general, which they slighted as null, proceeding still more obstinately in their Wars and Rebellions

lions then before; the Pope at the Kings request, proceeded to excommunicate some of them by name, with all others that should assist them, or that should invade or enter the Realm to deprive him of his Crown, he being the Church of Romes Vassal, and the Realm of England belonging thereunto; and Interdicted all the Barons Lands.

Circa dies istos, summus Pontifex Barones Anglia, quos prius excommunicaverat in genere, ad instantiam Regis Anglorum, per subscriptas Literas excommunicavit nominatim & in specie.

IN NOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Abbat de Albandune, Archidiacono Picardienſi, & Magistro Roberto Officiali Norwicensis Ecclesie, salutem. Ad vestram volumus pervenire notitiam, quod nos super in generali Concilio constituti, excommunicavimus & Anathematizavimus ex parte Omnipotentis Dei Patris, & Filii, & Spiritus Sancti, auctoritate quoque Beatorum Petri & Pauli Apostolorum ejus, ac nostra, Barones Anglie cum adjutoribus & factoribus suis, qui Johannem illustrem Regem Anglorum Cruce signatum, & Basilicum Romanæ Ecclesie persequuntur, molientes ei Regnum auferre, quod ad Romanam Ecclesiam dignoscitur pertinere. Insuper excommunicamus et Anathematizamus omnes illos, qui ad occupandum vel invadendum Regnum ipsum, aut impediendum euntes in ejusdem Regis succursum, operam vel opem impenderunt, et terras eorundem Baronum Ecclesiastico subiectionis Intradidit. Aggravamus etiam in eisdem fortius manus nostras, si nec sic a suo desisterint in quo proposito, cum in hac parte pejores sint Saracenis: decernentes, ut si quis Clericus cujuscunque dignitatis aut ordinis, predictas excommunicationis aut Interdicti sententias violare præsumperit, Anathematis se sciat mucrone percussurum: et si quanto citius resipuerit, ab omni officio et beneficio depellendum. Quocirca discretioni vestre per Apostolica scripta præcipiendo mandamus, quatenus per totam Angliam publicari faciatis præscripta, eademque faciatis auctoritate nostra, sublato cujuscunque conditionis et appellationis obstaculo inviolabiliter observari. Volumus etiam nihilominus & mandamus, ut quosdam Barones Anglia, quos Venerabilis Frater noster Wintonienſis Episcopus, & dilecti filii Abbas de Redding, & Magister Pandolphus Subdiaconus & familiaris noster, delegati a nobis, excommunicatos personalliter nominaverunt, quia ipsos in præscriptis culpabiles invenerunt, videlicet, Eves illos Londinenses, qui fuerunt Principales prænominate pervertitatis auctores, & Robertum filium Walteri, S. Comitem Wintoniensem, R. huius ejus, G. de Mandevilla, & Willielmum fratrem ejus, Comitem de Clare, & G. filium ejus, H. Comitem de Hereford, R. de Percy, E. de Vescei, J. Magistrum etiam Serbadium Londinensem Cancellarium, qui sicut a Judicibus præfatis accepimus, dicti Regis, et suorum manifestissimus extitit persecutor, excommunicatum publice denunciatis ac suspensum, graviori etiam poena, nisi congrue satisfecerit,

INNOCENTIUS Episcopus, &c. Hujus igitur Auctoritate mandati, vobis districte præcipiendo mandamus, quatenus Barones Angliæ cum omnibus adiutoribus et fautoribus suis, qui Dominum Johannem Regem Angliæ persequuntur, et omnes illos qui ad occupandum vel inbadendum Regnum ipsum, vel impediendum euntes in ejusdem Regis succursum operam vel opem impenderunt, excommunicatos denunciatis; et terras eorundem Baronum Ecclesiastico Interdicto suppositas publicetis. Denunciatis etiam excommunicatos omnes Barones, qui in præmissis Domini Papæ rescripto personaliter nominantur; cum aliis omnibus in prædictorum Iudicium sententia nominatim expressis. Adelscet, Walterum de Norwina, Osbertum filium Alani, Olivarium de Wallibus, H. de Braibrock, R. de Ropeffe, W. de Hoberge, W. de Manduit, Mauritium de Gant, R. de Berkele, Adam de Lincolana, R. de Mandrulla, W. de Lavaleie, Philippum filium Johannis, Willielmum de Tunstuna, W. de Huntingfield, Alexandrum de Pointuna, R. de Munficht, R. de Gressei, Galfridum Constabularium de Mentuna, W. Archidiaconum de Hereford, J. de Fereby, R. Capellanum Roberti filium, W. Alexandrum de Suttuna, W. de Coleville, R. filium ejus, Osbertum Giffard, Nicholaum de Stanevile, Tho. de Mul. tune. Cives illos Londinenses, Magistrum G. Cancellarium, & Civitatem Londinensem, Ecclesiastico suppositam Interdicto, publice denunciatis. Has vero excommunicationis et Interdicti sententias in Ecclesiis vestris, tam Conventualibus quam Parochialibus ad vos pertinentibus publicari, ac singulis diebus dominicis et festivis faciatis solemniter innovari, ita diligenter singula Capitula mandati Apostolici exequendo, et quantum ad vos pertinet firmiter observando, ne in poenam Canoniceam et contumacibus debitam incidatis. Valete.

* Ecclesiasticorum.

His igitur excommunicationis & Interdicti sententiis per totam Angliam in brevi publicatis, cum ad omnium notitiam pervenisset; sola Civitas Londinensis per contumaciam multiplicem illas adeo contemnendo desperit; quod nec eas Barones observare, nec Prælati publicare decreverunt. Dicebant enim generaliter, omnes Literas falsa suggestionem fuisse impetratas, et ideo nullius eas esse momenti; et ex hoc maxime, quod non pertinet ad Papam ordinatio rerum Laicarum: cum Petro Apostolo et ejus successoribus non nisi * Ecclesiarum dispositio rerum a Domino sit collata potestas. At quid ad nos se extendit Romanorum insatiata cupiditas? Quid Episcopis Apostolicis, et militibus nostris? Ecce successores Constantini, et non Petri: non imitantur Petrum in meritis vel Operibus, nec assimilandi sunt in potestate: justus enim est Deus in meritorum recompensatione. Proh pudor! marci et ribaldi, qui de armis vel liberalitate minime noverunt, jam toti mundo propter excommunicationes suas volunt dominari, ignobiles usurarii, et simoniaci. Quantum dissimiles Petro, qui sibi Petri usurpant partem? Sic igitur blasphemantes et recalcitrantes, ponentes os in Cælum, ad interdicti sive excommunicationis sententiam nullum penitus habentes respectum; per totam civitatem celebrarunt divina, signa pulsantes et vocibus altisonis modulantes. Such was their high contempt of this Popes Authority,

Lx-

Excommunications, Interdicts, and just censure of his usurped Authority, degeneracy from St. Peter's Doctrine and example.

Upon the noyse of this Excommunication and Interdict, the Barons lighting them with highest indignation, reviled K. John for enthralling himself, them, and the whole Realm to the Pope, and him for countenancing the King against them, refused to own him any longer for their Sovereign, and elected Lewis of France for their King, in such manner as I have * formerly related, who thereupon, notwithstanding this Popes, and Halo his Legates * forecited Inhibitions, Excommunications, Interdicts, soon after entred England with a potent Army to ayd the Barons.

In the mean time the Archbishops suspension was taken off, upon caution given, and a condition not to enter England till a peace concluded between the King and his Barons, and the Excommunication and Interdict against the Barons, Londoners, and their Complices, renewed.

Eodem tempore, Stephanus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, (Rom. data cautione) quod sciret iudicio Domini Papæ de rebus superius expressis, a sententia suspensionis absolutus est: ita tamen, quod ante pacem inter Regem et Barones Angliæ plene reformatam, Angliam non intraret.

Per idem tempus, instante festo Paschali, cum Abbas Abbendunensis, & coniudices ejus, contumaciam Baronum et Londinensis Civitatis cognovissent, manus suas in eisdem extendentes, iterato edito, omnibus Angliæ Ecclesiis Conventualibus dederunt in mandatis, ut latam sententiam sub hac forma publicarent.

H. Dei gratia Abbas Abbendunensis, &c. Exequentes mandatum Apostolicum nobis sic impositum, sicut tenor Literarum nostrarum, quas nuper vobis transmissimus, vobis plenius intimavit: Sancti Pauli, Sanctique Martini Capitulis, G. de Boclande ejus Ecclesiæ Decano, & Conventui Sanctæ Trinitatis Londopenis, Literas nostras Domini Papæ, rescripti verba continentes, non solum semel, sed sæpe missimus, ejus Autoritate Apostolica districte præcipientes, ut Excommunicationis et Interdicti sententias latas in persequentem Dominum Regem et Civitatem Londinensem, diligenter publicantes, inviolabiliter Observerent. Qui adeo irreverenter Apostolicum vespendere mandatum præsumunt, quod eadem sententias publicare vel etiam observare per contumaciam contemplerunt: in divinis obsequiis excommunicatis scienter communicantes, sententiarum Domini Papæ violatores, et mandati ejus contemptores manifestos omnino se in omnibus exhibendo. De quibus per Patentes Literas Capituli Sancti Pauli, Sanctique Martini, Clericos & Nuncios ejusdem Decani nobis specialiter destinatas; & per alias sufficientes probationes plenam habentes certitudinem, constiterit. Præterea de Regno Francorum quidam Nobiles advenerunt, cum armata manu Militum & Clientum; quos omnes proculdubio eadem excommunicationis sententia volumus esse ligatos. Nam contra Dominum Regem et Sanctam Romanam Ecclesiam invadunt Regnum Angliæ, quotidie depredantes illud, et pro parte detinent occupatum, quod est cunctis in Angliæ et multis alibi manifestum. Quocirca jam dictos Nobiles, Castellanos scilicet de S. Audemero cum suis sociis, qui contra Regem ad occupandum vel invadendum Regnum Angliæ opem vel operam impenderunt; Insuper prædictum Decanum, necnon & omnes Canonicos, & Clericos, cujuscunque dignitatis aut ordinis, de Ecclesiis præfatis & Civitate, ad quorum notitiam mandatum pervenerit, vel qui se absentaverunt, vel quocunque modo procuraverunt, quo minus perveniret ad illos; Autoritate Apostolica, qua fungimur in hac parte, denunciamus excommunicatos: vobis eadem auctoritate injungentes, quatenus omnes prædictos excommunicatos publice denuncietis, et faciatis per totam Parochiam vestram publicari, tam Decanum, quam Nobiles supra dictos personaliter nominando. Ita & circa hoc & illud quod in primis Literis vobis directum continetur mandatum, solliciti existentes, ne penes summum Pontificem quod absit, possitis rebargui negligentia, sed potius de diligentia commendari. Valete.

The Londons and Barons slighted this Excommunication as much as the former, and so doth Lewis of France the Inhibition of the Pope and his Legate, not to invade England, for which undertaking having furnished himself, and his Father Philip by the Legates importunity inclining to disswade him from it; thereupon,

Lodovicus postea in crastino Sancti Marci Evangelistæ apud Melun, veniens ad Patrem suum; rogavit eum cum lachrymis, ne sui itineris propositum impediret. Addit etiam, quod Baronibus Angliæ juramentum præstiterat, quod ipsis veniret in succursum: unde prælegit ad tempus excommunicari a Papa, quam crimen incurrere falsitatis. Videns autem Rex contrariam filii sui, & animi angustiam, mente, voluntate, & adiutorio consensit: sed prævidens futurorum eventuum pericula, palam assensum non adhibuit: Et sic non quasi volendo vel persuadendo, sed quasi permittendo licentiam concessit, & cum benedictione dimisit. Tunc Lodovicus, missis ad Curiam Romanam nunciis, qui ibi jam, quod sibi de Regno Angliæ vendicabat, coram Domino Papa protestarentur: sub omni celeritate cum Comitibus, Baronibus, Militibus, & servientibus multis, qui secum iter Anglicanum juraverunt, festinavit ad mare, ut Legatum in Angliam præveniret. Where he arrived with 600. Ships and Vessels from Calice, in the Ile of Thanet, June 12. and thence marching to London, cum ingenti omnium Baronum lætitia susceptus est, who together with the Citizens of London did all Homage and Fealty to him as their King. Ille vero tactis sacro-sanctis Evangelis juravit, quod singulis eorum bonas leges redderet, simul & amissas hereditates: To gratifie the Archbishop his great friend, then absent at Rome, and promote his designs against King John, Constituit dictus Lodovicus, Magistrum Simonem de Languetuna Cancellarium suum; cuius prædicatione tam Cives Londinenses, quam Barones omnes excommunicati divina celebrare fecerunt, qui etiam ipsum Lodovicum ad consensum traxerunt. So little did they value the Popes Thunderbolts or Interdicts, Hist. Angl. p.

Eodem tempore, cum Walo Legatus de progressu Lodovici in Angliam certificatus fuisset, ipse ut diligens mandati executor Apostolici, ipsam sequuturus transfratavit, atque illæsus inter hostes transiens, apud Gloverham ad Regem Johannem pervenit. Quem Rex cum magna alacritate suscipiens, spem suam totam in eo posuit hostibus resistendi. At Legatus, Episcopis, Abbatibus, cum Clericis, quos habere poterat condonatis; Lodovicum nominatim cum complicibus et fautoribus suis, et præcipue Magistrum Simonem de Languetuna, pulsatis campanis et candelis accensis, excommunicabit; præcipiens Episcopis et aliis universis, ut singulis dominicis diebus, ac festivis per totam Angliam sententiam publicarent. Sed ad hæc Magister Simon de Languetuna, et Magister Servastus de Hobzugge, Ecclesiæ Sancti Pauli Londinensis Præcentor, cum quibusdam aliis, dixerunt se pro jure et statu Lodovici appellasse, unde sententiam illam irritam habuerunt et inanem. Such a pitifull Bug-bear was it.

In the mean time Lewis his Proctors at Rome endeavoured to satisfy the Pope that King John had no good Title to the Crown of England, and to make good his own Title thereunto, craving Justice against him therein, which put Pope Innocent to a great dilemma, as this account of these proceedings evidenceth.

Excellentissimo Domino suo Lodovico, Domini Regis Francorum primogenito, D. de Corbello, I. de Montevisto, & G. Limeth, nuncii, salutem & fidele servitium. Noverit

Noverit excellentia vestra, quod nos die Dominica ad mensem Paschæ venimus ad Dominum Papam, salvis personis nostris & rebus; & eodem die intravimus statim ad ipsum. Quem hilarem invenimus, sed vultu tristem se nobis exhibuit. Et præsentatis Literis nostris, & proposita salutatione ex parte vestra, ipse nobis respondit: Dominus vester non est dignus salutatione nostra. Ego vero statim respondi: Pater, credo quod auditis rationibus & excusationibus Domini nostri, invenietis eum dignum salutatione vestra, utpotè Christianum Catholicum, vobis & Romanæ Ecclesiæ devotum. Et sic illa die a præsentia Domini Papæ recessimus. Sed in recessu nostro benignissime nobis dixit Dominus Papa; quod nos libenter audiret; quando & quoties vellemus. Sequenti die Martis, Dominus Papa misit servientem quendam ad hospitium nostrum, ut veniremus ad ipsum, & statim venimus ante eum, & ipse multa dixit contra nos, cum proposuissimus causam nostram, & qua vidbantur impugnare factum vestrum, & rationes vestras. Et statim finito sermone, percussio pectore suo cum magno gemitu, infremuit spiritu, & dixit: Deum mihi, quia in hoc facto Ecclesia Dei non potest evadere confusionem. Si enim Rex Angliæ vincitur, in ipsius confusione confundimur: quia Vassallus noster est, et tenemur eum defendere. Si Dominus Lodovicus vincitur, quod Deus avertat, in ipsius læsione læditur Romana Ecclesia; et ipsius læsionem propriam reputamus. Secure enim semper habuimus, et adhuc habemus; quod ipse in omnibus necessitatibus debeat esse brachium, solatium in oppressionibus, et refugium in persecutionibus Ecclesiæ Romanæ. Et in fine dixit, quod melius vellet mori, quam aliquod malum vobis accideret in hoc facto. Et sic illa die recessimus. Præterea de consilio quorundam Cardinalium expectamus diem Ascensionis, ne quid statuatur contra vos, quoniam illa die solet Papa innovare sententias suas. Dixerat enim nobis Papa, quod ipse expectaret Nuncios Domini Walo-

Nota.

After this Lewes his Advocates propounded three Objections against King John before the Pope, to invalid his Title to the Crown of England, which the Pope himself answered, with their replies to make them good; thus exemplified by Matthew Paris.

Prima propositio contra Regem Angliæ fuit in præsentia Domini Papæ, a nunciis supradictis quod Arthurum nepotem suum propriis manibus per prodicionem interfecit, pessimo mortis genere, quod Angli murdrum appellant. Pro quo facto, idem Rex condemnatus fuit ad mortem in curia Regis Francorum, per iudicium Parium fuorum. Ad hanc objectionem opponit dominus Papa, quod Barones Francia non potuerunt iudicare eum ad mortem condemnari; quia sit Rex inunctus, & ita sit superior: per Barones, tanquam inferiores, non potuit ad mortem condemnari; quia major dignitas quodam modo absorbet minorem. Et præterea incivile videtur, & contra Canones esse; in hominem absentem, non vocatum, non convictum, nec confessum mortis ferre sententiam. Ad hoc nuncii supradicti responderunt: Consuetudo est in regno Francorum, quod Rex habet omnimodam Jurisdictionem in homines Ligios suos: & Rex Angliæ erat suus homo Ligius, tanquam Comes & Dux: Ergo licet esset alias Rex inunctus, tamen tanquam Comes & Dux, erat de Jurisdictione Domini Regis Francorum. Sed si Comes & Dux in regno Francorum delinqueret; posset & deberet iudicari ad mortem per Pares suos. Imo si non esset Dux vel Comes, vel homo Ligius Regis Francia, & deliquisset in regno Francia, ratione delicti in regno perpetrati, potuerunt Barones eum iudicare ad mortem. Alioquin si Rex Angliæ, quia Rex erat inunctus, non posset iudicari ad mortem: impune posset intrare regnum Francia, & interficere Barones Francia, sicut interfecerat Arthurum.

* Fuit.

* Therefore King John being Supream in his own Realm, by St. Peters Doctrine, this Pope could neither excommunicate him, nor depose him from his Crown, whiles absent and unheard as he did, nor examin his title to it.

Hujus autem negotii veritas talis est: Revera non fuit Rex Johannes iuste vel rite abjudicatus a Normannia: quia idem Rex non Judicialiter sed violenter spoliatus, misit propter restitutionem Regi Francorum Phil. nuncios solemnnes & prudentes, videlicet Eustachium Episcopum Elyensem & Hubertum de Burgo, viros disertos, & facundos, significans ei quod libenter veniret ad curiam suam juri per omnia super illa re pariturus ac responsurus, sed ut provideretur ei saluus conductus. Et respondit Rex Philippus, sed non sereno vultu vel corde: Libenter. In pace saluus veniat. Et Episcopus: Domine, & redeat. Et Rex: Ita sit, si Parium suorum iudicium hoc permittat. Et cum supplicassent omnes nuncij Regis Anglia ut liceret ei salvo venire & redire, Rex Francia iratus, cum juramento solito respondit: Per Sanctos Francia, non nisi mediante iudicio. Et cum adderet Episcopus pericula quæ possent contingere per adventum ejus, ait: Domine Rex, non posset Dux Normannia ad curiam vestram venire, nisi veniret Rex Anglia, cum una persona sint Dux & Rex, quod non permetteret aliquo modo Barnagium Anglia, etsi ipse Rex hoc vellet: eminent enim pericula, ut nostis capturæ vel cædis. Cui respondens Rex, dixit. Et quid hoc Domine Episcopo? Bene scitur quod Dux Normannia qui meus tenens est, Angliam sibi adquisivit violenter. Et si subito aliquid accrescit in honorem, perdatne per hoc Dominus Capitalis? absit. Ad quod cum Nuncii nihil poterant rationabiliter respondere, redierunt ad Dominum Regem Anglia, quæ audierant & viderant nunciantes. Rex autem noluit se Committere dubiis casibus, & Iudiciis Francorum qui illum non diligebant, maxime cum timeret, ut ei de turpissima morte *Arthur*i objiceretur, juxta illud Horatii:

— quia me vestigia terrent,
Omnia te adversum spectantia, nulla retrorsum.

Magnates autem Francia nihilominus processerunt in iudicium, quod rite non debuerunt facere, ex quo judicandus absuit, qui adesse voluit si posset. Unde si Rex Johannes abjudicatus fuerit per *adversarios suos non rite abjudicabatur. Ad hæc Papa, multi Imperatores, & Principes, & etiam Francorum Reges, multos in Annalibus occidisse leguntur Innocentes, nec tamen quenkum illorum legimus morti additum. Et cum Arthurus apud Mirebel Castrum, non ut Innocens, sed quasi nocens, & proditor Domini & avunculi sui, cui homagium, & ligantiam fecerat, captus fuerit, potuit de Jure morti etiam turpissimæ sine Iudicio condemnari.

Secunda objectio contra Regem fuit, quod sæpe citatus non personaliter juri pariturus comparuit, nec sufficientem responsum pro se ad curiam Francia destinavit. Ad hoc dicit Papa, quod si Rex Anglia fuit tantum contumax, quia citatus non venit nec misit, sed propter contumaciam non solet quis puniri ad mortem, nec debet. Ergo Barones Francia, non potuerunt judicare eum ad mortem, sed saltem alio modo punire eum; per ablationem scilicet feudi sui. Nuncii responderunt: Consuetudo est in Regno Francia, quod ex quo aliquis accusatur coram suo iudice, de tam crudeli homicidio quod Murdrum appellatur; & ille qui accusatur non venit, vero modo legitimo se excusat, pro convicto habetur, & tanquam convictus per omnia judicatur, & etiam ad mortem, ac si præsens esset. Ad hæc Papa respondit: Quod pactio potuit esse inter Regem Francia, & Ducem Normannia, vel antiqua consuetudo, quod Dux Normannia non debet venire ad citationem Regis Francia, nisi in Marchiam: Unde si non venit citatus, nec deliquit, nec propter hoc potuit taliter puniri. Item dicit Papa: Quod si sententia lata fuerit contra Regem Anglia, non tamen mandata fuit executioni, quia non fuit occisus, unde proles, quam suscepit postea, debet ei in Regno succedere: quia * Rex Anglia non commisit crimen læsæ Majestatis, nec crimen hæreseos, pro quibus tantum filius exheredatur, pro delicto Patris. Ad hæc Nuncii responderunt: Consuetudo est in Regno Francia, quod ex quo aliquis est damnatus ad mortem, quod proles suscepta post sententiam damnationis, succedere non debet, geniti tamen ante sententiam succedere debent. Sed tamen super hoc, Nuncii litigare noluerunt. Item dicit Papa, Quod Rex Anglorum judicatus esset ad mortem, & etiam filii de carne sua geniti, non ideo Blanca deberet ei succedere; sed propinquiore de genere ejus, videlicet proles fratris primogeniti, & ita soror *Arthur*i, vel Otho, qui fuit filius sororis primogenitæ. Et si ponatur, quod Regina Castella debeat succedere, & ita Blanca filia ejus, non est verum: quia masculus debet præferri, Rex scilicet Castella. Et si nullus esset masculus, præferri deberet Regina Legionum, tanquam primogenita. Ad hæc Nuncii dixerunt: Filii fratris non debent succedere, ex quo tempore lætæ sententiæ frater non vivebat: & ita neptis, soror scilicet *Arthur*i, non debet succedere, quia non est

in linea descendenti, cum sit filia fratris : Similiter tempore latæ sententiæ mater Othonis non vivebat, ergo non successit, ergo Otho non debet succedere. Sed Regina Castella vivebat, quæ soror erat, & ideo successit : Ergo mortua Regina Castella, proles successit, & succedere debuit. Ad hæc dicit Papa : Quod Rex Castella, succedere debet, quia masculus est ; vel Regina Legionum tanquam primogenita. Nuncii dixerunt : Quod cum plures sint hæredes, qui alicui debent succedere, & ille qui primo loco debet succedere, taceat ; vel hæreditatem investiri debet hæreditate illa secundum consuetudinem approbatam, salvo tamen jure alterius, si reclamaverit. Et ideo Dominus Lodovicus intrat Regnum Anglia, ut suum. Et si quis propinquior velit super hoc reclamare, Dominus Lodovicus faciet inde quod debet.

Tunc dicit Papa : Quod Regnum Angliæ suum proprium est, et est in possessione Domini ratione fidelitatis, quæ super hoc est ei facta per juramentum, et etiam ratione census, qui jam ei solutus est de Regno : Unde cum in nullo delinqueret, non deberet sibi guerram movere Lodovicus, nec deberet eum spoliare a Regno Anglia * per guerram ; maxime cum Rex Anglia multas habeat terras in feudo Regis Francia, de quibus potest ei movere guerram. Ad hæc Nuncii : Mota fuit guerra & justum Bellum contra Regem Anglia, antequam Regnum illud esset Domini Papæ. Sed de Regno Anglia venit Willielmus de Longa spata, & multi alii cum eo, in manu valida & armata ; qui damna multa & injurias intulerunt Domino Lodovico in terra sua propria ; & ideo Dominus noster potest movere justum Bellum contra Regem Anglorum. Ad hæc Papa dixit : Quod licet Rex Angliæ tanquam Vassallus ejus Lodovico, non ipse tamen deberet ei movere guerram ; sed deberet conqueri Domino superiori, scilicet Papæ, cui subest Rex Angliæ, tanquam Vassallus ejus. Ad hæc Nuncii responderunt : Quod consuetudo est, et quo aliquis Vassallus alterius movet guerram alicui auctoritate sua, ille cui mota est guerra, potest ei movere guerram auctoritate sua, nec tenetur conqueri Domino illius. Et si Dominus vult defendere Vassallum suum quamdium movet talem guerram, ipse Dominus dicitur facere guerram. Item dicit Papa : Quod in generali Concilio statutum est, quod inter omnes discordantes debet esse pax vel treuga usque ad quatuor annos, pro succursu Terræ Sanctæ ; & ideo tempore medio Lodovicus non debet Regno Anglia guerram movere. Nuncii dixerunt : Quod in recessu suo a Francia Lodovicus non fuit requisitus de pace vel treuga ; & si requisitus esset, crediderunt tantam esse malitiam Regis Anglia, quod noluit pace vel treuga gaudere. Item dicit Papa : Quod Rex Anglia, cruce signatus est : unde ex constitutione generalis Concilii, ipse Rex & omnia sua debent esse sub protectione Ecclesiæ. Ad hoc Nuncii responderunt : Quod Rex Angliæ autem crucem sumptam guerram moverat Domino Lodovico, & damna multa fecerat, Castra sua ceperat ; & adhuc Milites suos & servientes incarceratos retinet, & hucusque in guerra est contra Dominum Lodovicum, nec pacem vel treugam cum eo habere voluit, super hoc etiam sæpe requisitus. Item dicit Papa : Quod de communi consilio generalis Concilii excommunicaverat Barones Anglia, & omnes fautores eorum, & ita Dominus Lodovicus sententiam incurrisse videtur. Nuncii dixerunt : Quod Lodovicus non adjuvat Barones Anglia, nec fovet eos, sed jus suum prosequitur : nec etiam credit Lodovicus, nec credere debet, quod Dominus Papa, vel tantum Concilium, injuste velit aliquem excommunicare. Nam tempore latæ sententiæ Dominus Papa nesciebat, quod Lodovicus haberet jus de Regno Anglia, & cum hoc illi constiterit, non credit Dominus Lodovicus, quod Concilium possit ei jus suum auferre. Item dicit Papa : Quod Rex Francorum & Lodovicus filius ejus, post sententiam a Baronibus Francia in Regem Angliæ latam, ipsum Regem appellaverunt, & pro Rege habuerunt : & cum eo tanquam cum Rege Angliæ treugas statuerunt. Ad hæc Nuncii responderunt : Quod post latam sententiam a Baronibus in Regem, nunquam illum pro Rege habuerunt : sed ipsum Regem depositum appellaverunt, sicut, Abbas depositus, & quilibet alius dici solet. Novissime vero dicit Papa : Quod ipse * statuet super hiis antequam veniant * non, Nuncii Domini Walonis.

By which relation we see the Pope himself became King Johns Advocate, as well as Judge, not as King of England, but only because he was his Vassal, (as he frequently styles him) and the Kingdom of England his Kingdom, not Johns, in point of Interest. Whiles these things were agitated at Rome, England was miserably wasted and harried by Lewes and his Army in the East and South, and by King John in the West and North; whereupon 40. of the Barons, considering the miseries of their native Country, the power, successes of K. John, became sensible of their errors in rejecting him, and calling in and Crowning Lewes for their King, and being likewise informed by Vicount Melun on his death-bed, upon his salvation, That Lewes and 16. others of his chief Earles and Barons, whereof himself was one, had taken an Oath, That if ever the Crown of England were quietly settled on his head, he would condemn to perpetual exile all the English who now adhered to him against King John, as Traytors to their lawfull Sovereign, and would actually extirpate all their kindred; counselling them, timely to prevent their miseries, and lock up his words under the seal of secrecy; thereupon addressed their Letters of submission to K. John, hoping that Royal blood was ever ready to shew mercy to such who were ready to yield and prostrate themselves, as Solicitors for mercy. But before these Letters delivered, or any answer returned, King John fell suddenly sick at Swinshed Abby, being at the mercy of an higher Sovereign. When he perceived that his death approached, *he with penitent confession of his sins, and great devotion, received the blessed Eucharist, having the Abbot of Croxston both for his bodily and ghostly Physician; and then not only gladly forgave all his mortal Enemies and Persecutors, (though very difficult to flesh and blood) but also sent command to Henry his son to do the like, to whom he caused all present to swear Fealty, as next heir to the Crown, and sent Letters to all his Officers abroad to assist him. After which he commended his soul to God, and his body to be interred in Worcester Church, where he was afterwards solemnly buried, near the body of Bishop Wolston, renowned for his constant fidelity to his Prince, against the Nobles of his time. Our Historians much differ about his sicknesse, and true cause of his sudden death; some relate he died of grief, others of a fever, a third sort of a flux, a fourth of a surfeit, a fifth of poyson: the most probable opinion is, that he was poysoned by a Monk of Swinshed Abby, where he dyed, being of the Cisteaux Order, which the King had formerly (b) much oppressed and incensed, whereupon by way of revenge (to prevent further miseries to the Church, Realm, and gratifie the Rebellious Bishops, Monks, Clergy, Barons, his professed Enemies, the highly enraged against him) this Monk presented the King with an envenomed Cup, whereof the King commanded him to be the Taster, of which both of them drinking, this Votary became the Diabolical instrument of his own and his Sovereigns destruction. Some of our Monkish Historians themselves relate, that the Monk revealing his intention of poysoning the King to his Abbot, though he poysoned himself to effect it, and saying, That he would suffer this voluntary Martyrdom for the publique, as Caiphas said of Christ, better one perish then a whole Nation; the Abbot at this resolution and constancy of his, wept, and prayed God for joy: whereupon the Monk being absolved before hand by the Abbot, resolutely took the Cup wherewith he poysoned both himself and the King. For a reward and memory of which his execrable Treason, after his decease, five Monks of that Abby did sing for this their Brothers soul specially, and so would do whiles the Abby stood, as the Manuscript Chronicle of St. Albans, Caxton, Eulogium, (c) Mr. Fox, (d) Speed, and others more at large relate: whereas on the contrary these Monks fable, That it was revealed to a Monk, That King John was in Hell, though a Poet for so saying is censured by (e) Matthew Paris himself as Reprobis verficator, who (though a bitter Enemy to K. John, as if he thought ill of, and renounced his Religion) gives us this final judgement of his death and future estate, only for his liberality to two Monasteries. (f) Cum autem regnasset Rex Johannes annis octodecim, mensibus quinque, diebus autem quatuor, ab hac vita post huius saeculi multas perturbationes, & labores inutiles, in multa mentis amaritudine substractus, transmigravit; Nil terræ, imo nec seipsum possidens. (Such was his infelicity through his Prelates, Subjects Treachery.) *Sperandum est autem, et certissime confidendum, quod quædam bona opera, quæ fecit in hac vita, allegabunt pro eo ante Tribunal Jesu Christi: construxit enim Abbatiam Cisterciensis ordinis de Bello loco, loco, et moriturus domuit de * Crocissima decem librarum tertam contulit opulentiam. Yet the malice of many of his Bishops, Monks, Clergy, and other Enemies against him was such, that they would neither permit him to enjoy his Temporal Crown and Kingdoms on earth whiles he lived, nor permit God himself to bestow on him any Crown, or share at all in the Kingdom of Heaven, after his untimely death.

I have now with all possible industry and integrity presented you out of our Histories and Records with the exactest Chronological History hitherto published, of the Popes and Prelates manifold, unparallel'd, grand Usurpations upon the Crown, Kingdoms, Churches of England and Ireland, during the reign of King John, with his strenuous various oppositions against them for sundry years, till by armed violence, fear, fraud, treachery, perjury, rebellion, enforced to resign up his Crown, Scepter, Kingdoms, to his grand Enemy Pope Innocent the 3d, who afterwards undertook his protection against his Rebellions Prelates and Barons; not out of any love or respect unto him as King of England, but meerly as his sworn Vassal and Tributary, by an enforced Charter, the nullity whereof both in Law and Conscience I have at (g) large demonstrated, against all Popes and their Parasites pretences. The new Usurpations made by this Pope, and the English Bishops confederating with him, upon this Kings supream Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction; during his unfortunate reign, are reducible to these heads.

Here, p. 274 to 330.

1. An usurped arbitrary power for the Pope to examine in the Court of Rome, the Elections of Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, though duly made by the Electors with the Kings license.
- 2ly. A Jurisdiction for the Pope to compell some few members of Chapters and Covents in England to elect whomsoever he recommended to be their Archbishop, Bishop, Abbot, without the consent of the majority of the Chapter or Covent, even in Rome it self, against their Oathes; Trusts, Charters, Priviledges.
- 3ly. A Jurisdiction without the Kings previous Regal license to elect, or subsequent assent to such Elections, to compell the King himself to invest Bishops in the actual possession of their Temporalities, by Ecclesiastical censures; and force of armes; against the Rights and Priviledges of the Crown.
- 4ly. A new Prerogative for the Pope or his Legates by their own Provisions or Translations to promote whom they pleased to any Archbishoprick, Bishoprick, Abby, Deanery, Benefice; in England or Ireland, whereof the King himself or any other was rightfull Patron; without and against his Royal assent, or the Patrons.
- 5ly. A meer arbitrary Jurisdiction to Interdict the King and Kingdom of England, to prohibit all Divine Service and Sacraments therein for sundry months, yea years together, against Gods and the Kings expresse commands; and that not for any personal or national scandalous crimes, found in the King or Kingdom, but meerly for opposing the Popes apparent inroachments on the Rights of the Kings imperial Crown.
- 6ly. A power personally to excommunicate the King himself, and all others who should either eat, drink, discourse or communicate with him, only for disobeying the Popes illegal commands, against his antient Rights and Priviledges.
- 7ly. An Authority to absolve all his Subjects from their Oathes of Allegiance and Obedience to him; till conformable to his Papal pleasure; and to dispence with the Kings own Oathes to his Barons and people.
- 8ly. A pretended supream Antichristian Papal authority; actually to deprive the King and his Heirs of his very hereditary Crown, Kingdoms, and give them away to other foreign Princes.
- 9ly. To command foreign Kings, and all Christian Nobles, Knights, Souldiers, by force of armes to seize upon and expell him his Kingdoms, and issue out Crossadoes to War against and dethrone him, as if he were a meer Saracen and Turk.
- 10ly. A Jurisdiction to deprive, suspend, sequester, excommunicate the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors; Ecclesiastical and Temporal Peers, and Cities of the Realm at his Papal pleasure, and summon them to attend the Pope personally at Rome, to undergo his Papal censures.
- 11ly. A liberty inserted into the Great Charter for all Bishops, Clergymen; Monks; and others to depart out of the Realm, resort to Rome, or to the Kings Enemies, without his Royal license first obtained, and to return again at their pleasures.
- 12ly. A liberty for all Chapters, Covents, Monks, Clergymen; freely to elect whom they pleased to Bishopricks, Monasteries, Deaneries, and other preferments in the Kings Donation, and to reject whatever persons the King should specially recommend unto them, though never so deserving; so as the King could prefer no person to any elective elective Dignity within his Reajms, but whom the Chapters, Covents, Clergy should voluntarily elect, and the Pope or his Legates actually confirm at their pleasures. 13ly. A power to sequester, suspend, deprive, excommunicate; and reduce to extream necessity all such Scholars, Clergymen, and Loyal Subjects, who had so much loyalty and courage as to appear in defence of the King and his Cause, against the Popes illegal injurious encroachments; and to protect, advance, reward, encourage all Traytors and Rebels against the King, to advance the Popes Usurpations. 14ly. A power to sell Archbishopricks, Bishopricks, Monasteries, and all other Ecclesiastical preferments, Palls, to those who would give most money for them; to extort monies for Papal Benedictions, Valedictions, dismissions from attendance in General Councils, or the See of Rome, upon summons thither. 15ly. An over-awing authority over all the Bishops, Clergy of England & Ireland, to obey the Popes most unjust, treasonable commands, against the expresse commands, protestations of the King, Barons, Kingdoms, to the Kings, Realms, and Churches prejudice. 16ly. A power to hear and determine, by Appeal or otherwise, all causes and controversies concerning elections, unions or disunions of Churches, or other Ecclesiastical Offices.

As to the Kings and Kingdoms Temporal Rights and Jurisdictions, Pope Innocent made these unparalleled encroachments on them. 1. An actual Interdiction of the whole Realm sundry years, for a pretended personal contempt in the King alone, and after that the like Interdict of the Londoners and Barons temporal Estates, for their Rebellions and civil offences against the King. 2ly. An Antichristian power to dethrone, dis-inherit the King and his Heirs of their hereditary right in the Crown, Kingdoms of England and Ireland, and to transfer them to foreign Kings and Enemies, without the Kings or Kingdoms consent, or any tryal, hearing of the King or Kingdom. 3ly. A forcible wrested resignation from the King of his Crown, Scepter, Kingdoms to the Pope and his Successors, without his Barons or Kingdoms consents, by a void, illegal, extorted Charter. 4ly. A resuming of them by King John and his Heirs from the Pope and his Successors, under an Annual Rent or Pension; and extorting of an Oath of Homage and Fealty from the King, as a meer Vassal and Tributary to the Pope and Church of Rome, directly contrary to the Rights of the Crown, and freedom, Office, Royalty of a King. 5ly. A power to confirm, null, repeal the Kings own Temporal Charters, yea Great Charters of Liberties and the Foreist, and judge of their validity or invalidity at his Papal pleasure. 6ly. A power to examine, hear, determine the Right and Title of King John and others to the Crown of England, and decide them in the Court of Rome, as the supream Judicature in such cases. 7ly. A Jurisdiction to hear and determine all civil controversies touching Priviledges, Rights, Franchises, between the King and his Barons, and excommunicate them for not submitting to his Papal Edicts therein. 8ly. A power to make Truces, and prohibit Christian Kings to War upon each others Kingdoms, under pain of Excommunication and Interdiction. 9ly. A pretended right to protect all Kings and Nobles who took up the Cross, from any civil proceedings, Wars against each other, during the Crossado, and to recommend, promote, grant, prescribe Taxes, Tenths, to maintain those Wars against the Turks, but in truth to fill his Papal coffers. 10ly. A power to exempt Treacherous, Rebellious Clergymen from being Out-lawed or Interdicted by the King, and force the King by publike Patents to disclaim this his antient Prerogative, with his power of detaining any Clerks in Prison, for capital Crimes or Felonies, if demanded to be delivered by and to their Ordinaries. All these with some other Usurpations of lesse concernment, reducible to these heads, were introduced by Pope Innocent the 3d. during the reign of King John, never practised in England before by any of his ambitious Predecessors; and so fastned upon the necks of the King, Kingdom by wholesale, by means of King Johns forced resignation of his Crown to the Pope, intestine Wars, differences between the King, his Bishops, Barons, this Pope and his Legates policies, that his Successors for many years after, though they frequently complained, petitioned against them, with much earnestnesse and regret, yet were hardly able with all their power or policy to resist, much lesse to shake them off, but only by piece-meal and inches as they had strength and opportunity to do it.

I shall now proceed to his Sons and Successors long, yet troublesome reign, by like unhappy contests between the Crosser and Scepter, the King and his Barons, upon pretext of publike Liberty, and our Ecclesiastical affairs under him.

THE FOURTH BOOK.

CHAP. I.

K. Henry the 3d. his succession to K. John; his Coronation, necessitated Oath, Homage, Subjection to, Transactions, Compliance with the Pope and See of Rome, against his own and the Nobles wills; his and their Complaints, Oppositions, Prohibitions against the Popes, Bishops, Clergies Encroachments, Exactions both in England and Ireland; with the chief passages concerning the Ecclesiastical affairs in them, during the first 20. years of his young & troublesome reign.

King John being * taken out of this world by poison, through the implacable malice of the Monks and Prelates, having then many Enemies both of Earls, Barons, and more especially of the Popish Clergy, Henry his eldest son was then but of the Age of 9. Years: at which time most of the Lords of England adhering to Lewes the French Kings son, (whom they had sent for before in displeasure of King John to be their King, and had sworn to him their Allegiance.) Thereupon William Earl Marshall, a Noble man of great Authority, and a grave, sound Counsellor, friendly and quietly called unto him divers Earls and Barons, and taking this Henry the young Prince, son of King John, set him before them all, using these words, Behold Right Honourable and Well-belov'd: Although we have persecuted the Father of this young Prince for his evil demeanour, and worthily, yet this young Childe, whom here you see before you, as he is in years tender, so is he pure and innocent from these his Fathers doings: Wherefore in as much as every man is charged only with the burthen of his own works and transgressions, * Neither shall the Childe (as the Scripture teacheth us) bear the iniquity of his Father: We ought therefore of duty and conscience to pardon this young Prince, and take compassion of his Age as ye see. And now forasmuch as he is the Kings natural and eldest son, and must be our Sovereign and King, and Successor of this Kingdom, come let us appoint him our King and Governour, and let us remove from us this Lewes the French Kings son, and suppress his people, which is a confusion and shame to our Nation, and the yoke of our servitude let us cast off from our shoulders. To these words spake and answered the Earl of Gloucester: And by what reason and right (said he) can we so do, seeing we have called him hither and sworn to him our Fealty? Whereunto the Earl Marshall inferred again, and said: Good right and reason we have, and ought of duty to do no less, for that contrary to our mind and calling, he hath abused our affiance and Fealties. Truth it is, we called him and meant to preferre him to be our Chieftain and Governour, but he eftsoons surpris'd in pride, hath contemned and despised us, and if we shall so suffer him, he will subvert and overthrow both us and our Nation, and so shall we remain a spectacle of shame to all men, and be as outcasts of all the world.

At these words all they, as inspired from above, cryed all together with one voice, Be it so, he shall be our King; and so the day was appointed for his Coronation, which was the day of Simon and Jude. This Coronation was kept not at Westminster, forasmuch as Westminster at the same time was holden of the French-men, but at Gloucester, the safest place (as was thought) at that time in the Realm, Anno 1216. by Gualo the Popes Legate, through counsel of all the Lords and Barons that held with his Father King John.

Legatus associatis sibi Episcopis & Comitibus memoratis, duxerunt eum ad Ecclesiam Conventualem cum processione solemni, Regem acclamando. Ubi ante majus altare constitutus, juravit coram Clero & populo, appositis sibi sacro-sanctis Evangeliiis, & plurimorum Sanctorum reliquiis, dictante juramentum Jocelino Bathoniensi; Quod honorem, pacem, ac reverentiam portabit Deo & Sancta Ecclesia, & ejus ordinatis, omnibus diebus vite sue. Juravit etiam, quod in populo sibi commisso, rectam justitiam tenebit: quodque leges malas & iniquas consuetudines, si qua sint in Regno delibit, & bonas observabit, & ab omnibus faciet observari. Deinde fecit homagium Sanctae Romanae Ecclesiae et Innocentio Papae, de Regno Angliae et Hyberniae, et juravit quod Mille Marcas, quas Pater ejus Romanae contulerat Ecclesiae, fideliter persolveret, quamdiu praedicta Regna teneret. Et his ita gestis, Petrus Wintoniensis, & Jocelinus Bathoniensis Episcopi, ipsum in Regem ungentes, Coronaverunt sollempniter cum canticis & modulationibus, quae in Coronationibus Regum solent decantari. Tandem expletis Missarum solemniis, duxerunt Regem cum processione solemni, Episcopi & Comites praedicti, regalibus indutum, ad mensam; ubi omnes in ordine suo confidentes, epulabantur in laetitia & exultatione. In crastino autem Rex cepit homagia & fidelitates ab omnibus Episcopis, Comitibus, & Baronibus, aliisque omnibus qui aderant, & omnes ei fidelissimum obsequium promiserunt. Coronatus est autem Henricus tertius Anno Aetatis suae Decimo, in die Apostolorum Simonis & Jude, scilicet xxvii. die mensis Octobris. Rex autem post Coronationem suam remansit in custodia Willielmi Comitissae Pembroc, magni videlicet Mareschalli; qui protenus misit Literas ad omnes Vicecomites de Regno Angliae & Castellanos, praecipiens singulis, ut Regi nuper Coronato essent incedentes, promittens omnibus possessiones pariter ac donaria multa, ita ut dicto Regi fideliter adhererent. Sicque Nobiles universi & Castellani, qui Patri ejus servierant, ei multo fidelius quam Regi Johanni adhaeserunt: quia propria Patris iniquitas, ut cunctis videbatur, filio non debuit imputari. Unde omnes sese ad defensionem praeparantes, Castella sua optime munire ceperunt. Animabat praeterea eos qui partes Regis fovebant quamplurimum, quod singulis diebus Dominicis ac festivis Lodovicum cum complicitibus ejus et fautoribus excommunicari videbant.

Mat. Paris, Hist.
Angl. p. 281,
286, 287.

Soon after, King Henries party increasing, (many of the Barons revolting from Lewes: Quod spreto juramento, terras, possessiones, & Castella eorumdem optimatum, quae eorum auxilio subegerat, illis murmurantibus, in suam redegerat potestatem, ponens in eis milites & alienigenas nationes: ) his Forces taking in many Castles, and the Pope likewise threatening to ratifie the Excommunication denounced by Gualo against Lewes, unlesse he departed England; thereupon a Truce was made between Henry and Lewes till a month after Easter. In Whitson week the Popes Legate to encourage the Kings Army to fight the French Kings Forces at Lincoln; Ostendit omnibus, quam iniqua erat Lodovici ac Baronum ei adherentium causa; pro qua fuerant excommunicati, & ab unitate Ecclesiae segregati. Et ut denique exercitum illum animaret ad pugnam, albis indutus vestibus cum clero universo: (he again) Lodovicum nominatim excommunicavit, cum complicitibus & fautoribus suis, & praecipue omnes illos qui apud Lincolniam contra Regem Angliae obsidionem agebant, cum tota Civitate; continens scilicet & contentum. Eis autem qui negotium hoc in propriis personis expediendum susceperunt, de concessa cessa sibi potestate ab omnipotenti Deo & sede Apostolica, plenam suorum veniam peccatorum, de quibus veraciter confessi fuerunt, indulget, & in retributione justorum, salutis æterna premia repromisit. Deinde collata omnibus absolutione & Dei benedictione, ad arma convolarunt universi: After a sharp conflict they routed the Barons and Lewes forces, slew and took many of them prisoners with the losse only of three men, and took the City of Lincoln with all the Treasure and Baggage of the Enemy, those who escaped flying to London; many of them were cut off by the way. Whereupon Lewes sending to his Father Philip for ayde, (who feared to assist him, being excommunicated) the Kings ships watching the French fleet at sea, transporting Soldiers and supplies unto him, took Eustachius a Monck their Admiral, Prisoner, whose head the Kings Brother Richard, cut off with his Sword as a most wicked Pirat and traytor to the King of England, despising the great sum of mony which he profered for his ransom: Soon after which defeats by Land and sea, both parties having a conference at Stanes, came to this agreement on the 3d. of September, which they swore to on both sides.

Juravit in primis Lodovicus, & omnes & excommunicati & imprisii ejus cum eo, Mat. Paris, p. 188. tañtis sacrosanctis Evangeliiis, quod starent judicio Ecclesiæ, & quod de cætero fideles erunt Domino Papæ & Ecclesiæ Romanæ. Juravit etiam, quod incontinententer recederet cum omnibus suis de Regno Anglia; nunquam in vita sua malo animo reverurus. Et quod pro posse patrem suum Philippum induceret, ut Henrico Anglorum Regi redderet omnia jura sua in partibus transmarinis, & cum Rex foret, ipse in pace dimitteret. Juravit insuper, quod omnia castra cum terris omnibus, quas ipse & sui per guerram occupaverant in regno Anglia, Regi & suis redderet incontinententer. Rex autem Anglorum, tañtis sacrosanctis Evangeliiis, juravit cum Legato & Mareschallo, quod redderent Baronibus Anglia & aliis omnibus de Regno, omnia jura & hæreditates suas, cum omnibus libertatibus ante petitis; pro quibus discordia fuit exorta inter Johannem Regem Anglorum & Barones. Nec nocumentum vel opprobrium obtineretur hinc vel inde, his qui huic vel alii adhæssissent. Insuper prisiones omnes, qui ante hanc pacem provisam se redemerant, & suæ redemptionis jam factæ pecuniæ partem suis creditoribus solverant, quod solutum est non reddatur eis: sed siquid superfuerit ad solvendum, debitori penitus relaxetur. Prisiones universi, qui apud Lincolniam capti erant, vel prælio navali apud Doveram, sive in parte Regis, sive in parte Lodovici, ubicunque, statim sine omni difficultate, & sine omni redemptione & censu liberarentur. Et his ita gestis, absolutus est Lodovicus cum omnibus secutoribus suis, servata Ecclesiæ forma. Ac deinde singuli ruentes in pacis osculum, tristem lætitiæ sub fraudis prætextu plurimi pallabant. Quo factò Lodovicus Londoniam reversus, & ibi præ nimia a civibus paupertate, quinque millia librarum sterligorum mutuo accipiens, sub conductu magni Mareschalli ad mare cum festinatione pervenit, & cum opprobrio sempiterno ad Gallias transretavit. Though the King and Kingdom were thus speedily and finally rid of this forraign French Usurper, yet the Pope and Romish Usurpers got great advantage, and firmer footing by it. For it is very observable, that although the Barons and Laymen who adhered to Lewis, had a general pardon and indemnity for their Treasons, Rebellions against the King, yet the Popes Legat exempted all the Bishops, Abbots and Clergy out of this Act of pacification, for their contempts against the Popes authority, that he might tyrannize over them, dispose of their Ecclesiastical promotions and benefices to his instruments, and put them to excessive fines at the present, to fill the Popes and his own coffers, and enrich his own freinds with others Losses, as the Historian thus relates.

dobici ab Anglia, Legatus misit inquisitores per omnes Angliæ provincias, qui quoscunque de consensu etiam levissimo culpabiles invenerunt, cujuscunque essent ordinis vel dignitatis, suspensos miserunt ad Legatum, et ab omni beneficio spoliatos, qui illorum beneficia suis clericis abundanter distribuit, atque de damnis aliorum suos omnes divites fecit. Hugo quoque Lincolnienſis Episcopus in Angliam veniens, mille marcas Legato de probata pecunia numeravit. Cujus exemplum multi tam Episcopi, quam viri religiosi insequuti, sumptibus nimis damnosis, gratiam sibi reconciliabant Legati. Clericorum quoque et Canonicorum sæcularium ubique haustu tam immoderato loculos evacuavit; metens quod non seminabit, ut ex multis portionibus unum grandem acervum cumlaret. The King by reason of his infancy and wardship, was unable to take notice of, or oppose these Usurpations, extortions of the Legat, and the Nobles adhering to him, were willing at this time to connive at them, as a just punishment inflicted upon those Trayterous Bishops, Abbots, Priests and Clergy, for adhering to a forraign Usurper: his Papal power, being then only able thus to crush and fleece them. This gave great encouragement to this Pope and his Legates, to all future Popes and Legates usurpations, oppressions, provisions, rapines of like nature, upon no such just account as this might seem to be. It is evident by Claus. Anno 1. H. 3. m. 21. and Pat. 1. H. 3. m. 16. inus, that this Legat Gualo did bear cheif sway in the Kings council, and that the King sealed some Letters Patents, sigillis venerabilium Patrum Domini Gualonis, Sancti Martini Presbyteri Cardinalis, Apostolici sedis Legati, & Domini P. Winton. Episcopi, and sent them abroad under their seals, in the first year of his reign, quia sigillum nondum habuimus, as the Patent Rols oft informes us. And this made the Legat more insolent.

An.Dom. 1218 In the 2d. year of King Henry the 3d. the Archbishop of Dublin, in Ireland, and other Bishops there usurping upon the Kings Crown and temporal courts, presumed to hold pleas in their Courts Christian, of lay fee; whereupon there issuing Prohibitions from the Kings Court to stay these suits, they proceeded contemptuously notwithstanding, upon which there issued out this Writ of attachment against them to appear before the cheif Justice of Ireland to answer the contempt.

By these Records it is evident: 1. That King Henry the 1. originally founded the Bishoprick of Kent, and endowed it with several impropriations by his own Regal Authority: that he and his Successors sealed and confirmed by their Charters fundry Lands and impropriations thereon: and that it is the right duty of our Kings; (as founders of Bishopricks) to see the Lands and Revenues unduly alienated from them, restored, when there is just cause; which this King, (by reason of his infancy, being then under a Protector, and the Popes and Legates great usurped power in England at that season) could not easily effect by his Regal power, without the Popes and Cardinals assistance, the true occasion of these his Letters to them.

King Henry having continual occasions to make use of the Pope and Court of Rome about his Domestick and Foreign affairs, in the 4th. year of his reign constituted W. de St. Albin, his Proctor general therein, especially against the Son of the Earl of March, in Picardy, who against his faith to King John his Father, to marry his Sister, refused to do it, or to restore her without a ranfome; whereupon he desired the Pope to command him to marry or restore her, or else to give order to two Bishops he names, and a Dean, to Excommunicate him for his disobedience, as these three Records attest.

The transcendent virtues of this canonized Bishop, were his * ingratitude and perfidiousness to King John, in resorting to this Arch-traytor Stephen of Canterbury, receiving his Consecration from, siding with him against, and deposing of the King, contrary to his Oath and duty, (for which the King seized his Temporalities, and kept them in his hands near five years space :) Yet for these virtues this Archbishop procured him to be canonized for a Saint. About the same time this Arch-traytor Stephen (to canonize Treason against our Kings, as demeriting the highest honour and Saintship) caused his Trayterous insolent Predecessor Thomas Becket, to be translated, enshrined, adored with great solemnity: Thus related by Matthew Paris.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 298:

Eodem tempore, levatum est de lapide marmoreo corpus Beati Thoma Archiepiscopi & Martyris, a Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, præsentem Rege, & omnibus fere Episcopis totius Regni, cum Abbatibus, Prioribus, Comitibus, Baronibus, Clero & populo multo, in crastino Octavarum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli. Cujus corpus sanctissimum collocatum est honorifice in Pheretro, ex auro & lapidibus preciosis mirabiliter fabricato. Interfuerunt etiam huic translationi, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Abbates, Priores, & alii multi de Regno Francorum, aliarumque diversarum Regionum, qui ob honorem & reverentiam Beati Martyris, ut tanta adesset solemnitas, alacriter conveniunt. Nam dignissimum omnibus videbatur, ut Sanctum Martyrem Christi generaliter honorarent et colerent, qui pro universalis Ecclesie sanguinem suum fundere, et ad finem usque non timuit fideliter decertare.

It is observable, That most of the English, many of the French Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors, Clergy, and of other Countries, were by the Archbishops invitation present at the translation of this Arch-traytor Becket, as most worthy to be honoured and worshipped as a Saint and Martyr for the universal Church of Christ, for which he shed his blood, and truthfully contested against his Sovereign till the last, only to exempt Clergymen, (though Traytors, Rebels, Murderers, Sodomites, Theeves) from secular Jurisdiction, and overturn the ancient Rights, Prerogatives of the Crown, and Kingdom too, as the premises demonstrate. No wonder therefore that so many Archbishops, Bishops, and Clergymen, in our own and other Kingdoms, became Arch-traytors, Rebels to their Emperors and Kings, since it was the readiest way to procure the highest preferments that Popes could conferre upon them in their lives, and a canonization, adoration of them for Saints and holy Martyrs after their deaths.

King Henry the 3d. this year issued ou a memorable Prohibition and Proclamation to the Sheriffs of Middlesex, Hertford, and Surry, prohibiting any to enter into any the Lands of the Bishop of London under a penalty, as his Father King John had done before him.

A pregnant evidence of our Kings Ecclesiastical Jurisdiction in and over Bishops and Bishopricks.

Soon after, the King having in his Temporal Court recovered by Judgement the Church of Aley, against the Prior and Canons of St. Friswicks in Oxford, they by false suggestions, to detain the possession of the Church against the King, procured Letters from the Pope to certain Delegates to examine the cause again, in prejudice of the Kings Court, Crown and Dignity; whereupon the King issued forth this memorable Prohibition to, and Appeal against them, to preserve his Right and Prerogative.

quam caput, redemptionem acciperet. Juravit etiam audientibus multis, quod eo vivente, pacem Dunelmensis Ecclesia non haberet. Nec multo post cum servientes Episcopi Monachum quendam ab Ecclesia quadam violenter extraxissent, & usque ad sanguinis effusionem flagellassent; Monacho conquerenti, & super hoc coram Episcopo querelam deponenti, respondit Episcopus, quod melius fecissent Ministri si Monachum occidissent. Sicque deinceps ita Monachis præfatis idem Episcopus injuriosus exitus & infestus, ut necessitate cogente, ad præsentiam Domini Papæ appellantes, sese & sua omnia sub ejus protectione ponerent. Ac deinde Romanam clericos mittentes & Monachos, Episcopum accusaverunt in multis. Contra quam accusationem, hoc sequens rescriptum impetraverunt a Papa.

Honorius Episcopus servus servorum Dei, &c. Saresberienfi & Elyensi, &c. Episcopis, Salutem, &c. Ita nobis in Odore bonæ opinionis fratrum & cooperarum, nostrorum conventus delectari, ut in pestilentibus, vitia non palpemus: cum non debeat pro reverentia ordinis sustinere peccantes, quorum culpa tot eos dignos mortibus facit, quot ad subiectas perditionis exempla transmittunt, qui sola quæ prævitatis exempla conspiciunt imitantur. Hinc est, quod cum de venerabili fratre nostro Dunelmensi Episcopo sapimus nobis insinuatæ fuissent quæ ab Episcopali honestate nimium dissonabant, tandem antea incensuræ funibus clamoris excitati, ut non pateremur cum perditionis multarum, quiescere amplius in suis enormitatibus Episcopum memoratum: de quo insinuatio clamorosa processit, quod postquam fuis ad officium Pontificale promotus, reus sanguinis, symonia, adulterii sacrelogii, rapina, perjurii, ac dilapidationis multiplex est effectus, non formidans clericos, orphanos, ac viros religiosos opprimere, testamenta decadentium impedire, Regia jura contra scientiam dilecti filii nostri Pandulphi Norwicensis electi minuire, ac excommunicationi ligatus, ingerere se divinis. Idem autem appellacionibus non desens ad Romanam Ecclesiam interpositis, statuta generalis concilii non observat, nunquam proponit populo verbum Dei, lingua & exemplo vitæ pravum subditis præbet exemplum. Coram multis juravit, quod pacem ipso vivente Dunelmensis Ecclesia non habebit. Conquerente sibi Monacho quodam Dunelmensi, se a servientibus suis ab Ecclesia quadam fuisse extractum, & usque ad sanguinis effusionem pulsatum, respondit ei, quod melius factum fuisset, si servientes Episcopi Monachum permississent. Ipse insuper Apostolicam regulam continentem qualis debeat esse Episcopus, penitus calcavit in cunctis. Nos ergo ne alienæ culpa simus auctores si clausis oculis tot & tanta prædicti Episcopi transeamus errata, cum adeo ad nos clamor super his ascenderit, ut dissimulationi amplius non sit locus, dignum duximus, ex officii nostri debito, descendere ut hæc an ita sint, vel aliter, videamus. Quocirca fraternitati vestræ per Apostolica scripta Mandamus, quatenus inquisita super his & cognita, sollicitè veritate quæ inventeritis, vestris fideliter inclusis sigillis ad nostram præsentiam remittatis: ut Auctore Deo, quod super hoc faciendum fuerit statuamus. CUM autem literæ Domini Papæ ad notitiam executorum pervenissent, ex officio sibi injuncto, vocaverunt Episcopum Dunelmensem, cum Abbatibus, Prioribus, Archidiaconis, Decanis, apud Dunelmum, ad suum consistorium, & alios laicos & clericos illius provincie quoscunque hujus rei esse confcios crediderunt. Illis autem omnibus, die sibi & loco statuto coram executoribus, comparentibus, recitata fuerunt literæ Domini Papæ, audientibus cunctis, aperte & distincte ad intelligendum. Quibus perlectis & intellectis, surrexerunt Clerici Dunelmensis Episcopi quasdam refutationes frivolas & fallaces allegantes, contra executores prædictos, atque ne procederent in inquisitione prædicta, præsentiam Domini Papæ appellaverunt. Et sic facta appellatione episcopus cum Clericis suis recessit, diem statuentes adversariis, quæ contra eum in Domini Papæ præsentia comparerent. Interposita itaque appellatione, prædictus Episcopus Romanam adivit Curiam, præmissis Clericis suis, qui sibi supervenienti Domini Papæ gratiam præpararent. Unde contigit ut antequam Monachi Dunelmenses Romam venissent, clerici memorati actionem eorundem Monachorum non mediocriter infirmaverant. Unde post multas hinc inde coram Papa altercationes, tam Episcopi quam Monachi, immoderatis profusis expensis remissi sunt in Angliam ad executores supradictos, ut coram eis quod justum fuerit sententialiter statuatur. Duravit autem hæc diu inter eos semel suborta contentio, donec mors Episcopi litam sicut ipse prædixerat, terminavit. What was the general corruption of the Pope, Prelates, Monks, Clergy in that age, appears by this relation.

2 Papa 3.

Thus did this insolent Pope in meer Temporal affairs cast abroad his Thunderbolt of Excommunication with highest arrogance, to terrifie and trample all Kings and Temporal Princes, Nobles, under his Papal feet. What Ecclesiastical censures were then inflicted upon Impostors and Blasphemers, this president will inform us.

Hoc Anno comprehensus fuit quidam, paucis diebus ante Concilium celebratum Canthuariæ, (mistaken for Oxonia) a Magistro Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, habens in corpore & membris, scilicet in latere, manibus, & pedibus, quinque vulnera Crucifixi, & in dicto Concilio simul cum eo, utriusque sexus, scilicet Hermaphroditus, ejusdem erroris quo Prior obsecratus, fuit cum suo complice præsentatus. Super quo convicti, et publice confessi, iudicio Ecclesiæ puniti fuerunt. Similiter & quidam Apostata Indanus, factus ex Christiano Diaconus, qui similiter est iudicialiter punitus, quem Falco statim acceptum suspendi fecit: by Judgement of the Kings Temporal Court, (not Council) as Bracton informes us. The first impostor who counterfeited himself to be Christ, with two women his followers, counterfeiting themselves to be the Virgin Mary, the Mother of Christ, and Mary Magdalen, were immured together with him without any victuals, and starved to death, as some relate, and others that they were crucified.

In this Council held at Oxford under Archbishop Stephen, many Constitutions were made, most of them very usefull to reform extortions, abuses, Procurations in Visitations, the taking of any Fees for Letters of Order, Funerals, or administering any Sacrament; as also against Pluralities, Non-residence, and other abuses of Clergy-men: Only it begins with this extravagant general form of Excommunication, encroaching upon the Kings Prerogative and Subjects Liberties in sundry particulars, warranted by no Authority from God the Father, or Blessed Virgin, as it pretends.

Advocatos quoque omnes excommunicamus qui in causis matrimonialibus maliciose exceptiones proponunt, vel proponere procurant, ne matrimonia debitum sortiantur effectum, vel etiam ut contra justitiam processus ejus diutius suspendatur. Item, excommunicamus omnes illos qui gratia lucri, favoris, vel odii, vel alia quacunque de causa alicui maliciose crimen imponunt, cum infamatus non sit apud bonos & graves, ut sic saltem purgatio ei indicat vel alio modo gravet. Præterea omnes illos excommunicationis sententia innodamus qui vacante Ecclesia maliciose opponunt se, vel opponi procurant super jure patronatus, quatenus sic verum patronum illius Ecclesiæ collatione, saltem illa vice, defraudent. Excommunicamus omnes illos qui gratia lucri vel odii, vel aliter contemnunt exequi mandata Domini Regis contra excommunicatos edita, claves Ecclesiæ contemnentes. Item, omnes illos qui in solvendis decimis suis Ecclesiis suis Parochialibus debitis & consuetis scienter fraudem fecerint : videlicet de omnibus fructibus terrarum & arborum : de feno quocunque loco percepto, de pannagio porcorum, herbis ortorum, de apibus & nutrimentis animalium, & de feribus quos nutriunt, lana, lacte, caseis quocunque coagulatis, & de omnibus quæ renovantur per annum, piscationibus, venationibus, molendinis, & negotiationibus, artificii, cæterisque justis laboribus, & licite acquisitis, & de omnibus aliis de jure, sive de consuetudine decimandis. Item, omnes illos qui viros religiosos, Clericos Beneficiatos, & eorum homines in solo Ecclesiastico degentes, talliis, vestigalibus, muragiis, tributis, fossatis, cariagiis, vel aliis exactionibus indebitis, & inconsuetis per injustas & violentas extortiones non modicum Ecclesiasticæ libertatis præjudicium, aggravare præsumunt. The Archbishop Stephen Langton persevering in his treasonable seditious practices against King Henry the 3d. as he had done against his Father King John, Anno 1223. demanded of him a confirmation of the Great Charter, granted and ratified by his Father, on purpose to raise new Wars and Rebellions upon the same account, and in the same manner as he had formerly done; thus registred by Matthew Paris.

REX Henricus ad natale tenuit Curiam suam apud Oxoniam. Et postmodum, in octavis Epiphaniæ, apud Londoniam veniens cum Baronibus ad colloquium; requisitus est ab Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, et Magnatibus aliis: ut Libertates, et liberas consuetudines, pro quibus guerra mota fuit contra Patrem suum, confirmaret. Et sicut Archiepiscopus ostendit evidenter, idem Rex diffugere non potuit, quin hoc faceret: cum in recessu Lodovici ab Anglia, juravit, et tota Nobilitas Regni cum eo; quod libertates præscriptas omnes observarent, et omnibus traderent observandas. Quod audiens Willielmus Brimere, qui unus erat ex Consiliariis Regis, pro Rege respondens, dixit: Libertates quas petitis, quia violentè extorta fuerunt, non debent de jure observari. Quod verbum Archiepiscopus moleste ferens, increpavit eum, dicens: Willielme (inquit) si Regem diligeres, pacem Regni non impedires. Videns autem Rex Archiepiscopum in iram commotum, dixit: Omnes libertates illas jurabimus, et omnes stricti sumus, ut quod jurabimus, observemus. Et Rex protinus habito super hoc consilio, misit Literas suas ad singulos Vicecomites Regni; ut per Milites duodecim, vel legales homines, uniuscujusque Comitatus, per sacramentum facerent inquiri, quæ fuerunt libertates in Anglia, tempore Regis Henrici avi sui; & factam inquisitionem ad Londoniam mitterent ad Regem, in quindecim diebus post Pa'cha.

Soon after, this Archbishop with 3. more Bishops came to Lewes the French King, to demand Normandy, and other transmarin Lands to be rendred to King Henry, according to his Oath upon the Peace made between them: He refusing to perform it, replied, (most probably by the Archbishops direction, whose words he used) That King Henry himself had violated his Oath and agreement between them, especially concerning their Liberties and Laws. De Libertatibus autem Regni Angliæ, pro quibus guerra mota fuerat, quæ in recessu suo concessa erant, & ab omnibus jurata, ita allum est;

Besides, this Archbishop and his Officials usurping upon the Rights of the Crown on the one hand, as the Pope and his Legates did on the other, prohibited the payment of certain Rents, annually due to the Crown, during the vacancy of the Bishoprick of Coventry, arising out of the Archdeaconries of that Diocese, in derogation of the Rights of the Crown; Whereupon the King issued forth this Writ unto him, running in a milde stile, in nature of a Prohibition, to redresse this injurious encroachment, and preserve his Royalties.

These proceedings of the Archbishop and Bishops, (then most intrusted by the King) made him jealous of their Loyalty, and some secret designs against him, which by reason of their present power he durst not openly discover, but rather endeavoured to oblige them by commending their Loyalty: For which end, Anno 1223. King Henry having a resolution to resume the Castles and Lands belonging to the Crown of England, in the possession of his Barons and others, by advise of Hugh de Burgo his chief Justice, dispatched special trusty Messengers with Letters to the Pope and Gualo his Legate, commending the fidelity of the Archbishop and some other Bishops to him, and beseeching him to command them by his special Bulls to assist him against, and excommunicate all such as should rebell, or disturb the peace of the Kingdom, and to send particular Letters to the Earls and others there named, to ayd him if there were occasion with their Forces; the chief design being not committed to writing, but privately to be imparted by word of mouth, by the Agents who carried the Letters, which I find thus entred in the Records.

The effect of these Letters concerning the Kings Lands and Castles, is thus related by Mat. Paris.

Eodem Anno surrexit murmuratio non modica a Magnatibus Anglia, contra Henricum de Burgo Justitiarium, qui pacem Regni conati sunt perturbare. Dicebant enim adinvicem, quod animum Regis exasperabat contra illos, & quod similiter non æquis legibus Regnum regebat. Accessit præterea ad majoris odii incentivum, adventus nuntiorum Regis, quos Romam miserat, qui Vuliam Domini Papæ Archiepiscopis Angliæ, et eorum Suffraganeis deferebant, quæ talem continebat sententiam, videlicet, quod Dominus Papa Regem Angliæ plenæ ætatis adjudicaverat, quod ex tunc negotia Regni idem Rex principaliter cum suorum domesticorum consilio ordinaret. Significavit etiam executoribus prælibatis Dominus Papa in Literis supradictis; quatenus auctoritate Apostolica denunciarent Comitibus, Baronibus, Militibus, et aliis universis, qui custodias habebant Castrorum, honorum et villarum, quæ ad Regis dominium spectabant, ut continuo visis Literis, Regi illas redderent: Contradictores autem per censuram Ecclesiasticam ad satisfactionem compellerent. Unde pars maxima Comitum & Baronum, quorum corda concupiscentia possidebat, hujusmodi præcepta indigne ferens, bellumque suscitare disponens, convenit in unum, & conspiratione absque solibus confata, supradictas occasiones prætendebat, ut pacem Regni perturbaret. Custodias autem jam dictas, per admonitionem Archiepiscoporum et Episcoporum, Regi reddere supersevit, volens potius arma movere, quam Regi satisfacere de præmissis.

Mat. Paris,
Hist. Angl. p.

Hæc uppon, Anno Domini 1224. Rex Henricus ad natale tenuit Curiam suam apud Northamptonam, præsentem Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, cum suis Suffraganeis, & militia magna nimis. Comes vero Cestrensis, cum suis conspiratoribus, apud Leicestriam tenuit festum suum; tumens, & minas contra Regem & Justitiarium intendens, pro custodiis Castrorum ac terrarum, quas idem Rex exigebat ab illo. In crastino autem post Missarum solemniam, Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, cum suis Suffraganeis Episcopis albis induti vestibus, et candelis accensis, excommunicaverunt omnes Regis et Regni perturbatores, et Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, et rerum Ecclesiasticarum invasores. Deinde idem Archiepiscopus misit solemnem nuncios apud Leicestriam ad Comitem Cestrie et suos complices; firmiter denuntians singulis et universis, quod nisi in crastino resignarent in manus Regis omnia Castella et honores ad Coronam spectantia; ipse et omnes Episcopi nominatim excommunicarent illos, sicut a Domino Papa fuerat demandatum. Tunc Comes Cestrensis & ejus complices, cum per exploratores edocti fuissent, quod Rex majorem quam ipsi, haberet numerum armatorum, consternati sunt valde: quia si facultas eis suppeteret, in Regem propter Justitiarium potenter arma moverent. Sed cum proprium conspexissent defectum, verebantur dubium certamen mittere: et præterea timuerunt Archiepiscopum et Episcopos, ne forte illos excommunicarent, nisi desisterent ab inceptis. Unde saluberimo usi consilio, venerunt apud Northamptonam ad Regem universi, et a Comite Cestrensi incipientes, reddiderunt singuli Castella et municipia, honores et custodias Regi, quæ ad Coronam spectare videbantur.

Thus the Popes Bulls, and Bishops Excommunications, (which here accidentally produced the best effect I read of, for want of power in the Barons to resist the Kings Temporal Sword Forces, nor this Ecclesiastical Thunderbolt) were then made use of in most secular affairs, and not only the Temporal Lords and Commons thereby subjected, enthralled to the Popes and Prelates Jurisdctions, but the King and Kingdom too, upon meer politick and secular concerns and affairs. The same year, * Falcatus de Brent seizing upon Henry de Braybroc, one of the Kings Justices Itinerant, for giving Judgement against, and imposing Fines upon him in Assizes of Novel-disseisin, for Lands and houses he had forcibly entred into in Luton, and afterwards carrying him Prisoner to Bedford Castle: The King, Bishops and Barons then sitting in a Parliamentary Council at Northampton, presently went and besieged the Castle, Tunc Archiepiscopus, & Episcopi universi; (after a treble summons and admonition to surrender it, withstood) ipsum Falcatum, & omnes qui in Castellis praesidio erant, candelis accensis, excommunicationis mactone percusserunt: Which Excommunication they flighting and deriding, manfully defended the Castle near 9. weeks space, till taken by force. Falcatus by judgement abjured the Realm for ever, and lost all his goods. After which, Romanam Curiam adiit, qui sciebat eam pro pecunia sibi de facili in quacunque causa propiciandam. Sed machinatio sua non est a Deo permissa, vel a sanctis quibus tot irrogavit injurias, writes Matthew Westminster. Yet Alexander de Savenesby sped better, who was then consecrated Bishop of Chester, Roma a Domino Papa Honorio, die Pasche; no doubt for current money.

King Henry to pacify and gratify the Archbishop (of whose fidelity he formerly had cause to doubt) writ this ensuing Letter to the Pope, to give way for the return of his Brother Simon Langton, into England, out of which (it seems) he was formerly banished, (as well as * excommunicated, and deprived of all his Ecclesiastical Benefices) for adhering to Lewes and contemning the Popes excommunications.

King John had granted a Pension of 50. Marks by the year to Stephen a Cardinal in Rome, to promote his affairs there: King Henry the 3d. withdrew it, whereupon Pope Honorius sent this impotunate Bull to the King, to continue this pension to him for the good service he had done his father and him, and which he might do him for the future, with menaces to crosse him in his designs and proceed rigorously against him, if he refused to continue this salary. By which we may clearly discern, that our Kings could do nothing at Rome in their affairs, but by granting pensions and money both to the Pope and Cardinals.

King Henry the 3d. standing in need of a subsidy from the Bishops and Clergy, who of themselves were very unwilling to supply him, Pope Honorius thereupon sent this Bull to the Archbishops, Bishops, Abbots, Priors and Clergy, intreating them to grant him a competent subsidy, to be disposed off by common consent only for the publick benefit of the Realm; and not vainly expended, promising that this grant of his and theirs should not be drawn into consequence for the future, leaving the grant free to the Bishops and Clergy to impose and proportion it.

This year the Archbishop of Canterbury and his Suffragans, instead of granting the King a Subsidie, or punishing incontinent lecherous Clerks, passed these severe Decrees against their Concubines only, principally intended against the Wives of Clergy-men, whom they deemed and stiled Concubines in that age.

Eodem

Eodem Anno exivit decretum ab Archiepiscopo Canuariensi & Episcopis ejus Suffraganeis in hunc modum: Concubinæ Sacerdotum & Clericorum, qui infra sacros ordines constituti & beneficiati sunt, Ecclesiastica taceant sepultura: nisi sane se correxerint, & (quia scriptum est, Vivens, vivens, ipse confitebitur tibi) incolumes, vel tanta earum in extremis appareat poenitentia; propter quam non immerito cum eis debeat dispensari. Item, non recipiantur ad osculum pacis; nec panem benedictum percipiant in Ecclesia, quamdiu Concubinarij eas detinent in domibus suis, vel publice extra domos. Item, si pepererint, non purificentur, nisi prius sufficientem præstiterint cautionem Archidiacono, vel ejus Officiali, de satisfactione in proximo Capitulo, post purificationem earum, faciendam. Item, Sacerdotes, in quorum Parochiis Concubinæ talium commorantur, si non hoc ostenderint Archidiacono, vel ejus Officiali, suspendantur. Et priusquam relaxentur, gravi poenitentiae subjaceant. Item, quæ convincti poterit, quod Sacerdos eam carnaliter cognoverit, publicam agat poenitentiam, & solennem, ac si de adulterio esset convicta, tanquam pro duplici adulterio puniatur, ne tanti reatus impunitas, aliis transeat in materiam delinquendi.

Pope Honorius having formerly courted King Henry with a grant of a competent Subsidy from the Clergy to supply his necessities, soon after discovered his design therein, by dispatching Otto his Legate into England with Letters to the King for his own filthy lucre; the King knowing their contents, refused to give him any answer alone, it concerning the whole Church and Kingdom of England, but only in a Parliamentary Council of his Prelates and Nobles; thus related by Matthew Paris.

Mat. Paris,
Hist. Angl. p.
313, 314.

Eodem Anno, Magister Otto, Domini Papæ Nuncius, in Angliam veniens; pro magnis Ecclesiæ Romane negotiis Regi Literas presentavit: Sed Rex cognito Literarum tenore, respondit, quod solus non potuit diffinire, nec debuit, negotium quod omnes Clericos et Laicos generaliter totius Regni tangebatur. Tunc per consilium Stephani Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, datus est dies a Rege in octavis Epiphaniæ; ut convocatis omnibus Clericis et Laicis, super prefato negotio tunc tractarent apud Westmonasterium, et ibidem fieret quod justum singulis videretur.

In the meantime the Pope and his Legate, bribed by Falcasius, made intercession for him to the King, for his return into England, from * whence he was judicially banished, abjured, and restitution to his Wife, and what lands and goods he had lost.

Mat. Paris, Hist.
Angl. p. 314.

Eodem tempore, Magister Otto, ex parte Domini Papæ, Regem Anglia humiliter rogavit, ut Falcasio sibi reconciliato, Uxorem cum terris, & omnibus rebus amissis ad integrum restitueret, & ipsum, qui Patri suo, & sibi in guerra sua tam fideliter servierat, pura, ut decebat, diligeret charitate. Ad hoc quoque respondit Rex, Quod propter prodicionem manifestam ab omni Clero & populo Regni, per judicium Curia sua, ab Anglia fuerat in exilium pulsus; & licet Regni cura specialiter ad ipsum spectare videretur, debet legis quidem & bonas Regni consuetudines observare. Hæc autem cum audisset Magister Otto, cessavit ulterius de Falcasio sollicitare Regem, (having gotten his money before hand.) And then like a Popes Legate sent to fleece the Clergy, tunc idem Otto, cepit ab omnibus Ecclesiis Angliæ Conventualibus, nomine Procuratoris, duas Marcas Argentii. Et sciendum est, quod tempore quo Magister Otto venit in Angliam, Dominus Papa misit Nuncios per orbem universum, exactiones ubique indebitas erigens, sicut inferius dicitur: Not fishing with St. Peters net to catch souls, the least of his care, but to extort monies from the Clergy and Laity throughout the world, by indirect and unapostolical means, to maintain his Pomp, Pride, Wars, and Antichristian designs.

An. Dom. 1226.

When the Parliamentary Council assembled, Otto read the Popes Letter and Proposals, wherein the detestable Bribery, Synmoney, Extortion, Avarice, Rapine of the Pope and Court of Rome, are so clearly confessed, discovered, and such a remedy to prevent them for the future prescribed by the Pope and Cardinals, as might justly induce all conscientious Christians, Kings, Kingdoms, for ever to abominate both the Court and Prelates of Rome: thus recorded by our Monkish Historians.

debuerat, ut Domini Papæ mandatum audiret. Multis igitur in loco præfato congregatis Episcopis, cum aliis Prælati & Laicorum turbis; Magister Otto, Domini Papæ Nuntius, Literas apertè coram omnibus recitauit. In quibus idem Papa allegans, scandalum Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ, et opprobrium vetustissimum; notam scilicet concupiscentiæ, quæ radicè dicitur omnium malorum; et in hoc præcipue, quod nullus potest aliquod negotium in Romana Curia expedire, nisi cum magna effusione pecuniæ, et donorum exhibitione. Sed quoniam scandali hujus et infamiæ Romana * paupertas causa est, debent matris inopiam subleuare, ut filii naturales. Quia nisi a vobis et aliis viris bonis et honestis dona reciperemus, † deficerent nobis necessaria vitæ, quod esset omnino Romanæ incongruum dignitati. Ad istud itaque scandalum penitus eradicandum, per consilium fratrum nostrorum, Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinalium, quandam prouidimus formam: cui si volueritis consentire, a scandalo matrem vestram poteritis liberare, et in * Curia Romana sine donorum obsequio exhibitionem iustitiæ obtinere. Forma autem prouisa hæc est: Petimus in primis ab omnibus Ecclesiis Cathedralibus, duas nobis præbendas exhiberi, unam de portione Episcopi, et alteram de Capitulo. Et similiter de cœnobitis, ubi diuersæ sunt portiones Abbatibus et Conuentibus: a Conuentibus, quantum pertinet ad unum Monachum æquali facta distributione bonorum suorum, et ab Abbate tantundem. (All these (if granted) must certainly be sold by the Pope, to those who would give most money for them to him, (which was most notorious Symoney) or else the Pope and his Successors must receive the Annual profits of them, without performing any Divine Service to God or the Church for them, contrary to all rules of Piety, Equity, Justice, Beneficium propter Officium, being the very dictate of Nature, as well as Law.)

Nota.

* St. Peter was far poorer then any of his Successors, yet took no bribes.
† Popes cannot live without bribes.

* What security had they for this?

His in hunc modum propositis, persuasit ex parte Domini Papæ Magister Otto, ut consentirent Prælati, allegans supradicta commoda, quæ in Literis continentur. Hæc autem omnia audientes Episcopi, & Ecclesiarum Prælati, qui personaliter interfuerunt, divertentes seorsum ad colloquendum, cum super rebus propositis diutius deliberassent, responsum suum in ore Magistri Johannis Bedesfordensis Archidiaconi communiter posuerunt. Qui veniens in præsentia Magistri Ottonis, per hæc verba respondit: Domine, ista quæ nobis proponitis, Regem Angliæ specialiter tangunt, generaliter vero omnes Ecclesiarum patronos Regni: tangunt Archiepiscopos, et eorum Suffraganeos, nec non innumeros Angliæ Prælatos. Cum ergo Rex propter infirmitatem, et Archiepiscopi nonnulli et Episcopi, et alii Ecclesiarum Prælati sunt absentes, in eorum absentia vobis respondere non possumus, nec debemus: quia si id facere præsumeremus, in præjudicium omnium absentium fieret Prælatorum. Et his dictis, venit Johannes Marescallus, et alii nuntii Regis, ad omnes Prælatos, qui de Rege Baronias tenebant in capite, destinati: districte inhibentes, ne Laicum feudum suum Romanæ Ecclesiæ obligarent, unde a seruitio sibi debito præuaretur. (A just and prudent action in the King, to preserve the old Rights of his Crown, Kingdom, against all Papal and Prelatical Usarpations.) Hæc autem cum Magister Otto intellexisset, statuit his qui aderant diem ibi in media quadragesima, dum ipse procuraret Regis aduentum & absentium Prælatorum, ut tunc negotium sortiretur effectum. Sed illi absque Regis et aliorum, qui absentes erant; assensu, præfixum diem admittere noluerunt: unde singuli ad propria sunt reuersi. And so by delays defeated this Papal design in England.

Sed quoniam Lugdunensis Archiepiscopus vendicabat sibi primatiam super Archiepiscopum Senonensem, & Rothomagensis super Bituricensem, Anxianensem, Narbonensem, & eorum Suffraganeos; timebatur de discordia, & ideo non fuit sessum ut in Concilio, sed quasi in Concilio. Quibus sedentibus, & lectis in publico Legationis Literis, (to divert them from this business) apparuerunt Comes Tholosanus ex una parte, & Simon de Monte forti ex altera; qui petiit sibi restitui terram Reimundi Comitis Tholosani, quam Dominus Papa & Rex Francorum Philippus sibi & Patri suo contulerunt, exhibens supra donatione facta utriusque, Papæ scilicet & Regis, munimenta. Cumque hinc inde fuisset plurimum altercatum; (about this private business) præcepit Archiepiscopis singulis Legatus tunc presentibus, ut convocatis seorsum unusquisque Suffraganeis, cum eis deliberarent super negotio præfato, & traderent Legato consilium suum redactum in scripto. Quo facto, Legatus excommunicavit omnes qui super hoc sua consilia revelarent; dicens se ea velle Domino Papa significare, & Francorum Regi ostendere.

Post hæc, Legatus dedit in dolo procuratoribus Capitulorum licentiam ad propria revertendi, retentis tantum Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, & Abbatibus, & simplicibus Prælatibus. Unde non immerito timuerunt, ne procurata eorum absentia, qui majoris prudentiæ erant & experientiæ, præ multitudine potentiores ad contradicendum, aliquid statueretur in præjudicium absentium Prælatorum. Quocirca dicti procuratores, post deliberationem diutinam, miserunt ad Legatum procuratores Metropolitanarum Ecclesiarum, qui coram eo sic allegaverunt: Domine, audivimus quod habetis Literas speciales a Curia Romana, de exhibendis præbendis in omnibus Ecclesiis Conventualibus, sive Cathedralibus. Quocirca multum miramur, quod non in hoc Concilio proposuistis eas nobis audientibus, quos specialiter tangunt. Unde rogamus in Domino, ne istud scandalum oriatur per vos in Ecclesia Gallicana, scientes quod sine maximo scandalo et inestimabili damno, non posset hic ad effectum perducì. Quia esto quod aliquis assentiret, nullus esset ejus assensus in rebus quæ omnes tangunt, cum fere omnes majores, et generaliter omnes subditi, necnon et ipse Rex, et omnes Principes parati sunt contradicere, et resistere usque ad Capituli expositionem, et omnis honozis privationem, præsertim cum videatur imminere propter hoc scandalum, subversio Regni et Ecclesiæ generalis. Ratio autem nostri timoris est, quod cum cæteris Regnis non habuistis sermonem; et quibusdam Episcopis præceperitis et Abbatibus, ut cum præbendæ vacaverint, ad opus Domini Papæ reservarent.

His auditis, cum niteretur Legatus persuadere ut omnes consentirent, ostendit tunc primo Domini Papæ authenticum, in quo exegit a singulis Ecclesiis Cathedralibus duas præbendas, unam a Capitulo, et alteram ab Episcopo. Et in Cœnobiis similiter, ubi sunt diversæ portiones, Abbatis scilicet et Conventus, duas exegit præbendas, unam ab Abbate, et aliam a Conventu; æquali facta distributione bonorum suorum a Conventibus, quantum pertinet ad unum Monachum, (sicut ipse interpretatus fuerat Legatus) et ab Abbate tantundem. Tunc allegavit commoda, quæ possent inde provenire, illud illud videlicet, quod amoveretur scandalum a Romana Ecclesia, quæ mater est omnium Ecclesiarum, concupiscentia scilicet, quæ radit est omnium malorum, cum nullus pro aliquo negotio in Curia Romana faciendo aliquid offerret, vel aliquis oblata reciperet. (A very prevailing argument to redeem, exiate one Symoney and Extortion, by and with ahothet :) To which this memorable answer was returned.

AD hoc respondit procurator Archiepiscopi Lugdunensis. Domine, nullo modo volumus esse sine amicis in Curia, & largitate donorum. Alii æque sua incommoda allegabant, damna scilicet rerum, consiliorum, auxiliorum, obsequiorum, in hunc modum: Erit enim in qualibet Diocæsi, vel ad minus in provincia, duntius unus continuus, procurator Romanus, qui non vivet de proprio, sed graves exactiões & procuraciones exiget ab Ecclesiis majoribus, & forte minoribus, ut nullus remaneat impunitus, nomenque procuratoris habens, Legati officio fungetur. Item dixerunt, imminere turbationes Capitulorum, forte enim demandaret Dominus Papa, cum vellet, procuratori suo, vel alii, ut vice sua interesset electionibus, qui eas turbaret. Et sic lapso tempore devolveretur electio ad Curiam Romanam, quæ in omnibus vel pluribus Ecclesiis Romanis poneret, vel tales qui eis plurimum essent devoti. Et sic nullæ essent partes indigenarum Prælatorum vel Principum, cum multi sint viri Ecclesiastici, qui potius Curie Romane, quam Regi vel Regno providerent. Item addiderunt, quod si proportionaliter fieret bonorum distributio, omnes in Curia fierent divites, cum multo plus essent recepturi, quam Rex proprius. Et sic majores non solum divites, sed et dissimiles fierent. Cum igitur vermis divitum sit superbia, majores vix causas audirent, sed eas in immensum differrent, & minores scriberent inviti: Cujus rei experimentum in evidenti est, quia & modo negotia protrahunt, etiam post percepta obsequia, & securitate percipiendi; & sic periclitaretur justitia, & deberet conquirentes mori in januis Romanorum, tunc plenissime dominantium. Item, cum vix possibile sit fontem cupiditatis desicari; quod nunc faciunt per se, tunc facerent per alios, & suis multo majora quam nunc dari munera procurarent; modica enim nulla sunt, in conspectu divitum cupidorum. Item, multæ divitiæ facerent Romanos insanire, & sic inter diversas parentelas tantæ orirentur seditiones, quod posset timeri totius excidium Civitatis, cujus etiam & modo penitus expers non est. Item dixerunt, quod licet se obligarent qui modo præfentes sunt, id non susciperent eorum successores, nec illam obligationem ratam haberent. Novissime autem, sic negotium concluderunt: Domine, moveat vos zelus universalis Ecclesiæ, et Sanctæ sedis Romane; quia si omnium esset universalis oppressio, posset timeri ne immineret generalis discessio, quod Deus avertat. His auditis, respondit Legatus (ut videbatur, plurimum commotus in his omnibus) se cum esset in Curia nunquam huic exactiōi consensisse; & ipsum Literas accepisse, postquam Galliam fuerat ingressus, & se multum super hæc doluisse. Addidit etiam, super hæc quicquid præcepit, tali conditione, licet tacita, intellexisse, si Imperium & alia Regna consentirent. Adjunxit insuper, se nihil amplius super hæc attentaturum, donec per Regna alia Prælati consenserint, quod credit provenire non posse.

Mar. Paris, P. 318, 319.

The greatest Votaries to the Pope, Court and Church of Rome, who shall seriously consider the premises, must needs (if they have any sparks of Christianity, Ingenuity, or common honesty remaining in their breasts) abominate these Papal demands, as most impious, and scandalous to Christian Religion.

Whiles these things were acted in France, Otto pursuing his rapines in England, by exacting Procurations from the Clergy, was by the Archbishops means suddenly recalled thence by the Pope, to his great discontent, and the prosecuting the Popes former proposals committed to his trust, committed to the Archbishop; thus related by our Historian.

procurante) Literæ Domini Papæ, in quibus continebatur expressum, ut statim visis Literis Romani veniret, ejus potestate penitus enervata. Obliquo igitur oculo Literis inspectis, demisso vultu * eas projecit in ignem. Atque illico proposito mutato, clitelis vacuis ab Anglia recessit confusus, in juncto Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, sicut erat in Literis Domini Papæ expressum: ut convocatis Rege et omnibus Angliæ Prælatiis, responsum eorum super negotiis, pro quo idem Otto missus fuerat, Domino Papæ transmittere non omittat. Magistro igitur Ottone Angliam a tergo salutante, Stephanus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, vocatis ad Concilium cunctis apud Westmonasterium, post Pascha, quos negotium tangebatur, recitari fecit Literas supradictas, de beneficiis Romana Ecclesiæ conferendis, coram Rege & Prælatiis Angliæ, qui ad ejus vocationem plene convenerant. Sed illis auditis, ac diligenter intellectis, singuli singulos ad visum monebant super concupiscentia Romanorum; qui illud morale non intelligunt, videlicet,

Et non paupertas, sed mentis hiatus egentem.*

Tunc Rex, convocatis seorsum Prælatiis & quibusdam Magnatibus, hoc Archiepiscopo dedit responsum: Ista quæ suadet nobis Dominus Papa, universam Christianitatis latitudinem respiciunt: et quia nos quasi in extremis orbis constituti sumus partibus, cum viderimus qualiter cætera Regna erga tales se habuerint exactiones, Dominus Papa, cum ab aliis Regnis habuerimus exemplum in obsequiis, nos inveniet promptiores. Et his dictis, concessa est omnibus licentia recedendi.

This was the issue of this Papal design, which miscarried both in England and elsewhere.

King Henry to prevent the Usurpations of the Archbishops and Bishops of Ireland upon the rights of his Crown, in conferring Prebendaries belonging to the King, issued this Inhibition to them.

This year Pope Honorius the 3d. sent this memorable Bull to Geoffry de Lizimaco, the Kings sworn Vassal, absolutely subverting all Papal dispensations, with Subjects just Oathes to their Sovereigns.

Anno 10 H. 3.

HONORII S Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Dilecto filio nobili viro Galfrido de Lizimaco, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Fidelitatis vinculum quo vassallus tenetur Domino, est adeo celebre apud omnes, ut etiam religione Juramenti, qua vassalli assolet circumscripta, ipsum per se vinculum quasi pro sacro, ubique terrarum et gentium habeatur, nec extimetur levem notam incurrere, quicumque aliis extitit titerit violator; unde qui veteres reholbere volet * istorias, inveniet * historias.

multos pro illo servando inhumanis cibus, urgente obsidionis angustia, esse usos, et illis quoque deficientibus elegisse, potius fame deficere, quam ipsum fidelitatis vinculum violare. (How then can Popes dispense with such Oathes, and absolve Subjects from them, as Pope Innocent and others have done?) Tu vero (sicut charissimo in Christo filio nostro Henrico illustri Rege Anglorum conquerente didicimus) hæc nequaquam prout te decuisset attendens, fidelitatem qua ipse Regi tenebaris astrictus, & adhuc quoque teneris, cum ab ea, ut creditur, te nequaquam absolveret nulla famis, nulla obsidionis coactus angustia, violasti, contra Juramentum quo te ad illam servandam astricteras, fame ac salutis tue prodigus veniendo. Cum igitur totiens pecces quotiens facis contra fidelitatis Juramentum (tuum) dicto Regi nos qui ex debito Pastoralis officii tenemur Deo de anima tua reddere (rationem) tam manifestum ipsius animæ tue periculum sine nostris dissimulare periculo non valentes, prudentiam tuam sollicitandam durimus et monendam, per Apostolica tibi scripta firmiter injungendo mandantes, quatenus fame tue providens, et salutis, ad fidelitatem ipsius Regis occasione ac excusatione cessantibus, redeas, ut teneris, servetque sibi inviolabiliter præstitum Juramentum, Juramento contrariis non obstantibus, si quod forsitan præstitisti, cum illicitum fuerit, et ideo non servandum; salubres monitiones nostras taliter auditurus, quod reconciliatus terreno, Cœlesti quoque reconciliari Domino merearis. Sciens nos Venerabilibus fratribus nostris Aquens. & Vacatens. Episcopis, & dilecto filio Arc. Dec. Vasaten. per nostras Literas mandavisse, ut nisi cavueris infra mensem post receptionem presentium nostrum in hoc adimplere Mandatum, ipsi te ad id per censuram Ecclesiasticam, sublato appellacionis impedimento compellant. Tu ergo, sicut vix providus, potius eligas errorem tuum humiliter satisfaciendo corrigere, quam illi pertinaciter insistendo, inducere temetipsum in ejus necessitatis articulum de quo non facile te valeas expedire. Dat. Rear. Quint. Idus Januarii. Pontificatus nostri Anno Decimo.

The consideration of this Bull (the original whereof I found buried in rubbish in the White Tower) may for ever refute the impiety and presumption of Popes absolving Subjects from their Oath of allegiance to their Sovereigns, and discovers the nullity, impiety, and absurdity of such absolutions.

The same year, the Pope by his Legate and Instruments published a Crossado in France, against the Earl of Tholouse, and Albigenses, contrary to all rules of Justice, Equity, Christianity, & thereupon inhibited the King of England to invade the French Kings Territories, whiles employed in this War: Thus related by Matthew Paris.

An. Dom. 1216

Per idem tempus facta est prædicatio in partibus Gallicanis a Legato Romano generaliter, ut omnes qui possent arma movere, se cruce signarent super Comitum holosannum & populum ejus, qui omnes Hæretica fœditate dicebantur infecti. Ad ejus quoque prædicationem, multitudo maxima Prælatorum & Laicorum crucis signaculum susceperunt, plus metu Regis Francorum, vel favore Legati, quam zelo justitiæ inducti. Videbatur enim multis abusus, ut hominem fidelem Christianum infestarent: præcipue cum constaret cunctis, eum in Concilio, nuper apud Civitatem Bituricam habito, multis precibus persuasisse Legato, ut veniret ad singulas terras sue Civitates, inquirens a singulis articulos fidei: et si quempiam contra fidem inveniret sentientem Catholicam, ipse secundum judicium Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, justitiæ ex eis plenitudinem exhiberet. Et si Civitatem aliquam inveniret Rebellem, ipse pro posse suo eam cum habitatoribus suis ad satisfactionem compelleret. Pro se ipso autem obtulit, obtulit, si in aliquo deliquit, (quod se fecisse non recoluit) plenam Deo et Sanctæ Ecclesiæ satisfactionem, ut fidelis Christianus; et si Legatus vellet, etiam fidei examen subiret. Hæc quoque omnia Legatus contempsit, nec potuit Comes Catholicus gratiam invenire, nisi pro se et hæredibus suis, hæreditatem suam deferens, abjuraret. (Such was this Popes and his Legates Tyranny, Injustice, Cruelty in this age and case.) Rex vero Francorum ad ejusdem Legati exhortationem cruce signatus, noluit expeditionem bellicam promovere, nisi Literis prius a Domino Papa impetratis ad Regem Anglorum inhibitoriis, ne sub pœna excommunicationis Regem Francorum inquietaret, vel arma contra eum moveret de aliqua terra quam in presenti possidebat, sive iuste, sive iniuste; dum idem Rex esset in servicio suo, et Ecclesiæ Romanæ, ad exterminandum hæreticos Albigeneses, et eorum fautores et complices Comitem Tholosanum; sed eidem Regi, ad exaltationem fidei, consilium et auxilium impendere non tardaret. Et his ita gestis, Rex Francorum Lodovicus & Legatus, omnibus cruce signatis, diem statuerunt peremptorium, ut in Ascensione Domini apud Lyodanum, cum equis & armis, sub pœna excommunicationis, venirent; ipsos ad expeditionem propositam sequuturi.

In the mean time the Pope by his Tyrannical Usurped power, sent prohibitory Letters to the King of England, to stop his intended Military Voyage into France, to recover his just Rights: Whereupon, Placuit itaque Prelatis et Magnatibus universis, ut differretur negotium desideratum, donec constaret de Rege Francorum, qui tam difficile opus et propositum habebat, adeoque sumptuosum, quem res esset exitum habitura. Such an awfull power had the Pope then encroached over the King, Bishops, and Nobles of the Realm, that they durst not incur the displeasure, by disobeying his Inhibition, though never so illegal and unjust.

DE hoc quoque Episcopo non credimus fore tacendum, quod circa biennium ante mortem ejus, Rex quondam Anglorum Johannes apparuit in visione nocturna cuidam Monacho de Sancto Albano, apud Thimam tunc commoranti: qui familiaris fuerat Regibus Anglorum, tam Regi Richardo, quam huic Johanni; ita quod in eorum negotiis exequendis aliquando Roman, aliquando in Scotiam, & ad

ad alia loca plurima missus, propensioribus sibi studiis eorundem Regum gratiam comparavit, cujus nomen fuit Reimundus, quondam Prior Ecclesie Sancti Albani. Monacho itaque in lecto quiescente, assistit ei Rex præfatus in vestibus Regalibus, de panno videlicet qui Imperialis vulgariter appellatur. Quem Monachus recognoscens, ac memoriter recolens, quod mortuus fuisset, sciscitabatur ab eo, qualiter se haberet. Cui Rex: Ita me habeo, quod nemo pæsus. Nam hæc mea quæ vides indumenta, ad id ardentia sunt & ponderosa, ut nullus qui in sæculo vivit, illa tangere sufficeret præ ardore, vel propter ponderositate portare, quin proximus moreretur. Sed tamen per D. Clementiam spero, & gratiam ineffabilem, & filii mei Henrici largam Eleemosynarum distributionem, necnon servitii divini honorem, quem Domino devotus impendis, me quandoque misericordiam adepturum. Quæso igitur obnixius fraternitatem tuam, ut dicas Richardo de Marisco, nunc Dunelmensi Episcopo, quod nisi ante mortem suam correxerit flagitiosam vitam, & eam per penitentiam & satisfactionem condignam emendaverit: sedes ejus, quæ in inferno est, cum expectat preparata. Et si his dictis tuis, & mandatis meis fidem adhibere contempserit, per hæc intersignia omnem deponat ambiguitatem: Quod dum soli essemus in loco illo sibi notissimo dedit mihi consilium, tam mihi, quam sibi nimis damnosum, ut videlicet a Monachis Cisterciensis ordinis auferrem lanam suam unius anni, & quod multa alia de his mihi consilia iniqua, pro quibus nunc perfero inenarrabilia, quæ etiam & illi debentur turrimus. Quod si adhuc dubitaverit credere mandatis meis, recolat quod in illo loco, & hora eadem, dedit mihi unum lapidem pretiosum, quem pro ingenti pecunia comparavit. Et his dictis, Rex disparuit, & Monachus expergefactus evigilavit.

Upon his decease, there grew as great a difference between King Henry the 3d. and the Monks of Durham, about the election of a Successor, the King recommending one, and they electing another, as there was between King John and them, about the election of this Richard; thus related by Matthew Paris, and Godwin.

Defuncto itaque Richardo Dunelmensi Episcopo, Prior et Conventus, cum a Rege peterent licentiam eligendi Pastorem, Rex obtulit eis Lucam Capellanum suum: multa rogans supplicatione, ut illum reciperent in Pastorem. Monachi vero ad hoc responderunt, quod nullum reciperent, nisi Canonica electione præmissa. Rex autem e contra cum Juramento affirmavit, ipsos futuros per septennium sine Episcopo, nisi præfatum Lucam admitterent ad Pontificatus honorem. Conventus vero illum ad tantam dignitatem indignum judicantes, de communi consensu fratrum elegerunt Magistrum Willielmum Clericum suum, virum literatum, et honestum, Wigornensem Archidiaconum, et ipsum Regi præsentaverunt. Quem cum Rex objectis quibusdam frivolis exceptionibus, recusasset; Monachi quosdam de Conventu Romam miserunt, ut electionem factam Auctoritate Apostolica confirmarent. Rex autem, cum talia cognovisset, misit Romam contra Monachos, Episcopum scilicet Cestrensem, et Lentonia Priorem, ut eorundem Monachorum propositum irritum facerent: Et sic diu illis altercantibus, negotium dilationem accepit.

This year the Archbishop of Canterbury, (encouraged by a * former president) without the Popes order, by his own Authority, granted a License for the Kings Justices Itinerant, to take Oathes and hold Pleas in some cases in Advent and Lent; upon the Kings Letters Patentes to him, that it should not turn to his prejudice; which not extending to the Archbishop of Tork, the King endeavored to gaine the same License from him upon like terms, as this Record informs us.

The King of France, by reason of the differences with King Henry, interrupted the free passage and return of his Messengers to and from Rome, which Pope Gregory the 9th. (then newly elected Pope) like his predecessor by this Bull (ex- tant under his seal) directed to the French Bishops, endeavoured to remove, as very prejudicial to his See, by their mediation to the French King.

GREGORIUS Episcopus servorum Dei, Venerabilibus fratribus Archebasen. & Ambracen. Episcopis salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Cum Ecclesia Romana sit mater omnium Christi fidelium generalis, cunctis ad eam liber & securus esse debet accessus, quia si non permitteretur a filiis visitari, licet alii graviter læderentur, totaliter tamen in eam injuria redundaret. Unde licet inter Charissimos in Christo filios nostros, Francorum & H. Anglorum Reges Illustres, inimico super seminante Zizania, materia videatur discordiæ pullulare, nequaquam tamen Nuntios dicti Regis Anglorum vel alios Anglicos ad sedem Apostolicam venientes, vel redeuntes ab eo, memoratus Francorum Rex præpedire debet, aut pati etiam ab aliis præpediri, si a nostri vult injuria, sicut convenit, abstinere; præsertim cum in omnes illos qui accedentes ad sedem Apostolicam, vel recedentes ab ea capere vel spoliare præsumperint, lata sit excommunicationis sententia generalis. Quare vos eundem Regem per literas nostras rogavimus, mounimus, & hortati sumus attente, ut prudenter attendens, quod non expedit ut illius occasione vos provocet: Nuntios ejusdem Regis Anglorum, & quoslibet alios Anglicos per Regnum Francie ad sedem Apostolicam accedere, vel ab ipsa recedere libere ac secure permittat: ita quod ipsius cognoscentes devotionis affectum, grata sibi ex hoc debeamus vicissitudini respondere. Pope Gregory the 9. newly settled in his See, to promote his Antichristian malicious designs against the Emperour Fredrick, under a sacred pretence of zeal to rescue the holy land from the Saracens; set his instruments on work in all places to persuade all sorts of people to take the Crosse upon them for this holy war, thus related by our Historians.

Eodem anno, in fine mensis Junii, facta est motio magna in opus Crucis per orbem universum Cruce signatorum, quæ adeo fuit numerosa, ut ex solo Anglorum regno plusquam sexaginta milia proborum hominum, præter se- nes et mulieres, profecti ceterantur. Hoc enim professus est Magister Hubertus, unus ex prædicatoribus in Anglia; asserens veraciter tot in suo rotulo conscripsisse. Qui omnes, & præcipue pauperes in quibus voluntas divina quiescere solet, & negotium Crucis magis prosperari, cum tanta devotione opus Crucis assumpserunt, ut sibi inde proculdubio Tonantis favorem acquirerent, quod signis constat evidenti- bus declaratum. The multitude and proceedings of those who crossed themselves for this War, out of a blind zeal, are at large recited in this Popes own Bull, directed this year, Omnibus Christi fidelibus, (recited at large in Matthew Paris) wherein there is this memorable passage, That the Pope engaged these his Votaries to break off the Truce that the Christians had made with the Saracens, and ratified with an Oath, two years before its expiration, contrary the judgement of the Duke of Lemburge, (whom the Emperour appointed General of the Army) and some of his Council, who upon advise had, resolved, Quod Trengam pericu- lum esset infringere, et cum fuisset Juramento firmata, penitus inhon- estum. To which was answered, Quod Dominus Papa excommunicaverat omnes Cruce signatos, qui in isto passagio non transirent, qui sciebat adhuc Trengam per biennium dura- turam, & per hoc intelligebant, quod non volebat Trengam observari: Upon which ground they violated it, to the great scandal of Christianity, and damage of the Christians, Christians, whom he excited with all possible speed to hasten to Jerusalem; concluding his Bull thus: Clamat autem ad singulos Christi sanguis de terra, applicat p n v m & humilis exercitus, sed devotus, sibi celeriter subveniri: sperans in Domino, & confidens, quod negotium humiliter inchoatum, debeat ipso concedente feliciter terminari. Undersit igitur et singuli, qui Christum induitis per fidem, viriliter accingimini ad Terræ Sanctæ succursum: cum hic causa communis agatur, vestra scilicet fidei, ac totius fidei Christiana: Nos enim promotioni huius negotii, provisorio Domino & auctore, non cessamus intendere: sperantes fiducialiter, quod in manibus fidelium, fideliter perseverantium, res debeat prosperari. Data Laterani, x. Calendas Januarii, Pontificatus nostri anno primo.

The Pope in pursuance of this design, enjoined the Emperour Frederick the 3d. and others who had crossed themselves, by a set day to begin their passage to the Holy Land, under pain of Excommunication; in obedience whereunto, the Emperour to perform his vow, set sail with a small retinue toward the Land of Promise; but after 3. dayes sail, falling sick by the distemper of the Sea, and corruption of the Air, he turned his sails, and landed at a designed Haven, as if he would return; which those who passed over before him, and hoped to have him their General; hearing of, animo nimis consternati, in eisdem navibus quibus venerant, plusquam xl. armatorum milia sunt r. versi. Quod factum Imperatoris damnose nimis redundavit in aedecus & in praedicium totius negotii crucifixi. Hereupon this Pope (discovering the real design of this Crossado to be only to affront and trample upon the Emperour, and all other Christian Princes, who disobeyed his Papal Edicts) excommunicated the Emperour for his pretended contempt, and sent abroad Letters of this his Excommunication, to be published in all parts, every Lords-day and Holy-day, but more especially in England, to his great defamation; as this his Antimonarchical, Antichristian Bull, sent from Rome to the Archbishop of Canterbury, (the original whereof I found in the White Tower) not extant in any Writers I have seen, will at large demonstrate, being worthy the knowledge, consideration of all Christian Princes.

Those who will seriously consider the Contents of this Popes Antimonarchical Bull, must needs acknowledge it repugnant not only to Monarchy, Loyalty, Fidelity, Verity, and Common honesty; but to Christianity it self in the highest degree: yet his Antichristian pleasure and command must be preferred; obeyed by all our Bishops and Clergy; before all Laws of God; Nature, Nations, rules of Christianity, Oathes of allegiance, and Common Justice.

The sentence, Excommunication and Bull of the Pope against the Emperour, is thus registred by Matthew Paris (much different from this in the contents.)

Circa dies istos, Papa Gregorius, cum Imperatoris Romanorum Frederici contumaciam, simul & crucifixi contemptum, ut sibi videbatur, impunitum diutius distulisset; tandem ne canis videretur latrare non valens, de consilio Cardinalium suorum, ipsum Imperatorem excommunicavit, & latam sententiam per literas Apostolicas in diversis mundi partibus publicari præcepit. Inter ceteros autem hujus sententiæ publicatores, Stephano scripsit Archiepiscopo in hæc verba: Gregorius Episcopus, Stephano Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, salutem; &c. In maris amplitudine spatiosa navicula Petri posita, vel potius exposita turbinibus tempestatum, sæ jugiter procellis & fluctibus agitatur, ut ejus gubernatores ac remiges vix contingat aliquando inter inundantium imbrium angustias respirare; vix Carybdæ voragines transire, vix a Scylla declinare. Nam quandoque prospero statu plenis velis ad portum velitur, subito ventus irruens ex adverso, impulsus ab illo, cujus halitus ardore facit, ad altitudinem maris & turbulentis profunditatis Oceanum, navis rapitur, quæ cincta fluctibus mergitur, nec submergitur: quia in ea Dominus residens, discipulorum tandem clamoribus excitatur, dum fugat spiritus insufflantes, & mari ventisque imperat, sit tranquillum. Quatuor quidem procellæ quatunt navem istam. Nam perfidia Paganorum turba Terram inclytam, Christi sanguine consecratam impie detinere contendunt; rabies tyrannorum temporalia rapiens, exterminat justiciam, & conculcat Ecclesiasticam libertatem: hæreticorum infania Christi tunicam scindere nititur, & subvertere fidei Sacramentum: falsorum fratrum & filiorum dolosa perversitas concutit viscera, & latus dilacerat matris suæ. Sicque fores pugne, intus timores: extra inscit Gladius, & domibus mors similiter intentatur. Sicque frequenter fit, quod Christi Ecclesia tot angustis perturbatur, dum alere credit filios, nutrit in sinu ignem, serpentes, & regulos; qui statu, & morsu, & incendio cuncta vastare nituntur. Hinc est, quod ad monstra hujusmodi perimenda, & expugnandas acies inimica, ac tempestatum inquietudines mitigandas, Apostolica sedes his temporibus cum multa diligentia quendam alumnum, Imperatorem videlicet Fredericum, quem quasi a matris utero exceperit, uberibus lactavit, humeris bajulavit, de manibus quærentium animum ejus frequenter eripuit, educare studuit, multis laboribus & expensis usque ad virum perfectum perduxit, ad Regiæ dignitatis decorem, & tandem ad fastigium culminis Imperialis propevit; credens illum habere defensionis virgam, & baculum senectutis. Ipse autem dum in Theutoniam se transtulit, ad habenas Imperii obtinendas, jucunda, ut credebatur, auspicia, sed verius pericula matris obtutibus inferebat. Nam sponte, non monitu sede Apostolica ignorante, crucem suis affixit humeris, vovens solemniter se in Terra sancta subsidium profecturum. Deinde se & alios cruce signatos excommunicari obtinuit, nisi certo proficerentur tempore. Sed incidenter absolutionem petiit, & accepit, de parendo super hæc mandatis Ecclesiæ, prius præstito juramento. Exuberantem autem gratiam super ipsum Apostolica sedes infundens, ut festinantius ad Terra sancta transiret subsidium, ipsum contra morem ad coronam vocavit, qui ad hoc non invitatus, sed multiplicatis intercessoribus intercessoris invitari per magnificos nuncios consuevit. Sicque idem sub crucis vexillo usque ad hæc tempora propria negotia plenius, & perfectus consummavit. Tandem cum manibus sceleris recordationis Honorii Papæ, prædecessoris nostri in beati Petri basilica recepisset dia-dema, de manibus nostris, tunc in minori officio constitutus, crucem resumpsit, voto publice innovato. Plures sub spe sui subsidii ad sumendam induxit, & certum recipit terminum transfretandi. Habito quoquo postmodum apud Verulam cum Ecclesia Romana colloquio, juravit publice, se in certo termino, a Romana sibi Ecclesia præfigendo, & tanquam Imperatorem honorifice profecturum. Exinde apud Ferentium in colloquio simili, duorum annorum transfretandi elegit sibi terminum, & præfixit. Sicque transiturum, & nobilem mulierem, natam Charissimi filii nostri in Christo Johannis Regis Hierosolymorum, illustri ipsius regni hæredem, in conjugem recepturum solemniter præstito juramento spondit. Adjungentis, quod per hoc ad obsequium Terra sancta, non ut cæteri peregrini, sed ut Templarii & Hospitalarii se in perpetuum obligaret. Appropinquante itaque termino prælibato, cepit excusationes multiplices prætere, se ad transitum asserens non paratum, & ut denuo terminum sibi daretur terminus annorum, grandia obtulit obsequia Terra sancta cum obligationibus satis magnis. Apostolica vero sedes ne tantis laboribus exufflatis & inutiliter sic exhaustis, totum dissolveretur negotium, quod huic Principi post Romanam Ecclesiam principaliter incumberebat: habeo plurimum Episcoporum & aliorum virorum consilio, de contingentibus nil omittens, venerabilem fratrem nostrum P. Albansum Episcopum, & bonæ memoriæ G. titulo sancti Martini Presbyterum Cardinalem, ad Confirmanda illa, quæ Imperator pro crucis obsequio spontaneus promittebat transmisit. Cumque apud sanctum Germanum cum pluribus Alemannia Principibus pariter convenissent, Imperator propria manu juravit, quod inde ad biennium, id est, in passagio Augusti, nunc proximo transacto, omni excusatione & dilatione cessantibus, transfretaret, mille milites ibidem per biennium teneret ad suum stipendium, pro subsidio Terra sancta centum millia unciarum auri, in quinque passagiis tunc proximo futuris illuc destinares certis assignanda personis. Et tunc Cardinales Presbyteri, de Imperatoris consensu, in conspectu Principum ac populi circumstantis, excommunicationis sententiam publice Auctoritate Apostolica protulerunt in quam incideret Imperator, si forte in aliquo defecerit prædictorum. Obligavit insuper se Imperator ad centum chelendras, & quinquaginta galleas ducendas & tenendas ultra mare: & quod insuper duobus millibus militum passagium certis terminis largiretur, in animam suam jurari faciens, se ista quæ diximus impleturum, & sponte consentiens in se & regnum suum ferri sententiam, si non fuerint observata. Qualiter autem hæc impleverit, advertas, Nam cum ad ejus frequentem instantiam, multa cruce signatorum millia per excommunicationis sententiam coarctati in termino destinato ad portum Brundisii properassent, quia gratiam suam Imperator subtraxerat civitatibus serie cunctis in portibus constitutis, & idem a prædecessore nostro, ac a nobis frequentius monitus, ut diligenter pararet omnia, & fideliter quæ sponderat adimpleret: ipse præmissorum, quæ sedi Apostolicæ & cruce signatis per prædicatores & literas suas fecerat, de sponione passagii necessariorum & victus, suæ salutis immemor, tamdiu in æstivi fervoris incendio, in regione mortis & aeris corruptela detinuit Christianum exercitum, ut non solum magna pars plebis, verum etiam non modica multitudo nobilium & magnatum, pestilentia, sitis ariditate, ardoris incendio, ac multis incommoditatibus expiravit. Inter quos defecerunt bonæ memoriæ Episcopi Andegavensis & Augustensis. Pars vero non modica infirmitate gravata regrediens, in viis, in silvis, & in planitiis, in montibus & speluncis occubuit jam ex parte. Sane reliqui vix obtenta licentia, licet galeæ, chalendræ ac naves sufficientes ad transitum victualium, hominum, & equorum, ut promiserat, non adessent, in festo tamen beatæ Virginis cum jam temporis instantia immineret, ut naves transmarinis partibus inciperent remeare, sulcare maria inchoarunt: sed pro nomine Jesu Christi se discrimini committentes, ac credentes Imperatorem cominus eorum vestigia secuturum, Idem vero, evacuatis promissionibus, ruptis vinculis quibus tenebatur astrictus, calcato timore divino, contempta reverentia Jesu Christi, censura Ecclesiastica vilipensa, ac relicto exercitu Christianum, exposita infidelibus Terra Sancta, devotione populi Christiani abjecta; in suum & totius Christianitatis opprobrium retrorsum abstractus & illectus est ad consuetas Regni delicias objectionem corporis sui frivolis excusationibus, ut dicitur, gestiens palliare Astendite ergo, & videte, si est dolor sicut dolor sedis Apostolica, matris vestræ, sic crudeliter & toties deceptæ in filio, quem lactaverat, in quem posuit in hoc facto spei suæ fiduciam, in quem tot beneficiorum abundantiam cumulavit, Dissimulans interim, ne occasione inventa, se averteret a Terra sancta subsidio, exilia Præsulum, spoliaciones, captivitates, & injurias multiplices, quas Ecclesiis, viris religiosis, clericis irrogavit, & obaudiens querelas multiplices pauperum, populorum, & nobilium patrimonii Ecclesiæ clamantium contra ipsum, quas in aures Domini Sabaos credimus introisse. Et quamvis Ecclesiæ Romana tueri debeat filium tanta diligentia educatum, et magnificentia exaltatum; nunc ipsum gemit sine Marte victum, absque hoste prostratum: et in suæ confusionis opprobrium, probitum, tam ignominiose defectum. Non minus gemit exterminium exercitus Christiani qui non inimicorum gladius, vel veritate defecit; sed calamitate tam miserabili est consumptus. Gemit etiam quod residua bellatorum, exposita maris periculis & fluctibus tempestatum, absque duce, præceptore, & principe ducitur, quo ignorat, modicum profectura terræ sanctæ utilitatibus. Quibus debita consolationis solitum & opportuna subjectioni saulium, impredientibus jam maris frementis procellis, temporisque angustia juxta votum non possumus ministrare. Gemit insuper excidium Terræ sanctæ utilitatibus, quibus debita consolationis solatium, & opportuna subjectionis auxilium, impredientibus jam maris frementis procellis, temporisque angustia, juxta votum non possumus ministrare. Gemit insuper excidium Terræ sanctæ, quam nunc eripi de manibus Paganorum sperabamus; quam olim, ut asseritur, recuperasset Christiani exercitus per concambium Damiata, nisi semel eis & iterum Imperialibus fuisset Literis Interdictum. Qui etiam non fuisset in manibus Paganorum inclusus, si galeiarum subsidium, ut ex parte sua promissum fuerat, & fieri poterat, subsecutum esset. Nam Damiata, quæ ut astruitur, suo tradita nuncio, & aquilis Imperialibus insignata; eodem die crudeliter spoliata, & per suas deteriorata, viliter & ignominiose, per ipsos fuit infidelibus restituta. Recurrit etiam ad rediviva suspiria, & amissionem præscriptam, recolens Damiata tot laborum angustias, tot expensarum dispendia, tot mortes fidelium, & tot excursus temporum, quæ inutiliter affluerunt, subortis lachrymis flere non cessat; nec est qui consoletur eam ex omnibus charis ejus, nec abstergat lachrymas a maxillis. Cum ergo vox ejus in Rama jam sonuerit, & Rachel non solum filios, sed hæc omnia irremediabili lamentatione deploret; quis fidelium a gemitibus & suspiriis continebit? quis filiorum, cernens aquarum profluvia de matris oculis prodeuntia, lachrymas non effunder? quis matris non compatiatur angustias? nec immensis ejus doloribus condolebit? quis fidelium propter hæc non ardentius inflammabitur ad subsidium Terræ sanctæ, ne Christiana juvenus ex insperato casu penitus prostrata videatur, & ignominiose animo consternata? Nonne viri cordati, & filii Jesu Christi, debent ad subsidium Terræ sanctæ tanto fortius animari, quanto ignominiam jam amplius resultare conspiciunt ex insperata ruina in patrem & filium, in redemptorem atque redemptos, in Christum & populum Christianum? Nos igitur hoc negotium tanto ardentius resumere affectamus, & ex multis inflata doloribus nostram grandis angustia mentem pavit: & sic cum Dominus populo suo modicum ostendit se iratum, de illius manu hoc tempore sacrificium non acceptans, qui prudentiam non est imitatus illorum, per quem salus in Israel consuevit. Non tamen misericordiarum Dei sunt consumptæ, nec ejus miserationes penitus defecerunt. Sperantes namque in misericordia Dei nostri, qui viam nobis ostendit, per quam in hoc opere prospere gradiamur: & viros secundum cor suum destinabit, qui præcedant in cordis puritate ac manuum munditia exercitum Christianum. Ideoque fraternitatem vestram obsecramus in Domino, per Apostolica scripta præcipientes mandantes: quatenus hæc clero et populis vobis commissis fideliter exponentes, ac inducentes eosdem ad hæc exequenda, suos studeant animas præparare; & ipsos ad vindicandam injuriam Jesu Christi sedulis exhortationibus invitetis, ut cum ipsos sedes Apostolica habito majori tractatu sollicitandos providerit, promptos inveniat & paratos. Porro, ne tanquam canes muti, non valentes latrare, videamur deferre homini contra Deum, non sinuentes ultionem de illo, qui tantam injuriam populo procuravit, Imperatorem videlicet Fredericum, qui nec transiret in termino constituto, nec illos in taxatis passagiis præscriptam pecuniam destinavit, nec mille duxit milites per biennium tenendos, ad suum stipendium, pro subsidio Terræ sanctæ ibidem, sed in tribus articulis manifeste deficiens, in his discriptæ excommunicationis laqueum ultroneus se ingessit, excommunicatum, quanquam infidelis, publice nunciamus, et mandamus ab omnibus arctius evitari: contra ipsam, si contumacia ejus exigerit, gravibus processuri. & ignominiam suam, quam incurrit, avertat: Sicque recurrat ad medicum, & ad matrem Ecclesiam revertatur, per humilitatem debitam: & satisfactionem congruam, salutis remedia recepturus. Non enim ejus salutem in Domino affectamus interire, quem olim sincere dileximus, in minori etiam officio constituti. Data Laterani, Pontificatus nostri Anno secundo.

The Emperour justly incensed with the publication of these libellous, scandalous, and fabulous Excommunications against him in England, and all other Kingdoms, Churches, to his intollerable defamation; endeavoured to vindicate himself and his innocency, against the Popes calumnies, by dispatching Letters into all parts, and particularly into England, thus recorded by Matthew Paris.

Imperator itaque Fredericus, cum a referentibus se excommunicatum cognovisset, perturbatus est valde: & sicut Papa per Literas suas in omnibus Christianorum finibus latam fecerat sententiam publicari; ita dictus Imperator scripsit universis Regibus & Principibus Christianis, conquerens sententiam in eum fuisse injuriose latam. Denunciavit etiam singulis & universis, se non frivolis excusationibus, sicut ei Papa mendose imposuit, a peregrinatione reversum inchoata; sed maximè infirmitatis causa, illius super hoc testimonium invocans, qui est testis in cælo fidelis. Affirmavit insuper, quia quam citius sibi Deus prosperitatem præstiterit corporalem, votum suæ peregrinationis (sicut decet Imperatorem) cum honore congruo persolvere Domino procurabit. Inter cæteros siquidem Catholicos Regis, Literas auro Bullatas Anglorum Regi transmisit; proponens in eisdem Romanam Ecclesiam tanto jam avaritiæ succensam incendio, et concupiscentiâ manifestam; quod bonis Ecclesiasticis non sibi pro voto sufficientibus, Imperatores, Reges, et Principes exheredare, et Tributarios constituere non veretur. Habeat autem de præmissis Rex Anglorum ex se ipso exemplum, cujus * Patrem, Regem scilicet Johannem, tandem excommunicatum tenuit, quousque ipsum et Regna ejus constituit sub Tributo. Habeant etiam generaliter omnes idem exemplum de Comite Cholofano, ut alios Principes multos; quorum terras et personas tandem sub Interdicto concludere molitur, donec illos in consimilem redigat servitutem. Simonias, exactiones diversas, et a sæculis inauditas, quas in Ecclesiasticas personas incessanter exercent; usuras manifestas, et palliatis, quibus hætenus incognitis totum mundum inficiunt, prætermitto. Sermones tamen super mel mellitos, et super oleum mollicos, insatiabiles sanguisugæ, dicentes Curiam Romanam esse Ecclesiam, matrem nostram, ac nutriticem: cum sit Curia prætarata omnium malorum Radix et Origō; non maternos, sed actus exercens nocivales, ex cognitis fructibus suis certum faciens argumentum. Revolbant hæc inclyti Barones Angliæ, quos Papa Innocentius Bullatis Literis communitos animavit, ut in Regem Johannem quasi Ecclesiæ inimicum insurgerent obstinatum. Sed postquam enormiter memoratus Rex est incurvatus, et se suumque Regnum Ecclesiæ Romanæ, velut effœminatus, mancipavit; prædictus Papa Proceres, quos prius sustinuit et excitaverat, postposito mundi pudore Dominiq; timore, conculcavit, morti expositos et miserabiliter exheredantos, ut more Romano, proterbo hiatu quod pinguis erat, pro dolo, absorberet! Et factum est; quod, incitante Romanorum avaritiâ, Princeps probraciarum facta est sub Tributo. Ecce mores Romanorum, ecce laquei Prælatorum; quibus universos ac singulos quærent illaqueare, nummos erungere, liberos subjugare, pacificos inquietare, in vestibitis obium, cum sint intus lupi rapaces; Legatos huc et illuc mittentes, excommunicare, suspendere, punire potestatem habentes;

habentes; non ut semen, id est, verbum Dei seminant fructificandum, sed ut pecuniam extorqueant, colligant, et metant quæ nunquam seminaverunt. Sicque fit, ut Ecclesias sacras, pauperum refugia Sanctorum Mansiones diripiant, quas pii ac simplices Patres nostri in refectionem pauperum ac peregrinorum et religiosorum sustentationem fundarunt. Ex nunc ad Imperia et Regna degeneres et ignobiles (quos solæ Literæ faciunt insanire) ausu temerario contendunt anhelari. In paupertate quidem & simplicitate fundata erat Ecclesia Primitiva, cum Sanctos quos Catalogus Sanctorum commemorat, fecunda paruriret. Sed aliud fundamentum nemo potest ponere, præter illud quod positum est a Domino Jesu, ac stabilitum. Porro quia in divitiis navigant, in divitiis volutantur, in divitiis ædificant, timendum ne paries inclinetur Ecclesiæ, ne maceria depulsa, ruina subsequatur. In nos etiam nobis scrutator omnium, injuste debagchantur, dicentes nos nolle terminis transfretasse constitutis: cum multa me de eo, et Ecclesia, et Imperio inevitabilia ac ardua negotia, præter infirmitatis incommoda, detinebant. Quorum primum fuit rebellium Siculorum insolentia. Nec videbatur nobis sanum fuisse consilium expediens Christianitati, nos in Terram Sanctam transisse, Bellum intestinum post terga relinquentes: sicut nec medico, ferro infixo vulnere, fomentum adhibere medicinæ. In conclusione quoque demum hæc adiecit, exhortans orbis Principes universos ut contra tantam sibi prospiciant avaritiam, et iniquitatem, quia

Ex hac itaque Imperator perturbatione commotus, excitavit contra Dominum Papam & Romanæ Ecclesiæ Patrimonium, seditionem gravissimam: invadens ejus Civitates, & occupans Castella. Sicut idem Papa per Literas suas Romano Legato Francorum directas, evidenter expressit; recorded at large by Matthew Paris, fraught with nothing but calumnies and lyes, to defame the Emperour.

These Antichristian proceedings against the Emperour, so exasperated the Citizens of Rome, that they expelled him the City, and chased him to Perusium.

Per idem tempus, populus Romanus in Papam Gregorium seditionem excitavit, & in sollemnitate Paschali illum ejecerunt ab urbe; insequentes eum usque Viterbium Castellum subm. Ubi fortiter invalescentes; fugaverunt eum usque Perusium. Papa, aliud vindictæ genus non habens, persecutores suos excommunicationis sententia innodavit. Which they dreaded not at all.

King Henry the 3d. upon receipt of the Popes Bulls against the Emperour, and the Emperours Letters against the Pope, sent this Letter to this Fire-brand, and another to the Emperour, advising an accommodation between them; for the better relief of the Holy-land.

Domino Papæ, Sanctitatis vestræ Literas devotione qua decuit recepimus contententes narratione brevi defectum succursus Terra Sancta, quem in præsentis sperabitis per Ministerium Imperatoris ordinatum fuisse: Sane dolorem vestrum, quem brevem esse decet, non audimus sine dolore, maxime, cum in salute vestra et Ecclesiæ statu pacifico regnantium pax consistat et Regnum. Recepimus autem postmodum Literas Imperatoris qui te multis gravaminibus & injuriis ei ut dicebat, præter suorum exigentiam meritorum, conquerendo, in eisdem Literis, notum fecit nobis, sicut & in aliis Regnis publicasse se dicit, quod in medio instantis Maii, proponit nihilominus transfretare. Literas easdem ostendimus Clerico vestro, Magistro Stephano, tunc præsentis nobiscum, de cujus consilio Imperatori rescripsimus consulendo, ut a debita vobis et Ecclesiæ devotione nullius temeritatis ausu recedens, humiliter obediat, et obsequatur vobis; Aquilæ dem ut Patri et Domino, cui in totius fidelitatis et obsequii plenitudine adesse volumus et tenemur, consulimus in Domino pro negotio Terra Sancta, cujus liberationem mundus desiderare debet ardentius, quatenus eundem si cum humilitate debita ad cor reverti voluerit, vestrisque parere mandatis, misericorditer recipere velitis ad pacem. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, Vicesimo die Februarii.

The Emperour having recovered his health, to perform his vow, satisfie the Christians who had crossed and transported themselves to the Holy Land, pacifie the Pope, and wipe off all scandalous reproaches, and the Bulls of Excommunication, took shipping again for this expedition; yet the Pope would not absolve, but kept him still Excommunicated.

FREDERICUS Imperator mare Mediterraneum ingressus, ut Domino votum peregrinationis persolveret, in vigilia Nativitatis Beatæ Virginis Maria apud Achon applicuit: venientes ei obviam Clerus terræ & populus cum magno honore, ut tantum dicebat virum, illum receperunt. Verumtamen quoniam noberant eum a Papa excommunicatum, non ei communicaverunt in osculo, neque in mensa: sed consuluerunt, ut Domino Papæ satisfaciens, rediret ad Sanctæ Ecclesiæ unitatem. Templarii vero & Hospitalarii, in adventu ejus flexis genibus adoraverunt eum, genua ejus deosculantes, & omnis fidelium, qui aderat exercitus, glorificabant Deum in adventu ipsius: sperantes quod per eum fieret salus in Israel. Tunc Imperator (as he had just reason) ad universum exercitum gravem deposuit querimoniam, de Pontifice Romano, quod injustam tulerat in eum sententiam: affirmans se gravissimæ infirmitatis causâ, & aliorum arduorum negotiorum, quæ totam tangebant Christianitatem, iter suum ad Terra Sancta subsidium distulisse.

This perverse Pope on the contrary, to evidence his implacable malice against the Emperour, instead of absolving him from his Excommunication for not going to the Holy Land, now resolves not only to continue it, but makes actual War upon his Territories, to deprive him of his Temporal Crown, as Contumacious and Rebellious, because he went thither, and set up John de Brennes (whom he made his Général) Emperour in his Throne: as Matthew Paris thus relates.

Circa dies istos, Papa Gregorius nimis moleste ferens, quod Romanorum Imperator excommunicatus & rebellis, ad Terram Sanctam transierat: de illius poenitentia & satisfactione, ut rediret ad Ecclesiæ unitatem, non mediocriter desperabat. Decevit ergo eum, quem contumacem vidit & rebellem, ab Imperiali fastigio depellere: & alium quemlibet filium pacis & obedientiæ, loco ejus subrogare. Sed quoniam hujus rei certitudo nobis non nisi per alios constare potuit, ponemus hic Literas Thoma cujusdam Comitis, quem Imperator cum quibusdam aliis in recessu suo, Imperii tutorem constituit & rectorem: quas Imperatori super hoc negotio in Syriam destinavit, & quas a quodam fide digno suscepimus peregrino.

Excellentissimo Domino Frederico, Dei gratia Imperatori Romanorum, & semper Augusto, ac Siculorum Regi potentissimo; Thomas Comes Atteranensis, sumus in omnibus fidelis ac devotus, salutem, & de Hostibus triumphare. Post recessum vestrum, Domine Excellentissime, Gregorius Pontifex Romanus, & magnificentia vestra Hostium publicum, congregato exercitu copioso per Johannem de Brennes, Regem quondam Hierosolymorum, & alios quosdam viros strenuos, quos militia sua Principes constituit; terram vestram & hominum vestrorum hostiliter ingressus, contra Legem Christianam decrevit vos in gladio vincere materiali, quem non potuit desicere in gladio, ut asserit, spirituali. Nam Johannes prefatus, de Regno Francorum, & aliis conterminis regionibus, militiam contrahens non modicam; sub spe Imperii, si vos possis subigere, de Theauris Apostolicis, suis militibus stipendia ministrat. Itaque idem Johannes, & alii sedis Apostolica principes militum, terram vestram & hominum vestrorum Hostiliter ingressi: Ignem in adificiis & villis accumulunt, stola & armenta rapiunt, homines captos diversis cruciatibus torquent, & ad gravissimam redemptionem compellunt: nulli sexui parvum, nec cuiquam extra Ecclesiam vel Camiterium deserunt: Vicos

Vicos & Castellæ capiunt, non habentes ad hoc resp. cum, quod illi in servicio Jeshu Christi. Et si quis de Imperatore mentionem facit, Johannes d. Breunes affirmat, non esse alium Imperatorem præter ipsum. Mirantur super his amici vestri, Excellentissime Imperator, et præcipue Clerus Imperii vestri: quæ consideratione et conscientia talia facere potest Pontifex Romanus, et contra Christianos arma movere. Maxime cum Dominus dixerit Petro, in gladio materiali percutere volens: Mitte gladium tuum in vaginam. Omnis enim qui percusserit in gladio, peribit. Vel quo jure possit ille qui quasi diebus singulis prædones, incendiarios, et Christianorum tortores excommunicat, et ab Ecclesiæ unitate separat, talibus assensum præbere, et Auctoritatem præstare, similiter admirantur. Proinde nunc obsecro, Imperator potentissime, securitati vestra & honori super præmissis: quia inimicus vester sapeditus, Johannes de Brennes, omnes Portus cismarinos cum exploratoribus armatis non paucis munivit: ut si forte incautus a peregrinatione redires, ipsi vos sub captione conclusum in carceraret, quos Dominus avertat.

Can any Romanist, Pontifician, Christian, Turk, or Sarazen read these unchristian extravagant proceedings of the Pope, but with highest detestation of his Diabolical impiety, malice, and injustice? But though this Pope unjustly persecuted him with fire and sword, and cursed him with Bell, Book and Candle, yet God so blessed him with successe, that he speedily recovered Jerusalem and the Holy Land out of the Sarazens hands, of which he gave a full account in his Letter to King Henry the 3d. which you may peruse at leisure in * Matthew Paris; the form and inscriptions of the Golden Bull or Seal thereto affixed; (which are memorable) he thus describes.

Forma Bullæ Imperatoris aureæ erat talis: Ex una parte erat Imago Regia, & scriptum in circuitu, Fredericus Dei gratia Romanorum Imperator, & semper Augustus. Ex una parte vero Regalis Imaginis, scilicet super dextrum humerum, scriptum est, Rex Jerusalem. Ex alia parte ejusdem Imaginis, scilicet super sinistrum humerum, scriptum est, Rex Sicilia. Ex alia autem parte Bullæ, insculpitur quædam Civitas, scilicet Roma, & scribitur in circuitu, Roma Caput Mundi, tenet orbis fræna rotundi. Erat autem Bulla, aliquantulum major Bulla Papæ.

It is evident by the last Motto in this Seal, That the Emperour esteemed himself, not the Pope, The Head of the World, and of Rome is self, of which he held the reins; that the Pope had no real Jurisdiction in or over it, but only by pretext of St. Peter usurped and abused Keys; which yet terrified his Superstitious Votaries of the Clergy so much, that none of the Bishops would or dared to say Masse within the walls of Jerusalem it self; when recovered from the Sarazens, so long as the Excommunicated Emperour was within it; so much did they obey and fear this unchristian Pope, more then God; or this Victorious Emperour: witnesse this relation.

Mat. Paris Hist.
Angl. p. 345.

Ingressus est igitur, Sanctam Civitatem Hierusalem exercitus Christianus, & Patriarcha cum Episcopis suis Suffraganeis mundificavit Templum Domini & Ecclesiam Sancti Sepulchri, Sanctæque Resurrectionis ejusdem, cum aliis Ecclesiis Sanctisque locis Venerabilibus Civitatis, abluentes pavementum & parietes aqua benedicta, & agentes processiones in hymnis & canticis, reconciliaverunt Deo loca universa, diuturnis infidelium sordibus prophanata. Verum, quamdum Imperator, qui excommunicatus fuerat, intra urbis mœnia moram fecit, nullus Prælatum (such was their baseness and impiety) Nullam celebrare præsumpsit. Magister tamen Walterus, frater quidam de ordine prædicatorum, vir religiosus, providus, ac discretus, & in divina pagina eleganter eruditus, Anglicus natione, qui a Domino Papa officium prædicationis, in quo singulariter floruit, expeditus; in exercitu Christi susceperat, quod etiam per aliquod tempus feliciter impleverat, celebravit divina in Ecclesiis suburbanis: unde devotionem fidelium plurimum excitando, ad obsequium crucifixi arctius animavit.

* Mat. Paris,
346, 347.

The Pope enraged with (instead of rejoycing at) the Emperours Victorious proceedings against the Sarazens, as he invaded his Empire with fire and sword, to de-throne him at home, so he suborned the ambitious * Templers and Hospitalers (who envyyed his successes) to betray him to the Sarazens, to murder, or take him Prisoner in the Holy Land, sumpserunt cornua ex odio Papali; audierant enim, quod jam Papa Imperium hostiliter invaserat. But this their Treachery was so execrable to the very Soldan of the Sarazens, made privy to it, that he revealed it to the Emperour, and so prevented his destruction; who thereupon gave more affectionately to this Pagan Soldan, then to this Antichristian Pope, or unchristian, perfidious Templers.

Mat. Paris Hist.
Angl. p. 346,
to 350.

Moreover the Pope procured Geraldus Patriarch of Jerusalem, to write a Letter to all Christians concerning his slow proceedings against the Sarazens, fraught with scandals, which the Pope disperseth into all parts, especially in England, to defame and withdraw the peoples affections from him: Which done, Papa ad ejus dejectionem diligentius solito insurrexit, & collectioni pecunie haviit avidius, both in England and elsewhere, of which more in its due place.

These Antichristian Papal Usurpations over, and proceedings against the Emperour abroad, were published by the Popes Legates and Instruments in England, to overawe, terrifie the King and Nobles, as well as Clergy, and abate their oppositions against his Usurpations and Encroachments on their Rights, especially in cases of Provisions, Appeals about Elections, and Church affairs, wherein he acted arbitrarily what he pleased, as these passages evidence.

Eodem Anno, Cassata Roma electione Magistri Wilhelmi Scoti Dunelmensis electi, Robertus Sarisburiensis Episcopus ad eundem Episcopatum electus est, postulatus, & translatus: post cujus promotionem Canonici Sarisburienses elegerunt Magistrum Robertum Bingham Canonicum suum in animarum suarum Episcopum & Pastorem. Quo utique anno decisa est contentio inter Monachos Coventrenses, & Canonicos Litchfeldenses, super Episcopo eligendo, Roma per sententiam diffinitivam: Ita ut deinceps Episcopos alternatim eligant, Monachi primum, & Canonici eo defuncto alterum. Hoc tamen observato, ut Prior Coventrensis in electione primam semper habeat vocem. In hac autem sententia videtur plurimum juri Monachorum fuisse derogatum, qui eatenus semper Pontifices elegerant absque Canonicorum consensu.

* Here p. 307.

This year there grew a new contest between the King and Monks of Canterbury, about the election of the Archbishop, which occasioned an Appeal and decision of the election by the Pope at Rome, whereby the Pope got two years payment of his Annual Pension granted by King John, (as you * heard before) and a Tenth in promise the Historian will inform us.

Eodem Anno, Stephanus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, apud Stindonam manerium suum vii. Idus Julii diem clausit extremum: & Cantuarie sepultus est pridie Nonas ejusdem. Quo sepulto, Monachi Cantuarienses impetrata a Rege licentia, elegerunt Monachum de gremio Ecclesie sue, Magistrum Walterum de Hemesham, iiij. Nonas Augusti; quem cum Monachi presentassent Regi, ipse post diutnam deliberationem, eundem electum certis objectionibus refutavit. Primo quidem, ipsis objecit, Monachis, Quod talem elegerunt, qui sibi inutilis erat in Regno. Secundo, Quod Pater ejusdem de furto convictus, patibulo suspensus fuit. Tertio, Quod steterat in causis contra Patrem suum Regem Johannem, tempore Interdicti. Episcopi preterea Cantuariensis Ecclesie Suffraganei, eidem electo objecerunt; quia Sanctimoniale quandam opprimerat, et ex illa pueros susceperat. (A very chaste Monk, fit to be Primate of all England.) Adjicientes insuper, Quod electus Archiepiscopi sine Moxum presentia non dederat celebrari. Electus vero prout, electioni factae firmiter adherens, post appellationem interpositam, assumptis sibi Monachis quibusdam Cantuariensibus, Domini Papae se conspectibus presentavit: petens instanter, ut electionem factam confirmaret. Sed Dominus Papa, cum cognovisset, quod a Rege et Episcopis electio contrabita fuisset, distulit negotium, donec rei certitudinem cognovisset. Rex autem & Episcopi, cum audissent, quod electus memoratus ad Curiam Romanam iter arripuerat: objectiones premissas in scriptum redactas, & tam Regio quam Episcoporum sigillo roboratas, per Roffensem & Cestrensem Episcopos Domino Papae transmiserunt, Magisstrum Johannem Bedefordensem Archidiaconum hujus negotii constituentes patronum. Nunti tandem Romam pervenientes, Domino Papæ Regis & Episcoporum Literas porrexerunt. Quibus Papa diligenter inspectis, de consilio Cardinalium statuit paribus diem in crastino cinerum: ut tunc mediante justitia causam sententialiter diffiniret.

Eodem tempore, instante die cinerum, qui electo Cantuariensi & Nuntiis Regis Anglorum fuerat præfixus; ut quid de Jure foret a Papa diffiniendum inter partes, procuratores dicti Regis, scilicet Magister Alexander de Stavenesse Episcopus Cestrensis, & Magister Henricus de Sanford Rossensis Episcopus, & præcipue Magister Johannes de Henton; Dominum Papam & Cardinales omnes assiduus petitionibus convenerunt: sed illos invenientes ex more difficiles, timuerunt valde a suo desiderio defraudari. Unde habito tractatu detestabili super præmissis, promiserunt Domino Papæ ex parte Regis Anglorum, ab universo Regno Angliæ et Hybernæ decimationem omnium rerum mobilium, ad guerram suam contra Imperatorem sustinendam, ut eos in Regis proposito exaudiret. At Dominus Papa, qui rebellem Imperatorem super omnia æstuabat desicere, tantis promissionibus exhilaratus, trahitur ad consensum, et * sedens in Consistorio, hæc quæ sequuntur proposuit.

Ex commissa nobis a * Domino cura Pastoralis officii, et concessa ( licet immeritis ) plenitudine Ecclesiasticæ potestatis, cogimur Ecclesiarum omnium per quotidianam instantiam, sollicitudinem et curam gerere, eisque cum necessitas ingruerit, et ex iustitiæ debito, et ex gratiæ beneficio, paternam diligentiam providere. Inter cæteras autem particulares Ecclesias, & metropoles universas ad Cantuariensem Ecclesiam, tanquam ad nobilissimum sedis Apostolicæ membrum, in ejus opportunitatibus oculos considerationis expandimus; quam mater Ecclesiarum, Apostolica sedes, tanto benigniori debet favore prosequi, quanto eam inter alias divina dispositio in spiritualium plenitudine et * temporalium ubertate gratia prætulit ampliori. Hanc etenim velut paradisum voluptatis, et hortum deliciarum, ordinati- one sua plantabit altissimus, de qua producere valuit lignum scientiæ boni et mali: in institutione dignitatis metropolitæ, lignum vitæ: in ordine religionis Monasticæ, et regularis observantiæ disciplina, ligna pomifera: in Suffraganeis, quæ per operationem Sanctam delectant in visu, per fidelem Doctrinam delectant in gustu, per optimonem bonam recreant in olfactu. De eodem loco subitus egreditur, per quem * gloriosissimi Thomæ Martyris sanguis exprimitur; qui dum vitam mortuis, sanitatem ægrotis, libertatem servis, et audaciam timidis contulit; inde progrediens, in quatuor procububio capita derivatur. Cujus miraculorum excellentium signa dum sollicita meditatione discutimus, ratas & insolitas divinæ plantationis delicias invenimus. Hujus itaque paradisi custodiæ, bonæ memoriæ Stephano quondam Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinali, viro utique * preminentissime donis scientiæ, et munere gratiæ, supernis carismatibus delibuto, et erepto de carnis ergastulo, et ad paradisi celestis jucunditatem et requiem, sicut speramus et credimus, evocato: dilecti filii Cantuariensis conventus, electionem celebratam ab eis de Waltero Monacho Cantuariensi, nobis præsentare curarunt. Qua primo electionis merita, et examinata personæ literatura, iustitiæ mediante, cassata: hominem culminis, quem per vitam et scientiam, intellectum pariter et affectum, ad imaginem et similitudinem Dei conditum, habentem per salutarem Doctrinam vitæ spiraculum, in paradiso, ut operetur et custodiat illum, duximus collocandum, Magistrum Richardum Lincolnæ Cancellarium; quem tam ex fratrum nostrorum, qui eum in scholis noverunt, quam ex venerabilium fratrum nostrorum Rossensis et Coventrensis Episcoporum, et aliorum plurium testimonio, virum doctissimum eminentis literaturæ, conversationis honestæ, sanctæ integerrimæ, excellentissimæ industriæ, zelatorum animarum et Ecclesiasticæ libertatis, Cantuariensis Ecclesiæ, de fratrum nostrorum consilio, præsentibus præfatis Episcopis, * præficimus in Archiepiscopum et Pastorem. This is the first instrument and form I find in History or Record, of a Popes Provision to a Bishoprick, which you see is very specious, lofty, Pontifical, rhetorical.

Though

Though the Pope by reason of the differences between the King and Monks, usurped by Provisions, thus to fill the See of Canterbury in the case of Stephen Langton before, and this Richard his immediate Successor, being of greatest concernment for the Popes interest on the one hand, and the Kings Church of England on the other, yet where the King gave his Royal assent to Bishops duly elected by his License, where there was no competition the Pope interposed not, as these two presidents in the self-same year attest.

Eodem Anno, Eustachius Londinensis Episcopus diem clausit extremum. In cuius loco Canonici elegerunt Magistrum Rogerm, cognomento Nigrum; virum in literatura profundi pectoris, honestum, ac per omnia laudabilem, religionis amatorem ac defensorem, omni genere superbiz carentem, Canonicum de gremio Ecclesie sue: quem Dominus Rex sibi presentatum, sine difficultate recepit. Eodem tempore obiit Galfridus Elyensis Episcopus, mense Decembri, & sepultus est in Ecclesia Cathedrali sua, pridie Idus mensis ejusdem, sicut et predictus Eustachius in sua. Quo Galfrido defuncto, Monachi elegerunt communi assensu Hugonem Sancti Edmundi Abbatem. Qui Regi presentatus, grateranter susceptus est, et Episcopatus bonis omnibus investitus.

Richard Archbishop of Canterbury by Provision, and these two Bishops elect, were the next year consecrated all together, as Matthew Paris informs us.

Eodem tempore, in die Sancta Trinitatis, Convenientibus Canuariensis Ecclesie Suffraganeis apud eandem Civitatem, consecratus est Magister Richardus Cantuariensis electus, per manum Henrici Rossensis Episcopi, * sine pallio, (therefore not absolutely necessary) ita quod licuit ei vel ordines celebrare, vel Ecclesias dedicare. Consecrati sunt etiam cum eo eadem die, per ministerium ejusdem Episcopi, ante majus altare in Ecclesia Sancta Trinitatis, Rogerus electus Londinensis, & Hugo Elyensis, iii. Idus Junii.

Hoc denique Anno venit in Angliam Archiepiscopus quidam Armenia majoris, gratia peregrinationis: ut Sanctorum Aussicana Regionis reliquias, & loca venerabilia, sicut & per alia Regia fecerat, visitare. Literas quoque Domini Papae ad commendationem persone sue, viris Religiosis et Prelatis Ecclesiasticis exhibuit, ut ab ipsis cum debita reverentia reciperetur, et honorifice tractaretur. Hic demum, cum apud Sanctum Albanum veniens, causa orandi Anglia proto-Martyrem, ab Abbate & Conventu reverenter susceptus est. His fabulous story of the life of Joseph of Arimathea, even at that day in Armenia, (therefore if true not dead and buried at Glastonbury) you may read in Matthew Paris.

The King opposing the election and consecration of Bishops in Ireland without his precedent License to elect, and special approbation of them when elected, they thereupon appealed to the Pope; who sometimes heard both parties at Rome, sometimes referred the Appeal to be heard and determined by the Archbishop of the Province in Ireland; before whom the King constituted his proctor, to defend the Rights of his Crown by this ensuing Patent.

ut supra fiat autem solutio prædicti auxilii ad scaccarium nostrum Dublin, in manus J. Fernensis, & G. Archid. Dublin.

The Archbishop instead of collecting monyes for the King upon these Letters, procured this Patent for him to receive the profits of all the Temporalities of Bishopricks falling voyd in Ireland during their vacancy, to satisfy a debt owing him by the King, till his debt should be fully payd.

Pat. 12 H. 3. m. 4. intus.

By this Patent the Kings right to retain, and dispose of the Temporalities and profits of all the Bishopricks in Ireland, during their vacancy, towards the payment of debts or otherwise, is most fully evidenced.

What power the Pope then obtained in promoting, ratifying Truces made between the Kings of England and France, when accorded and reduced by them into certainty, this Record will intimate.

That all elections to Bishopricks in Ireland ought to be made by the Kings precedent License to elect, or else they were absolutely voyd, will evidently appear by this memorable Patent, though ratifying a special election for certaine causes, made without it, with some cautions:

This dispensation (though qualified in this manner) had this ill consequence, that it encouraged many Chapters and Convents in Ireland to proceed to elections without any precedent License from the King, and to procure a subsequent approbation or License afterwards, as subsequent Records will evidence. So dangerous is it for Kings to connive at, or dispence with such Inroachments upon their prerogatives, especially in case of ambitious, covetous, proud Prelates, and self-willed refractory Clergymen.

It seems there arose a question in Ireland in the 14th year of King Henry the 3d. whether Tithes should be payd of Fish in Ponds, especially such as belonged to the King; who by his Ecclesiastical Sovereign power, resolved and ordered they should be payd, and so declared by this Patent.

You heard the year * before of the Popes malicious slanders and persecutions of the Emperour Frederick, with excommunications, fire and sword, of his endeavours to exact monyes and Tenthes in all places especially in England, to carry on the war against him, and King *Henry*es Proctors promise to gratify him therein, for promoting his Chancellour Richard to the Archbishoprick of Canterbury, and vacating the Monks election; which he put in vigorous execution this year, publishing many libels against the Emperour to alien mens affections from him, which our Historians thus relate.

Audierat enim idem Papa de Imperatore præfato multa detestanda, quæ faciebat contra legem Christianam: quorum tenorem in scriptum redigens, per diversas orbis partes literis Apostolicis publicare curavit. Proposuit autem contra eum imprimis, quod in die Annunciationis beatæ Mariæ; cum esset excommunicatus, intravit Sepulchri sancti Ecclesiam in Hierusalem, & ibi ante majus altare * propria manu sese coronavit, & ita coronatus rese-dit in cathedra Patriarchatus; & ibi prædicavit populo, excusando malitiam suam & accusando Ecclesiam Romanam. Imponens ei, quod injuste, processerat contra eum, & notabilem eam fecerat invecive & reprehensivæ; de insatiabili & simoniali avaritia. (It seems Popes may defame and injure Emperours, but it is an unpardonable crime in them to complaine of their Symonies or Crimes.) Egressus autem ab Ecclesia in comitatu satellitum suorum, sine omni persona Ecclesiastica; portavit coronam usque ad palatium Hospitalis. Item in palatio suo Achonsi fecit convivari Saracenos, & fecit eis mulieres Christianas saltatrices, ad ludendum coram eis, quæ etiam ut dicebatur commiscebantur eis. Item, fœdus quod iniit cum Soldano nemo scivit qua conditione tractatum fuit inter eos, nisi ipse solus. Veruntamen manifeste videbatur quod magis approbaret (secundum quod perpendi poterat per gestus exteriores) legem Saracenorum quam fidei nostræ, quia in multis ritibus eorum imitatus est. Item, in scripto quod est inter ipsum & Soldanum, quod lingua appellatur Arabica Mosepha, continetur quod durantibus Treugis, ipse juvabit eum contra homines Christianos & Saracenos, & e converso Soldanus ipsum. Item, spoliavit Canonicos S. Crucis in Achona, quibusdam redditibus quos recipere debebant in portu Achonsi. Item, spoliavit Archiepiscopum Nicholsiensem in Cypro. Item, protexit quendam Episcopum Surianorum potentia seculari contra Patriarcham, ab excommunicato & Schismatico ordinatum. Item, spoliavit Canonicos sancti sepulchri oblationibus ipsius Sepulchri, & Patriarcham oblationibus Calvarie loci, & loci Golgotha, & Canonicos sancti Templi oblationibus suis, & per manus satellitum suorum fecit omnes oblationes istas colligere, propter quod factum frater Walterus. Excommunicavit eum in Civitate Hierosolymorum & satellites suos. Item, in die Palmarum prædicatores, de pulpito ubi prædicabant; viliter & violenter fecit dejeci, & crudeliter tractari & incarcerari. Item, infra passionem Domini, obsedit Patriarcham & Episcopos Wintoniensem, & Exoniensem, & Templarios in domibus suis, & cum vidit se non posse prævalere, confusus demisit. His igitur de causis, licet alix non desint, quicquid egit in terra sancta pro nihilo reputans, Dominus Papa, movit guerram contra ipsum, asserens, iustum esse et fidei Christianæ necessarium, ut tam validus Ecclesiæ persecutor a fastu Imperii depelleretur. Et quod his omnibus detestabilius est, contra matrem suam Romanam Ecclesiam gravem excitaverat persecutio: nem, ita quod Castella ejus cum terris et possessionibus occupaverat, et velut hostis publicus detinuit occupatas. (Was not this Pope herein worse then any Turk or Saracen? and was this in Christianity or conscience a just ground for the Pope to wage war against him, whiles he was by his own command fighting against the Saracens, with admirable successe?) After the Popes Legate had dispersed these and other Libellous Papers throughout England against the Emperour, as a prologue to his grand designe of extorting monyes, he thus proceeded.

* Did not the Pope in truth rather do it then the Emperour?

* It seems Monks as well as Popes presumed to excommunicate the Emperour, even whiles excommunicated by the Pope.

PER idem tempus, cum Magister Stephanus, Domini Papæ capellanus & nuncius, Regi Anglorum negotia ipsius Papæ & sui causam adventus ostendisset; fecit Rex convenire apud Westmonasterium, Dominica qua cantatur Misericordia domini, Archiepiscopos, Episcopos, Abbates, Priores, Templarios, Hospitalarios, Comites, Barones, Ecclesiarum Rectores, & qui de se tenebant in capite, ad locum præfixum & diem, ut audirent, negotia memorata, et de rerum exigentis communiter tractarent ibidem. Omnibus igitur congregatis, tam laicis, quam clericis, & eorum subjectis, Magister Stephanus coram omnibus recitavit literas Domini Papæ; in quibus exigebat decimas omnium rerum mobilium, de tota Anglia, Hibernia, et Walla, ab universis laicis et clericis, ad guerram suam sustinendam, quam contra Romanum Imperatorem susceperat Fredericum. Ostendit autem in literis memoratis, quod ipse solus hanc expeditionem susceperat pro universali Ecclesia, quam dictus Imperator, jam diu excommunicatus, & rebellis subvertere nictur, sicut evidentibus apparet indicis: (which himself did rather,) unde divitiæ sedis Apostolicæ cum non sufficiant ad ipsum sum exterminandum, necessitate compulsus, ab universis Ecclesiis filiis implozat auxilium; per quod expeditionem inchoatam, et in parte jam foeliciter prosperatam perducere valeat ad desideratum effectum. Persuadet denique Dominus Papa, in conclusione negotii singulis Ecclesiarum membris, quatenus sicut filii naturales Ecclesiarum Romanarum, quæ mater est omnium Ecclesiarum, potenter subveniant, ne quod absit, ipsa deficiente, membra cum capite succumbere videantur. His & aliis in hunc modum in autentico Domini Papæ, pa-renter expressis, persuasit magister Stephanus omnibus qui aderant, ut consentirent, allegans * honorem et commodum, qui posset exinde obtemperantibus provenire. Rex autem Anglorum, a quo ceteri om-nes sperabant habere defensionis auxilium, factus est (quia sic opor-tuit fieri) baculus arundineus, cujus fragmenta vulneraverunt in se confidentes: qui Romæ per procuratores suos (ut * supradictum est) ad decimas solvendas fuerat obligatus, non potuit contradi-cere: et cum nihil responderet, visus est tacendo assensum præbere.

Comites vero, et Barones, ac laici omnes, plane decimas se daturos contradixerunt, nolentes Baronias suas, vel laicas possessiones Romanæ Ecclesiæ obligare. (An Heroick English resolution.)
Episcopi quoque et Abbates, Piores et alii Ecclesiarum Prælati, post trium vel quatuor dierum deliberationem et murmurationem non modicam, tandem consenserunt; * metuentes excommunicatio-nis sententiam vel interdicti sibi inferri, si mandatis Apostolicis obviarent. Consentientes igitur corde quasi quasi, sub quadam summa pecuniæ finem conclusissent sibi tolerabiles; nisi (ut asseritur) Stephanus de Segrave, Regis tunc Consiliarius, vir quidem sui solius amicus, versus in arcum præbum, quadam simoniaca conventionione cum magistro Stephano facto, ad talem effectum rem perduxit, quod decimas ipsas plenarie sibi erigit et obtinuit, ad damnum Ecclesiæ et regni inestimabile. Sed iusto Dei iudicio, hæc fraudulenta procuratio prædicto Stephano Iusticiario non successit in prosperum. Tunc Magister Stephanus, Prælati omnibus Literas Domini Papæ pro-curatorias ostendit, quibus idem Papa ipsum ad dictas Decimas colligendas procuratorem constituerat, ut * non secundum taxationem factam in Aicesima, quæ paulo ante Regi data fuerat pro libertatibus obtinendis; sed secundum quod melius possunt, ad commodum Domini Papæ, et uberius omnia bona et mobilia singulorum taxari.
Videlicet de omnibus redditibus, proventibus, fructibus carucarum, oblationibus, decimis, nutrimentis animalium, & fructibus, de omnibus obventionibus Ecclesiarum, vel aliarum possessionum, quocunque nomine censeantur; non aliquibus debitis vel expensis aliqua occasione deductis. Habuit etiam ex eisdem Literis au-thoritatem Contradictores excommunicandi, et Ecclesias interdicendi. Unde constitutis procuratoribus suis in Angliis comitatibus regni, omnes illos excommunicabit, qui circa decimas ipsas reddendas, vel taxationem faciendam per se, vel per alium, colludium, pactum iniquum, subtractionem vel fraudem aliquam duxerint faciendam. Et quoniam negotium festinum exigerat auxilium, Prælati omnibus et aliis sub poena excommunicationis indixit, ut vel mutuo, vel alio quocunque modo pecuniam perquisitam sibi traderent indistincte, ut eam Domino Papæ incontinenti transmitterent, eandem postmodum, decimis singulorum rite taxatis, plenarie recepturi. Erat autem idem Papa tot & tantis involutus debitis, ut unde * bellicam quam susceperat, expeditionem sustineret, pe-

EThis ita gestis, misit incontinenti literas suas magister Stephanus ad singulos Episcopos, Abbates, Priores, & cujuscunque professionis viros religiosos regni, sub pœra interdicti & excommunicationis, præcipiens, ut tali die tantam pecuniæ summam sibi transmitterent de moneta ad pondus denarii probata, & nuper fabricata, ut inde creditoribus Domini Papæ satisfacere posset, & ipsi pœnas evaderent Interdicti. Erat enim in hujus rei executione adeo improbus exactor, ut etiam de frugibus Autumnii futuri, qui adhuc in herba crescebant, singulos compelleret decimarum sibi precium exhibere. Prælati vero aliud remedium non habentes, calices, phialas, phylacteria, & alia sacra altaris vasa, quædam vendiderunt, nonnulla in pignus sub scœnore posuerunt. Præterea habuit idem magister Stephanus quosdam secum sceneratores nequissimos, qui se mercatores appellabant, usuram sub nomine negotiationis palliantes, qui egentibus, & exactionibus vexatis obtulerunt pecuniam: & urgente memorato Stephano, sub pœna gravissimâ, coacti multi mutuo cepere, qui postea in laqueos eorum inciderunt, damna irreparabilia incurrentes. Continuis maledictionibus, sed occultis, repleta est terra imprecantibus cunctis, Exactio suis fiat exactoribus nunquam fructuosa. Quod juxta vota populi accidit, quia

Ex eo autem tempore non defuerunt in terra Anglicana quidem transmontani qui se Mercatores nominant, usurarii impiissimi, qui nihil aliud quærunt nisi in laqueis suis, præcipue quos Romana curia angariat, illaqueare. Et sic abrasor pecuniarum magister Stephanus, Domini Papæ Capellanus, Angliæ fœda reliquit vestigia. Solus autem Comes Cestrensis Ranulphus stetit viriliter, nolens terram suam redigere in servitutem, nec permittit de feudo suo viros religiosos vel Clericos Decimas memoratas conferre; quambis Anglia et Wallia, Scotia et Hibernia ad solutionem compellerentur. (A Noble president) Hoc autem multis in hac decimatione solatium præbebat & levamen, quod * regna transmarina & longe posita, non sunt ab hac exactione quæta. Cumque tandem istarum plenitudo divitiarum ad summum Pontificem pervenisset, ipse Johanni de Bresnes, & aliis militibus suis principibus, ita affluenter eas distribuit, quod graviter cessit in damnum Imperatoris, dum municipia ejus & castella in ejus absentia subvertebant.

* This Pope was an universal Fleece and sleyer of all his sheep, instead of a faithfull feeder of them.

But the Emperor making a League for 10. years with the Saracens, and returning unexpectedly from the Holy land, interrupted his proceedings, and soon recovered all his Castles, so that the Pope was enforced by mediation of freinds to stoop to the Emperour and make his peace with him, beyond expectation.

Eodem anno, cum Fredericus Romanorum Imperator Terram sanctam Christianitati restituisset, & treugas decennales a Soldano Damasci impetratas, juramento hinc inde confirmasset, in die inventionis Sanctæ Crucis, naves ascendit, ut transito mari Mediterraneo, reverteretur in terram suam. Sed quoniam audierat, quod a Johanne de Brennes infideli sibi parabantur (by the Popes procurement) in portibus cismarinis, inconsulte timuit applicare, & ne de ejus captione gauderent inimici illius, in tuto loco applicuit, præmissis exploratoribus suis, qui conduxerunt illum ad portum securitatis & salutis. Cum autem prospere in Sicilia applicuisset cum modico comitatu, audivit quod æmuli ejus jam castella multa subjugaverant, & municipia, & quod etiam per terras Imperii liberum haberent discursum, & debaccharentur multi Papæ stipendiarii, affluentia pecuniæ inestimabilis saginati, cum non esset qui eis obviaret. Sed cum tandem ejus divulgaretur adventus, confluebant ad eum homines Imperii naturales, qui per fidelitatem ei fuerunt attriçti. Quibus vallatus, & ex aliis adventantibus confortatus, audacter prorupit in hostes, & terras amissas ac castra cepit paulatim revocare.

Mat. Paris, p. 351. 352. Mss. West. p. 128. 129.

The next year, Tempore quadragesimali, Imperator Romanus contra hostes suos ita invaluit, quod castra sua & jura omnia ad Imperium spectantia, potenter revocavit: quoscunque in castellis suis ex adversariis suis cepit, aut vivos excoxiavit, aut patibulo suspendit. Johannes vero de Brennes, qui hostis ejus erat, & capita-neus post Papam, metuens incidere in manus illius, fugit in Gallias ad natale solum, cum stipendiariis suis quos Dominus Papa rapinis religiosorum ditavit, & prædis a pauperibus captis undecunque honoravit. Et sic mediantibus amicis & viris religiosis, statuta sunt treuga inter Dominum Papam, & ipsum Imperatorem, quouique in aliquam pacis formam convenirent. Afterwards, mense Augusti, Dominus Papa Gregorius, & Romanorum Imperator Fredericus, mediantibus utrorumque fidelibus & amicis, in concordiam convenerunt. Veniens enim Romam dictus Imperator, absolutus est: omnibus ad jura Imperii spectantibus ex integro revocatis. Comederunt ergo simul magnus Sacerdos & maximus Imperator, in palatio summi Pontificis per triduum: gaudentibus Cardinalibus & Potentatibus Imperii, de concordia tam desperata, & tam subito confirmata. Which yet afterwards brake forth into greater flames then before.

The Bishops and Clergy having given and paid so large a Tenth to the Pope, to support his Wars against the Emperour, to deprive him of his Imperial Crown and Rights, King Henry thought it but just, they should contribute towards his own Wars, to recover his own Rights in France; whereupon, Ad exactionem Regis, Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Abbates, & Priores, per Angliam totam Regi eidem pecuniam dederunt non modicam, quasi per eam subtrahita Patri suo jura posset revocare in partibus transmarinis.

The ungratefull, covetous, ambitious Bishops of Ireland, at this time usurping upon the antient Rights of the Crown, by endeavouring to deprive the King of the custody of their Temporalities during their vacancy, and their Tenants of liberty to sue in the Kings Courts, without the Popes assent thereto; the King thereupon writ this Letter to the Pope, and sent command to his Proctors strenuously to maintain his right, against these encroachments.

Domino Papæ salutem: Quociens nova nos perurgent negotia quæ sedis Apostolicæ requirunt amiculum, totiens ad ipsam sub cujus protectione securi consistere debemus, sicut speramus, confugere necesse habemus. Cum igitur in grave præjudicium nostrum et Regiæ dignitatis læsionem qua prædecessores nostri Regis Angliæ usi sunt et gubissi, jam contendant Episcopi de terra nostra Hiberniæ, ea nos libertate privare, qua nos et prædecessores nostri soliti sumus Episcopis Hiberniæ decedentibus, Episcopatum suorum quamdiu vacaverint habere custodiam; Et quod eorum tenentes de cætero de placitis quæ per Literas nostras deduci et terminari solent, a Curia nostra Justitiam non requirant: Et ad hoc impetrandum contra nos specialiter Episcopum Limer. destinaverint, vel destinare proposuerint, ad Curiam Sanctitatis vestræ; supplicamus attentius et devote, quatenus per aliqujus suggestionem aliquid contra nos impetrare volentis nihil statui permittatis aut concedi, quod jura nostra lædat, aut potestate solita in hac parte nos destituat. Taliter preces nostras exaudientes quod contra persequentium nos machinamenta sub alis tuitionis vestræ indempnes consistere gaudeamus. Teste Rege apud Hereff. Vicesimo die Maii.

Et mandatum est, Magistro R. de Cantilupo, H. de Nafford, Abbati de Cliva, & Alex. de Bassingburne, quod hæc contra Regem in Curia volentibus impetrare, viriliter resistent. Ita quod ex hoc eorum fidelitatem & discretionem debeat habere commendatam. Teste ut supra.

The Pope every year more and more encroaching and presuming on the King, not content with the Tenth he had granted him the year before, and the Kings necessities for monies, presumed to importune him by his Letters to bestow an Annual Pension of 40. Marks upon a Citizen of Naples, (most likely a Broker for the Pope in England) pretending it would be for his advantage; which the King denying by reason of his poverty and Wars, excused himself to the Pope in this modest manner, why he could not gratifie him in this request.

How ready the Bishops were to comply with the Pope in his unreasonable Exactions and Tenths, without resistance, you heard before; how obstinate and averse they then were to supply the Kings necessities; and demands of Aydes in Parliament, and to stand upon every Puntilio of their pretended Priviledges, even when the Barons, Laity, and inferiour Clergy supplied him, this passage will inform us.

Anno Domini 1231. vij. Calendas Februarii, convenerunt ad colloquium apud Westmonasterium, Rex cum Prælati, & aliis Magnatibus Regni; ubi exegit idem Rex Scutagium, de quolibet Sento tres Marcas ab omnibus qui Baronias tenebant, tam Laicis, quam Prælati. Cui Richardus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, (though made Archbishop by the Kings extraordinary sollicitation at Rome on his behalf, to his great expence and prejudice) et quidam Episcopi cum eo audacter resistentes dixerunt, Quod non tenentur viri Ecclesiastici iudicio subijci Laicorum, cum absque illis concessum fuisset Scutagium in finibus transmarinis. Tandem vero, post multas hinc inde disceptationes, negotium, quantum ad Prælatos reclamantes pertinebat, usque ad quindecim dies post Pascha dilationem accepit. Omnes alii, tam Laici, quam Clerici, ac Prælati, savebant Regiæ voluntati.

How insolently this ungrateful Arch-prelate demeaned himself towards the King, by endeavouring to deprive him of the Rights of his Crown, in Wardships, in Excommunicating his chief Justice, and all other his Officers that executed his legal commands, and preserved his Royalties in Wards Lands, after a legal satisfactory answer given him by the King, and appealing to Rome against the King, even in a Temporal case of Wardship, to his trouble and vexation, (whither he sent Proctors to defend his Right against this encroachment) and in going personally to Rome without the Kings License, there complaining to the Pope against the King and his chief Justice, of things wherein the Pope had no Jurisdiction, to enthrall the King and all his Officers of Justice to his own and the Popes arbitrary wills; these passages will discover.

custodias Comitum, & Baronum, & eorundem Hæredum, ad suam Coronam, usque ad ætatem legitimam, pertinere: unde sibi licere proposuit, tales custodias cui voluerit vendere vel conferre. Archiepiscopus vero, cum aliud responsum habere non potuit, excommunicavit omnes invasores possessionum prædictarum, et omnes, præter Regem, (it was well he was excepted) qui cum eis communionem haberent. Et tam pro his quam aliis de causis Romam profectus; jus suum & Ecclesiæ suæ prosequi maturavit. Rex vero è contra, ut causam suam prosequeretur, Magistrum Rogerm de Cantelu Romam, cum aliis quibusdam nunciis destinavit.

VEnit hoc tempore ad Curiam Romanam Richardus Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, & in præsentia Domini Papæ proposuit hæc quæ sequuntur. Conquestus est in primis de Rege Anglorum, quod solummodo omnia Regni negotia per consilium Haberti Justiciarii, aliis spectatis Magnatibus, disponebat. Item, de Justiciario proposuit, quod habeat uxorem, cujus consanguineam prius habuerat sibi matrimonio copulatam: et quod jura Ecclesiæ Cantuariensis invaderat, et in iuste detinebat. Proposuit etiam, quod Episcopi quidam ejus Suffraganei, neglecta pastoralis cura, sedebant ad Scaccarium Regis. Laicas causas ventilantes, (and was not the Kings cause of Wardship such, for which he appealed to the Pope?) & judicia sanguinis exercentes. Item, conquestus est, quod Clerici beneficiati, & infra sacros ordines constituti, plures habebant Ecclesias, quibus adnexa fuerat cura animarum: & quod insuper, sicut Episcopi, ab ipsis trahentes exemplum, curis secularibus, & Laicorum se judiciis immiscebant. His autem & consimilibus, coram Papa propositis, petiit, ut talibus limam correctionis excessibus adhiberet. (The later being worthy redresse, were annexed only to countenance the former complaints against the King and Hubert, which else would have seemed harsh.) Cumque hæc omnia Dominus Papa diligenti studio intellexisset, & vidisset, quod universa quæ proposuerat Archiepiscopus, justitia fuerant & ratione subnixæ: jussit incontinenti, quatenus Archiepiscopi negotia, sive petitiones, expedirentur, justitia mediante. Proposuerunt autem in contrarium Clerici Regis, pro ipso Rege et Justiciario multa inaniter allegantes: sed parum vel nihil profecerunt, Quia, ut breviter dicatur, favor Archiepiscopi quicquid petiit, impetravit. (Such was the Popes partiality, that this Prelate in a bad cause, could over-balance his own King in a just one, that concerned his Royalties.) Erat namque statura elegantissima, facundia, admirabilis, scientia, & moribus incomparabilis; & allegavit pro eo, causa justa & favorabilis. (But observe Gods justice on this ungratefull, treacherous, usurping Prelate, when he had accomplished his designs against the King, he was presently taken away by sudden death, before his return to reap the fruits of his conquest.) Archiepiscopus igitur Cantuariensis Richardus, cum expletis negotiis suis omnibus pro voluntate sua, repatriare maturavit, apud S. Gemmam, in domo fratrum minorum, tertia dieta citra Romam, diem clausit obiter supremum, iiij. Nonas Augusti. Et sic ipso expirante, expirabant cum eo negotia impetrata. De quo hoc mirabile accidit, quia cum Pontificalibus, sicut moris est, corpus defuncti sepeliendum insigniretur; de nocte venerunt homines illius Patriæ, qui hæc omnia oculo fascinante inspexerant, aperuerunt de nocte sepulchrum, cupientes ut annulum & alia insignia Episcopalia fruerentur, nulla vi vel ingenio id potuerunt. De quo, non tamen signato, propositum consummare nequiverunt, recesserunt confusi, & pectora sua, in quibus scelerata corda latitabant, percusserunt. It had been well this Archbishop too had repented him of his oppositions against his Sovereigns Prerogative before his death, whose Crown, or chief flower of it (Wardships) he endeavoured to pull off while alive.

The Pope upon the death of this Archbishop (having deprived the King and Monks of their rights in the election of two Archbishops before, by the Kings and their mutual differences) endeavoured now to wrest the power out of both their hands in the election of a third, in whose election they both concurred to prevent his feared Usurpation, as this History will demonstrate.

Defuncto,

Defuncto, ut dictum est, Richardo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo; decreverunt Monachi Cantuarii Radulphum de Nevilla, Cicerostensem Episcopum, sibi in Præ- lem postulare, qui erat Regis Maximus Cancellarius, et incompulsa co- lunna veritatis, singulis sua jura, præcipue pauperibus singulis, iuste reddens; & indulget. In multis Regni perturbationibus stans directe: non arundo quolibet von-to agitata, nec declinans ad dextram vel sinistram. Constantiter igitur petierunt eum Monachi memorati quasi dignissimum & idoneum Ecclesiæ suæ approbatum defensor-rem, potentem verbo & opere, ut feliciter Beato Thoma succederet assimilatus; qui de Cancellario factus est Archiepiscopus. Facta igitur rite electione, præsentaverunt eum Regi viij. Calend. Octobris. Quem Rex gratanter, quantum ad se pertinebat, acceptans, de maneribus et rebus alijs ad Archiepiscopatum adjacentibus, illum protinus investivit: (before his approbation by the Pope, or consecration here.) Et Monachi Romanos profecturi, ad electum suum venientes, petierunt ab illo auxilium ad expensas itineris & servitium Curie Romanæ, & si qua sunt similia. Sed ille sentiens in animo, illud non potius carere scrupulo simoniae ac am-bitionis, plane affirmavit, quod propter hoc eis nec quolibet unum donaret, manus tendens in cælum, & dicens: Domine Deus omnipotens, si votandus sum, licet indignus, ad Archiepiscopatus officium, fiat hoc te disponente. Si autem in hac sollici-tudine Cancellariæ, nec non minoris officii, cui assignor Regno & populo tuus sum necessarius, non recuso laborem, fiat voluntas tua. Monachi vero, viri constantiam potius, quam rebellionem in hoc verbo pensantes, non ideo minus Romanam profecti, electionem sive postulationem factam, petierunt a Papa, ut autoritate sua confirmaret. Dominus itaque Papa, facta, ut dicitur, a Magistro Simone de Lange- tuna diligenti inquisitione de persona postulati, respondit, illum Curialem esse, & illiteratum, rapidum in verbo, ac festinum: & quod durius est, si ad illam dignitatem promoveretur, moliri volentem, ut * apellante ad hoc Rege, cum toto Regno jubante, excuteret Angliam de sub iugo Domini Papæ et Curie Romanæ, qui eidem tenetur sub tributo, ut soluto vinculo tributi, quo irretivit eam Rex Johannes, solita Deo et Ecclesiæ Sanctæ serviret libertate. Et ad hoc vellet usque expositionem capitis decertare, innixus juri et appellationibus Stephani Cantuariensis Archiepiscopi, quas fecit sollemniter idem Stephanus ante Altare Sancti Pauli, in Ecclesia Cathedrali Londinensi, cum redderet Co-ronam Angliæ memoratus Rex Johannes in manus Legati, conficiens scriptum toti mundo execrabile. Papa autem his auditis sermonibus, Radulphi postulationem infirmavit, nullaque indigna causa pronuntiavit irritum. Sic vasa, sic iubeo, stet per ratione voluntas. Monachorum postulatione cassata, concessit Papa, ut Conventus Cantuariensis alium Archiepiscopum, ac talem elige-rent, qui sibi esset pastor animarum salubris, et Ecclesiæ utilis Anglicanæ, et Romanæ fidelis ac devotus. Monachi igitur domum reversi, Conventui retulerunt, quomodo fuerant a suo decedente defraudati. This was a very high Usurpation and affront to the King, to reject this Archbishop duly and unanimously elected by the Monks, and approved by him; only because he was faithful to the King and Kingdom, and likely to prove an Enemy to the Popes usurped Interest; therefore they must elect one faithful and devoted to the Church of Rome, though treacherous to the King and Kingdom.

The Monks hereupon petitioned the King to grant them his License to proceed to a new Election, according to the Popes mandate directed to them: in which Papal mandate the King perceiving some clauses prejudicial to the Rights of his Crown, issued out this memorable Prohibition to the Monks of Canterbury, not to do any thing prejudicial to the Rights of his Crown, nor to elect any person Archbishop without his special License, nor to send any Monks to Rome, by the Popes command, to elect an Archbishop there.

REX, dilectis sibi in Christo Priori & Conventui Ecclesie Christi Cantuariensis, salutem in Domino. Cum ex parte vestra accessissent ad nos quidam Monachi vestri, petentes a nobis licentiam eligendi, ostendentes etiam nobis mandatum Apostolicum vobis directum de electione vestra infra certum tempus celebranda, Nos prædictum mandatum diligenter inspicientes, quædam in ipso contenta perspersimus, per quæ quibusdam casibus contingentibus, nobis et juri nostro possit præjudicium generari. Hinc est quod vobis mandamus districte inhibentes, quatenus occasione prædicti mandati vobis directi, nihil in præjudicium nostrum vel juris nostri attemptare curetis; et præcipue si contingat vos mittere aliquos de vestris ad Curiam Romanam cum potestate eligendi; quod ibi nullam electionem celebrent licentia prius a nobis non petita: cum hoc manifeste in præjudicium, (sit) tum juris et privilegii nostri, quam possessionis nostræ per consuetudinem hucusque approbatæ et optentæ. Appellamus etiam ne quid contra præmissa in nostri præjudicium attemptare curetis. Et ad innovandam appellationem nostram coram vobis Magistrum R. de Cancilupo, latorem præsentium procuratorem nostrum constituimus. Teste meipso apud Lamph. Undecimo die Marcii.

The Monks in pursuance of this Prohibition, by the Kings License, elected John their Prior Archbishop, Conventum Cantuariensis elegerunt J. Priorem suum in Archiepiscopum & Pastorem animarum suarum. Qui cum esset Regi præsentatus, & ab eo receptus, profectus est Romam, ut electionem rite factam, impetraret à sede Apostolica confirmari: whom the King by these his Letters Patents approved, desiring the Pope to confirm him, and likewise made new Proctors in the Court of Rome concerning this Election.

Dominò Papæ salutem. Reversis nuper in Angliam Nunciis Ecclesie Cantuariensis a Curia Romana, negotio pro quo sedem Apostolicam adierunt infecto. Prior et Monachi ejusdem Ecclesie iterato petierunt a nobis licentiam eligendi, optentaque gratanter a nobis licentia, Subprior et Conventus Ecclesie memoratæ, dilectum nobis J. Priorem suum unanimiter in Patrem sibi elegerunt, et Pastorem. Cumque ipsum nobis præsentassent, electioni de eo factæ tanquam de viro probido et honesto, Regium assensum præbuimus et favorem. Idque Sanctitati vestræ durimus significandum, rogantes quatenus favorabiliter, quod vestrum est in hac parte exequi dignemini. In cujus, &c. Teste Rege apud Merleberg. Vicesimo secundo die Martii.

REX, omnibus ad quos præsentēs Literæ pervenerint, salutem. Sciatis nos dilectos & fideles nostros P. Sarracen. & Petrum Grimbald, constituisse procuratores nostros ad impetrandum & contradicendum in Curia Romana, vel eorum alterum si ambo ad hoc interesse non possint. In cujus, &c. dur. usque ad festum Sancti Michaelis. Anno, &c. xvi. Teste meipso apud Westmonasterium, Vicesimo quinto die Aprilis.

The King to promote his affaires the better in the Court of Rome, where they of late miscarried though never so just, granted Annuities to some Cardinals, to obtain that justice from them by such Pensions, which he could not procure without them, whereof take this one president, recorded with the two preceding Patents,

Pat. 16 Hen. 3.

But

But yet all this would not prevail against the Popes particular design to dispose of the Archbishoprick of Canterbury to one of his own creatures, by vacating this second election as well as the first, though unanimously and canonically made by the Monks, and assented to by the King, and the person elected voyd of any just exceptions the Pope could take against him, against whom he yet thus arbitrarily proceeded.

Venit eodem tempore Romam Prior Johannes, electus Canthuariensis, in hebdomada Pentecostes. Et cum Literas suæ electionis Domino Papæ exhibuisset, præcepit Magistro Johanni de Columna, & aliis quibusdam Cardinalibus, ut examinerent illum, si dignus esset ad culmen hujusmodi promoveri. Qui cum examinassent per triduum electum illum, in decem & novem, ut dicitur, articulis diligenter, protestati sunt coram Domino Papa, se causam in ipso legitimæ recusationis non invenisse. Veruntamen visum est Domino Papæ in electo memorato, quod nimis esset senex et simplex, et ad tantam insufficientem dignitatem. Et cum persuassisset ei, ut cederet, electus humiliter factæ electioni renunciavit, et licentiam petiit repatriandi. Tunc Papa, (cujus sola voluntas vim legis habuit) concessa licentia, Monachis ipsis præcepit, ut alium talem eligerent, cui onus suum communicare, et curam posset committere pastozalem.

Hereupon the Monks proceeded to a third Election, Tertio itaque, J. cognomento Blundus, Clericum apud Oxon. in Theologia stulens, ac legens, in Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem electus est. Qui à Rege susceptus, cum Monachis quibusdam Cantuariensibus Romam profectus est, ut electionem suam confirmari in sede Apostolica impetraret. But this third person, though duly elected and approved by the King, sped no better then the other two elected, being cashiered by the Pope, as our Historians thus relate.

Per idem tempus cassatus est Magister Johannes Blundus Cantuariensis electus. Divulgatum quidem erat Roma, quod post electionem suam acceperat ex dono Petri Wintoniensis Episcopi Mille Marcas argenti; præter alias Mille Marcas, quas eidem Johanni crediderat, ut promoveretur: unde constat manifestè quod magis ei nocuit quam profuit familiaritas Episcopi memorati. Scripsit etiam idem Episcopus Imperatori, ut suas partes interponeret, circa promotionem prædicti Johannis versus Papam: unde Pipa perpendens notam Symoniæ & ambitionis, dixit in corde suo illud Ovidianum:

Unde cor Domini Papæ non erat bene cum eo. Præterea confessus fuerat Roma idem Johannes, ut dicitur, quod duo habebat beneficia; quibus cura annexa fuit animarum, contra statuta Concilii generalis; qua præsumptione, quia * carebat dispensatione, creditur reprobatus; licet allegatum fuerit contra, quod ea possederat ante Concilium. (You see the reason of vacating these Elections in the Popes ensuing words,) Sed quoniam jam cassatis tribus Ecclesiæ Canthuariensis electis, præfata fuit diu Ecclesia a pastore viduata, similis facta Sara uxori Tobia, & filiz Raguelis, tot viris viduata; dedit Monachis, qui cum electo cassato venerant, potestatem eligendi Magistrum Edmundum, Ecclesiæ Sarisburyensis Canonicum: (which himself alone had pitched upon, and recommended to them) virum honestæ conversationis, & bene literatum, in Pastorem animarum suarum. Cui etiam Pallium transmisit, ne tanta sedes Metropolitana a Pastore diutius frustraretur. Monachi Canthuarienses vero qui Roma fuerant, nec ipsum Edmundum, instante ne Papa quidem, nec alium quemlibet, nisi de consensu Regis et Conventus sui recipere decreverunt. Papa enim tanquam ex taciturnitate Monachorum, qui aperte contradicere non audebant electo, transmisit Pallium, quo ductus in absentem, peregrinum et ignotum motu haud scimus ex hisce, (writes his successor Matthew Parker) but no doubt some golden or silver spring was the true cause of this extraordinary Papal favour, and collating of him to this

Eodem anno, (1234. 18. H. 3.) in Ecclesia Christi Cantharia consecratus est Edmundus ejusdem Ecclesie electus, a Rogero Londinensi Episcopo, in Archiepiscopum Canthariensem, Dominica qua cantatur, Latare Hierusalem, quæ tunc fuit quarto Nonas Aprilis; præfente Rege, cum xiiij. Episcopis. Et eodem die Misfam cum pallio, quod caute ei de curia Romana Simon de Legro, ejus Ecclesie monachus, detulerat, solemniter celebravit.

This See continued voyd above 3. years after Richards death, by reason of this Popes vacating three successive due elections to it, to make way for Edmund, recommended to it by himself; without the Kings or Monks consent, who by the Popes vacating their 3. former elections without any right ground, but his own Papal pleasure, found it bootlesse to withstand his consecration, after the Pope had nominated him Archbishop and sent him a Pall as an earnest of its fruition, in despite of King or Covent.

Now I return to my Chronological method interrupted by these treble elections, to make them more intelligible and intire.

Anno 1232. The King in a Parliament at Westminster, demanding an Ayde to pay his debts incurred by his Wars: Prælati Regi respondentes, dixerunt; quod Episcopi multi & Abbates, qui vocati erant, non fuerunt præfentes, & sic petierunt inducias, quousque ad diem certum possent omnes pariter convenire. Præfixus est itaque dies, a quindecim diebus post Pascha: ut omnibus congregatis, tunc fieret quod erat de jure faciendum. They being backwards to supply the King, though overcompliant to the Popes exactions.

This Popes, his Legates, and Agents usurpations, by exactions, Provisions, disposing Churches to aliens, and other Innovations, at this time became so intollerably oppressive, tyrannical to all sorts of people in England, that by several Letters of complaint disperfed against them, there was stirred up a general commotion and opposition against them throughout England, thus Recorded by *Mat. Suborta est hac tempestate in Anglia maxima rerum perturbatio, immo ut verum fateamur, indiscreta præsumptio, propter Romanorum Insolentiam Clericorum; quæ tam nobiles Regni, quam ignobiles, ad temerariam compulit ultionem sicut in subscriptis expressum continetur. Tali Episcopo & tali Capitulo, universitas eorum, qui magis volunt mori, quam a Romanis confundi, salutem. Qualiter circa nos, et alias personas Ecclesiasticas Angliæ, hactenus se habuerint Romani et eorum Legati, vestram non dubitamus latere discretionem; beneficia regni suis, secundum quod eis placet, conferendo, in vestrum, et omnium aliorum regni intollerabile præjudicium et gravamen. In vos etiam & coepiscopos vestros aliasque personas Ecclesiasticas, ad quos collatio beneficiorum pertinere dinoscitur, quod magis dignum est pro confusione notari, suspensionis sententias fulminando, ne aliquis de regno beneficia conferatis, donec quinque Romanis nec dum proprio nomine nominatis, imo, nato Rumfridi, et nato talis et talis, in singulis Ecclesiis vestris per totam diocesin sit provisum, unicuique eorum in redditu centum Librarum. Alia etiam gravamina quam plurima tam laicis et magnatibus regni super advocatibus suis, et eorum eleemosynis, ab eis et antecessoribus suis datis in Pauperum regni sustentationem, quam Clericis et aliis viris religiosis regni, super rebus et beneficiis, inferendo. Nec præmissis contenti, ad ultimum a clericis regni beneficia quæ obtinent, ut ea Romanis conferant, non secundum quod decet, sed sicut eis placet, auferre volentes in eis, illam intendunt prophetiam adimplere:

plere: Spoliaverunt Aegyptios, ut ditarent Hebreos, multiplicando Gentem suam, non magnificando læticiam. Sic dolorem dolori nobis et vobis omnibus accumulando, ut melius nobis videatur mori, quam vivere sic oppressi. Unde licet grave sit nobis contra stimulum calcitrare, tamen quia qui nimis emungit, elicit sanguinem, nos severitatem eorum animadvertentes, qui ab initio tanquam advenæ sunt ingressi Romam, nunc autem nos non tantum judicare, sed etiam condemnare intendunt, allegantes onera importabilia, quæ nec in se, nec in suos digito movere volunt. De communi consilio magis eligimus, licet tarde, resistere, quam eorum oppressionibus intolerabilibus amplius subiacere, seu majori subisci servituti. Hinc est quod vobis mandamus, districte inhibentes, quatenus cum nos Ecclesiam, Regem similiter et regnum nitamur a tam gravi iugo servitutis eripere, circa eos qui de Romanis vel eorum Redditibus se intronistunt, nullas partes vestras interponere præsumatis, pro certo scituri, quod si hujus mandati, quod absit, extiteritis transgressores, quæ vestra sunt incendio subiacerunt, et poenam, quam Romani incurrunt, in personis, vel possessionibus vestris indubitanter incurreritis. Valete.

Item religiosi & alii, qui habent Ecclesias Romanorum ad firmam, universitas prædicta salutem. Cum post innumerabiles confusiones et infinita gravamina, quæ Romani, ut scitis, Regno Angliæ insisterunt ad præsens; in præjudicium Regis et Magnatum regni, circa abbocationes Ecclesiarum suarum, et eorum Eleemosynas qui Clericos regni spoliare nituntur beneficiis suis, ut ea Romanis conferant, in maiorem regni, et nostri confusionem, de communi consilio magnum elegimus, licet tarde, resistere, quam eorum oppressionibus intolerabilibus de cætero subiacere, et eos per subtractionem beneficiorum suorum per totum regnum, quod aliis intendebant inferre, sic arduare, ut a regni molestatione desistant. Hinc est quod vobis mandamus, districte injungentes, quatenus de firmis Ecclesiarum, sive de redditibus camerarum quas de Romanis habetis, vel debetis eis, de cætero non respondeatis. Sed dictas firmas et redditus habeatis paratos in crastino Dominicæ, qua cantatur, Lætare Hierusalem, procuratori nostro literatizio a nobis ad hoc dato: Abbates scilicet et Priores, in eorum Monasteriis: alii vero Præbyteri, et Clerici, vel laici, ad proprias Ecclesias tradituri. Pro certo scientes, quod si hoc non feceritis, quæ vestra sunt incendio subiacerunt, et nihilominus periculum, quod Romanis imminet in personis imminet. Valete. His ita gestis, prædicta universitas misit per milites & Ministros literas has, novo quodam sigillo signatas, quo sculpti erant duo gladii, & inter gladios scriptum erat, * Ecce gladii duo hic, in modum citationum ad Ecclesias regni cathedrales: ut si quos invenirent contradictores, iuxta quod provisum fuerat punirent eos.

PER id tempus, 16. Cal. Januarii habitum est apud sanctum Albanum ingens Consistorium Abbatum, Priorum, Archidiaconorum, cum fere tota Nobilitate regni Magistrorum & Clericorum: qui omnes ad hoc convenerunt per Mandatum Domini Papæ, ut celebrarent divortium inter Comitissam Essexiæ, & virum suum; si ratio id diceret. In crastino autem, Consistorio soluto, cum singuli redirent ad propria, Clericus quidam Romanus, nomine Cincius, qui Ecclesiæ sancti Pauli Londinensis erat Canonicus, per prædictam universitatem, (ut creditur) non longe a villa sancti Albani captus est, & abductus a viris armatis, & capitis velatus. Sed Magister Johannes Florentinus Norwicensis Archidiaconus, qui huic consistorio affuit, ab hac captione evasit; & ad urbem Londoniensem fugiens, delituit ibidem multis diebus. Cincius vero post quinque septimanas, crumenis (ut dicitur) evacuat, ad urbem Londoniensem sanus & incolumis est reductus.

ANno Domini 1232. Rex Anglorum Henricus fuit ad Natale apud Wintoniam. Cui Petrus ejusdem urbis Antistes necessaria omnia procuravit, & festiva tam Regi, quam suis exhibuit indumenta, cum donativis. In illis autem diebus natalitiis distraeta sunt horrea de Wingham cujusdam Romani ditissima, per prædictam universitatem, ut creditur, a paucis armatis servantibus & capitibus velatis. Procurator vero illius Ecclesiæ & custos, cum talem violentiam inspexisset, venit ad Vicecomitem regionis, & de violata pace Regis, & injuria Domino suo illata ei patenter ostendit. Ac Vicecomes mittens ad locum ministros suos cum militibus quibusdam vicinis, jussit inquiri, quidnam hoc esset. Venientes quoque ad horrea Milites memorati, invenerunt homines illos armatos & sibi penitus ignotos, qui jam ex maxima parte horrea evacuaverant, & bladum bonis conditionibus & ad commodum totius provinciæ vendiderant; sed & Pauperibus charitative petentibus ex animo conferebant. Milites vero qui advenerant, cum interrogassent eos; unde essent, qui pacem Regis offendere, & talia facere præsumebant? illi continuo milites seorsum vocantes, ostendebant Literas Regis patentes adulterinas & sophisticas, prohibentes ne quis eos præsumeret impedire. At milites hoc audientes, tam ipsi quam alii, qui advenerant, pacifice recesserunt. Sicque infra dies quindecim distractis omnibus, armati illi de loco recesserunt, loculis plene refertis. Tandem cum hæc violentia ad notitiam Rogeri Londonensis Episcopi pervenisset, convocatis Decem Episcopis in Crastino beatæ Scholasticæ Londoniis in Ecclesia beati Pauli, omnes hujus violentiæ authores Anathematis sententiâ percussit; involventes etiam illos, qui in Cincium, Londonensis Ecclesiæ Canonicum, manus injecerant violentas, cum universitate prædicta, & illis omnibus qui fecerunt sigillum & literas superscriptas. So much did these Bishops comply with the Pope out of fear and flattery, to enslave themselves, our Church and Realm, to the Tyranny and Rapines of these Romish Harpyes, whom the people still persecuted and spoiled notwithstanding this excommunication. Eodem Anno distraeta sunt horrea Romanorum per totam fere Angliam a viris quibusdam armatis, et adhuc ignotis, bonis conditionibus, et ad commodum multorum. Et opus, licet temerarium, in solennitate Paschali inchoantes, sine contradictione et libere, quod inceperant compleverunt. Largas eleemosynas advenientibus distribu-ebant egenis, et quandoque nummos inter pauperes seminantes, eos colligere hortabantur. Delituerunt clerici Romani in Abbatis, de injuriis sibi illatis murmurare non audentes: quia elegerunt potius res suas amittere, quam puniri sententiâ capitali. Erant autem hujus temeritatis auctores viri quasi quater viginti, & quandoque minus, qui magistrum habentes Willielmum quendam cognomento Witham (sive Robertum de Thinge, militem & virum generosum, sed sic palliatum) ejus omnia obtemperabant præceptis. Sed cum post modicum tempus hæc quæ facta fuerant, ad summi Pontificis notitiam pervenerunt, indignatus est valde; & misit literas ad Regem Anglorum mordaces nimis, & increpatorias, quod tales in regno suo fieri permisit rapinas viris Ecclesiasticis: non habens respectum ad sacramenta quæ juraverat tempore Coronationis suæ, non solum de pace Ecclesiæ manutenenda, verum etiam de recta Justitiâ tam clericis quam laicis conservanda. Mandabit igitur in eisdem literis Regi, sub pœna excommunicationis et Interdicti firmiter præcipiens; quatenus diligenti facta inquisitione, si quos hujus violentiæ inveniret auctores, tam graviter puniret obnoxios, ut ex pœna illorum cæteris metum incuteret et terrorem. Dedit etiam Petro Wintoniensi Episcopo, & Abbati Sancti Edmundi, per literas in mandatis, ut in Australi parte Angliæ, facta inquisitione diligenti, quoscunque hujus rei invenirent culpabiles, tam diu denunciarent eos excommunicatos, quousque Romam venirent a sede Apostolica absolvendi. Similiter in parte regni Aqu-

Aquilonari, Archiepiscopo Eboracensi, Episcopo Dunelmensi, & Johanni natione Romano & Eboracensi Canonico, idem Papa eadem inquisitione commissa, præcepit, ut illius violentiæ transgressores Romam mitterent absol- vendos, appellatione non obstante. (Such an imperial mandatory power over the King, Bishops and subjects, thus to cite them to Rome, did he then usurp.)

FActa igitur inquisitione de violentia memorata, tam a Rege quam ab Episcopis & exe- cutoribus prædictis, & sacramento mediante cum examinationibus & testibus pro- ductis, inventi sunt multi transgressores, quidam de factò, quidam de consensu: quorum nonnulli Episcopi erant & Clerici Regis, cum quibusdam Archidiaconis, ac Decanis, militibus etiam & laicis multis. Quidam vero Vicecomites, & eorum præpositi & Ministri, pro eodem excessu Rege jubente, capti sunt, et incarcerati, et alii præ timore sibi per fugam consulentes a quærentibus non sunt inventi. Principalis autem Domini Regis justitiarius Hubertus de Burgo, ex hoc arguitur fuisse transgressor, quod prædonibus illis tam literas Regis patentes, quam proprias exhibuerat, ne quis eos de præfata violentia præpediret. Venit præterea ad Regem inter ceteros, Robertus de Hunge, juvenis elegans, & miles strenuus, ex partibus Angliæ Aquilonaribus origi- nem præclaram ducens: Qui aliis consentientibus, fruges Romanorum vendiderat, & Willielmum Wither se nominari fecerat, quinque servientes armatos, & hujus violentia auctores circumduxerat: protestans manifeste, quod in odium Romanorum, & causa justæ ultionis transgressus fuerat, qui per sententiam Romani Pontificis, et fraude manifeste nitebantur eum ab unica, quam habuit Ecclesia, spoliare. Addidit etiam, quod maluit ad tempus injuste excom- municari, quam suo beneficio sine Judicio spoliari. Tunc Rex & executores præfati, militi dederunt consilium, ut quia in canonem lata sententia inciderat, Romam absolvendus properaret: & jus suum coram domino Papa protestaretur, & quod Ecclesiam justè pariter & canonice possidebat. Dedit etiam ei Rex literas ad Papam testimoniales, de jure suo deprecans obnixè, ut militem illius intinui ex- audiret.*

Eodem anno, Rogerus Londinensis Episcopus, accusatus inter alios de consensu super di- strictione frugum Romanorum, saltem de consensu, profectus est ad sedem Aposto- licam, ut suam ibi purgaret innocentiam. Qui post multos labores, & spoliationem obier, & emunctionem loculorum in curia, demum vexatus inaniter remeavit. Nec multo post agro sustinens usurarios Christianos, quos Caucinos appellamus, in civitate sua habitare, & fanora sua variato nomine palliantes exercere, conabatur eos a Diocesi sua propulsare, sed ipsi recalcitrantes Romanæ curiæ fultis patrocinio, ipsi, post multos quibus exagitaverant, labores, silentium imposuerunt.* Such was the Tyranny, Usury of the Pope and his Instruments, and so ineffectual the power either of the King or Bishops to withstand or redresse their intollerable usurpations and exactions.

You heard before out of Matthew Paris, that the King upon the Popes peremp- tory mandate to him, issued forth Writs to inquire after and punish those who sei- sed on the goods, and threshed out the corn of the Romans; I shall present you with two of them out of our Records.

MAndatum est Vicecomiti Hereford, quod sicut seipsum diligit, & in fide qua Regi tenetur, diligenter inquirat per sacramentum Proborum & legalium hominum de Comitatu suo, qui homines se fecerunt de familia Wither, vel cujuslibet alterius, & itinerantes fuerunt per eundem Com. ad triturandum & vendendum blada, & alia bona clericorum Romanorum, & aliorum distrahenda & asportanda; & qui homines de Com. tuo dicta blada manibus suis triturerunt, & eadem blada & alia bona vendiderunt & distraxerunt. Omnes autem eos de Balliva sua quos inquirere poterit, ibidem sic itineratos fuisse, capiat, & in prisona Regis salvo custodiat, donec a Rege aliud habuerit mandatum; & eos qui dicta blada triturerunt, & eadem bona & alia bona vendiderunt & distraxerunt, ponat per vadium, & salvos plegios, quod sint coram Rege quando præceperit, inde responsuri, & Inquisitionem inde factam sub sigillo suo, & sigillis eorum per quos facta fuerit, Regi mittat; & hoc breve. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium octavo die Maii. Eodem modo scribitur omnibus Vice- comitibus Angliæ.*

Matthew Paris informs us, that this Hubert de Burgo, Anno 1232. being cheif Justice of England, the Kings principal faithfull Counsellor, the greatest opposor of the Popes usurpations and extortions, was by the power of the Pope and of Peter Bishop of Winchester, suddenly removed from all his Offices, and impeached of several crimes; some of them amounting to High-Treason, amongst other particulars, most insisted on.

R EX instanter exegit ab eo ratiocinium de Episcopatibus, & custodiis sine War-ranto; quæ pertinent ad Dominum Regem. Item, de injuriis et dampnis illatis, et clericis Romanis et Italicis, et nunciis domini Papæ; contra voluntatem domini Regis, per auctoritatem ipsius Huberti tunc Justiciarii, qui nullum consilium voluit apponere, ut illa corrigerebantur; quod facere tenebatur ratione officij sui, ad Justiciarium pertinentis. Hereupon Hubert, to prevent the rage and danger of his enemies upon those accusations fled to the Church of Merton, and there took sanctuary, whence the King commanded the Major of London by his Letters (the Londoners being his mortal enemies) to pull him forcibly, and bring him to him alive or dead; which the Major and Citizens readily undertaking and marching thither with a great force; the King, by the advice of the Earl of Chester (fearing the ill consequence of such a tumult) suddenly countermanded them thence, to their great discontent. After which Hubert to avoyd apprehension taking sanctuary in a Chappel in Essex, Godfry of Cranecumbe, (whom the King sent to apprehend him with 300. armed men, under pain of death) finding the Chapel doores shut, violently brake them open, apprehended Hubert and carried him thence bound with cords, a prisoner to the Tower of London. Whereupon the Bishop of London, under a pretext of violation of sanctuary, made this bold Encroachment upon the King and his Crown.

M ANE vero facto, cum Rogerus Londinensis Antistes cognovisset, quo ordine Hubertus extractus fuisset de Capella, venit celer ad Regem, increpans eum audacter, quod pacem Sanctæ Ecclesiæ violaverat, dixitque, quod nisi ipsum cum festinatione a vinculis liberatum remitteret ad Capellam, a qua erat violenter ejectus & extractus, ipse omnes hujus violentiæ auctores excommunicationis sententia innodaret. So insolent were the Bishops then grown by the Popes example. Whereupon Rex autem, licet invitus, reatum suum intelligens, remisit Hubertum ad capellam, ubi captus fuerat, a militibus armatis, restituitur ab eisdem, Quinto Calend. Octobris. Quo facto, Rex dedit vicecomitibus Herefordiæ & Essexiæ in mandatis, sub pœna suspendii, quatenus in propriis personis, & cum omnibus hominibus duorum Comitatum, capellam obsidione vallarent, & ne Hubertus evaderet, vel a quoquam cibum acciperet, explorarent. At Vicecomites præfati, sicut eis præceptum fuerat ad locum venientes, Capellam cum domo Episcopi, quæ prope erat obidentes, cinxerunt Capellam & locum per gyrum fossato lato satis & alto, decernentes ibi Quadraginta ginta dierum excubias observare. Et Hubertus hæc omnia æquanimiter ferens, puram habens conscientiam, ut dicebat, causam suam Deo secretorum conscio commendabat; rogans jugiter divinam clementiam, quatenus illum ab instanti periculo liberaret: sicut ipse super omnia honorem Regis semper dilexerat, eatenus & salutem. Et in prædicta Capella die ac nocte precibus incumbere indefessus. Sed Rex, ipsius meritis male respondens; cui tanto servierat studio, quod Regi soli sibi placere sufficiebat, nunc in tali statu constitutus est, quod Rex omnibus generaliter prohibuit; ne quis pro eo rogaret, vel de Huberto in ejus præsentia faceret mentionem.

After this (Anno 1233.) the Bishop of Winchester conspiring Hubert's death, he procured a Souldier to carry him out of the Castle, where he was kept close Prisoner in Chains, into the Church adjoining; the rest of the Garrison Souldiers thereupon running tumultuously to the Church, Invenerunt eum ante Altare Crucem Dominicam manibus bajulantem. Quem atrociter arripientes, & fustibus pariter ac pugnis impie cadentes & pellentes, cum duobus liberatoribus suis illum ad Castellum raptim reducant; & graviore quam prius custodiæ committunt. Sed res gesta cum ad aures Roberti Sarisburiensis Episcopi pervenisset, (He in imitation of the Bishop of London's president) venit celeriter ad Castellum, præcipiens ipsis Ecclesiæ violatoribus, ut Hubertum ad pacem Ecclesiæ quantocius reductum, in illo statu quo illum invenerant, dimitterent absolutum. Sed Castellani tumultuose satis Episcopo respondentes, dixerunt, se malle quod Hubertus suspenderetur, quam ipsi. Et cum illum reducere nolissent, Episcopus de commissa sibi potestate, omnes nominatim excommunicavit qui eum detinebant, et qui in eum manus iniecerant violentas. Tunc Episcopus ille, conjuncto sibi Rogero Londinensi Episcopo, & quibusdam aliis Episcopis, venit ad Regem, super injuria Huberto illata coram eo querelam deprensus; nec prius ab eo recessit, quam Huberti liberationem impetravit: & sic in Ecclesia concedente, sed invito Rege, remissus est decimo quinto Calend. Novembris. Sed Rex iratus, Vicecomiti provincie illius dedit per Literas in mandatis, ut Ecclesiam obsideret, donec Hubertus in ea ex ciborum inedia moreretur. Such was the insolency and usurpation of these Prelates upon the Crown, as thus to rescue a Prisoner impeached of High Treason, even against the Kings will, and to excommunicate all his Officers, who apprehended him by the Kings command; when as Sanctuarie extended not to every Church or Chappel, nor yes to Cases of Treason, and was a most grosse abuse and usurpation upon the Crown.

Supervenerunt autem quidam ministri Regis, ejicientes eum cum suis omnibus de navi: & firmiter ex parte ipsius Regis prohibebant, * ne absque illius licentia de Regno exiret. Applicuit autem tempore quo hæc facta erant ibidem, Rogerus Londinensis Episcopus, a Curia Romana reversus: qui videns injuriam, quæ præfato inferebatur Episcopo, (though Dover was out of his Diocese and Jurisdiction) excommunicavit omnes qui in eum manus iniecerant violentas. Et inde processit ad Regem, invenit eum apud urbem Herefordensem in Wallia cum exercitu copioso. Ubi in præsentia Regis, & quorundam Episcoporum, de violentia Carleolensi Episcopo illata, supradictam excommunicationis sententiam innovavit: (though quite out of his Diocese) non mediocriter Rege murmurante, et ne talem ferret sententiam prohibente: (an intollerable insolent presumption and Usurpation on his Royal Prerogative.) Cum quo etiam omnes qui assuerunt Episcopi, illos excommunicaverunt universos, qui hujus perturbationis occasionem præstabant. Every Bishop being then grown a second Pope, and sending abroad their Thunderbolts of Excommunication against the Kings Officers, for obeying his Regal commands, as prejudicial to their pretended privileges.

Anno 1321.

The Pope this year to enlarge his Jurisdiction over all Monasteries throughout England, and other parts of the world, to gain monies by Appeals to Rome, and make them more submissive to his Exactions, appointed special Visitors over them in all places by his Bulls, expressing in general terms, the viciousness and enormities of Monks and Monasteries in that age, which he held himself obliged both in duty and conscience to redress, though not to reform his own or Agents rapines and excesses.

Hoc quoque Anno, Papa Gregorius constituit visitatores super viros religiosos per orbem generaliter universum Christi nomine insignitum, sub hac forma. Gregorius Episcopus, Venerabilibus fratribus Suffraganeis Ecclesia Cantuariensis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Egressus a facie Dei Sathan, ad fortia manuum mittens, de sua calliditate confusus, vitiorum laqueis irretire molitur electos, in sortem dominicam evocatos: majores ibi parans ille tortuosus insidiator insidias, ubi graviores conspexerit corruptelas. Sane cum frequenter ad nostram audientiam pervenisset, quod Monasteria Cantuariensis provincia in spiritualibus enormiter & temporalibus, per maliciam & incuriam in eis habitantium, sunt collapsa, nos culpas eorum nolentes ulterius sub dissimulatione transire, ne si eas dimiserimus incorrectas, ipsas nostras efficere videamur, Monasteriis illis, qua ad Romanam Ecclesiam nullo noscuntur medio pertinere, in eadem provincia constitutis, Visitatores, Reformatores, & Correctores, tam in capite quam in membris deputavimus speciales. Plenaria sibi potestate concessa, ut visitantes eadem Monasteria vice nostra corrigant, & reforment, qua in ipsis correctionis & reformationis officio noverint indigere, constitutionibus vel correctionibus aliis in provinciali capitulo rite factis, in suo robore nihilominus duraturis. Licet autem nobis in plenitudinem potestatis assumptis, cura cunctorum imminet generalis, quia etiam vos, qui vocati estis in partem sollicitudinis, super grege vobis commisso specialiter decet esse sollicitos & attentos, ne ovis morbida pereat, universitatem vestram monemus & hortamur, in virtute obedientia districte vobis precipiendo mandantes, quatenus singuli vestrum, tam in Civitatibus quam in Diocesis vestris, per vos ipsos, aut per viros religiosos, qui experimento rerum in hujusmodi visitationibus sunt instructi, loca Monachorum, & Canonicorum regularium, nec non secularium Clericorum, vobis subiecta, visitare curetis, tam Auctoritate nostra quam vestra, generaliter universa reformantes & corrigentes, in capite & in membris, omni gratia & timore postpositis, in eisdem qua reformanda noveritis & etiam corrigenda. Salvis his, qua circa religiosos in provinciali capitulo provide sunt statuta, juxta constitutionem Concilii generalis, contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatione postposita, compescendo: Præceptum nostrum taliter impleturi, quod ultionem Deus, in illo tremendo judicio, qui unicuique juxta opera sua reddit, de manibus non requirit sanguinem eorumdem, & nos, ad limam correctionis Apostolica apponere non cogamur. Data Spoleti, quinto Idus Junii, Papatus nostri anno sexto. Aliis autem Ecclesiis & viris religiosis, qui immediate ad Romanam spectabant Ecclesiam, non Episcopos, sed Abbates, ordinis Cisterciensis maxime, & Præmonstratensis, visitatores dedit; viros scilicet indiscretos, & nimis asperos; qui in hac visitatione ita insolenter & immisericorditer processerunt, quod pluribus Monasteriis rationis metas excedentes, compulerunt multos ad remedium appellationis confugere. Qui Romam profecti, post multas pecunie effusiones, & labores, visitatores alios impetrarunt. Et ut tandem breviter dicatur, ista visitatio per orbem universum, ad ordinis potius deformationem, quam reformationem processit; dum omnes, qui in diversis orbis partibus unicam Beati Benedicti sequuti fuerant regulam, per novas constitutiones ita inveniantur * ubique discordes, quod ex omnibus cenobiis, vel aliis virorum religiosorum Ecclesiis, vix duo habeantur in norma vivendi concordēs: Verum Abbas quidam Montis belli, dum in hac visitatione procedere formidaret, consuluit Dominum Papam super dubiis quibusdam articulis: a quo, in forma procedendi, talem meruit habere responsum. Ea quæ pro religionis honestate, & religiosorum salute provide ordinantur, Apostolice sunt munimine roboranda, ut suscipiantur devotius, & diligentius observentur. Cum ergo per dilectum filium Abbatem Montis belli, quidam capitula nobis fuerint præsentata, quæ ad castigandum transgressionem multiplices & excessus, quos in quibusdam cenobiis invenerant, videbantur pro salute ac honestate nostra laudabiliter statuenda. Nos examinari & corrigi fecimus, & præcipimus, ut inviolabiliter observetis, quæ sigillis venerabilium fratrum nostrorum Hostiensis & Tuscanensis muniri fecimus ad cautelam. Et adhuc volumus, & præcipimus Auctoritate Apostolica, ut visitatores ad generale capitulum, convocent Abbates & Priores non habentes, Abbates proprios, tam exemptos, quam non exemptos, qui non consueverunt capitulum celebrare, præsidentes in ipso capitulo generali, Canonico impedimento ablato. Eos igitur qui contempserint, vel neglexerint convenire, cessante cujuslibet appellationis obstaculo, per censuram Ecclesiasticam venire compellant, & usque ad satisfactionem condignam, quam in eos tulerint rite, non relaxent. Eadem censura facturi, quæ in eodem capitulo deliberatione provida fuerint ordinata, firmiter observari, reddituri tam ipsi, quam visitatores, & alii quilibet, ministerii Domino, in cujus conspectu nuda sunt omnia & aperta, in extremo examine, rationem. Sed & omnem sollicitudinem & diligentiam, circa correctionem & reformationem ordinis ad visitationem cœnobiolorum studeant adhibere. Porro cum visitatores, secundum statuta generalis Concilii, in generali Abbatum capitulo processerint ad visitationis officium exequendum, de statu Monasteriorum & observandis regularibus observantiis, diligenter inquirant, & tam in spiritualibus, quam in temporalibus, corrigant & reforment quæ viderint corrigenda: ita quod Monachos delinquentes, per Abbates loci corrigi faciant, eisque injungi penitentiam salutarem, juxta Beati Benedicti regulam, & Apostolica instituta, & non secundum normam pravæ consuetudinis, quæ jam pro lege quibusdam Ecclesiis inolevit. Ipsi autem visitatores, Monachos quos contumaces invenerint & rebelles, juxta modum culpæ, vice nostra, regulari censura compellant absque personarum delectu, non parcendo rebellibus ob suam pertinaciam, vel potentiam amicorum: quin ovem morbidam ejiciant ab ovili, ne inficiat oves sanas. Si vero Abbates in corrigendis, juxta visitorum mandatum & regularia instituta, seipsis, suisve Monachis, inventi fuerint negligentes, proclamantur, corripiantur, & ita puniantur publice in capitulo generali, quod pœna eorum sit aliis in exemplum. Prout si Abbas aliquis non exemptus, fuerit a visitoribus nimis negligens & remissus inventus, id loci Diocesano denunciet sine mora, & per illum detur ei fides & prudens coadjutor, usque ad capitulum generale. Quod si dilapidator inventus fuerit, aut alias merito amovendus, per Diocesanum, postquam sibi a visitoribus fuerit denunciatum, amoveatur absque judiciorum strepitu a regimine Abbatæ & a Monasterio: provideatur interim administrator idoneus, qui temporalium curam gerat, donec ipsi Monasterio fuerit de Abbate provisum. Quod si forsan Episcopus hoc implere noluerit, vel neglexerit: visitatores, vel præsidentes in capitulo generali, defectum Episcopi ad sedem Apostolicam non differant intimare. Hæc eadem circa exemptos Abbates fieri præcipimus, depositione tantum ipsorum sedi Apostolicæ reservata. Ita tamen, ut Abbate, qui videbitur amovendus, interim per visitatores vel in capitulo præsidentes, ab administratione suspensio; administrator idoneus Monasterio deputetur. Illorum autem excessus, & alia quæ visa fuerint intimanda capitulis, præsidentes nobis denunciant per fideles nuntios & prudentes; quibus de communi Abbatum contributione, juxta cujuslibet facultatem, sufficientes ministrentur expensæ. Sequentes autem visitatores, Priorum perquirant vestigia diligenter visitorum; & eorum negligentias & excessus referant sequenti capitulo generali, ut juxta culpam, debitam pœnam portent. Et hæc de visitatione sunt manifestata.

Item, scripsit Dominus Papa super eadem visitatione facienda in Ecclesiis exemptis, in Provincia Cantuariensi sitis, in hæc verba. Gregorius Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilectis filiis de Boxle, Cisterciensis, & de Bekeham, Præmonstratensis ordinis, Abbatibus Roffensis & Cicestrensis Diocesis, & Præcentori Ecclesie Christi Cantuariensis, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Ille callidus supplantator, calumniator iniquus, qui non miratur quod flumen absorbet, nisi & ut Jordanis influat in os ejus, escas concupiscens electas, illis jactis pediculis in jacturam, qui stare probabiliter videbantur: eosque variis incurfibus non desinit attemptare, qui, ut ejus effugerent laqueos, se in claustralibus Castris receptarunt. Quare nos, & istius obviare malitia, & horum, prout interest nostra, saluti consulere cupientes, libenter remedia quæ possumus, procuramus, ut prada de illius faucibus auferatur. Intelligimus siquidem, quod nonnulla Monasteria exempta Cantuariensis Diocesis, in spiritualibus deformata, & in temporalibus sint graviter diminuta: Dum Monachi & Moniales eorum, Diabolica suggestionem seducti, immemores patris Domini Dei sui, quo non solum sua, sed seipsos professione ordinis abnegarunt; nec Ananiam & Saphiram mortis sententiam formidantes, non sine furti nota & noxa, Monasteriorum bona improprie sibi appropriant & retinent, venantur non vimaliter lucra pecuniaria mercimoniis & usuris, sed & disciplina Monastica ordinis profligati personæ patent contempti, & religio blasphematur. Ne igitur talium culpas nostras efficere videamur, deamur, dum eas reliquerim: & incorrectas, visitationem, correctionem, & reformationem Monasteriorum ipsorum, tam in capite quam in membris, vobis, de quorum fide ac discretione indubitata fiduciam obtinemus, super his & aliis committimus confidenter; concessa vobis super prædictis, appellatione remota, plenaria potestate, ac statutis in principali capitulo rite factis, in suo robore nihilominus duraturis. Quocirca discretionem vestram rogamus, & exhortamur attente, per Apostolica vobis scripta, in virtute obedientie districte præcipiendo mandantes, quatenus præmissa juxta speciem nostram taliter exequi studeatis, quod Deo gratum, & nobis posset esse acceptum. Contradictores, si qui fuerint, per censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatione postposita, compescatis: alioquin in extremo examine de manibus vestris requirat eorum sanguinem Dominus ultionum. Quod si non omnes his exequendis poteritis interesse, duo vestrum nihilominus ea exequantur. Data, &c.

Mandati igitur hujus executores vehementius, & secus quam deceret, se primo in Abbatiam Sancti Augustini Cantuariensis ingerentes, seque supra se incompolite effe-rentes, præcipue Abbas de Boxle, adeo Monachos perterruerunt, quod ad remedium appellationis coram præsentia Domini Papæ necessario confugerunt: & Romam profecti, consumpto labore & effusa pecunia, alios visitatores impetrarunt. Similiter & illi de Westmonasterio, & illi de Sancto Edmundo, quorum Abbas piæ memoriæ Richardus, cognomento de Insula, genere clarus, sed moribus clarior, dum ut parceret expensis, in partibus commorans transmarinis, viam ingressus est carnis universæ. Abbas vero Sancti Albani & Conventus, privilegiorum eminentiis, quibus insignita est Ecclesia Beati Albani Anglorum proto-Martyris, innitentes; inducias semel & iterum petierunt. So as all this Visitation and intended Reformation ended in Appeals to Rome, to fill the Popes and his Officers purses.

King Henry not only to demonstrate his Charity, but Piety and Supremacy in causes Ecclesiastical, erected a special Church, House, and forme of Government for the Jews, converted to the Christian Religion.

Anno 1237.
Mat. Paris, Hist.
Angl. p. 379.

Circa idem tempus, Rex Angliæ Henricus, quandam decentem Ecclesiam & Congregationem Conventuali sufficientem, cum quibusdam ædificiis adjacentibus, propriis sumptibus fabricavit; in loco ubi domum Conversorum, pro redemptione animæ suæ & Regis Johannis Patris sui, & omnium antecessorum suorum, constituit; anno Regni sui decimo septimo, videlicet Londoniis, haud procul a veteri Templo. Ad quam domum confugientes Judæi conversi, relicta Judaismi cæcitate, sub quadam honesta vivendi regula, certum haberent in tota vita sua domicilium, tutum refugium, et sufficiens vitæ sustentamentum, sine servili labore et scenoris emolumento. Unde factum est, quod in brevi Congregatus est ibidem Conversorum numerus copiosus, & ibidem baptizati & Christianorum lege instructi, vivunt laudabiliter, perito rectore ad hoc specialiter deputato gubernati. Similiter Spiritu-Sancto tactus, & pietatis intuitu compunctus Rex Angliæ Henricus, quoddam nobile Hospitale Oxoniis constituit, non procul a ponte; ut ibidem infirmi & peregrini suæ remedium reciperent sanitatis & necessitatis.

As the King erected this House and Church for the converted Jews, so by his Royal Prerogative, upon a complaint the very next year, he resolved, that the Wife of a converted Jew, who refused to turn Christian with her Husband in his life time, should have no Dower of his House or Lands after his death, as this memorable Record informs us.

Ostenfum est Regi ex parte Isaac de Cantuar. Judæi, quod cum emerit de Abbate Sancti Augustini Cantuar. quandam domum in Cantuaria quæ fuit Augustini, conversi, & quam idem Augustinus postquam se converterat, dederat prædictæ domui Sancti Augustini, Chera Judæa, quæ fuit uxor prædicti Augustini, petit versus prædictum Isaac dotem suam, de domo prædicta: Quia vero contra Justitiam est, quod ipsa Chera dotem petat vel habeat de teneamento, quod fuit ipsius viri sui, ex quo in conversione sua noluit ei adhærere et cum eo converti. Mandatum est Justic. ad custodiam, &c. quod si ita est, de cætero placitum inde non teneant. Teste Rege apud Cantuar. Quinto die Aprilis.

This

This year the King received Letters from the Pope concerning Hugh de Burgo, Anno 1233. the great oppofer of his Usurpations, ( then in disgrace ) as this Record informs us.

REX, Margarita Uxori H. de Burgo, salutem. Mittimus ad vos Robertum de Brixes, Vicecomitem Norff. & Suff. ad loquendum vobiscum super quibusdam Literis impetratis in Curia Romana, pro prædicto Domino vestro & vobis, cui fidem habeatis, in hiis quæ vobis dicet, ex parte nostra, de negotio prædicto. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, septimo die Februarii. Clauſ. 17 H. 3
m. 13. dorſo.

The Bishops meeting together at Gloucester Anno 1234. the King being jealous that they intended to consult of some things prejudicial to his Crown, State, and Dignity, ( as they had frequently practised in former times ) sent this memorable Writ of Prohibition to them, not to treat of any thing of this nature, under pain of seising their Baronies. Anno 1234.

Mandatum est omnibus Episcopis qui Conventuri sunt apud Glouc. die Sabbathi in crastino Sanctæ Katharine, firmiter inhibendo, quod sicut Baronias suas quas de Rege tenent, diligunt, nullo modo præsumant tenere de aliquibus quæ ad Coronam Regis pertinent, vel quæ personam Regis, vel statum suum, vel statum consilii sui contingunt. Scituri pro certo quod si fecerint, Rex inde se capiet ad Baronias suas: Teste Rege apud Hereford. Vicesimo tertio die Novembris. Par. 18 Hen. 3.
m. 17.

After this the King and Bishops meeting at a Conference at Westminster, the King charged some of the Bishops with a design and endeavour to deprive him of his Crown, which they denyed; whereupon one of them in a great rage, though out of his Diocese, excommunicated all those who raised such a report of them; which done, admonishing him to put away his evil Counsellors, and reform some other particulars, they threatned to excommunicate the King himself, and all contradictors of their proposals, unlesse they speedily submitted to them; as Matthew Paris thus stories.

REX Anglorum venit ad Colloquium apud Westmonasterium in Purificatione Beatæ Mariæ, in quo quosdam Episcopos et maxime Alexandrum Cestrensem Episcopum graviter increpavit, de nimia familiaritate Comitissæ Mareschalli, et quod ipsum a Regni solio depellere nitentur. Episcopus autem ille, prænominatus, Pontificalibus indutus, cum talia sibi objecta cognovisset, necnon quosdam qui Regi suggererunt exasperando, Episcopos foventes partes Mareschalli velle alium Regem creare, commotus est vehementer, maxime adversus Rogero de Camelu, legistam, arguens eum sceleris paterni, dicens, quod Patris sui proditoris & suspensi pro eadem prodicione, sequens vestigia patrislavit. Excommunicabit igitur incontinenti omnes, qui contra Regem iniquitatem hujusmodi sceleris cogitabant, vel super Episcopos, qui omnino de salute et honore Regis sollicitabantur, malitiose talia imponebant. Et sic manifestata Episcoporum ac probata innocentia, confusis discordiæ seminatoribus, siluit legista prænominatus, ab anathemate, ut videbatur, non immunis. Sic igitur intervenientibus Episcopis qui aderant, pacificatus est Alexander Cestrensis Episcopus, & quievit spiritus illius, nimis ante amaricatus. Affuit quidem huic Colloquio Magister Edmundus Cantuariensis electus, cum multis Episcopis Suffraganeis, qui omnes Regis & Regni desolationi condolentes, venerunt ad Regem, & quasi uno corde, animo, & ore, dixerunt. Domine Rex, dicimus vobis in Domino, ut fideles vestri, quod consilium quod nunc habetis, & quo utimini, non est sanum nec securum, sed crudele & periculosum vobis & Regno Angliæ; Petri videlicet Wintoniensis Episcopi, ( a meer fire-brand, and bloody Tyrant ) & Petri de Rivallis, & complicitum suorum. In primis, quia gentem Anglicanam odio habent & contemnunt, vocantes eos proditores, & facientes omnes sic vocari, & avertentes animum vestrum ab amore gentis vestræ, & corda nostra & gentis vestræ a vobis, quod apparet in Mareschallo, qui melior homo est terræ vestræ, quem per mendacia interseminata a vobis elongantes perverterunt. Et per hoc idem concilium, scilicet per dictum Episcopum, Mat. Paris Hist.

amisit Pater vester Rex Johannes primo corda gentis suæ, deinde Normanniam, post, alias terras, & in fine totum Thesaurum exhaustit, & fere dominium Angliæ, & nunquam postea pacem habuit. Per idem consilium temporibus nostris turbatum fuit Regnum, & venit Interdictum; et denique factum est Regnum tributatum, et Princeps Provinciarum facta est (probo dolor) ignobilibus sub tributo. Et intra guerra & diu protelata, mortuus est Pater vester quasi extorris, nec in pace Regni vel animi, & sic mortem per eos admodum incurrit periculofam. Per idem consilium contra vos detentum fuit Castellum de Bedesford, ubi multum Thesaurum & strenuos homines perdidisti: ob quam causam, interim Rupellam in ignominiam totius Regni tui amisisti. Item, perturbatio nunc imminens, toti Regno periculosa, per eorum iniquum consilium accidit: quia si per justiciam & rectum judicium terræ tractati fuissent homines vestri, non evenisset ista perturbatio, & haberetis terras vestras non deductas, & Thesaurum inexhaustum. Item, in fide dicimus, quæ vobis astringimur obligati, quod Concilium vestrum non est pacis, sed perturbationis terræ, quia sic crescere volunt, qui per pacem non possunt, scilicet per Regni perturbationem, & aliorum exhæredationem. Item, quia Castella vestra & fortitudinem vestram habent in manu sua, quasi de gente vestra diffidere debeatis. Item, quia Scaccarium vestrum & omnes custodias & exhaetas maximas habent in potestate sua, placet talis expectatio, & quomodo vobis respondebunt in fine, ut credimus, comprobatis. Item, quia nisi per sigillum vestrum, vel præceptum sine sigillo Petri de Rivallis, vix aliquod magnum negotium fit in Regno, quali vos pro Rege non haberent. Item, per idem Concilium naturales homines de Regno vestro, de Curia vestra expulsi sunt, unde timendum est tam de vobis quam de Regno, cum videamini magis esse in eorum potestate, quam ipsi in vestra, sicut per plurima constat exempla. Item, quia puellam de Britannia & sororem vestram habent sub potestate sua, & alias plures puellas nobiles, & alias mulieres nobiles, cum Wardis & maritagiis, quas dant suis, & disparagant. Item, quia legem terræ juratam et confirmatam, atque per excommunicationem roboratam, pariter et justiciam confundunt et pervertunt, unde timendum est, ne sint excommunicati, et vos, eis communicando. Item, quia non observant alicui promissionem, fidem, vel juramentum, vel scripturæ munimentum; nec timent excommunicationem. Unde qui a veritate recesserunt, sunt desperati, ut qui in timore remanent, diffidentes. Hæc autem fideliter vobis dicimus, & coram Deo & hominibus consulimus, rogamus, & monemus, ut tale consilium amoveatis a vobis, & sicut est in aliis Regnis consuetudo, Regnum vestrum tractetis per fideles homines vestros, & juratos de Regno vestro. Denunciamus enim vobis in veritate, quod nisi infra breve tempus ista correxeritis, IN VOS, et in omnes alios contraditores per censuram Ecclesiasticam procedemus, nihil nisi consecrationem Generabilis Patris nostri electi Cantuariensis, expectantes: (An insolent Papal speech to, and Usurpation over the King himself.) Et his ita dictis, Rex humiliter breves possidebit inducias, dicens se non posse ita subito consilium suum amovere, donec de Thesauro suo illis commisso ratiocinium audisset. Et sic solum est Colloquium, recedentibus cunctis cum fiducia concordie, celeriter obtinendæ.

Mat. Paris Hist.
Angl. p. 383.

Not long after, the Archbishop elect of Canterbury being consecrated; Convenerunt ad Colloquium dominica prima in Passione Domini, quæ tunc fuit quinto Idus Aprilis, apud Westmonasterium, Rex, cum Comitibus & Baronibus, & Archiepiscopus nuper consecratus, cum suis Suffraganeis, ut Regno perturbato salubriter providerent. Archiepiscopus quidem conjunctis sibi Episcopis, ac cæteris qui aderant Prælati, ad Regem veniens, ostendit ei consilium suum & Episcoporum, super desolatione Regni & periculo imminente, replicando suprascripta incommoda, in Colloquio superius habito sibi expressa. Denunciavit etiam ipsi eripisse, quod nisi celerius errorem dimitteret, et cum fidelibus Regni sui pacifice componeret, ipse incontinenti cum omnibus qui aderant Prælati, in ipsum Regem sententiam ferret excommunicationis, (An undutifull menace to his Sovereign Lord, to his own face in Parliament,) et in omnes alios hujus pacis contraditores et concordie pervertores. Rex autem pius, audiens consilium Prælatorum, humiliter respondit, quod quod consiliis eorum in omnibus obtemperaret. Unde post dies paucos, intelligens proprium errorem, penitentia ductus, præcepit Petro Wintoniensi Episcopo, ut pergens ad Episcopatum suum, curis intenderet animarum; & de cætero Regiis negotiis nequaquam interasset. Petro etiam de Rivallis immutabiliter iussit, cujus Anglia tota dispositionibus subjacebat, ut redditis sibi Castellis suis, & ratiocinium de Theauris incontinenti redderet, & a Curia recederet; affirmans eum juramento, quod nisi beneficiatus & in sortem Clericorum fuisset admissus, ipse ei ambos oculos eruere faceret. Pistolenses insuper omnes, tam de Curia sua, quam de Castrorum prædiis expellens, remisit in Patriam suam, præcipiens ut ultra faciem ejus non viderent. Ac deinde Rex, qui modis omnibus pacem sitiebat, misit Edmundum Archiepiscopum Cantuariensem, cum Episcopis Cestrensi & Roffensi, in Walliam, ad Leolinum & Richardum Comitem Mariscallum, ut cum eis de pace tractarent. Et sic Rex, dimissis iniquis consiliariis suis, revocavit ad obsequium suum naturales homines de Regno suo, subiciens se consilio Archiepiscopi & Episcoporum, per quos sperabat Regnum perturbatum, ad statum prosperum revocare. Which the Bishop of Winton had principally disturbed.

In this Parliamentary Assembly (as I conceive) it was enacted, That no Assize of Daraine Presentment should be thenceforth taken of a Prebendary, as this Writ informes us.

REX Justiciariis Itinerantibus in Comitatu Line. salutem. Sciatis, quod coram Venerabili Patre Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, et coram majori parte Episcoporum, Comitum, et Baronum totius Regni nostri Angliæ, et coram multis aliis consideratum est, quod nulla Assisa de Ultima Præsentatione unquam de cætero capiatur de aliqua Præbenda pertinetente ad Ecclesiam Cathedralē. Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod si aliqua talis Assisa de cætero coram vobis Arrangata fuerit, illum non capiatis. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, Duodecimo die Octobris. As the King by his Ecclesiastical Prerogative and Laws determined those to be Bastards, who were born before Wedlock, against the * Popes and Bishops Canons, who held them legitimate and inheritable, so he by the same Prerogative, commanded all common Whores, and Concubines of Priests (then much in use by reason of their vow of chastity and single life, which made them and Schollars most unchaste) to be imprisoned, and banished out of the University of Oxford, by his Temporal Officers, unlesse they had Lands therein, and by Oath and other security gave good assurance for their chaste and honest demeanour for the future, and not to resort to Clerks lodgings, as appears by this memorable Writ.

Eodem modo scribitur W. Exon, Episcopo.

The Mandate of this Pope specified in these two Records, I conceive was grounded upon his universal command to all Christian Kings and States, to forbear all Wars upon this occasion.

This insatiable turbulent Pope, to extort monies under a pretext of Charity and piety to rescue the Holy Land, even whiles there was a Truce with the Sarazens, to exhaust all others purses to fill his own, and raise forces to suppress the Citizens of Rome, with whom he had then great contests about their priviledges, issued out such an Antichristian Imperious Bull into England and other Countries, as trampled the Rights, Crowns, Liberties of all Christian Kings, Kingdoms, Cities, Clergymen, and Christians too, under his Papal feet; and gave every Monk imployed in this design authority, for money, to dispense with Oathes and Vows, made by his own Papal command, exhortation, and menaces: witnesse this relation.

Dum talia mundialis rota volvendo perturbaret in partibus vicinis, in Regnis Orientalibus sicut & in Occidentalibus consimilis, imo molestior inter Christianos misera fuit perturbatio. Dominus enim Papa occasionem sumens a prædicta Imperatoris persecutione, argumentosas extorsiones præcipue in Angliâ excogitans et multiplicans, Legatos sub specie simplicium nuntiorum, potestatem tamen habentes Legatorum, undique destinavit, qui multifariam eregerunt pecuniam: nunc prædicando, nunc supplicando, nunc præcipiendo, nunc comminando, nunc excommunicando, nunc procuraciones exigendo; per Regnum Angliæ infinitos extorres reddiderunt et mendicantes. Et ut efficacius thesauros omnium emungerent, et pecuniam quasi ad succursum Terræ Sanctæ undique colligerent (cujus tamen pecuniæ voluit suos, quos ad hoc ordinaret, esse collectores et dispensatores, nec tamen inde unquam sensit Ecclesia promotionem) scripsit Dominus Papa omnibus Christi fidelibus in hæc verba elegantissima, quæ corda hominum lapidea viderentur penetrare, nisi facta humilitati ac justitiæ luce clarius adversantia sequerentur.

GREGORIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Universis Domini nostri Jesu Christi fidelibus per Regnum Angliæ constitutis, ad quos literæ istæ pervenerint, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Rachel suam videns in veræ fidei cognitione principium accrescentium in salutem, & filiorum dexteræ pia mater sancta Romana Ecclesia, cujus magna est quasi mare de suæ prolis internectione contritio, vocem lamentationis, fletus & luctus emisit hactenus, & emittit, quam audiri cupimus in excelsis, ut per diem & noctem fidelium oculi dolores lachrymarum deducientes non taceant, & donec misereatur Dominus non quiescant. Lamentatur autem, quia domus cœlestis panis, mons Syon, unde lex exiit, civitas Regis magni, de qua dicta & scripta multa gloriosa, terra quam Dei filius fuso pro nobis suo sanguine consecravit, Regni robur perdidit & fortitudinem. Flet, quia quondam libera sub impio tyrannidis jugo cogitur ancillari. Luger, quia ubi pacem multitudo cœlestis militiæ cecinit, ibi pressuræ gentis immundissimæ scandalorum spurciæ, abominabiles simultates & schismata suscitavit, ac innovans exordia præliorum misit ad desiderabilia manum suam, & sacrorum ordinum pias leges, & ipsius Naturæ jura relegans a Templo Domini, diversis ibidem spurciis detestabilibus, & ignominiosis vitiis introductis, turpiter in suo stercore computrescit. Et ideo Hierusalem in suis derisa Sabbathis, oborbuit, quasi polluta menstruis suos inter inimicos. Nam licet dudum charissimo in Christo filio nostro Frederico Romanorum Imperatori semper Augusto, Hierusalem & Sicilia Regi illustri, civitas eadem præter Templum Domini, fuerit restituta: tamen quia Deus omnipotens tunc magnificentius agere cum populo suo Christiano non adjecit, Imperator prædictus treugas iniit cum Soldano: quarum terminus adeo est vicinus, quod tempus medium præparationi vix sufficere creditur nisi ad quæque necessaria per promptitudinem, spem & fervorem fidei

fidei festinetur. Ad ejus ergo succursum, nullum tædeat peregrinari, & pro patria certare cum spe victoriæ, pro corona mori, pro illo sustinere dura & tristia, qui confusione concepta, spūto conspersus, cæsus alapis, flagellis afflictus, coronatus spinis, coram Pilato filii tanquam multorum criminum reus, pertulit Crucifixus ad ultimum, & potatus felle, lancea perforatus, emittens cum clamore valido spiritum, pro conditionis humanæ viribus reparandis, cursum præsentis vitæ saturatus injuriis consummavit. Hic est, ut repetamus altius, qui de paterno folio gloriæ, cœlis mirabiliter inclinatis, ad nostræ mortalitatis ima descendens, non dedignatus est Deus & homo, creator fieri creatura, suscipere dominus formam servi: ut qui non poteramus per nostram justitiam sperare veniam, consecuti per hæc gratiam inauditam, hæredes Dei, cohæredes vero Christi, divinitatis confortium, felicitatis æternæ participium sortiremur. Et licet per gratiam adoptati, quotidie causas ingratitude cumulemus, ipse tamen abundat in divitiis bonitatis dum propter diversitatem voluntatum, virium facultatem delinquentibus, diversa pro tempore satisfaciendi genera contulit, varia medendi languentibus remedia suscitavit, dum terram, in qua nasci, mori, & resurgere voluit, tam diu ad exercitationem fidelium ab infidelibus detineri permittit, cum non sit abbreviata manus Domini, nec virtus ejus in aliquo diminuta, quin eam, sicut fecit cuncta de nihilo, liberare valeat in momento. Sed illas compassionis & dilectionis gratias exquirat ab homine, quibus ad omnis consummationis finem legisque plenitudinem ostendendam, ipse prior homini perduto & damnato voluit miseratus adesse: qui nullatenus permisisset manus impias contra pios usque adeo roborari, nisi & suam vindicari de nostrâ confusione providisset injuriam, & servari nostram de sua victoria disciplinam. Sub hac occasione delicati plurimi satisfacere pro modo criminum non valentes, nec volentes, velut in profundo malorum penitus desperassent, nisi occurrisset eis hæc tabula: ut per hoc compendium suis positis pro Christo animabus consummati, breviter multorum temporum spacia complevisset. Multi etiam invenire locum ubi steterunt pedes Domini cupientes, prius ad bravium sine cursu, vel potius ad coronam sine gladio pervenerunt; illo suum remunerante militem, qui solam considerat in oblatione voluntatem. Ut autem propter præmissa fideles efficaciter & potenter expergiscantur; Nos de omnipotentis Dei misericordia, & beatorum Petri & Pauli Apostolorum autoritate confisi, ex illa quam nobis Deus, licet indignis, ligandi atque solvendi, contulit potestatem, omnibus qui laborem istum in propriis personis subierint & in expensis, plenam suorum peccaminum, de quibus * veraciter fuerint corde contriti, & ore confessi, veniam indulgemus: & in retributione justorum salutis æternæ pollcemur augmentum. Eis autem qui non in personis propriis illuc accesserint, sed in suis duntaxat expensis, juxta facultatem & quantitatem suam vires idoneos destinaverint: & illis similiter, qui licet in alienis expensis, in propriis tamen personis accesserint; plenam suorum concedimus veniam peccatorum. Hujus quoque remissionis volumus et concedimus esse participes, juxta quantitatem subsidij et devotionis affectum; omnes qui ad subventionem ipsius Terræ de bonis suis congrue ministrabunt. Personas quoque ipsorum et bona, ex quo crucem susceperunt, sub beati Petri et nostræ protectione suscipimus. Nec non & eadem sub Archiepiscoporum, Episcoporum & omnium Prælatorum Ecclesiæ Dei defensione consistent. Statuentes, ut donec de ipsorum obitu vel reditu certissime cognoscatur, integra maneant, & secura consistent. Porro, Ecclesiarum Prælati, qui in exhibenda justitia cruce signatis, & eorum familiis negligentes extiterint, sciunt se graviter puniendos. Quod si quisquam contraire præsumperit, per Ecclesiarum Prælatos, appellatione postposita, censura Ecclesiastica compellatur. Si qui vero proficiscentium illuc ad præstandas usuras juramento tenentur attriti, creditores eorum per Ecclesiarum Prælatos, ut remittant eis præstitum juramentum, & ab usurarum exactione desistant, eadem præcipimus districtione compelli. Quod si quisquam creditorum eos ad solutionem coegerit usurarum, eum ad restitutionem earum simili cogi animadversione mandamus. Judeos vero ad remittendos ipsi usuras, per sæcularem compelli præcipimus potestatem. Et donec illis remiserint, ab universis Christi fidelibus, tam in mercimoniis quam aliis, per excommunicationis sententiam eis omnino communio denegetur. His vero, qui Judeis debita solvere nequeunt in præsentem, sic Principes sæculares utili dilatione provi-

Et qui adquiescere forte contempserit, per excommunicationem in personas, et interdiciunt in terras arctissime compellatur: nisi tanta fuerit injuriarum malitia, quod non debeant pace gaudere. Quod si forte censuram Ecclesiasticam velipenderint, poterunt non immerito formidare, ne per auctoritatem Ecclesie, contra eos tanquam perturbatores negotii crucifixi, secularis potentia inducatur. Accingantur igitur omnes filii adoptionis divinæ ad obsequium Jesu Christi, dissensiones & lites in pacis & delectationis fœdera commutantes: credendo firmiter, quod si vere confessi fuerint & compuncti, fœlici commercio laboribus suis, qui cito transeunt, æternam requiem mercabuntur. HÆc cum per Christianorum climata, præcipue per Angliam, Christi fidelibus innotescerent, & prædicatio per Prælatos, maxime vero per fratres Prædicatores & Minores fieret, quibus data fuit potestas cruce signandi, et votum datæ pecunie relaxandi: sese multi quorum non erat numerus, cruce signaverunt. Sed cito in tantam nobilitatem, ne dicam arrogantiam elevabantur Prædicatores & Minores, qui spontaneam paupertatem cum humilitate elegerunt, ut recipi curarent in cœnobis & civitatibus in processione solenni, in vexillis, cereis accensis, & in dispositione vestimentis festivis indutorum, & concessum est eis veniam multorum dierum suis conferre auditoribus, signatosque hodie, cras data pecunia a crucis voto absolberunt. Parvoque tempore succedente, facta est tanta commutatio, tam multiformis pecuniæ exactio, nec sciri poterat in quam abyssum tanta pecunia, quæ per Papales procuratores colligebatur, est demersa, quod fidelium circa negotium crucis tepuit, imo potius charitas refriguit generalis. Unde negotium Terræ Sanctæ nunquam fœlix super hoc suscepit incrementum. Præterea graviter ladebatur omnium Conscientia, & in mediatione exardescere sauciabatur, quod tota illa pecunia impreciabilis, quæ ex decima per magistrum Stephanum Domini Papæ clericum cumulabatur, ad conterendum Imperatorem, facta pace, sicut colligi potest per Epistolam Papæ superscriptam, nec in minimo quadrante est restituta, nec ad aliquod Ecclesiæ commune negotium vel honorem distributa. Imo nec dum penitus fuit extorta vel collecta, & ecce subita & occulta pax est reformat: & postea facta est inquisitio gravis, quis plene vel plenius persolvebat.

This Pope as he intruded himself into the Differences, Wars, Leagues between Christian Kings in his precedent Bull, so likewise into their Treaties and Contracts of Marriage; & particularly into that between Frederick the Emperor, & Isabella sister to K. Henry the 3d. as this Bull of his ( extant under seal in the White Tower ) assures us.

This agreement and security for payment of Isabellæ Portion to the Emperour, and the Kings subjecting himself to the Popes and his Successors Ecclesiastical censures, in case of failer, being made without the Popes precedent assent, the King thereupon certified the Pope thereof by this Letter.

Sanctissimo in Christo Patri Charissimo, G. Dei gratia Summo Pontifici, H. eadem gratia Rex Anglia, &c. salutem, & omnem devotionem. Cum igitur de solutione pecuniæ supradictæ eidem Domino Imperatori cavere idoneè debeamus, Paternitati vestræ volumus esse notum, quod quod nos ad cautelam Imperatoris ejusdem, subicimus nos et successores nostros jurisdictioni et sententiæ vestræ ac Sacro-sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ, ut vos et successores vestri, et Romana Ecclesia, si in solutione prædictæ pecuniæ per singulos terminos cessaverimus, possitis nos et successores nostros per censuram Ecclesiasticam libere coercere, exceptione fori vel Regiæ dignitatis a nobis aut successoribus nostris Ecclesiastico judicio minime opponenda, aut opposita non obstante. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, Tertio die Maii. By these Instruments the King and his Successors voluntarily subjected themselves to the Popes Ecclesiastical censures, in this Secular affair, waving the Priviledges of his Regal Dignity, which encouraged him to usurp the like power over him and other Princes, in other cases, against their wills.

The proceedings in, and pompous solemnities of this marriage of the Emperour with this Isabella, not pertinent to my theam, you may peruse at leasure in * Matthew Paris, to whom I referre you.

King Henry the 3d. intending this year to marry Jone daughter of the Earl of Pontini, advised her to write to the Pope for his dispensation, as he had done, to ratifie the contract of Marriage between them; to which end he sent Proctors to Rome, but afterwards countermanded their proceedings therein till further order, as these Records inform us, all entred together in the Clause Rolls.

Cum igitur dilectos Clericos nostros Magistros R. de Langedon, & W. de Gloucestria ad quædam negotia nostra procuranda necesse habeamus ad præsens, ad pedes Sanctitatis vestræ destinare, ipsos sinceritati vestræ recommendamus attentius, toto corde supplicantes, quatenus nostræ supplicationis obtentu eisdem Clericis nostris favorabiles vos exhibentes & propitios, in negotiis nostris, quæ ad utilitatem nostram & honorem vobis exponent, ipsos libenter audire, & liberaliter, sicut speramus, exaudire dignemini, ut cum ad nos redierint feliciter expediti; de gratia vestra nobis impensa hilares efficiamur & jocundi, & ad devotissimas Sanctitati vestræ teneamur gratiarum actiones. Teste, &c. apud Windesles, xij. die Augusti.

This Marriage Treaty and License on which they were sent was countermanded, and proceeded no further, the King altering his mind, and marrying Alienor the second Daughter of the Earl of Provence, who was conveyed into England, married to the King, and crowned Queen this year, with extraordinary pomp and solemnity, as you may read at leisure in * Matthew Paris, Matthew Westminster, Holinshed, Speed, and other our Historians.

This Pope was grown so insolently proud and peremptory in this age, by his promised Usurpations, that he would not vouchsafe to hear or admit the Kings Proctors and Agents, sent to Rome upon his urgent affairs, without most humble suits and supplications to him in his Letters of Credence and Procurations, as the precedent Procurations, and this ensuing Record demonstrates.

This year King Henry the 3d. made a Remonstrance to the Pope of the several injuries done to him by the Earl of Britain, in seizing upon his Castles, and revolting to the King of France, desiring the Pope by his Ecclesiastical censures to compel him to restore his Castles to him, or give satisfaction for them.

Domino Papæ, salutem, & debitam ac devotam in omnibus reverentiam; ut Sanctitati vestræ plenius innotescat qualiter erga nos se gessit P. Comes Britannia, vestræ significamus Paternitati, quod cum dilectum fratrem nostrum R. Comitem Cornubia & Pistavia transmissemus ad partes Wascen. pro defensione partium illarum, habito inter ipsum Comitem Britannia, & prædictum fratrem nostrum Colloquio, nobis significavit, quod paratus erat ad servitium nostrum venire, & de nobis in capite tenere. Nobis igitur id mediocriter adhuc ferentibus, per transmissum ad nos fidelem nostrum S. de Malo Leone tunc superstitem, & Dominum perdilectum & fidelem nostrum Philippum de Albiniaco nos instanter sollicitavit super eodem. Cum igitur monitis suis adquiescentes exercitum totius Regni nostri convocassemus apud Portesm. habentes in proposito transfretare in Britanniam, ad jura hæreditaria nostra perquirenda in partibus transmarinis, memoratus Comes in eodem tempore ibi applicans, applicans, coram universis Magnatibus terræ nostræ, homagium nobis fecit de terra sua Britannia, & Sacramentum de fidei servitio nobis præstitit, & tunc honorem de Richmond, in quo jus vendicabat, ei reddidimus, & plura alia feoda & terras ei dedimus non modicas. Revertente autem eodem Comite ad partes suas, & nobis per consilium suum in terra nostra remanentibus, cum in estate sequenti aggregasset Rex Francia universum posse ad invadendum terram prædicti Comitis, cum totis viribus nostris in succursum ejus ad suum mandatum transfretavimus in Britanniam, non sine gravi dispendio corporis nostri, & factura irreparabilis magnæque Wallorum hominum nostrorum quos ibidem perdidimus. Cum ergo per adventum nostrum ab incurfibus prædicti Regis Francia defensus extitisset & securus, & ipso Rege sine obtentu propositi sui ad partes suas revertente, vellemus similiter ad terram nostram redire, de consilio suo convenit inter nos & memoratum Comitem Britannia, quod ad tenendum ei Milites & servientes, quandam summam pecuniæ daremus eidem per annum tempore guerræ, & aliam summam pecuniæ, si contingeret inter ipsum Regem Francia, & nos tunc treugas iniri, sicut factum est, quod quidem sine omni defectu ei plene perfecimus. Novissime vero, cum instante sine treugarum inter ipsum Regem & nos essemus requisiti, ab ipso Comite de Militibus & servientibus mittendis in succursum suum, & ad Castrum nostrum Sancti Jacobi super Beveranum, quod fuit in manu sua, de Ballivo nostro, muniendum, & pro quo nobis reddendo cum venissemus in Britanniam ei dederimus Duo Millia Marcarum, gratanter annuimus ejus petitionem, destinantes ad eum dilectum & fidelem nostrum Amauricum de Sancto Amando Senesc. nostrum, cum numero Militum & servientium quem ipse Comes petierat. Quos postquam ad placitum suum retinuerat, ad nos remittens sub simulatione parcendi sumptibus nostris, nunciavit nobis, quod Castrum prædictum salvo custodiret ad opus nostrum, insuper ad mandatum ejus nobilem virum H. de Troubleville Senesc. nostrum Wascon. cum multitudine Armatorum ad eum misimus. Qui strenue & potenter suæ instabat defensioni. In cujus etiam præsentia & prædictorum multitudinis Armatorum, juravit super verum Corpus Christi, quod nec pacem cum Rege Francia fecerat, nec etiam cum eo tractatum inde habuerat. Licet siquidem ipse Comes, ut prædiximus, in nullum nobis repererit defectum; Immo juxta Conventionem inter nos habitam & ultra ei semper satisfecerimus, per finem quem cum eo fecimus singulis vicibus, quibus propter hoc ad nos venit vel misit, & id idem adhuc facere pro viribus nostris essemus parati, tamen cum injuria sua, spreta fidei suæ religione & Sacramento, de fidei servitio nobis præstito, sine eo quod nos discedere vel aliquid nobis mandaret, a nobis recessit, & Regi Francia adhæsit, homagium ei faciens, & reddens eidem ad exhæredationem nostram prædictum Castrum Sancti Jacobi, & Castrum Celsum, quod Theobaldus Cressyn tenuit de nobis de Com. Andegavorum, & Castrum de Maroyl, quod est de Com. nostro Pictavia. Ne igitur super præmissis rei veritas vos lateret, vel ne per alicujus suggestionem minus veridicam crederetis aliquatenus, dictum Comitem per defectum Com. a nobis recessisse, præmissa Sanctitati vestræ seriatim duximus intimanda: Supplices attentius, quatenus ipsum Comitem, ut ad servitium nostrum et fidelitatem nostram redeat, et super pecunia a nobis recepta, et Castris prædictis per ipsum Regi Francia liberatis, nobis satisfaciatur, per censuram Ecclesiasticam coherceatur. Teste Rege apud Westmonasterium, Vicesimo quinto die Februarii.

The Pope encouraged by such Letters as these, usurped a Papal power over the Temporal Rights of Kings and Secular Princes, and to Excommunicate or Interdict them at his pleasure: Though instead of Excommunicating this perjured treacherous Earl, he sent for him to Rome, and made him chief Counsellor and General of the Crossadoes by Sea and Land against the Grecians; Multis super hoc admirantibus, quod hominem tali nota proditoris multiformis infamem, ad sua ardua negotia docuerat pertrahenda.

The Bishop of Winchester being sent for to the Pope to supply him with monies and advice, to carry on this War, (it seems without the Kings License) thereupon the Pope sent a Message to the King, to desire his License for the Bishops return into England, without any impediment; which the King assenting to, writ thus to the Pope and Bishop.

Nec erit qui ipsum super hoc aliquatenus impediat, aut cum redierit tranquillitatem ipsius perturbet. Licet etiam graviter versus ipsum moveremur, ad instantiam vestram conceptum rancorem, si quis esset, penitus ei remitteremus parati & expositi, tanquam filius Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ devotissimus, in his et aliis vestris inherere consiliis, et voluntatis vestræ pro viribus nostris beneplacitum adimplere. The Pope to get monies and assistance in his Wars, had commanded this Peter Bishop of Winchester (a better Souldier then Preacher) to assist him both with his purse and advice in his Military affairs against the Romans and Grecians; thus related by Maitre Paris.

Anno 1235.

Per idem tempus, Petrus Wintoniensis Episcopus, ad mandatum Domini Papæ Roman profectus est, instante solemnitate Paschali: ut guerram ejus jamdiu contra Romanos accensam, ordinando jubaret. Novit enim eum Summus Pontifex pecunia abundare, et si non abundaret, ministrante Episcopatu Wintonensi abundaturum; de maluit eum effundere Thesaurum suum in suo obsequio, quam affluere. Præterea, idem Episcopus erat in obsequio Regis Richardi Bellatoris magnifici, diebus adolescentiæ suæ: ubi plus didicit in Bello dimicare, & Castra militum ordinare, quam Evangelii semina prædicando seminare. The Pope having made as much use of him as he could for those ends, importuned the King for his return into England, as you have heard.

Cum Ecclesia nostra per decessum Venerabilis Patris Willielmi, bonæ memoriæ, quondam Abbatis nostri, qui viam universæ carnis sexto Calend. Martii est ingressus, pastoris solatio existeret destituta, certificato super hoc Domino nostro Rege, ipsoque nobis eligendi licentiam concedente, nos prout potuimus citius & expeditius, volentes animarum periculis occurrere, & Ecclesiæ nostræ indemnitate providere, his omnibus prius sub competenti data dilatione evocatis qui debuerunt & voluerunt potueruntque nostræ electioni commode interesse, ad eligendum nobis pastorem, diem certum præfiximus, in crastino Annunciationis Beatæ Virginis. Adveniente autem die, præsentibus his qui propter hoc fuerant evocati, aliisque, tractare cepimus & conferre. Et quia res prædicta eo die non potuit expediri, in crastino, ut de eodem tractaremus, ingressi sumus Capitulum iterato, & ibidem post Dei clementiam super hoc misericorditer invocata, tractare cepimus de præmissis. Et tandem in hanc eligendi spem, viris bonis de collegio nostro plenaria data fuerat potestas & collata, quod ipsi pro omnibus electionem nominarent, ratihabitione prius eisdem electoribus promissa, de persona per ipsos electa, & ipsis postmodum nominata. Electores siquidem præmissi ad hoc officium, cum Dei timore accedentes, cum lachrymis & orationibus Dei invocantes auxilium, diligenter & discrete, sicut exitus indicavit, de hoc negotio tractaverunt, qui per omnia unanimiter & concorditer post tractatus & collationes suas super hoc habitas, nobis virum per omnia idoneum, in Abbatem patremque & pastorem elegerunt, & postmodum ingressi Capitulum, nobis quem elegerant nominaverunt, scilicet fratrem Johannem de Herisfort, nostræ professionis Monachum, inter nos ab antiquo religiose & irreprehensibiliter conversatum. Nos siquidem ibidem unanimiter congregati, in personam illius quem elegerant, & nobis nominaverant, concorditer consensimus, absque omni discordia seu contradictione. Firmiter enim credimus, Sancte Pater, quod idem electus nobis & nostro Monasterio per omnia sit idoneus, cum in ipso nihil cur eligi non deberet, sciamus reprobum, nec in eo aliquid deficere perpendimus, quod canon exegit in electo. Hinc est, benignissime Pater, quare nos, qui filii vestri sumus, & immediate ad Romanum Pontificem spectantes, vobis in omni qua possumus supplicamus devotione, quatenus Dei intuitu, & ad levamen Ecclesiæ nostræ, quæ sub hac vacatura in magno navigat periculo, sub sæculari custodia constituta, electo nostro absque moræ dispendio, officii sui confirmationem misericorditer impendatis. Nos autem, ut Reverenda Sanctitas vestra de præmissis fidem habeat indubitata, sigillo Capituli nostri de communi totius Conventus consensu has Literas nostras Patentes, & rei gestæ seriem continentes, fecimus consignari.

The Pope after consideration, condescended to the Abbots Election, but upon this condition, that he should take an expresse Oath of Fealty to the Pope and Church of Rome, and to his Successors, prescribed in his Bull directed to the Bishops, (the first encroachment of this kind upon Abbots, to my remembrance) which Oath suddenly tendred to him by way of surprize he took publikely before the Covent, and all the Clergy and people, at his consecration and instalment, thus related by Matthew Paris, a Monk of this Monastery.

Quorum electionem solenniter publicatam, universi & singuli approbantes, nobis per dilectos filios fratres Reginaldum & Nicholaum, Monachos & Nuncios suos ac Literas humiliter supplicaverunt, ut cum per eundem Johannem, grata ipsi Monasterio in spiritualibus & temporalibus incrementa, sperarentur auctore Deo provenitura, & rectis dispositionibus nihil debeat difficultatis asserri, electionem hujusmodi confirmare, de benignitate sedis Apostolica dignaremur. Licet igitur praedicti Nuncii, sollicite super hoc institerint & prudenter, & nos pro eodem Monasterio libenter, quod cum Deo possumus facere, intendentes, electionem ipsam examinatam prout convenit diligenter, Canonicam invenerimus quoad formam; quia tamen de personae meritis plenam notitiam non habemus, fraternitati vestrae per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus quae circa electi personam inquirenda fuerint, sollicite inquirentes, si eam sufficientem inveneritis ad ejusdem Monasterii regnium assumendum, praemissam electionem Auctoritate Apostolica confirmetis, et electo faciatis eidem obedientiam et reverentiam debitam exhiberi, ac munus benedictionis impendi. Recepturi ab eo posmodum, pro nobis et Romana Ecclesia fidelitatis sollicitae juramentum, juxta formam quam vobis sub Bulla nostra mittimus interclusam. Alioquin, ea rite cassata, faciatis dicto Monasterio de persona idonea per electionem Canonicam provideri. Contradictores per censuram Ecclesiasticam, appellatione postposita compescendo. Formam autem juramenti, quod ipse praestabit nobis de verbo ad verbum, per ejus Patentes Literas suo sigillo signatas quam cito poteritis per proprium nuncium transmittatis. Quod si non ambo his exequendis potueritis interesse, alter vestrum ea nihilominus exequatur. Datum Perusii.

Impetratis autem his Literis, cum aliis sub Bulla clausis, salutato Domino Papa & fratribus, necnon & respectis, redierunt Nuncii praedicti cum prosperitate, post moram in Curia factam per xv. dies. Episcopus autem Londonensis, alio se excusante, mandatum Apostolicum diligenter executus, examinatione rite facta, nihil reprobum in persona electi reperiens, munus solenniter benedictionis eidem impendit, in crastino scilicet Nativitatis Beatae Virginis, in Ecclesia Sancti Albani. Ubi aperte sunt Literae inclusae Domini Papae, quas, ut oportuit, electus in Abbatem benedicendus profitendo legit, in praesentia Episcopi et audientia Conventus, et totius populi et Cleri, sub hac forma. Of which, and the new Oath therein, you shall have an account in its due place.

Domino Regi, de obitu Abbatis Willielmi.

Excellentissimo Domino & in Christo Reverendissimo, Henrico Dei gratia illustri Regi Angliae, Domino Hiberniae, Duci Normanniae & Aquitaniae, Comiti Andegavensi: devoti sui semper & humiles, Prior Sancti Albani & ejusdem loci Conventus, cum omni humilitate & devotione, aeternam in Domino salutem. Vestræ innotescimus Excellentiae, quod Venerabilis Pater noster Willielmus quondam Abbas Ecclesiae

Ecclesie nostrae, in fata decessit: ideoque dilectos fratres nostros N. & N. latore presentium ad vos destinamus. Excellentiae vestrae omni qua possumus devotione, et lachrymarum effusione, flexisque genibus supplicantes, quatenus divinae pietatis intuitu, nobis gratiam dignanter impetientes, eligendi Pastorem liberam nobis concedatis facultatem. Statui domus nostrae misericorditer, si placet, compatiens, juxta necessitates, quas dicti fratres nostri vobis duxerint exprimendas. Valeat Regia dignitas in aeternum. Milimus insuper Literas amicis nostris in Curia, sub hac forma: ut ipsi negotium nostrum expedirent.

They likewise sent this Letter to the Chancellor.

Urgentibus negotiis novis & inopinatis emergentibus, Priorum amicorum auxilium familiare & consilium evidens: suadet honestas, & compellit instans necessitas. Ideoque sinceræ paternitati vestrae omni qua possumus devotione supplicamus, quatenus divinae pietatis intuitu, statui domus nostrae juxta necessitates quas fratres nostri N. & N. latore presentium vobis duxerint exprimendas, misericorditer, & paterno subveniat affectu, eo quod Venerabilis Pater noster Willielmus quondam Abbas Monasterii nostri, divino nutu diem clausit extremum: Nos Monachos suos quasi Orphanos piorum consilio relinquens & auxilio. Quorum indigentiae sic vestra dignetur consulere miseratio, ut Deus Pater Pupillorum, digna mercede vestram remuneret pietatem.

Cancellario.

Having obtained the Kings License to elect a new Abbot, they sent this summons to all the Priors of their Cells that had voyées in the Election.

Frater E. Prior Ecclesiae Sancti Albani ejusdemque loci Conventus, dilecto sibi in Christo, tali vel tali Priori, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Quum Venerabilis Pater noster Willielmus quondam Abbas Monasterii nostri, divino nutu diem clausit extremum, & oportet per commune consilium Ecclesiae nostrae providere de Pastore; Mandamus quatenus in crastino Annuntiationis Dominicae proximo affuturæ, compareas personaliter apud Sanctum Albanum, una nobiscum tractaturus super electione Abbatis. Quod si forte non potueris juxta ex causa praepeditus, te sub hac forma excuses per Literas tuas Patentes. Viris Venerabilibus Domino E. Priori de Sancto Albano ejusdemque loci Conventui, Frater N. Prior talis vel talis loci, tali vel tali, salutem. Praepeditus negotio certo, videlicet assignato, vel gravi detentus infirmitate, in crastino Annuntiationis Dominicae apud Sanctum Albanum personaliter interesse non possum, una vobiscum super electione Abbatis tractaturus. Ideoque non expectata praesentia mea, in dicto negotio, quod vestrum est, exequamini. Valete.

Ut conveniant Piores Cellarum ad Electionem.

Congregatis igitur Fratribus die statuto & praefixo, videlicet die Dominica; non potuimus pro solemnitate illius diei tractare de electione. Et cantavimus ea die de Dominica procrastinantes solemnitatem de Annuntiatione faciendam: unde nec in crastino, scilicet die Lunae, nequivimus tractare de tam arduo negotio, quod tanta & tam morosa deliberatione indiguit. Die igitur Martis, convenientibus in unum tam Prioribus quam aliis, qui debuerunt & voluerunt commode in capitulo interesse; eligerunt solemniter Johannem de Hartfordia, Priorem de Hertford, Monachum suum professum, in Pastorem animarum suarum: virum pium, & Monachum ordinatum; Cui Domino Regi praesentatus, ab eo favorabiliter Dominica in Ramis Palmarum (tum quia elegans et venerabilis extitit statura, tum quia audierat quod dapilis et Civills ac Societatis fuerat, dum Prior Hertfordiae fuerit) est susceptus: Et ideo promptius, quia Rex semper domum Sancti Albani dilexerat: Cui Literas petitorias a Priore & Conventu sub hac forma transmissimus.

Illustri Domino suo & Magnifico, Henrico Dei gratia Regi Angliae, &c. devoti sui semper & humiles E. Prior Sancti Albani, & ejusdem loci Conventus, cum omni humilitate

humilitate & devotione, æternam in Domino, salutem. Regiæ Excellentie vestræ, Dominum Johannem Ptozem de Hertfordia, virum idoneum et honestum, quem de benignitate et licentia vestra nobis concessa, in Patrem nobis elegimus et Pastorem, præsentamus. Cum omni humilitate et devotione supplicantes, quatenus ex innata vobis benignitate, solitaque clementia erga nos et Ecclesiam nostram concepta et habita, dictum Johannem electum nostrum, in gratiam recipientis; vestrum eidem consilium, auxilium, et favorem, divinæ, si placeat, intuitu pietatis impendentes. Valeat, &c.

Scribit Dominus Rex, Domino Papæ, pro nobis in hoc negotio.

Dominus autem Rex cum hoc audisset, & perpenderit progressum nostrum ordinatum & humilem, non tantum nobis suum favorem impertivit, & juvamen, imo Domino Papæ & amicis suis in Curia Romana pro nobis scripsit sic, (Well knowing that nothing would be done therein at Rome, but by such Letters, seconded with underhand Bribes.) Reverendo Domino & Patri & in Christo Charissimo, Gregorio Dei gratia Summo Pontifici, Henricus eadem gratia Rex Anglia, &c. salutem: & tam devotam quam debitam in omnibus, tanto Domino & Patri reverentiam. Noverit Sancta Paternitas vestra, Nos electioni factæ de fratre Johanne de Hertford, Monacho de Sancto Albano, in Abbatem Sancti Albani, Regium adhibuisse favorem et assensum. Et quia ad sedem Apostolicam immediate spectat electionis prædictæ confirmatio, hoc Sanctæ Paternitati vestræ durimus præsentium tenore significandum: Devote supplicantes, quatenus eidem electioni munus confirmationis dignemini, si placet, favorabiliter impendere. Teste memetipso apud Abendon, primo die Aprilis, Anno Regni mei xix.

Venerabili in Christo Patri, & amico specialiter dilecto, J. Dei gratia GG. Sanctæ Prædictis Presbytero Cardinali: Henricus Dei gratia Rex Anglia, &c. Quotiens ingruente necessitate nos contingit, pro nostris vel alienis negotiis Apostolicæ sedis implorare subsidium, ad eorundem negotiorum expeditionem, vestra nobis necessaria est diligentia: quam in omnibus vestri gratia nobis recolimus subvenisse. Cum igitur electioni factæ de fratre Johanne Monacho Sancti Albani, in Abbatem ejusdem loci, Regium adhibuerimus assensum, et favorem, & immediate subiecta sit Ecclesia Sancti Albani, Sanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ: Paternitati vestræ duximus attente supplicandum, quatenus cum Nuntii, & procuratores dicti electi ad obtinendum a sede Apostolica confirmationem dictæ electionis, ad Curiam venerunt, ad assensionem sui propositi in hac parte, vestra dignetur eis Paternitas auxilio & consilio subvenire. Per quam subventionem, multiplicetur vobis gratia nostra, quam ex diversorum negotiorum promotione non dubitamus eis vos comparasse. Teste meipso, primo die, &c.

Nota.

In junctum est igitur duobus fratribus Monachis hujus Ecclesiæ, videlicet Domino Reginaldo de Bocking Physico, & Domino Nicholao de Sancto Albano, & cuidam Clerico nostro, Magistro scilicet Gualfrido de Langetia, ut Curiam Romanam protinus adirent: ut electionem rite factam impetrarent à sede Apostolica confirmari: Qui se precibus Conventus commendantes, illico perrexerunt. Et statutum est in Capitulo quædam specialia fieri pro eisdem Missarum & Orationum suffragia: Et cum ad Curiam Romanam (quæ tunc Perusii fuerat) pervenissent, ut promptiorem a Domino Papa gratiam obtinerent, pecuniæ quandam summam Papalibus pedibus obtulerunt: quam statim gratanter receptam, iussit Dominus Papa cuidam fratri Binozi, Thesaurario ac Cubiculario suo, illam pecuniā in Sazophylacium suum deponere. Et accumulatis illis denariis, aliis candidis Esterlingis, noluit frater vel etiam forulum nuntis resignare, nec Dominus Papa (quem Civilem et Dapsilem fore deceret) ad prandiolum invitare. Respectis igitur

igitur Janitoribus et Ministris Papalibus, in muneribus (quia sic oportuit, cum patulis ricibus ipsis donis inhærent) recesserunt in crastinum (prout eis dictum erat) redituri. Et cum tunc advenissent, ostendentes Regios apices Domino Papæ, tum propter ipsos, tum propter serotinum venium, (aliis etiam Epistolis, quas secum amicis Domini Regis detulerunt adminiculantibus) gratiam ab illa venali Curia obtinuerunt. Respexerant enim amicos Regis quibus ejus Literas attulerant, donis uberrimis, qui solitas Literas steriles et infructuosas, sine muneribus concurrentibus parvi pendunt. Electione igitur confirmata, cum benedictione Apostolica (quam satis comparaverunt) gaudenter sunt reversi, nec unquam postea, ipsam Curiam diligere aut commendare potuerunt.

Nota.

Approbata vero quamplurimum fuit ab ipso Domino Papa & a cunctis fratribus Cardinalibus (& maxime a Domino Ottone, qui verba optima fecit pro domo Sancti Albani) forma electionis & totius processus negotii, admirantibus universis, quod inter tot Capita fuit tam indilata sententia, & consensus uniformis. Et addidit Otto memoratus coram Papa, & cunctis assidentibus: Domine, semper religio, unitas, & concordia in illa domo viguerunt. Unde ab universis dictum est, quod non sine nutu Spiritus Sancti illud negotium fuerat profectum. Multitudinis enim credentium fuit cor unum, & anima una. Et ut audientes non lateat, hæc est consuetudo eligendi Abbatem, in Ecclesia Sancti Albani.

Confessores, scilicet, tres vel quatuor, jubentur districte in virtute Spiritus sancti (utpote qui cognoscit corda & renes singulorum) ut ipsi eligant duodecim de Conventu fratres electos, fideles, & peritos, ut ipsi vel de se ipsis, vel de ipso Conventu Ecclesiæ, vel de Cellis, unum idoneum eligant in Abbatem. De ipsis (inquam) quia sic non consueverunt antiquitus, imo de aliis quam seipsis, quod absurdum fuit & dissonum rationi. Et in hoc variata est antiqua consuetudo, & in melius commutata. Ut autem electio & labor tantæ deliberationis super hoc negotio, nullatenus irritus habeatur & inanis, literas habent de Conventu penes se sigillo Conventus roboratas, ut ipse Conventus illum quem ipsi duodecim eligent in Abbatem, sine contradictione aut difficultate unanimiter in pastorem suscipiant, & gratanter. Unde series negotij sic profecta, a summo Pontifice (ut prædictum est) palam coram omnibus est commendata. Et facta examinatione auctoritate Apostolica, illico confirmata. Veruntamen quia de persona Electi, Domino Papæ non constabat, dedit in mandatis Eliensi & Londoniensi Episcopis, ut rite facta examinatione ex persona Electi, eundem in Abbatem confirmatum benedicerent; plene in omnem tam spiritualium quam temporalium administrationem influentes.

Consuetudo in Ecclesia Sancti Albani, eligendi Abbatem.

Cum autem redissent Nuntij de Curia, ostendebant Literas Domini Papæ Episcopis memoratis, qui electo scripserunt sub hac forma.

Quod & Abbas sub omni fecit maturitate. Affirmabant utique tam Episcopi memorati postquam audierant, quam nuntij nostri, quod prudenter processum est in hoc negotio. Et literas postulabant ad inspiciendum, quas Conventus S. Albani Domino Papæ transmisit sub transcripto. Quas si quis inspicere desiderat; in hoc volumine, ubi scilicet pingitur Avicula, poterit invenire, cujus Rubrica & Titulus talis est.

Omibus Christi fidelibus litteras has inspecturis vel audituris.
“Hugo Dei gratia Elyensis Episcopus, salutem in Domino sempiternam. Noveritis quod cum nobis, & venerabili fratri nostro London. Episcopo commissum esset negotium a Domino Papa examinationis personæ fratris Johannis de Hertsford Electi in Abbatem Monasterij Sancti Albani, & confirmationis ejusdem, Episcopo Londoniensis in dicto negotio excusato literatorie, nos electionem ipsius Johannis in hunc modum confirmamus. In nomine Patris, & Filij, & Spiritus Sancti. Inquisitis secundum formam litterarum Domini Papæ, quæ circa personam Electi Sancti Albani fratris Johannis sunt inquirenda, tum per testes juratos, tum per propriæ personæ examinationem, invenimus eum ad regimen dictæ Abbatiæ sufficientem. Unde electionem tanquam de persona idonea de ipso factam, auctoritate Apostolica confirmamus. In cujus rei testimonium, his litteris nostris Patentibus, sigillum nostrum duximus apponendum. Acta Anno Domini M. CC. XXXV. die Lunæ, proxima post festum Sancti Laurentii apud Crucem Russiæ.

In crastino igitur, scilicet Nativitatis beatæ Virginis, in Ecclesia Sancti Albani ad majus Altare, in præsentia Episcopi London. & totius Conventus in Choro existentis, idem Episcopus eidem electo munus impendit benedictionis. Ubi apertæ sunt litteræ inclusæ, inclusæ, & bullæ Domini Papæ, quas oportuit Electum in Abbatem benedicendum, profitendo palam legere, sub hac forma.

Ego Johannes Monasterii Sancti Albani Abbas, ab hac hora in antea, fidelis et obediens ero Sancto Petro, sanctæque Apostolicæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ, et Domino meo Papæ Gregorio, ejusque Successoribus Canonice intrantibus. Non ero in Consilio, aut consensu, vel in facto, ut vitam perdant aut membrum, aut capiantur mala capitione. Consilium vero quod mihi creditur sunt, per se aut per Nuntios suos, sive per literas, ad eorum damnum me sciente nemini pandam. Papatum Romanum et Regalem sancti Petri, Adjutor eis ero ad retinendum et defendendum, salvo ordine meo, contra omnem hominem. (Not * excepting the King himself as is usual in Homage and fealty to all other Lords.) Legatum Apostolicæ sedis in eundo et redeundo, honorifice tractabo, et in suis necessitatibus adjuvabo. Vocatus ad Synodum veniam, nisi * præcepit fuerit Canonica prædicatione. Apostolorum limina * singulis triennis visitabo, aut per me aut per Nuntium meum, nisi absolvar Apostolica licentia. Possessiones vero ad Monasterium meum spectantes, non vendam, neque donabo, neque impignorabo, neque de novo infeudabo, vel aliquo modo alienabo, * inconsulto Romano Pontifice: Sic me Deus adjuvet, et hæc sancta Evangelia. This New Oath of allegiance and fealty to the Pope and See of Rome, being the highest incroachment upon the Kings Rights and Prerogative, making all who took it the Popes subjects, vassals, vilians, not the Kings, was sealed up and concealed both from the King and Abbot elect, till this very nick of his consecration and benediction, for fear it should be opposed, refused, as the Historian observes, and thus relates.

Hæc cooperta fuerunt, occulta, et clausa sub bulla, donec stare Pontificalibus ad Altare redimitis, quando nullo modo poterat ad ista obligatione resilire. Et cum rogasset Abbas ab Episcopo Londoniensi si Rogero, quid Roma faceret? Episcopus, sicut jocundus extitit, jocosè respondit subridens, & ait: Amice ut offeras: & veritas in verbo latitavit.

HENRICUS Dei gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. Misistibus, liberis hominibus, & omnibus aliis Tenentibus de Abbacia de Sancto Albano, salutem. Sciatis quod electioni facta de fratre Johanne de Hertford in Abbatem S. Albani, assensum Regium præbimus & favorem. Et ideo vobis mandamus, quod eidem fratri Johanni tanquam Domino vestro, in omnibus quæ ad prædictam Abbatiæ pertinent, intendentes sitis & respondentes. Insuper rei testimonium, hæc literas nostras fieri fecimus patentes. Teste meipso apud Westmonasterium, decimo octavo die Augusti, Anno Regni nostri Duodecimo.

EX tunc igitur Abbas plenarie constitutus, cepit homagia, & Juramenta, & fidelitates, omnium Abbatiz subditorum, installatus, & in omnibus Abbas habitus & firmatus. Sed ut non lateat simpliciores qualiter se gessit dum Electus esset, & qualiter in posterum se gerere debet Electus, præsentibus duximus inferendum. In the beginning whereof he thus expresseth the New Abbots sence and detestation of this New Oath, and yoke of bondage imposed by the Pope on this famous Monastery, (and on others by his ill president in submitting thereunto) and of the Popes manifold superadded exactions.

Iste Johannes secundus Abbas, Prior quandoque de Hertford & inde oriundus: præter opinionem omnium nutu Dei sublimatus in Abbatem: Præmo iuvatus et dolens, Romanorum jugum subit servitutis: ut scilicet, de triennio in triennium, vel per se, vel per alium limina adiret Apostolorum, sicut in subdola professione ejusdem continetur ? in magnum Ecclesiæ damnum et gravamen, et insatiabilis Romana Curia emolumentum voluntarium et injuriosum. Primus quidem fuit in Abbatem creatus post Concilium Laterense generale, sub Papa Innocentio quarto celebratum: in quo illud continetur cum aliis gravaminibus, in Ecclesiæ Sancti Albani (quæ a fundatione sui primitiva libera & ingenua legitur extitisse) præjudicium, et si fas est dicere, injuriam et jacturam. Iste quoque Abbas in Nobilitate sua multis exactionibus fatigabatur, et expensis, sed præ omnibus Romanorum oppressionibus nobis et inauditis cepit molestari. Et quod obstantibus antiquis privilegiis (quæ non sine magna Sanctorum patrum injuria et Contemptu cassantur et spernuntur) non permessa est tam Celebris Ecclesia suis libertatibus gratulari. Id cujus rei triste præsagium, paulo ante ejusdem Abbatis creationem, & cito post (scilicet infra triennium) bis supra Ecclesiam beati Albani visum est fulgur usque ad incendium cecidisse, quod se meminit prævidisse, nec audit evenisse. Et sicut non prodest sanctorum inniti Privilegiis aut indulgentiis, sic non obstitit fulguri impressio Papalis Cereæ, in qua Agnus Dei figuratur, quæ in Summitate Turris nostre collocatur, quæ ut dicitur, contra tales procellas abigendas virtutem habet & potestatem. I have related these Passages at large, to evidence the execrable Bribery, Symony, Rapine, extortions and insufferable usurpations of this Pope on the Crown and Church of England, recorded by Matthew Paris living in that age, privy to all these Transactions being a Monk of St. Albani, (little redounding to the honour of the Pope, Court or Church of Rome.) which though generally detested, yet could not be resisted, reformed in that age by the King, Nobles or Clergy of England, who only murmured and made some bootlesse petty oppositions against them.

The Pope to raise moneys for himself and his own Wars, under a pretext of supplying and ayding the Holy Land, against the Saracens, issued forth his Bulls for a new Crossado throughout the Christian world, which he caused to be re-published.

Habuerunt autem ex mandato Apostolico, provinciarum Archidiaconos, & Decanos, qui in locis singulis parochianos, viros & mulieres convenire fecerunt: ita ut nullus remaneret sub pœna Anathematis quin eorum prædicationibus interesset. Conti-

Contigit autem hoc anno 3. Idus Junii, in villa de Clare, ubi magister Rogerus de Lewes, frater quidem de ordine Minorum, pro negotio crucis Evangelium in Dominica prædicavit, ut mulier quædam omni membrorum officio jam per triennium destituta, poenam metuens excommunicationis, paucum quod habuit argenti cuidam viro sibi vicino contulit, qui eam in humeris suis ad locum veheret prædicationis. Ubi cum gemens jaceret & lugens quousque vir Dei prædicationem absolvisset, motus compassione super gemitibus mulieris, quam lugentem jacere conspexit, accessit ad eam, atque causam ad quid illuc venisset inquisivit. Quæ cum diceret, quod metu excommunicationis ad locum sermonis fuisset delata; præcepit ut iret in domum suam, nesciens quod membris omnibus esset dissoluta. Sed cum astantes vicini ejus testarentur, quod omnium erat usu membrorum jam elapso triennio privata, interrogabat, si crederet quod Deus potens erat, ut sibi, si vellet, redderet sanitatem? Cui illa, Credo Domine. Tunc vir Dei mulierem inter brachia complexens, levavit eam fiducialiter, & ait: Sanette Deus omnipotens, in quem credis. Et cum mulier ad vocem jubentis se erigeret confidens in Domino, ceperunt ossa ejus & nervi cum compagibus dum surgeret crepare, ut visum sit astantibus, quod omnia ossa ejus in frustra fuissent comminuta. Et sic mulier sanitati pristina restituta, abiit in domum suam, exaltans & magnificans Dominum qui talem servis suis contulit potestatem. Thus were the ignorant people cheated of their monyes, and their blind devotion abused, year after year, by these pious fraudes and forged Miracles of the Pope, and his freers Predicants, to the scandal of Religion.

This year, Pope Gregory the 9th. to advance his own Papal Authority over all Christian Kingdoms, Churches throughout the world, by giving, prescribing Lawes and Decretals to them to gain mony for dispensations against them and other Canons, published his Books of Decretals bearing his own name, whereof we have this account.

HIS quoque temporibus Gregorius Papa IX. videns Decretalium tardiosam prolixitatem, sub quodam compendio eas eleganter abbreviavit & collectas, solenniter & authentice per totius mundi latitudinem legi præcepit et divulgari. Illas autem ab auctore ipsarum Gregorianas appellamus, sic incipientes: Rex pacificus, &c. In quibus quædam innovavit, ne scilicet illegitimi in prælatas vel Ecclesiastica beneficia, nisi adepta a sede Romana legitimationis dispensatione, obtineant: sciens inde curiæ Romanæ pro impetrati-one tali, multa emolumenta provenire: sicut ex statuto Innocentii, pro dispensatione plurium beneficiorum obtinendorum. These mon-dopolies of Papal Dispensations in these two cases of Illegitimations and Pluralities, being very gainful, though scandalous and unchristian Projects; And lest such who needed or desired such dispensations should want monyes to purchase them, or any other indulgences or to defray Papal exactions upon all occasions, this Pope and his Agents sent abroad Usurers, and sharking Broakers into all Countries, under the Titles of Marchants, especially into England, which proved a pernicious pest and greivance to the Kingdom and Churchmen, as this relation of their practices discovers,

Etiam ipse Rex debito inestimabili eis tenebatur obligatus. Circumveniebant enim in necessitatibus indigentes, usuram sub specie negotiationis palliantes: & nescire dissimulantes, quod quicquid accrescit sorti, usura est, quocunque nomine censeatur. Manifestum est enim, eorum accommodationes ab ordine charitatis sequestrari, cum non manum porrigant egentibus auxiliatricem, ut eis subveniant, sed circumveniant: non ut alienæ succurrant inedia, sed ut suæ consulant avaritiæ, cum ta Alphegi, Anno gratie M. CC. XXXV. Talibus igitur inextricabilibus vinculis debitores suos Caurisni constringebant. Qui ut verbo alludamus, vere Caurisni, quasi causantes, vel capientes, & urfimi nuncupantur. Indigentes tamen primo sermonibus mellis & mollicis alliciebant, in fine vero velut jacula vulnerantes: unde multi propter verba eorum subscripta arguta, & a legibus extracta, caudicorumque cognata fallaciis, hæc non sine Curia Romana conniventia fieri arbitrantur, illud Evangelicum commentorantes: Prudentiores sunt filii sæculi hujus, quam filii lucis, in generationibus suis. Judei quoque novum genus usuræ in Christianis comperientes, Sabbatha nostra immerito deridebant. The Bishop of London endeavoured to reform this worse then Jewish usury and extortion; but without successe to his great vexation.

Eodemque anno, Episcopus Londinensis Rogatus, vir quidem bene literatus & religiosus, cum intellexisset hos Caurisnos usuras sine erubescencia palam frequentare, vitamque spurcissimam deducere, viros religiosos variis fatigare, pecuniamque argumentose coacervare, & multos juga eorum coactos subire, commotus est & iratus, & Zelo Justitiæ accensus, omnes illos quasi schismaticos admonuit, ut a tali enormitate, sicut animarum suarum salvationem deligerent, desisterent, penitentiam agentes de commissis. Quod cum contempnissent, subsannantes, & deridentes insuper & comminantes, Episcopus armis actinctus Justitiæ spiritualis, omnes tales generaliter involuit anathemati, et jussit præfisse et districte eos a civitate Londinensi, quæ hæcenus talis pessimitiæ fuit ignara, citius elongari, ne Diocesis sua tali tade macularetur. At ipsi tumentes et superbi, de Papali defensione confidentes, sine difficultate et moræ dispendio, in Romana curia impetrarunt, ut dictus Episcopus, qui jam senuerat, valetudinarius et ægrotativus, citaretur peremptorie in remotis partibus ultra-marinis, coram Judicibus Caurisnis familiaribus, quos elegerant ipsi ad voluntatem suam: ut compareret super tali injuria mercatoribus Papalibus interrogata, responsurus. Episcopus vero malens Patris verenda ut Sem tegere, quam ut Cam revelare; suscitatum tumultum sedavit pacifice: et hæc sub dissimulatione pertransiens, causam tam arduam sui * Pauli patrocinio commendavit: Qui cum de rigore fidei et Justitiæ prædicaret, scripsit dicens: Et si Angelus votis his contraria prædicaverit Anathema sit.

Eodem quoque tempore, quidam de fratribus Minorum, necnon & aliqui de ordine Prædicatorum, impudenter nimis, sæ professionis & ordinis immemores, in territoria aliquorum nobilium Cænobiorum se clam ingesserunt: sub prætextu officii sui adimplendi, & velut post crastinam prædicationem recessuri. Sed vel infirmitatem, vel quippiam aliud simulantes, manserunt: & fabricato ex ligno altari, superpositoque altariolo lapideo benedicto secum allato, Missas clandestinas demissa voce celebrarunt, confessiones multorum receperunt etiam parochialium, in præjudicium Presbyterorum. Dicebant namque, se talem a domino Papa suscepisse potestatem, ut eis scilicet fideles quæ suo erubescunt Sacerdoti confiteri, vel dedignantur, quia consimili peccato constringuntur, vel timent, quia temulento, confiteantur; quibus injungant Minores penitentias, & absolvant. Interim ad Romanam curiam misso procuratore festino & diligenti, contra religiosos, in quorum degebant territorio, concessam impetrarunt cum aliquo adjuncto beneficio mansionem. Quod si forte adhuc eis satisfieri non videretur, in verba contumeliosa & comminatoria proruperunt: ordinem alium quam suum reprobantes, aliosque de numero fore damnandorum asserentes: nec parcere callo plantarum suarum, donec thesauros adversariorum suorum licet multos exhaustissent. Unde in multis cedebant eis religiosi deferentes propter scandalum, & propter potentum offendiculum. Erant enim Magnatum consiliatores & nunci, etiam domini Papæ secretarii, nimis in hoc gratiam sibi secularem comparantes. Aliqui tamen in curia ria ROMANA contradictores inuenientes, obuiis rationibus refrænati, confusi recesserunt; Dicente eis torvo vultu summo Pontifice, Quid est hoc fratres? quo prorumpitis? Nonne professi estis paupertatem spontaneam, ut discalceati, & inglorii peragantes vicos, & Castella, & loca remotiora, prout opus exigit, verbum Dei humiliter seminetis? præsumitis jam invitis Dominis feudorum mansiones vobis usurpare? Jam videtur in magna sui parte religio vestra expirare, & Doctrina refutari. Hoc audito recedentes, modestius se habere cœperunt, qui prius multiplicaverunt loqui sublimia gloriantes: & infra septa alterius arbitrio alieno morari & detineri recusantes.

King Henry the 3d. so far degenerated from himself after his marriage, in complying with the Popes usurpations, that he endeavoured by pretext of the Popes Bull, to revoke some of his own grants as invalid, because they had not the Popes assent unto them, for which he was much condemned by some of the Nobility, as one endeavouring overmuch to enthrall his Kingdom and the right thereof to the vassallage of the Pope.

Eodem tempore congregati sunt apud Wintoniam magnates Anglia præsentis Rege sexto Idus Junij; Ubi Rex nitebatur per authenticum Domini Papæ, quædam, quæ ante matrimonium contractum aliquibus contulerat, in irritum revocare, ac si esset impos sui, sine Domini Papæ consententia, ad quem, ut dicebat, Jus regni spectabat conferre. Unde multos commovit ad admirationem, dicentibus multis, quod magis quam decuit aut oportuit, regnum suum nitebatur Rex ejus subdere servituti, et extremis conditionibus mancipare.

This year the Pope betaking himself to his usual cheat, to raise monyes for his own use and Wars against the Emperor, under pretext of releiving the Holy Land, and dispensing with those vowes for summes of money, which himself and his preaching Freers exhorted the people to enter into, for the remission of their sins, and salvation of their souls, gave no smal scandal to these crossed votaries and others, who discovered the Imposture overlate, after he had cheated them of their Monye by this art, refusing to restore any part thereof, as his passage will inform and assure us.

Eodem quoque anno facta est prædicatio solennis, tam in Anglia quam in Francia, a fratribus Prædicatoribus & Minoribus, & aliis famosis clericis, theologis, & religiosis, per authenticum domini Papæ, cruce se signaturis plenam concedentibus peccatorum indulgentiam, de quibus confessi vere fuerint penitentes. Qui civitates, castella, & pagos peragantes, & in temporalibus multa remedia promittentes, scilicet de *usuris contra Judaos ne amplius current, & protectionem domini Papæ in redditibus & rebus impignoratis pro viaticis suis omnibus cruce signatis, infinitum populum, ad votum peregrinationis accinxerunt. Et postea misit Dominus Papa in Angliam, fratrem Thomam Templarium familiarem suum, cum authentico suo; ut quos veller, & prout expedire videret, cruce signatos, accepta pecunia, quam se ducebat utilius ad promotionem Terræ sanctæ expensurum, a voto peregrinationis absolveret. Quod cum viderent cruce signati, admirantes insatiatam Romanæ curiæ cupiditatem, magnam conceperunt mentibus indignationem, quod tot argumentis nituntur Romani tam impudenter oculos emungere populorum. Addiderunt namque Prædicatores: Quod si quis cruce signatus vel non signatus, qui in propria persona iter peragere non posset tam laboriosum, quod facultas permetteret in bonis, in subsidium Terræ sanctæ conferre non omitteret, & sic plenissime indulgentia gauderet prænominata. Sed hæc omnia auditores suspectos reddiderunt. Dicebant namque: Ecquis dispensator noster fidelis erit? Sicque factum est, quod Dominus Papa, concepta indignatione adversus populum, movit guerram, nummos extorquens; collegit decimam ex omnibus regionibus, et infinitam pecuniam adunavit, ut Ecclesiam defenderet. Sed cito pace composita, facti sunt Papa et Imperator; toꝝ amici, sed nunquam pecunia fuerat restituta. Et sic diatim, multozum devotio, fidesque titubabit plurimozum.

(a) Pope Alexander the 3d. and the Council of Lateran, about the year 1166. taking upon them the power and right to define what Children were legitimate, and who were Bastards, made these summary Decrees concerning it. Ante Matrimonium geniti, per Matrimonium post contractum fiunt legitimi. Non est exheredandus, quicumque ante desponsationem est natus. Ad Regem, non ad Ecclesiam pertinet de rebus hereditariis judicare.

The two first of these Decrees being contrary to the Common Law of England, resolving all Children born before Marriage to be illegitimate, and not inheritable to their Parents, though afterwards lawfully coupled in Matrimony: Thereupon there arose a great question in England between the Bishops, Nobles, and Kings Judges, concerning this point, (long before the Statute of Merton) under King Henry the 2d. thus expressed by (b) Glanvil, upon a Writ directed to the Archbishop of Canterbury from the Kings Temporal Court, in a real action, wherein the Tenant alledged Bastardy in the Demandant, Quod ipse Bastardus sit natus ante Matrimonium ipsorum.

Et quoniam ad Curiam meam non spectat agnoscere de Bastardia, eos ad vos mitto, mandantes, ut in Curia Christianitatis inde facias quod ad vos spectat. Et cum loquela illa debitum coram vobis finem sortita fuerit, mihi Literis vestris significetis quid inde coram vobis actum fuerit, &c. Circa hoc autem oritur Quæstio; Si quis antequam pater matrem suam desponsaverit, fuerit genitus vel natus, utrum talis filius sit legitimus hæres, cum postea matrem suam desponsaverit? Et quidem, licet secundum Canones et Leges Romanas talis filius sit legitimus hæres, tamen secundum jus et consuetudinem Regni, nullo modo tanquam hæres in hereditate sustinetur, ut hereditatem de jure Regni petere potest.

Sed orta super hoc tamen contentione, utrum scilicet genitus an natus fuerit ante desponsationem, an post; discutietur id, ut dictum est, coram iudice Ecclesiastico? & quod ab eo iudicatum fuerit, id Domino Regi vel ejus Justiciario scire faciet; Ita tamen, quod secundum quod iudicatum fuerit in Curia Christianitatis de Matrimonio, scilicet, utrum fuerit ille qui hereditatem petit, natus vel genitus ante Matrimonium contractum, vel post? In Curia Domini Regis supplebitur de adjudicanda vel abjudicanda ipsi, hereditate super qua contentio est, ita quod per iudicium Curia hereditatem ipsam obtinebit vel clammum suum perdet.

The Bishops to advance their own Courts above the Kings, and the Canons made by the Pope and Lateran Council at Rome, above the Common Law and custome of the Realm in this particular, * refused to return any Certificate in such cases, upon the Kings Writs directed to them, or to act any thing against the Churches Canons, and were very importunate with the Nobles in the Parliament held at Merton, Anno 20 H. 3. to alter the Common Law in this point, according to their Canons, which the Nobles peremptorily refused to do, as the Statute of Merton cap. 9. and Henry de Bracton (a Learned Judge, who lived in that age) more fully informs us, in his excellent Discourse concerning Bastardy. (c) Qualiter opponi debeat Bastardia in primis videndum. Proponi quidem solet aliquando cum adjectione causæ, quare Bastardus sit, & quandoque sine causâ: sed quoniam ubi causâ non adjicitur, sub tali responsione poterit esse obscuritas & incertitudo, quia cum sciri non poterit ad quod forum pertinere debeat cognitio, non refert, Utrum quis omnino non respondeat, vel obscure: ut si dicat tenens simpliciter, quod petens nihil juris habet, in re petita, quia Bastardus est, & paratus est probare Bastardiam ubi & quando debuerit, si prohibitio ex tali probatione & responsione statim mittatur ad Curiam Christianitatis, ita poterit quidem probatio quælibet indifferenter fieri in Curia Christianitatis, quæ in quibusdam est contraria Legi & Consuetudini Angliæ, quod esse non debet, cum nihil aliud sit sub tali obscuritate transmittere inquisitionem de Bastardia faciendam ad Curiam Christianitatis, quam venire contra Legem & Consuetudinem Angliæ. Ad talem igitur errorem tollendum, necesse est causam addiscere, ut si dicat tenens, frater nihil juris habes in terra petita quia Bastardus es, quia Pater tuus nunquam desponsavit matrem tuam. Talis cognitio Bastardix recte pertinet ad iudicem Ecclesiasticum, ex quo præcise deductum est Matrimonium, quia non pertinet ad iudicem secularem discussio, utrum sit ibi Matrimonium vel non? cum ipse cui obijciatur dicat contrarium. Idem erit si dicat, frater nihil juris habes in terra illa licet Matrimonium intervenerit, quia inter Patrem tuum & Matrem tuam contractum fuit Matrimonium illegitimum, ex quo prius contraxit cum quadam quæ vixit tempore quando contraxit cum matre tua. Est igitur ad Curiam Christianitatis inquisitio in hoc transmittenda, quia ad iudicem secularem non pertinet discussio, quis eorum & quæ illarum sit legitima uxor, & quæ non. Item, opponi poterit Bastardia cum adiectione causæ, ut supra, sed non erit ad Curiam Christianitatis inquisitio demandanda, quia nihil pertinet ad iudicem Ecclesiasticum cognoscere de prioritate, vel posterioritate natiuitatis ejus cui opponitur Bastardia, cum sponsalia vel Matrimonium hinc inde concessa sint, non magis quam si quis ita diceret, frater nihil juris habes in terra illa, & si jus haberes, petere non potes, quia petis de tempore Henr. senioris vel ulterius quod omnem excludit rationem: vel si dicat tenens sic, frater nihil juris habes in terra petita quia Bastardus, quia natus fuit per tantum tempus ante sponsalia vel Matrimonium contractum inter Patrem tuum et Matrem tuam. Et quia hinc inde conceditur Matrimonium, bene poterit Rex in Curia sua inquirere sine alicujus præjudicio, utrum talis cui obijciatur, natus sit ante Matrimonium vel post? sicut inquirere poterit in aliis casibus, utrum natus in tempore Regis H. vel Regis J. & maxime in defectum Episcoporum, quia contracti sunt Legibus et Consuetudinibus Angliæ, nec etiam magis injuriosum est quam si Rex in placito Dotis in Curia sua fieri faciat inquisitionem, utrum mulier dotem petens dotata sit ad ostium Ecclesiæ vel alibi? vel utrum sponsalia vel Matrimonium publicum sit, vel clandestinum? Et cum in Curia Domini Regis, Anno Regni sui Vicesimo, in crastino Sancti Vincentii apud Merton, coram Venerabili Patre tunc Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, & coram Suffraganeis suis omnibus, & coram majore parte Comitum & Baronum Angliæ, tunc & ibidem existentium pro Coronatione Regis & Reginæ, pro quo omnes vocati fuerunt, generaliter tractatum esset de communi utilitate totius Regni, super pluribus articulis Regem & Reginam tangentibus, inter alia tractatum esset de hujusmodi objectione Bastardiæ, Quærum (viz.) quis natus ante sponsalia et Matrimonium haberi possit pro legitimo, sicut ille qui post Matrimonium natus fuit? Ad quod omnes Episcopi responderunt, Quod omnes illi qui nati fuerunt ante sponsalia vel Matrimonium, ita erunt legitimi sicut illi qui nati erunt post Matrimonium quoad Dominum Deum, & quoad Ecclesiam, * nec voluerunt, nec potuerunt sine præjudicio Ecclesiasticæ dignitatis respondere ad Breve super hujusmodi inquisitione facienda de Bastardia, rescribere Domino Regi, (viz.) utrum ante vel post, quia hoc esset in præjudicium Sanctæ Ecclesiæ, ut dicebant, sed rogabant Regem & Magnates, quod ad hoc consensum præberent, quod nati ante Matrimonium quoad omnia legitimi esse possent sicut illi qui post: et omnes Comites et Barones, quotquot fuerunt, responderunt una voce, * Quod noluerunt Leges Angliæ mutare, quæ usque ad tempus illud usitate fuerunt et approbatæ. facienda & maxime, quod nulla fiat appellatio extra Regnum si de necessitate contingat appellari: & tunc præceptum fuit, quod ita teneretur & observetur in futuro, tam de illis, quam de quibus iudicium ex tunc faciendum esset in Curia Domini Regis, tam de placitis inceptis quam incipiendis cum huiusmodi Bastardia obijciatur ex tali causa. Et quod Assisa mortis antecessoris processit in Curia Domini Regis super huiusmodi Bastardia infra ætatem petentium, & ubi jurata dixit quod non fuerunt Hæredes propinquiore quia nati fuerunt in adulterio ante Matrimonium, probatur in itinere M. de Pateshull, in Com. Cinn. Anno Regis H. filii J. undecimo Assisa mortis antecessoris si Henricus Pansers decem. Norhington. Rationibus igitur supra dictis & ex tali communi consensu, in electione Domini Regis esse poterit, utrum velit inquisitionem illam faciendam, demandare ordinariis, vel illam facere in Curia sua, quia si illam in Curia sua fecerit cum exceptio ei data fuerit & aperta & ex certa causa non debet responsio esse obscura, sed sicut opponit exceptio quod secundum Legem & Consuetudinem Anglia Bastardus est, eo quod natus ante sponsalia vel Matrimonium, et sic ex tali causa replicare debet petens et dicere, quod legitimus est ex causa contraria, quia natus est post sponsalia vel Matrimonium, et sic contradicere intentioni tenentis, quia non contradicit, sed dicit simpliciter quod legitimus sit, et paratus probare se legitimum ubi debuerit, quia ad causam non respondet. Debet igitur dicere causam, quod legitimus quia natus est post sponsalia vel Matrimonium, si autem ex tali obscura responsione mittatur ad Curiam Christianitatis, & rescribatur obscure, quod legitimus, vel si causa obiecta fuerit & non rescribatur per eadem verba, sed quod legitimus sit, in defectum Curie Christianitatis fiat inquisitio in Curia Domini Regis, utrum ante Matrimonium vel post? quia videtur per hoc quod ibi possit esse fallacia, & verum rescribatur & falsum, sed diversis respectibus, quia poterit esse legitimus secundum statuta Ecclesie quantum ad ordines, & quantum ad dignitates, & quantum ad Leges & Consuetudines Anglicanas Bastardus; quantum ad successiones, quia ibi licet legitimus ad prædicta sive ante sive post. Et cum taliter obiecta fuerit Bastardia ex causa tali, si petens obscure respondeat, denegetur ei actio at si nihil respondisset, & tenens se teneat in pace. Si autem tenenti obiecta fuerit, & sic obscure responderit, quasi indefensus rem possesam amittat, quia non omnino respondere vel obscure, ad paria iudicantur, &c.

The Pope & Popish Clergy having made (a) Marriage one of their seven Sacraments of the Church, under the new Testament, though very improperly, it being instituted for Adam and all his Posterity at the very Creation, common to all Pagan Nations as well as Christian, (if not to some birds and beasts, who by the instinct of nature couple themselves together two & two, by a kind of conjugal tie, as Doves, &c.) and altogether inconsistent with their Sacrament of Orders, which it totally nulls and prophanes by their Doctrine and Romish Canons, (b) inhibiting Priests Marriage as inconsistent with their Orders, and nulling, degrading their Sacerdotal function more then professed Whoredome or Adultery. Thereupon inferred, that the King and his Temporal Courts, Judges, had no Jurisdiction at all in cases of Marriage, Divorce, or Bastardy, but only Popes, (c) Bishops, and Courts Christian, as if Kings, and their Temporal Judges, Courts, were not Christian. Upon which mistake (d) Bracton makes this inference, in the case of Bastardy. Ad Papam et ad Sacerdotium quidem pertinent ea quæ spiritualia sunt, (true only in a qualified, ministerial sense) ad Regem vero et ad Regnum ea quæ sunt temporalia, juxta illud, Cælum Cœli Domino, terram autem dedit filiis hominum. Et unde ad Papam nihil pertinet ut de temporalibus disponat vel ordinet, non magis quam Reges vel Principes de spiritualibus, ne quis eorum falcem inmittat in messem alienam, (which subverts the Popes Temporal Monarchy.) Et sicut Papa ordinare potest in spiritualibus quoad ordines et dignitates, ita potest Rex in temporalibus de hæreditatibus dandis, vel hæredibus constituendis secundum consuetudinem Regni sui. Habet enim quodlibet Regnum suas consuetudines & diversas, poterit enim una esse consuetudo in Regno Anglia, & alia in Regno Francia quantum ad successiones, Which he further proves in this case of Bastardy. Wherein the Law being thus settled, declared in England, the King by this memorable Writ settled the like Law

HENRICUS Dei gratia Rex Anglie, &c. Venerabili Patri L. eadem gratia Archiepiscopo Dublin, & dilecto & fideli suo M. filio Geroldi Justiciario suo Hibernia, salutem. Accedens nuper ad Curiam nostram Georgius de Laffidell, nobis ex parte vestra supplicavit, ut vobis scire faceremus, quid juris sit secundum consuetudinem Anglie, in casibus subscriptis, videlicet, cum contingat filium alicujus Nobilis natum ex Matrimonio movere questionem fratri suo in fornicatione ante Matrimonium de eadem matre progenito super paterna hæreditate? Item, si contingat quod frater natus ante Matrimonium defendendo se, dicat se esse legitimum, utrum in tali casu sit mittendus ad forum Ecclesiasticum, &c? Item, si mittendus sit, in qua forma, &c? Item, si contingat quod nates ante Matrimonium fecerit homagium suum de terris suis post decessum Patris sui, & ratione homagii sic facti vocaverit Dominum suum ad Warrantum, Quid juris sit de illa vocatione? Et si Warrantizare debeat aut velit sponte, utrum duellum possit esse de jure inter natum ex Matrimonio & Dominum Warrantizantem cum inter ipsos fratres esse non possit?

Ad hæc autem vobis significamus de primo Capitulo, Quod si natus ante Matrimonium cui movetur questio, cognoscat se natum esse ante Matrimonium, nec petere potest hæreditatem, nec petitem retinere, secundum Anglie consuetudinem, nec talis si dicat se natum esse post, non est mittendus ad Curiam Christianitatis eo quod Clerus talem habet pro legitimo. Cum autem de casu illo anno præterito tractatum esset coram Venerabili Patre Archiepiscopo Canuar. & Coepiscopis suis, & Magnatibus nostris Anglie, scilicet utrum inquisitio de tali nato deberet fieri in Curia nostra, vel in Curia Christianitatis? Tandem prædictus Archiepiscopus & Episcopi petierunt, sibi dari potestatem inquirendi; postea vero processu temporis, quia in forma brevis nostri eis super hoc transmissi contentum fuit, quod respondere deberent, utrum talis natus esse ante Matrimonium vel post? Videntes hoc esse contrarium legibus suis, noluerunt ad hoc respondere, set reliquerunt nobis & Curie nostræ hoc inquirendum & terminandum, & nondum provisum est in Curia nostra sub qua forma hoc debeat inquiri, vel per Sacramentum xii. Juratorum, vel per probationem a partibus producendam. Item, de Domino si debeat Warrantizare tenenti contra fratrem suum, vobis respondemus, quod non, eo quod tam natus post Matrimonium quam ante uno & eodem jure utuntur. Et Dominus in captione homagii potius circumventus fuit quam ratione strictus. Nec esse poterit duellum inter eos prædicta ratione: Et præterea quia Dominus tenetur plus Warrantizare petenti nato post Matrimonium, quam tenenti nato ante Matrimonium. Hiis igitur intellectis secundum quod prædictum est, in partibus vestris faciatis. Teste Rege apud Mortclack, Nono die Maii.

I shall cloze up this Chapter with a most memorable Prohibition against the Popes and Spiritual Courts Usurpations on the Crown. The Archbishop of Canterbury being sued by the Prior and Monks of Canterbury, for certain Advowsons of Churches, Possessions, Rents, and Services, in the Ecclesiastical Court, by authority of the Popes Letters, despising the remedy of the Kings Court where they ought to sue for them; thereupon the King issued forth this Prohibition to the Archbishop, prohibiting him upon his Faith and Allegiance to him not to answer them in that Court, it being prejudicial to his Royal Crown and Dignity, against which he should repute it a voluntary contempt in the Archbishop, if he should wittingly and willingly disobey this his Prohibition, by answering in that Court.

BOOK IV. CHAP. II.

Containing sundry Records, Patents, and Historical passages, evidencing the Kings Supreme Jurisdiction in and over Ecclesiastical Persons, Courts, Affaires, in England and Ireland: The Intollerable Usurpations, Extortions, Oppressions, Innovations, Proceedings of Popes, their Legates, Agents, Instruments, to the prejudice of the Rights, Priviledges of the King, Church, Kingdom, Subjects, in both these Realms; with the severall Complaints and Oppositions against them: The English and Irish Bishops, Covents, Courts Christians Encroachments upon the Kings Temporal Courts, Rights, Royal Dignity, and Subjects Liberties; Prohibitions and Oppositions against them; with the principal Ecclesiastical Affaires and Transactions in relation to England and Ireland, from the beginning of the 21. to the end of the 40. year of King Henry the 3d. his Reign.

I Have in the cloze of the preceeding Chapter presented you with King Henry the 3d. his memorable Writ of Prohibition directed to Edmond Archbishop of Canterbury, not to answer to a suit brought against him by the Prior and Monks of Trinity, concerning Advoufons of Churches, Lands, Services, and gifts to his Church, before the Popes Delegates, authorized to hear the same, to the prejudice of the Rights of his Crown and Royal Dignity: I shall now begin this Chapter with this Kings Prohibition, Attachment, for disobeying his former Prohibitions, issued against the Popes Delegates themselves, (being three Abbots) and the Prior who sued him, with other Prohibitions not to proceed therein under pain of seizing their Temporalities, for citing the Archbishop to appear before the Pope out of the Realm, or elsewhere, upon this untrue suggestion to the Pope, that such cases had been formerly handled in Ecclesiastical Courts in the time of his Ancestors, without any Prohibition, which the King and his Counsel deny, sending special Messengers to the Popes Delegates, together with Prohibitions to inhibit their proceedings, as these Records attest.

REX Abbati de Lesnes salutem. Audivimus quod Prior et Monachi Sanctæ Trinitatis Cantuar. coram te et Conjudicibus tuis trahit E. Cant. Quia vero manifeste est contra Coronam et dignitatem nostram quod præfata loquela teneatur in Cur. Christianitatis, cum placitum de advocacionibus Ecclesiarum alibi teneri non debeat nec consueverit in Regno nostro quam in Curia nostra: Et præterea cum vacante Archiepiscopatu Cantuar. ad nos et hæredes nostros pertineat dictorum rentorum perceptio, et prædictarum obedientiarum dispositio, prohibemus tibi ne de cetero placitum illud teneas in Curia Christianitatis. REX Abbatibus de Boxle, Sanctæ Radegund. & de Lesnes salutem. Memoriter tenemus, nos alias inhibuisse, ne teneretis placitum in curia Christianitatis inter venerabilem Patrem E. Cant. Archiepiscopum ex una parte, & Priorem & Monachos Sanctæ Trinitatis Cant. ex alia, super advocacionibus Ecclesiarum, Wariscis, Exenis et servitiis hominum. In both these precedent cases of the Archbishop, the King by several Writs of Prohibition, countermanded the Popes own Bulls and delegates as contrary to the Rights and Dignities of his Crown, and prohibited their proceedings, which gave some check to his Usurpations of this kinde, though he was enforced to connive at or submit to other Papal inroachments for the present, as unable to withstand or redresse them.

The Kings Clerks and Household Chaplains in those dayes wearing long hair and Peruwigs, (against the * Apostles and Natures dictates) thereupon the King out of piety and zeal to reform this abuse, issued this Writ to William de Perecat, authorizing and strictly commanding him to cut their hair, and pull off their yellow Peruwigs, under pain of being shaven, and polled himself, as this Writ assures us.

A memorable President fit to be imitated and put in execution in our effeminate degenerate age, more peccant in this kinde then any former times, there being more false Heads (if not hearts too) in England, and more long-haired Ruffians, both of the Clergy, Court, City, Country, needing such a Reformation and Reformer as this Writ prescribes, then in any precedent age.

The King having newly founded and endowed the Hospital of St. Johns in Oxford, whereby he became Patron thereof, the Archdeacon of Lincoln grew so presumptuous, as without the Kings privity, to remove Freer William, to whom he had for a time committed the administration of the Temporalities thereof, and to make one Ely Master

REX M. Cassalensi Archiepiscopo salutem. Quia vacante nuper sede Artferten, Decanus & Capitulum ejusdem Ecclesiæ, præter licentiam nostram quam prius debuerunt requisisse, eligere præsumperunt, cum ad nos mitterent in Angliam Rogantes, quod Electioni suæ assensum regium præberemus, Nolumus, sicut nec debuimus ipsos exaudire: ut autem parceremus laboribus et expensis prædictorum Decani et Capituli, et dignitatem regiam servaremus illam, dedimus in mandatis venerabili in Christo patri L. Dublinensi Archiepiscopo, et Justiciario nostro Hyberniæ, quibus potestatem dedimus hac vice dandi prædictis Decano et Capitulo Licentiam eligendi, et post electionem eidem assensum suum nomine nostro præbendi; Quod cum prædicti Decanus et Capitulum ad ipsos venerint vel miserint, licentiam petitori, eam auctoritate nostra eis concedant, et electioni postea rite celebratæ, Assentiant. Cum igitur oporteat ipsos licentiam adhuc ab Archiepiscopo et Justiciario nostro petere, ne Juri nostra derogare videremur, et petita licentia iterato eligere, paternitatem vestram rogamus attentius, quatenus et si per errorem et negligentiam prædictorum Decani et Capituli contigerit semensse pertransiri, propter quod videatur forte vobis, quod ad Episcopatum illum manum possitis extendere, contra Coronam et dignitatem nostram inde nihil attemptetis ordinare, quia nullatenus sustineremus dignitati Regiæ in hac parte derogari; maxime, cum ex parte nostra

Ingressis itaque viam universæ carnis, pax memoriæ Venerabilibus Patribus Wigornienſi & Norwicensi Episcopis, elegerunt Monachi Wigornia Magistrum Walterum de Cantelupo, filium Willielmi de Cantelupo, viri potentis & præclari, in Præfulem & Pastorem animarum suarum: quem sine difficultate Dominus Papa accepit, et in Episcopum consecravit. Norwicenses autem Priorem suum, virum religiosum & discretum, in suum sibi Præfulem elegerunt: cuius electio, licet vite facta, quia tamen Regi displicuit, quibusdam ridiculis rationibus vel exceptionibus contradicentium, fuit diu in pendulo, non sine peccatorum scrupulis, impedita. After near three years contests, William de Raleigh was consecrated Bishop thereof, and the Prior put by.

The deplorable, servile, irreligious condition of the Church and Realm of England at this time, under the manifold tyrannical Usurpations, Exactions, Corruptions of the Pope and his Instruments, (bonis terra in Regni perniciem saginati) is thus most emphatically remonstrated by an * eye witness then living.

Temporibus illis ingruentibus, igniculus fidei coepit nimis refrigescere, ut per se in cinerem redactus, vix videretur sentillare. Jam enim simonia sine rubore perpetrata, usurarii manifeste diversis argumentis a popularibus & minoribus, pecuniam impudenter extorquebant. Expiravit charitas, libertas Ecclesiastica emarcuit, religio viluit suppeditata: & facta est filia Syon quasi meretrix effrons, non habens ruborem. Quotidie vilissimæ personæ et illiteratæ, Bullis Romanis armatæ, in minas statim erumpentes, redditus a piis Patribus, & Aliis religiosorum et sustentationem pauperum et hospitalitatem peregrinorum collatos, spretis privilegiis a Sanctis nostris antecessoribus indultis, diripere non formidant: fulgurantibus enim sententiis, sine dilatione captivum postulata receperunt. Quod si ad refugium appellationis vel privilegii, recurrerent injuriam patientes & spoliati, statim suspendentes per aliquem alium Prælatum, authentico Papæ compellente, fecerunt excommunicare. Et sic non prece, non canonice, sed imperiosa exactione simplices spoliarent: Juxta illud Poeticum:

— Armato supplicat ense potens.

Unde factum est, quod ubi solebant nobiles & dapiles Clerici, Ecclesiarum custodes & patroni, circumjacentis Patriæ latitudinem sua opulentia nobilitare, transeuntes suscipere, pauperes recreare: ibidem abjectæ personæ moribus vacui, versutia pleni, procuratores et firmarii Romanorum, quicquid præciosum in terra fuit et utile abradentes; Dominis suis in remotas terras desciolose ex patrimonio Crucifixi viventibus, et ex alieno superbientibus, transfuderunt. Erat igitur videre dolorem præcordialem, genas Sanctorum irrigare, querelas erumpere, suspiria multiplicare: dicentibus multis cum singultu cruentato, Melius esset nobis mori, quam videre mala gentis nostræ et Sanctorum. De Angliæ, quæ quondam Princeps provinciarum, Domina gentium, speculum Ecclesiæ, religionis exemplum, nunc facta est sub tributo. Conculcaverunt eam ignobiles, et facta est in prædam degeneribus. Sed hæc Angliæ flagella, multiformes reatus procurarunt: irato eo, qui Regnare facit Hypocritam propter peccata populi, & Tyrannum dominari.

No wonder then, that * Temporibus eisdem, Græcorum debacchante solita insolentia, tam adversus Ecclesiam Romanam, quam suum Dominum Imperatorem Constantinopolitanum, (who sided with the Pope) Dominum Papam & omnem Ecclesiam adeo exasperavit, quod multorum erat sententia & voluntas, Crucis-signatorum exercitum super eos retorquere; the Pope sending for some Souldiers to the Earl of Britain, and making him his General by Land and Sea, in this intended War against them, for which he wanted monies.

The

The Pope upon the Kings request, under pretext to rectifie some of these abuses (against which there was a universal complaint) sent Ottobone his Legate into England, who at first demeaned himself like a Wolf in Sheeps clothing; to take off the scandal, odium, prejudice of the people, against the Pope, See of Rome, and Legates, till by degrees he put off his Sheeps clothing, and proclaimed himself a ravening Wolf, as well as his Predecessors; whose arrival in England and proceedings are thus recorded by * Matthew Paris, and † Matthew Westminster.

Adventus Ottobonis Legati in Angliam.

Eodem quoque anno, nesciebatur ad quid circa festum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli, Dominus Otto Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diaconus Cardinalis, per mandatum Regis venit Legatus in Angliam, nescientibus Regni Magnatibus. Unde plures aduersus Regem magnam conceperunt indignationem, dicentes: Omnia Rex pervertit, jura, fidem, promissa in omnibus transgreditur. Nunc enim Matrimonio se sine suorum amicorum & hominum naturalium consilio, alienigenæ copulavit: nunc Legatum, Regni totius immutatum, clam vocavit: nunc sua dat, nunc data cupit revocare. Sic, sicque de die in diem, juxta dictum Evangelicum, in se divisum & dissipatum Regnum, est enormiter desolatum. Dicitur est autem, quod Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Edmundus Regem talia facientem increpavit, præcipue de vocatione Legati; sciens inde in sui dignitatis præjudicium, magnam Regno imminere jacturam. Sed Rex, spreto tam suo quam aliorum suorum consilio, quod concepit animo nullatenus voluit propositum revocare. Venit igitur in magno apparatu Legatus prænominatus, & potentia magna. Et occurrerunt ei Episcopi & Clerici summi usque ad litus; & aliqui in naviculis navigando, obviarunt ei, applaudentes & muneribus impreciabilia offerrentes. Imo etiam Parisus in obviam ei, obtulerunt telas escarleti & vasa preciosa, nuncii diversorum Episcoporum. In quo facto nimis a multis meruerunt reprehendi, tum pro dono & pro dandi modo; quia in panno & ejus colore, videbatur legationis officium & adventum acceptari. Adveniens autem munera oblata omnia non accepit, sed aliqua, sed quæ non recepit, jussit sibi reservari. Redditus autem vacantes, suis quos secum adduxit, dignis & indignis largiter distribuit. Rex autem ei usque ad confinium maris occurrit, & inclinato ad genua ejus capite usque ad interiora Regni deduxit officiose. Et adventantes Episcopi, cum Abbatibus & aliis Ecclesiarum Prælatibus, eum cum omni honore & reverentia, cum processionibus & campanarum classico, & preciosis muneribus, ut decuit, & plus quam decuit, receperunt. With such cost, pomp, and servile obsequiousness did they entertain their greatest pest and grievance.

Dominus autem Otto Legatus, prudenter & modeste se gerens, munera preciosissima sibi oblata in magna parte respuens, contra consuetudinem Romanorum, indignationem in toto Regno conceptam (upon his sudden arrival in it) tam a Clero quam multis, circa opinionem multorum, per gestum suum ordinatum temperavit. Primo enim quosdam Magnates, ex quodam odio latenter concepto, sibi discordes, pacificavit; & indice osculo in bona fide consideravit. Utpote Dominum Petrum Episcopum Wintoniensem, & Dominum Hubertum Comitem Cancia, & alios quamplures diu ante ibi dissidentes. Quos postquam Domini Legati pacificavit industria, omnibus Prælatibus Angliæ scripsit, ut in Octavis Sancti Martini Londoniensis convenirent, autenticum Domini Papæ, de plenaria potestate Legationis sibi concessa vel tradita, communiter in Ecclesia Sancti Pauli audire, & in eadem communiter de reformatione Ecclesiæ Angliæ tractaturi, & in præsentia ejus Concilium celebraturi.

gers. *Sed Rex tam Comitis Cornubiæ Richardi fratris sui, quam aliorum suorum hominum spretis consilio, magis ac magis, ut incepit, deliravit; et se voluntati Romanorum, præcipue Legati, quem inconsultus advocaverat, mancipavit adeo, ut videretur quasi vestigia sua adozare: affirmans, se tam in publico quam secreto, sine Domini sui Papæ vel Legati consensu, nil posse de Regno disponere, transmutare, vel alienare: ut non Rex, sed feudarius Papæ diceretur. His igitur et aliis deliramentis, Rex omnium Nobilium suorum corda cruentavit. Consiliarios quoque habuit infames & suspectos, qui hujus rei fomentum esse dicebantur: quos idcirco magis habebant Nobiles Anglia exosos, quia de Regno ipso duxerunt originem. Et hi erant, *Johannes Comes Lincolnia, S. Comes Legria, frater G. Templarius.

Interim Domino Legato offerebantur dona pretiosa, tam in palefridis concupisibilibus, quam vasis pretiosis, & vestimentis mollibus & duplicibus, pellibus variis & sylvestribus, nummis, esculentis, & poculentis: ita quod unus solus Episcopus, scilicet Wintoniensis Petrus, cum constaret ei quod Londonia esset hyematurus, quinquaginta boves pascuales, & centum summas tritici electi, & octo dolia vini meracissimi, transmisit ei in alimentum. Alii quoque secundum vires & facultates suas ei similia contulerunt. Legatus vero, Romanam avaritiam temperando, non omnia, sed aliqua oblata sereno vultu suscepit gratanter: considerans illud Seneca Philosophicum: Omnia oblata recipere, avarum est: nulla, rebelle: aliqua, sociale.

Mat. Paris Hist.

Eodem quoque anno scripsit Rex omnibus Magnatibus suis, ut coram eo & Domino Legato, in festo exaltationis Sanctæ Crucis, apud Eboracum convenirent, de arduis negotiis Regnum contingentibus tractaturi. Venerat autem eis obviam Rex Scotia, vocatus a Rege Anglia, & Legato, apud Eboracum: ut ibi habita communi deliberatione, de pace reformanda inter eos, feliciter componeretur: & Dei dante gratia, omnis lis mota prævia ratione sedaretur, & de justis utriusque debitis satisficeret. Ubi tandem cum pervenissent, sic elaboratum est, ut Rex Scotia perciperet de Regno Anglia, trecentas libratas terræ, sine Castri constructione, homagiumque Regi Anglia faceret, & fœdus inter eos amicitie sanciretur: & hoc se fideliter facturum Regi Anglia & conservaturum juraret: & sic omnis querela & vendicatio ex parte Regis Scotia, conquiesceret.

After the peace thus concluded, this covetous Legate desiring to enter into Scotland, to prey upon it, as he had done on England, Volenti Domino Legato intrare Regnum Scotia, (his chief design in summoning this Council at York) ut ibi de negotiis Ecclesiasticis tractaret, sicut in Anglia: respondit Rex Scotia, Non me memini Legatum in terra mea vidisse, nec opus esse aliquem esse vocandum, Deo gratias, nec adhuc opus est, omnia bene se habent. Nec etiam tempore Patris mei, vel alicujus antecessorum meorum, visus est aliquis Legatus introitum habuisse, nec ego dum mei compos fuero, tolerabo. (So prejudicial did they deem a Legates entry to their Kingdom.) Veruntamen, quia fama te Sanctum virum prædicat, moneo te, ut si forte terram meam ingrediaris, caute progrediaris, ne quid sinistri tibi contingat. Indomiti enim & sylvestres homines ibi habitant, humanum sanguinem sitientes, quos nec ego ipse valeo edomare, qui etiam si in vos irruant, nequeo eos cohibere. Me etiam nuper, ut forte audistis, voluerunt invadere, & a Regno expellere exheredatum. Quibus auditis, Legatus avidam voluntatem intrandi Scotiam temperavit, & latera Regis sui, scilicet Anglia, sibi per omnia obedientis, non reliquit. Remansit autem cum Rege Scotia quidam Italicus Legati consanguineus, quem Rex cingulo militari, terram etiam conferendo, ne penitus rebellis videretur, nobilitavit. Et sic soluto Concilio, Rex Anglia cum Legato suo versus Australia remeavit.

Appropinquante vero tempore Concilii, jussit sibi Legatus Sedem parati in Occidentali parte Ecclesiæ Sancti Pauli Londoniæ fastigiosam nimis & solennem, longis trabibus & sedilibus gradatim exaltatam. Misit igitur Literas suas, ut vocati omnes Anglia Prælati, scilicet Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Abbates, Priores installati, tam sub Conventus sui vel Capituli, quam suo nomine, Literas procuratorias deferentes, ut quicquid quicquid in Concilio statueret Legatus, ratum utrobique haberetur. Venerunt igitur omnes iuxta mandatum Domini Legati, nimis vexati & fatigati in corporibus propriis, equorum & viaticis; utpote ingruente hyeme & multiformi tempestate, omnes Prælati suæ Legatiæ, Angliam tamen potissime.

Advenerat etiam cum aliis ad idem Concilium properantibus, quidam Clericus, nomine Magister Walterus, cognomento Præ, qui palam asseruit, omnes fere Planctas sub uno signo, scilicet Capricorno, tunc convenientes, commotionem magnam in aere facturos, & ventos validissimos commocuros: pestemque magnam animalium, præcipue cornutorum, quæ pecudes vel pecora appellamus, subsecuturam pronuntiabat. Et addidit quasi jocose: Utinam non hominum cornutorum, scilicet Episcoporum. Nec fecellit omnino hæc prædicentis opinio. Statim enim Ecclesiam Sancti Pauli, ubi tunc erant congregati, tantus ventus concussit, quod omnes, præcipue Legatum, tremor magnus occupavit. Nocte autem Sanctæ Cecilie, nubeculæ teterimæ, turræ, & inordinatæ, Luna existente prima, in occidente apparuerunt; & ceperunt mugire tonitrua, micare coruscationes, venti quoque commoveri, & per totam noctem sequentem & diem ventus inhorruit validissimus, qualem non se meminit aliquis prævidisse: & hic ventus per quindecim vel plures dies duravit continuatus. Corruerunt robora radicitus avulsa, domus, turres, ædificia, motionem senserunt vel ruinam; ut merito aer perturbationi hominum videretur concordare.

Nota.

Cum igitur convenissent Londoniæ Prælati Angliæ, in Ecclesia Sancti Pauli, die prima Concilio assignata, scilicet in crastino octavarum Sancti Martini, non comparuit Legatus; quia Episcopi rogaverant eum, ut ea die daretur eis copia inspiciendi quæ proposuit statuere, & secum super his deliberare, ne aliquid in præjudicium eorum statuere attentaret. Altera igitur die, constitutis in secretis & abdatis locis militibus armatis & servientibus cincter dacentis, quos ei ad instantiam precum suarum Dominus Rex commodaverat: timebat enim valde sibi, eo quod dicebatur, eum nimis velle defavire in eos, qui plura habebant beneficia, & præcipue illegitimos. Apparuit autem summo mane, scilicet diluculo, in Ecclesia prædicta. Erat attem ibi tot expectantium multitudo tam compressa, quod ipsi Legato erat ingressus difficillimus. Et ingressus Ecclesiam, coram majori Ecclesia, Pontificibus se induit, scilicet * superpellicio, & desuper Cappa chorali, Pellibus variis furrata, & Mitra. Et præcedentibus Archiepiscopis Cantuariensi & Eboracensi eum, cum processione solenni, cum cruce & cereis accensis, & cum Letania, sedem suam ascendit per gradus pompose, ut dictum est, præparatam, & jam pomposius tapetis & pallis redimitam: collocante se a dextris Domino Cantuariensi & Eboracensi a sinistris: propter quod orta est inter eos dissensio, scilicet de ordinatione sessionis. Et appellatum est ex parte Eboracensis, pro jure suo, quod sibi vendicabat. Lecto igitur solenniter Evangelio, scilicet, † Ego sum Pastor bonus, sicut moris est, dictisque collectis propriis ab ipso Legato, & cantato Veni creator Spiritus, appellatoque ab Eboracensi, ut dictum est; sederunt juxta Legatum duo Archiepiscopi, Cantuariensis a dextris, Eboracensis a sinistris. Quibus dixit Legatus, volens ipsam controversiam pacificare, neutrius tamen juri derogando: * *In Bulla Domini Papæ stat imago Pauli à dextris Crucis in medio Bullæ figurata, & Petri à sinistris: nulla tamen inter tantos Sanctos est orta unquam contentio, ambo enim sunt in coequali Gloria. Verumtamen propter Petri clavigeri dignitatem, & Apostolatus principatum, necnon & Cathedralem dignitatem, cum Prioratu vocationis, merito à dextris Crucis eius imago collocanda videtur. Sed quia Paulus credidit in Christum, quem non vidit; à dextris figuratur: Beati enim qui non viderunt, &c. Sic Dominus Cantuariensis totius Angliæ primas, & qui præest antiquissima ac nobilissima Ecclesia Cantuariensi, necnon & Londonensi, quæ est Sancti Pauli, non sine ratione à dextris est collocandus. Et ex tunc sequentibus diebus sedit Cantuariensis a dextris, Eboracensis a sinistris. Secundo autem die, Concilio jam incepto, missi sunt ex parte Domini Regis, Comes Lincolniensis Johannes, et Johannes filius Galfridi, et Willielmus de Rale, Canonici Sancti Pauli: ut dicto Legato * ex parte Regis et Regni inhiberent, ne ibi contra Regiam Coronam et Dignitatem aliquid statuere attentaret. Et remansit ibi, ut hoc observaretur, Willielmus de Rale, indutus Cappa Canonicali et superpellicio, aliis recedentibus. Et eodem die, ad impetractionem Domini Regis, lectum fuit quoddam privilegium, de festivitatibus Sancti Edwardi per totam Angliam celebrandis. Et de mandato Domini Papæ, de Sanctis Francisco & Dominico canonizatis. Et quia audierat Dominus Legatus, dum adhuc in hospicio suo esset, multos pluribus Ecclesiis beneficiatos, nobiles sanguine & possessionibus, & illegitimos, de quibus mentionem in quodam statuto Concilii fecerat, contra ipsum murmurasse, & ei etiam insidias præparasse: quosdam Magnates, scilicet Comitem Marescallum G. & Comitem Lincolnia J. & Comitem de Monte-fortis S. & quosdam de familia Domini Regis, cum gladiis & fustibus munitos, ad tuitionem sui suorumque, secum ad Concilium duxit & reduxit. In Concilio vero, cum statutum contra eos qui * plura beneficia obtinuerunt, contra Concilium Lateranense, pronuntiaretur, Episcopus Wigorniensis Walterus, scilicet de Casselupo, surgens in medio, deposita Mitra sua, sic Dominum Legatum est affatus. Pater Sancte, cum multi Nobiles, quorum sanguis noster est, plura obtineant beneficia, cum quibus nondum dispensatum est, quorum etiam aliqui provectæ sunt ætatis, & usque ad præsens honorifice vixerunt, & hospitalitatem ad posse procurando, elemosynas patentibus januis erogarunt, durum esset nimis, tales suis beneficiis spoliatos, in ignominiosam trudi paupertatem. Quidam vero juvenes feroces ac strenui, maximis periculis se opponerent, antequam suis se sinerent privari beneficiis, unico tantum retento. Quod bene perpendo per memetipsum. Antequam enim ad istam vocarer dignitatem, proposui in animo meo, quod si unicum amitterem beneficium talis prætextu constitutionis, omnia amitterem. Unde timendum est, quod multi ad præsens in simili proposito perseverent. Quoniam igitur multitudo talium in causa est, Sanctæ Paternitati vestræ supplicamus, quatenus ob salutem vestram & nostram, super huiusmodi statuto Dominum Papam consulatis. Præterea, cum statutum vestrum in religione Sancti Benedicti, ad omnes æqualiter se extendat, & durum sit multis, tum propter locorum penuriam, & præcipue Monialibus, cum sint debiles & fragiles, hoc statutum observare, necesse est huic rigori discretum addere temperamentum. Super quo etiam postulamus, ut Dominum Papam super his velitis consultare. Cui Dominus Legatus respondit, Quod si omnes Prælati, scilicet isti præsentis Archiepiscopi & Episcopi, una cum eo, super his Domino Papæ scriberent, libenter consentiret. Et sciendum, quod quia aliqui opinabantur, sicut datum fuit intelligi Domino Legato, quod statuta sua robur nisi tantum in tempore suæ Legationis non obtinerent; iussu ejusdem surrexit in medio quidam Clericus suus, Magister scilicet Alrho, & aperto libro authentico, scilicet registro Domini Papæ; ad majorem auctoritatem, ut validius talium opinionem improbarer, quandam decretalem legit distincte & aperte, quam Dominus Legatus distinguens approbavit: per illam asserens manifeste, quod etiam post recessum ejus, sua statuta perpetuæ firmitatis robur debeant obtinere. Nec prætereundum, quod primo die Concilii, collocatis, ut prædictum est, Archiepiscopis Cantuariensis, scilicet a dextris, Eboracensis vero a sinistris, perlectoque Evangelio, Ego sum Pastor bonus, dictisque collectis ad hoc pertinentibus, indictoque silentio, & turba comprimente castigata, Dominus Legatus sedendo quasi tubam vocem suam exaltans, sermonem suum inchoavit, thema suum sic præordinando: In medio sedis & in circuitu ejus quatuor animalia plena oculis ante & retro. In sermone prosequendo innuens, quod Prælati, quasi animalia habentia oculos ante & retro, debent esse in rerum secularium dispositionibus providi, & in spiritualibus circumspècti, Priora sequentibus caute continuantes. Et post sermonem legi fecit statuta, alta voce & distincte, quæ firmiter statuit observari, quæ subscripta in hoc libro duximus annotari.

Quoniam domum Domini decet Sanctitudo & Ministros ejus, a Domino dicitur, Sancti estote, quoniam Sanctus sum ego Dominus Deus vester. Satagit astutia humani generis inimici, ut Sanctitatem subtrahat vel destruat utrobique, dum in plerisque locis ut ne consecrentur Ecclesiæ vel retardat, & ne suo digne fungantur officio, Ministrorum mores & vitam multorum viciat & depravat, Sanctorum Patrum regulis & statutis, generaliter omnibus Christianæ religionis profectibus opponendo. Huic est igitur armata manu a cunctis Christi fidelibus fortiter in fide resistendum, & ad ejus molimina renovatis & novis semper utendum viribus enervanda: sicut Isaac puteos quos foderant filii Abramæ, sed humo impleverant Palestini, prius studuit renovari, novari, deinde alios fodere prorsus novos. Denique nos Otto, miseratione divina, Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diaconus Cardinalis, & Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, ad partes Anglia, cum Legationis officio a sede Apostolica destinati: divino fultu auxilio, et assantis Concilii suffragio et consensu, ad roborandum et refozmandum statum Ecclesiasticum in partibus Anglicanis, salvis illis Canonicis institutis, quæ cum reverentia volumus & cupimus observari, quædam ex commissa nobis potestate duximus observanda, quæ per certos articulos fecimus digeri & distingui. After which follow all the Canons made and promulged in this Council, which those who please may peruse at leasure in Matthew Paris, and in Johannes de Aton, his Constitutiones Legitimæ Ecclesiæ totiusque Regionis Anglicanæ, ab Legatis à Latere Summorum Pontificum collectio, fol. 1, to 121. with his Glosse upon them. The 1. Canon was for the Dedication and Consecration of Churches, many Cathedrals as well as Parish Churches being then unconsecrated: The 2. and 3. concerning Ecclesiastical Sacraments and Baptism: Others concerning the covetousness of Priests, their hearing Confessions, the qualities of such as were to be ordained, their Farmers and Vicars, Presentations to Churches, not dividing one Church into more, the Residence of Bishops and Priests, Pluralities, the habit of Clerks, Clandestine Marriages of Priests, Priests Concubines, their sons succession in their Benefices, protecting of Theeves, Murderers, eating of flesh, the Office of Archdeacons, Bishops, their Judges, Procurations, undue, unjust Citations, Exactions by Procurations, Registers, abuses of Proctors and Ecclesiastical Judges, and an Oath to be prescribed to them, to prevent the like abuses for the future. In this Council, this Legate introduced the use of Oathes in Ecclesiastical Courts and Causes, never formerly used in England, under a specious pretext, by colour whereof the Bishops and their Agents, extending their Authority beyond the Canon, introduced these and other Oathes, against the Laws and Customes of the Realm: to the peoples great oppression, as you shall hear anon, till the King by his Prohibitions restrained this Usurpation. The Canon first introducing an Oath of Calumny made in this Council, runs in these words. Jurandum calumniæ in causis Ecclesiasticis cujlibet, & de veritate dicendi, in spiritualibus quoque, ut veritas aperiat, facilius, & causæ celerius terminentur, statuimus de cætero præstari in Regno Angliæ, secundum Canonicas et Legitimas Sanctiones, obtenta in contrarium consuetudine non obstante. Huic statuto utiliter annectentes, ut judiciales induciæ judicis dentur arbitrio, juxta Legitimas & Canonicas Sanctiones. The nature, kinds, forms, words of this Juramentum Calumniæ, you may read at large in Johannes Schneidewin, a most famous Civilian, professor Academie Wittebergensis, in quatuor Institutionum Imperialium D. Justiniani libros, Commentarius, printed Argentorati 1599. lib. 4. Tit. 6. and Tit. 16. De Juramento Calumniæ, to whom I referre the Readers desiring satisfaction therein. He resolving p. 1102. Istud juramentum hodie non æstimatur nno obolo, quia facti sumus contemptores Dei, & religionis ejus. Unde ego puto, quod litigatores nostri temporis, potius jurant de calumnia committenda quam vitanda, & ideo melius esset, quod istud juramentum ex toto tolleretur a judicio, causa vitandi tot perjuria, non obstante quod hoc juramentum sit inventum ob publicam utilitatem. The corrupt depraved condition, extraordinary Rapines, Symony, Covetousness, Extortions of the Pope, Court, and Church of Rome in that age, which gave general scandal to all conscientious Christians, and some Cardinals themselves, yea caused the Greek Church wholly to separate from the Latine, deny the Supremacy of Rome, and renounce all obedience to her, is thus recorded by Matthew Paris, out of a private Letter sent from Rome to the Popes Legate in England, advising him to moderation, to prevent a total rejection of the Pope and See of Rome.

Eodem quoque tempore, circa dies Domini Natalitios, quidam Romana Ecclesiæ potens ac specialis Consiliarius, scilicet Dominus J. de Columna Cardinalis, Legato in Angliâ commoranti, secretius scripsit in hæc verba.

tantum fuit consilio, tertio annuente, quin versus gressu precedente consilium, et cocis precedentibus cum tractatu. Hinc est, quod libertas abjicitur, servitus inchoatur, sanctuarii opus effunditur, ancillatur patrimonium, superbia exaltatur, tonantium carcer emitur, donorum contemnitur, appetitur confusio, armatur molestia, tranquillitas effugatur, non curatur de fratrum et exterorum scandalo, irrisionibus irridetur, cæcus loco dividitur, differuntur negotia, instantes protrahi sermonibus diutina expectantium lassitudine fatigantur. Bene vobis accidit, quod ab his tormentis abstracti, abiistis ad Regionem longinquam, ne videretis mala gentis vestra & sanctorum, ne pulsaremini quotidianis ictibus, crebris punctionibus lacerati. Voluimus reformare statum, ut sape tentavimus, & ecce deformis desinitio subintravit. Incassum traduntur consilia, ubi voluntas non sistitur freno prudentia, sed impetu agitata, proflit ad procliva, nec patitur retardari. Accedit quoque ad doloris cumulum, nobilis illa Columna, qua tam magnificè structuram Ecclesie sustentabat, recolenda videlicet memoria Domini Sabiniensis, subito subtrahitur de medio; molestia primum dolore percussus, ac postmodum infirmitate lenta vexatus, obiit in Domini potentius ingressurus; ruina casum occasionaliter matri relinquens, cum gemitu & dolore. Redierunt fratres a regione dissidente cum Principe, sed pacis impressa vestigia non apparuerunt; quia non paruerunt pacis bajulis discordia sectatores. Antiochenis a societate distrabuntur, nec a redemptibus commendantur. Vellem quod breviori familia stiparetur amicus, ne fieret alius Oneri, & obtreccantium dentibus laceraretur. * And is it not so still?

Hoc igitur & similibus indicis manifeste compertum est, Ecclesiam Romanam, Dei (proh dolor!) indignationem incurrisse. Ipsius enim Magistratus et Rectores, non populi devotionem, sed marcupia plena quarunt denariozum: non animas Deo lucrificare, sed redditus rapere, et pecuniam congregare, religiosos opprimere, poena, usura, simonia, et aliis diversis argumentis, sibi aliena impudenter usurpare. Non curatur de iustitia et honestate, de simplicium informatio: * imo cum quocumque modo quis beneficio Ecclesiastico inestitur, de summa pecunie, quam inde sortiri possunt, statim sciscitatur: ultima vero vel nulla questio oritur de Sancto vel ejus nomine, quo Ecclesia intitulatur: hinc imprecatio, murmur in populo suscitavit, & diutim ira Dei merito provocatur. Visa igitur tanta malicia & oppressione, erigitur Græca Ecclesia contra Romanam: Imperatorem suum expellendo, & soli Archiepiscopo suo Constantinopolitano, nomine Germano, obediendo. Qui protaciter Græcorum errores, non tantum veteres, imo novos & adinventos detendens, enormiter a religione Catholica delirat. Eorum enim hæc est desipientia: Afferunt, Spiritum Sanctum non à Filio, sed à Patre solo procedere, eo quod scriptum reperitur: Spiritus veritatis, qui à Patre procedit. Præterea, conficiunt de fermentato. Et in multis, Latinis contradicunt, & eos spernunt, Ecclesiam Romanam in pluribus condemnantes, magis tamen ejus fallia quam dicta. Constituit igitur sedem suam, quasi alter Lucifer, in Aquilone, scilicet in Constantinopoli, Græcorum Civitate Metropolitana, filius scilicet degener & Antipapa, vocans Ecclesiam suam et asserens digniorem, et Ecclesiam Romanam sororem ejus dicens esse, non matrem: eo quod Beatus Petrus Apostolorum Princeps quondam, prius quam Romam venerat, Antiochia, quæ Imperio Græcorum adjacet & pertinet, sedem constituit Cathedralem. Addens, quod Antiochia omnem quem potuit Apostolo Christi, & sic Christo, exhibuit honorem & reverentiam: propter quod Theophilus meruit appellari. Roma vero eundem Apostolum Petrum & Coapostolum ejus Paulum, post probra & contumelias, mortis supplicio condemnavit. Hinc honor & reverentia, illinc dedecus & insolentia: unde Græci filii, Romani vero privigni, jure meruerunt appellari. Veruntamen, ut ex tenore superscriptarum Epistolarum perpendi potest, prædictus Germanus Archiepiscopus convocare desiderat Græcos suos & Latinos, scilicet Romanos, ut propositis utrinque rationibus, in unam sententiam conveniant; quos fortius rationum & authoritatum corroborat adimiculum: ut universalis Ecclesia Deo militans, una & integra integra nuncupetur, & juxta Salvatoris decretum, unus sit Pastor, & unum ovile per totius mundi latitudinem. Scribit igitur idem Germanus Domino Papæ in hæc verba. His two Epistles to Pope Gregory and the Cardinals of Rome, concerning a brotherly union between the Greek and Latine Churches, and Pope Gregories Epistles in answer to them, (wherein he justifies his pretended Primacy by misapplied Scriptures) being over-long, and not so pertinent to my subject matter, those who please may peruse in Matthew Paris: Only I cannot pretermitt this passage in Germanus his Epistle to the Cardinals, touching the large extent of the then Greek Church. † Hoc solum addam, & verbo finem imponam, quod videlicet multa & magna Gentes sunt, qua nobiscum sapiunt, & nobiscum, qui Græci sumus, conveniunt in omnibus. Primi, illi qui in prima parte Orientis habitant, Ethiopes, deinde Syri, & alii qui graviores sunt, & magis virtuosius, scilicet Hyberi, Lazi, Alani, Gothi, Chazari, innumerabilis plebs Russiæ, & Regnum magna victoria Bulgarorum. Et hi omnes tanquam matri nostræ obediunt, in antiqua Orthodoxia immobiles hactenus persistentes.

† Mat. Paris, p. 446.

This year the Greek Churches with all these her members, renounced all obedience to; and communion with the Church of Rome, upon this just occasion, (for which the Church and Realm of England might then more justly have rejected her iron yoke of bondage, had they been able to accomplish it.)

Hoc schisma & diffidium inter Romanam Ecclesiam & Græcam, tale sumpsit seminarium. Quidam Archiepiscopus electus canonice ad quendam nobilem Archiepiscopatum in Gracia, vel postulatus, Romam adiit confirmandus: nec potuit eraudiri, nisi pro impetratione illa, infinitum aurum promitteret. At ipse detestans prostantis Curie Simoniam, infecto negotio recessit; & hoc toti Græcorum nobilitati nuntiavit. Et alii, qui Romam adierant, testimonium de similibus aut deterioribus perhibebant: Et sic omnes a subiectione Romanæ Ecclesiæ tempore Gregorii ipsius recesserunt. Indeed they never acknowledged any subjection to the Church of Rome before, but only retained a brotherly Christian communion with her, which they now renounced for her manifold corruptions.

* Mat. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 449.

The Pope and his Cardinals, upon Germanus and the Greek Churches Letters to them, endeavouring to prove St. Peters universal Supremacy over all Churches, from Tu vocaberis Cephas, quod interpretatur Petrus. Pasce oves meas, &c. and answering their objections against it very unsatisfactorily, resolved to reduce them to obedience by force of armes, not argument or Scripture; and published a Crossado against them, as if they were worse then Infidels, most unchristianly diverting the forces designed to ayde the Holy Land against the Saracens, to murder and destroy the Greek Churches; especially that of Constantinople.

HIS autem salutaribus monitis auditis, sed non exauditis, non se Græci Ecclesiæ Romana subdiderunt: forte tyrannidem, et avaritiam ejus pertimescentes; vel erecti in contumaciam, juxta dictum Evangelistæ, quod invitati ad cenam noluerunt venire, se tamen excusantes: humiles in excusatione, superbi & contumaces in operis executione. Super quo Dominus Papa & Cardinales tractatum habentes diligentem, proposuerunt exercitum Cruce signatorum universalem, super eos reflectere. Et facta prædicatione, signati sunt nonnulli, super Græcos, præcipue Constantinopolitanos, profecturi. For which purpose he sent Baldwin their depofed, expelled Emperor, with all the forces he could raise, to War upon and subdue them, who arrived in England, where he received some small supplies of money.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 449.

Eisdem temporibus, profectus est in partes Gracia, ad expugnandum sibi & Ecclesiæ Romana rebelles, Imperator Constantinopolitanus Baldwinus, in manu robusta, & militia non minima, quantam & qualem, omnes ejus amici & consanguinei potuerunt administrare. Qui etiam, ut thesaurum accumularet & adaugeret, reliquias charissimas & certissimas vendidit Regi Francorum, necnon & quædam sibi charissima impignoravit. Erat namque a Francorum Nobilibus ducens originem. Cui etiam Papa, in odium et grabamen æmuli sui Imperatoris Romanorum Frederici, modis omnibus, quibus scivit et potuit, manum extendit auxiliatricem.

Hereupon the Archbishop of Antioch, and Germanus Archbishop of Constantinople were so far incensed against the Pope and Church of Rome, that they excommunicated them; asserting themselves and their Churches to be above the Pope and Church of Rome, yea more antient and excellent then they, even by Arguments drawn from St. Peter himself.

ANno quoque sub eodem, ad tantam ausus est proterviam impetu temerario prorumpere Antiochenus Archiepiscopus, (consentiente Germano Constantinopolitano Archiepiscopo, Gracorum advocato, & vices agente Antipapæ,) quod Dominum Papam cum tota sua Romana Ecclesia et Curia, inani auctoritate excommunicabit. Et blasphemando, se suamque Ecclesiam solenniter prædicando, tempore et dignitate Domino Papæ et Romanæ Ecclesiæ præposuit, et esse, et fuisse Romana Ecclesia excellentiorem, eo quod beatus Petrus Apostolus, primo Ecclesiam Antiochenam cum summo honore rexerat per septennium ibidem cum summa qua decuit receptus reverentia, & similiter honorifice incathedratus. Roma vero fuit multis injuriis & convitiis, multipliciter laceffitus: tandemque sub imperatore Nerone passus, cum Coapostolo suo Sancto Paulo, speciali Gracorum doctore, diræ mortis supplicium consummavit. Unde merito clarior & amabilior eidem esse tenetur ea Civitas & Regio, cum suis Civibus & omnibus incolis, quæ eidem beato Petro Apostolo honorem & reverentiam contulerunt, quam quæ dedecus & tormenta inflixerunt. Potestatemque ligandi & solvendi, liberaliter potius Ecclesiæ Gracorum contulisse, quam Romana: quam simoniæ & usuræ, avaritiæ & aliorum facinorum maculis constat jam sordere. Hac & aliis rationibus superficialibus, suas in propriam perniciem cicatrices, dictus Antipapa palliavit, & excusationes in peccatis excusavit. Sed columna Ecclesiæ Dominus Papa, verus divi Petri successor, (etsi non plene imitator) non movebatur, omnem vindictam reservans, in tempore retributionis: Sending Baldwin with Armes to subdue them, though with very ill successe, as **Mat. Paris*, and Mat. Westmister relate.

Sed defuit divinus favor propositis. Perit enim Francorum in ejus exercitu multitudo numerosa. Ipsoque eodem tempore, cum fugisset Imper. Constantin, a persecutione Gracorum, nec quicquam haberet in ærario, ut bellum amplius continuaret, & Gracorum impetus continuos sustineret, confugit ad consilium & auxilium Imperatoris Romanorum Frederici. Qui Gracis tum terribiliter comminando, tum consultius postulando, tandem treugas per annum unum impetravit. Interim procuravit idem Imperator Fredericus, ut filiam suam cuidam magno Principi Gracorum, nomine Battacio, matrimonio copulavit. Quod Domino Papæ simulque toti Curie Romana molestum videbatur & grave, quia per ipsum Battacium schisma ortum est inter Ecclesiam Romanam & Gracam. Unde ipsa Romana Ecclesia vocat eum schismaticum, & factum est obstinatius odium proinde, inter Dominum Papam & Imperatorem Fredericum.

This schisme of the Greek Church from, and opposition against the Pope and Church of Rome, made the Pope and his Court fear the like schisme and revolt in England, occasioned by the Legates violent proceedings, extortions, and advancement of strangers to Benefices; whereupon he intended to recall him thence to prevent these ill consequences; but the Legate loth to depart, prevailed with the King and others to sollicite the Pope for his continuance in England, upon pretence of public good.

Eodem tempore, Dominus Papa & tota Curia Romana, audiens tot tumultus in Anglia fuisse subortos pro alienigenarum multitudine, quam Rex inconsulte vocaverat: et pro adventu Legati in Angliam, quem similiter in depauperationem suorum in Angliam attraxerat: multosque contra ipsum commoveri: sub magna eundem Legatum festinatione revocando, rigorem ejus temperavit, sic scribens ei.

GREGORIUS, &c. dilecto filio Ottoni, Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diacono Cardinali, Apostolicæ sedis Legato, salutem & Apostolicam benedictionem. Cum sic intellexerimus, quod nonnulli Clerici habentes plura beneficia sint in Regno Angliæ, & contra eos, propter parentum potentiam, juxta generalis statuta Concilii, sine turbatione Regni & sanguinis effusione, procedi non possit: attendentes quod si peccatum non debeat pro scandalo vitando committi, bonum tamen quod agi debeat, prudenter prudenter interdum intermititur, ut scandalum evitetur: discretioni tuæ per Apostolica scripta mandamus, quatenus si contra dictos Clericos sine scandalo procedere non poteris, subsedere procures. Et eisdem, vel aliis proximis, Dominus Papa timens ne quid sinistri ei accideret, vocavit eum. Sed Legatus malens adhuc in Anglia remanere, & metere ubi non seminaverat, caute procuravit, ut scriptum Domino Papæ destinandum componeretur, & appenderentur sigilla Regis & fratris sui Comitis Richardi, & omnium Episcoporum, in testimonium veritatis: scilicet, quod multum utilis esset mora sua in Anglia, tam Regi, quam Regno, et Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ. Et hujus tenoris scriptum Domino Papæ transmissum, mentem suam pacificavit.

I find this supplication to the Pope for the Legates stay in England, thus entred in our Records, being procured by his own solicitation.

Supplicatum est Domino Papæ, quod pensatis periculis diversis quæ Regi & Regno suo possent imminere ex revocatione Legati, quem Dominus Papa jam pridem revocavit, indulgere velit, ut dictus Legatus Officio Legationis suæ fungatur in Anglia, donec negotia Regia per ipsum laudabiliter incepta, prospero fine fuerint terminata, & tranquillitas Regis Anglia, cui exitit per omnia necessarius, sicut *P. After this, the King to honour this Legate all he could, and secure him and his followers from violence where ever they travelled through England, granted him this Patent and Protection.

The Legate soon after travelling to Oxford, was there honourably entertained and presented by the University and Schollars at first, which through the insolency of his Porter and Cook ended in a Tragical Tumult, Excommunication, and Interdict; thus registred to posterity.

Tunc vero temporis, Dominus Legatus cum Oxoniam adventasset, & honore summo, prout decebat, reciperetur: hospitatus est in domo Canonicorum, scilicet Abbacia de Offencia. Clerici vero Scholares, eidem xenium honorabile in poculentis & esculentis transmiserunt ante prandii tempus. Et post prandium, ut eum salutarent, & reverenter visitarent, ad hospitium suum venerunt. Quibus adventibus, janitor quidam transalpinus, minus quam deceret aut expediret facetus, & more Romanorum vocem exaltans, & januam aliquantulum patefactam tenens, ait: Quid queritis? Quibus Clerici: Dominum Legatum, ut eum salutemus. Credebant enim confidenter, ut essent honorem pro honore recepturi. Sed janitor conviciando loquens, in superbia & abusione introitum omnibus procaciter denegavit. Quod videntes Clerici, impetuose irruentes intrarunt: quos volentes Romani reprimere, pugnis & virgis cadebant: & dum objurgantes ictus & convicia geminarent, accidit, quod quidam pauper Capellanus Hybernensis ad Ostium Coquinæ staret, & ut quippiam boni pro Deo acciperet, instanter, more pauperis & famelici, postulaverat. Quem cum Magister Coquorum Legati (frater Legati erat ille, & ne procuraretur aliquid venenosum, quod nimis timebat Legatus, ipsum ipsi officio præfecerat, quasi hominum specialissimo) audivit, nec exaudivit, iratus in pauperem, projecit ei in faciem aquam ferventem, haustam de lebe ubi carnes pingues coquebantur. Ad hanc injuriam exclamavit quidam Clericus de confinio Wallia oriundus: Proh pudor!

Corruente igitur mortuo, clamor excitatur. Ad quem stupefactus Legatus, & nimis perterritus timore, qui posset in constantissimum virum cadere, in turrim Ecclesiæ indutus Capa Canonicali se recepit, seratis post terga Ostiis. Ubi cum noctis opacæ conticinium tumultum pugnæ diremisset, Legatus vestimentis Canonicalibus exutus, equum suum optimum ascendit expeditus, & ducatu eorum qui vada secretiora noverunt, amnem, qui proximus erat, licet cum periculo, transivit, ut ad protectionem alarum Regis ocyus avolaret. Cleri enim furia infecti, Legatum etiam in abditis secretorum latebris querere non cessabant; clamantes & dicentes: Ubi est ille usurarius, simonialis, raptor reddituum, & sititor pecuniæ, qui Regem pervertens, & Regnum subvertens, de spoliis nostris ditat alienos? Insequentium autem adhuc clamores cum fugiens Legatus audiret, dixit intra se:

Nota.

Cum furor in cursu est, currenti cede furori.

Et patienter omnia tolerans, factus est sicut homo non audiens, & non habens in ore suo redargutiones. Cum autem (ut prædictum est) amnem vix pertransisset, paucis, pro difficultate transitus, comitantibus, cæteris in Abbazia latitantibus, ad Regem anhelus & turbidus usque pervenit, & lachrymabiliter, singultibus sermones suos interrompentibus, rei gestæ ordinem, gravem super hoc reponens querimoniam, tam Regi quam suis collateralibus explicavit. Cujus querulis sermonibus cum Rex attonitus nimis compateretur, misit properanter Comitem Warennia cum armata manu Oxoniam: eos qui latuerant Romanos eripere, & Scholares arripere. Inter quos captus est truculenter Magister Odo Legista, & ipse cum aliis triginta vinculis & carceribus in Castro de Waligeford, quod non multum distat ab Oxonia, ignominiose mancipatus. Legatus vero contrito laqueo liberatus, Episcopis convocatis nonnullis, Oxoniam supposuit Interdicto: & omnes illi enormi facto consentaneos, excommunicavit. Postea in bigis, more latronum, ad arbitrium Legati Londonium sunt transvecti, & ibidem carceri & vinculis arctæque custodiæ, redditibus spoliati, & anathe mate innodati, mancipantur. Such was his transcendent Tyranny against these Oxbians, for this tumult occasioned by the insolency and inhumanity of his own Porter and Cook, which rendred him very odious, so as he deemed himself secure in no place, without armed Guards to protect him, which he requested and obtained from the King, till his reconciliation to the University of Oxford, upon their extraordinary humiliation and pennance, thus related by our Historians.

Reconciliatio
Universitatis
Oxonie cum Legato.

Legatus vero, qui versus partes Anglia Aquilonares tetenderat, flexo loro, Londonium reversus est. Et vix ausus in Regali hospicio Episcopi Dunelmensis, ubi solito hospitabatur, commorari: significavit Rex Civitati Londonensi, ut eundem Legatum diligentibus excubiis cum armata manu, ut pupillam oculi, custodirent Major Civitatis cum Civium universitate. Legatus igitur Archiepiscopum Eboracensem, & omnes Episcopos Anglia, autoritate qua iungebatur, ut Londonium convenirent, districte convocavit: de statu Ecclesiæ & Cleri periclitantis, decimo sexto Calend. Junii communiter tractaturi. Quo cum die præfixo pervenissent, tractatum est diligenter per Episcopos, ut salvaretur status Clericalis Universitatis, veluti secundæ Ecclesiæ: quibus & Legatus condescendit, salvo tamen honore Ecclesiæ Romana; ne impropere diceretur, ut qui venerat Clerum cum Ecclesia reformare, potius deformaret. Tandem suggestum est Legato ab Episcopis ab universitate Cleri, quæ ibidem in præfenti fuit, quod certaminis discrimen a familia sua sumpsit exordium; & in fine certaminis Clerus deteriore calculum reportavit: insuper jam de Clero pars magna, ad nutum suum carceri mancipatur; & pars reliqua mandato suo parens, parata fuit humiliter subire, in loco ab Oxonia circiter tribus distante dietis, ad petitionem tot & tantorum virorum, ad misericordiam, quod comitantibus Episcopis pedes euntibus Scholares omnes ibidem congregati, ab Ecclesia Sancti Pauli, quæ fere per unum milliare ab hospicio Legati distabat, pedes irent; ita tamen, quod cum venirent ad hospitium Episcopi Carleolensis, illinc sine capis & mantellis discincti & discalceati, usque ad hospitium Legati procederent; humiliter veniam postulantes, misericordiam miseriordiam & veniam consequendo conciliarentur, quod& factum est. Videns autem dominus Legatus hanc humiliationem, recepit eos in gratiam suam restituens Universitatem loco suo ipsius municipii; Interdictum cum sententia misericorditer ac benigne relaxando, literasque eis conficiendo, ne illis proinde nota infamiz aliquando procaciter objiceretur.

I find these several Patents and Records, concerning this Oxford tumult and reconciliation to the Cardinal, and revocation of the Schollars to the University, upon pledges given to appear before and stand to the Cardinals censure.

REX Vicecom. Oxonie & Majori salutem. Precipimus vobis quod in presentia Pat. 22. H. 3. m. 7. intus. This year Richard Earl of Cornwel, with all the Nobility and Barons of England, (except the Earl of Kent) and generality of the Citizens and people of England made a commotion against the King, by reason of this Legate, and other aliens, by whom he was wholly swayed, neglecting and suffering them extreemly to oppresse his natural subjects; The contents hereupon are at large related by Matthew Paris.

Mat. Paris, Hist.
Angl. p. 451.

ET sperabatur certissime tunc, quod ipse Comes Richardus esset liberaturus terram tunc, tam a Romanorum quam aliorum alienigenarum misera, qua premebatur, servitute, & omnes a puero usque ad hominem senem, crebras in ipsum benedictiones congesserunt. Nec adhuc aliquis Regi, nisi solus Comes Cantia H. Quod comperiens Rex, animo & vultu nimis consternatus, nobilium terrarum singulos per nuntios suos interrogavit, diligenter sciscitando, si in hunc vel illum hac jam exorta tempestate, possit de adiutorio confidere? Cui responderunt universi, præcipue cives Londinenses, asserendo universaliter, quod honori suo, & comodo Regni procuratum est circumspecte, quod incipiebatur ab ipso Comite Richardo, licet ipse Rex salubri consilio ejus non adquiesceret: unde incepta nullo modo impedirent. Hæc comperiens Legatus, summam adhibuit, imminere videns pericula, diligentiam, ut Regem suis naturalibus hominibus reconciliaret, secreto admonens Comitem R. & Replicans, quod ipse qui Capitaneus hujus impetus factus est deinceps ab incepto desisteret, promittens Regem ei ampliores possessiones collaturum, & Dominum Papam collatas confirmaturum; addens, quod si omnes terrarum in Regem insurgerent, ipse qui frater ejus, cum eo contra omnes stare haberet indefessus. Ad quod respondit Comes R. domine Legate, De terris Laicorum et earum confirmationibus nil ad vos, de rebus autem Ecclesiasticis curam geratis. Nec miremini, si status Regni moveat me, cum sim hæres solus apparens. Rex enim cum fere omnium Episcopatum terrarum & multarum escaetarum custodias habuit, nullum tamen Thesaurus ejus sentit ad Regni tuitiones incrementum: cum tamen undique variis vallemur inimicis. Præterea, redditus & beneficia Ecclesiastica, a piis prædecessoribus nostris collata (præcipue quæ contulerunt antecessores nostri viris religiosi) permittit quasi spolia diripi, & alienigenis, cum abundet ipsa terra viris idoneis, distribui: & sit Anglia quali vinea sine maceria, quam vindemiant omnes qui prætergrediuntur viam.

Legatus studet
Pacem facere inter Regem &
suos magnates.

Cum autem audisset Legatus hos sermones, Regem adiit, una cum Episcopo Wintoniensi P. monens & muniens, ut se ex tunc voluntati suorum juste in eum insurgentium, subderet & obtemperaret: nunc minis, nunc monitis, nunc precibus eundem reformantes. Rex videns impetus suos favoribus caruisse, & omnes fratri suo Comiti Richardo inclinantes; quæsit quæ potuit diverticula: inducias deliberandi postulando, ut competentius responderet. Induciarum igitur ad instantiam petentium concessæ sunt Regi (licet cum difficultate) usque in crastinum Dominicæ primæ quadragesimæ. Convenerunt igitur Magnates die statuto Londini super his diligenter tractaturi. Et venerunt multi equis & armis communiti, ut si Rex circumventus per levitatem recalcitraret, ad præmissa complenda cogeretur. Ibi igitur post multas multorum deceptiones, se subjecit Rex quorundam provisioni de gravioribus viris; jurans se eorum provisioni adquiescere. Quod & factum est, & in scripta redactum, & appensa sunt tam Legati quam aliorum Magnatum Sigilla, omnibus in communi manifestanda. Interim his nondum perfectis, sed cum spe tamen pendentibus, Simon de Monte forti (who had unlawfully married the Countesse of Pembroke, the Kings and Earls sister, and to prevent a divorce, Extorta prius undecunque potuit immensa pecunia, Romanam curiam adiit quam speravit pecunia circumvenire, ut illicito matrimonio liceret gratulari) humiliavit se Comiti P. & obtinavit ab eo osculum concordie. Quod gravissime alij Magnates acceperunt, sine quorum conniventia hoc fuit attemptatum, quorum laboribus fuit res hucusque deducta. Quibus enormibus factis totum negotium in magna parte mutilatum, perfectum non sumpsit effectum, sed miseras regni continuavit, & famam Comitis Richardi in magna parte denigravit: & sic factus est deinceps suspectus, qui credebatur baculus fortitudinis.

Edmond Archbishop of Canterbury, Anno 1237. Hebdomada ante Natale transfretavit & Romanam adiit, nec propter Legatum ipsum revocantem, voluit remanere, unde sibi ex tunc adversabantur. The occasion and successe of this his journey against the Legates revocation is thus reported by Matthew Paris. Anno 1238.

Illo quoque Anno, &c. data est sententia a Domino Papa pro Monachis Roffensibus, super controversia mota inter Archiepiscopum Edmundum & eosdem Monachos, de eligendo sibi Episcopo, & data est sententia pro eis, tam de petitorio quam de de possessorio: & confirmatus est electus eorum, magister Richardus de Wendoure, die sancti Cuthberti. Convenerat autem eosdem Monachos dictus Archiepiscopus, expensis & laboribus exinanitos: insuper transalpinaverat, ut sicut jus dictaret, lis tanta debito fine determinaretur. Similiter data est sententia tunc temporis contra eundem Archiepiscopum, qui tunc in Curia Romana præsens fuit, super gravi causa, quæ versabatur inter eum & Comitem Arundellia: & condemnatus est utrobique in expensis, circiter mille marcarum: relaxata sententia quam tulerat, idem Archiepiscopus in Comitem supradictum. Habuit enim adversarium validissimum Ottone Legatum: qui & ad hoc etiam Regem efficaciter stimulavit.

After the death of Henry de Sandford Bishop of Rochester, the Monks of Rochester elected Richard Windeley, a learned man, for their Bishop; who being presented by the Monks to Edmund Archbishop of Canterbury for his confirmation, he refused to admit him, unde Monachi Domini Papa presentiam appellarunt. Upon this Appeal the Pope gave judgment for the Monks against the Archbishop, and condemned him in costs of suit, confirming their Election in despite of the Archbishop, with whom the Pope was very angry for opposing his shamelesse and intolerable exacti- ons in England: whereupon this Bishop elect was consecrated at Canterbury in St. Gregories Church, by the Archbishop, the Bishop of London, and other Bishops; quia Archiepiscopus suspendit Ecclesiam Cantuar. à divinarum celebratione, præmissa debita postulatione à Priori Roffensi Ricardo, & installatus fuit in die S. Andreæ apud Roffen.

Although the Archbishop miscaried in these two precedent suits at Rome, yet he obtained an Indulgence from the Pope to the prejudice of the Monks of Canterbury, thus related. † Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis Edmundus, a curia Romana rediens, venit in Angliam. Qui contra Monachos suos Cantuarienses, quamvis cum gratia Conventus ab Anglia recessisset, a Domino Papa pro se impetravit: unde sub- orta est discordia nimis enormis & indecens inter gregem & Pastorem; & passa est Ecclesia damna multa, & dedecus, suspensionem & ignominiam. Unde vocatus Le- gatus ad reformationem illius deformationis, dum in capitulo Cantuariensi præsideret, propter quoddam scriptum, in quo privilegium quoddam, tempore beati Thomæ impetratum, continebatur (quod quidam imprudenter combusserunt) Priorem Cantuariensem deposuit, & ad strictiorem ordinem, ut ibidem perpetuam ageret pæ- nitentiam, destinavit, quosdam Monachorum dispersit, quia (ut dicebatur) in prædicto privilegio, quæ sibi videbantur manifeste adversari, pietate minus discreta oc- culte abraaserat, & quæ pro eis agere apposuerat. Et quia tales rasuræ in tam authen- tico scripto non poterant diligenter intuentes latere, ne † notam infamiae falsarii Conventus incurreret, unus fratrum combussit inconsultus. Unde Legatus, cum mentionem illius scripti fecisset Archiepiscopus, interrogassetque, & non invenire- tur, & licet invitum de re gesta veram facerent confessionem, Legatus, merito commo- tus in vindictam tanti excessus, Priorem ab administratione amovens, aliquos qui rei videbantur dispersit, commonens ut arctius viverent perpetuo pœnitentes. Post- ea, quia Prior cum secularibus Capitulum intravit, contra domus approbatam consu- etudinem, ad electionem celebrandam, Conventus sibi priorem absque assensu Ar- chiepiscopi elegit. Unde hoc audito, Archiepiscopus electionem reprobando cassavit: totum Conventum, præcipue electum & electores, non tantum suspensionis, sed etiam anathematis vinculis innodavit. Conventus autem contra Archiepiscopum in hoc ad præsentiam domini Papa constanter appellavit. The Legate lodging at this time in the Archbishops Palace, and the Archbishop lying in the Monastery of St. Au- gustines, lest he should thereby claim a Jurisdiction over it, made this Protestation in writing; Noverit universitas vestra, quod cum de mandato sedis Apostolicæ spe- ciali, Dominus Otto Apostolicæ sedis Legatus, in domibus nostris apud Cantuariam morabatur, nos de speciali gratia Abbatis & Conventus Monasterii Sancti Augustini Cantuarie, ad Romanam Ecclesiam nullo medio pertinentis, & in eorum domibus in- fra septa sui Monasterii per aliquot dies in nostris expensis hospicium habuimus: Protestantes, per hoc eorum privilegium, & compositioni inter nos & ipsos initæ, nos in nullo velle in posterum derogari, & ut de hac nostra protestatione & voluntate successoribus nostris liqueat, in futuro has literas nostras fecimus, &c.

Anno Domini M. D D. How corrupt the Pope, Court of Rome, and what unjust sentences were given by them for bribes and money in that age; this story, amongst others, will inform us.

* Mat. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 455. Mat. Westm. p. 148. * Interim S. de Monte forti, cum gratia Imperatoris & Literis supplicatoriis, se transfert ad Curiam Romanam: & effusa & promissa infinita pecunia, a Domino Papa impetravit: ut ratum habeatur Matrimonium, quod non sine læsione conscientie contraxerat cum Alienora Regis Henrici 3. sorore. Votum enim solenne fecerat coram Edmundo Archiepiscopo, continuanda in vita sua castitate. The Pope for money dispensed with this Marriage; Quamvis votum solenniter factum coram Edmundo Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi repugnaret, ut liceret illicitis abuti amplexibus. Scripsitque Dominus Papa Legato Ottone, ut pro præfato Simone de Monte forti, solenniter sententiaret. Quo audito, frater Willielmus de Abendune, de ordine Prædicatorum, & multi alii periti, Zelum Dei præ oculis habentes increpaverunt hanc sententiam; sanctitatem Papæ circumveniri, & animas periclitari, Christumque Zelotypari veraciter affirmantes. Quia licet, sicut pars adversa protestatur, habitum cum velo non assumpserit mulier de qua agitur; annulum tamen, quo se Christo subarravit, vel potius desponsavit, assumpsit, & sic sponso Christo indissolubiter copulatur; testante authentico scripto in Sententiis Magistri Patri, in tractatu de voto; scilicet libro quarto. In quo, præmissis rationibus & autoritatibus Sanctorum & Canonum, subinfert. Ex his apparet, virgines vel viduas voto continentie astrictas, siue fuerint velatæ, siue non, nullatenus conjugium sortiri posse. Quod itidem de omnibus intelligendum est, qui continentiam voverunt. Quod autem erat ante licitum, post votum erit illicitum. Sed aliquid forte subtilius, quam nobis datum sit intelligi, Romana Curia speculabatur. The sight and receipt of Golden Angles at Rome, over-balanced all Laws, Canons, Decretals, both of God, Man, Councils, and Popes themselves. Hence King Henry the 3d. soon after, when Simon de Montefort and his Wife, came to visit him and his Queen, and to accompany her to a Monastery for her Purification; * Rex eum excommunicatum vocavit, prohibuitque ne ipse vel uxor ejus, quam ante Matrimonium inter eos contractum, nequiter & furtive maculaverat, festivis suis solenniis interesset: & cum multiplicaret convivia, Comes confusus cum uxore sua ad hospitium suum, per aquam venire properavit. Sed Rex statim eos præcepit ejici truculenter. Et cum flentes & ejulantes reverterentur, veniam flagitantes, Regiam iram non sedarunt. Dixit enim: Sororem meam seduxisti ante sponsalia, quod cum comperiissem, ut vitaretur scandalum, dedi sed invicem. Et ut votum suum Matrimonium non impediret, Romam adiiisti, Romanamque Curiam donis et promissis impreciabilibus, ut illicitum tibi liceret, corrupisti. Novit tunc præfatus A. Cantuariensis Archiepiscopus, qui Papa veritatem super his intimavit: sed victa veritas Romanæ cessit avaritiæ, numeribus multiplicatis. In cuius pecuniæ solutione cum defecisti, excommunicationis sententia innovari meruisti. Ad cumulum etiam miseria tua, me inconsultum & nescium, fidei iussorem per falsum testimonium interposuisti. Comes vero, cum hæc audisset, erubuit, & cum dies inclinasset, per Tamesim in cymba minima cum uxore tunc & pauca familia ad mare festinanter declinans, continuo transfretavit.

The like corruption, bribery, and partiality appeared in their proceedings, sentences at Rome, concerning the elections of Bishops, witness that concerning Winchester. * Anno quoque eodem, quinto Idus Junii, obiit Episcopus Wintoniensis, Petrus scilicet de Rupibus. Qui cum Ecclesiam Wintoniensem circiter triginta duobus annis strenue rexisset, & laudabiliter peregrinationem suam in Terra Sancta, una cum Exoniensi Episcopo, peregisset, domosque religionum plurimas construxisset; apud Fernham manerium suum, plenus dierum, facto nobili testamento, diem clausit extremum. Sepultus est autem in Ecclesia sua Wintoniensi, ubi etiam dum viveret, humilem elegit sepulturam. In cuius obitu totum Concilium Regni Anglicani, tam Regale quam Ecclesiasticum, jacturam incurrit irrestaurabilem. Rex vero audito de obitu Petri Wintoniensis, omnem quam potuit adhibuit diligentiam, ut inclinaret corda Monachorum Winton. ad electionem Gulielmi electi Valentini, ut eundem in præfatum promoverent. Sed Monachi videntes ipsum esse alienigenam, & Nobilibus Regni suspectum, posseque de facili nocere ipse Regno, cum frater ejusdem electi Comes sit Flandrensis, & si forte in subversionem Regni conspirarent, alter al-teri auxiliaretur, noluerunt aliquo modo consentire. Unde Rex ipsis damna incessanter et gravamina undique inferre moliebatur. Ipsi vero maiuerunt persecutionem pati pro iustitia, quam soli Regi acceptum vitium, curæ pastorali insufficientem, moribus, gestu & literatura inpositum, natu alienum, & de effusione sanguinis infamem, in suarum animarum pastorem eligere, contra suarum conscientiarum puritatem. Dissimulantes igitur Monachi, sub induciis a Rege impetratis, eligerunt Gulielmum de Rale, virum discretum, & Regi familiarissimum, quem nullo modo credebant Regem velle repellere. Quod cum Rex cognovisset, iratus valde, nec electionem, nec electum acceptabit, imo ipsum Gulielmum electum a consilio suo et familiaritate propulsabit. Similique impetu, Episcopum Cicestrensem, quem Monachi pio spiritus postularent, ab officio Cancellariæ privavit, & a sua familiaritate & consilio exclusit. Necnon Auctoritate Domini Papæ, missis ad Curiam Romanam Magistris Simone Normanno, & Alexandro seculari, legistis conductitiis, non sine multæ pecuniæ effusione, cassari procuravit.

Matthew Paris thus relates the proceedings in this election, a little more largely. * In illis diebus, Rex omnem quam potuit, plus & secus quam deceret, adhibuit diligentiam (quamvis prius sæpe jurasset alienigenas amovere, non promovere) ut electus Valentinus (qui tamen vir sanguinum esse dicebatur) in Episcopum Wintoniensem promotus eligeretur. Quod constanter Monachi, ad quos specialiter ex antiquo jure pertinere dignoscitur electio, inter se renuentes, sicut mox est, Regem adierunt, licentiam eligendi postulantes. Rex autem antequam responderet, eos de electione & promotione electi Valentini, quem suum vocavit avunculum, sollicitavit. At Monachi dissimulantes, inducias super hoc deliberandi simul cum Conventu, ad quem pertinebat electio, postularunt. Sed cum Rex preces suas talibus induciis sentit effectu caruisse, divertens ad solitas cavillationes, petitioni Monachorum respondit: Intimatum est mihi, quod duo Archidiaconi Episcopatus Wintoniensis, electionis vestra tenentur interesse; nec eos in presenti video, unde petitioni vestra non est annuendum. Cui Monachi responderunt: Quod etsi electioni interesse (quod nimis absurdum & iustitia dissonum esse videtur) debeant, postulationi electionis interesse non debent. Et ita Rex, licet diu recalcitraret, justæ postulationi eorum non potuit contradicere. Sed cum postea fida relatione cognovisset, quod iidem Monachi communiter de Willielmo de Rale, viro utique per omnia laudabili, diligenter tractarent, ut in Episcopum eligeretur, & omnes jam in eum consensisse: Rex iratus, nimis procaciter respondit: Remissis electum Valentinum, dicentes eum virum sanguinum, & Willielmum de Rale, qui multo plures lingua, quam alius Gladio trucidavit, elegistis. Et in superbia & abusione juravit, se nunquam hoc ullo modo tolleraturum. Monachi igitur indignationem Regiam pertumescentes, declinarunt ab incepto. Interim Rex possessiones Episcopatus & instaurationes demoliendo, crebro in maneriis Episcopatus jacuit, agmine stipatus numerofo. Monachi igitur Wintonienses, videntes moram destitutionis damnosam, de sibi eligendo pastore diligenter tractaverunt. Quod cum cognovisset Rex, illuc illico acceleravit, & instantius quam deceret vel expediret, in Capitulum intrans, Conventum comminando & promittendo petiit, quatenus electum Valentinum, avunculum suum, in Episcopum eligerent. At illi, caute volentes Regiam indignationem declinare, impetus indiscretos induciis emollire studuerunt: & nolentes injustis petitionibus annuere, Episcopum Cicestrensem Radulphum de Neville, Regis Cancellarium, unanimi consensu sibi in Episcopum & Pastorem animarum suarum postularunt. Cum autem videret Rex, iterum instantiam precum suarum effectu caruisse, justæ postulationi Monachorum adversando, multa convitia congestit in eundem Episcopum, dicens eum impetuosum, iracundum, perversum, vocans omnes fatuos, qui cum in Episcopum postularunt. Insuper sigillum suum, quod idem Episcopus per universitatem Regni receperat custodiendum, Rex violenter abstulit, & fratri Gualfrido Templario, & Johanni de Liximuna commisit bajulandum: emolumentis tamen ad Cancellariam spectantibus, Episcopo, quasi Cancellario, redditis & assignatis. Prosequens autem Rex conceptum impetum, misit ad Curiam Romanam, Simone Normannum, & Alexandrum secularem, Legistas conductitios. Qui multa data et promissa pecunia, vitium iustum de jure suo privando, et iustum iudicium subvertendo, prædictam postulationem perpetam cassaverunt: Such was the Bribery and Injustice of the Court of Rome in this age.

the Pope, his Court and Officers, so they extraordinarily advanced, and in a great measure confirmed his injurious Vsurpations over the King, Kingdoms; Prelates, Covents, Chapters, Churches of England and Ireland, so as they could not for many years after retrench them, with all their complaints, diligence, oppositions against them. * Tunc temporis vocatus est Willielmus electus Valentinus, procurante Papa (quia, ut dicebatur, proposuit eum habere ducem exercitus sui contra Imperatorem) ad Episcopatum Leodiensem, retenta procuratore Valentini Episcopatus, quasi non esset notatus de perpetrato homicidio: unde nec mirum, si cum stupore admirarentur hæc audientes, quod adhuc tam anhelō spiritu ad Episcopatum Wintonia aspiravit, Regemque Anglia diligentem ad hoc constituit procuratorem.

Heu, heu, quæ numerosa pecunia Curiam Romanam adconsensum et permissionem inclinavit? * Circa idem tempus, Rex vehementer oppressit Ecclesiam Wintoniensem, & quendam alienigenam, contra voluntatem totius Conventus, in eandem violenter intrusit, ut præesset Conventui: (because they opposed the election of this Bishop W. de Valentia) Qui inordinate se gerens, timore Dei postposito, omnia subvertit, omnes pervertit: & thesaurum Ecclesiæ dilapidando, soli Regi placere cupiebat. Unde libera electio Monachorum, dum idem Prior adulterinus fere medietatem stellarum secum cauda sua traxit, periclitabatur, & multorum corda ad electionem Willielmi avunculi Reginæ in Episcopum, corrumpendo inclinavit: Rex enim ad hoc summo nisu anhelabat. But this William, cum a Domino Papa impetrasset, ut in Episcopum Leodiensem eligeretur, & Episcopatum Wintoniensem obtineret: apud Viterbium potionatus, ut dicitur, diem clausit extremum, die omnium Sanctorum, procurante Magistro Laurentio Anglica, sed postmodum eo rite purgato. Quod cum Papa audisset, doluit nimis, quia proposuerat de ipso facere ducem militiæ suæ in bello suo contra Imperatorem: et sic iteo eundem quasi monstrum spirituale, et belluam multorum capitum effecerat. Noverat eum ad stragem strenuum, ad cædem pronum, ad incendia protervum: Magistrum Regis Anglia, amicum Regis Francorum, sororum utriusque, avunculum Reginarum, fratrem Comitis Sabandia, & aliis multis vel affinitate, vel consanguinitate confederatum. Sed hæc mors inopinata, omne hoc propositum transmutavit. Rex autem, cum hos lugubres rumores audivit, non se præ dolore capiens, scidit vestimenta sua, & ea projecit in ignem; & rugitum magnum emittens, noluit alicujus admittere consolationem. Regina quoque, quam causa familiarior stimulavit, funus avunculi deflevit tempore diuturno. So much was the death of this warlike, wicked, unpreaching, avaritious scandalous Prelate lamented, especially by the Pope.

After his death, * Monachi Wintonienses a Romana Curia redeuntes, a Domino Papa impetrarunt, ut nullam alienigenam personam, & invisam universitati Regni, per Regis acerbam instantiam, vel imperiosas ejus preces in suarum animarum custodem & Episcopum eligerent; sed rite, ut justum & Canonicum est, quemcunque viderent idoneum, libere & sine exactione in suum Antistitem sumerent & Pastorem. Quapropter Dominus Rex in vehementem iram excanduit, quasi non potens invenire Angligenam illi Episcopatu sufficentem. Et ex tunc Prior ille, quem Rex intruserat, diligentem curam adhibuit; ut constantiam Monachorum enervaret, & eorum qui pro Ecclesia hætenus viriliter steterunt, concordem unitatem dissiparet.

Though K. Henry the 3d. was very obsequious to this Pope Gregory, yet the Pope was so unchristianly malicious towards the Emperor Frederick, (who married his sister by this * Popes solicitation) that he grew extremely angry with K. Henry for sending some few English Souldiers and money to the Emperour, to help subdue the Italians, who rebelled against him, and for writing an Epistle to him, to deal more mildly mildly with him, so that he neglected all busineses, especially such as related to the King and English for a season, although his intended General the Bishop of Winchester cautelously passed over with Trumbleville, laden with monies and plate, to assist the Pope. * Eodem anno; statim post Pascha, misit Dominus Rex Anglia militare præsidium ad Dominum Imperatorem iuvandum contra rebelles suos, in partes Italicæ, sub ducatu Henrici de Trumbleville, viri in re militari peritissimi. Cum quo etiam misit J. Mansell, & Willielmum Hardel Clericum, & Civeim Londinensem, cum pecunia stipendiariis distribuenda. Et strenue per totam ætatem exercitus Regis Imperatori militavit; & quarundam Civitatum Cives, volentes obstarè, vicerunt, & Imperio reddiderunt: ubi strenue se dictus J. Mansell gessit. Quod Papa nimis moleste tulit. Et circa idem tempus, direxit Rex elegantem Epistolam Papæ: petens ut mitius ageret cum Domino Imperatore; Quod gravius accepit Papa, secus respondens quam deceret, et commotus est in tantam iram, ut per aliquod tempus omnia negotia, præcipue Anglicorum, suspenderentur. Cumque audiret electus Valentiæ, quod profecturus esset talis exercitus in Italiam: caute, quasi Dux eorum; associavit se Domino Henrico de Trumbleville, & cum eo transfretavit. Sub illis quoque diebus, electus Valentinus, videns nulli placere moram suam in Anglia: sponte, vel invitatus, caute tamen, quia citellis suis refertis, & equis oneratis auro & argento & vasis Regalibus, transfretavit.

Abbatibus igitur ordinis Nigri congregatis, exorsus est Dominus Legatus sermonem elegantem; & animans omnes ad patientiam, incepit sic: In nomine Domini nostri Jesus Christi, Patris, & Filii, & Spiritus Sancti, Amen. Cum grande sit opus & arduum, Civitatem Dei, quæ est religio, novis & innovatis propugnaculis præmunire: contra versuti hostis insidias, qui eam novis & antiquis jugiter nititur machinis debellare: Nos Otho, miseratione divina, Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diaconus Cardinalis, Apostolicæ sedis Legatus; ex injuncto nobis Legationis officio, ad juvandum pro viribus tam favorable opus nos obnoxios reputantes, quædam tum ex Sancti Benedicti Patris regula, tum ex sacris Conciliis & Canonis sanctionibus, tum ex statutis Abbatum ordinis ejusdem beati Benedicti, colligi fecimus & notari: quæ si servata fuerint, sacræ religioni erunt in subsidium & tutelam. After which follow severall Canons and Statutes, recorded at large by Matthew Paris, for regulating the abuses among Monks and Nuns, whereof this was one, relating the grosse Symony then in use among these pretended Religious Orders. (a) Quoniam Symoniaca labe pleraque Moniales infecit, ut vix aliquas sine pretio recipiant sorores, paupertatis pretextu, volentes hujusmodi intolerabile vitium & scandalum totius religionis palliare: Ne id de cætero fiat, penitus inhibemus. Which Constitution runs in these words. (c) Basilicarum dedicatio, a veteri Testamento initium dignoscitur habuisse, & in Novo est a Sanctis Patribus observata; in quo est eo dignius & studiosius faciendâ, quo in illo tantum offerebantur hostiæ animalium mortuorum: in isto vero cœlestis hostia viva & vera, ipse scilicet unigenitus Dei filius, in altari offertur pro nobis, manibus Sacerdotis. Quare statuerunt provide Sancti Patres, ne in aliis locis quam Deo dicatis, nisi necessitatis causa, celebraretur officium tam sublime. Porro, quia vidimus per nos ipsos, & a plerisque audivimus tam salubre ministerium contemni, vel saltem negligi a nonnullis, dum multas invenimus Ecclesias, & etiam Cathedrales, quæ licet sint ab antiquo constructæ, nondum tamen sunt consecratæ oleo Sanctificationis. (An argument that their consecration was not so necessary as this Constitution pretends.) Volentes huic periculosa negligentia obviare, statuimus, & statuendo præcipimus, ut omnes Ecclesiæ Cathedrales, Conventuales, & Parochiales, quæ perfectis parietibus sunt constructæ, infra biennium, per Diocesanos Episcopos, ad quos pertinent, vel eorum autoritate, per alios consecrentur. Sicque infra simile tempus fiat de cætero construendis. Et ne tam salubre statutum transeat in contemptum, si loca hujusmodi non fuerint infra biennium a perfectionis tempore dedicata, a Missarum solenniis usque ad consecrationem, manere statuimus Interdicta; nisi aliqua rationabili causa excusentur. Ad hoc, ne præsumant Abbates, Ecclesiarum rectores, antiquas Ecclesias consecratas, sub prætextu pulchrioris vel amplioris fabricæ faciendæ, diruere, absque licentia Diocæsani Episcopi & consensu, præsentis statuto districtius inhibemus. Diocæsanus vero diligenter consideret, utrum expediat dare licentiam, vel negare; & si dederit, attendat & intendant, ut opus quam celerius poterit, consummetur: quod extendi statuimus & volumus ad jam cœpta. De Capellanis vero minoribus, nil novi duximus statuendum. Consecrationes earum, qualiter & quando fieri debeant; diffinitionibus Canonis relinquentes.

Papa IX.

By colour of this Bull, the King revoked many of his Grants, as being invalid without the Popes consent, as the (e) forecited passage in Matthew Paris assures us, relating to this Bull (as I apprehend) though he placeth his revocations a year or two before the date thereof, since I find no other Bull preceding it, nor any intimation thereof in this, enjoining him to violate his former Oathes, or to recall his Grants of this nature.

Anno 1239. The Pope being informed by sundry frequent and almost daily complaints, of the insatiable avarice and rapines of Otho his Legate in England, resolved to recall him the second time in shew, but by compact between the King and Legate, still continued him at the Kings request, to increase their oppressions, exactions, instead of redressing them. (f) Dominus Papa audiens per crebras admonitiones & fere quotidianas, scandalum jam in dies magis ac magis de Romanorum insatiabili cupiditate & avaritia inextinguibili oriri in Anglia, vocavit Dominum Othonem Legatum suum: ut cum omni festinatione, Romam reverteretur. Quod audiens Dominus Legatus, convocavit omnes Episcopos Anglia ut Londinum die qua cantatur, Lætare Hierusalem, convenirent de reditu suo, & salvo conductu, communiter tractaturi. Dominus Rex vero, cum hoc audisset, timens sibi de Parlamento futuro in Octavis Paschæ, in quo adventum speraverat electi Valentini, & confidens de præsentia Domini Legati, cepit nimis contristari: & timere, ne Magnates aut Proceres terræ unanimiter insurgerent in eum, propter varios & crebros ejusdem excessus & transgressiones, contra suas proprias constitutiones, toties promissas ac juratas. Instantissime igitur procuravit Dominus Rex, ut missis expeditissimis nuntiis ad Dominum Papam, moraretur dictus Legatus in Anglia, ut per eam imminens turbatio sedaretur. Ipse vero Dominus Legatus, Regem id petentem nolens contristari, sustinuit expectando. (g) Legatus quoque ad Curiam Romanam maturando, a Rege, Archiepiscopis & Episcopis, Civibus quoque Londinensibus, in sermone quem propter hoc specialiter fecit, quasi irrediturus, humiliter salutavit. Equos nobiles sibi datos vendidit bonis conditionibus, & viles loco eorum comparavit: sarcinas disposuit, clitellas præparavit. Sed Rex credens eo absente expirare, totis viribus elaboravit parumper adhuc ut moraretur. Misit enim ad Curiam Romanam unum Legistarum suorum, quorum magnam catervam retinuit, quasi venator canes venaticos, super electores Prælatorum discopulandos, videlicet Simonem Normannum, ut impetraret a Papa, ut daret in mandatis Legato, quod adhuc in Anglia, ut multis obviaret ibidem periculis, remaneret. Nec fefellit eum sua opinio. Ecce enim omni suppellectili Domini Legati cum aliis viaticis dispositis, Simon Normannus venit, ei offerens Literas secundum desiderium Regis impetratas. Quibus Domino Legato obtemperante, Rex præ gaudio saltitavit. Quod comperientes nobiles, qui Londini infecto negotio suo, & timentes Legati mulcupulas, venerant, & comperientes vulpina diveracula Regis, recesserunt indignantes, & Regis verba sicut sophismata detestantes.

Soon after, (h) Vocavit Dominus Legatus omnes Episcopos Angliæ, ut in die qua cantatur, Lætare Hierusalem, convenirent Londini, de negotiis Ecclesiæ tractaturi. Et gati in Scotiam.

de his ibidem cum diligenti deliberatione, quadam statuta Monachis Regi ordinari, sub succincta brevitate inviolabiliter observanda. In quibus, rigorem iudiciorum in multis temperavit. But this was only a specious popular Prologue to his design, new ex-actions being demanded from the Prelates, who took time to advise thereof till their next meeting; in pursuance whereof, (i) Conveniunt omnes Episcopi Londoniæ, pridie scilicet Calendæ Augusti, de oppressionibus Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ tractaturi.
Erigebat enim Legatus, post quotidianas Exactiones, Procurationes. Cui habito consilio, responderunt Episcopi communiter, quod toties bonæ Ecclesiæ exhausserat Romana importunitas, quod nullo modo amplius tolerarent: exhibeat vos, qui inconsulte vos docu-bit. Et sic non sine querulo murmure, a Concilio recesserunt.
The Legate hereupon being defeated of his intended prey in England, resolved to make a new attempt to enter into Scotland, to make a prey of the Scottish Churches, under pretext of reforming them, where he met with great opposition from the King; thus related. (k) Eisdem diebus Legatus in Scotiam intrare festinavit, dis-positis rebus necessariis, & ducibus Anglicis, qui viarum si forte pararentur, infidias explorarent, iter arripuit, hospitium sumptuosa eligens in Abbatibus & Ecclesiis Ca-thedralibus. Et antequam Regnum Scotiæ intrasset, occurrit ei Rex Scotiæ, non acceptans ingressum suum. Dixit enim, quod nunquam aliquis Legatus, excepto illo suo, in Scotiam intrabit. Non enim, ut asseruit, opus erat: Christianitas sibi floruit, Ecclesiæ prospere se habebat. Et cum sermones multiplicarentur, et Rex fere ad contradiciendum erigeretur, confectum est scriptum intercedentibus utriusque Regni Magnatibus inter eos: cuius tenor fuit, ut nun-quam ratione illius adventus, talis consuetudo in consequentiam verteretur: insuper in recessu suo, scriptum illud signaret. Et hoc procuratum est, ne confusus in Angliam quasi repulsus reverteretur. Veruntamen mare non transiit: sed in bonis Civitatibus commorans cismarinis, vocavit Episcopos & nobiles terræ beneficiatos, & de rebus Ecclesiasticis ibidem pro libitu ordinavit, pecuniam non minimam colligendo. Mat. Westminster writes, that Rufus prohibente, Legatus ab omnibus Prelatis et Clericis beneficiatis 13.
partem reddituum suorum Collegit: et Domino Papæ transmisit.
Rege vero in interioribus terræ commorante, Legatus sine Regis licentiâ clam et subito recedens, prædictum scriptum asportavit.
Such was his perfidiousness.

Angliæ ægre
ferunt se privati

Ecclesiarum.

The same year Sir Robert de Tuinge and other Patrons of Churches, being deprived of their Patronages and Rights of presenting to Churches, by the Popes and his Le-gates Provisions, thereupon the King writ and sent a sharp Letter to the Pope by Sir Robert, complaining against, and desiring speedy reformation of this Innovation and grievance, which the Pope in some measure redressed, thereupon. (l) Sub eisdem temporibus, quidam Miles de partibus Aquilonaribus Angliæ oriundus, summo nisu renuens colla iugo subdere Romanorum, super patronatu cuiusdam Ecclesiæ ad eundem Militem spectante (in quam Ecclesiam per Archiepiscopum Eboracensem manus cupiditatis injecerant Romani) Romam adiit. Et cum gravem super hoc coram Papa querimoniam reposuisset, sub hac forma subscripta, meruit Literas impetrare.
Per quod conjici potest, qua devotione viros Ecclesiasticos (a quibus impune licet sua Ecclesiastica bona rapere, pia Patrum intentione collata, et in sustentationem pauperum provisa) Romana diligit Ecclesia, semper hiens, semper importuna.

(m) Iplis quoque temporibus, Comites & Barones, & alii Magnates Angliæ, ad quos ab antiquo jus patronatus Ecclesiarum spectare dignoscitur, dolentes se privari sua libertate, et per cupiditatem Romanæ Ecclesiæ jure conferendi Ec-clesias enormiter privari, et alienigenas præcepto Papali illis vi-tari, quorum personas et conditiones penitus ignorabant, licet sero Domino Papæ scripserunt: & ipsam Epistolam per dictum Robertum de Tuinge Militem,

tem, qui per eandem violentiam privatus jure suo super patronatu Ecclesiæ de Luthnum in Diocesi Eboracensi, conquestus est graviter nobilibus Regni, quod Archiepiscopus se asseruit nihil posse, vel contra Romanam Ecclesiam velle recalcitrare. Ipse igitur Robertus Romanam Curiam non segniter adiit, hanc Epistolam ex parte Magnatum Angliæ præsentans.

(*) Excellentissimo Patri & Domino G. Dei gratia Summo Pontifici, devoti sui de Cestria & de Wincestria, &c. salutem, reverentiam promptam, & pararam, si placet, devotionem. Mergente jam navicula nostræ libertatis, progenitorum nostrorum sanguine subacta, prozumpentibus in nos plus solito perturbantium procellis, dormientem Dominum in navicula Petri cogimur excitare, acclamantes jugiter et una voce: Domine salva nos, perimus: Ut cum judicium & justitia sint correctio sedis ejus, unicuique nostrum jus suum tribuat, et conserve illæsum. Ne si secus fieret, corrumpente charitate, devotioneque deleta, provocarentur filii contra Patris viscera, et mutux dilectionis affectus, subintroducata injuria, penitus evanesceret. Cum igitur, Sanctissime Pater, a prima Christianitatis fundatione in Anglia, tali fuerint hætenus progenitores nostri gavisi libertate, quod decedentibus Ecclesiarum rectoribus, Ecclesiarum patroni personas idoneas eligentes, ac easdem Diocesanis præferebant, ab eisdem Ecclesiarum regimini præficiendas: verum *vestris temporibus, de consuetudine vestra vel voluntate nescimus, talis contra nos invaluit adversitas, quod decedentibus Ecclesiarum rectoribus, quidam executores vestri, ad hoc dati, Ecclesias de patronatu nostro passim conferunt, in nostræ præjudicium libertatis, et in eminens periculum juris patronalis, licet super hoc pridem cautione litterarum Apostolicarum nobis prospereritis, continentium, quod decedentibus Ecclesiarum personis Italicis vel Romanis, autoritate provisionis vestre in Ecclesiis promotis, licite possemus personas idoneas præsentare: cujus oppositum videmus quotidie demandari, (so little faith and truth was there then in Papal Bulls and promises) de quo plurimum miramur, cum non debeat ab uno & eodem fonte, aqua dulcis & amara defluere. Sane licet hæc contra nos sit communis pestis introducta, pro qua contentiones, æmulationes, iræ, rixæ, nec non et cædes hominum poterunt fortassis exoriri, unius tamen compariū nostrorum afflictionem exempli gratia producere decrevimus in medium; ut quod contra eum & juris sui patronalis periculum hætenus est improvide procuratum, auctoritate vestra, si placet, revocetur in irritum. Cum igitur Robertus de Tuirge patronus Ecclesiæ de Luthnum decedente N. Italico, ejusdem Ecclesiæ rectore, personam idoneam præsentasset ad eandem; obstante mandato vestro, distulit ipsum admittere Dominus Eboracensis, licet contra personam præsentatam nihil inveniret quod obsteret, sed solam inhibitionem vestram prætenderet. Verum, cum in incendio vicinæ domus, nostrarum immineat periculum: vobis tanquam patri supplicamus, quatenus tam prædictum Robertum quam nos omnes et singulos prædicta libertate præsentandi Clericos nostros ad Ecclesias nostras vacantes libere uti permittatis: injungentes prædicto Archiepiscopo, quod J. Clericum ad prædictam Ecclesiam ab eodem præsentatum, pro quo etiam preces effundimus devotas, præsertim cum sit negotiis Regis & Regno nostro necessarius, nisi aliquod Canonicum obtulerit, non obstante priori mandato vestro, admittat: Ut ex hoc nos ad propensorem devotionem & famulatum Ecclesiæ provocetis: Ne cum sit jus advocacionis prædictorum feudorum, pro quibus Domino nostro militamus, cogamur illius invocare subsidium, qui iura et libertates Laicorum protegere tenetur et conservare. Valete.

Hereupon the Pope fearing a general revolt from him and the See of Rome, by the English as well as the Greeks and other Churches, if he gratified them not in some measure in this their just request, returned them this answer.

Tempore sub eodem Petrus Saracenus, this Popes agent in England (taken and kept Prisoner by the Emperor passing from England towards Rome, for acting against him) quem dominus imperator Fredericus in vinculis pro redemptione sua detinebat, obtulit tulit decem millia librarum bonorum esterlingorum ut sic saltem redemptus & liberatus, gratiam mereretur Imperialem. Quod annuit dominus Imperator, si Rex Anglia amicus suus pro tantæ pecuniæ solutione, & ne iterum Imperialem, ipse dictus Petrus Saracenus, vel aliquis suorum læderet dignitatem, occasione nacta ex hoc, fidejuberet. Et scripsit etiam prædictus Petrus Saracenus ad dominum Papam & amicos suos, ut exhortarentur dictum dominum Regem Anglia, per dominum Legatum & alios Regi familiares, ut, sicut erat semper pronus & promptus, effundere pecuniam suam in promotionem Romanorum, sese & Regnum suum obligaret ad prædicta. Cum igitur dominus Legatus hujus negotii diligens esset mediator & procurator, dicebat, quod nullo modo posset suo Nuntio incarcerato deesse honeste. Dominus Rex autem videns paratam sibi muscipulam, & quantum esset periculum regni ipsius, id suis Romanis nihil curæ esse, dummodo sua salvarentur sibi, proflit in verba iracundiæ: jurans, quod poenituit ipsum, quod Legatum in regnum suum, qui bona terræ jam dissiparet, et confundens fasque nefasque, relictis honestis viris Anglia, advocasset. Facta est igitur Anglia eo tempore sub talibus Potentatibus, quasi vinea, quam vindemiant omnes qui prætergrediuntur viam, non habens ullam maceriam includentem, aut custodem vel vigilem satis diligenter excubantem. Nam quod semel vetuit, permittit iterum tepor Ecclesiasticus.

The same year there fell out sundry contests between the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Monkes there, and the Bishop of Lincolne and his Dean and Canons, about their Jurisdictions, Priviledges and Visitations, which begat Appeals to Rome, thus related. Eo quoque tempore, aggravavit dominus Archiepiscopus Edmundus manum suam super Monachos suos. Et interdicta est Ecclesia Monachorum Cantuariensium; & novum quem sibi elegit Conventus Priorem, cum ipsis electoribus sententia excommunicationis innodavit. Lincolniensis quoque Episcopus, religiosorum in sua Diocæsi, factus est malleus et immanis persecutor. Nimirum in suos Canonicos propriæ Ecclesiæ Cathedralis, qui eundem creaverunt, insurgens, exegit instanter, ut postposito decano Lincolniensi, ab ipso Episcopo, contra consuetudinem ecclesiæ infra tempus cujus non extat memoria, visitarentur. Ipsi vero insistentes appellationi, tempusque protelantes nimiumque altercantes, tandem compromiserunt in Arbitros: scilicet, dominum Episcopum Wigornensem W. & ejusdem Archidiaconum, & Magistrum A. de Blefcites, Qui si non Canonice processissent, liceret utrique partium, ad Dominum Papam iterum appellare, cessante interim utraque partium a visitatione. In qua adjectione, hoc, Cessante interim utraque partium a visitatione, videtur pars Canonicorum periclitari: Episcopus enim nunquam visitavit, nec potest cessare qui nunquam incipit: sicut nec Diogenes, quæ nunquam habuit cornua amittere. Veruntamen Decanus, pro quo Canonici certaverunt, visitare cessaret, & sic videtur possessione privari vel ad horam, unde murmure multiplicato, caput oriri scandalum gravissimum. Mota igitur lite & controversia usque ad iracundiam, non permiserunt Canonici Episcopum in Capitulum, nec ullam super eos facere visitationem: Et prætulit graviter super se talem Episcopum de tam humili creasse, & hoc publice coram ipso eodem Episcopo proteitabantur. Facta contentione magna, & utrobique inutiliter profusis expensis non modicis, appellatum est ad præsentiam Domini Papæ: Constituto magistro Odono de Kinkenni Advocato, ex parte Capituli: Uno dierum casus contigit admirabilis. Dum unus Canonicorum, causam fovens Capituli, sermonem faciendo populo in medio illius nobilissimæ Ecclesiæ Lincolniensis, querimoniam reposuit coram omnibus, de oppressione Episcopi, & ait: Et si nos taceamus, lapides reclamabunt. Ad quod verbum, quædam magna pars Ecclesiæ corruit dissoluta.

This year Magister R. de Meideneston, Episcopus Herefordensis, sponte cedens Episcopalis, Episcopatus, 16. Calendas Januarii, habitum fratrum minorum apud Oxoniam accepit.

The same year there arose sundry contests and transactions, about the election of Bishops thus reported.

Et tunc temporis circa festum Sancti Matthie, Monachi Coventrenses, videntes Regem in electionibus processum canonicum procaciter semper impedire: nec in aliquem electum ab eis consentire, nisi cui favor Regi us inclinasset; ne amplius Ecclesia sua, per diuturnam & morosam expectationem, pateretur dispendia & damna irreparabilia: dominum Willielmum de Ræle, domini Regis Clericum specialem, virum discretum, & legum terræ peritissimum, in Episcopum suum & animarum suarum pastorem, (utpote eum, in quo rationabiliter nævus reprobationis vel contradictionis non apparuit) unanimiter & communi consensu elegerunt.

But he taking time to deliberate, whether he should accept of their Election, was in the interim chosen Bishop of Norwich, which Election he embraced, refusing that of Coventry. Whereupon the Monks of Coventry proceeded to elect another, who absolutely refused to accept thereof, though much importuned both by the Monks and Canons of Lichfield, * who claimed a voyce and right in the Election, which Matthew Paris thus reports.

Consecratio
Willi. de Ræle in Epif. Norwicensem.

After which he was consecrated Bishop of that Sec. Anno quidem eodem Willielmus de Ræle rite in Episcopum electus Norwicensis in Ecclesia sancti Pauli Londinensi, ab Admundo Cantuariensi Archiepiscopo, præsentè infinita Prælatorum & Magnatum multitudo, munus consecrationis accepit. Cujus cum prognosticum esset, Gaudium est Angelis Dei super uno peccatore pœnitentiam, &c. Omnes bonam spem de ipso conceperunt, ut quasi alter Marthæus, qui de telonia ad Apostolatam & Evangelii auctoritatem, sic de curiali occupatione ad magnæ sanctitatis culmen subvolarat.

The Monks of Coventry thus defeated of their expectation, proceeded to a new election, and chose Nicholas de Fernham for their Bishop, who refused to accept thereof, both in respect of his own insufficiency to undergo the weight and burden thereof, and in regard the Monks elected one, and the Canons another, which made the business litigious, whereupon he constantly refusing it, the Monks of Coventry consented to his Election, yet he still peremptorily resolved not to accept thereof; whereupon they at last chose Simon de Pateshull, who accepted it.

Eodem tempore, postulatō siue electō Willielmo de Rale ad regimen Ecclesiæ Norwicensis, & assensum tam populo præbente, quam Clero, Monachi Conventus instanter procurarunt in negotio suo de aliquo idoneo pastore sibi eligendo, ne merito reprobanda electione amplius vexarentur: Elegerunt igitur Magistrum Nicholaum de Fernham, virum optime literatum, & quod pluris est, multiplici virtutum gratia decoratum, statura elegantem, discreto sermone facundum, vultu & gestu maturum & modestum; ne nævus reprobationis propositum eorum possit impedire. Quod cum Rex acceptasset, & Clerus, & populus: Magister Nicholaus, ut vir profundus pectoris, videns rem esse litigiosam, & in confinio Regionis Anglicanæ, & reputans se more humilis & discreti, tanto oneri insufficientem, ponderantque tot animarum custodiendarum onus periculosum, in reddenda ratione, noluit aliquo modo acquiescere, sed oblatum omnis cum honore constanter recusando, resignavit. Erat nempe res ita litigiosa inter Monachos & Canonicos, quod affirmaret pars Canonicorum tunc debere eligere, eo quod juxta formam, qua conquievit lis inter eos mota, celebrata electione una per Monachos, secunda electio ad Canonicos devolveretur. Sed Canonicis talia proponentibus, Monachi responderunt, electionem annihilatam ad effectum non pervenisse, nec finem fuisse sortitam per eventum non opinatum, quem ordinatio divina, non sua præmeditatio, quæ omnia secundum voluntatem suam dispensat, disposuerat. Dixerunt Canonici: Nolumus vos ignorare, quod placet nobis electus vester, qui etiam ad majorem dignitatem sufficeret; sed nobis forma displicet eligendi, cum ad nos jure deputatur electio, non ad vos, & hoc bene per factum nostrum probavimus. Elegimus enim nobis Decanum nostrum in Episcopum & custodem animarum nostrarum. Et cum insonuisset tumultus, qui comminaretur damnosam imminere discordiam, Decanus vir pius, & discordiam volens terminare, exaltando vocalia publico, ait: *Sinite, sinite, nescio qua ratione me insufficientem ad omnes Episcopatus assumptis. Tota mente, tota corde commendo, et cedo: Sed quiescat iste tumultus, & ad hæc omnes unanimiter illi bono viro, de quo tanta bona prædicantur hac vice; Salvo tamen jure suæ Ecclesiæ utrobique, miserunt omnes unanimiter, tam Canonici quam Monachi, ad dictum Magistrum Nicholaum, significantes, quod omnes qui prius dissidebant, in unum jam conveniant, ipsumque elegerant: suppliciter exorantes, ut honorem, licet onerosum, sibi in Domino, & pro Domino oblatum, grateranter suscipere dignaretur. Quibus Magister Nicholaus respondit: Grates vobis rependo multisplacitis junctis manibus, vos amici & Domini mei, tam Canonici quam Monachi, in quorum oculis tanti eram, ut me qualem qualem in pastorem vobis elegissis. Sed, amici mei, sufficit mea conditio mihi, & me gravat jam commissum onus vehementer, & cura ac custodia ratioq; animarum mihi commissarum, sollicitas & perterret. Quiescite igitur, quiescite, fratres charissimi, amplius me in hoc negotio inquietare. Dico enim vobis præcise, siue consentiatis, siue non, non acquiesco. Quod cognoscentes alii, inito consilio, elegerunt secundum prædictam formam, Dominum Hugonem de Pateshull (filium præclari viri Domini Simonis de Pateshull, cujus sapientia aliquando tota Anglia regebatur) Canonicum Sancti Pauli Londinensem, & Domini Regis Cancellarium, in Episcopum & custodem animarum suarum. Ipse vero, ut vir honestus & discretus, habita deliberatione morosa, cogitans de illo Apostolico, scilicet: Qui bene administrat, bonum gradum sibi adipiscitur, & alibi: Qui Episcopatum desiderat, bonum opus desiderat: tandem motus & misertus super Ecclesiæ desolatione, & lachrymis petentium, laboribus, curis, & expensis, acquievit, ut tristitia eorum in gaudium verteretur. Which election was confirmed the year following. † Eodem tempore confirmata est electio Hugonis de Pateshull, electi Conventus. Qui cum Thesaurarius Domini Regis per aliquot annos antea fuisset, & se ibidem irreprehensibiliter habuisset; sedens ad Regis Scaccarium, accessit ad omnes Barones Scaccarii sedentes ibidem, secundum solitum ordinem suum, & cum omnes assurgerent ei, solitum honorem impendentes, ait eis: Amici mei, et socii charissimi, valedico vobis, non recedens unquam a vobis, sed a Scaccario: vocavit me Dominus, licet indignum, ad Regimen animarum. Et cum prorupissent in singultus verba sequentia, omnes singularim ostentatus est, pro recessu ipsius tenerrime lachrymantibus. This year the Dean and Canons of London, in the Bishops absence, presumed to Excommunicate the Mayor of London and his Officers, and to Interdict the Church of St. Paul; after which the Bishop and some other Prelates threatened to Interdict the whole City of London, only for apprehending Ranulphus Brito, a Canon of St. Pauls, in his house near the Church, and carrying him Prisoner to the Tower of London by the Kings command, (being accused of High Treason by one William) unless he were forthwith released, & absolutely discharged, enforcing the King thereby to release him without any conditions, to prevent the Cities Interdict, much against his will, in high affront of his Regal Authority and Prerogative, (a) Sanctuary extending not to this case, thus chronicled to posterity. (b) Ranulphum quoque Britonem, Clericum, & Ecclesie Sancti Pauli Londinensis Canonicum, qui aliquando Domino Regi fuerat familiaris, etiam Thesaurarius, criminaliter (Willielmum) accusavit, quem Rex, cum hac audisset, capi precepit per Literas suas, quas Major Londinensis, scilicet Willielmo Gomerio (sive Girardo Bat.) destinavit, & in Turri Londinensi tradi compeditum. Cui Major, (c) plus quam Deo obediens, Regia precepta precipitanter effectui mandavit. Ipsum enim Ranulphum a domo sua, quae vicina est Ecclesie Sancti Pauli, truculenter extraxit, & in Turri Londinensi vinculis ferreis, quae vulgariter annuli nuncupantur, inclusit mancipatum. Quo cognito, Decanus Londinensis, scilicet Magister G. de Lucy, cum suis Concanonicis (quia Episcopus tunc praesens non fuerat) sententiam excommunicationis dedit in comitenti generali, in omnes tantae enormitatis presumptores, Ecclesiam Sancti Pauli supponens Interdicto. Rex autem admonitus per Episcopum, cum errores non correxit, & mala malis comminando cumulasset, Episcopus totam Civitatem Londinensem sibi subiectam, erat Interdicto suppositurus: (Such was his daring insolency in this case.) Cum autem parati essent tam Archiepiscopus Cantuariensis, quam Legatus, & Episcopus Londinensis, & multi alii Praelati, manum aggravare, Rex dictum Ranulphum, licet invitatus, solvi, et in pace dimitti precepit: Sed cum voluisset addidisse conditionem, scilicet istam, ut reservaretur, ut eum promptum exponerent, quando placeret ei ipsum accusare: respondit Ecclesia, (Such was their undutifull peremptory deportment towards their Sovereign,) quod nullo modo sub hac forma eum quasi incarceratum custodirent, sed absolutum reciperet Ecclesia, sicut liberum & absolutum eum in domo sua Regi satellites violenter rapuerunt. Dimissus est igitur eo modo Ranulphus, edoctus experimento, quanta volubilitate Aulicos Fortuna edomat, ab aula Regia se retraxit castigatus.

Conventus
rum Lugduni.

This year, many Nobles and others having by the Popes Bulls and Instigation taken up the Cross for relief of the Christians in the holy Land against the Sarazens, both in France, England, and elsewhere, when they had provided themselves for that expedition, were suddenly prohibited by the Pope, on purpose to imploy all the Forces and Monies raised for this exploit against the Greek Church, and the Emperor Frederick, (whom he had now re-excommunicated and deposed) refused to obey the Popes Countermand, resolving to proceed in this their expedition, as these Narratives will inform us, and into what snares thousands were drawn to their undoing by this Papal Cheat. * Per idem tempus congregati sunt Nobiles Crucisignati Francie & adjacentium provinciarum in Civitate nobili, quae dicitur Lugdunum, ut ibidem de assumendo itinere suo diligenter contractarent: Et dum conciliarentur, ecce ex parte domini Papae nuntius destinatus festinanter advenit, qui sicut ante omnes ad proficiscendum urgens stimulaverat, & stimulo persuasit, sic vice versa, omnes ne iter arriperent, dissuasit, & ex parte domini sui Papae precepit, ut ad propria propere remearent, & authenticum domini Papae super hoc monstravit universis. Ad quod unanimiter responderunt: Unde haec in Romana Curia & in Papa multiplicitas? Monne nobis hic terminus, hic locus per Legatos, & Papales predicatorum, multo tempore transacto praefixus est ad transitum? Secundum dicta & promissiones praedicatorum ad iter pro Deo succin- gimur, Victualia & arma, & quaeque nobis necessaria, paravimus: terras nostras cum omni suppellectili nostra, & domibus, vel impignoravimus, vel vendidimus: amicis nostris valediximus: Thesauros nostros in terram sanctam praemisimus: adventum nostrum praenuntiavimus: portui appropinquavimus: & nunc ad negotium Crucisignandi impediendum, mutatis verbis, insurgunt Pastores nostri? Et non modicum indignati, pene insurrexerunt in Nuntium Papae, si non Prælatorum discretio suorum populi temperasset: who were justly incensed for this gross abuse.

Nec mora, domini Imperatoris Nuntii, ne inconsulte & festinanter transirent, sine ducatu & comitatu ipsius Imperatoris, diligenter persuaserunt super hoc Imperiales illis directas differentes. In quarum tenore eleganter & sufficienter excusavit dominus Imperator sui transitus omissionem. Unde Crucesignatorum miserabilis facta est conditio. Dissipatum est enim consilium eorum, & facti sunt arena sine calce, aut maceria sine cemento. Redierunt multi ad propria murmurantes & obloquentes, & aliquorum Prælatorum falsas assertiones detestantes. Multi vero per maris discrimina intrantes portum Marsilia, versus Terram sanctam cum magna desperatione veliscarunt: quorum in Sicilia multi, majorum adventum præstolantes, tempus eorum expectarunt. Multi vero, ex licentia & benevolentia Imperatoris, petierunt Brundisium.

Mat. Westm. p. 152.

Temporibus sub eisdem, dominus Papæ dedit in mandatis Legato, ut distingeret prohiberet Crucesignatis (in Anglia) contra propositum terminum a prædicatoribus sibi præfixum, & intentionem, & spem suam, quam ex pollicitis prædicatorum præconceperant, ne iter versus Terram sanctam arriperent, usque ad verum tempus, & passagium quod est in Martio: sin autem, concessa sibi peccatorum indulgentia non gauderent.

Ibi p. 155, 156. Papa prohibet, ne Crucesignati transirent.

Hereupon (in opposition to this Popes Prohibition and Designs) Sub iisdem diebus, in crastino scilicet sancti Martini, convenerunt Magnates Anglia Crucesignati apud Northampton, de itinere suo in Terram sanctam arripiendo contractaturi. Et ne per cabillationes Romanæ Ecclesiæ honestum votum eorum impediretur, nec ad effusionem sanguinis Christiani, vel in Græciam, vel in Italiam, prout instillatum in eorum auribus fuerat, discurreretur, juraverunt omnes, se in terram sanctam in expeditionem Ecclesiæ sanctæ Dei illo anno migraturos. Quorum Primus juravit Comes Richardus, omnium aliorum primicerius, super altare majus in Ecclesia omnium sanctorum, in medio Civitatis; Et post eum Comes G. Marscallus, si possit antea cum Rege concordari, idem repetit sacramentum. Cui Comes R. Non idcirco omittas charissime fororice, hoc enim onus mihi assumo. Post ipsum Richardus Sward, & post eum Henricus de Trublevilla; & deinde Nobiles multi, quos longum esset dinumerare. Qui omnes uno humero & animo se ad obsequium crucis viriliter accinxerunt.

Consuluit autem per Epistolas suas Dominus Imperator Universitati Crucesignatorum, (upon a different account from the Pope) quod licet parati essent, & grave illis videretur, patienter tamen expectarent, neciter Hierosolymitanum acciperent, donec quiescente spiritu iracundiæ Papalis, gaudens eos comitaretur; quia parata fuit contra eos Orientalium ad certamen armatorum infinita multitudo. Quod cum alii contempsissent, indignans Imperator, prohibuit, ne Exercitui Francorum victualia de terris suis uberrimis finitimis, Apulia scilicet & Cypro, & aliis terris suis venalia ministrarentur, vel sub ulla forma transportarentur. Quo audito, Saraceni caput extulerunt, & Christianis assumpta audacia, damna multa in corporibus & possessionibus intulerunt, incendia & strages audacter exercentes. Et ad cumulum dolorum, Gracia suum Antipapam Germanum contra Romanam Ecclesiam erexit: Et Dominus Imperator, fratrem Heliam contra Papam opposuit, qui summus minister fuit aliquando ordinis minorum, & Prædicator nominatissimus, & sic ceperunt mala multiplicari super faciem terræ; Absoluti enim quos Dominus Papa ligavit anathemate, & generatum est scandalum in ecclesia. Illo enim summo procuratore machinante, Ecclesia Romana super usuris, et simoniis, et rapinis variis reddebatur infamis, et filii in prævignos convertebantur. Asserebat enim ipse prædictus frater Helyas, dominum Papam contra jura Imperii debacchari, pecuniam tantummodo litte, & variis argumentis extorquere, preces, missas, exhortationes, & omnia (quæ solent oppressos a persecutionibus liberare) non curare; sicut scriptum est, Petrus autem servabatur in carcere, oratio autem fiebat ab Ecclesia sine intermissione pro eo. Fraudem etiam facere de pecunia collecta ad succursum terræ sanctæ; scripta etiam ad beneplacitum suum in camera sua clam, & sine fratrum assensu, Et etiam vacuas, sed bullatas, multas Nuntius suis tradere, ut in eis quod eis foret beneplacitum scriptitarent, quod erat horribile; & alia multa enormia imposuit domino Papæ, ponens os suum in Cælo. Propter quod dominus Papa eundem Helyam excommunicavit: instead of refusing, or reforming these injuries, crimes and execrable abuses.

Soon after Richard Earl of Cornwall, accompanied with many Nobles, Knights and Soldiers, according to their Oath, departing out of England, and traveling through France towards the holy land against the Popes Prohibition, thereupon he sent them a new Inhibition. * Cum Comes R. ad S. Egidium pervenisset, venerunt ad eum unus Legatus, & Archiepiscopus Arelatenfis, autoritate Domini Papæ consulentes & inhibentes, ne Comes transfretaret. Quod cum Comes vehementer admirans redarguisset, asserens, se credidisse veritatis firmitatem inesse dictis Apostolicis, & suis quos misit Prædicatoribus, moleste tulit nimis tales inhibitiones, & dixit: Omnia mihi ad transitum præparavi, valedixi amicis, præmisi thesaurum & arma mea; naves paravi jam meis victualibus oneratas; & nunc mutato verbo, transfretare cum jam ad mare navem intraturus perveni, prohibet Papa, qui dicitur Successor et Vicarius Jesu Christi (qui nunquam verbi sui transgressor fuisse perhibetur) ne ad servitium Christi properem, ad omnia jam accinctus. Et cum viderent Legati illi, quod transitum suum nequirent impedire, cœperunt persuadere, ut relicto portu Marsilia, intraret mare in portu qui dicitur Aqua nârtua. Quod omnes de exercitu abhorruerunt, propter loci corruptionem & infirmitatem, & dissuaderunt. Comes igitur, detestans Romanæ Ecclesiæ dupliciter, cum magna mentis amaritudine Marsiliam tenebat, spretis Legatorum fallacibus et ambiguis sermocinationibus; & primo ad Rokam veniens, ibi classem totam ordinavit & oneravit. Misit autem ad Imperatorem status sui notitiam, & significavit ei Papalem insinuationem per Nuntios sibi speciales, Robertum de Tuinge militem, & alios. Et in septimana infra octavas beatæ Mariæ sese vasto mari navigandum commisit, and arrived safely in the holy land, where he was received with extraordinary joy, processions, pomp, as well by the Prelates and Clergy, as of the Nobles, Soldiers and people, notwithstanding the Popes Inhibitions which then grew very contemptible, as well as his brutish Anathemas.

Pope Gregory the ninth bearing an inveterat, implacable malice against the Emperor Frederick the second, ( notwithstanding his * former seeming reconciliation to him) intending to excommunicate, and depose him from his Empire the second time, caused sundry false Rumors, as he had formerly done, to be raised and scattered in all places to blast his Reputation, as if he were rather an Atheist or Mahometan, then a real Christian; when as these Antichristian slanders, and proceedings against the Emperor, demonstrated this Pope to be more Atheistical and Ethnical then Frederick, in the judgement of all unprejudiced persons.

Mat. Par. Hist.
Angl. Edit.
p. 482.

Ejusdem temporis curriculo, fama Imperatoris Frederici admodum est obfuscata & maculata, ab invidis inimicis & æmulis suis. Imponebatur enim ei, quod vacillans, & etiam exorbitans in fide Catholica, dixerit quædam verba, ex quibus elici & suspicari potuit, non tantum fidei Catholicæ in eo imbecillitas, quin imo, quod gravius & multo pejus est, manifestæ & maximæ Hæresis, & dirissimæ blasphemix enormitas detestanda omnibus fidelibus, & plane execranda. Fertur enim eundem Fredericum Imperatorem dixisse (licet non sit recitabile) tres præstigiatores callide & versute, ut dominarentur in mundo, totius populi sibi contemporanei universitatem seduxisse, videlicet Moysem, Jesum & Mahometum. Et de Sacratissima Eucharistia quædam nefanda & execrabilia deliramenta & blasphemias, impie protulisse. Absit, absit, aliquem virum discretum, nedum hominem Christianum, in tam furibundam blasphemiam, os & linguam reserasse. Dictum etiam fuit ab æmulis suis, ipsum Fredericum Imperatorem plus consensisse & credidisse in legem Mahometi, quam Jesu Christi; & quasdam Meretriculas Saracenas fecisse concubinas. Surrepsitque murmur in populum (quod avertat Dominus a tanto Principe) Saracenis a multo tempore ipsum fuisse confederatum, & amicum fuisse plusquam Christianorum, & id indicis multis probare conabantur ipsius æmuli, qui famam suam conabantur obfuscare. Si peccabant, vel non, novit ipse qui nihil ignorat.

Moreover this Pope fomented the Rebellions of the Millanois against the Emperor, refusing to aid him in his just wars against them, being much offended with the King of England for sending both aid of men and monies to him: whereupon upon the Emperour thus continually affronted by him, marched into Italy, seized upon the greatest part of Sardinia, surrendered to him Anno 1239. as appertaining to the Empire; for which and other pretences, this Pope thundred out a new excommunication against him; published in all Countries, Churches with Bell, book and Candle, especially in England, absolved all his Subjects from their Oaths of Allegiance, deposed him from his Empire, and profered it to the French Kings Brother; All which occasioned this Emperour for vindicating his own Innocency, detecting this Popes Impiety, rapines, slanders, and Antichristian practices, to send abroad several Notable Letters, and the Pope to scatter abroad scandalous Libels and answers to them, which because for the most part written, but all of them sent to the King, Bishops and Nobles of England, and Popes Legate there residing, recorded by Matthew Paris, and pertinent to my general Theam, I shall transcribe at large.

Mat. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 468. 469, 470. Mat. Westm. p. 151, 152.

Eodem Anno, in Quadragesima, dominus Papa cum vidisset facta Imperatoris nimis temeraria, & dicta sua peccata suum excusantia, scilicet, quod faventibus quibusdam Magnatibus & Judicibus Sardinicis, terram & Castra Episcopi Sardinici, sibi accepisset & tenuisset, & constanter assereret, ea esse de substantia Imperii, seque primo suo et maximo sacramento jura Imperii servare pro posse, nec non et dispersa congregare: ira vehementissima commotus contra Imperatorem, gravissimas contra eum proponens quaestiones & reponens querimonias, scribens & scribendo constanter & diligenter persuadens, per plures & pluries Nuncios solennes; quorum Authoritas meruit exaudiri, ut ablata restitueret, & defineret Ecclesiam suis possessionibus viduare, quam constat diuturna temporis præscriptione prædotari. Et more prudentis Medici, qui nunc fomentis, nunc ferro abscisionis, nunc vero utitur adustione, verba intermiscens blandis comminatoria, terribilibus amabilia. Sed cum Imperator procaeciter tenuisset, & sua facta quibusdam causis apparentibus ratione fultis excusasset, Dominus Papa tunc presentibus Cardinalibus Dominica Palmarum, * in spiritu ferventis itacundia; Fredericum dictum Imperatorem, ac si jam a culmine Imperii dejecissent eum, solenniter excommunicavit, tradens eum Sathanæ in interitum terribiliter possidendum. Et eisdem verbis utentes, quasi in fremitu furoris intonans, omnes audientes vehementer compulsi ad terrorem.

Imperatoris excanduit in Pa-pam,

Quam ſententiam cum ſuis cauſis in cunctis regionibus per Univerſos Praelatos, in ſingulis Eccleſiis ſibi ſubjectis cum ſolemnitate, pulſatis campanis & candelis accenſis praecipit Dominus Papa promulgendam.

His auditis, Dominus Imperator in iram excanduit vehementem, exprobrando & multoties recitando, imponendoque Eccleſiae & ejus rectoribus, Quod omnes ſibi eſſent ingrati, rependentes mala pro bonis: recolens quod fluctibus marinis & mille generibus generibus periculorum se suaque, pro promotione Ecclesiæ, & Catholicæ fidei incremento, opposuisset. Et quicquid habet honoris Ecclesiæ in Terra Sancta, ejus labore & industria affirmavit adquisitum. * Sed Papa invidens, quod per acquisitionem alicujus Laici, Ecclesiæ tam facile sentiret incrementum, qui tantum aurum & argentum magis quam fidei augmentum, testantibus operibus, cupiens, mihi paravit supplantationem, & ab omni Christianitate pecuniam extorquens, scilicet decimam partem, toto nisu suo, ut me Deo militantem & exponentem corpus telis, infirmitati, hostium insidiis, prius fluctuum sævientium nullis parentibus periculis, elaboravit ut me exheredaret. Ecce quale præsidium patris nostri! Ecce quale præsidium in pressuris vicarii Jesu Christi! Nec adhuc sufficit furor persequentis. Erexit enim contra me * Johannem de Bresne, aliquando Regem Hierosolymitanum, quem novit in bello strenuum, & in militari disciplina peritissimum, & meum validum fuisse inimicum, in confusionem meam & subversionem mei, talia certe non verentis, ditavit etiam ipsum pecunia non minima, quam a pauperibus Prælati Ecclesiæ, per Orbem extorserat impudenter. Audiens autem talia per fideles meos, quos suspiria, quas lachrymas dolor iste generavit in corde meo, non est facile denodare: sed novit, qui nil ignorat. Sed cælans præcordialem dolorem sub sereno vultu festinanter, ne forte id cognoscentes inimici, superbirent exultantes, & fierent nobis graviores, capri tractare de pace, & captis treugis, reditum maturavi. Et cum repatriassem, inveni terram meam a Papalibus parentibus et affinis occupatam, quorum Dux tunc prædictus Johannes de Bresne, & capitaneus: quos Deo vindice comprehendi, & juxta merita eorum, qui crucifixi negotium impediverunt, puniendo recompensavi. Judicet Deus inter me Militem suum, & Papam ipsius vicarium. Novit enim Christus, novit & mundus, quod a veritatis tramite non exorbito. Ecce radix odii, & seminarium. Et factum est schisma in populo. Et redintegratum est per præsentiam Domini naturalis, scilicet Imperatoris, robur Imperii in temporis brevitate.

The Monks of Mount Cassini excommunicating the Emperor in obedience to the Pope, he thereupon by a stratagem seized upon their Castle and Monastery, being an impregnable Fort, and turned them out of it; who thereupon repaired to the Pope, complaining of this pretended injury, who gave them good words, but no other relief, for their Obedience to him, but Rebellion against their Sovereign.

Eodem Anno venerunt Monachi Montis Cassini (ubi Sanctus Benedictus Mansionem sibi elegit Monasticam) ad Papam, in vestibus laceratis & veteribus: Erant autem xiiij. scilicet Conventus, & erant incompoti Comis & Barbis, & vultu lachrymabiles. Et introeuntes ad Papam, ceciderunt ante pedes ejus, conquerentes, quod Imperator eiecisset eos à Mansionem sua, scilicet Monte Cassino. Erat autem Mons ille inexpugnabilis, imo inaccessibilis alicui, nisi ex voluntate Monachorum & aliorum inhabitantium in eo: nisi tantummodo quod R. G. per excogitationem, qua se mortuum simulavit, in feretro in illum delatus, Castra Monachorum subito occupavit. Quod cum Papa audisset, dolorem conceptum dissimulans, causam quæsit. Cui Monachi responderunt: Quia obedientes vobis, Dominum Imperatorem excommunicavimus. Quibus Papa: Obedientia vestra salvabit vos; (contrary to St. Pauls and St. Peters Doctrine in this case, Rom. 13. 1, to 9. Tit. 3. 1. 1 Pet. 2. 13, 14, 15.) Et abierunt Monachi, plus a Papa non accipientes.

Eodem tempore, cuidam Monacho Cisterciensi apparuit manus candida, scribens in corporali hæc verba. Cedrus alta Libani succidetur. Mars prævalebit Saturno & Jovi. Saturnus vero in omnibus insidiabitur Jovi. Erit unus Deus, id est, Monarcha. Secundus Deus adiit. Filii Israel liberabuntur à captivitate infra undecim annos. Gens quidam sine capite reputata, vagans veniet. Et Clero, viget ordo nobis, si ceciderit: hæc Ecclesiæ fidei, legum, et Regnorum. Mutationes erunt, & tota terra Saracenorum subvertetur.

Scripsit eodem anno Dominus Imperator Senatoribus & populo Romano, asseruit, quod quamplurimum admirabatur super hoc, quod permiserunt ipsum præcipuum Principem Principum, in Urbe excommunicari. Scripsit etiam Epistolas elegantes & prolixas Cardinalibus, & omnibus Magnatibus Christianis, præcipue tamen Regi Henrico, & fratri suo Richardo Comiti Cornubie, sororiis suis, se in multis excusans rationibus, & Dominum Papam multipliciter accusans, & asserens, quod cum esset per omnia juri parere promptus & paratus, & Legatos solennes hæc oblatus destinasset, Papa hæc præsciens, præcipitanter ante adventum Legatorum in ipsum ex industria induitria sententiam fulminavit. Per idem tempus, scripsit Dominus Papa, Cannar. & Ebor. Archiepiscopis prolixam nimis Epistolam, conquerens graviter de enormitate Imperatoris, imponens ei crimen hæresis. Scripsit autem tam Legato, quam dictis Archiepiscopis, ut ipsam Epistolam, per omnes suæ ditioni vel legationi terras spectantes, publicarent; addens, quod ipse Fredericus, dictus Imperator, jam dotes Ecclesiæ hostiliter invadens, eas sibi ausu temerario manciparet, tanquam Ecclesiæ manifestus inimicus.

Diebus autem illis, in Ecclesia Sancti Pauli Londinensis denuntiatus est excommunicatus Fredericus dictus Imperator, et præcepto Papæ. Similiter per totum Episcopatum Londinensem, & postea per totum Regnum. Nec erat qui contradiceret, vel clypeum contradictionis opponeret: licet Rex honestam causam haberet, præ cæteris mundi Principibus, contradicendi, propter fœdus propinquæ affinitatis. Such was the cowardice, unworthiness, and more then slavish servitude both of the King, Bishops, Nobles in that age to this Pope, whom they durst not strenuously to oppose even in this just cause, neither in England nor Rome it self. Upon consideration whereof: * Eodem tempore, Dominus Imperator, admirans quod robur Romanorum nimis enervatum, a constantia suæ subjectionis debita & fidelitatis tam fiducia, liter promissæ recalcitravit, permittendo in eundem Imperatorem, Dominum suum naturalem, sententiam excommunicationis inferri in Civitate: tam Curie Romanæ Cardinalibus, quam Senatori Urbis & Romanis, ex intimo cordis, tacto dolore præcordiali, scripsit in hæc verba.

FREDERICUS Dei gratia Romanorum Imperator, semper Augustus, Hierusalem & Sicilia Rex, Senatori Urbis, & suis Contromanis, salutem. Cum Roma sit caput nostri et austris Imperii, et Romanus Imperator a Romæ vocabulo nuncupetur, ut sibi nostri nominis et honoris processus et auspicia debeamus: in admirationem vehementem rapimur, si ubi nostri promovendus est honor, et injuria repellenda, inter eos qui tenentur & debent pro culmine nostro se murum defensionis opponere insurgentibus ex adverso, ipsis audientibus & dissimulantibus contrarium patiamur. Propter quod graviter dolore compellimur, quia Romanus Antistes contra Romanum Principem, id quod alibi non auderet, sicut dicitur, in Urbe præsumpsit: et Romanum Imperatorem, auctorem Urbis, et benefactorem populi Romanorum, ipsis non resistentibus, imple blasphemavit. Ut benefactorum nostrorum tam Proceres quam populum Romanum, quibus specialiter & communiter studuimus liberali & spontanea munificentia providere, ac eorum intendimus continuatis augmentis, recte vocemus immemores extitisse, acinerti somno detentos, ut de tribulo mallea vir non esset de tot Proceribus & turba Quiritum, vel unus de tot Romani populi millibus, qui pro nobis exurgeret, verbum unicum loqueretur, qui nostræ injuriæ condoleret: cum nos Urbem antiquis Triumphorum titulis insignitam, novis nostræ victoriæ successibus honoremus, & ad reformandum Romanum nomen, sicut in diebus antiquis, & exaltandum Romani statum Imperii, continuis laboribus intendamus. Quapropter necessario ducimur; requirere vos, instantè monere, pariter & exhortari, quatenus si omissum est aliqua negligentia vel torpore, nunc instantè ostendere debeatis, inducentes alios monitis & exemplo: ut omnes & singuli prompta voluntate consurgant ad nostram & communem injuriam ulciscendam. Quia cum idem Blasph. mator noster, ausus alibi non fuisset in nostri nominis Blasphemiam prorupisse, de tanta præsumptione gloriari non posset, quod volentibus & nolentibus Romanis contra nos talia perpetrasset, cum potius id posset vestræ ingratitude reputari, si quod ante factum fuit, impedire laudabiliter potuistis, ex post facto nostram & vestram injuriam, postponatis inultam. Nam cum alterutrum teneamur, et nos Romanum honorem et Romanos defendere, nomen nostrum, si ad hoc vos et eos negligentes invenerimus, cum nullus timor nos coegerit ad beneficia Romanorum, sed gratia induxerit specialis, per ingratitude istam licet prorsus inviti cogamur, ab universis exhibitam gratiam revocare. Datum Tervisi, mensis Aprilis die xx.

Idem autem Dominus Imperator Fredericus, Cardinalibus paulo ante præscripserat, & eosdem Romanos in parte movit: sed nunc postremo commovit vehementius. Scripsit in hæc verba Cardinalibus.

FREDERICVS Dei gratia Romanorum Imperator semper Augustus, Hierusalem & Sicilia Rex, universis sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinalibus, dilectis amicis suis, salutem, & sinceræ dilectionis affectum. Cum sit Christus caput Ecclesiæ, (not the Pope) & in Petri vocabulo suam fundaverit Ecclesiam supra Petram, vos Apostolorum statuit successores, ut Petro pro omnibus ministrante, vos qui estis Candelabra Ecclesiæ, super Montem, non sub modio constituta, revera omnibus qui sunt in domo effectus bonorum operum luceatis, nec a publica mundi lingua ex conscientia generali vos subtrahere intendatis, cum ad singula quæ præsidens sedes Petri proponit statuens, vel denuncianda decrevit, æqua participatio vos admittit: nisi prævius religionis Ecclesiæ status, & zelus effervescentes evitandi scandali generalis, vobis cautelam suggererit ad futura. Quis enim non miretur & stupeat, quod tot venerabilium Patrum congregatione munitæ Ecclesiæ generali, sedens in folio (& utinam iustus Iudex) velit inconsulte procedere, ac suis motibus exardescens, in Romanum tendit Principem, advocatum Ecclesiæ, ac ad prædicationem Evangelii stabilitum, ob favorem Lombardorum rebellium, exercere gladium spirituale, si dicere liceat, minus iuste, cum alias quicquid ex objectis Ecclesiæ gravaminibus, quæ dicuntur, objiciat, quantumve species per individua detinentur, vel emendationem recipiant, vel ex deliberata nostri provisione consilii sit in proximo, prout iussio jam præcessit debita, & integra emendatio secutura. Nam ecce per Patentes Literas Prælatorum, quos mandatum Apostolicum præstitit monitores, ejusdem testimonium declaratur: & præcedens nostra constitutio super revocatione Prælatorum damna passorum, & de præstanda integra satisfactione Prælati, jam per Literas Venerabilis Archiepiscopi Messanensis, vocato ad hoc assessori nostro transmissas, evidens exhibet testimonium veritati. Propter quod non indigne dolemus, si Pater Apostolicus offendere tam graviter nos intendat. Unde dum in constantem virum tam vehemens cadit injuria, etsi patienter ferre velimus, immanitas negotii non permittit, quin ad ultiones quibus Cæsares uti solent, facti violentia nos impellat. Veruntamen dum consideramus impatientiam procedentis, & difficultatem attendimus defensoris, si ex æquo liceret privatas exercere vindictas, quas in hominem per quem scandalum venit, & in sui participes sanguinis compensare possemus, & in ipsum & suos attemptata Sedis injuria redundaret, tolerabilius duceremus. Sed cum nec ipse, nec tota propter hoc sui passura progenies, tanti forent, ut culmen Imperii zelaret ultionem ipsorum, cumque Sedis auctoritas audaciter sibi fræna relaxet, et tot venerabilium fratrum moles cum in concepta sobere pertinacia videatur, angit nos altiori mente turbatio, quod dum nos intendamus a persequente defendere, oporteat nos defendendo gravius offendere resistentes: salva in omnibus Ecclesiæ Sanctitate, quam cultu sacro et debita reverentia veneramus. Quapropter venerabilem cœtum vestrum affectuosius deprecamur, quatenus motus Summi Pontificis, quos ex causis evidentibus non tam iustos quam voluntarios mundus agnoscit, ex deliberata modestia compescatis: generali statui et præsentis quieti mentium, a scandalis prohibentes. Nam cum ad salutem omnium vestrum favorabiliter alligemur, ab injuriarum offensa non poterimus æquanimiter abstinere: quin etsi obitare principis non possimus, licite debeat injurias, quas revocare non possumus, injuriis propulsare. Datum Podensi, decima die Martii, undecima Indictione.

These new feuds between the Emperor and Pope, caused many persons to forge or renew old Prophecies, which they applied to those times, and Pasquils to be published by both parties, against each other, as well as Letters, and these in particular besides others.

Et tunc temporis quædam scripta, quæ videbantur futurorum esse prognostica, propter imminencia pericula, & discordiam ortam inter tam graves personas, quibus non sunt majores, imo nec pares, ad memoriam sunt redacta, & recenter recitata. Quorum unum est hoc sequens. Excitabitur Roma contra Romanum, & Romanus substitutus Romam Romano imminet. Alleviabitur virga pastorum, & solatiuntur eorum.

eorum erit in otio. Turbabitur seduli, & orabunt: & in lachrymis multorum erit requies. Humilis alludet furibundo, & furor extinguens palpabitur. Novus Grex serpet ad cumulum, & qui intusculantur in veteri, tenui cibo cibabuntur. Frustrata est spes sperantium, & requiescit solaminum, in quo parat fiduciam. Qui in tenebris ambulabant, ad lucem redibunt. Et quæ erant divisa & dispersa, consolidabuntur. Non modica nubes incipiet plueri: quia natus est immuator saculi. Hæc dicta anno gratiæ M. C. XIX. jam instare intellectas comminationes in scripto dicebantur. Aliud scriptum, quod videtur procurasse Imperator, fertur tamen pro vero, quod inventi sunt hi verficuli in cubiculo Papæ scripti, modus autem & auctor penitus ignoratur:

*Fata docent, stellaque monent, aviumque volatus, Totius mundi malleus unus erit.
Roma dum titubans, variis erroribus acta, Totius mundi desinet esse caput.*

Quos versus cum Dominus Imperator, & alii multi interpretabantur in interitum & desolationem Papæ & Romanæ Curia redundasse, Papa in eundem Imperatorem hos verficulos retorquebat:

Fama refert, scriptura docet, peccata loquuntur, Quod tua vita brevis, pœna perennis erit.

Excusatur Im-

Videns autem Dominus Imperator famam suam in hac tempestate periclitari, ut innocentiam suam manifestaret, procuravit ut nuntii ipsi, qui magnæ autoritatis viri fuerant & solemnes, scriberent Domino Papæ, ostendendo suam & Imperatoris innocentiam ac justitiam. Wherein all the crimes objected against him in the Popes Bull of Excommunication, are particularly answered or excused one after another.

SANCTISSIMO Patri in Christo Gregorio Dei gratia Summo Pontifici, sui devoti Hypoleusis, Wormaciensis, Vercellensis, & Parmensis Episcopi, humilem sui commendationem & reverentiam tam debitam quam devotam. Cum omni reverentia & devotione recipimus Literas Apostolicæ Sanctitatis, per quas missi fuimus admonere Dominum nostrum Romanum Principem, super quibusdam capitibus, quæ missa sunt eisdem Literis interclusa. Nos autem ex obedientiæ debito, quo tenemur ad tantum debitum, hæsitantes tamen, si monita nostra patienter acciperet, reverenter & devote pervenimus, & expositis singulis, quæ Capitula continebant, ac vestrarum per eum habita copia Literarum, faciente Domino, qui gerit ac dirigit quo voluerit corda Regum, in admirabili devotione & insperata humilitate se monitis nostris prout exhibuit, inclinata Imperialis audientia dignitatis. Ita quod nobis existentibus coram eo, præsentibus quoque Venerabilibus Panormitanensis, Messanensis Archiepiscopis, Cremonensis, Laudensis, Navarriensis, & Mutinensis Episcopis, & Abbate Sancti Vincentii, convocatis etiam quampluribus ex fratribus ordinis Predicatorum & Minorum, respondit ad singula quæ proposuimus seriatim, prout in sequentibus distincte ac plenarie continetur, sicut dominationi vestræ responsionem ipsius juxta seriem Capitulorum expositam, secundum Apostolicam jussionem, sub fido testimonio tenore præsentium declaramus. Proposito Ecclesia: Montis Regalis, Cephaludensis, Cathanienſis, & Squillatenſis Ecclesia, Milletensis, Sancta Eutemiz Terræ Majoris, & Sancti Johannis in Lamis, Monasteria sunt spoliata fere omnibus bonis suis. Item, omnes fere Cathedralis & alia Ecclesia ac Monasteria, sunt per iniquam inquisitionem, fere omnibus hominibus suis spoliata. Responsio Imperialis: Super gravaminibus Ecclesiarum, quæ indeterminate ponuntur, quædam ignoranter commissa, corrigi jussa sunt, sine moræ dispendio: quædam vero jam correctæ, sicut est in evidenti, de fideli & industrio nuncio nostro, ad hoc specialiter destinato: videlicet Magistro Willielmo de Tolto, Notario nostro: qui etiam jussus est transire per Romanam Curiam, & consulto Venerabili Messanensi Archiepiscopo, juxta consilium suum procedere, ad revocationem eorum, quæ inveniret notabiliter facta. Sic quod in ingressu Regni, circa fines illos invenit quædam, quæ tenebantur per quosdam de familia Imperiali, quibus non pepercit, sed eos statim destituit, restituens destitutos: cum tamen habuerit in mandatis, mandatis, quod ab Imperiali fisco etiam revocaret, si qua inveniret illicite deprehensa. Sic quod fama eorum quæ gesserat perveniente ad Curiam Romanam, Dominus Papa dicitur approbasse mittentis providentiam, & diligentiam missi. Qui cum Regnum in diversas Provincias sit divisum, nondum potuit omnes peragrasse, ut quæ corrigenda invenerit, corrigantur. Item, de Ecclesia Montis Regalis. R. Quod nullum gravamen habuit per Dominum Imperatorem, nisi velit notari de Saracenis, qui occupaverunt bona Ecclesiæ per bellum, qui nec Dominum Imperatorem, nec Ecclesiam recognoscebant, nec in aliquo pro posse suo pepercerunt: imo destruxerant & deprædati fuerant eam, usque ad muros Ecclesiæ, & alicui de Sicilia non parcebant: ita ut in partibus illis nullus vel rarus Christianicola remansisset. Hos re vera fatetur Dominus Imperator exterminasse de Sicilia, cum multis laboribus & expensis: si reputant in hoc gravamen Ecclesiæ, alias nescit quod unquam gravasset illam, nec vult gravare. Item, idem dicit de Ecclesia Cephalensi, nisi forte tangatur de Castro Cephalensi, quod velut munitissimam arcem supra mare, & stantem in Marchia Saracenorum, tenuerunt semper Reges Siciliæ, & bonæ memoriæ Innocentius Papa mandavit Legato suo, tunc temporis pro servitio nostro in Sicilia esistenti, ut illud reciperet ab Episcopo, ad cujus manus perurbationem venerat, & non de jure, & quod Legatus tempore pueritiæ nostræ faceret teneri & custodiri pro nobis, nec Episcopo, nec præsentī restituitur, nec de jure restitui debet, quia non habet jus in re: & alias, quod falsarius, homicida, proditor, & schismaticus, publico testimonio comprobatur, quare si etiam haberet jus in re, quod absit, restitui non tenetur. Item, idem de Cathacenſi Ecclesiā: nisi forte tangatur de hominibus Demani Domini Imperatoris, qui temporibus belli, propter locum securum & fertilem se Cathaniam contulerunt. Hos fatetur Imperator se ad Demania sua revocasse, secundum formam generalis constitutionis Regni, per quam etiam Comites & Barones, & omnes de Regno homines, de Demaniis revocant, ubicumque eos invenerint: sive in terris Ecclesiarum, sive in Civitatibus ipsius Imperatoris. Nihilominus tamen super his forma statuta est, & meta temporis posita, ad requisitionem Summi Pontificis acceptata, prout constat ex Literis testimonialibus Patriarchæ Antiochenſis, & Panormitanensis, & Messanenſis Archiepiscoporum. Item, quod cum Ecclesia Mileſensis & Sanctæ Eufemie, cum Abbate & Monachis Terræ Majoris, permutatio congrua facta sit de voluntate Prælatorum ipsorum & Conventuum, secundum formam juris, & ipsi hodie res tenent & possident permutatas. Tassale vero Sancti Severii, quod non erat in totum Abbatis Terræ Majoris Aconensis, ibi quædam jura habebat quæ tenebat in feudum ab ipso Imperatore, per judicium fuit juste destructum, quia homines illius loci tempore perturbationis occiderunt Paulum de Longotham bajulum Imperatoris, & armenta Imperialia diripuerunt: & nihilominus, ut dictum est, permutatio data est Abbati & Conventui pro parte sua, & hodie tenent. Locus Lama cinctus est per sententiam ab Abbate Sancti Johannis rotundi: qui de eo, velut de re feudali, potuit & debuit secundum jus Civile & Canonicum, in Imperiali Curia conveniri. Propositio Ecclesiæ: Templarii & Hospitalarii bonis mobilibus & immobilibus spoliati, juxta tenorem pacis non sunt integre restituti. Responsio Imperialis. A Templariis & Hospitalariis verum est, quod per judicium & per antiquam constitutionem Regni Siciliæ, revocata sunt feudalia, & burgasatica, quæ habuerant per concessionem invalorum Regni: quibus equos, arma, victualia, & vinum, & omnia necessaria ministrabant abunde, quando infestabant Imperatorem, & Imperatori, tunc Regi pupillo, & destituto, omne omnino subsidium denegabant. Alia tamen feudalia, & burgasatica dimissa sunt eis, qualitercumque ea adquisierunt & tenuerunt ante mortem Regis Willielmi secundi: seu de quibus haberent concessionem alicujus antecessorum suorum. Nonnulla vero burgasatica quæ emerunt, revocata sunt ab eis, secundum formam antiquæ constitutionis Regni Siciliæ, quod nihil potest eis sine consensu Principis de burgasaticis inter vivos concedi, vel in ultima voluntate legari, quin post annum, mensem, septimanam, & diem, aliis Burgensibus sæcularibus vendere & concedere teneantur. Et hoc propterea fuit ab antiquo statutum, quia si libere eis & perpetuo burgasatica liceret emere sive accipere, modico tempore totum Regnum Siciliæ (quod inter Regionem mundi sibi habilis reputarent) emerent, & acquirerent: & hæc eadem constitutio obtinet ultra mare. Propositio Ecclesiæ: Item, quod non permittit Cathedralis & alias vacantes Ecclesias ordinari, & hac occasione periclitatur libertas Ecclesiæ, prout fides: quia non est qui proponit verbum Dei, nec qui regat animas, deficiente Pastore. Responsio Imperialis. Cathedralis & alias vacantes Ecclesias,

Dominus Imperator libenter vult, & desiderat ordinari, salvis privilegiis & dignitatibus, quæ prædecessores sui Reges usque ad sua tempora habuerunt, & quibus ipse modestius, quam prædecessores sui hactenus usi sunt: nec contra ordinationem Ecclesiarum unquam fuit. Propositio Ecclesia: De tallis & exactionibus contra formam pacis ab Ecclesiis & Monasteriis extorquentur. Responsio Imperialis. Tallis & collectæ Clericis & personis Ecclesiasticis, non pro Ecclesiasticis rebus, sed pro feudalibus & patrimonialibus imponuntur; * secundum quod est jus commune, & obtinet ubique per orbem. Propositio Ecclesia: De hoc quod Prælati non audent procedere contra usurarios occasione constitutionis Imperialis. Responsio Imperialis. Apparet generalis & nova constitutio contra usurarios edita per Imperatorem, per quam in omnibus bonis eorum publice condemnantur, & lecta est coram Prælati, per quam etiam non interciditur Prælati audacia procedendi. Propositio Ecclesia: Quod Clerici capiuntur, incarcerantur, proscribuntur, & occiduntur. Responsio Imperialis. De captis & incarceratis nihil novit, nisi quod per officiales Imperatoris aliqui capti sunt, assignandi juxta qualitatem excessuum judicio Prælatorum. De proscripitis vero novit, quod obiecto quibusdam crimine læsæ Majestatis, aliqui de Regno sunt proscripti. Novit etiam de occisis, quod propter impunitatem Clericorum & Monachorum, Veneranda Ecclesia gemit obitum Prælati sui, a suo Monacho interfecti: & in Ecclesia Sancti Vincentii, Monachus Monachum interfecit: nec est inde aliqua vindicta sive pœna Canonica subsequuta. Propositio Ecclesia: De Ecclesiis Domino consecratis, quæ prophantur & destruntur. Responsio Imperialis. Nihil omnino scitur, nisi forte dicatur de Ecclesia Lucina, quæ propter diutinam vetustatem per se dicitur corruisse, & quam Imperator, nedum quod re-ædificari permittat, imo paratus est ad honorem Dei & Ecclesiæ, de suo pro re-ædificatione ejusdem Episcopum congrue adjuvare. Propositio Ecclesia: Quod non permittit reparari Soranam Ecclesiam. Responsio Imperialis. Soranam Ecclesiam solam ædificari permittit, sed Civitatem non: ad minus diebus suis, quæ judicio est destructa. Propositio Ecclesia: Quod contra tenorem pacis, hi qui adhæserunt temporeurbationis, bonis omnibus spoliati, exulati coguntur. Responsio Imperialis. Adhærentes Domino Papæ temporeurbationis contra Dominum Imperatorem, secure in Regno morantur: nisi forte qui officia & jurisdictiones exercuerunt, metu ponendi rationem, vel aliqui, ne causis civilibus vel criminalibus conveniantur, morantur extra Regnum: de quibus vult Dominus Imperator, quod secure redeant, si sibi & aliis conquerentibus (non tamen de eo, vel ejus occasione, quod Ecclesiæ adhæserunt) velint facere rationem. Sed cum de forma pacis tractatur, recordatur quod Dominus Papa contra eam & contra opinionem fere omnium fratrum, detinet Civitatem Castella. Pro qua detinenda, in præjudicium Imperii, recepit pecuniam, existente Domino Imperatore pro servitio ejus contra Romanos, & expendente proinde ultra Centum Millia Marcarum argenti: adeo quod magnum commodum inde est Ecclesia consecuta, tam de terra Romanis ablata, & sibi restituta, quam de libertate Ecclesiastica, reformata in Urbe, occasione servitii supradicti. Propositio Ecclesia: De nepote Regis Tunicii, quem non permittit venire ad Apostolicam sedem, ad suscipiendum baptismi Sacramentum, sed captivum detinet. Responsio Imperialis. Quod nepos Regis Tunicii, non ut baptizaretur, sed ut aufugeret mortem, quam præminabatur Patruus suus, de Barbaria fugit in Siciliam. Non tenetur captivus, sed liber per Apuliam vadit: & diligenter quæsitus, si baptizari velit, omnino negat. Si tamen vult baptizari, Dominus Imperator acceptat & gaudet, prout super hoc respondit alias Panormitanensi & Messanensi Archiepiscopis. Propositio Ecclesia: De Petro Saraceno, fidei Ecclesia, quem tenet captivum, in injuriam Ecclesiæ: & fraire Jordane, qui tenetur captivus. Responsio Imperialis. Petrus Saracenus, tanquam inimicus Domini Imperatoris, & detractor ejus, tam in Urbe quam alibi, captus per eum. Item, non in negotium Regis Anglorum venit, sed tantum Literas ipsius attulit: ut si forte caperetur, capto parceremus, attentius supplicantes. Quibus non obtemperavimus, quia Rex nescivit, quas mihi paravit indidias. De fratre Jordane, quod ipsum nec cepit, nec capi mandavit: quamvis eum in sermonibus diffamaverat. Sed quia videtur a quibusdam fidelibus suis, qui norunt mores & versutias ejusdem fratris, quod status & mora ejus, si fieret in Marchia Terevisi, & Lombardia, suspecta forent & nociva Domino Imperatori: præstita satisfactione, quod in Marchia vel Lombardia remanere vel morari non debeat, ipsum liberari mandabat, & assignari eum jussisset Domino Messanensi Archiepiscopo: si dictum fratrem in prædictum modum, super se recipere voluisset. Propositio Ecclesia:

sa: De eo quod ipse seditionem movit in Urbe contra Ecclesiam, per quam intendebat Romanum Pontificem & fratres suos à sua sede repellere, & contra privilegia, dignitates, & honores Apostolica sedis, libertatem Ecclesiasticam concutere. Responsio Imperialis: Seditio mota in Urbe contra Ecclesiam per Dominum Imperatorem; negatur. Sed cum ipse habeat fideles suos in Urbe, sicut prædecessores sui, tam Romani Principes, quam Reges Sicilia, soliti sunt habere, quia Senatores aliquando electi per potentiam adversariorum, eos offendere contendebant, astabat defensioni eorum: sicut astaret quoties in similibus expediret. Cessante vero causa, videlicet quod alius Senator communiter electus fuit, cessavit turbatio supradicta: prout constat de rei evidentia, ex testimonio Panormitanensis & Messanenensis Archiepiscoporum. Propositio Ecclesie: De eo quod mandavit quibusdam fidelibus suis, ut Episcopus Prænestinus, Apostolica sedis Legatus, detineretur. Responsio Imperialis. Super mandato detentionis Episcopi Prænestini, respondit, quod nunquam mandavit, nec etiam id somniavit Dominus Imperator: quanquam de eo id iuste facere potuisset, tanquam de inimico suo. Qui, licet missus per Dominum Papam, tanquam vir Religiosus, tamen de mandato Domini Papæ, ut ipse dixit, Lombardiam pro magna parte contra Dominum Imperatorem callide & perniciose subvertit, & Lombardos contra ipsum in quantum potuit, animavit. Propositio Ecclesie: Quod per eum impediatur negotium Terræ Sanctæ, occasione discordia quam habet cum quibusdam Lombardis: cum parata sit Ecclesia dare opem & operam efficacem, ut sibi & honori Imperii, super hiis, quæ commissæ sunt contra eum à Lombardis, congrue satisfiat: & Lombardi etiam ad hoc ipsum sint preparati: moneatur super his omnibus, & responsum ejus significatur nobis. Responsio Imperialis: Super negotio Lombardia dixit Dominus Imperator, quod illud multoties commisit Ecclesie, nec inde est aliquod commodum assequutus: nisi quod prima vice, condemnati sunt Lombardi in quadringentis militibus: quos Dominus Papa tali modo fecit ei solvi, quod ipsos contra ipsum Imperatorem misit in Regnum. Secunda vice, condemnati sunt in quingentis militibus, quos non Imperatori, contra quem commissæ erant injuria, sed sub protectione & ad requisitionem Domini Papæ & Ecclesie, quæ offensa non erat, ultra mare transmitti pronuntiavit, quod etiam nunquam factum fuit. Tertia vice, ad requisitionem Cardinalium, scilicet quondam Episcopi Sabiniensis, & Magistri Petri de Capua, plene sicut Dominus Papa dictavit, commissum fuit dictum negotium Ecclesie, nec unquam postea de hoc fuit verbum: nisi quando Dominus Papa novit, quod Imperator, postquam ei toties fuerat illusus, descendere cum exercitu à Germania in Italiam se parabat, & tunc instanter petit denuo negotium sibi committi: & Dominus Imperator, licet in eadem commissione naufragium sæpe expertus fuisset, voluit tamen sibi committere ad certum diem & sub conditione, quod ad honorem suum & commodum Imperii firmaretur. Quam conditionem Dominus Papa, prout per Literas suas constat, admittere noluit: quanquam ad præsens per Literas suas dicat, quod Ecclesia negotium ipsum, salvo jure & honore Imperii, fuisset diffinire parata. Et ex hoc patet, quod Literæ ipsæ sibi invicem manifestissime contradicant. Et ne prætendatur, quod in præjudicium Terræ Sanctæ, velit Dominus Imperator jura Imperii in Italiam restaurare, qualiter Dominus Imperator negotium Terræ Sanctæ assumpserit, nec duxerit negligendum, apparet per Literas suas responsales Regibus Orbis & Crucesignatis in Francia scriptas, qui ipsum in Dominum & rectorem exercitus elegerunt: per quas etiam respondit insuper eisdem, quod negotium ipsum de consilio Ecclesie, tractare volebat. Denique tamen super omnibus gravaminibus Ecclesiarum corrigendis, Notarius Domini Imperatoris in specialem nuntium, sicut superius est propositum, est transmissus. Addidit præterea Imperialis responsio, quod id quod enormius est, & in admirationem & stuporem omnium audientium verti debet, post recessum supramemoratorum Panormitanensis & Messanenensis Archiepiscoporum, quibus Dominus Papa Ecclesie gratiam pro Domino Imperatore promisit, & quod voluit unum & idem esse cum eo, Domino Imperatore, prout decuit, non modice hoc attentante, postquam sufficienter fuerat eis ad quædam capitula missa per eos, responsum, prout in eorum attestatione consistit, post tergum & in confusionem eorundem Archiepiscoporum, eis omnino nescientibus, missæ sunt Literæ istæ & Capitula interclusa Prælatis, quæ licet speciem admonitionis contineant, fugillationem tamen Imperialis famæ continent manifeste. Ultimo, generale verbum respondit & proposuit Dominus Imperator, quod cum ipse diu fuerit absens a Regno, & Regni statum ignoraret, quicquid unquam in gravamine Ecclesiarum factum est, quod remaneat emendan-dum, integre & sine difficultate aliqua id emendari mandabit. Et nihilominus, propter unversale bonum, quod ex unione inter ipsum & Ecclesiam provenit, paratus est omnem prorsus securitatem, quæ Ecclesiam & ipsum Imperium deceat, præstare Ecclesiæ: quod ad honorem & exaltationem fidei Christianæ, & ad honorem & libertatem Ecclesiasticam conservandum, sit unum & idem cum Ecclesia, viribus & potentia sua ad hoc ex toto converfis. Datum, &c.

Hæc postquam domino Papæ intimata sunt, in vehementem iracundiam exarsit. Et seipsum iustificans, omnia hæc prædicta pro trivialibus habuit & inutilibus sermocinationibus, & sprexit quasi commenta contraria veritati. Scribens igitur Principibus & Magnatibus totius Christianitatis, tam laicis personis quam Ecclesiasticis, absolbit quotquot eidem Frederico fidelitate tenebantur, ut non ei teneantur quasi Domino obedire. Fecit etiam per omnes terras sibi obtemperantes sententiam latam in eundem terribiliter, præcipue autem in Anglia, solenniter publicari, eum graviter diffamando, ipsum inimicum manifestum Dei & Ecclesiæ affirmavit. Quod cum Dominus Imperator festina relatione cognovisset, tactus dolore cordis intrinsecus, prorumpentibus crebris suspiriis, amicis querimoniam gravem reponens scripsit, in hæc verba.

FREDERICUS, &c. Inviti loquimur, sed tacere non possumus. Jam enim securis ad radicem arboris posita, & gladius fere usque ad animam transiens, labia dissolverunt. Jusque datum sceleri scribimus, & populum contumacem dexteram in viscera propria vertisse condolemus. Iuri præfertur iniuria, et voluntas iustitiæ Dominiatur. Dominum quidem Italia, populi sceptrum contemnere conantur Imperii. Ac etiam propriæ commoditatis immemores, libertatis ejusdem vagæ luxuriam quieti pacis imponunt, & æquitati iustitiæque prætulerunt. Nec tamen a nobis rebellionem hujus sumpsisse nunc primum exordium æstimetis, sed avitas & paternas prosequimur injurias, & productum jam ad alias regiones, libertatis invidiosæ propaginem nitimur supplantare. Sed nec ista dissimulasse aliquolibet modo hætenus, aut conniventibus oculis pertransisse credatis. Quam primum enim in nobis pubescentibus, ac mentis & corporis calescente virtute, ad Romani culmen Imperii, præter spem hominum, nutu solummodo providentiæ divini, conscendimus, ac Regnum Sicilia, præclara maternæ successionis hereditas, ad jura nostra pervenit, aciem mentis nostræ continuo direximus ad prædicta. Ac demum ad consummationem propositi nostri, miserabili casu de amissione Damiatæ tunc temporis ministrante cum venerabili patre nostro H. summo Pontifice apud Verulas colloquio celebrato, Verona de communi consilio pro negotio terræ sanctæ, & reformatione Imperii, solemnem curiam duximus indicendam: ubi tam nos quam Prædictus Papa, condiximus interesse. Quo proposito & volubilitate consilii, & metu rerum continuo præsentium, immutato, nos a tanto bono recedere non volentes, Ferentini denuo cum Papa præstito collatione habita, curiam apud Cremonam indiximus: ad quam, filium nostrum cum multis Principibus Imperii nostri vocavimus, cum decenti militum comitatu: nihilominus de Italia partibus ducentes nobiscum milites, prout Imperialis excellentiæ decus, & tantum negotium condecebat. Ex quo Lombardi nobis, & honori nostro rebelles, in spiritu contradictionis assumpti, & reprobum sensum dati, palliata occasione timoris, propterea quod armatorum consortio fruebamur: & nobis intendere tanquam ipsorum legitimo Domino contempserunt, & ingressu in Italiam viarum difficultate prohibito, filium nostrum & principes a nostris aspectibus subtraxerunt. Ad exaggerationem dein nequitiae adhuc occultæ ac perfidiæ, malitiam manifestam insolentiamque adjecerunt, quod contra nos & imperium conspirantes, nobis præsentibus & contemptis, conjurationes nefarias contraxerunt. Et sic desiderata filii nostri visione fraudati, in Apuliam redeunt, quia præparatio passagii transmarini, ad quod tenebamur ex voto, tunc temporis nos arcebat, causam ipsam de satisfactione nobis & Imperio faciendâ, arbitrio summi Pontificis commisimus terminandam; per quem, in quingentis Militibus pro negotio terræ sanctæ sub eorum sumptibus per biennium exhibendis fuerunt nobis arbitrari sententia condemnati. Quos into pacis Ecclesiam inter & Imperium discordiam seminante, ipsos contra nos in Apuliam transmiserunt: & sic per contrariæ satisfactionis modum, præcedentes injurias geminarunt. Redeuntibus autem nobis de partibus transmarinis, ac inter nos & Ecclesiam dissensione sedata, de reformatione status Imperii con-

cepto proposito inhaerentes, apud Ravennam iterum de consilio beatissimi patris nostri G. summi Pontificis; indiximus curiam generalem: sub inermi tantummodo & domestico comitatu, ut timor armorum & occasio frivola tolleretur. In qua, nedum Lombardi praedicti devotionis & obedientiae nobis signa praetenderent, imo in oculis nostris, fere civitatem Veronae & Ezelmum, de Romano tunc temporis ad nostrae fidelitatis obsequium noviter revocatos, extractis eorum Carrochiis, violenter invadere nitebantur, ad reverentiam nostrae praesentiae nullo habito omnino respectu. Accessum etiam filii nostri ad nos, vel nostrum ad eum per terras & vias Imperii, (quae & si nostrae sunt propriae, tamen omnibus sunt communes) denuo prohibentes: ita quod Patris oculus tunc temporis etiam filium non vidisset, nisi quod navali praesidio, amore paterno, qui contineri non poterat, stimulat, nos Aquilegiam sub maris dubia sorte, contulimus: ut praedictum filium nostrum & Principes, qui ad nos devote se contulerant, videremus. Nec adhuc defuit clementiae nostrae constantia, quin aggressionis hostilis furore deposito, iterum & causam ipsam committeremus arbitrio ecclesiae terminandam. Ex eo tamen unde credidimus humanitatis eisdem exempla protendere, cornua ipsis indevotionis ereximus: referentes ab eis pro debita fide perfidiam, & pro devotione contemptum, nec ulla de praedictis vexatio tribuit intellectum.

Otto the Popes Legate was very diligent to see the Emperor Frederick excommunicated, and the Popes scandalous excommunications and Bulls against him published throughout England, as this narrative informs us.

Mat. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 481. 482. 483. Denunciatur Imperator in Anglia excommunicatus.

GREGORIUS Episcopus, servus servorum Dei, dilecto filio suo Ottone sancti Nicholai in Carcere Tulliano, Diacono Cardinali, Apostolicæ sedis Legato, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Sedes Apostolica, sicut totus fere orbis facti evidentia didicit, Fredericum dictum Imperatorem, ex quo ipsum ex utero matris excepit genibus, affectu materno prosequens, lactavit uberibus, & humeris bajulavit: quem olim omni pene destitutum auxilio, & dubiis tantum derelictum eventibus, suo recepit patrocinio confovendum, opponens potenter invasoribus Regni sui qui in terram ejus oculos aviditatis injecerant: Cujus jam fines ingressi, eam absque ullo defensionis obstaculo usurpabant, & defendens eundem ab insidiantibus vitæ suæ, qui æmuli salutis ipsius, conabantur animam ejus extinguere, & de terra ipsius memoriam abolere. Cumque idem protectionis Ecclesiasticæ clypeo præmunitus, personæ & Regni sui bonæ memoriæ G. de Gavlganem Tituli sancti Anastasi; Presbytero, Cardinali, a sede Apostolica per multos Annos deputato Custode, majoris metas attigisset ætatis, tandem ad altioris dignitatis apicem per eam extitit sublimatus. Sed diligentiae studium circa personam ejus impensum, labores plurimos quos Ecclesia subiit propter eum, quæ ad ipsum, perdidisse videtur, cum tot beneficiorum sit immemor, tantæ gratiæ sit ingratus. Et utinam illius ingratitude non excederet terminos, per quam perceptorum bonorum existeret negatione contentus. Porro, licet offensa quælibet aculeos doloris importet, illa tamen jaculo graviore percellit, in qua ingratitude pro gratia rependitur, & pro beneficiis maleficia compensantur. Verum, quantumcunque ipsum Apostolica sedes dilexerit, & supremæ culmine potestatis exerecit seculares, suis tamen exigentibus culpis, de quibus, quamquam pluries a nobis monitus satistacere non curavit, coacti sumus, licet inviti, animadvertere in eundem. Nam & si Adam divina Providentia, excellentia dignitatis & auctoritatis extulerit, cui omnia animantia terræ subjecit, quia tamen sui jussa præterit Plasmatoris, ejus excessibus non pepercit. Quæ autem a dicto Frederico, pro tot bonis sibi collatis Ecclesia retributionis præmia reportavit, discretionem tuam volumus non latere, pauca de multis præsentis pagina declarando. In Urbe siquidem gravem movit seditionem: exinde nos & fratres nostros, totis viribus nifus excludere, ut Apostolicæ sedis honorem deprimeret, ac libertatem ipsius penitus conculcasset: contra juramenta præstita præstita temere veniendo. Et venerabilem fratrem nostrum Pransifinensem Episcopum, dum ipsum ad partes Albigensium disponeremus pro corroboratione fidei catholicæ destinare, per quosdam suos fideles in viam impediri mandavit. Cathedralis etiam Ecclesiæ, & alias vacantes Regni sui nequaquam ordinari permittit: in animarum periculum, & grave detrimentum ipsarum. Eas & quasdam alias nihilominus spoliando fere omnibus bonis suis: & tallias ac exactiones indebitas Prælati, religiosi, & aliis Clericis secularibus imponendo. Nobilibus, pauperibus, orphanis, & viduis, usque ad inanitionem extremam deductis, eos ad modicum dura & crudelis exactorum suorum acerbitas non patitur respirare: & fictotum fere Regnum, quod est spirituale patrimonium beati Petri, pro quo juramento fidelitatis Apostolicæ sedi tenetur, & ipsius ligius vassallus existet, quantum in eo est, in favillam quasi & cinerem jam redegit. Quod si postquam monitus fuerit a nobis, nonduxerit corrigendum, nos super hoc, auctore Deo, sicut expedire videbimus, procedemus. Insuper negotium impedit Terræ sanctæ, necnon etiam Imperii Romani. Præterea cum tempore concordie inter ipsum & ecclesiæ reformatæ, in manibus sedis Apostolicæ Legatorum juraverit ecclesiæ præceptis obedire: & ipse mandatum ab eis receptum, quod terram ecclesiæ, vel terras eorum quas tunc ad suas manus tenebat, aut ipsorum personas nullatenus caperet, occuparet, sive etiam devastaret, adimplere contempsit, terram ecclesiæ occupando: videlicet in Lombardia, Ferrariam, Bondoniam, Pignogoman, terram quidem Sardinia, & Messanensem, Lucanensem Dioceses capiendo, & deijciendo illos quos ad manus suas ecclesiæ reservavit, & devastando terras ipsorum: licet ex tunc in eum præsentem, ipsi Legati excommunicationis sententiam tulerint, si super his non laceret quod mandarent. Idem etiam nepotem Regis Tunicii detinet, ad Romanam curiam & ecclesiæ, pro percipiendo sacri baptismatis lavacro, accedentem. Ac dilectum filium Petrum Saracenum nobilem civem Romanum, ex parte charissimi in Christo filii nostri illustris Regis Anglia, ad sedem Apostolicam missum, & filium ejus, carceri detinet mancipatos. Quia vero super his & quampluribus aliis excessibus pluries à nobis monitus, correctionis medelam non sentiens, cum suarum sint ulcera indurata culparum, quotidie deteriora committere non veretur: Nos hæc absque Christi offensa, præterire sub dissimulatione ulterius non valentes: de fratrum nostrorum consilio, ex parte Dei omnipotentis (cujus vicem in terris gerimus) licet inviti: & auctoritate beatorum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli, ac nostra, in eum excommunicationis et anathematis sententiam durimus promulgandam; tradentes ipsum Fredericum Satanæ in interitum Carnis, ut spiritus ejus in die Domini salubus fiat: Omnes qui ei fidelitatis juramento tenentur, decernendo ab observatione hujusmodi juramenti absolutos, donec fuerit vinculo excommunicationis affectus. Quocirca devotionem tuam monemus & exhortamur attente, per Apostolica scripta tibi præcipiendo, mandantes, quatenus prædictam excommunicationis et anathematis sententiam, singulis diebus Dominicis et Festivis, pulsatis campanis et candelis accensis, solenniter publicari, ac absolutionem et inhibitionem nuntiari procures, et facias per totam terram tuæ Legationis, modo simili publicari et etiam nuntiari. Mandatum nostrum taliter impleturus, quod devotio tua possit exinde merito commendari. Cæterum cum præfatus Fredericus de aliis magnis & gravibus sit plurimum infamatus criminibus, nos, dante Domino, super his suo loco & tempore procedemus, prout in talibus negotiis natura requirit. Verum, quia terroris sonitus semper est in auribus impiorum, & etiam quando pax est, insidias suspicantur: eo quod turbata conscientia semper sæva præsumit: idem Fredericus prius quam sententia excommunicationis lata esset in ipsum, quasdam fratribus nostris decrevit literas transmittendas, pro parte inferius annotatas: quæ post latam sententiam ipsis præsentata, ad nostram & eorundem notitiam pervenerunt. Unde quia voluit Dominus occulta cordis ejus detegere, qui manifestat abscondita tenebrarum, & cordium secreta revelat, ex ipsarum literarum tenore colligitur, quam gerat devotionem ad Romanam Ecclesiæ, matrem suam: quam ad summum Pontificem ac fratres ejus, ad sedem Apostolicam reverentiam habeat, cujus ratione Regni vassallus existit. Contra nos enim & ipsos, conspirasse videtur: ex quo, quo, quantum & quale crimen incurrerit, satis patet. Inter cætera vero quæ sua continebat Epistola, hæc habebantur inserta: Propter quod non indigne dolemus, si pater Apostolicus offendere tam graviter nos intendat, ut dum in constantem virum tam vehemens cadit injuria, etsi patienter ferre velimus, immanitas negotii non permittat, quin ad ultiones, quibus Cæsares uti solent, facti violentia nos impellat. Veruntamen dum consideramus impatientiam procedentis, & difficultatem attendimus offensorem, si ex æquo liceret privatas exercere vindictas, quas in hominem per quem scandalum venit, & in sui participes sanguinis, compensare possemus: ut in ipsum & suos attemptata nostræ sedis injuria redundaret tolerabilius duceremus. Sed cum nec ipse, nec tota propter hoc sua passura progenies, tanti forent ut culmen imperii zelaret ultionem ipsorum, cumque sedis auctoritas audaciæ sibi fræna relaxet, & tot venerabilem fratrum moles eum in concepta fovere perennacia videatur: angit nos altiori mente turbatio: quod dum nos intendamus a persequente defendere, oporteat nos defendendo gravius offendere resistentes. Datum Latranæ, tertio Idus Aprilis, Pontificatus nostri anno xiiij.

Cumque dominus Imperator super hac diffamatione certificaretur, factus de Rege Tyrannus, non immerito magis ac magis in Mediolanenses & alios proditores suos, incanduit; quos Papa contra eum juvat efficaciter & animavit. Mediolanenses vero auxilio Papali facti animosiores, & comperientes rem agi pro capite, exierunt impetus furibundos facientes: concomitante quondam Legato de latere Domini Papæ ad eorum auxilium destinato, Ferrariam & alias civitatis & castra Imperialia, dum se dominus Imperator ad loca remotiora transtulit, violenter occuparunt; loca vicina usque ad exterminium & internecionem, devastantes. Ne invenerunt obsessi misericordiam; petentes lacrymabiliter Legatum, ut civitatibus & substantia eorum omnimoda sibi redditis ad manum, tantum personis pro Deo parceretur: nec sunt exauditi nisi penitus & absolute se suæque sibi manciparent. Unde sancti viri & religiosi regiones Christianas inhabitantes, non minimum admirati tam inhumanam ac cruentam ferocitatem in Ecclesiastico Prælato, cum imprecationibus multimodis execrabantur, qui tantum usus gladio materiali non est recordatus facere misericordiam. Et invasit timor & horror corda, ne Dominus Deus exercituum effunderet indignationem suam super induratos, & ecclesia ruinam magnam pateretur: præsertim cum non curaret pars Papalis preces vel jejunia, Missas & processiones, nec præciperet universaliter humiles preces Deo fundere, & sic iram Dei flectere; in quibus solet ecclesia in tribulationibus respirare, & triumphos de oppressoribus crebrius reportare. Sed spem totam ponens in pecuniæ thesauris & rapinis, ad gladium & ultiones proprias irruit frontuosa: unde dolor & desolatio Christianorum, Magnatum oriuntur comminationes, furor & rancor, odium & iracundia inter ecclesiam & Imperium: flebile nacta principium, exitum flebiliorem minabantur. His igitur læsus doloris aculeis dominus Imperator, se intendens excusare, & dominum Papam accusare; multis Regibus & Principibus, præcipue Regi Angliæ, et R. Comiti Cornubiæ fratri suo, quasi charissimis sororis suis, in quibus specialius confidebat, scripsit in hæc verba.

FREDERICUS Dei gratia Romanorum Imperator, semper Augustus, Hierusalem & Sicilia Rex, Richardo Comiti Cornubiæ, dilecto sororio suo, salutem & omne bonum. Levate in circuitu oculos vestros, arrigite filii hominum aures vestras, orbis scandalum, dissidia gentium, generale justitiæ doleatis exilium: exeunte nequitia Babylonis a Senioribus populi, qui populum regere videbantur, dum iudicium in amaritudinem, & fructum justitiæ in absinthium convertunt. Sedete Principes, & intelligite populi causam vestram. A vultu Domini iudicium vestrum prodeat, & oculi videant æquitatem. Scimus etenim, & in supremi Judicis virtute confidimus, quod cum apud vos pondus & pondus, mensura & mensura non fuerint, profecto modestiam & innocentiam nostram in iudicii vestri libra præponderare videbitis; calumniosis detrahentium labiis, & venenosis inventionibus fictionum: sed nec nunc primum causæ nostræ justitiam, & residentis in sede Domini pravitatem, ad publicam mundi notitiam novimus pervenire. Quin præter agillimæ Famæ præloquium, quæ frequenter in maximis virginum aurium deflorat, auditum: Nos ipsi, quod primitus rumor eduxerat, subsequenter postmodum nostræ serenitatis assatibus firmaremus, qualiter iste novus athleta, sinister factus auspiciis Pontifex generalis, amicus noster præcipuus, dum in minoribus esset ordinibus consti-constitutus, beneficiorum omnium, quibus Imperium Christianum sacrosanctam Ecclesiam ditavit, oblitus, statim post assumptionem suam, fidem cum tempore renovans, & mores cum dignitate commutans; ac habens quodammodo de publicaurbatione pruritum, in nos supremum & unicum filium Ecclesiae, suae malignitatis aculeos acussit: dum occasione assumpta, quod propter imminens scandalum evitandum, sacramento p̄stito, et lata contra nos excommunicationis sententia, nos ad certi temporis obligaverimus transitum, adversa valetudine corporis praepeditos: adjectis plerisque capitulis aliis, de quibus antea nunquam fueramus muniti, vel admoniti; exculationibus nostris, contra Deum et Iustitiam, omnino re-jectis, excommunicationis sententia nos denunciavit affectos. Cui, velut in nos primitus de nostra voluntate prolatæ, cum humilitate paruius, & absolutionis beneficium, pristina nobis incolumitate corporis reddita, postulantes, dum nos ad transitum instanter pararemus. Quo petito suppliciter, & injuriose negato, in Terra Sancta subsidium sub pia voti prosecutione transivimus, existimantes vicarium Jesu Christi, ad ejus negotium potius, quam ad conceptæ malevolentiae contra nos Odium aspirare. Sed is, quem speravimus ea solummodo quæ sursum sunt sapere, & visu celestia contemplantem, mente credimus in celestibus habitare, subito inventus est homo, quinimo per inhumanitatis opera non solum a veritate sepositus, sed ab humanitate discretus: dum præter impedimenta, quæ nobis in Syria præparavit, per nuntios & legatos, qui Soldanum Literis suis, quas nos captis ipsarum latoribus in testimonium reservamus, ne nobis terram divino cultui & Hierosolymitani Regni juribus debitam, redderet, monuerunt: Regnum nostrum Sicilia violenter intravit; sumpta occasione, quod R. filius olim Ducis Spolei, præter voluntatem & conscientiam nostram (prout postmodum per ipsius penam evidenter expressimus) terram ecclesiae parabat intrare: & non prout sancti per fidem Regna vicerunt, sed per perfidiam & perjuriam prædicans universis, aut si qui ad perjuriam prædicatione solummodo, provocari non poterant, provocabantur exemplo, dum ipsi præfecti Papalis exercitus, quo terram facilius obtinerent, nos captos in Syria manifeste jurabant. Redeuntibus nobis de partibus transmarinis, & injuriam nostram propulsantibus solum, nec juxta magnificum morem Imperii prodeuntibus ad vindictam, per concordiam medios verbum pacis libenter admisimus. Veram matrem nostram Ecclesiam, ex agnitione Catholicæ fidei reperisse cognoscimus, sed patrem semper invenimus simulatum; dum ipsa reconciliationis die viam nostræ confusionis excogitans, de redeundo in Italiam iterum sub inermi & domestico Comitatu, nobis instantissime persuasit: occasionem significans, ne velut ex priori & armato processu, timoris causa in nostris fidelibus præstaremus; asserendo quod nobis omnia planissima faceret; Cujus contrarium per literas & nuncios suos manifestissime procuravit, prout constat testimonio plurium nostrorum fidelium, qui tunc temporis erant omnium conscii; velut ex eis quidam participes & alii principes factionis. Propter quod, filio & principibus nostris ad nos de Germania venientibus, per rebelles nostros itineribus publicis undique præpeditis: sed & eodem filio nostro Aquiligiam, navali præsidio cum summa difficultate recepto, ac in Tenioniam abinde destinato, in Regnum de necessitate redivimus: utpote quos ad arcendam rebellium nostrorum nequitiam, patris consilium vel Astutia potius miserat imparatos. Ubi quodammodo respirantibus nobis, & capescentibus requiem post labores, quieti nostræ sanctissimus Pater noster invidit, consiliatoris sibi formam assumpsit; instantissime persuadens, ut contra Romanos Excellentiae nostræ devotos, & alios rebelles nostros de Tuscia, qui jura Ecclesiae & Imperii detinebant, procederemus audacter, de suo favore securi quod nobiscum nostra & Imperii pondera participare volebat. Et sic ad multam ejus instantiam, Romanos, qui tunc temporis Viterbiam impugnabant, in favorem Ecclesiae nos oportuit diffidare: ipso mittente Literas latenter ad urbem, quod hæc per nos præter suam conscientiam & mandatum, faceremus in odium Romanorum. Et interim in Sicilia quadam seditione suborta, oportuit nos necessario conferre Messanam; ut factioni ibi inchoatæ principiis obstaremus: occasione solummodo ista prætexta, quod tam nobilem nostram Sicilia Insulam voluimus amittere: nobis non requisitis, & omnino celatis, contra omne jus gentium, quod belli socios & participes statuit non relinqui; sedus iniit cum Romanis, per nos ad mandatum ejus, ut diximus, diffidatis; non attento, quod nos non sine dubia vice & honoris nostri fortuna, inter rebelles & seditiosos nostros remanentes inermes, copiosam & strenuam militiam armatorum matorum in ejus subsidium miseramus, quanquam personaliter interesse nequiveramus. Ad hæc, cum conscientia nostra integritas, & pura devotio quam ad matrem nostram Ecclesiam habebamus, novercalia deliramenta patris agnoscere filium non sinebant: quin quod erat astutia casui reputantes, satisfactionis nostrae causam invitricantis arbitrio sapiens poneremus: qui tanto nobis vice qualibet illudebat acerbis, quanto constantius spem uberius arbitrii promittebat. Medio deinde tempore, dum de negotio Italia per Papam ad honorem Imperii componendo, ex præteritorum conjectura discriminum, nulla spes nobis remansisset in postetum vel exilis, ac persecutionem eandem congruo tempore servaremus, expectantibus repente credimus arrisisse fortunam, reiterata discordia inter Ecclesiam & Romanos, in qua sic magnifice, sic devote thesauros nostros effudimus & personam, quod omnem omnino conscientia prava nubiginem de malevolentium cordibus credebamus erasisse. His etiam omnibus non contenti, ut de nobis prorsus indubitata securitas ecclesiae præberetur, circa ipsam zelo devotionis summae succensi, & incentivo perfectæ charitatis in Deo, ad præsentiam istius summi Pontificis, personaliter ivimus etiam non vocati; ducentes nobiscum Conradum charissimum filium nostrum, nunc Romanum in Regem electum, & Regni Hierosolymitani heredem, quem nobis tunc temporis fratris sui manifesta transgressio filium unicum in paternæ dulcedinis affectione reliquerat. Ac eundem, post oblatam Ecclesiae personam nostram, in totum obsidem Summo Pontifici nos offerre non puduit; unionem omnimodam inter nos & Ecclesiam, sub attestazione divini judicii humiliter postulantes: quamdudum nobis antea iste Prælatas Ecclesiae generalis, cum esset Episcopus Oppidensis, instanter suaserat expetendam. Propter quæ omnia, dum serenam nobis totius Curiae faciem assertio demonstrata prætenderet, & verba gratissima tam Summi Pontificis, quam curialium omnium, sinceram ostenderent voluntatem; cum eis omnia perfecisse credentes, sub intentionis nostrae sanctae proposito, nec minus sub obsequiorum nostrorum fiducia, dissensionis causam inter nos & Lombardos in sinu corrupti Judicis toties suffocata, necnon & sedationem inter nos discordia Civis & Nobiles Aconenses devotione promptissima duximus exponendum. Sicque de negotiorum nostrorum omnium prospera consummatione securi, in obsequium Ecclesiae personaliter alacri voluntate processimus cum exercitu copioso; quem sub magnis ararii nostri stipendiis congregari tam de Germania quam de Italia partibus feceramus. Nec prius a concepti propositi prosecutione destitimus, quam libertatem Ecclesiae conculcatam in Urbe, & terram exterius occupatam, in statum primum & debitum, nostra potentia reformavit. Indubitabiliter æstimantes, ut quod obtinere prius favor justitiae nostrae non poterat, devotionis obsequia promerere. Sed audite retributionem mirabilem, quam pro tanta devotione, pro tot beneficiis, pro tam indubitata fiducia firmamento, Christi vicarius, pastor Ecclesiae nostrae Catholicae, fidei prædicator, nobis in singulis reddere procuravit. In primis super negotio ultramarino, quicquid per Ravennensem Archiepiscopum, dilectum Principem nostrum, tunc Apostolicæ sedis Legatum, secundum formam expressam ab Ecclesia sibi datam, videlicet de reducendo nobis & prædicto Conrado nato nostro in possessionem plenam & pristinam omnium jurium nobis sub tractatum in Regno, fuerat rationabiliter ordinatum: statim adveniente Casariense Archiepiscopo, nec Legato prædicto, nec nunciis nostris ad Curiam venientibus expectatis, nec ulla majori mora protracta, delatos Bisantis potuit numerare, inordinate fuit ex toto destructum negotium Italia, nedum quod ad honorem nostrum & Imperii, sicut promiserat, ordinare, imo petentibus & instantibus nobis ad revocationem hostium nostrorum, quod in Lombardia & Tuscia fideles nostros, tunc temporis divisim exercitum suorum copiis devastabat. Nec nos cum militibus, quos tunc in partibus ipsis, ut diximus, pro ecclesiae provinciis habebamus, ire permisit: nec aliquem nuntium seu literas voluit destinare, ex quibus per bella campestria sunt quamplurimum strages hominum, & ecclesiarum incendia subsecuta. Adhuc etiam tanta & superiori nequitia non contentus, civitatem Castella per ipsum introactæurbationis temporibus occupatam, quam reddi nobis forma pacis & fratrum suorum omnium consilia suadebant, receptis libris illius monetae solummodo, quæ ad quinquaginta marcarum millia multa expendentibus, reddere recusavit. Ecce qualiter pater noster iste sanctissimus nos amabat! Deinde super profectibus nostris omnibus, & super pacificanda nobis Italia (maxime de qualibet partis, vel vitrici nostri potius benevolentia desperare coacti) apprehendimus arma & scutum, vires de Temorum partibus (ad quas nos diebus illis, præ-varicatio filii nostri de necessitate vocaverat) propter ingressum Italia congregantes, militibus strenuis justitiam nostram armavimus, quam assequi precibus minime poteramus. Quod cum ad noticiam summi Pontificis pervenisset, sub prætextu treugarum pro Terræ sanctæ subsidio fidelibus populis & terræ Principibus indictarum armatum nobis ingressum Italia, per Apostolicas literas interdixit. Oblitusque die eodem ipso, quo prædictas treugas indixit; nos tanquam defensorem & advocatum ecclesiæ requisivit: quod contra Romanos, quos sibi jura ecclesiæ subtraxisse dicebat, potenter procedere deberemus: iniquum in nobis reputans, quod domum nostram & possessionem avitam, quam nobis infidelium nostrorum rebellio furiosa præcluserat, viriliter ingredi nitebamur, quod justum crederat in Romanis, qui patri vel avo seu parentibus suis in nullo prorsus extiterant obligati. Adjecit præterea in literis antedictis, quod de negotio Lombardie in ipsum præcise sine adjunctione temporis & conditione aliqua nullo jure & honore Imperii reservato compromittere deberemus: per quod, vel nos in perpetuum a juris nostri prosecutione cujuslibet suspenderet, vel jus & honorem Imperii libere suffocaret. Quod cum nobis nec nostrorum consilia principum, nec præteritorum dispendiorum memoria suaderent, ad artes alias postmodum se convertit: mittens nobis obvium in vestimentis ovium Lupum rapicem, Episcopum Præstensem: per quem, apud nos literis Apostolicis de vita Sanctissima commendatum, Placentiam nobis subditam & nostris amicam, ad factionis Mediolanensis revocavit perjuriam; per eum firmiter æstimans, sic universaliter, & in tantum fideles nostros evertere, ut processus nostros in Italiam penitus enervaret. Qua spe, faciente divina clementia, quæ suum tûetur Imperium, omnino frustratus, clamantibus apud eum rebellium nostrorum incendiis, depopulationibus reorum ex stragibus occisorum, quod ipsum de data eis rebellionis securum fiducia, nec non de fide mentita, quod contra nos, & Imperium ipsis assistere promississet, publicis vocibus arguebant. Quia juxta petitionem ipsorum, occasione prædicta nos excommunicare juste non poterat, impedimenta clandestina nostris processibus undique præparavit: literas & legatos per imperium & ubique per orbem, ut quoscunque posset, a fide & assertionem nostram deduceret destinando. Quæ omnia cum nostrorum fidelium fides & amicorum affectio conscientiam nostram latere non vellent, nolentes adhuc vinci a malo, sed in bono malum vincere cupientes, solennes nuncios nostros, venerabiles Petransensem Archiepiscopum Florentinum & Reginensem Episcopos, magistrum Thaddæum de Suessæ, magnæ curiæ nostræ judicem, & magistrum R. Portastel. Capellanum, dilectos ac fideles nostros, ad sedem Apostolicam duximus destinandos. Quibus oblata sibi per eos ex parte nostra devotione omnimoda, & ratione tractata contra Hæreticam pravitatem, pro ecclesiastica libertate, de reformandis Ecclesiæ & Imperii juribus (dudum inter nos & Ecclesiam expetitis, & expectatis) summus Pontifex de præsentium fratrum suorum consilio, Legatione nostra in omnibus suis capitulis acceptata, per eosdem & Archiepiscopum Messanensem, quem ad nos pro pace sua nuncium destinavit, excellentiæ nostræ promisit, quæ cessari mandaret ubique locorum ab impedimentis omnibus, quæ si nostris processibus objecisse, coram fratribus suis & Nunciis nostris fuit professus manifeste, prout hæc omnia per testimoniales Antistitum omnium præfatorum literas manifestissime comprobantur. Cum qua responsione, nunciis nostris & suo ad nostram præsentiam redeuntibus; priusquam per tres Dietas a curia recessissent, eis omnino celatis, & in confusionem ipsorum, G. de Monte-longo, quem primitus ad nos nuncium miserat, & contra nos postmodum ad everisionem Mantuanam & aliorum fidelium nostrorum statuerat, in Lombardia Legationis officium plene commisit: arbitratus ut quanto sibi major daretur auctoritas, tanto majora nobis, & nostris impedimenta pararet. Quibusdam tamen Principibus nostris, Prælati Italia & Germania nobiscum in Curia manentibus, literas destinavit: fugillationem famæ nostræ non modicam continentes, certis capitulis interclusis: & specialiter de gravaminibus, quæ quibusdam Ecclesiis Regni nostri dicebantur illata: super quos, mandavit vos per eosdem principes admoneri, Quorum capitulorum omnium & responsionum nostrarum ad singula, seriem vobis sub testimonio publico misimus intuendam. Quibus omnibus, coram Principibus & Prælati ac religiosi quam pluribus, cujuslibet ordinis sigillatim ostensis (quanquam de tanta Patris instabilitate confusos se filii reputarent & de verecundia (capitis præsentium rubor ora perfunderet) nihilominus tamen de ipsorum consilio prædictos Panormitanensem Archiepiscopum, Magistrum T. & magistrum R. Portastel, excellentiæ nostræ, cum Nunciis

Nunciis Civitatum nostrarum fidelium, ad sedem Apostolicam duximus remittendos : per quos ad satisfactionem omnem, mora qualibet & difficultate sepositis, obtulimus nos paratos Sed nec in his omnibus est averfus furor ejus, quin dictus Evangelizantis pacem Christi vicarius, sed actor schismatis & dissensionis amicus, contra traditiones Sanctorum Patrum, audiens Nuncios nostros portantes omnimodum nostræ devotionis xenium, & metuens ne supervenientibus ipsis, obice vallo justitiæ, sine publico scandalo forte procedere non valeret ; præ festinantia nimia conceptum edidit abortivum, in nos supremum Christianorum Principem, die Dominica Palmarum, contra solennem morem sacrosanctæ matris Ecclesiæ, & in cœna Domini, postmodum præcipitavit sententiam, per quam ( sicut per famam audivimus, licet hoc credere minime debueramus, contradicente superiore parte fratrum suorum ) de quorundam Cardinalium Lombardorum consilio, nos excommunicationis vinculis dicitur astrinxisse ; præpeditis Nunciis nostris per iutores & satellites suos, de patrimonio pauperum solidatos, qui jam applicuerant : & ne allegandum justitiam & innocentiam nostram, ac demum satisfactionem offerendam, etiam ad cautelam, ad præsentiam suam & aspectus publicos pervenirent. De quo licet nos singulari & propria ratione, propter nostram justitiam, & infamiam procedentis, malle merito debueramus, quod perperam & inordinate processerit, cum nequitiam suam editurus fuisset omnimodo ; non forsitan antea crepuisset : dolemus tamen, & ex corde dolemus, propter verecundiam universalis Ecclesiæ matris nostræ, quam Dominus noster Jesus Christus, sub specie virginis gloriose, in passionis testamento discipulo commendavit. Alias nobis per talem, quem merito nostrum Judicem non habemus, nullam posse fieri reputamus injuriam : utpote cum se prius inimicum capitalem quam judicem nostrum, et opere fuerit professus et verbo, rebelles nostros et nostri Imperii publice confobendo. Indignum præterea se tanti coertione Principis, & generaliter qualibet Pontificalis autoritate judicii reddidit ; dum Mediolanensem Civitatem, quæ pro maxima parte testimonio religiosorum quamplurium fide dignorum, inhabitatur hæreticis, contra nos & Imperium manifeste favore tuetur. Et contra R. de Mandello Civem Mediolanensem, dudum Potentatem Florentinum, & Clarentinum. Episcopi Florentini, viri vitæ probabilis ac famæ approbatæ, in plerisque capitulis supra hæretica pravitare, ob odium nostrum, & Mediolanensem gratiam, non admisit. Illum haberi præterea Christi vicarium, et successorum Petri, ac dispensatorem animarum fidelium indigne fatemur ; non ob dignitatis injuriam, sed ob personæ defectum ; quod dispensationes cum fratrum deliberatione maxima concedendas, in camera sua more Mercatoris cujusslibet, in libra Mercationis celatis fratrum consiliis ( cum quibus secundum Ecclesiasticam disciplinam deliberare teneretur ) existens sibi ballator et scriptor et foritan numerator. De quibus dispensationes insignes præterire silentio non volumus, per quas Siphiam gnatam quondam Connestablii Regni Cypri, contra separationis sententiam latam super hoc per Nicosiensem Episcopum, & de non habendo simul præstitum sacramentum Baliano de Jocelino, & sororem Johannis de Casaria, Jacobo de Amendolia, qui prius sororem ipsius desponsaverat, proditoribus nostris, sibi invicem gradu tertio attinentes, concessit uxores ; accepta non multæ pecuniæ quantitate : veruntamen quod quantitati vel numero defuit, odii nostri qualitas compensavit. Defectum etiam & prævaricationem ejus in illo dolemus, quod ut contra nos Nobiles & Potentes Romania sibi satellites fautores adquirat, effusione pecuniæ non contentus, ipsis castra & possessiones Sanctis Patribus pia fidelium devotione donata, Romanam Ecclesiam nostro patrocinio commendatam dilapidando, largitur. Itaque non miretur universalis Ecclesia, nec populus Christianus, si nos talis sententiam Judicis non veremur, non in contemptum Papalis Officii, vel Apostolicæ dignitatis ( cui omnes Orthodoxæ fidei professores, & nos specialius cæteris, subesse fatemur ) sed personæ prævaricationem arguimus ; qua se solio tanti regiminis, monstravit indignum ; & omnes Primates nominis Christiani sanctum intentionis nostræ propositum, & piæ devotionis zelum in nobis agnoscant, & quod non ex odii fomite, sed ex causa justissima, Romanus Princeps contra Romanum Antistitem commonetur : dum metuit ne grex Dominicus, sub tali pastore per devia deducatur. Ecce quod sacrosanctæ Romanæ Ecclesiæ Cardinales, per sanguinem Jesu Christi, & sub attestazione divini judicii, per Literas nostras & Nuncios attestamur : ut generale Concilium Prælatorum, & aliorum Christi fidelium debeant evocare. Nunciis quoque nostris, & reliquorum Principum accersitis : in quorum præsentia, nos ipsi præsentem cuncta quæ diximus, sumus ostendere & probare parati, & his etiam duriora. Nec minus illa probabili ratione turbamur, quod iste rector Ecclesiæ, qui deberet esse virtutum quarumlibet & constantiæ maximæ, sine macula cupiditatis, vas electum, ne error majorum in subditos propagaretur cum augmento contra promissionem suam Literis suis de fratrum consilio nobis factam, per quas in restaurandis Imperii viribus, non deesse nobis, sed adesse promisit auxilio, consilio, & favore, præter personæ nostræ infamiam, nedum blasphemiam, jus Imperii mittitur conculcare: præsertim cum quantumcumque conscientia nostræ librum sollicitè revolvamus, nullam in nobis occasionem invenimus ad causam, propter quam iste inimicus homo contra nos debuisset tam acriter commoveri. Nisi quod cum ipso contrahere, de nepte sua desponsanda Henrico naturali filio nostro, nunc Regi Tunisi & Gallur, nostra magnificentia credidit indecens, & reputavit indignum. Tu igitur dilecte, cum tibi dilectis, Princeps Orbis terræ profusuræ, non nobis solum, sed Ecclesiæ quæ est omnium fidelium congregatio, condole: cujus caput languidum, Princeps ejus in medio est, quoniam leo rugiens, Propheta ejus, velanus, vir infidelis, sacerdos ejus polluens sanctum, injuste faciens contra legem. Nobis tamen præ cæteris mundi Principibus, defectus est talis Summi Pontificis merito deplorandus, qui veluti sibi viciniore loco, & propinquiores officio, honores congerimus, & onera persentimus. Sed nec illud omittimus, in affinitatem nostram affectuose rogamus, ut contumeliam nostram ad injuriam vestram revoces. Ad domos vestras cum aqua concurrere, dum ignis accenditur in vicinis. Causam motus Pontificalis attendite, quod in favorem rebellium nostrorum procuratur. Quæ causa, licet ad præsens expressa non fuerit, proculdubio tamen subest: similia vobis in vestris imminere pericula timeatis. Facilis enim, & Regnum & aliorum Principum omnium, humiliatio creditur, si Cæsaris Romanorum potentia conteratur, cujus clypeus prima jacula sustinet adversantium. Hæc est namque causa pro vero, videlicet de Lombardis, quæ cor Papæ pungebat, & urebat intrinsecus, licet ipsam foris educere, propter nostrum & audientium scandalum, non auderet: pro qua nobis per specialem suum nuntium fide dignum (cujus ad hoc testimonium invocamus) ore tenus expresse promisit, quod si negotium Lombardorum in ejus arbitrio poneremus, nedum quod in aliquo magnificentiam nostram offenderet, verum etiam totius Orbis decimas, Terræ Sanctæ necessitatibus consecratis, nostris utilitatibus applicabat. Nec est mirum. Instantibus enim & acutis Lombardorum aculeis pungebatur, quibus, prout per aliquorum Prælatorum confessionem accepimus, contra nos et Imperium, corporale præstitit sacramentum, cum ipsos peregrinantibus nobis in partibus Syria pro servitio Jesu Christi, transmisit in Regnum. Sed cum temporis fuerit ista promissio, fidem licite frangere poterat, & editum variare decretum. In quorum favorem, rem auditu horribilem, & discretione qualibet seu ratione carentem, facere minime formidavit. Cum enim per G. Brixiniensem, H. Cumanum, & alios Episcopos, nos faceret admoneri, quod vel satisfactionem Lombardorum per ipsum deberemus accipere, vel treugas pro Terræ Sanctæ negotio per quadriennium, ut diximus, indictas Lombardis, cum ab indictarum treugarum jam quinquennium excessisset. Nosque rem tanti consilii, ad deliberationem nostrorum fidelium modico temporis spatio servaremus, monitionibus ipsis de approbatione Legati prædicti G. de Monte longo (scilicet qui apud Mediolanenses interim morabatur) inducias approbantibus supradictas, prout hæc omnia liquido Prælatorum ipsorum testimonio comprobantur. Medio tempore, nec voluntatis nostræ judicio, nec fidelium nostrorum consilii expectatis, conceptum virus evomit contra nos; prout aliquorum relatio declaravit procedendo. Postremo, te pro nobis, imo vos totius optimates Orbis & Principes exigimus adjurantes, non quod ad propulsationem talis injuriæ nostræ non sufficiant munimenta, sed ut totus mundus agnoscat, quod honor omnium tangitur, quicumque de corpore Principum sæcularium offendatur. Datum Tervisi, xx. die Aprilis, nona Indictione.

ortum.

Hanc Epistolam, mutatis tamen titulis, & paucis in fine verbis, Dominus Imperator Regi Anglorum, multisque per Orbem Principibus, ut suam allegaret innocentiam, & Papalem manifestaret proterviam, destinavit: cœpitque scandalum oriri per totius mundi latitudinem. Ipse vero Papa, cum hæc fida cognovisset relatione, ipsum Imperatorem magis ac magis diffamando, multis opprobriis lacessivit, necnon & hæretica damnavit enormitate: prolixioremq; Epistolam, ut ipsum damnablem toti mundo redderet & infamem, Principibus & Prælati terrarum transmisit invektivam, in hæc verba,

Gregorini

GREGORIUS Episcopus servus servorum Dei, Venerabilibus fratribus Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, & Suffraganeis ejus, salutem & Apostolicam Benedictionem. Ascendit de mari bestia, blasphemiarum plena nominibus; quæ pedibus urfi, & leonis ore deserviens, ac membris formata cæteris sicut pardus, os suum in blasphemias divini nominis aperit, tabernaculum ejus & sanctos, qui in cælis habitant, similibus impetere jaculis non omittit. Hæc unguibus & dentibus ferreis cuncta confringere, & suis pedibus universa desiderans conculcare, fidei occultos olim paravit arietes, & nunc apertas machinas instruit Imperialium, Gymnasia animas avertentia construit, & in Christum humani generis redemptorem (cujus testamenti tabulas stylo pravitate hæreticæ nititur abolere, fama testante) confurgit. Igitur admirari desinite omnes, ad quos ab hac bestia contra nos edita pervenerunt obloquia blasphemiarum: sed nos omni Deo servitute subjecti, detractionum sagittis impetimur; cum nec ab his opprobriis immunis Dominus relinquitur. Admirari desinite, si injuriarum in nos mucronem exierit, quod ad perdendum de terra nomen Domini jam assurgit: sed potius ut ejus resistere aperta veritate mendaciis, ac illius confutare fallacias, puritatis argumento possitis, caput, medium, & finem hujus bestie Frederici dicti Imperatoris inspicite diligenter: & in ejus verbis abominationes duntaxat inveniētes & scelera, contra ipsius dolos sinceros animos scuto veritatis armate. Attendentes qualiter sinceritatem Apostolicæ sedis & nostram, Literis per diversa climata mundi transmissis, pollutis visus est maculare narratibus dictus Fredericus; figulus falsitatis, modestiæ nescius, nec aliquo perfusus rubore mentitur: Quod nos ipsum nobis in minori officio constitutus, amicum pristinum, fidem, & mores, adepto Apostolatus officio, relinquentes, quia sicut sacramento præstito, & lata in ipsum excommunicationis sententia, tenebatur præfixo tempore in Terra Sancta subsidium vel succursum, infirmitate non potuit prohibente transire, vincula excommunicationis astringere; postulatū ab ipso sanitate resumpta absolutionis beneficium denegare, ipsumque in dictam transeuntem subsidium, per nuntios & legatos nostros Literas processui contrarias Soldano mittentes, impedire curavimus, ut sic esset de Regni Hierosolymitani recuperatione concepta frustratus: Regnum Sicilia, pro eo quod Reginaldus olim filius Ducis Spolei, præter ipsius conscientiam, terram invasit Ecclesiæ, nos injuste & violenter intrasse, ac ipsius homines provocasse ad perjurium, falso conqueritur. Seque de Syria in Apuliam redeuntem, illatæ injuriæ omisisse vindictam, acceptasse concordiam, & rediisse ad matrem Ecclesiam gloriatur: licet autem hæc figmenta publica notitia reprobet, quia tamen nonnunquam rectitudinis sedem velatum occupat in aure sincera mendacium, apud quam pro se veritas non invenit advocatum; ne in corda vestra falsitas quæcumque possit fraude furripere, dignum est, verum rei per nos gestæ modum & ordinem non latere, qui dictum Fredericum ante & postquam Apostolicæ nostros suggestimus humeros servituti, sub vulpe latentem, omni curavimus gratia prosequi; donec spe, quæ patri de filio solet innasci, sublata, idem Fredericus tremens in magnitudine sua, & ex adepta fortitudine infrunitus, matri Ecclesiæ pro bonis mala retribuit: & in eam quam fucatis delinivit aliquando verborum fallacis, virus effundere caudæ aculeo, more scorpionis, incepit. Nam cum olim Terra Sancta necessitas, prædicta sententia, & juramentum, ac præfixus terminus transitum ejus exposcerent, & illud idem multa Millia Crucesignatorum ipsum Brundisii expectantia, cum instantia postularent: idem dictos Crucesignatos inibi, donec sub ignoti aeris intemperie diversis lugendæ mortis casibus perire, detinuit, & perjurium ac excommunicationis sententiam gratis incurrens, infirmus fide, sed sanus corpore, ut securius Deo mentiretur, & Ecclesiam falleret, omisso promisso passagio, in lecto ægritudinis diebus aliquot simulatus decubuit, ac Terram Sanctam incurisibus hostium Christi exponere minime dubitavit, ex eo nullo dolore percussus, quod ibi claræ memoriæ nobilis vir Thuringia Langravium, utinam non veneni periculo, sicut mundus clamat, extitit interemptus. Cumque de conficta ægritudine & aliis præmissis, nobis per Literas Prælatorum ibi morantium constitisset: ne disciplinæ virga tanto subjecta facinori, nos & Apostolica sedes redderemur inde notabiles, Crucesignatorum mortem & Terra Sancta pericula deplorantes, & cupientes saltem in altero Ecclesiæ lachrymas mæroris dextra debita consolationis abstergeri, ipsam latæ sententiæ in eum de consensu suo autoritate bonæ memoriæ Honorii Papæ prædecessoris nostri, excommunicationis sententiæ subiacere denunciavimus; summo desiderio postulantes, ut cum postmodum emendatum, tantorum revelatione dampna-

torum, optatam præstare operam audiremus; Literis nostris offerentes eidem, quod impartiremur sibi juxta formam absolutionis beneficium, quam cito arriperet iter in præfatâ terrâ succursum. Sed ipse, in cujus erat super his pectore cura minor, claves Ecclesiæ parvipendens, non absolutus in Syriam transit. Ubi cum Soldano, solis sibi mœniis Hierusalem restitutis, & illi grandi ad impugnationem Christianorum transmissis equorum & armatorum exercitu, sexennale fœdus feriens, & templum Dominicum Saracenorum ibi laudes exclamantium Machometi curâ relinquens, ex defensore mutatus est in hostem, Venerabilem fratrem nostrum Patriarcham Hierosolymitanum, & Templarios pro viribus expugnavit. Illud autem non debet ad sanæ mentis credulitatem accedere, quod eum in recuperatione Regni Hierosolymitani nos vel Legati nostri, cum ad hoc multo labore sudaverit, grandiumque Ecclesiæ subierit onera expensarum, studuerimus impedire. Sed istud in notitiam omnis terræ pervenit, quod idem Fredericus sicut in Syriæ partibus in propria persona Dei persequeretur Ecclesiæ, sic citra mare ipsam diversis tribulationibus dicti Reinaldi Ministerio, quem contra consilium nostrum, suum in Regno vicarium reliquerat, affligebat. Cujus terram cum Literis aurea Bulla munitis, pecunia, & vassallis ipsius Frederici præfatus Reinaldus invadens, nonnullos Sacerdotes & Clericos suspendere, mutilare, ac fustibus cedere: necnon statu nostro turbato, Perusii partem ipsius terræ præoccupare, præsumpsit. Quem licet fideles & devoti nostri, non valentes id ulterius sustinere, a parte terræ prædictæ, Christo sponsæ suæ indulgente victoriam, eiecissent. Quia tamen idem Reinaldus nequaquam ab incepta persecutione cessabat, consultius æstimantes, si originalis militiæ venas inciderent, quam jam excitati torrentis impetus novis replere rivulis expectarent, dictum Regnum Sicilia, quod est spirituale patrimonium Ecclesiæ, ne inde nos percunctentur jacula, unde potius erat expectandum subsidium, intraverunt: multique ex ipsius Regni habitatoribus obediens Apostolicæ sedi, nequaquam ob id reputari debent perjurium incurrisse, cum a juramento fidelitatis, quod eidem Frederico præstiterant, ex lata in eum excommunicationis sententia, absoluti fuissent. Dicto quoque Frederico redeunti de partibus transmarinis, & ad sinum matris Ecclesiæ revertenti, pietatis apposuvimus Apostolicæ gremium; ipsique ad expetitum inclinati concordiam, absolutionis beneficium curavimus impartiri. Ad hæc, idem mendacii filius, falsitates falsitatibus cumulans, ut quo plura mendaciorum retia orditus fuerit, eo gravioribus se doleat periculis irretitum; de novis mendacii scriptura pronuntiat; quod eidem ut Lombardiam pacificus & inermis intraret, promittentes quod aspera sibi converteremus in plana, pro sua confusione subjecimus; & non permisimus obice nuntiorum & Literarum nostrarum intentionis suæ metas attingere. Ac deinde, quia sibi potentia non suffragabatur armorum, in Regnum redire coactus, ad instantiam nostram Romanos, tunc Viterbium impugnantes, diffidasse; & in Viterbiensium subsidium strenuam misisse militiam se falso asserit, nosque scripsisse Romanis, id præter conscientiam nostram fieri, & cum ipsis eo irrequisito reformasse concordiam, in querelam adducit, novo sibi blanditus mendacio, quod dissidentibus iterum ab Ecclesiæ pace Romanis, idem non vocatus cum Conrado filio suo, quem nobis obtulerit obsidem, ad præsentiam nostram personaliter veniens, & arbitrio nostro motam inter ipsum & Lombardos discordiæ causam exponens, terram sedis Apostolicæ occupatam ejus juri restituit, & libertatem Ecclesiasticam in statum primum & debitum reformavit. O utinam iste falsidicus esset vir habens spiritum! O utinam hujus propositio falsitatis, verum habuisset eventum! Ipsi vero negotium, quod per Venerabilem fratrem Archiepiscopum Ravennatem, de restituendis ei & dicto Conrado juribus, ipsis in Regno Hierosolymitano subtractis, ordinatum fuerat, nos quam cito delata potuit numerari pecunia, distribuisse fidelibus suis (quos non sine Ecclesiarum incendiis & hominum stragibus, hostilis devastabat insultus) ipsius interdixisse succursum; & ob id nos nuntium noluisse vel Literas destinare, contrarius veritati conqueritur. Ac Civitatem Castella, contra formam pacis & fratrum consilia, in sui juris præjudicium detineri a nobis, suis exarare Literis stylo mendacii non veretur. Quanquam autem his figmentis modica veritas impermixta, aliquid coloris adjiciat, ut tamen apertius intelligatis, quod tantam hujus commenti seriem non modica falsitatis adjectio decolorat, scitote pro certo, quod cum sicut nunc ex temporum eventu cognoscitur, discretæ menti verisimile videretur, ipsum de Lombardis suum potius consequi propositum potuisse, si se illis, quos populorum numerositas, profunditasque vallorum, armatorum copia, ac murorum reddit altitudo munitos, pietatis parentem exhibuisset, & clementiæ Dominum, quam quam si tremantibus pro culpa imposita subditis ultionis exerto mucrone terribilis occurreret in cuneis armatorum: ei nos, qui bona pacis procurare tenemur, bona fide suasimus, ut armata militiæ omisso terrore, sub indictarum omissione pœnarum, & beneficiorum oblatione, illos ad Imperii devotionem reduceret. Qui et si in Lombardiam famulis stipatus inermibus accessit, quia tamen consilii fidelis oblitus, in partem Cremonesensem cædis, actor factus est schismatis, scissamque in discordias Lombardiam fortius scindere, & Mediolanensem a se terroribus & minis abigere studuit, quos tamen aduersa parte ad unitatem trahere potius debuit in funiculo charitatis: non est quod nostræ imputetur innocentia, si spe frustratus in Apuliam rediit, ipso spei conceptæ interitum procurante. Post hæc super tuitione libertatis Ecclesiasticæ, super extirpanda hæretica pravitate, nostris beneplacitis paratum se obtulit, ad quem recurrrens litera nostra respondet: Quod cum in Regno suo, ubi nullus manum vel pedem absque ejus movet imperio, in fidem catholicam hæresis latius venena diffunderet, & libertas Ecclesiæ quali penitus conculcata jaceret: non credebatur capiti salutis adhibere remedium, qui pedem suo reddiderat contractu morbosum: sicque responsum hujusmodi lapsu modici temporis approbante, audito quod quidam pravo seducti consilio, Ecclesiæ terram intrare volebant, in Siciliam, quali fuga capta, ne rupta promissio eum falsitatis arguerit, potius abiit: ac contra illos verbo vel opere in aliquo non processit, nobis impropere, quod revertentes ad urbem Romanos filios speciales Ecclesiæ, ad matris devotionem paternam curavimus diligentia revocare. Idem insuper intellecto, quod illos ab Ecclesiæ charitate sejungere quidam iniquitatis filii nitebantur, & excogitato, quod facilius hanc & illos opprimeret, si præfatam charitatem acerbius fraude solita vulneraret: nobiscum Reate præsentibus, ad sedem cucurrit Apostolicam etiam non rogatus: ubi sub multa humilitate promittens, quod terram Ecclesiæ perditam in primum statum reduceret, & ipsam pro viribus defensaret: in Tuscia, ad quam vires suas contulit, recuperationem cujusdam castelli, quod ad jus Ecclesiæ modico reduci labore poterat, impedivit. Et cum adhuc manus tradentes nobiscum essent in mensa, cum hostibus Ecclesiæ, sicut ex consequentia facti, & literis suis, quæ a nobis in tantæ prodicionis testimonium reservantur, aperte convincitur, hoc signo dato, inde vicarius pepigit in ipso, certo die exinde recedente, illi ad arma iste monasterii devotionis obsequia præstitit. Attendite quales Ecclesiæ famulatus occultus hostis impendit, qui in Ecclesiasticum transformari non erubuit famulum, ut nobis ad nocendum fieret efficacior. Pro firmo tamen vos tenere cupimus, quod nos his sub dissimulatione præteritis circa eum adhuc non permittens immutari affectum Apostolicæ puritatis, per dictum Archiepiscopum, commissio sibi legationis officio, jura ei & præfato Conrado in eodem regno Hierosolymitano mandavimus subtracta restitui. Qui licet id fecerit, quia tamen formam sibi datam, propter quod ab eo ad nos extitit appellatum: excedens Terram Sanctam, quod est inauditum à sæculo, post appellationem hujus sententiæ suppositum Interdictum. Nos attendentes quod ob id, in maximum ejusdem Terræ periculum, peregrini ex ipsa recederent, & alii inceptos ad illam transitum retardarent dictum sententiam, quæ utpote latam post appellationem legitimam, ipso jure nulla fuerat, in omnibus aliis præfati alii Archiepiscopi, intacto remanente processu sufficienti, a Baronibus, Nobilibus, & Comitibus Regni prædicti cautione recepta, in omni sinceritate de fratrum nostrorum consilio duximus relaxandam. Quod ergo ipse de nobis ob hoc labiis pollutis obloquitur, vester animus non turbetur, quia cum sit vas repletum vitiorum spurcitiis, ea quæ ipsius infecerunt animum, putat in aliis criminum deservire tormenta: ex quo cum malorum opprobria laudem, laudes quoque opprobrium resonent, a viro, cujus omnis lingua clamat infamiam, fustigationibus imperi eligimus multo fortius quam laudari. Sed forsitan maculam opinionis suæ, his credit abolere convitiis, quia se dum Viterbium moraretur inficiens, a facie hostium Ecclesiæ non verecundus aufugit; & ad defensionem suorum fidelium, quos ipsius hostes in oculis ejus obsederunt, terram nullo prohibente vastarent, affirmans suum per nos ad illos interdicti progressum, Imperialis honoris prodigus, sed timore prohibitus non accessit, ex eo innocentiam nostram accusans, quod ad evitanda hujus belli dispendia, nuntium a latere nostro non misimus. Sed nec mirum, cum eo tempore status Ecclesiæ multiplici fuisset persecutorum afflictione turbatus. Venimus autem ad civitatem Castellanam, cujus cives se illi violato sacramento fidei, Ecclesia ignorante, prodentes, nullum jus per hoc in seipsis adquir-

ere, nullum nobis circa possessionem, cum jurisdictionem civitatis & civium quali possideret, Ecclesiam prodendo, potuerunt præjudicium generare. Quia illi, a quibus alteri potius quam sibi possidentibus non requiritur, possessionis initium, leges possessionum evertere, & extraneis jure conferre nequivit possessorum. Necnon qui de reddendis possessionibus Ecclesiæ ratione ad eum pertinentibus, pluries juramentum præstiterat, satisimprovidè a nobis videbatur petere, quod non poterat absque perjurio retinere. Nec credi debet in hoc, nos sibi omnimodam coram arbitris vel alio modo justitiam exhibere paratos, fratrum nostrorum despesisse consilium; quod nunciis ejus inceptum judicium recusantibus prosequi, non fuerat requirendum; quin potius hanc petitionem ea duntaxat fraude intentasse proponitur, ut sic ei obloquendi de Ecclesia, & pacem inter ipsam & eum initam, irritandi occasio præberetur. Illud quidem quod super facto Imperii inter cætera sua detestabilis testatur Epistola, nosse edisserit his literis calamus; ut quo pluribus ejus fictio cognita fuerit, eo fortius ex suo maneat commento confusus; dum de nobis obrectat, quod ad nostram translato notitiam eum ad recuperanda jura imperii cum multis bellatorum intrare millibus Lombardiam, sibi ne Italiam intraret armatus; & de negotio Lombardorum in nos præcise compromitteret, Apostolico scripto mandavimus, ut illud perpetuo suspendere, vel jus imperii libere suffocare possemus, contra ipsum venerabilem fratrem nostrum Prenestinensem Episcopum, per quem ejus vacuaremus propositum, transmittens, ei impedimentis clandestinis per legatos & literas nostras per orbem undique procuratis. Iste vero, cui ne veritatem fateri, aut enarrare possit judicium, a divina forsan est indignatione negatum: sicut obrectationes personæ nostræ non verecundatur ex falsis assumere: sic & excusationes suas ex similibus propositionibus non veritus ordinare, se per nuntios suos venerabilem fratrem nostrum Panormitanum Archiepiscopum, & quosdam alios, ad Apostolicam sedem missos, devotionem omnimodam super Ecclesiastica libertate, & reformandis Ecclesiæ & Imperii juribus, obtulisse; nosque id attentantes & promittentes, a cujusslibet ipsius impedimento cessare, nuntiis suis ad eum redeuntibus, dilecto filio Gregorio de Monte Longo, Notario nostro, in suorum eversionem fidelium, legationis officium commississe asserit: ipsoque nihilominus præfatos Archiepiscopum & alios nuntios suos, ad sedem Apostolicam remittente, & offerente satisfactionem omnimodam, nos cum contradicente saniore parte fratrum nostrorum, contra traditiones sanctorum patrum, & solemnem morem Ecclesiæ, injuste excommunicasse falso concludit: pro sua confusione subjungendo nos beati Petri vicarium, non habere ligandi solvendique potestatem, quali vellet asserere, nos concessa Apostolorum Principi * carere clavium potestate. Quæsumus igitur libram rationis assumite, & in ea perpendatis prædictum Fredericum contra Ecclesiam, excessibus & beneficiis, quæ ab ea recepit, appensis, clarius videre: quod licet draco iste qui ad illudendum nobis formatus, & in escam populo Aethiopiæ datum existit, aquas persecutionum in subversionem Ecclesiæ ex ore quasi fluvium miserit, Apostolica tamen sedes ipsius nequitiam inestimabili beneficiorum misericordia superavit. Nam eum olim ab annis teneris illorum morsibus, qui terram ejus & sanguinem sitiebant, in lacuna confusionis expositum, parentum & amicorum solatio penitus pene nudum videns mater Ecclesia, protinus circa ipsum nutricis & bajulæ officium executæ, eum pallio Apostolicæ sedis operuit, de laqueo venantium eripuit, multis laboribus & expensis ad Regni solium & coronam Imperii sublimavit. Insuper hoc ei fecisse modicum reputans, & sibi Hierosolimitanum subijci Regnum, & illum undique per orbem exaltare procurans, licet ab eodem multiplici se læsam afflictione doleret, a paucis tamen retroactis temporibus, contra Henricum natum ejus (qui partem non modicam Alemanniæ ejus jurisdictioni subtraxerat) potenter astitit: & in afflictorum sibi per eum oblita vulnere, ipsum de novo quasi in Imperatorem erigens, Teutoniæ Apostolicis litteris ipsius reformavit disiderio. His & aliis, quæ non sufficimus recordari, beneficiis ipsius construens munimenta decoris: sed iste baculus impiorum, terræ malleus, universam conturbare terram, Regna contere, & orbem desertum ponere cupiens, libertatem Ecclesiasticam in dicto Regno Siciliæ in opprobrium servitutis extremæ deducens, & Ecclesias quas ut earum teneritudine suum ventrem impleret, quasi jam penitus exossavit, sordibus, oneribus, & angariis opprimens, eas bonis sacris, deputatis sanctorum usibus, spoliavit, personas Ecclesiasticas carceri mancipavit, ipsosque in examine vetito accusationes suscipere, tallias solvere, & bona Ecclesiastica, astica, ut se a vexationibus redimant, exhaurire, & postremo exulare coarctat. Ecclesiis pastorum solatio viduatis, non permittit sibi sponsum eligere, viduitatis vestimenta deponere, donec alicujus adulterinis amplexibus, per compulsionem extiterint copulata. De Christianis habitaculis construens mœnia Babylonis, & ædificia in quibus divinum nomen excolitur, illuc transferens, ubi Machometus perditus adoratur: turbis undique collectis, Crucifixi fidem & nomen publice prædicari in eodem Regno prohibuit. Recuperationem Terræ Sanctæ & negotium impediens, ad ejus consummationem de bonis suorum fidelium conferri interdixit. Contra juramentum præstitum, & pacis inter ipsum et Ecclesiam reformatæ fœdera, nobiles privatos castris & aliis bonis suis, uxoribus & liberis captivatis, loca sua proscriptos relinquere, domicilia in aliorum transferre coloniam: nutritos in croceis, amplexari stercora, & ad extremam cogit inopiam devenire. Nec non dum afflictione comprimit simili pauperes, id tanto fortius Deo displicere putamus, quanto verius ipsos credimus innocentes. Quid plura? Baronibus, militibus & aliis hominibus ejusdem regni Sicilie, ad fortunam & conditionem servorum inaudita crudelitate redactis: jam pro majori parte ipsius Regni habitatores non habent de proprio unde stramine vili quiescere, nuditates suas rudi sacco contegere, vel ventrem pene possent militatio saturare. Cumque ululatus & clamores dictarum Ecclesiarum & hominum, a tempore dicti H. prædecessoris nostri, Ecclesiæ aures continua deploratione pulsassent, & jam vix possemus eos absque latione conscientie sub dissimulatione transire: ipsum super correctione dictorum scelerum non semel, sed pluries, nunciis & literis monuimus, ac longa patientia temporibus expectavimus retroactis, si forsitan oculos suos ad cœlos erigere, exutus veterem, novumque indutus hominem, manus suas a tanta perpetrante facinorum cohiberet. De petita insuper emendatione dubii adhuc, volentes statum ejus proprio processu gratulari, eo Lombardiam cum armis intrante, mandavimus, ut in locis pro quacunque causa interdicto subjectis ipso præsentem Interdictum minime servaretur: & eundem Fredericum nostris literis admonentes ut ne crucis negotium, quod ad utilitatem Ecclesiæ, Imperii & totius populi Christiani fuerit ordinatum, impedire valeret, præcise in nos compromitteret: ne si contra Lombardos, armata manu procedens, tantam daret exempli perniciem ut præsumeretur a pluribus, quod cæteros Ecclesiæ fessellisset. Ceterum quia redintegrare scissuras Schismatis, nostro incumbit officio servitutis, pro sedanda Imperii & Lombardorum discordia, Præstinum Episcopum, commissio sibi legationis officio, illa consideratione potissime duximus destinandum, ut sibi & quibuscunque discordantibus, minori haberetur ratione suspectus, quo suis actibus minus firmamenti odii vel amoris ingereret, qui a mundo & carne ex susceptione sanctæ religionis abstractus, in divini amoris altitudinem evolasset. Noster sibi destructor respondeat, quid ex hoc nobis & eidem Episcopo poterit imputari, si Placentia inter patres, filios, affines, consanguineos, & germanos ordinata concordia, eo præsentem & protestante, quod id salvis honoribus & juribus Imperatoris & Imperii, & quorumlibet aliorum heret, consummationem accept? Quinimo idem blasphemus intelligat, sibi ad infamiam merito reputari, quod cum ad ipsius & nuntiorum suorum instantiam, venerabilem fratrem nostrum Offiensem Episcopum filium nostrum T. tituli sanctæ Sabine Presbyterum Cardinalem, pro pace juxta formam ab eisdem nunciis inter Lombardos & Imperium reformanda, ad partes misissemus, easdem idem dictis Legatis petita & ampliora adimplere paratis, & delusis nobis reformationem pacis per ipsos noluit acceptare. Ecce, nunc intelligite, qualiter Imperii jura conculcavimus. Ex præmissis advertite, qualiter hic a nobis fuerit impeditus: quod longo & inani labore suos & suorum humeros decrevit prius conteri, quam passus extiterit per nos jura Imperii reformari. Præterea, idem illatis Ecclesiæ non contentus injuriis, data quibusdam rebellibus nostris non modica summa pecuniæ, seditionem contra nos in Urbe molitus pluries commovere, ut nobis & fratribus nostris a sede nostra repulsis, & conculso capite, fidei quod superædificavit Dominus, impulsu ejusdem Frederici rueret leviori: Ferrariam & quasdam alias terras Ecclesiæ, in Lombardiam contra juramentum præstitum temere veniens, occupavit. Super quo, & aliis credens, detinere inanibus verbis dictos Panormitanum Archiepiscopum & alios nuntios suos cum literis de credentia, ad nostram duxerit præsentiam destinandos. Quibus offerentibus nobis satisfactionem super præmissarum offensarum emendatione: venerabilem ante & post ipsorum a curia nostra recessum, terram Sardinia & Massam Lunensis Diocesim occupare, ad Romanam Ecclesiam pertinentes, non omittens, ipso ipso tacto, ne ultra ejus expectaremus correctionem edocuit: ac non debere fidem sibi vel suis Nunciis adhiberi, operis evidentia demonstravit. Ex quo illud solum in conscientia sua legens, quod cor ejus ad conterendas Ecclesias & catholicam fidem dirigitur, de nobis, quibus se jam quocunque fraudis vellere occultare non potest, non immerito suspicatur; quod ipsius potentiam habentes justitiae ratione suspectam, cum melius sit ante tempus occurrere, quam post inflata vulnera remedium invenire, ad avertendas suorum progressuum semitas, officium Legationis dicto Notario commisimus: quod nequaquam juxta ipsius suspensionem id fecimus, sed ut per eum bellorum cladibus, animarum corporumque periculis obviare possemus. Ex praemissis igitur & aliis nequeunt de ipsius correctione sperare, & dolentes nos ejus promissionibus toties & toties fuisse delusos: praefatum Fredricum, de fratrum nostrorum consilio, sententia excommunicationis durimus innodandum. Quamquam ex hoc perditum intellectum resumere, & coram Deo potius humiliari deberet: eo tamen amplius inde furens, quo jam suam confusionem agnoscens, fortius veretur, ut Ecclesiae obstetricante manu educatur colubris tortuosus. Nos ex personae nostrae meritis indignos asserens, qualibet officii auctoritate Papalis: per nos praedicta sententia minime potuisse constringi, suis praesumptuose literis asserit: & nos qui temporibus nostris patrimonium Ecclesiae, per gratiam Dei, non modice ampliavimus, de dilapidatione bonorum Ecclesiasticorum, dispensationum processu, receptione munerum, & avaritiae vilitate redarguit. Ac contra eum, ex illo quod contrahendis inter neptem nostram & naturalem ejus filium, sponsalibus petum subtrahit assensum, provocari falso confingit: illud apertius mentiens quod Longobardis contra eum & Imperium corporale praestitimus sacramentum: seu quod totius orbis decimas Terrae Sanctae utilitatibus reservatas, convertere promiserimus in ejus compendium, si arbitrio nostro negotium exponeret Longobardorum. Fateamur autem, nos defectu meritorum nostrorum indigne Christi esse vicarium: fateamur nos oneri tanto insufficientes existere, quod humana conditio non potest absque divino suffragio supportare; nihilominus tamen, vices nobis commissas, prout melius nostra permittit fragilitas, exequentes, secundum quod locorum, temporum, personarum, & negotiorum qualitas & natura requirunt, disponenda disponimus: & cum excellentibus personis pure & secundum Deum, cum necessitas id exposcit, de nostrae potestatis plenitudine dispensamus. Veruntamen non est dolor quod sic profundo gladio ejus feriat animum, sicut dum terminos Regum transgreditur, nec potest aggredi officia Sacerdotum. Propter quod idem qui pro auri fame dictum Regnum Siciliae jam redegit in cinerem, credens se, qui omni tempore vitae suae paucis pure, pluribus vero justitiam pretii venalitate corruptus exhibuit: quod in persona sua resuscitans magnum Simonem, luto temporalium maculare possit Ecclesiae puritatem, ut sic in spiritualibus grassari, & in suis permitteretur sordibus remanere: murum integritatis, Ecclesiae multis, & specialiter oblatione castrorum ac parentela inter suos & nostros contrahenda, pro qua nos per quosdam magnos Praelatos & nuncios suos pluries requisivit, tentavit intringere. Nunc vero quia id nulla instantia nulloque ingenio, sicut est in curia nostra quasi notorium, a nobis potuit obtinere: quin potius se cum suis perditioni relictum arcium suarum fallacis in pejus proficere jam agnoscit, quia nesciat ultra quid faciat: seipsum mendaci suo in aliorum detractone deturpat, more meretricis Aegyptiacae, quae Joseph invitavit ad stuprum, & ab ipsos contempta, apud virum suum volens accusavit invitum. Unum quidem est de quo, etsi pro homine perditio sit dolendum, latri non modicum & Deo regratiari debetis: quod volenti domino diutius occultari non patitur: umbra mortis iste, qui gaudet se nominari praebulum Antichristi: non expectans propinquum suae confusioni judicium manibus propriis effosso suarum abominationum pariete, per dictas literas ejus suarum producit in lucem opera tenebrarum, in eis constanter proponens, quod per nos tanquam Christi vicarium vinculo excommunicationis astringi non potuit. Sicque affirmans, non esse apud Ecclesiam a Domino beato Petro, et ejus successoribus ligandi atque solvendi traditam potestatem, dum haeresim asserit, proprio sibi argumento concludit; consequenter ostendens, quod male sentiat de caeteris fidei Orthodoxae articulis, dum Ecclesiae, super quam fides fundata consistit, auferre nititur concessum * verbo Dei privilegium potestatis. Sed quia minus bene ab aliquibus credi possit, fit, quod se verbis illaqueaverit oris sui; probationes in fidei victoriam sunt paratæ: quia iste Rex petilentia, a tribus Baratoribus, ut ejus verbis utamur, scilicet Christo Jesu, Moyse & Machometo, totum mundum fuisse deceptum: & duobus eorum ingloria mortuis, ipsum Jesum in ligno suspensum manifeste proponens: insuper dilucida voce affirmare, vel potius mentiri præsumpsit, quod omnes facti sunt, qui credunt nasci de virgine Deum; qui creavit naturam, & omnia potuisse. Hanc hæresim illo errore confirmans, quod nullus nasci potuit, cujus conceptum viri & mulieris conjunctio non præcessit: & homo debet nihil aliud credere, nisi quod potest vi & ratione naturæ probare. Hæc, & alia multa, quibus verbis & factis Catholicam fidem impugnavit, & impugnari, suo loco & tempore, sicut decet & expedit, manifeste * poterunt comprobari. Quocirca; universitatem vestram rogamus, monemus, & hortamur attente, in virtute obedientiæ per Apostolica scripta districte præcipiendo; quatenus ne dictus Fredericus corda fidelium fallacibus verbis subvertere, vel contagione sua possit quomodolibet gregem Dominicum maculare, Clero & populo vobis subditis, supradicta plene ac * fideliter exponatis. Datum Laterni, Duodecimo Calend. Junii, Pontificatus nostri Anno Decimo tertio.

Hæc igitur divulgata, & multis Regibus ac Principibus & Magnatibus, mutatis tantum titulis, transmissa per orbem, timorem & horrorem, necnon admirationem cordibus fidelium incusserunt, & Imperialem Epistolam suspectam, licet probabilia continerent, reddiderunt, unde corda multorum, qui prius cum alterutro steterant, fluctuantia reddiderunt. Et nisi Romana avaritia devotionem populorum a Domino Papa plusquam expediret et deceret, avertisset: totus mundus hac Epistola exasperatus, in Imperatorem, quasi in manifestum hostem Ecclesiæ, et Christi inimicum, graviter et unanimiter insurrexisset. Sed pro dolor! multi filii a patre suo Papa avulsi sunt, & Imperatori adherentes, assererebant, quod odium inextinguibile inter eos jam induratum, prædicta iurgia et invectiones excogitatas excitabat. Et injuste impropere Dominus Papa, quod eundem Fredericum dilexerit, & promoverit in novitate creationis suæ; hoc enim totum factum est in odium Othonis, quem Ecclesia adjutorio Frederici usque ad mortem persequabatur, quia dispersa Imperiis, secundum Sacramentum suum, vicissiter congregare cepit, sicut qui præsens est Imperator Fredericus facere proponit. Unde hoc faciendo Fredericus militabit Ecclesiæ, et plus tenetur Ecclesia Romana ipsi, quam Imperator Ecclesiæ Romanæ rationabiliter teneatur obligatus. Sentit Ecclesia Occidentalis, præcipue tamen religiosorum, & præ omnibus aliis devotissima Deo Anglicana Ecclesiæ, Oppressiones Romanorum quotidianas, nec adhuc unquam pressuras sensit Imperiales. Addiditque populus, Quid sibi vult istud? Retroactis temporibus imposuit Papa Imperatori, quod ipse Machometo legique Saracenicæ plus consensit, quam Christo vel legi Christianæ: nunc autem in sua invectiva Epistola imponit eidem, quod tam Machometum, quam Jesum vel Mossem, quod horribile est recitare, vocat Baratazem. In Epistolis suis humiliter de Deo scribit Imperator & Catholice; nisi tantum quod hac ultima Papali personæ derogat, non officio, nec publice prædicat: nec procaciter sustinet quicquam Hæreticum ut novimus adhuc, vel prophanum: non usurarios nobis misit, vel raptos reddidit: (as this Pope and his predecessors did.) Et sic ortum est schisma in populis formidandum.

Diebus etiam illis, videns Dominus Papa robur & constantiam Imperatoris nondum enervatam; sibi & Romana Ecclesiæ nondum incurvari, misit per totam Alemaniam Prælatis, Magnificis, & alias manentibus, Epistolas prolixas communitorias, & præcepit districte, ut omnes insurgerent in suum Imperatorem, Deo et Ecclesiæ Romanæ rebellem, et eundem magnis convitiis diffamabunt. Absolvit etiam omnes, qui eidem fidelitatis Juramento tenebantur, bantur affricati, persuadens ut essent in infidelitate fideles, in inobedientia obedientes: (against St. Paul's and St. Peter's Doctrine, Rom. 13.1, to 7. Tit. 3.1. 1 Pet. 2.13, 14, 15.) sed tantum promeruit Romanæ Ecclesiæ improbitas omnibus execranda, quod a nullis, vel a paucis, meruit Papalis auctoritas exaudiri.

Imperator & Papa invicem persequuntur.

Desolatio Bononiensium, & aliorum fautorum Papæ.

In ejusdem anni Ætate, Dominus Imperator volens Mediolanensibus proditoribus suis, Bononiensium auxilia præcludere, in Bononienses impetum fecit formidabilem. Volebant enim in favorem Papæ & Mediolanensium suorum, exire ad debellandum exercitum Imperialem: cum ecce repente exeuntibus occurrit Imperator, & suos inter Cives & Civitatem armatos interposuit, & Civium cuneos terribiliter subito dissipavit. Qui fugientes, per quædam diverticula cupientes ad Urbem remeare, sese in amnem, quem transire necesse habebant, præcipitaverunt: ita ut plures submersi, quam in ore gladii cæsi, miserabiliter perierunt: (a just reward of Popish Rebels against their Sovereign.) Deinde, Dominus Imperator, postquam Bononienses illi dextras dederunt, qui in civitate remanserunt, direxit suorum armatorum legiones versus Mediolanum. Et in brevi temporis spatio, fossata sua, quibus se Mediolanenses undique cinxerant, erectis machinis & applicatis pontibus multis, cum suo exercitu transit numeroso. Unde timor & tremor Cives invasit inopinabilis, & audito Bononiensium infortunio, gemitus gemitibus cumularunt. Unde negotium illud ad votum consummasset, nisi mota per Papam periculosa perturbatio, ad partes ulteriores provocat Dominum Imperatorem transulisset. Quod comperientes Cives, facti animosiores, extulerunt caput, & per vicinia discurrentes, Castra Imperialia obsederunt. Et per quendam Legatum, quem ad consolationem eorum illuc Dominus Papa miserat, solidati, Ferrariam obsederunt, hostiliter vallaverunt: nec ab eis nisi se absolute redderent, satisfactionem admiserunt obsessorum, hoc Legato persuadente, & Cives ad hoc Mediolanenses immisericorditer compellente.

Mat. Paris, Hist. Angl. p. 500, 501. Papa & Curia Romana eligunt in Imperatorem Robertum fratrem Regis Francorum, qui id constanter renuit.

Circa dierum illorum curricula, Dominus Papa scripsit Regi Francorum, solemnes eidem Nuncios destinando; significans eidem, ut juberet Epistolam suam eorum ipso & toto Baronagio Francie solemniter & memoriter legi & intelligi. Cujus summa & tenor talis fuisse perhibetur. Noverit dilectus filius Ecclesiæ Spirituális, Illustris Rex, & totum Francorum Baronagium, nos deliberatione & tractatu diligenti omnium fratrum nostrorum condemnasse, et a culmine Imperiali abjudicasse Fredericum dictum Imperatorem, et Robertum Comitem fratrem Regis Francorum, loco ipsius elegisse substituendum: quem etiam omnibus modis Ecclesia non tantum Romanæ, sed universalis, duxit non segniter adjuvandum, & efficaciter promovendum. Nullo igitur modo, tantum sponte oblata dignitatem apertis brachiis suscipere ne pigritemini; ad quam opes & operam abundanter effundemus consequendam. Scelera enim prædicti Frederici multiplicia, sicut jam novit mundus, eundem irreversibiliter condemnarant. Ad quod, inito consilio, circumspecta prudentia Francorum respondit: Quo spiritu vel ausu temerario Papa tantum Principem, quo non est major, imo nec par inter Christianos, non convictum vel confessum de objectis sibi criminibus, exheredabit, et ab apice Imperiali præcipitabit? Qui si meritis suis exigentibus deponendus esset, non nisi per generale Concilium cassandus judicaretur. De transgressionibus suis non est hostibus suis fides adhibenda, quorum Papa dignoscitur esse capitalis. Vobis adhuc insons, imo bonus fuit vicinus, nec quid sinistri vidimus de eo in fidelitate seculari, vel fide Catholica. Scimus autem, quod Domino nostro Jesu Christo fideliter militavit, marinis & bellicis se periculis confidenter opponens. Tantum Religionis in Papa non invenimus. Imo qui eum debuit promovisse, & Deo militantem protexisse, eum conatus est absentem confundere, & nequiter supplantare. Nolumus nosmetipsos in tanta pericula præcipitare, ut ipsum Fredericum tam potentem impugnemus, quem tot Regna contra nos juvabunt, & causa justa præstabit adminiculum. Quid ad Romanos de prodiga sanguinis nostri effusione, dummodo suæ iræ satisfaceremus? Si eum per nos et alios devicerit, omnes Principes mundi contulcabit, lumens cornua jactantiæ et superbiam, quoniam ipsum Fredericum magnum Imperatorem contriverit. Sed ne in vacuum Papale mandatum videamur suscepisse, licet magis constet hoc ob odium Imperatoris, quam quam nostri dilectionem ab Ecclesia Romana derivasse, mittimus Nuncios prudentes ex nobis ad Imperatorem, qui quomodo Catholica sentiat, diligenter inquirant, nos super hoc certificatos. Et si nil nisi sanum invenerint, cur infestandus est? Sin autem, et ipsum, imo etiam ipsum Papam, si male de Deo senserit, vel quemlibet mortuum usque ad internecionem persequemur. Quæ cum audierunt Nuncii Papales, confusi recesserunt. Adierunt igitur Dominum Imperatorem Francorum Nuncii solemnes, ipsi mandata quæ a Domino Papa receperunt, seriatim nuntiaturi. Quod cum audisset Dominus Imperator, de immanitate odii stupefactus, respondit, se esse virum Catholicum, Christianum, sane de omnibus Orthodoxæ fidei articulis sentientem. Et addidit, Non placet Domino meo Jesu Christo, ut unquam recedam a fide magnificorum Patrum, & Antecessorum, sequens vestigia perditorum. Judicet autem Dominus inter me & ipsum, qui me ita per Orbem tam nequiter diffamavit. Et tendens manus in Cælum, lachrymis obortus, singultando exclamavit, Deus ultionum Dominus reddat ei retributionem. Et conversus ad Nuncios, ait: Amici mei, & vicini charissimi, vere, quicquid dicat inimicus meus, sititor sanguinis mei, & honoris subversor, credo sicut alius Christianus; & si bellum mihi movere disponitis, non miremini si me defendam ab insurgentibus in me: Spero enim, quod Deus protector innocentium, me potenter liberabit. Novit enim Deus, quod Papa in favorem mihi rebellium, præcipue Mediolanensium hæreticorum, contra me levat calcaneum, & insurgit iracundus. Sed vobis totus in gratiarum actiones assurgo, quod voluistis ante assensum per responsionem meam de præsentis causa certificari. Ad hæc Nuncii: Nolit Deus ut unquam ascendat in cor nostrum, ut aliquem Christianum sine manifesta causa impugnemus. Nec nos pulsar ambitio, credimus enim Dominum nostrum Regem Gallia, quem linea Regii sanguinis provexit ad Sceptra Francorum regenda, excellentiorem esse aliquo Imperatore, quem sola electio provehit voluntaria: sufficit Domino Comiti Roberto, fratrem esse tanti Regis. Et his dictis, cum dilectione & gratia Imperiali recesserunt. Et sic in hoc proposito conatus Papalis irritus evasit.

Perfuasit interea Dominus Papa, & per Prædicatum & Minorum ministerium provocavit multiformibus argumentis, ut sibi pecuniam undecunque abrafam in detrimentum Imperatoris acquirerent. Et facti sunt eo tempore Prædicatores & Minores Regum Consilarii & Nuncii speciales, ut sicut quondam mollibus induti in domibus Regum erant, ita tunc qui vilibus vestiebantur, in domibus, cameris, & palatiis essent Principum. Vocavit eum Dominus Rex tunc temporis fratrem J. de Sancto Egidio ad consilium suum. Admirati sunt multi, quod preces fidelium non curavit Dominus Papa, sicut legitur de Petro servato in carcere.

The Emperor justly incensed with these Antichristian proceedings of the Pope against him, resolved to march with an Army to Rome it self, to chastise him according to his demerits, and put a period to his vexations.

Mat. Paris Hist. Angl. p. 503, 504, &c. Imperator versus Urbem iter suum dirigit.

cessus eventibus, vel fortunæ periculis potius prorsus exposito, ad conculcandam Imperii sacri iustitiam, & Mediolanensium rebellium nostrorum auxilium totus assurgat. Nec nos super hoc læsæ conscientię stimulo pungimur, nec lædenti famæ iudicium expectamus: quin a multis retro temporibus, periculorum istorum omnium divina quadam inspiratione præfagi, præsens semper evitaverimus scandalum, istius Summi Pontificis gratiam omnia quocunque potuimus ingenio, licet frustra, laboravimus obtinere: personæ nostræ non parcendo laboribus, rerum nostrarum non cavendo dispendiis, & persæpe fidelium nostrorum vitam pro suis & Ecclesiæ Romana subsidii liberaliter exponendo. Sed, quod dolentes referimus, nihil penitus cepimus toto tempore laborantes, nullam ab ipso pro nostris obsequiis affectionem retulimus: semper se contrarium nobis posuit, semper Imperii sacri profectibus obviavit. Imo quod crudelius ab omnibus debet reputari, existentibus nobis in Ecclesiæ Sanctæ subsidii apud eum, Civitatem Castella subtraxit Imperio: prout per Literas suas, quas Castellani nobis noviter assignarunt, manifeste probatur. Nihil tunc temporis etiam potuimus ab ipso de cunctis petitionibus nostris, nobis & Imperio favorabile reportare. Legato, quem tunc ipso tempore pro nobis se misisse dixit in Syriam, ut Aconensium & quorundam Regni Hierosolymitani nobilium, nobis & filio illatas injurias emendaret, auctoritatem omnem per contrarias latentes Literas, subsequenter ademit. Eodem ipso tempore Mediolanensibus ne contra fideles Imperii Cremontenses insurgerent, nec Florentinis Vesenenses fideles nostros offenderent, potuimus aliquas Literas obtinere: cum nobis in auxilium ipsorum, ne indefensam dimitteremus Ecclesiam, procedendi licentiam denegaret. In Germaniam deinde procedentibus nobis, ad primogeniti filii nostri malitiam reprimendam, favorem omnem promissit ore tenus, sed per Nuncium suum Literas de credentia deferentem, Principibus nostris nobiscum præsentibus in Curia Maguntina, sub omni qua potuit attestatiōe latenter injunxit, ne electioni filii nostri minoris vel cuijlibet de domo & sanguine nostro modo quolibet consentirent. Processum nostrum deinde in Italiam ad reformandum Imperium, in eadem per Literas & Nuncios suos, præsertim Episcopum Præstensem, qui Placentiam & Mantnam omni qua potuit calliditatis fraude subjunxit, prout scivit & potuit, præpedivit. Tandem, cum post obtentam faciente Domino de Mediolanensium strage victoriam, prodesse sibi furtivas hujusmodi legationes & Literas non videret, ense nostræ iustitiæ, suæ nequitie fraudibus pravalente, processibus nostris cepit apertioribus obstaculis obviare: manifestius inhiibendo Civitatibus & Nobilibus Marchia, Anconitenfis, & vallis Spoleti, de quibus auxiliari tenebatur Imperium, non noceri, ne in Lombardiam venire vel mittere milites attemptarent. Anconitanis etiam & aliis locis maritimis, sub excommunicationis pœnitentia, & banno Decem Millium Marcarum, injunxit: ut Venetis excellentiæ nostræ rebellibus, contra mandatum & Interdictum nostrum, quæque necessaria ministrarent, prout hæc omnia per Literas suas evidentissime comprobantur. Aliquibus etiam nobilibus Marchia Tervisia, quos Imperii fide debiles & vacillantes effecerat, Literas destinavit, ut a nobis manifeste recederent: pro certo scituris, quod nisi ordinationi, & mandato suo negotium Lombardia vellemus præcise committere, contra nos excommunicationis sententiam fulminaret. Super quibus omnibus, dilectorum Principum & aliorum fidelium nostrorum communicato consilio, qui nobis in obsidione Brixia tunc temporis assistebant: volentes, ut duximus, inter nos & Ecclesiam scandalum præcavere, solemnes Legatos nostros ad sedem Apostolicam duximus transmittendos; per quos, & de quibusdam aliis frivolis, quæ in Regno nostro Sicilie contra jus & libertatem Ecclesiæ attemptata dicebat, satisfactionem obtulimus; & desideratam inter nos & Ecclesiam unionem, Nunciis & mutuis cautionibus roborandam, multoties dudum a nobis per innumerabiles Nuncios expectam, denū repetivimus per eosdem. Quam cum libenter affectare se diceret, modum cautionis & formam iudicio nostro committens; Nunciis nostris & suis cum unionis & pacis concessæ fiducia redeuntibus ad nos alacriter, omnino celatis, Gregorio de Monte longo (quem pridem in Lombardiam suspectum nobis & nostris simplicem Nuncium habebamus, & quem de regione ipsa promiserat revocare) contra nos & nostros, in eadem provincia Legationis officium plene commisit. Ad majoris quoque coaggregationem nequitie, dum nos propter unionis promissæ fiduciam reportaret incautos, per quosdam Principes & fideles nostros admoneri mandavit super quibusdam gravaminibus, quæ in Regno nostro Sicilia & Urbe Romana contra se & Ecclesiam per nostros officiales & Nuncios illata dicebat. Ad quæ omnia cum Domino ipsorum ipforum admonitorum, ut minus aliorum quamplurium religiosorum iudicio, serenitas nostra plenissime respondisset, responsionibus singulis ad singula capitula non contenti, verbum generale subjunximus: quod voluntatem & responsionem nostram in lingulis suo iudicio committebamus, & totum prout hæc quamplurium Prælatorum omni fide dignorum Literis & testimonio manifeste comprobantur. Et cum super his omnibus, Nuncios nostros super responsionibus ipsis & satisfactione plenaria facienda, plena nostri culminis autoritate munitos ad ejus processus sui faciente astutia præcidendam: contra nos die Palmarum, qui processibus talibus est prorsus insolitus, contra morem Ecclesiæ, perperam & injuriose processit. Nos autem, qui processum hujusmodi temeritate plenum, et iustitia vacuum habebamus, ad fratres suos Literas & Legatos transmisimus, generale petentes Concilium convocari: in quo iudicis corrupti nequitiam, ac Imperii nostri iustitiam & innocentiam nostram, argumentis arguere luce clarioribus spondebamus. Super quod nedom quod iustitiæ nostræ delataratio fuerit, imo contra jus gentium, quod violari Legatos & Nuncios non permittit: prædictos Nuncios nostros Episcopos, iste qui scribitur Servus Servorum Dei, turpissimo carceri mandavit intrudi. Attendite igitur & videte, si sunt ista facta Papalia, si sunt hæc opera sanctitatis: et si compositæ prædicationi conveniat in interitum mundi deducere, conculcare iustitiam: et dissimulatis fidelium oculorum nostrorum iudiciis, secundum infidelium Mediolanensem faciem iudicare. Sed nec in his omnibus, cum contra nos spiritu oris sui licet perperam procedebat, ad justum Imperialis vindictæ iudicium movebantur; quousque ad extremam interemptionem nostram & manifestam exheredationem Imperii se ostendit temporaliter profilire: dum nobis in Marchia Tervisina morantibus, ad pacificandam eandem (quam ob dissensiones continuas & antiquas passim stragibus occisorum invenimus rubricatam) Marchionem Estensem, Comitem Sancti Bonifacii, & alios Nobiles Regionis, qui ad suggestionem Summi Pontificis simul in necem nostram conjuraverant; cum Civitate Tervisi, non modica data pecunie quantitate, fecit nobis et Imperio rebellare. Civitatem nostram Revenna, per Paulum Transuram antea fidelissimum nobis, & factum postmodum per corruptionem Papalis pecunie proditorem, tractante Magistro Legato Cardinali, tunc Marchia & Imperio subtrahens, & ab eis sibi & Ecclesiæ, tanquam Princeps & Pontifex, sacramenta suscepit; & plateas publicas per Marchiam & Ducatum, quem ab Imperio detinebat, Nunciis ad nos venientibus & necessaria nobis & exercitui nostro deferentibus, præcludi mandavit; adeo quod nonnullos ex eis, more prædonio, bonis omnibus spoliatis, carceri mancipare præsumpsit. Hæc omnia faciens, ut nos & Milites nostros tam Italos quam Germanos, vel famæ perimeret, vel ab obsidione Mediolanensem & nostrorum depopulatione rebellium, necessario revocaret. Quibus omnibus non contentus, contra nos & Imperium se belli Ducem & Principem manifeste constituit; Mediolanensem & aliorum infidelium proditorum causam, suam propriam faciens, & ipforum negotium ad se manifeste convertens, præfectos Mediolanensis, imo verius Papalis exercitus, statuens, loco sui Gregorium de Monte longo, prædictum, & fratrem Leonem Ministrum ordinis fratrum Minorum, qui non solum accincti gladiis & lorice induti, falsas militum imagines ostendebant, verum etiam prædicationi insistentes, Mediolanenses & alios, quicumque nostram & nostrorum personam offenderant, a peccatis omnibus absolvebant. Hodie quidem prædicti Legatus & Frater, contra nos & Imperium se scribunt rectores & Dominos: per quod evidenter datur intelligi, quod Papa non solum sit infidelium fautor, quos omnes pro majori parte publica mundi lingua testatur hæreticos: sed in præiudicium et exheredationem Imperii, sibi Mediolani Regimen et Dominium temporaliter usurpavit. Jam igitur ultra iusto iudicio tot provocari dispendiis, tot injuriis læssis, manus nostras continere nequivimus: quin apprehenderemus arma & scutum, nostram & totius Imperii causam contra publicum hostem publice contra temporalem temporaliter prosequentes, filialem illi nequivimus amplius dilectionem ostendere: quia nedum quod affectionis paternæ dulcedinem nobis non redderet, nec dum injuriis exheredationis afficeret, sed vitam nostram et sanguinem crudeliter sitiebat. Sed Liguria partibus, quæ in deditionem nostram venerant, Milicam & Balistariorum præsidio, non sine multis multis ararii nostri dispendiis, prout expedit comminutis, ac in peregrinatione Tuscia multis Imperii juribus reformatis, præmisso nihilominus H. benigno filio nostro, illustri Regi Turrim & Galluris, sacri Imperii in Italia Legato, ad Anconitanam Marchiam revocandam, nos personaliter versus Ducatum Spolei, ac partes Urbi vicinas, erectis Aquilarum nostrarum victricibus signis, convertimus; totam terram nostris processibus occurrentem, usque Viterbium, Civitatibus admodum paucis exceptis, propter tam graves et infestos, ingratitude et offensam, ad jus et proprietatem Imperii revocantes. A Viterbiensibus autem & locis ac Civitatibus circumvicinis, cum summa devotione recepti, dum, jam hosti & adversario nostram ostenderemus potentiam, è vicino timore terribili licet juste perterritus, tamen per seram poenitentiam sibi non crederet posse consulere, in profundum desperationis immersus, ac viribus propriis omnino diffusus, Romano populo clamante nostrum ad Urbem gratanter accessum; garsones quosdam & vetulas, necnon & paucos admodum conductivos Milites, veris præter solitum profusis lachrymis exoravit, ut contra nos crucem assumerent; in sua prædicatione mentitus, quod nos ad everisionem Romana Ecclesiæ ac violationem sacrarum reliquiarum beatissimorum Apostolorum Petri & Pauli, procedere nitebamur. Excuset igitur recto judicio magnificentia Regia motum nostrum, ad quem nos adversarii nostri malignitas impulit; et quem, ad conservandum non magis Imperii quam omnium Regum et Principum terræ decus, justitia persuasit. Nosque præ cæteris orbis Regibus causam nostram tanto ferventiore favore debetis assumere: tantoque securius confovere: quanto velut totius oneris et honoris nostri participes, ac per nos ad istarum omnium moderamen, si bene recolitis, confidenter assumpti, et ab adversa parte contempti, innocentiam nostram et Imperii nostri justitiam puriori zelo ac sinceriori potestatis conscientia confovere. Datum Viterbii.

His igitur per orbem auditis & cognitis, fama Domini Papæ et auctoritas magnam subit ruinam et detrimentum: et subortum est scandalum; et coeperunt viri prudentes et sancti timere vehementer de Ecclesiæ, et Domini Papæ, et totius Cleri honore; et formidare ne Dominus in furore maximo populum suum insanabili vulnere lauciaret.

Queremoniæ Episcoporum de oppressioni-bus Ecclesiæ.

In octavis vero Epiphania, congregati sunt Londoni Archiepiscopi & Episcopi cum multis aliis magnatibus, præsentē etiā Legato, reponentes querimoniam gravissimam coram Rege in curia sua super variis injuriis, & oppressionibus & quotidianis desolationibus illatis Ecclesiæ per iniquum Regis consilium (Especially by this Legate) contra suas chartas & juramenta temere veniendo, nec patitur suis pastoribus viduas Ecclesias, restitutas respirare: sed ut ab eisdem Ecclesiastica bona variis argumentis extorqueat, annis plurimis eas in manu sua detinet, nec patitur electiones canonicas celebrari: Super quibus injuriis illatis, & diatim multiplicatis, omnes se afferunt vehementer admirari, cum ipse Rex toties juraverit, se jura Ecclesiastica illibata conservare, ipsomet audiente, & candelam tenente, quod omnes Episcopi in violatores libertatum Ecclesiasticarum, simul sententiam fulminabant, in cujus sententiæ consummatione, Rex ut alii, suam candelam extinxit inclinando. Et erant contra Regem in querimoniis Episcoporum capita circiter 30. Et eatenus processum est, quod lata sit iterum sententia terribiliter nimis in omnes Regis consiliarios, qui ejus animum ad prædicta enormia conabantur inclinare.

Imperator Re-gem reprohendit, quod permittit pecuniā asportari de terra sua in damnum utriusque.

Et nondum negotiis in Concilio prædicto perfecte expeditis, venerunt ab Imperatore duo Nuncii ad Regem, per quos ei literatorie significavit Dominus Imperator, se non immerito nimis admirari, quod ipsum sinebat sine aliqua contradictione in sua Christianissima terra tam horribiliter et irrationabiliter et communicari. Et quod obitus fœderis maritalis & amicitiae inter eos initiata per matrimonium Isabelle jam Imperatricis, ipsius supremi Principis statum & famam permittebat denigrari. Quamobrem hujus rei coadjutorem, scilicet Legatum, quem Rex inconsulte in Regnum suum vocaverat, exposcit a finibus Anglia propulsari, quia ipsum inimicum suum & Regni Anglia esse veraciter affirmavit: abjacti enim undecunque impudenter omnem quam potuit pecuniam, ut Papæ satisfaceret faceret avaritiæ et Imperialem confunderet dignitatem. Quibus nunciis Rex inito consilio, respondit; quod oportuit ipsum Papalibus et Ecclesiasticis mandatis obedire prout ceteris principibus mundi, præsertim cum Tributarius vel feudarius Papæ esse de jure comprobetur: et sic se excusando, turpiter accusabit; Rex vero, sperans in hoc placere Imperatori, scripsit Papæ supplicans attentius, ut ipse gratia affinitatis mitius ageret cum Imperatore. Quod cum Papa audisset, in iram vehementem resolutus, contumeliosa in hæc verba prorupit: Vere non invenitur in Anglia quis fidelis. Et ab ejus ore verbum rapuit quidam ibidem existens ex parte Regis, dicens: Pater sancte, idcirco non miremini, si Rex Anglia suis Anglicis fidem non perhibeat, sed alienigenis: quia vix est aliquis hodie Anglicus, cui fides debeat perhiberi. Et qui verbum protulit, erat, ut dicitur, Magister Simon Normannus. Pro quibus verbis utrobique prolatis, Magister Robertus de Samreote Cardinalis in iram magnam commotus, & ipsam, ne in jurgia prorumperet, more sapientis compressit. Erat nempe natione Anglicus: & Domino Papæ, qui eum creaverat, in omnibus adversitatibus fideliter adhæsit.

Rex autem cum ad se reversus timuisset, ne sibi aliquid sinistri contingeret, eo quod tam familiarem occultum inimicum Regni, scilicet Legatum, habuisset: ei consuluit in bona fide, ne per moram suam in Anglia Imperialem magnitudinem amplius in iracundiam provocaret, sed festinanter transalpinans, Papæ & sibi consuleret. Cui Legatus ait: Me vocasti a Curia, conductum salvum a te requiro, ut salvus redeam. Imperiales vero Nuncii, de quibus mentionem ante fecimus, cum hæc omnia cognovissent, ad Dominum suum redierunt: omnia quæ viderant & audierant, ut sagaces exploratores, nuntiaturi.

Legatus interea, sui non oblitus, nummos & redditus non segniter sibi rapuit: procurationesque sibi dari compellens, mittebat Episcopis & Archidiaconis districta mandata, circa festum Annuntiationis Beatæ Mariæ, in hæc verba.

Mat. Paris, p. 506.
Legatus sæpe admonitus noluit repatriare.

O T T O, miseratione divina, &c. Discreto viro, illi Episcopo, vel Archidiacono, salutem. Cum necesse habeamus de mandato Summi Pontificis, moram trahere longiorem, nec possumus propriis stipendiis militare: discretionem vestram, qua fungimur auctoritate, mandamus, et quæsumus, ut Procuraciones nobis debitas in Episcopatu vel Archidiaconatu vestro, colligi facias nostro nomine diligenter: eas quam citius poteritis nobis transmissuri, contraditores per censuram Ecclesiasticam compescendo. Provisum quod quælibet procuratio, summam quatuor Marcarum aliquate nus non excedat. Et ubi una Ecclesia non sufficit ad procuracionem hujusmodi habendam, duæ pariter unam solvant Datum Londini, decimo quinto Calend. Martii, Anno Pontificatus Domini Gregorii Papæ decimo tertio.

Litteræ Legati,

Eodem tempore, Dominus Legatus accepit in mandatis Domini Papæ, ut jam excogitato alio argumento pecuniam a fidelibus abraderet; hoc modo: qui per sequens scriptum diligenti lectori satis manifestatur.

Mat. Paris, p. 507.
Romani ut pecuniam emungerent, a voto Crucesignatos absolvunt.

Ille, vel ille Episcopus, dilectis in Christo filiis omnibus Archidiaconis per Diocesim suam constitutis, salutem. Literas Domini Legati suscepimus in hæc verba. Otto, &c. Cum, sicut intelleximus, nonnulli Crucesignati Regni Anglia, qui sunt inhabiles ad pugnandum, ad sedem Apostolicam accedant, ut ibidem a voto crucis absolvi valeant: & nos nuper recepimus a summo Pontifice in mandatis, ut tales non solum absolvere, verum etiam ad redimenda vota sua compellere debeamus: volentes eorum parcere laboribus & expensis, paternitati vestræ qua fungimur auctoritate, mandamus, & quæsumus, ut potestatem prædictam, a Summo Pontifice nobis concessam, faciatis in vestris Diocesibus sine mora qualibet publicari; ut præfati Crucesignati ad nos accedere valeant, beneficium super hoc juxta formam nobis traditam accepturi. Datum Londini, xv. Calend. Martii, Anno Pontificatus Domini Gregorii Papæ decimo tertio.

Imperator Regē
Angliæ, quod permiserit sen-tentiam contra eū in terra sua publicari, et pecuniam colligi.

Temporibus sub eisdem, oculi Regis aperti sunt, & Causis, præcipue Senonensi-bus, terram suam interdixit: qui terram suam mundissimam, iniquis exactionibus palliatæ usuræ macularunt. Ipsi autem moleste ferentes & dolentes tales se pascuas amissuros, data pecunia, quæ nimis solet impios justificare, adhuc pro magna parte latuerunt. Such was the corruption of that age.

Eisdemque temporibus inceperunt ipsi Prædicatores fratres & Minores, & alii viri literati, præcipue Theologi, Crucesignatos absolvere a voto suo, accepta tamen pecunia quanta sufficere videbatur unicuique ad viaticum ultramarinum. Et factum est in populo scandalum cum schismate.
Absurdum enim videbatur etiam simplicibus, quam diversis mulcipulis simplicem Dei populum substantia sua molebatur Romana
Curia privare, nihil petens nisi aurum et argentum. The only God they adored.

Proposuit etiam Dominus Papa eodem tempore, et dignum censuit extorquere quintam partem bonorum, in redditibus ultramarinorum Clericorum beneficiatorum in Anglia ad ingerendum gravamen Imperatori, quem undique pericula inimicorum cingebant, quos Papa per pecuniam, ab Anglia collectam et extorram, sustentabat. Nec desinebat interim omnes absolvere, qui eidem Imperatori fidelitate teneban-tur: et induratum est odium horribile, diatim suscipiens incrementum. Dicebant etiam Regi sui fideles: Domine, Princeps nominatissime, quare permittis Angliam fieri in prædam et desolationem transeuntium, quasi vineam sine maceria omni communem via-tori, ab apertis exterminandam: cum habeas efficacis privilegium, ut non fiant tales in Regno isto exactiones: nec sit dignus privilegio, qui eo concessio abutatur? Quibustalia persuadentibus ait, Nec volo, nec audeo Domino Papæ in aliquibus contradicere. (Such was his pusila-nimity.) Et facta est in populis desperatio nimis deploranda.

Episcopi, & majores Abbates, & quidam Magnates Regni, Papale mandatum a Domino Legato explicandum, audituri. Quo cum pervenissent, Legatus facto prolixo sermone, ut sibi corda audientium inclinaret, tandem varias pressuras, quas pro justitia Ecclesiæ sustinuit Dominus Papa, sustinendo insultus Frederici dicti Imperato-ris omnibus præfecit. Erigebat igitur instanter ex parte ipsius Papæ, quintam partem bonorum suorum: quibus suffultus, injurias tam validi inimici valeret propulsare. Cui inuito consilio, responderunt Episcopi, Quod nullo modo tam importabile onus, quod universalem tangebatur Ecclesiam, subirent, sine prolixi consilii diligenti deliberatione.
Et idcirco datus est illis dies remotior super hoc magno mandato deliberationis.

Comes vero Richardus, & alii Magnates Crucesignati, ibidem existentes, illis omnibus, qui ibidem congregati fuerant, valedicebant; quia parati fuerant iter Hiero-solytanum arripere. Quod cum vidissent omnes Prælati, in lachrymas resoluti, dixerunt Comiti Richardo: Cur nos Comites, spes post Regem unica, deseris? aut cui nos desolatos relinquis? Invadent nos in absentia tua alienigenæ rapaces. Comes vero uni pro omnibus, scilicet Archiepiscopo Cantuariensi, flebiliter respondit: Patet mihi & Domine, certe etsi non essem Crucesignatus, abirem tamen, & absentem me, ne viderem mala gentis nostræ, et Regni desolationem, quam credo posse, cum non possim, impedire.

The Popes Legate excommunicating the Emperor, and indefatigably collecting, extorting monies throughout England, and the Kings Dominions, to carry on his Wars against the Emperor, he thereupon sent a just reprehensive Letter to the King his Brother-in-Law, thus related.

Eodem tempore, significavit Dominus Imperator Regi Anglia, quod mirabatur supra modum, quod tam inconsulte Thesaurum suum, in detrimentum suum, alieni-genis distribuisset, scribens ei in hæc verba.

FREDERICUS Dei gratia Romanorum Imperator, semper Augustus; Hierusalem & Sicilia Rex, illustri Regi Anglorum, salutem & sinceram dilectionis affectum. Cum inter Reges orbis & Principes affinitas interdum & Matrimonium contrahitur, tanto magis inter eos affectio debet vel unio potius suboriri, quanto majores aliis, & in altioribus positi speculis dignitatum, virtutum inferioribus debent exempla porrigere: quantoque per unanimes voluntates ipsorum pax & concordia firmior crescit in populis, honores servantur in alterutrum in suorumque roborantur in posterum jura Regnorum. Et cum hujus fructum ex affinitate nostra, nobis & vobis crediderimus hactenus proventurum (praesertim cum obligationem cognationis nostrae firmaverint sacra sequentium pignora filiorum) totum intentioni nostrae contrarium, quod dolentes & inviti referimus, experimur. Dum praeter id quod illam nobis per Romanum Pontificem manifestam injuriam, quam nobis praeter ceteris terrarum Principibus prorsus intolerabilem credebamus, conpiventibus oculis pertransisse, iniquam ipsius contra nos et plenam odio carnali sententiam permittendo, vobis audientibus et scientibus, non sine multa nostri injuria, et Imperii verecundia et jactura, per Regnum vestrum undique publicari, nunc, prout certo comperimus; eidem Capitali insimulatio nostro fatuae obediendo, honorem nostrum et sanguinem sitientis, de Ecclesiis Regni vestri ac praedecessorum vestrorum, quos reputari nostros nostra compellit affinitas, pia largitione ditatis, ad impugnationem nostram pecuniaria finitis subsidia, tallias, et collectas ministrari. Attendat igitur industria Regia, callidis non circumventa consiliis, si vos deceat et vobis expediat sororium & fratrem, aut saltem amicum, seu postremo quenquam Regem, aut Principem, cui non indixeritis praelium, sicut est Regni juris et moris, pecuniae vestrae viribus impugnari. Et quid refert auro et argento, vel armis, per vos, vel patientibus vobis, hostis nostri subsidia muniantur? Praesertim cum ab experto sciamus, quod majoris auxilii manum contra nos, Papae porrigere non possitis, quam si de Regno vestro permittatis pecuniam ministrari, de qua Mediolanensibus & aliis proditoribus nostris stipendiarios milites pollicetur; per quam devotos & fideles nostros a fidelitate nostra seducere nititur; adeoque quod aliquorum debiliorem fidem, in evidentem infamiam; & non minus in perpetuum eorum exitium, est hujus pretii venalitate mercatus. Pro Deo, frater charissime, non primum istud a vobis incipiat, vel contra nos saltem, quod gratis Reges a Regibus impugnentur: nec sic cervicem Regiam Papalis Domini jugum premat, ut in offensam Evangelici dogmatis et naturae, proximum, sororium, et amicum, imo se fratrem, vos in tantum delectet offendere: maxime cum in instanti negotio non magis nostra, quam vestra, et aliorum Regum et Principum, si sane diligenterque attenderitis, per consequens res agatur. Quocirca serenitatem Regiam praesentium tenore affectuose requirimus ac rogamus, quatenus industriam ac potentiam vestram talibus, ex quibus tantum obstaculum formidamus, sicut amorem & honorem nostrum diligitis, tam strenue quam viriliter opponatis; non permittentes de redditibus, talliis, collectis, aut aliquibus aliis obventionibus Regni vestri, pecuniam aliquam ad Romanam Curiam deportari. Nec istud vos decet aut expedit conniventia qualibet aut dissimulatione pertransire; sicut vos non velletis, quod contra vos a nobis & nostris qualiacunque petita vel petenda suffragia daremus aliquibus, vel modo quolibet dari pateremur. Alioqui, ne, dum simili, sed justiori, per vos instruamur exemplo, & iis, qui vobis attingent, & quibus vinculo veteris dilectionis astringimur, hucusque negata, contra vos & Regnum vestrum, largiremur; dum vos Papa in prosecutione justitiae nostrae favorabiles invenerit, qui vobis in nullo penitus attinget, nisi quod gloriatur, quod non sine multa verecundia dicimus, in vobis habere dominii ligi potestatem. Super praemissis autem singulis, & super aliis omnibus servitiis nostris in ipsis partibus procurandis, ecce mittimus vobis H. Chabot, militem & fidelem nostrum, latorem praesentium: dilectionem vestram rogantes attentius, quatenus ea quae vobis ex parte nostra dixerit, sicut personae nostrae indubitanter, dilectio vestra credat, & adimpleat cum effectu: ac per ipsum præcise ac determinate respondeat, quicquid de prædictis omnibus providerit & ordinaverit faciendum. Volumus enim in instantibus negotiis esse certi, a quibus debeamus expectare consilium, & a quibus sit cavendum.

Et quia verbum Domini Imperatoris positum fuit in ore ipsius Nuncii, dicti H. Chalbat, in magna parte mutilata est præsens amicabile Epistola, & multa sunt taciturnitate prætermissa. Rex vero respondit rescribendo, quod voluntati Papæ non est ausus contradicere: sed mirabatur supra modum, quod soror sua Imperatrix non adhuc coronam in locis & Civitatibus solennibus, in Imperio magnifice portavit.

Imperator ap-propinquans
capit Civitates.

The Emperor this year to curb the Pope, and put a period to his vexations: Captis treugis cum Mediolanensibus & Bononiensibus, vel quali quali pace ad modicum suspensiva: Dominus Imperator partes Urbi vicinas copioso stipatus exercitu consultius peragravit, & Urbes & oppida suo dominio mancipavit: exemplum a Viterbio Civibus & oppidanis capientibus. Unde Papa suæ causæ diffidens, in abyssum desperationis est demersus: & relinquerunt eum recedentes ab eo multi Cardinalium, ut vix eum, quem suo solo impetu videbant plus efferrî, quam fræno regi rationis & consilii, aliquis, præter Magistrum Ribertum de Sumercote, qui eum non potuit præ verecundia dimittere, quia ipsum creaverat, amplius sequeretur.

Hereupon the Pope, to divert the Emperor from Rome, stirred up the Earl of Flanders to War upon the Emperor, and to invade his Territories and Friends; and procured the Earl of Province, and King of France to War upon the Earl of Tholouse, filling Christendom with bloody Wars: by means whereof the Christians, destitute of relief, were routed and miserably oppressed by the Saracens in the Holy Land: Upon which the Emperor, condoling their misfortune, sent a Letter to King Henry the 3d. wherein he manifested the Popes indiscretion, and quarrels with him, detaining him from that expedition, to be the chief cause of their misfortune.

In this Letter he recited, That præsens Romanus Pontifex, nostri sermonis & operis malignus interpres, quasi discrimen nostræ religionis & Catholicæ fidei in dilatione commodi temporis ageretur, crebris monitis, mandatis & minis Crucesignatos ad transitum cœpit impellere: alligans aliis, juxta sacræ scripturæ verbum, onera gravia, quæ digito suo movere recusat. Quod cum ad nostram notitiam pervenisset, eundem Antistitem multoties iterata prece rogavimus, ne tantum opus, quod deliberationem consilii, opportunitatem temporis, & grandem apparatus rerum & hominum exigebat, volubilitati & præcipitio fortunæ committeret: nec servitium Jesu Christi, & Terræ Sanctæ subsidium, quod nostrum & tantorum animos virorum accenderat, improvida celeritate confunderet, &c. Sed iste Romanus Antistes, hæc omnia parvi pendens, ut in odium nostrum universa cogeret ad ruinam, Crucesignatis acrius institit, ut transirent; non attendentes, quod Christianorum reliquiæ de partibus transmarinis, quæ cum hostibus salutiferæ Crucis treugarum nostrarum fœdere quiescebant, ex motu Crucesignatorum violato fœdere, poterant gladii periculis & famis exponi, cum non posset eis de subventionem sceleri subveniri ac provideri. Tandem, intellecto quod idem Papa Crucesignatis eisdem de transitu Literas terribiliter iteraret, scripsimus eis ut per Regnum nostrum ad transitum properarent: & quod parati eramus quibuscunque possemus eis hilari munificentia subvenire, &c.

torum corda sibi reconciliat, et Concilium generale convo-catur.

His auditis, Dominus Imperator multorum corda sibi conciliavit; & cœperunt multi stare cum eo, qui in amore & reverentia ejus prius vacillabant. Romanorum etiam populus, spretis promissionibus Papalibus, Imperiali celsitudini cœpit firmiter adherere. Senatores quoque cum Magnatibus Urbis, præclaris sanguine, ipsi Imperatori dextras dederunt. Creatus enim erat unus Senator Romæ auctoritate Imperiali, anno tertio præcedenti. Unde ex tunc congregati sunt Cardinales, dicentes, quod noluerunt Papales impetus in periculum totius Christianitatis amplius tolerare. Igitur significaverunt Cardinales, inito proximiori Concilio, Domino etiam Imperatore consentiente et petente; quod juxta petitionem suam bene volebant, ut convocaretur Concilium generale, sub quanta posset competenter celeritate, & rite celebrandum. Præfixus est igitur dies Concilii, proximo advenientis die Paschæ: ut ea die cum resurgente Domino, resurgens Ecclesia valeat foeliciter respirare.

In

In fine vero ætatis, comperiens Legatus Papam cum Imperatore treugas usque ad Concilium in proximo Pascha celebrandum accepisse, iratus valde, significavit eadem, quod effœminatus animo, & pusillanimitas frangebatur, mersus in desperationem. Et immerito, cum in sola Francia jam collectam adunaverat in auxilium suum pecuniam, unde per annum integrum bellum confertum contra Imperatorem valeret indubitanter intrepidus continuare. Unde Papa hæc audiens, pœnitens & dolens quod treugas acceperat, vocavit Magistrum Johannem de Collumpna, & Dominum Reimundum, excellentes Cardinales, dictarum treugarum mediatores, & adversus Imperatorem intercessores. Et dixit Johanni: Confundor in memetipso quod treugas concessi inimico Ecclesiæ Frederico. Vade igitur tu, qui interpret es fuisse super hoc inter nos, festinus ad ipsum, ipsas me nolle acceptare denunciare, me illi inimicum fore ex hoc nunc & antea, sub diffiduatione audacter attestando: (A Message more becoming the Devils Vicar general, then Christs, the Prince of Peace.) Cui Johannes: Ablic Domine hæc levitas verborum in ore tanti viri, ad tantum Principem destinanda; præcipue per nos, qui non vulgares reputamur: huic enim consilio instabilitatis ac infidelitatis nequaquam consentio, sed constanter contradico. Cui Papa: Nec ego de cætero te habeo pro Cardinali. Et ait ei Johannes: Nec ego te pro Papa. Et sic recessit, de amico factus adversarius. Juxta illud: Quidam Imperator injuriosus dixit in ira & superbia cuidam suo Senatori: Recede, non te amplius pro Senatore habeo. Cui Senator intrepidus: Nec ego te pro Imperatore. Sicut subditus Domino, ita Dominus subdito tenetur.

Mat. Paris, p. 522, 523. Papa conatur a treugis cum Imperatore factis resilire.

Quod cum Regi Francorum innotuisset, præcepit pecuniam totam, quam in terra sua mellitis fermocinationibus & fellitis comminationibus ab universitate Cleri, Rege permittente, messuerat, ab eodem Legato extortam, in terra sua, donec rei exitum videret, reservari, ut sic saltem, etsi invitus, Papa fidelis, qui vicarius Christi in terris nuncupatur, inveniretur. Et sic durabant treugæ adhuc inter eos inviolatæ, exceptis tamen Imperialibus inimicis, scilicet Mediolanensibus, & quibusdam aliis Italicis, de quibus non pertinebat ad Papam sollicitari, sicut fuit ab initio in treugarum compositione primitiva.

The Pope being thus disappointed of his rapines in France, to carry on his Wars, contrived to make up his prey in England by this politick stratagem.

Papa vero de pecunia congreganda vigil contemplator, ab Anglia prædam desideratam expectans, significavit Legato, ut non sicut prius omnem simul Clerum convenire attemptet, ne forte audaciam alterutrum accipientes, pristinis rationibus & exceptionibus fulciantur contradicentes: imo potius singulatim quemlibet eorum conveniendo flectere conetur. Prius tamen omnibus modis constantia Regis enervata, ut qui cum Clero ante stetit, & ei dederat cornua, effœminatus fiat ei ad ruinam.

Callida Papæ exactio pecuniarum in Anglia.

Hæc cum intellexisset Legatus, de docto factus doctior ad nocendum, Clerum Anglia universatim Londinum, Authoritate Papæ, coram eo in festo omnium Sanctorum, convocavit. Ubi Clerus congregatus simul cum religiosis, Regem invenerunt adversantem eis, quasi inimicum manifestum: & factus est illis baculus harundineus, in quo sulti confidenter vulnerantur per fragmenta. Videntes igitur tam Religiosi quam Archidiaconi & Clerici beneficiati, qui ad contradicendum Legato in faciem, & ad instans Concilium appellandum proprio spiritu erecti animabantur, quod facti sunt velut oves traditæ rictibus Luporum cruentatis, mellitis & super oleum mollitis Legati seductionibus, quas postea in jacula convertit, consenserunt.

Legati diligentia in pecuniis colligendis.

The Emperour informed of the Popes designs against him, to break off the Truce, raise monies to make Wars against him, and the ill consequences that might arise if the General Council should assemble at the time appointed, sent Letters to the King of England and others, prohibiting the repair of any Bishops to this Council, rendering substantial reasons for it, expressed in the Letter and other writings, in pursuance thereof: Sub eisdem etiam diebus curientis scripsit Dominus Imperator Regi Anglorum in hæc verba.

Imperator Regi, salutem. Qualiter ad multam instantiam Lombardorum Romana sedis Antistes contra nos inconsulto calore processerit, satis vos publica fama perdocuit. Qualiter etiam prius quam contra nos, religionis debito & Pontificatus gravitate depositis, hostiliter arma capiens, se Ducem & Principem nostrorum rebellium

Mat. Paris, p. 524, 525, 526. Epistola Imperatoris ad Regem Anglia.

lium stabiliret, nos universale Concilium, & specialiter Nunciorum vestrorum præsentiam petissemus, serenitatem Regiam credimus non latere. Demum, notitiam vestram non latuit, qualiter ad quorundam ex fratribus ejus instantiam, qui pro reparatione tanti discriminis remedia cogitabant, præter omnium requirentium spem, nostra magnificentia condescendit, ut Lombardis prorsus exclusis, permitteremus eundem ab insuetis infestationibus Sacerdotum per temporale treugarum subsidium respirare, utpote qui libenter pro sedatione scandali generalis, & Terra Sancta subsidio procurando, reperiri modos & vias patiebamur ad pacem. Sed ipse Lombardos eosdem, quibus confederatus fuerat, a treugarum nostrarum federe non est passus excludi, totius orbis dissidio Mediolanensium ac ipsorum sequacium suffragia præstendo. Cui cum aliquatenus assentire nollemus, ut læsæ Majestatis nostræ reos sub prædictarum treugarum involucro pateremur involvi, vel ipsos ullo modo Papæ præsidio communiri, tandem postquam vidit eosdem rebelles nostros propria virtute deficere, nec ipsis posse temporalia remedia saltem quiete asserre, ad artes alias postmodum se convertit, satagens nos per venerabilem Brixensem Episcopum, ad nostram præsentiam accedentem, inducere, ut cum pro reformatione pacis inter nos & Ecclesiam, ut dicebat, quamplurium Regum Nuncios ac nonnullos de Occidentalibus partibus Principes & Prælatos ad Synodum intenderet convocare, Lombardos prædictos excellentiæ nostræ inimicos, in treugis cum ipso usque in proximum festum resurrectionis Dominicæ contrahendis, comprehendere deberemus, causam fingens, ut ex universilibus treugis, vocatis ad Synodum securitas largior præberetur. Audite mirabilem circumventionis modum, ad depressionem nostræ justitiæ excogitatum, dum pacem nobiscum habere velle se simulat, ut Lombardos, ad tempus per treugarum suffragia respirantes, contra nos fortius postmodum in rebellionem confirmet, utque contra nos ad discordiam se medio tempore pervenientium Prælatorum ad vocationem suam subsidia licentius præparet, speciem nobis concordia pollicetur. Et ut evidenter ad oculum videatis, quod pro discordia potius Concilium advocet, quam pro pace, formam hujusmodi advocacy attendite. In qua nihil omnino de futuræ pacis tractatu describitur, nisi pro magnis & arduis Ecclesiæ Romana negotiis vocationum præsentiam asserat opportunam. Tempus inspicite, dum Legatum nobis ante Concilium, postquam nos & aggressus hostiliter, nititur convocare. Considerate personas, dum spretis magnificentiæ vestræ Nuncios, per quos sibi tractatum pacis hujusmodi frequentius obtulistis, nunc Provincia Comitum, manifestum excellentiæ nostræ rebellem, Ducem Ventorum, Marchionem Offensem, Comitum S. Bonifacii, Albericum de Romandiola, Blackinum, Guglinum de Camino, & Paulum Traversanum, cum quibus in malum nostrum, data eis pecunia, prout est publica voce notorium, conjuravit, vocat expressis nominibus ad Synodum supradictam. Veruntamen ob reverentiam summi Regis, sic nominato Episcopo duximus respondendum, quod nos cum sacrosancta Romana Ecclesia matre nostra discordiam non habemus aliquam, sed ab hujusmodi Romani Pontificis impetu justitiam Imperii nostri defendimus, & injuriam propulsamus. Nihilominus tamen, cum ipso semper pacem habere optavimus & optamus, per quod generale mundi dissidium evitemus. Et ut tractatus pacis a remotioribus partibus non quæratur, per eundem Episcopum ac alios bonos viros, justitiæ nostræ conscios, & communis concordia zelatores, ad præsentem tractatum pacis, ut mala de medio citius auferantur, obtulimus nos paratos, treugas etiam, licet nobis tanquam ad belli præsidia munitis infestas, inire concessimus eum eodem; sperantes per eos, velut per quandam salutiferam scalam, posse facilius ad excelsa palatia pacis ascendi. Lombardos tamen excellentiæ nostræ rebelles, a nexu treugarum hujusmodi, sicut semper exclusimus, sicin perpetuum excludemus, nec inter nos & eum, præsentem discrimine, vocari Concilium per eundem, velut hostem publicum Imperii, permittimus: Præsertim cum nobis, Imperio, et omnibus terrarum primatibus indecentissimum iudicemus, honorem nostrum causam suspecto foro subicere, vel iudicio Synodali: Sed omnibus ad Concilium ipsum convocatis, per terram nostræ ditioni subjectam, in personis & rebus securitatem denegamus. Quamobrem serenitatem Regiam præsentibus exhortamur, quatenus per Prælatos omnes & singulos Regni vestri, edicti Regii vulgato programme divulgetis; ut nullus sub securitatis nostræ fiducia ad Synodum ipsam accedat. Nos enim quantumcunque Regni vestri fidelibus, ob amorem præcipuum quem erga vos gerimus, libentissime deferamus; præsumptuosam tamen audaciam eorum, qui ad inimici nostri vocationem accederent, nos non deceret ullatenus æquanimiter tolerare. Datum in Castris, in obsidione obsidione Faventia, xiiij. die Septembris, xiiij. Indict. A clear evidence of the Emperors Prerogative, to prohibit, as well as to summon Councils, when called to his prejudice, to prevent the Popes designs against him.

Subscriptis igitur & quibusdam aliis causis rationabilibus, Dominus Imperator turbatus, & timens sibi laqueos preparari in Concilio celebrando, cepit illud impedire, his admonitus causis pro parte prælibatis. Primo, igitur Dominus Imperator tempus reprehendit inopportunitatem, & nimis festinum, ad quod nunquam consensit præhendendum. Item, quod licet præloquutum fuit, & tam Papali quam Imperiali assensu determinatum, non vocat Dominus Papa vocandos ad Concilium, cum utriusque causa sit in ipso specialiter pertractanda. Item, cum pro pace, reformanda inter eos & confirmanda vocandum fuit Concilium, & non ob aliud, in scripto vocationis suæ non facit super hoc Dominus Papa mentionem nisi tantum sic exprimens, pro arduis Ecclesiæ negotiis, suppresso penitus pro qua causa vocari Concilium debuit principaliter, & sic obviat Papa promissis utrobique formatis & firmatis. Item, dicit Dominus Imperator, quod Dominus Papa ad Concilium publicos hostes, & manifestos Imperii vocavit, (quorum nomina Dominus Imperator in sua epistola exprimit,) & eosdem Imperialibus corruptis muneribus, ut vertantur in Arcum prævum, ut traditorum nominibus in perpetuum probosc cum suis generationibus deturpentur, quibus non sunt tam ardua status Imperialis committenda. Item, dicit Imperator: Otto Cardinalis, Legatus in Anglia, & Rex Angliæ, omnem fere thesaurum illius regionis, ad meam dejectionem anhelantes, erpulerunt: & nos, non sine Imperii magna verecundia, & tam nostræ sugillatione, in regno Angliæ anathematis vinculis innodari fecerunt. Quapropter ipsos, & omnes Angliæ Prælatos, nostros inimicos merito debemus reputare, qui pecuniam suam in nostrum gravamen effundentes, honorem nostrum pro posse suffocant; nec movit eos, quod nunquam eis nocens affinitatis scedere Anglorum Regi conjungor sociatus. Ipsorum igitur examen subire mihi foret absurdum, & penitus dissonum rationi. Item, dicit Dominus Imperator, quod per treugarum acceptarum moram, nobis suspectam, imo dispendiosam, & dum Concilij tractarentur negotia (quæ finem forte non poterunt fortiri repentinum) inimici nostri poterunt respirare, & ad gravamen Imperii, assensu & fomento Papæ, quorum se constituit principem defensorem, & pro ipsis bellatorem, surgere fortiores. Item, dicit Dominus Imperator, quod Dominus Papa maximam quantitatem pecuniæ expectat extorquendam a Prælatibus Francia, & præcipue Angliæ, quam promissit hostibus Imperii se daturum: unde sumunt Papa & ipsi spem & cornua, quæ merito sibi imminet formidanda. Sumpsit enim hæc consuetudo ab prædecessore suo Innocentio, in ultimo Concilio exordium detestandum; ut celebrato Concilio non detur Prælatibus recedendi licentia, donec Papa singulatim a singulis pecuniam extorserit, non habito respectu ad labores & viatica Prælatorum, in itineribus vexatorum. Item, dicit Imperator: quod omnes Prælati, præcipue Angliæ, imo etiam Rex Anglorum, tenentur Papæ per suam professionem et juramentum, tanquam Domino sententialiter non obligati, et Imperatori vel Imperio: Unde judicat Imperator, eorum arbitrium merito ipsi fore nimis suspectum, et ratione formidandum, præsertim cum Papa ejus dignoscatur esse inimicus præcipuus et capitalis, membra tracturus ad consendum. Studet etiam et omnem effundit peritiam et industriam, ut ipsum confundat Imperium cum Imperatore. Sed secundum illud Ovidianum.

Causæ quibus Imperator motus Concilium vult impedire.

Hic parat insidias, hic sibi præstat opem.*

Cum igitur hæc, & alia populo incognita, subtili rationis trutina libraret Dominus Imperator, sciens multos callere in ipsius nocumentum, cepit per præscriptam Epistolam vocatos & venientes ad Concilium, de imminentibus sibi periculis, scilicet, quod noluit eos defendere perditionem suam facientes transitum, civiliter præmunire.

Moreover, the Emperor soon after proceeded to obstruct and prohibit the meeting of this Concil, thus related.

Anno 1247.
Mar. Par. Hist.
Angl. p. 534.
335.
Imperator prohibet Prælatos ad Concilium convenire.

Circa eorundem temporum curricula, Dominus Imperator satis subtiliter considerans, quod si Concilium generale celebraretur, cui præsidere habuit ejusdem Capitalis adversarius, scilicet Dominus Papa, & cui obedire habebant omnes Prælati assessores quasi membra suo Capiti, ad se reversus cepit vehementer sibi formidare, & sibi præcavens, ait Optimatibus suis, Angustor undique, & Circumventus oppressuris variis torqueor, Imperio periculis jam imminentibus. Quia sicut jam paratum est, si Concilium generale convocetur celebrandum, præsentem inimico meo Capitali, cui non audebunt contradicere præsentem Prælati sibi subjecti, mecum Imperio irrestaurabiliter condemnabit. Est enim Papa meus insatiabilis inimicus & adversarius manifestus, potens quemcunque eorum suæ voluntati obvium a gradu suæ dignitatis deponere, imo & depositum anathematis vinculis innodare, & in deterioris pænæ confusionem præcipitare: longe aliter periclitatur causa nostra et Imperii Conditor, nec non et omnium Principum, quam solus amplector contuendam. Reges orbis et Principes, quorum etiam causam, eorum factus Syndicus, foveo, ad meam non venient vocationem vel mihi obedirent, nec mihi subiciuntur, ut possem eos cogere vel punire contumaces. Ipsorum igitur adminiculo destitutus & præsentia, dubio foro committam Imperialis culminis causam dignissimam, & Inimici ejus Judices erunt? Absit hoc me supersilite. Quibus rationibus ac persuasionibus consentientes Magnates sui providebant, quod licet in sui honoris præjudicium redundare videretur, ut mutaretur antecessens Concilium, tamen propter imminens periculum jam declaratum Concilium quod prius concesserat, impediretur. Ipsos igitur Prælatos cepit Imperator efficaciter Literis suis commonere, ut ad Concilium generale celebrandum, juxta Papalem advocacy, venire nequaquam festinarent! Ex tunc igitur Prælatos, qui per terram Romanam Curiam adierunt, tam in personis, quam eorum procuratoribus impedire, & suis renuentes persuasionibus obtemperare, hostiliter impugnare, capere, incarcerare, & torquere nec non & plures morte plerere detestanda, non cessabat Imperator. Quod cum audiret Dominus Papa, in eundem multiplicavit maledictiones & convicia, congeffit excommunicationes, sententias innovavit. Arrestabantur igitur hinc inde Legati, quos in virtute obedientiæ præceperat Papa, omnium pater Spiritualium, ad instans Dominicæ Resurrectionis Festum Paschale ac Concilium quod salubriter præparaverat, ac procuraverat convenire: inde repagulum contradictionis, & Impedimentum Imperialis sententiæ formidabant. Hinc Scilla, inde Charibdis voraginis periculum minabatur. Vacillantium igitur corda Prælatorum, etiam singulorum, Dominus Papa solummodo tenore Epistolæ suæ sub hac forma exiliter consolabatur, hoc modo:

Nos enim super omnibus, quę ad tantum negotium expediunt, annuente Domino, providere curabimus, prout tibi ex parte nostra plenius exponetur. Datum Lutram, Idibus Octobris, Pontificatus nostri anno decimo quarto.

Facti igitur aequanimiores Prælati, ad iter inchoatum præparaverunt imperterriti, sperantes indubitanter, quod Dominus Papa; Deo favente, saltem per mare vias sibi securissimas, præparasset: Anglici tamen, Francorum consilio adquiescentes, obiterque ad loca tutiora se transferentes, utpote Normicenses, & quidam alii, rei exitum sub silentio cautius explorarunt.

During the Wars, and these contests between the Emperor, Pope and Bishops about this Council, the Tartars encouraged by the Christians differences, invaded Hungary with a great Army: Pro qua immani tribulatione, & Ecclesię damnoſa, quę inter Dominum Papam & Dominum Imperatorem orta est discordia, indicuntur jejunia & orationes, cum elemosynis largioribus diversis Regionibus; The Emperour by his Letters to the King of England, and other Christian Princes, signified the great danger all Christendome and Christian Religion were in, by the Tartars invasions, occasioned by the Popes implacable malice in stirring up his subjects to rebel against him, and protecting, encouraging, assisting, them in their rebellions, whereby he was much disabled, to resist and fight the Tartars: Adding, Cum voluntas (Papę) pro jure fuerit, linguę lubricum discursum non regenti, & à multiplici genere dissidii, quod attemptavit, non dedignatus est abstinere, per legatos & nuntios suos, crucem quam adversus tyrannidem Tartarorum vel Saracenorum, terram sanctam invadentium & occupantium, exercuisse debuit & decebat, jussit contra me (brachium, & Ecclesię advocatum) publicari, rebellibus nostris, graviter contra honorem nostrum & famam exultando conspirantibus. Et cum maxima nobis immineat cura, nos a domesticis & familiaribus hostibus expedire, qualiter & barbaros expellemus? And in his letters to the King of France, he added this Clause: ait enim, commovit vehementius, Reipublicę sedulus Procurator. Admiramur super Francorum prudentia, quod non subtilius ceteris Papales astutias consideratis, vel non attenditis cupiditates. Proponit enim ambitio ipsius insatiabilis omnia fidelium Regna suo subicere dominatui, ab Anglozum concutata Corona sumens exemplariter consequentiam, et ut culmen Imperii suis inclinet nutibus, ausa est præsumptuoso conatu, et ausu temerario, proterbius insidiare.

This Antichristian Pope notwithstanding the apparent danger to all Christian Princes by the Tartars invasion, and these Letters of the Emperor, proceeded impetuously in his designs against him, convening a Council to depose him notwithstanding the Emperors prohibitions, but with very ill successe to his Legates and Prelates.

Dierum ipsorum curriculo, infausto casu, dominus Prencipinus, nomine Jacobus, quandoque Legatus in Francia, & dominus Otto Cardinalis in carcere Tulliano Diaconus, aliquando Legatus in Dacia, & postea in Anglia, & Gregorius de Romagna, tunc ad Jannenses Legatus missus, ut sibi omnes obedientes ab omnibus peccatis

* So they did who obeyed the Emperor rather than the Pope, Rom. 13. 1. to 8. Tit. 3. 1.

peccatis suis absolveret, apud Jannam commorabantur, de classe sibi providentes. Erant autem cum ipsis Archiepiscopi, Episcopi, Abbates quamplurimi, qui cum timerent minas Imperatoris si transfretarent, trequenter Epistolas & nuncios à Domino Papa receperunt consolatorias & admonitorias, ut non omitterent navigando ad Concilium properare, imo potius spretis secularibus comminationibus, Patri spirituali promptius obedirent. Facta autem fuit conventio inter eos & Jannenses, mediante non minima pecunia, ut ipsi Jannenses omnes tam Legatos quam Prælatos, cum sua sequela, indemnes et ilælos, etiam invito Imperatore, ad Romanam Curiam salvo perducerent. Et dum super his tractatum haberent diligentem & prolixum, fluctuantibus aliquibus, quid tutius, quid consultius foret agendum, significavit Dominus Papa, quod in brachio seculari auxilium efficax tam validum obviam per mare, ad ipsorum ducatum & protectionem, ipsis exeuntibus de portu, indubitanter in navali expeditione transmitteret, quod nullo modo valerent resistere manus adversantium, nec etiam ipse Imperator, quem Dominus Papa Sathanæ dederat in perditionem, utpote anathemate multiplici innodatum. Quo mandato nimis eos paterna consolatio animabit, imo adeo ut cujuslibet periculi discrimen, vel mortem amplecterentur. (But how vain and destructive this their groundlesse confidence and obedience to the Pope, proved, the sequel will demonstrate.)

Imperator petit a Prælati ut per terram ad Concilium pro-ficiscantur.

Cum autem hæc prædicta Imperatori innotuissent, intellexit evidenter, quod Dominus Papa ad defectionem ipsius sitienter anhelebat, & ad hoc tam districte Prælatos advocabat, in nullo voluntati ejus contradicuros, coepit formidare sibi vehementer, & desiderabat, ut per ipsam itinerantes, per terram venirent, ut plenius de jure, de quo confidebat, instruerentur, ne falsis suggestionibus circumvenirentur, nec aliquo modo sine tali certificatione ad Romanam curiam subito navigando transmearent. Missis igitur Legatis solennibus ad ipsos jam navigare præparatos, significavit eis modeste & humiliter, ut pacifice & omni securitate per omnes terras suæ ditioni subjectas, dummodo non per mare vel maritima, transmigrarent; scirentque certissime, quod nullus suorum ipsos offenderet itinerantes. Et si forte non crederent Imperialibus promissis, providerent sibi formam securitatis, & se eandem formam sequuturum per omnia secundum eorum dispositionem, indubitanter promittebat. Imo etiam causam suam, postquam ipsis viva voce penitus explicasset, & per omnia ipsos ad unguem instruxisset, fideliter ac fiducialiter committeret, toti Concilio judicialiter examinandam, & sententialiter determinandam, discretumque examen tot & tantorum patrum sanctorum se spondit subiturum. Et sic ipsos fore procuratores, advocatos & judices omni qua potuit instantia postulavit, persuadendo, imperando, supplicando, secundum illud Poeticum:

Conquestus est insuper graviter de impetu Papalis persecutionis indefesso, ita ut audientes fere ad lachrymas provocavit & commovit, asserens, quod Dominus Papa ipsum, nec confictum, nec confessum, pro iniquissimo hæretico, et fidei Christianæ valido ac manifesto impugnatoze fecit haberi, et multis regionibus excommunicari, et quam graviter scilicet ac potuit scandalisavit, nomenque et famam, quo nihil est damnosius, irreparabiliter denigravit, et ad defectionem ipsius nifubustoris anhelebat. Et nuper cum complacuerat & convenerat mex parti ac suæ communiter, Concilium convocari, in quo præsto parabamus causas hinc inde propalare, judicium commune subituri, ipse Papa perperam formam convocationis præloquutæ alteravit, publicos inimicos Imperii, ac Laicos & seculares personas convocando, potius ad prælia quam pacem præparatos, secundum tenorem Epistolæ Regi Angliæ, & aliis Principibus transmissæ: in qua retiacula abscondita & muscipulas Papalis astutiæ certius detunicavi. In qua etiam Epistola præmunivi eosdem, ne prælatos suos per meam sinerent ditionem transmeare, sicut se suaque diligebant. Addiditque Imperator, sicut alias & in dicta Epistola mandaverat, quod periculosum foret & rationi dissonum penitus, Domino Papæ manifesto adversario,

Summopere igitur desideravit Imperator, ut per eum in pace venirent Prælati; de causa sua plenius instruendi, ut de omnibus occultis circumstantiis eos certificaret. Ipse enim nullo modo ad ipsos Prælatos personaliter poterat accedere, tum pro carentia thesauri, quem effuderat in diuturna obsidione Faventia, & aliis variis negotiis, quorum maximum de exercitu filii sui contra Tartaros, & aliis, quæ oportuit cautius continuare, tum propter Jannenses sibi rebelles, quibus noluit nisi in forti manu appropinquare.

Prælati vero, Legatorum animati promissionibus et Papalibus crebro missis Epistolis consolatorijs, in quibus se promittit per mare obviam mittere juvamen festinum & efficax, noluerunt quomodolibet a proposito suo resilire. Dicebant etenim, Non est fides, adhibenda cavillatorijs dictis excommunicati. Contemptis igitur Imperatoris consiliis & petitionibus, Prælati confidentes in multitudine Jannensium, qui in navali certamine expediti, minas & vires Imperiales contempserunt, naves ascenderunt, præambulis Jannensibus, qui multiplicabant loqui sublimia, asserentes vires adversantium nullatenus sibi formidabiles, metuculosos & pusillanimes Prælatos & litteratos appellantes, & erat superbia eorum major quam potestas. Galeis igitur dispositis & ordinatis cum navibus, versus Orientem in clamore tumultuoso nautarum, & clangore buccinarum mare Tyrrhenum sulcaverunt.

Legati nolunt per terram ad Concilium proficisci.

Quod cum Domino Imperatori significaretur, doluit se contemptum, & sua monita cum precibus aspernari. Misit igitur ad Henricum filium suum, quem de consuetudine appellat naturalem, cui commiserat mare, & maritima custodienda cum navali exercitu ad impediendum transitum Prælatorum, ut ipsos jam navigantes capere non formidet, vel submergat, vel trucidet, (as they well deserved for their pride, contumacy, rebellion and Treachery)

Dictus igitur Henricus, paternis præceptis obediens, misit obviam eisdem Jannensibus Legatos & Prælatos confidenter ducentibus, viginti galeas novas & solidissimas, manu militari optime communis in prima fronte, quibus primicerius præerat Stollus pyratum peritissimus. Factoque congressu navali cruentissimo, Pisanis quibus specialiter præfuit Henricus cum jam dicto Stollio, qui per modum fulgurantis tempestatis irruit ad certamen, victi sunt Jannenses, captique Prælati cum Legatis, et aliqui submersi vel cæsi, scilicet Archiepiscopus de Vesentia & multi alii quos longum est numerare. Ex Abbatibus tamen vix Saviniensis ope Johannis de Lexintuna, militis strenuissimi & elegantis, fratris sui, ac Nuncii Regis Anglia, evasit liber & illæsus. De hujusmodi autem infortunato casu, per hanc Epistolam, cui communis fama perhibet testimonium, evidenter certificatur.

Captis igitur & præsentatis Prælatibus & Legatis cum suis Jannensibus Domino Imperatori, scripsit idem Imperator Regi Anglorum, necnon & aliis Principibus in hæc verba:

FREDERICUS Imperator, Regi Anglia salutem & sinceræ dilectionis affectum. Hilari affectione recepimus literas & nuntios vestros quos ad nostram præsentiam transmisisti, & tam ea quæ literæ continebant, quam ea quæ iidem Nuncii ex parte vestra ore tenus coram nobis referebant, audivimus & intelleximus diligenter. Et ecce ad singula quæ misistis prospere per eos, per magistrum Walterum de Oera, dilectum nostrum Notarium ac fidelem, plenarie respondemus. Cui ea quæ vobis ore tenus ex parte celsitudinis nostræ diceret, indubitanter tanquam personæ nostræ credatis. Cui etiam plenam concessimus potestatem procedendi in negotio, pro quo nuntii supradicti venerunt, & complendi illud juxta formam sibi a celsitudine nostra datam. Ad hoc, cum nostris congruadeatis successibus & in nostrorum humilitatem rebellium fiat terror & cæteris cautela subjectis, jocunda insinuatione vobis describimus, quod cum civitas Faventia suis diffisa meritis, & propria munitione confisa, beneficio temporis Hymalis causa fuerit nostræ rebellionis viribus præstare repagulum. Veris tamen instituto tempore hæc eadem civitate, machinarum nostrarum incurfione quassata, muris irruentibus, & fossoribus nostris penetrantibus per meatus subterraneos intima civitatis, ut manualiter inter cives & bellatores nostros bella concurrerent, & oporteret eos pro minis corpora cominus præstare gladiis exponenda, sumpserunt sanius pro eorum salute consilium, quibus expugnatio vicinum exitum minabatur, & ad implorandam nostram misericordiam continuo clamore sæpe conversi, die Dominico, decimo quinto die Aprilis, mandatis nostris & beneplacitis se præcise manciparunt, subijcientes in nostram misericordiam civitatem, suas pariter & personas, præstitis fidelitatis debite juramentis, & illicitis juramentis, si quæ fecerunt, abjuratis. Ad quorum receptionem nostri Comes Imperii semper indivisa, & iusti arbitra moderaminis, clementia nos induxit, quæ victoris animum vicit, ut cum victis misericorditer ageremus: rati gloriosorem esse victoriam, misereri conversis, quam in eorum casu ulcisci miserabili: pitum genus vindictæ pensantes, ignoscere noxis, dum potuimus ferius vindicasse. Remissa igitur gratis offensa, licet non minima, & reis Imperialiter absolutis, civium & civitatis, statu sub nostro, & Imperii iugo, (quo nihil suavius aut dignius esse probabamur) pro rerum qualitate disposito, dum ad depopulationem vicinæ Bononiæ nostrum verteremus propositum & affectum, Prælatorum turbam, cum Prænestino Episcopo, Ottono Thuringio sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano Diacono Cardinali, nostris adversaturam processibus, ex diversis provinciis congregatam, contigit suo infortunio Januam pervenisse. Ubi conveniente cum eis Gregorio de Romagna, addito Legato Legatis, ut insimul ligarentur, & conspiratione cum Januensibus rebellibus nostris facta, quidam de Regno Francorum navalem exercitum copiosum congregantes, pyratas suos armari fecerunt, cum quibus ad Papam Romanam, pro majoris causa dissidii, conjuraverunt advenire. Ad quorum impediendum transitum & accessum, nostram diu ante prævisam classem convenire fecimus apud Pisas, victoriosum Galeiarum Stollum præponentes. Quos cum quibusdam nostris fidelibus, eorum præcognita motione, in latis & portubus, quos vel alto mari præterire non poterant, velut obvia, & necessario navigabilia transitu, ut eis transeuntibus potenter occurrerent, destinavimus. Et aggressus galeis nostris galeas eorum, quas præpotens Dominus, qui ex alto videt, & dimicat æquitatem dijudicans, invias vias eorum & excogitatum malitiam, insatiabilemque cupiditatem meditatus, in viribus & potentia nostra, quam effugere terra vel mari non poterant, Domino favente, Legatos ligatos simul tradidit & Prælatos. Et tribus galeis eorum submersis, ac omnibus quæ vehebantur in ipsis, cum viris qui ad duo millia æstimati sunt, sine spe recuperationis amissis, viginti & duæ galeæ, non sine magna navigantium castè, cum personis & rebus, divina sic volente providentia, victæ sunt a galeis nostris, & triumphaliter captæ. In quibus tres dicti Legati, cum Archiepiscopis, Episcopis, Abbatibus, et multis aliis Prælati, nuntis quoque Prælatorum et procuratoribus, qui ultra centum æstimantur, cum Ambassationibus civitatum rebellium Lombardiæ, qui ad præfixum ire Concilium properabant, quatuor millibus Januensium, exceptis specialibus et electis personis de Janua, quæ galeis præerant, et committatui Prælatorum pro ducendis et reducendis eisdem Januam, sicut inter eos fuerat infortunate conventum, ad manus nostras ligati perducerunt, cum Prænestino illo, qui summum contra nos sapius incitaverat odium. Qui sub latentis lupi specie, in ovina pelle & agni chlamide, Deum inclusum gerere non confidat, cujus divinum judicium non defuisse arbitramur, et sciat quia Deus nobiscum est, sedens super Thronum, et dijudicans æquitatem, qui non solum per Sacerdotium, sed per Regnum et Sacerdotium, mundi machinam statuit gubernandam. Nos igitur, suum nobis calitus Domino referante consilium, & in plana tot aspera convertente, sudores bellicos, & æstivos pulveres non vitantes, nostrum scilicet iter & intentionem omnimodam & conatus ad eum dirigamus, qui nobis & cæteris regnantibus exaltationis, & gloriæ contulit incrementum. Et nos prædictorum Principes successuum nostrorum participes & vos, præcipue fieri gratulamur, quos in omni successuræ felicitatis eventu, ex unanimitate, qua unimur, cupimus esse consortes. Datæ Faventia, &c.

Missa est igitur talis Epistola aliis Principibus quasi consolatoria, sed non omnes tenorem ipsius acceptabant, cum dicat Poeta ethicus;

Iussu igitur Imperiali ducti sunt per mare cursu diuturno; per spaciū circiter trium hebdomadarum donec venirent Neapolim in Apulia: & in castro quod est vicinum civitati, & mare circumdatum, tutelæ certissimæ mancipantur. Sed non omnes æqua damnabat calamitas carceralis. Præstissimæ enim miserrima erat condicio. Et omnes jam vel morbus, vel lethæ inbaserat imbecillitas. Cum enim diu navigaverant sedentes glomeratim vincti & oppressi, cecideratque super eos æstus intolerabilis, muscis circumvolitantibus, & more scorpionum pugnentibus, fame & siti cruciati, & ad arbitrium nequissimorum nautarum imo hostilium pyratorum, lacessiti & objurgati, longum martyrium protraxerunt, quod pro obedientia (Saxæ Pope miscalled it, but in truth for their disobedience, rebellion against the Emperor) subierunt. Videbatur igitur carcer requies, licet requie caruisset. Tabuerunt ergo, præcipue delicatiores, & variis infirmitatibus langue- runt. Unde quidem religiosi, & multi alii, animas afflictas exhalantes ex miseria hujus mundi ad Dominum, non sine palma martyrii migraverunt. Et cito post, Domi- nus Præstissimus; obediens Domino Papæ, usque ad mortem a nequam sæculo transiit ad requiem.

The Imprisonment of these Prelates and Pope Gregories* death soon after prevented the Councils meeting, and put a period thereunto. * Mat. Paris: 533.

Having thus presented you with the tragical contests between Pope Gregory and the Emperor, from the year 1238, till 1242. I shall now return to that which more immediately relates to the Ecclesiastical affairs of England and Ireland.

The Pope having granted a Provision to Roger Trinity Clerk, within the Dio- cesse of London, directed to Otto his Legat to execute, he thereupon granted him the next Prebendary that should fall in the Church of Saint Martyn; which being the Kings Free Chappell, exempted from Episcopal Jurisdiction, the King to preserve the Rights of his Crown and privilege of his Free Chapples, issued this memorable Prohibition and Appeal to the Legate.

Venerabili in Christo Patri O. Dei gratia; Sancti Nicholai in carcere Tulliano diacono Cardinali, & Apostolicæ sedis Legato H. eadem gratia Rex Angliæ, &c. salutem & sinceræ dilectionis affectum. Cum sicut audivimus Rogerus de sancta

Upon the * forecited assault made by the Schollars of Oxford on the Legate and his Servants, the King issued this Writ to the Sheriff of Gloucester, to apprehend all Scholars, whether Scots, Welsh-men, Irish, or English, going from Oxford, guilty of that fact, to the great dishonour of his Government, and disturbance of the publick peace, (casually omitted in its proper place.)

REX Vicecomiti Gloucestræ, salutem. Cum Venerabilis Pater, &c. nuper hospitaretur apud Osneyam, Clerici quidam de Universitate Oxonie timore Dei postposito, & spreta sedis Apostolicæ reverentia, in gravem Regiæ dignitatis læsionem in prædictum Legatum & suos irruentes, eis tam de die, quam de nocte contra pacem nostram insulcrum dederunt, quosdam de familia sua interfecerunt, & alios graviter vulneraverunt, de quo vehementer moti sumus & perturbati, tam pro contemptu & injuria Sanctæ Romane Ecclesiæ illata, quam pro manifesta pacis nostræ perturbatione. Et ideo tibi præcipimus firmiter injungentes in fide qua nobis tenetis, & sicut teipsum & omnia tua diligis, per totam Ballivam tuam diligenter insidiari facias, si qui Clerici venientes de Oxon. de quacunque natione sive Scoti, sive Wallenses, sive Hibernienses, sive Anglici, a die Veneris proxima ante festum Sancti Marcii, & inde recedentes occasione prædicta, per partes illas transitum facient. Et si quos tales inveneris, illos capias & salvo custodias in libera prisona, donec aliud inde præceperimus: Scire etiam facias omnibus qui Libertates habent infra Ballivam tuam, quod sicut seipfos & Libertates suas diligunt, de prædictis Clericis capiendis idem faciant infra Libertates prædictas.

The Popes Legate presuming to hold Pleas before him in England, not only of all Ecclesiastical, but likewise of Temporal matters, belonging to the Kings Courts, as of Fishings, Rents, Chattles and Debts; the King thereupon issued these ensuing Prohibitions to stay such suits, in a modest stile.

As the King promoted the Popes, Cardinals Rapines, and intollerable Extortions on the Clergy and people on the one hand, so the Pope to gratifie the King granted him a Tenth from the Clergy of Ireland, towards the relief of the Holy Land, on the other hand, in outward pretence to delude the people, which in truth the King, Pope and Cardinals shared between themselves; for the collecting whereof the King issued this Patent to all his Sheriffs, Bayliffs, and Officers in Ireland.

Diebus illis quidam quasi honestæ vitæ ac severæ vir, habitum & gestum prætendens ordinis Carthusiensis, captus est apud Cantabrigiam, nolens intrare Ecclesiam aliquam. Super quo diliramento cum requisitus, secus quam deceret, respondisset, arctiori custodia reservabatur, ita quod post paucos dies sequentes transmissus est ad Legatum, in turri Londinensi recludendus. Palam enim asseruit, dicens, Gregorius non est Papa, Non est caput Ecclesiæ. Sed aliud est caput Ecclesiæ. Ecclesia prophanata est, nec debent in ea divina celebrari, nisi rededicata fuerit. Vasa & vestimenta ejus reconsecranda sunt: Diabolus solutus est; Papa hereticus. Polluit Ecclesiam, imo mundum, Gregorius, qui Papa dicitur. Et præsentibus & audientibus domino Abbate R. de Evesham, & magistro N. de Finham, magistris quoque P. de Burdegalis, & H. de Sufa, & multis aliis, dixit Legatus illi deliranti: Nonne concessa est desuper potestas Domino Papæ solvendi animas atque ligandi, ut vices beati Petri exequatur in terris? Et cum omnes expectarent, quid responderet, credentes judicium ab hac sua responsione dependere, ait sub interrogatione, & non sub assertione: Quomodo possem credere, quod cuidam Symonali, et usurario, et forte majoribus facinoribus involuto, concedatur talis potestas, qualis concessa fuit beato Petro; qui immediate factus ejus Apostolus, sequutus est Dominum, non tantum incessu pedum, sed virtutum claritate? Ad quod verbum erubuit Legatus, & ait quidam de circumfidentibus,

Resolvit labra sua in alia deliramenta, there related. After which I finde no more proceedings against him.

The Archdeacon of Canterbury intending to build and erect a Church of Prebends or Canons at Maydeston in Kent, against the Kings Prohibition and Appeal, to the disinherison and prejudice of his Crown and Dignity, the King thereupon issued this memorable Writ of Prohibition to the Sheriff of Kent, to proclaim, and prohibit all Laymen under pain of Imprisonment, losse of life, and member nor to ayd or assist him therein, by carrying stones, timber, or working therein.

How greivous the Popes exactions, Injustice and proceedings were both to the

of Canterbury (Canonized soon after for a Saint at Rome) will in part demonstrate; though what he requested did somewhat impair the Kings prerogative.

Eodem tempore, Archiepiscopus Canthuariensis Edmundus, (having gratified the Pope and his Legat in consenting to the Ayde demanded by them, which he at first opposed) credens & confidenter sperans, habere in Domino Papa tale adjutorium, vel saltem aliquod, quale invenerat in pax memoriae Papa Alexandro beatus Thomas Martyr, ejusdem Archiepiscopi prædecessor: coepit conqueri lachrymabiliter per Epistolas lugubres, & nuncios solennes, quibus credebatur cor Papale lapideum in carneum convertere, quatenus illam detestabilem, & damnosam consuetudinem Ecclesiae aboleret; qua Reges, imo Tyranni, & Ecclesiae penitus inimici & rebelles, Ecclesias Cathedrales & conventuales suo pastore viduatas, non sinerent respirare, & eisdem incongruis pastoribus libere & canonice provideri; nec impediret Rex, motu suo plus voluntario quam rationabili earum electiones, per suos cavillatores, quos ad hoc detinuit conductitios. Quarum si aliqua talis Ecclesia suo pastore viduaretur, vacans per sex menses, per Archiepiscopum loci eidem competenter provideretur. Cumque se ex fallaci promissione curiae Romanae certissime speraret Edmundus alter fieri Thomas, cujus * certamine glorioso * malae consuetudines Angliae sunt deletae, Gregorium Papam induisse Alexandrum, beati Thomas coexulis, & coadiutoris, inventus est Papa Gregorius subito timidus ut homo, & ad Regis Angliae mandatum, qui hoc asserbat, esse contra suam Regiam dignitatem, totum illud pium propositum, super quo Archiepiscopus etiam literas Papales, non sine magnae pecuniae effusione, obtinuerat, in irritum revocavit. Quo competro, Rex solito Tyrannior effectus, & procacius, electionem Bonifacii, contra libertatem Ecclesiae Wintoniensis procuravit, alias licet rite factas, & pie celebratas efficacius impediendo.

Which * Matthew Westminister thus relates. Ipso eodem anno, Archiepiscopus Canthuar. Edmundus non minima effusa pecunia, quoddam obtinuit privilegium tam regno quam sacerdotio gratissimum; scilicet, Ut si Ecclesia Cathedralis per menses sex vacaret, viduata pastore, per Archiepiscopum Diocesenum eidem provideretur. Sed quia videbatur hoc in præjudicium regiae dignitatis, et iacturae redundare, cassatum est idem privilegium, pecunia iterum interveniente. Unde Archiepiscopus, cum vidisset sic justitiam manifeste, vacillare & tot labores suos annullari, in solabiter doluit, nolsensque accipere consolationem, ex illo tempore cogitavit spontaneus exulare.

This Archbishop to induce the Pope to continue this Papal priviledge he had with much mony and paines obtained, to the prejudice of the Kings Prerogative, condescended to the Popes intolerable Tax, against his judgment and Conscience; to wit, quinta partis redditum; paying the Popes exactors 800. markes, antequam violenter extorquerentur: quod videntes alii Pralati Angliae, in similem ruinam sunt prolapsi.

After which, cum Dominus Archiepiscopus Canthuariensis Edmundus, qui jam dictae exactioni detestandae spontaneus vel inbitus, se diatim magis conculcari, et bonis suis temporalibus destitutum, libertatibus suis spoliari, affectus est tedio, quod videret, et videret mala super terram, Increpansque Regem de promissione, nil nisi dilaciones reportavit. Variis ergo laecissus injuriis, exulans, transit in Franciam, & castigata familia, apud Pontiniacum, ubi prædecessor ejus beatus Thomas exul commoratus est, orationibus & jejuniis vacans assidue, commoratus est.

Dum igitur fortunalis rota sic mundanum cursum volubiliter exagitaret, Edmundus Canthuariensis Archiepiscopus, qui spontaneum in transmarinis partibus exilium subierat, contabuit tam corpore quam animo; & ducens ab alto fustigia; iterabat: O quam melius esse mori, quam videre mala gentis suae & sanctorum super terram. Quos enim ipse ligaverat, Legatus contra suam dignitatem malo grato suo absolvit, & e converso. Optans igitur dissolvi, & esse cum Christo, orabat; dicens: Heu mihi, quia incolatus meus prolongatus est. Jam satis est; imo nimium, quod omnia vidi volvi in præcipitium & ruinam: tolle animam meam; Domine Deus meus. Commoratus est igitur dictus Archipræsul per aliquot dies apud Pontiniacum, ubi beatus Thomas Martyr, prædecessor ejus exul commorabatur. Ubi die & nocte in lachrymis & jejuniis pro statu Ecclesiae Anglicanae periclitantis, preces Deo & beato Thomas obtulit indefessus. Exhaustus igitur abstinencia, & dolore maceratus exinanito corpore, delibato & debilitato, coepit ibidem graviter & infirmari. Et consilio fretus medicorum, apud Soyssy, gratia melioris aeris hauriendi, se fecit transportari. Ubi per alicujus temporis spatium morbo languens dysenterico, vinculis carnis absolutus, valedicens nequam saeculo, universae carnis semitas est ingressus. Cujus anima exilium saeculare pro patria coelesti feliciter commutavit. Vere enim exul, & solo corpore in hac peregrinatione commoratus, undique causis emergentibus languit laceratus. Rebelles etiam, quos ipse judicialiter excommunicavit, Legatus procaciter & irreverenter absolvere non omisit, multa alia quae sua non erant, in praedictum ipsius Archiepiscopi totius Angliae primatis, de consensu vel permissione Regis, temere & enormiter praesumendo. Sed haec pestis omnes Angliae Praelatos truculenter agitavit. Unde quidam Satyrus fatis Satyrice Regem & Legatum dum ad invicem jocosae confabularentur, & in omnibus agendis sese coadjutores fore contra omnes compromitterent, reprehendit, dicens; Eia, eia, nunc bene novi, quod ex quo pastor & lupus foedus inierint concordia, ovibus imminet strages truculenta.

Transiit igitur ex hoc mundo dictus Archipræful Edmundus, decimo sexto Calend. Decemb. infra scilicet octavas beati Martini, ipsi Confessori Confessor in multis assimulatus, absolutus de Conventu Cantuariensi Monachis poenitentibus. Obiit autem apud Soyssy domum Canonicorum Regularium. The manner and place of his funeral is there described at large, which I pretermis. Dum enim adhuc viveret, videns se de hoc mundo cito migraturum, causam suam Deo & B. Thoma commendando, (qui ibidem ob similem causam exulans, invenit refugium) Pontiniacensi Ecclesiae corpus suum legavit. Contigit autem inter itinerandum dum sacrum corpus portaretur, propter famam Sanctitatis ipsius, ut illuc confluerunt ægotantes, sanitatem a Christo ipsius precibus fideliter postulantes. Et factum est quod eundem una die ter dignatus est Dominus manifeste, meritis ipsius sancti exigentibus, miraculis præclaris & titulo Sanctitatis insignire. Pro quibus solenniter hymnus Angelorum, scilicet, Te Deum laudamus, ter veneranter & devote cantabatur. Meruit igitur Pontiniacum corpore Confessoris, quod cum tumularetur, inventum est vermiculus & cilicio rudi corosum, & genua ob frequentiam genuflexionum callosa, feliciter venustari, quod fuerat aliquando beato Thoma tuitionis refugium & asylum. Et hoc idem Martyr Thomam aperte prædixerat. His Miracles and Canonizations are at large recorded by **Mat.*

Mat. Paris, Hist.
Angl. p. 514.

Circa illa tempora, facta est iniquissima conventio inter Dominum Papam et Romanos, ut dicebatur; ut scilicet Papa quotquot essent in Anglia beneficia conferenda, præcipue religiosorum, Romanorum filiis vel consanguineis ad nutum eorum solum distribuenda. Ea tamen conditione, ut unanimiter in Imperatorem hostiliter insurgerent, pro posse suo eundem a Culmine Imperiali non segnitè præcipitarent, titulos antiquæ strenuitatis sibi taliter adquirentes. Unde infra paucos dies, postea misit Dominus Papa sacra præcepta sua Domino Cantuari Archiepis, Edmundo, et Lincol. et Sarisbury. Episcopis, ut trecentis Romanis in primis beneficiis vacantibus providerent, scientes se suspensos a beneficiorum collatione, donec tot competenter providerentur. Unde stupor magnus coram hæc audientium occupavit, timebaturque quod in abyssum desperationis, talia audens mergeretur. A very daring and dangerous Usurpation on the Kings Prerogative, the Churches Priviledges and Patrons rights, the King the next year issuing out Writs to the Archbishops and Bishops of sundry Diocesses (by way of opposition) to inquire how many aliens were promoted to Benefices or Prebendaries, with their values and names, of which more in due place.

Quod cum audisset dictus magister Nicholani, ab imo trahens suspiria, ait; Amplector virtutem obedientiæ. In dioecesi vestra mea habui ex gratia vestra quæ obtinui beneficia; paternis igitur vestris monitis obtempero. Monachi igitur Dunelmenses gaudentes eum Regi præsentabunt, tanquam suum Electum. Rex autem ejus electionem gratanter acceptans, cum in electo vel electione nihil posset rationabiliter reprehendere, suscepit electum sine moræ dispendio. Qui cito postea sollicitus est confirmatus.

Imminentibus autem diebus illis procurante Regis ira vindice, privatus est magister Simon Normannus (qui aliquot annis præterlapsis Regis summus extitit Consiliarius, Regique sigilli bajulus) ab omni præterquam uno, autoritate Papali, beneficio: Archidiaconatu Norwicensi viriliter præcipitatus. Et quia dispensationem impetraverat plura beneficia obtinendi, obtinere meruit, ne nimis in eum manum aggravare Papa videretur, redditum suum usque centum marcas annuas, licet nullus pro ipso intercessor existeret, arctando limitavit. Factus igitur opprobrium notis suis, iratus viarum suarum sic collegit, secundum illud Poeticum:

Jam ad culmina rerum
Et lapsu graviore ruant.

Hic est ille qui iniqua consilia & Regno nociva dederat, qui Legatum in Anglia morari fecit succinctum ad iter Transalpinum, qui statutus coram Papa, interrogante ab eo, cur Rex Anglia omnes suos naturales homines non diligens, alienos ad se vocaverit? respondit, Non est hodie aliquis Anglicus in Anglia probatus fidelis cui Rex possit secure credere: Quod verbum plenum ingratitude rapuit de ore polluto Magister Robertus de Sumercote, Cardinalis, Anglicus natione, ipsum vehementer super hoc reprehendens. And now you see how justly this unnatural viper, and flatterer, of the Pope, Legate, King, was rewarded by them in the conclusion.

Londinensis.

Eodem anno, scilicet die Sancti Heironymi magister Andelmus, natione Colonienfis, vir moribus & literatura commendabilis, in Archiepiscopum Armachanum (quæ Ecclesia Metropolis est totius Hibernia) apud Wistmonasterium, præsentem Rege & Legato, & quamplurimis Episcopis, Wigornienfis ministerium peragente, solenniter est consecratus.

Die vero Sancti Remigij dedicata est Ecclesia Sancti Pauli Londini, ab Episcopo ejusdem loci Rogero, præsentem Rege & multis Episcopis & magnatibus: qui omnes ea die convivium cum ipso Episcopo & Canonicis lætenter celebrarunt. Ad quam venientibus, & devote ibidem orantibus, concessa est venia quatuordecim annorum. Quæ omnia Legatus & omnes Episcopi præsentem confirmaverunt.

But to return from these elections and consecrations of Bishops and Churches to the Popes Exactions. Pope Gregory to carry on his Wars against the Emperor, oppressed the English Clergy and Religious houses (as well as the French,) with new, unheard of, and most intollerable Exactions, thus recorded to posterity.

Nimis detestanda exactio Papalis pecuniarum.

Per eosdem dies, venit in Angliam nova quædam pecuniarum exactio, omnibus sæculis inaudita et execrabilis. Misit enim Papa; Pater noster Sanctus, quendam exactorem in Angliam, Petrum Rubenum, qui excogitata muscipulatione infinitam pecuniam a miseris Anglicis eductus erat emungere. Intravit enim Religiosorum Capitula, cogens & seducens eos ad pecuniam promittendam, & promissam persolvendam, exemplo aliorum Prælatorum, quos mentitis asserbat gratanter persolvisse: dixit enim, ille Episcopus, & ille Abbas, & ille, jam libens satisfecit, quidnam vos ignaviter tam moramini, ut grates cum muneribus amittatis? Fecit etiam prædictus Impostor jurare, ut hoc genus pecuniarum extorextorquendi nulli hominum infra dimidium annum facerent manifestum, quasi eliciens hoc ex singulorum primitiva professione, cum tantum de honestis sit consilium Papale celandum. Hoc faciendo more prædonum domesticorum, qui fidem ab exspoliatis extorquent, ut nulli prodant nomina spoliantium. Sed etiam si homines silerent lapides Ecclesiarum contra graſſatores clamorem leuarent. Nec potuit hoc maleficio latere sub tenebris quomodo etenim possent Prælati, a suis & sibi subjectis pecuniam exigere, nisi causa exactionis exprimeretur?

This Machiavlian policy of this Romish Impostor and Tax-master, with his Exactions proving very grievous to the Clergy and Religious persons of the Realm; Thereupon, Venerunt igitur Abbates vultu flebili & capite demisso ad Regem suarum patronum Ecclesiarum, dicentes: Domine Rex, sugillamur, nec licet nobis clamitare: jugulamur, nec possumus ejulare. Jungitur nobis à Domino Papa impossibilitas, & exactio toti mundo detestabilis. Baronias a vobis tenemus, nec possumus eas depauperare sine vestri præjudicio; nec possumus vobis quæ nobis incumbunt pro illis, respondere, et Papæ nos incessanter torquenti satisfacere. Sic enim, & sic rediua & semper nova, & inexpectata oritur nobis illata angaria a Romanis excogitata, quæ nos vel ad modicum non patitur respirare; ad asylum vestri Consilii, et ad sinum vestri patrocinii recurrimus, super his desolationibus consilium et auxilium postulantes. Et qui loquebantur hæc, fuerunt Dominus Abbas de Edmundo, & Dominus Abbas de Beke. Quos Rex, cum hæc audiret, torvo intuentis aspectu, tumultuosa vociferatione perterrens, clamavit ad Legatum, qui tunc forte præsens extitit: Ecce Domine mi Legate, isti miseri seductores, pendentes secreta Papalia, obloquuntur, voluntati vestræ non adquiescentes: facite de ipsis quod vobis placet. Ecce accommo unum de melioribus castris meis, ut eos in eo carcerali custodiæ mancipetis. Quod cum audissent Abbates, supra quam dici possit confusione perculsi, recesserunt, Legato pro voto satisfacturi. Aliqui tamen, sed pauci, non adhuc vacillantes, nolentes adhuc colla supponere tam odibilis conditionis servituti, steterunt; requisita solvere renuentes, & subterfugia per inducias sibi vix requirebant.

Cumque similia facere credebatur Legatus, ipsi Petro Rubeo associatus, Episcopis apud Norhamtonam propter hoc vocatis, edocti Abbatum exemplo, responderunt, habemus Archidiaconos nobis subjectos, qui norunt beneficiarum sibi subjectorum facultates, nos autem Ignoramus. Omnes tangit hoc negotium, omnes igitur sunt conveniendi, sine ipsis nec decet nec expedit respondere. Datus est igitur eis dies responſionis, in octavis Sancti Johannis Baptiste, scilicet nativitatibus. Quo die cum prædicti convenissent, coram Legato & ejus complicitibus, noluerunt erecta cervice prædictam exactionem tam impudenter contradicendo negare: sed modesta responsione has exceptiones caute contradicendo rationabiliter proposuerunt.

Dicunt, quod contribuere non debent, tum quia contributio fieret contra eum qui contradixit cum Principe suo, tum quia fieret ad effusionem sanguinis Christiani: quod patet ex forma scripti Apostolici, in quo continetur, ad debellandum Imperatorem. Tum quia fieret contra libertatem Ecclesiæ, quod patet ex forma ejusdem scripti ubi dicitur, Contradicentes Ecclesiastica censura compescentes; ecce servitus & compulsio. Tum, quia alias dederunt decimas Domino Papæ, sub hac protestatione, ne de cætero consimilis fieret exactio; multo fortius, nec nunc quinta pars est exigenda. Tum, quia timeri possit; ne ad consuetudinem traheretur, cum binus actus inducat consuetudinem, ut est in codice: De Episcopali audientia. Lege nemo. Tum, quia cum necesse habeant continue diversa negotia in curia Romana expedire; ad quam nisi per terram Imperatoris patet accessus, timendum esset, ne Imperator eorum captionem procuraret; ac ipsos certos de pœna graviore, carcerali custodiæ manciparet. Tum, quia cum Rex multos habeat inimicos, contra quos onus belli expectat sustinere, timens gravioza, non esset tutum terram magis depauperare, præsertim cum vacuetur pro magna parte terra nobilibus in negotium Crucis proficiscentibus, & multum pecuniæ ad viatica secum asportantibus. Tum, quia hoc verteretur in patronorum Ecclesiarum præjudicium; maxime cum non constet ipsos d. t. contributioni consentire. Tum, quia genera-

Cum autem hæc Legatus & socii sui audissent, tacite confusionem suam dissimulabant, nata temporis opportunitate ad hanc vel similem exactionem surrecturi.

Sperantes autem adhuc Legatus & complices sui, alios quosdam ad suam inclinare voluntatem ut contribuerent, videlicet Rectores Ecclesiarum de Bercshyre, & quosdam alios, congregaverunt eos, convenientes eosdem multis sermocinationibus, minas minis addentes, & promissa promissis cumulantes. Quibus constanter responderunt, quod a forma responsionis noluerunt recedere, rationibus eorum fulti; quibus tamen alias, licet illæ sufficiant, annectimus rationes.

Dicunt omnes, & dicunt singuli rectores Ecclesiarum de Bercshyre, quod contra Imperatorem non est contribuendum, ut contra Hæreticum, cum non sit damnatus iudicio Ecclesiæ, vel convictus, licet excommunicatus, nec pro eo quod occupat vel impugnat patrimonium Ecclesiæ Romana; Ecclesia enim non utitur brachio seculari contra hæreticos. Item, sicut ecclesia Romana suum habet proprium patrimonium, cujus administratio pertinet ad Dominum Papam; similiter & aliæ Ecclesiæ suum, ex largitione & concessione Regum, Principum & aliorum Magnatum fidelium, quod in nullo est censuale vel tributarium Ecclesiæ Romana; unde non debent Prælati compelli de patrimonio suarum Ecclesiarum contribuere. Item, licet argumento Legis omnia dicantur esse Principis, non tamen dominio & proprietate, sed cura & sollicitudine: similiter Ecclesiæ spectant ad Dominum Papa cura & sollicitudine, non dominio & proprietate; unde dicunt, quod non debent ad contribuendum compelli. Item, cum dicat Veritas, Tu es Petrus, & super hanc petram adificabo Ecclesiam meam, reservavit sibi proprietatem, committendo curam, sicut patet ex verbis Evangelii sequentibus: Quodcumque ligaveris super terram, erit ligatum & in caelis; quodcumque sol. &c. Non quodcumque exegeris super terram, erit exactum & in caelis; unde dicunt, quod ad contributionem non possunt nec debent secundum Dominum & iustitiam compelli. Item, cum ex autoritatibus Patrum Sanctorum fructus Ecclesiarum in certos usus, puta Ecclesiæ ministrorum & pauperum, sint deputati, non debent in alios usus converti nisi Autoritate Ecclesiæ universalis: unde de bonis Ecclesiæ non est contribuendum ad pugnandum, maxime contra Christianos. Item, cum Clericis vix sufficiant proventus Ecclesiarum suarum ad victus quotidianos, tum propter earum tenuitatem, tum quia nonnunquam fames in regione ingruit messe deficiente, tum quia tanta sit multitudo pauperum & adventantium, quorum mori partem vidimus pro defectu alimentorum, tum quia nullus potest nisi unicum beneficium obtinere: unde pauperiores & vix sibi & pauperibus sufficiunt, non debent ad talem contributionem compelli. Item licet esset bonum contribuere, omitti tamen deberet & expediret propter scandalum jam suscitatum, & per orbem ventilatum, contra Ecclesiam Romanam: quia dicitur publice alias factæ fuerunt huiusmodi exactiones, & clerici enormiter depauperati sunt, & statim exacta & extorta pecunia, composuerunt Papa & Imperator, nec est quadrans restitutus: imo si qua residua fuissent post compositionem & reddenda, graviter extorquebantur. Et dicit Canon: quod licet pro scandalo vitando peccatum mortale admitti non debet, bonum tamen quandoque omitti debet, ut scandalum vitetur: unde non debemus contribuere. Item, si contribuerent contra Imperatorem, non solum cruciatus corporis, sed mortis periculum immineret sedi Apostolicæ pro Iustitiæ impetratione & peregrinantibus de hac regione ad Terram sanctam propter terræ liberationem: unde &c. Item, binus actus inducit consuetudinem; unde cum alias facta fuerit huiusmodi contributio, si modo fieret, verteretur in consuetudinem; unde, &c. Item exhereditatio Principis Angliæ & Magnatum terræ, considerata potestate Imperatoris, & debilitate & paupertate Regni Angliæ, ex contributione huiusmodi immineret manifesta, unde contribuere non expedit, nec debemus. Item, cum Rex Angliæ & Magnates, tam in jure hæreditario, quam bona & appropriata consuetudine habent jus patronatus Ecclesiarum Angliæ, & rectores, ad eorum præsentationem instituti nolunt, sicut nec debent, nec possunt, in aliquam contributionem consentire inconsultis patronis, quia sic possit ex Ecclesiis suis præjudicium generari, cum eadem Ecclesiæ sint per eosdem patronos terrarum ac reddituum propter hoc specialiter collationibus dotatæ aut ditatæ, ut rectores earum suscipiant piant hospites, tam divitum quam pauperum sustinentes hospitalitatem, tam Laicorum quam Clericorum, secundum suas facultates locorum exigente consuetudine; a quibus si procedat talis exactio, oportet cessare, & ita patroni suo jure & intentione hac causa donandi, fraudati erunt, & sic donata repetere, vel saltem alia quærent gravamina, nec iterum Ecclesias de suis bonis fundabunt vel conferent beneficia. Item, cum istud petatur contra talem qui fœdus inivit cum Principe nostro, præsertim per matrimonium, non debemus eo inconsulto contra eum contribuere. Item, quod cum nuper alias in pristina contributione in casu consimili promissum esset præbentibus auctoritate istius ejusdemque Papæ, quod de cætero non fieret hujusmodi exactio, de dicto gravamine adhuc sentientes se gravatos, non debent contribuere, quia timent quod ex frequenti contributione in servilem & inusitaram trahantur consuetudinem, præsertim cum multi plerisque regionibus, nec adhuc Franci non consentiant contributionem. Nec est manifestum vel notorium, aliquod emolumentum per hujusmodi extorsiones Ecclesiæ contigisse, utinam non ad detrimentum roborantur, utique & ditantur exinde hostes Ecclesiæ, & ex validis fiunt validiores, & durum est nobis armis propriis perimi, quare non est contribuendum. Item, cum omnes, vel fere omnes, voto Crucis sint affecti, ad quæ vota, vel per se, vel per alios competentes solvenda admonitionem Papalem receperunt; & huic tam arduo & utili negotio simul & semel etiam huic contributioni nequeunt satisfacere. Item, cum privilegio crucesignatorum sint muniti, quibus & fructus & obventiones reddituum suorum sibi integre triennio conceduntur, ad hoc non debent contribuere. Item, cum plures sint per literas Papales affecti ut de Decimis Ecclesiarum suarum, quæ ad jus patronatus Monachorum Cluniacensis Ordinis spectare noscuntur, vel in quibus ipsi Monachi aliquod temporale vel spirituale jus habent, usque ad terminum eis respondeant: unde non debent contribuere. Item, cum Dominus noster Rex Angliæ undique habeat hostes capitales ei, ut dicitur, nocere præparatos, ac Regnum sit destitutum consilii & auxilio proborum, in brevi peregre proficisci disponentium, maximam pecuniæ summam qui secum deportabunt, nec esset tutum in tantum depauperare Ecclesias & regnum, quod ad tuitionem Reipublicæ non sufficeret, timendum foret pro certo de irrestiturabili regni exterminio. Item, cum olim essent ditiores Clerici Anglicanæ nationis quando videlicet omnes habuerant, vel major pars habuerit plura beneficia sine dispensatione, ac nunquam ab ipsis talis exactio fuit; licet per Imperatores tyrannos tunc temporis multi Patres Sanctissimi exilio relegati, in se & in membris suis ac facultatibus Ecclesiæ durissima paterentur: unde non debemus contribuere. Item, in regno Francia multæ Decimæ militibus ab Apostolicis Patribus concessæ credantur, ut ipsi Romanam Ecclesiam tueantur, nec constat ab eis debitum suffragium esse negatum, nec etiam constat eorum suffragium Exercitui Domini Papæ fuisse adhuc contributum, quare non debemus contribuere.

Legatus igitur & sui complices, comperientes constantiam eorum tot fultam validis rationibus, nec se posse, ipsos simul coherentes frangere, cogitaverunt schisma inter eos & divisiones procurare. Adiit ergo Legatus Regem, & ipsum cito enervatum sibi inclinavit. Adierunt & complices ejus tam Episcopos quam eorum Archidiaconos, præcipue tamen Magistrum Alanum de Beles, Archidiaconum Sudburie, aliis prius constantiorem, & quosdam alios ambitiosos, ad altiores dignitates aspirantes, ad jutorium eis efficax pollicentes, ut dictæ Universitati non consentirent, & sic divisus illis prævaluit pars adversa.

The Popes Legate extorting Procurations in money from the Monks of the Cistercian Order, out of insatiable covetousnesse; thereupon the Monks procured a kind of Prohibition from the Pope to inhibit such Procurations.

Sed ipsi viriliter contradicendo, Curiam Romanam privilegiiis suis innitentes, ut contra hanc improbositatem impetrarent, adierunt; Literas eidem Legato sub hac forma reportantes.

Legatus dissidium suscitavit inter prædictos rectores.

Otto the Popes Legate, having long oppressed, pillaged the Realm and Church of England, was sent for the third time to Rome by the Pope, to be present in his intended Council against the Emperor, to advise him in his straits; whereupon the King not willing to detain him any longer in England, to avoyd the just censure and displeasure of the Emperor, who had married his sister, * Legatum & Prælatus Angliæ (summoned to the Council) Papalibus mandatis obediētes, licet cum magno periculo, ad transalpinandum se, instantibus diebus natalibus præparabant. Whereupon the King to ingratiate and oblige the Legate as well to promote his affaires at Rome, as in England, before his departure hence, Knighted and conferred an Annual Pension on his Nephew, feasted the Legate publicly at Westminster, and placed him at the feast in his own Royal Throne, to the great offence of his Nobles and Subjects, thus related by Matthew Paris.

Rex Legatum
in Regali sede collocat.

Henricus Rex tenuit Curiam suam apud Westmonasterium, ubi Magnates Regni quamplurimi festa cum eo Natalitia celebrarunt. Die igitur Natalis Domini, ad instantiam Legati, cui Rex summopere placere studuit, cinctus est ab ipso Rege balteo militari nepos ipsius Legati, nomine Advocatus, eidemque reddito contulit Rex triginta librarum properanter, quem idem tyro statim vendidit, sciens se in proximo cum Domino suo recessurum. Et eodem die Rex quendam Provinciālem cingulo simili solemniter insignivit, & redditu ditavit opulento. Finitis itaque in Ecclesia solemnibus, Rex in ampliori Regia Westmonasterii pransurus, Legatum, quem ad prandium invitaverat, in eminentiori loco mensæ, scilicet in Regali sede, quæ in medio mensæ est, non sine multorum obliquantibus oculis, collocavit. Ipso nempe Rege a dextris ipsius, Eboracensi vero Archiepiscopo a sinistris ejus sessionem accipientibus, confederunt consequenter tam Prælati quam ceteri Magnates, secundum ordinem suæ dignitatis ac potestatis, Rege sic volente, et convivas disponente. Quarto vero die Dominicæ Nativitatis, Legatus a Domino Papa irrefragabiliter ad Romanam Curiam revocatus, accersitis Angliæ Prælatibus valedicens, versus mare iter arripuit transalpinum. Quem cum strepitu tubarum suarum, & innumerabili multitudine Nobilium concomitantem, pompose nimis usque ad maris Rex duxit confinia: Et tandem cum ab invicem separandi, hinc Rex, hinc Legatus recesserunt, profunda traxerunt suspiria, quod tam cito disjungerentur: licet sæpeditus Legatus in Regno Angliæ irreparabile damnum Ecclesiæ, moram jam traxisset triennale.

Dicessio Ottonis Legati ex Anglia.

Igitur in crastino Epiphaniæ, apud Doveram Legatus navem ascendens, post Regales amplexus & oscula, Legationis deposuit insignia, & transfretans, apporriatam Angliam a tergo salutavit, nullo præter Regem, et quos idem Legatus bonis Regni saginaverat, de recessu suo condolente. Nec remansit eadem hora, (ut veraciter dicebatur) in Angliā tantum pecuniæ, (exceptis sanctorum vasibus et ornamentis Ecclesiarum) quantum a Regno jam extorserat Anglicano. Præbendas autem, Ecclesias, et varios redditus optimos plus quam trecentos, (a very great number in three years space only) ad suam vel Papæ contulerat voluntatem. Unde Regnum quasi vinea exposita omni transeunti, quam exterminavit aper de sylva, miserabiliter languit desolatum. Reliquit autem dictus Legatus Ecclesiam Cantuariensem, quæ est inter omnes Angliæ Ecclesias nobilissima, nimis perturbatam, et in viduitate languentem, cum multis aliis Cathedralibus et Conventualibus Ecclesiis, omni solatio destitutis. Nec ulla infirma terræ solidaverat, ut manifesto argumento monstraretur, quod non missus erat ad oves quæ perierant, protegendas, sed ad pecuniam, quam inbenerat, vindicandam. (The chief end of the Popes sending abroad his Legates, into foreign Christian Realms.) Idcirco me-

Eodem tempore, permittente vel procurante Papa Gregorio, adeo invaluit Romanæ Ecclesiæ insatiabilis cupiditas, confundens fasque nefasque, quod deposito rubore, velut meretrix vulgaris et effrons, omnibus venalis et exposita, usuram pro parvo, Simoniam pro nullo inconvenienti reputavit, ita ut alias affines provincias, imo etiam puritatem Angliæ, sua contagione maculavit. Et si multa, quæ se offerunt, exempla abundant, unum duxi, ut pateat quam iuste, et si serò, excanduit ira Dei in dicta Curia, breviter memorandum.

Dominus Papa Gregorius, cuidam suo cupiens speciali subvenire, missis in Angliam literis, quosdam super Ecclesiis dignoscitur sic aggravare. Missum est tunc temporis Abbati & Conventui de Burgo, mandatum Apostolicum cum precibus armatis, & monitis terrificis, ut redditum alicujus Ecclesiæ, cujus patronatus ad eos spectabat, quæ annuatim Centum ad minus valeret marcas, Papæ conferrent. Et si in duplo plus valeret, bene ei complaceret: concederet autem Dominus Papa ipsis illam Ecclesiam tenendam ab eo ad firmam annuam; ita scilicet, ut pro ea annuatim Centum Marcas solverent Domino Papæ, omne residuum in proprios usus convertentes. Et ut memoratos Abbatem & Conventum ad consensum huiusmodi Provisionis (imo potius permissioe pactionis, et Symoniæ et occultæ fraudis) quasi proprio usui necessaria, inde facilius Dominus Papa inclinaret, scripsit quibusdam Clericis transalpinis, in Angliæ optime beneficiatis, ut ipsos super hoc efficaciter admonerent, deinde compellerent, concessa eis potestate. Ipsi igitur Papalibus parentes iussionibus, venerunt Burgo, vocatisq; Monachis dixerunt, Ecce fratres & amici imminet vobis ad manum magnum Papale beneficium. Postulat enim a vobis, quod vos deberetis flexis genibus & iunctis manibus ab ipso humillime postulare. Et cum cuncta seriatim quæ peteret Papa explicassent, sponsonderunt ipsi, quod quasi fidei iussores, & fideles executores, omnia hæc fideliter ex parte Papæ consummarent, dummodo petita clam, quasi sine scandalo, concederent postulata, facientes de necessitate virtutem. Ipsi autem responderunt, Se sine Regis permissione hoc facere non posse, qui Patronus est et fundator ejus, et multarum in hac regione Ecclesiarum. At ipsi clanculo hæc fieri flagitabant, similia in aliis Ecclesiis facturos se sperantes, & ab illa concessione fumescentes exempli consequentiam. Monachi autem nolentes fallacibus circumveniri sermocinationibus, inducias petierunt, donec Abbas eorum, qui tunc absens erat, domum rediens, assensum, si videret expedire, huic præberet postulationi. Miserunt igitur ad Abbatem suum, huius rei seriem eidem explicantes; Abbas autem per quendam fidelem, & prudentem Clericum suum Willielmum de Burgo, Regem & ejus super hoc consilium est affatus, intimans pericula quæ inde emergere potuerunt. At Rex compertiens huiusmodi factum Ecclesiæ illius, et consimili modo aliarum esse detrimentum, cum ipse sit earum defensor, patronus et gubernator, laqueos absconditos, et Romanæ Curia detestans avaritiam, prohibuit districtius, ne tam enormè factum amplius etiam aera macularet.

Moreover, the Pope under pretext of the Crossado against the Saracens, cheated the people of their monies, and the Holy Land of their vowed assistance. Circa dies illos, ut quasi mille argumentis misera terra Anglicana suis bonis viduata spoliaretur, fratres Prædicatores & Minores, autentico Domini Papæ communiti, in prædicatione sua plenam peccatorum remissionem concesserunt omnibus Crucesignandis pro Terræ sanctæ liberatione. Et statim vel in Crastino, vel tertia die postquam multos devotos signaverant, ea conditione a crucis voto eos absoluebant, ut quantum suppetebat facultas, pecuniæ suæ portionem in subsidium Terræ sanctæ conferrent largiorem. Et ut ad hoc Anglicos inclinarent pronius ac promptius, ipsam pecuniam asserebant Comiti Richardo deferendam, chartam ipsius super hoc certius ostendentes. Insuper a senibus & valetudinariis, mulieribus, imbecillis, & parvulis, crucem accipientibus, vel accipere proponentibus, tantundem indulgentiæ, accepta prius ab eisdem pecunia, concesserunt, ostendentes super hoc Labentibus autem dierum illorum curriculis, & ludente fortuna in mortalium mutabilitate, non adhuc cessavit avaritia Romanorum insatiabilis. Quia post recessum Legati remanserunt in Anglia duo Papales Clerici, quasi vices Legati supplettes, exactores indefessi, scilicet Petrus cognomento Rubens, & Petrus de Supino, autenticum Papale retinentes Procurationes erigendi, interdicendi, excommunicandi, et pecuniam variis modis a misera Ecclesia Anglicana extorquendi: ut talibus rapinis Ecclesia Romana, secundum assertionem eorum, quæ damnificabatur multiformiter, respiraret. Scripsit igitur imperiose prædictus Petrus Rubens, qui se alteri præterebat, habens se per modum Legati, epistolas suas & literas autenticas illi Abbati, vel illi Priori, cujus titulus talis præponebatur, Magister P. Rubens, domini Papa familiaris & consanguineus, salutem, &c. Et sub tali titulo Procurationes, et collectas varias erigebat et extorq̃it. Præterea, socius suus Petrus de Supino in Hyberniam, permittente Rege, ex parte Papæ veniens, & autenticum ejusdem deferens, a Prælati Hybernia omnibus, brachio adjutus sæculari, cum magna tyrannide collegit. Unde quidam suspensi Londinum ad eundem Petrum venerunt, secundum voluntatem ejus satisfacturi. Rediens igitur ab Hybernia idem Petrus in Autumno sequenti, & Romam tendens, mille & quingentas marcas secum clitellis refertis asportavit.

Mat. Paris. p.

Per idem tempus Petrus de Supino, clericus Domini Papæ, instantissime ex tota Hybernia pecuniam, scilicet vicesimam, per autenticum Papale extorquens collegit, indeque absque diversis donativis, mille quingentas marcas reportavit. Magister quoque Petrus Rubens, cujus titulus fuit, Domini Papæ familiaris & consanguineus, ex partibus Anglia Borealibus, & missis nunciis per Scotiam, autentico Papali similiter communitus, pecuniam diligentissime ac festinanter studuit adunando duplicare. Et sic subito refertus clitellis sub conductu Monachorum Cantuariensis, apud Doveram clanculo mare transierunt. Audierant enim per cursores suos expeditissimos, quod Dominus Papa irremediabiliter ægrotaret, ita ut jam vel obierat, vel foret in proximo moriturus. Repentinam igitur & clandestinam cum præda sua fugam, tam per mare quam per terram inierunt, quia timebant, ne Rex certificatus de morte Papæ, pecuniam totam quam collegerant, prudenter retinisset, consilium habiturus, quid inde faceret, cum alius Papa succederet. Et cum vix Franciam ingressi fuissent, ecce magister Walterus de Oca, nuncius Imperialis, deferens literas Domini sui de credentia ad Regem festinanter, sed tamen nimis sero, mandata de statu Curie Romane veniens nunciavit, persuadens, quod si adhuc tales in Anglia invenirentur, tam prædam quam prædones retineret. Sed cum didicisset, quod elapsi erant, increpans Regis ignaviam, iratus statim recessit, dolens quod frustra advenisset. Ipsos igitur e vestigio diligens investigator insequabatur, ut eorum quasi vulpecularum Mæandros prudenter perscrutando, Domino suo Imperatori viarum suarum diverticula nunciaret. Who met with most of their spoyles converted to the Emperors use.

Pope Gregory having the year before, sent a Bull to the Archbishop of Canterbury, and Bishops of Sarum and Lincoln, to provide by his Papal Provisions no lesse then 300. Benefices which should first fall voyd with in their Diocesse, for Romans, Italians, and other aliens, to the Kingdomes and Churches great prejudice: the King thereupon issued these ensuing Writs to the Archbishops, Bishops, Officials and other Ecclesiastical officers under writen, to return him a particular of all the Ecclesiastical Benefices, Prebendaries and their respective values, with the names of the persons on whom they were conferred. And likewise to inquire, what sums of money had been levied for the Popes use, what arrears were yet unpaid thereof, and to secure them.

REX Venerabili in Christo Patri W. eadem gratia Eborum Archiepiscopo Anglie primati, salutem. Paternitatem vestram rogamus, quatenus in singulis Archidiaconatibus vestris diligenter inquiri faciatis, quot, et quæ beneficia Clerici Romani, sive Italici habeant in Diocesi vestra. Quæ etiam beneficia collata fuerunt quibuscunque Clericis, undecunque fuerint ordinati, per Provisionem factam auctoritate Apostolica, sive beneficia illa consistant in Præbendis, sive Ecclesiis Parochialibus, et tam de nominibus eorundem beneficiorum, et de eorum valore, quam de nominibus prædictorum Clericorum nos certificare velitis, infra Octab. Sancti Martini. Anno &c. 26. Inquiri etiam faciatis, quantum pecunie concessum fuerit Domino Papæ in Diocesi vestra in contributione super facta in regno nostro, tam a viris Religiosis, quam ab aliis personis Ecclesiasticis, et quid, et quantum fuerit inde solutum, et quantum inde restat solvendum et a quibus. Et id quod adhuc restat solvendum de pecunia prædicta, salvo colligi in singulis Archidiaconatibus vestris et custodiri faciatis, donec nos inde certificaveritis. Talem igitur & tam diligentem inquisitionem de prædictis fieri demandetis, quod inde ad prædictum terminum certificari possimus, & quod inde vobis ad gratias teneamus speciales. De inquisitione faciendâ.

What list or certificates were returned by vertue of these Writs, I have not yet found amongst the Records in the White Tower or elsewhere.

The Pope having sent Peter Rubes his forementioned Agent into England to spoyle the oppressed English Clergy of the small remainder of Treasure, his Legat Oria had left them, he presumed to Tax the Clerks attending upon the King, and to grant Provisions of Prebends and Churches during their vacancy, to the prejudice of the King and his Crown, whereupon the King issued these ensuing memorable Writs, extant in the Clause Rols of this year.

REX Magistro Petro Rubes, salutem. Satis vobis expressimus tam literatorie quam viva voce, quod omnes Clericos in obsequio nostro specialiter commorantes a contributione facienda ad Subsidium Domini Papæ, esse volumus immunes. Quapropter vobis mandamus, quatenus ad contributionem illam a redditibus Petri de Wackering, nichil exigatis, nec aliquid inde capere præsumatis, & si quid inde ceperitis, id ei sine moræ dispendio restitui faciatis. REX magistro Petro Rubeo salutem, non credebamus de vobis, quod gratiam nostram ad opus Domini Papæ vobis impensam velletis per ingratitudinem compensare, immo potius ipsam grater admittere, & * nos vobis grates opportuno tempore exhibere. Et cum alias vobis significaverimus, quod ad quintam præstandam ad subsidium memoratum nullatenus sustinere vellemus, quod Clerici obsequio nostro vacantes contributionem aliquam facerent, in hac parte specialius a contributione minorum immunes esse volumus Clericos supradictos. Quapropter dilectioni vestræ mandamus, attente rogantes, quatenus ordinariis locorum in mandatis dare velitis, quatenus a Clericis obsequio nostro vacantibus, nihil exigant ad contributionem prædictam vel extorquere præsumant. Moreover, such was the extent of the Kings prerogative in Ecclesiastical affairs, that if any dead person was buried in any Place or Church, contrary to his declaration in his last will or Testament, bequeathing his corps to be interred in some other Church, the King upon information thereof issued forth Writs, to take up his body and translate it to be interred in the place designed by his will: witnesse this memorable Writ, in the case of Alcanora his own Kinswoman, buried by his own command, in the Priory of St. James in Bristol, contrary to her testament, to be removed, and interred in the Nunnery of Ambresbury.

During the vacancy of the Archbishoprick of Canterbury, the King wanting victuals to supply his forces in France, * districte precipendo, significavit Archiepiscopo Eboracensi Regni custodi, ut blada Archiepiscopatus Cantuariensis, & aliorum majorum & Episcopatum tunc vacantium, cum Baconibus & sale, & aliis hyematuris necessariis, panis quoque ad vestes faciendas adjectis, sibi sine mora dispendio usq; Burdegaliæ, transmitterentur. Hæc ab q; denariorum multitudine, missa sunt decem mille summarum frumenti, & quinq; millia avena; cum totidem Baconibus, ac si esset Anglia puteus inexhaustus. Most of these Provisions were raised out of the Temporalities of the Archbishopricks and Bishopricks then in the Kings hand:

The Archbishoprick being voyd by the * death of Edmund, King Henry used his utmost endeavours to procure the Monks of Canterbury to elect Boniface his Queens uncle (a forraigner and every way unfit for such a trust) to succeed him, whom they accordingly elected upon the ensuing considerations.

Temporibus sub eisdem, Monachi Cantuarie Romanæ ex parte Conventus destinati, pro absolutione obtinenda, qua Archiepiscopus, E. eos terribiliter innodaverat, mense Aprili a Romana curia redierunt. Qui impetraverant, ut existentibus eorum negotii Abbate & Archidiacono Sancti Albani, & Priore de Dunstable executoribus; ad cautelam absolverentur.

Sed huic impetrationi antiquus eorum persecutor, Magister Simon de Langtone, Archidiaconus Cantuariensis, se statim appellando opposuit contradicens, asserens constanter, quod per falsam suggestionem & veri suppressionem, fuerant litteræ talis absolutionis nequiter adquisitæ. Sed ipsi, qui Regi certissime promiserant se Bonifacium in Archiepiscopum suum electuros, iuxta quod R. de votissimè supplicaverat, gravem super Archidiaconi Simonis illata injuria & excogitata malitia coram Rege querimoniam deposuerunt. At Rex partem fovens Monachorum; & acceptans de Bonifacio promissam electionem, terribiliter est eidem Simoni Archidiacono comminatus, quod si non à temerario proposito suo quam citius desisteret; Regiam cum effectu, per omnia sentiret indignationem: Quod cum comperit dictus Simon Archidiaconus, sciens quod Papa in nullo Regem offenderet, et sentiens se jam senem et inveteratum transalpinatorum, quiescit, et a proposito concepto resilivit. Monachi autem Cantuarienses, comperientes Papam et Regem sibi vicissim indulgere, et alii. alterius quibuscunque precibus inclinari, elegerunt sibi in pastorem animarum suarum, invocata Spiritus sancti et Regis gratia, Bonifacium electum de Val, hominem proceræ staturæ, elegantem corpore; avunculum dominæ Alienoræ, illustris Anglorum Reginæ, Monachis tamen prænotatis, scientia, moribus, et ætate penitus incognitum, et tantæ dignitati, respectu prædecessorum Archiepiscoporum Cantuariensium (ut dicebatur) insufficientem; hac tamen consideratione, quia si alium elegerint, Rex adinventis exceptionibus quibuscunque, electionem cassasset reprobata, qui favorem Papalem in omnibus obtinebat. Rex autem omnibus modis volens memoratum Bonifacium, vel jam electum, vel cito eligendum, promovere, & nomen ejus exaltare, ne forte dominus Papa, quasi insufficientem, eundem reprobareret; imo ut potius videretur sufficiens & idoneus tantæ dignitati, iussit chartam confici, in qua commendabatur supra modum persona dicti Bonifacii, & eidem scripto sigillum Regium in testimonium appendit veritatis. Et misit eam Episcopis Abbatibus, præcipiens, vel imperiose supplicans, ut & ipsi sigilla sua similiter apponentes, huic Regiæ assertioni certum testimonium perhiberent. Multi ergo conscientie suæ integritatem nolentes infringere, & timentes illud præceptum Dominicum, Non falsum testimonium perhibebis, firmiter eidem renuerunt obtemperare. Quamplurimi autem digniorum clericorum, videlicet Episcopi & Abbates aliqui, Regiis comminationibus perterriti, & enervati, sigilla sua, scilicet pignora & testimonia suæ fidei, spreto Dei timore, plus hominem quam Deum reverentes, apposuerunt, & eundem Bonifacium in suum superiorem gratanter acceperunt. Quippe cum de nobilissimo sanguine natus, & Regnorum utrorumque Principibus, ipse procerus & satis sufficiens, fuerit specialissimus. Monachi tamen Cantuarienses, Regis præventi supplicatione, vehementer doluerunt se Regi in hoc consensisse. Unde quidam Monachorum ad se reversi, suam miseriam cognoscentes, ut perpetuam poenitentiam agerent ab Ecclesia sua recedentes, ad ordinem Curtensia convolarunt.

Boniface being thus elected Archbishop, the King thereupon dispatched his Letters and Proctor to the Pope and Cardinals at Rome, for his confirmation, thus entred in our Records, though not extant in historians, wherein he thus flattered the Pope beyond all measure, to obtain his desired purpose.

Sanctissimo Patri ac Domino, divina providentia Summo Pontifici, H. eadem gratia, &c. salutem. Sanctitati vestræ petitiones nostras tanto cum majori porrigimus fiducia obtinendi, quanto non solum ad regni nostri commoda, sed etiam ad Ecclesiæ Romanæ fructuosum honorem per ea quæ petimus aspiramus. Quicquid enim honoris vel commodi regno nostro accreverit, ad vestræ dominationis augmentum est specialiter referendum. Cum igitur nuper Ecclesiæ Cantuar. per mortem bonæ memoriæ E. quondam ipsius Archiepiscopi destituta pastore, petita prius, prout moris est, a nobis eligendi licentia, et obtenta, Prior et Conventus ejusdem, vocatis omnibus, ut intelleximus, qui vocandi erant, et presentibus qui debebant et poterant interesse, de prudenti viro et nobis Charissimo Bonifacio de Sabaudia procuratore Bellic. Ecclesiæ avunculo nostro, sibi canonice ac concorditer providerint in Archiepiscopum et in patrem: Et Nos provisionem eandem ratam habeamus quantum nostra, interest et acceptum, dilectum & fidelem Clericum Nuncium & Procuratorem nostrum magistrum Robertum Anketil. Canonicum Dakensem, & nobis gratum, ad hoc & alia nostra negotia, quæ sibi hac vice apud sedem Apostolicam promovenda commissimus constitutum, ad sanctæ Paternitatis vestræ pedes transmisimus, devote per eum & presentes literas nostras ex affectus cordis intime, quantum possumus humiliter supplicando, quatenus in eodem B. avunculo nostro geminam nobilitatem morum & generis, & tam ipsius quam suorum devotionem erga Deum & Romanam Ecclesiam attendentes, nec non utilitatem Regni tanquam rei vestræ pensantes, dictum B. jam a Deo promissum nobis in subsidium speciale, & proli nostræ non modicum fulcimentum, & Cantuariensi Ecclesiæ in Archiepiscopum, difficultate qualibet & impedimento postpositis, impenso, de sedis Apostolicæ liberalitate consueta confirmationis munere concedatis. In hoc vel de Jure quo dictum B. juvari credimus, vel si necesse fuerit, de gratia speciali petitionem nostram sic efficaciter admittentes, quod ex eo paternæ dilectionis affectum quem erga nos & Hæredes nostros geritis, manifestis ut optamus, indiciis ostendatis. Et nos ad exaltationem Coronæ nostræ fructum quem bene de sublato nobis majore fratre speravimus, de minore per Dei gratiam consequentes, vobis & S. Romana Ecclesiæ fortius imposterum astringatis. Super Super eodem negotio, & consimiliter scribitur omnibus Cardinalibus, videlicet, Dominis Roman, Portuen, & Sanctæ Ruffin, Reg. Hostiens, & Velletr, Jacobo Penetrino Episcopis S. Titulo Sanctæ in Transiberim, Johanni Titulo Sanctæ Prædix; Senobaldo Titulo Sancti Laur. in Latib. Presbyteris; Reinero Sanctæ Mariæ in Cosmedi. Egidio Sanctorum Cosma & Damiani, Ottoni Sancti Nicolai in Carcere Tulliano, & Richardo Sancti Angeli Diaconis.

Upon the receipt of these flattering Letters fraught with overmuch Courtship, (and the intercession of some golden Angels superadded thereunto) the Pope confirmed Boniface, to the admiration of many; as Matthew Paris thus stories.

Eisdemque diebus Bonifacius Electus Bollicensis Avunculus Reginæ, natione Provincialis, non sine multorum admiratione, in Archiepiscopatum Cantuariensem, Rege hoc diligentissime procurante, a Domino Papa confirmatur. Dominus Rex ut efficacius Bonifacium promoveret in Archiepiscopatum Cantuariensem confecit unum scriptum, in quo miro modo ipsum Bonifacium, licet ipsum non cognovisset, commendavit in moribus, & scientia & generositate, instinctu Reginæ. Et apposito signo suo, fecit ut fere omnes Angliæ Prælati consequenter apponerent. Solus autem Abbas Sancti Albani hoc falsum testimonium caute declinando vitavit. Cum enim vidisset signum Abbatis Westmonasterii appensum, dixit, injuratum fuisse ei, cum Abbas Sancti Albani digniorem esse constet, dicente ejus privilegio, sicut beatus Albanus Protomartyr est Angliæ, ita & ejus Abbas primus sit omnium Abbatum Angliæ ordine & dignitate, ergo ejus signum deberet apponi. Et sic permissum est hoc donec excuteretur. Hoc scriptum missum est Domino Papæ, ut de bonitate Bonifacii plenius certificaretur.

There being a great contest between the King and the Prior and Monkes of Winchester about the election of their Bishop, they electing first William de Raley Bishop of Norwich, whom the King and Pope opposing, thereupon they elected Ralph Nevill, whose election was likewise vacated: After which, according to their first resolution, they elected the Bishop of Norwich again; whose election was suddenly made, and quickly confirmed at Rome: yet the King ceased not to spurn against it, commanding the Mayor of Winchester to forbid the New Bishop entrance into the City, which he did; who thereupon excommunicated him for his labour, and interdicted the whole City. The King thereupon so persecuted the Monks, that he imprisoned divers of them, and so afflicted the Bishop, that he was forced to flye the Realm, and passe into France for a season. Thus related by Matthew Paris, and Mat. Westm.

Curriculo temporum eorundem Rex continuans conceptam iracundiam aggravavit adversus Episcopum Norwicensem eo quod postulationi consensit de se factæ ad Episcopatum Wintoniensem; Nolut enim, quia nec decuit renunciare. Exigebat tamen Rex chartam ab eodem de renunciatione, quod idem Episcopus facere constanter renuebat. Ota exinde occasionaliter quadam dissensione gravi in Episcopatu suo per quendam scriptorem Curia, qui pro sua temeraria usurpatione vulneratus est; multa inconvenientia sunt secuta. Unde multi tam Clerici quam Laici baculati, vulnerati, & pugnis impie sunt percussi, & per brachium secularem multis damnis & injuriis lacerati. Nec voluit aliquo modo Rex, ut jurejurando affirmabat, a talibus gravaminibus desistere, nisi dictus Episcopus, ut prædictum est, chartam conficeret quod nunquam ad Episcopatum Wintoniensem transferri se permetteret, quod omnino dissonum fuit rationi, et Episcopali contrarium professioni. Quia si Dominus Papa in virtute obedientia id ei præciperet, nullo modo, si filius esset obedientia, aliquatenus posset contradicere.

Sub illis diebus, quidam Aulici satellites, qui de Regiis præceptis confidentes & enormia sæpe ex levibus nanciscentes, venerunt Wintoniam, sciscitantes arroganter, qui Monachorum noluerunt Regiis mandatis obedire super electione, vel postulatione Wintoniensis Episcopi, quique illi erant qui Episcopum Norwicensem, Willielmum videlicet de Raley, Regi non obtemperantem, tam procaciter postularent, ut nullo terrore vel precibus resilire dignarentur? O Monachorum superbia, cucullatorum improbitas obstinata. Facta igitur inquisitione per Priorem intrusum, qui totius turbationis fuit Machinator, ejecerunt a Monasterio eosdem Monachos, non senium, non personas, vel ordinem, vel demum reverentiam

Sub eisdem diebus, ipse Brito, quem violentè Dominus Rex præposuerat Conventui Wintoniensi, quæ Priorem, Conventum multis modis affligere satagebat. Procurante enim eodem Impostore, ut justam causam habere videretur, quod Conventus ei contradicens excommunicaretur, ortæ sunt dissensiones. Et vocatis Regiis satellibus post quadraginta dies elapsos, dixit: Ite & vindicate Regiam & nostram injuriam in rebellibus nostris, excommunicati enim sunt, nec est aliqua offensa in eos manus violentas injicere. Catervatim igitur ruunt ædifici Regales, & crudelius quàm a Rege imperatum est, vel a falso Priore persuasum, manus prophanas in Monachos ad majus Altare fugientes, ut ibidem tutum haberent refugium, violentè injecerunt. Et impellentes viriliterque trahentes, ita ut pavementum cruentarent, ab Ecclesia ejecerunt. Et in conspectu Civium, præ dolore et admiratione flebiliter ejulantium, usque ad castrum Regium, & ad Huschebie raptim tractabant, pugnis cedentes, baculis impingentes, probris afficientes, hos hic, hos illic incarcerantes, vinculis & compedibus binos & binos manciparunt. Et spreto Dei timore, religione, habitusque reverentia, squalore carcerali, tenebris, fame & frigore, cum opprobriis, non sine palma martyrii, cruciarunt. Ipsi autem scientes hæc omnia sibi pro executione justitiæ violentè inferri, patienter, imo gaudenter sustinuerunt, qui digni sunt pro Christo contumeliæ tolerare.

* Mar. Westm. Anno 1241. p. 160. Fecit etiam Rex personam Bonifacii electi Bellac magnificando commendari, ut dignus videretur esse vel ad Archiepiscopum Cantuar. aut Episcopatum Winton. quo promoveretur. Sed res effectum non est sortita licet multorum Prælatorum testimonio tituli ipsius roborarentur.

The King likewise writ to the Pope, not to permit the Monks of Winton (then at Rome to justify their election) to take up any provisions or monies upon the account of the Church or Monastery of Winton, whereof he was Patron; and likewise importuned him, by way of Provision, to conferr the Bishoprick upon his Uncle **Bonifacius*, who being soon after elected and confirmed Archbishop of Canterbury, he moved the Pope both by his Letters and Proctor, not to consent to the Bishops translation from Norwich to Winchester, to the prejudice of his Crown and honour; and to give way that the Prior and Monks might proceed to the election of another Bishop, as these Letters to the Pope entred in the Patent and Charter Roll of 27 H. 3. inform us;

The differences between King Henry, the Monks, and this Bishop Elect of Winchester, transmitted to posterity by our Historians, are thus related.

REX magistro Roberto de Ludelawe, salutem. Auditis & intellectis hiis quæ nobis significastis per literas vestras, satis inde non potuimus admirari cum vos propter discretionem vestram, de qua confidebamus, miseramus, ad stulticiam Laicorum compescendam, si quæ vellent attemptare, quæ essent ad deteriorationem causæ nostræ, contra W. de R. Episcopum, ea fecistis quæ Laicos fecisse non debuerat. Hinc est, quod non mediocriter moti super præmissis, Vobis Mandamus, quatenus bona ipsius Episcopi per vos arrestata, tam in Ecclesia quam extra, nec non & omnia bona occasione ipsius Episcopi arrestata, visis literis istis deliberari faciatis, ab executione cæterarum crudelitatum vestrorum quæ continebantur in literis vestris quas nobis misistis, vos penitus abstinentes: licet enim per vos Appellationem nostram, & in ea nobis adhærentes ab omni violentia intendamus defendi & tueri, non tamen contra aliquos alios crudelitatem aliquam volumus perpetrari. Sed potius ea quæ ad tuitionem appellationis & partis nostræ pertinent, taliter exerceatis via media incedendo, quod nec de duritia, nec de negligentia redargui debeatis. Vos igitur præcepta nostra, quæ vobis in iunximus, viva voce, & quæ prius Vicecomitibus & cæteris Ballivis nostris demandaveramus, quæ omnia diligenter volumus observari, firmiter teneatis & observetis. Et si super aliquibus forsitan hæsitetis, consilium nostrum requiratis, antequam aliquid novum durius attemptetis. Teste Rege apud Walisford. Viceesimo secundo die Decembris.

The Bishop soon after presuming against the Kings Appeal, to enter into the Bishoprick of Winchester, to conferre orders, excommunicate his subjects, the Mayor, Citizens, and interdict the whole City of Winton. for obeying his commands (as you heard before) and intending to proceed de novo in the like contempts, the King thereupon, (to preserve his own Royal Prerogative and Jurisdiction Ecclesiastical and evidence his supremacy in and over all Ecclesiastical persons, causes) issued this Writ to the Gardians of this Bishoprick; touching his proceedings against him in this Appeal, commanding them personally to acquaint the Bishop therewith, to read it to him in the presence of witnesses, to declare all his excommunications voyd, and that he would severely proceed against him, if he persisted in his obstinacy, and submitted not to his Appeal.

REX Custodibus Episcopatus Winton. salutem. Licet contra W. de Ralag. appellaverimus in hunc modum, Dicit Dominus Rex, &c. ut patet ex alia parte Ratuli in appellatione facta contra eundem Episcopum, & post appellationem quam de diverforum Jurisperitorum Regni nostri, quos huic habere potuimus, fecimus, magistros Oxon. in Jure legentes, & alios viros Religiosos & Jurisperitos consuluerimus, & per omnes dicta appellatio fuerit approbata, dictus tamen Episcopus hæc omnia parvipendens, & spernens, supra dictum Episcopatum, sicut intelleximus intravit, ordinesque celebravit ibidem, sententiasque diversas excommunicationis et suspensionis protulit, nuncque de novo manum suam totis viribus aggravando, Majorem et Ballivos nostros Winton. excommunicavit, contra privilegia nostra prohibentia, ne quis in tales sententias proferat, nisi Auctoritate Rescripti Apostolici, specialem facientes de dicto nostro privilegio mentionem, et Civitatem Winton. interdixit, quæ omnia licet de facto tantum teneant, tamen utcunque famam nostram sugillant, nec ipsa de cætero possumus conniventibus oculis præterire. Ideoque vobis præcipiendo Mandamus, quatenus convocatis Abbate Abbatia de Hyda, Priore fratrum prædicatorum, cum duobus vel tribus de fratribus; & Gardiano fratrum minorum, cum totidem & aliis viris Religiosis honestis & fide dignis, quos habere poteritis, ad dictum Episcopum accedatis, & supradicta omnia de verbo ad verbum legi faciatis, iterum ex eisdem causis, & supradicto modo nomine nostro appellantes & supplicantes, Postea sibi ex parte nostra offeratis, nos paratos incontinenti mittere prærifius ad omnes magistros in jure, ibidem regentes & alios Jurisperitos, qui ibidem poterunt reperiri. Et si audita dicta Appellatione, & plene intellecta, ipsi dicant, tanquam inanem & frivolum non fuisse admittendam; nec fore Nuncios & procuratores nostros, quos jam ad Curiam Romanam, pro prosecutione dictæ appellationis misimus, & alios qui jam sunt in procinctu Itineris sui, revocabimus, & in aliis omnibus erga ipsum Episcopum, nos habebimus secundum quod decuerit, & sicut prædicti Magistri Jurisperiti dixerint faciemus. Quod si dictam Appellationem tanquam rationabilem, seu probabilem admittendam fuisse, & fore dixerint, idem Episcopus Episcopatum erant, et Clerici quos ordinavit suspensi permaneant; et quicquid post et contra Appellationem prædictam factum est, sicut hoc totum de jure fuerit, in irritum revocetur. Ita quod hæc omnia & offensas et injurias contra nos & nostros attemptas corrigat & emendet, juxta dictum & consilium Magistrorum. Quod si hoc totum renuerit, sciat pro certo, quod nos contra ipsum et suos taliter procedemus, quod pena decente sentiat se errasse. Hiis autem omnibus lectis coram ipso, post sigillum nostrum, hiis præsentibus literis faciatis opponi sigilla præsentium testificantium lectionem & oblationem prædictas, & responsum Episcopi supradicti apponentes, diem & annum, quibus nomine & de mandato nostro, hæc omnia legeritis & optuleritis, & postmodum hæc omnia universo Clero & populo Winton. publicetis, & transcriptum retinentes nobis incontinenti facta publicatione præsentis literas transmittatis. Supradicta etiam sic intelligimus, quod licet Appellatio per magistros Parisienses approbaretur, nichilominus tamen postea Appellationem nostram prosequentes, super præmissis voluntatem & judicium summum Pontificis audivimus, & secundum quod judicaverit per omnia faciemus. Quod si hoc totum renuerit, et sic per elationem et ambitionem nimiam, nos et nostros sic in Episcopatu morando et administrando contra Deum et justitiam, quasi in Regno nobis sortior sit, offendere eligit, iterum nomine nostro propter hæc nova gravamina ad sedem Apostolicam appelletis, & ad tuitionem ad Electum Cantuariensem. Nos enim dante Domino super hoc iustum & salubre consilium capiemus. Teste Rege apud Wind. primo die Januarii.

The Bishop notwithstanding this Writ and Appeal, persevering in his obstinacy, the King thereupon sent this second Writ, to the Guardians of the spiritualities, and writ a Letter to the Pope, answering all his Cavils and exceptions against this Appeal.

REX Custodibus Episcopatus Wint. Vicecomitibus Suthamp. & Sur. salutem. Nuper pervenit ad aures nostras quod W. de Ral. Episcopus, post Legitimas nostras appellationes quas ad Dominum Papam interposuimus, propter multiplices injurias & magna gravamina quæ nobis & nostris intulit, denunciavit magistrum Henricum de Secus, Clericum nostrum Specialem & in hoc negotio nostrum procuratorem, & Monachos quosdam Sancti Smitini Winton. nobis adherentes, et quosdam alios sententia Excommunicationis innodatos, quam injuriam in Curia nostra nobis factam, tanquam gravissimam ad animam revocamus. Et cum tam grave delictum contra Nos attemptat, nullatenus impunitum possumus derelinquere, vobis districtius præcipiendo Mandamus, sicut vos ipsos & vestra diligitis, si idem Episcopus contra Appellationes nostras, legitime ad sedem Apostolicam interpositas, Episcopatum Winton. intrat, ad officium Episcopale exercendum, eundem nullo modo hospitumini, nec hospitari ab aliquo laico permittatis, nec aliquem de Clericis suis, nec aliquem de hiis qui se gerent suos officiales, Immo sub pena memorata omnibus Laicis de Balliva vestra inhibeat, ne cum præscriptis contractus faciant, vel commercia contrahant. Item, Laicos ejusdem Episcopatus, et suos concomitantes capi faciatis, et captis detineatis donec aliud a nobis acceperitis mandatum, maxime cum post publicationem nostrarum appellationum ad provocationem animi nostri superiora attemptasset, præcipue cum officia-lis electi Cantuariensis ad cujus tuitionem appellavimus, causas prædictarum nostrarum appellationum approbaverit. Et quicquid in præjudicium ipsarum attemptatum fuerit, irritum pronuntiabit et inane, nosque, Clericos nostros & alios nobis adherentes in eodem statu in quo fuimus, fuerunt, & nostræ tempore appellationis interpositæ pronuntiavit fore tuendos, & manutenendos, hanc autem p[er]nam contra memoratum Episcopum, vos volumus exercere et suos, quamdiu intra Episcopatum Winton. fuerint, & non extra, elapsis etiam quatuor diebus postquam per vos admoniti fuerint, quod dictum Episcopatum exeat, nec ipsi ulterius remaneant contra appellationem nostram per dictum officialem approbatam. Teste Rege apud Westmon. 11. die Januarii.

Domino Papæ Rex, salutem. Noverit Sancta Paternitas vestra nos appellasse contra W. de Radleg Episcopum in hunc modum. Dicit Dominus Rex, &c. ut infra Rotulam, postmodum vero quia prædicti custodes ipsum Episcopum invenire non poterant in partibus Winton. ad prædicta mandata nostra exequenda, Anno &c. xxvij. viij. die Januar. lectæ fuerunt prædictæ Literæ in præsentia W. de Ral. Episcopi, & in præsentia Abbatum W. fm. & de Tichfeld, fratris Walteri Prioris fratrum Prædicatorum London. Magistri Alex. Secularis, Johannis de Gutesden, & aliorum plurimorum virorum Religiosorum & Laicorum fide dignorum apud Suwerk, quibus idem Episcopus secundum subscriptas responsiones respondit, & quibus responsionibus secundum subscriptas replicationes replicavit Dominus Rex sc. Licet Dominus H. Rex Anglia nihil petierit ab W. de Ral. Episcopo, sed ei cum omni humanitate & humilitate diversos modos obulerit, secundum quos paratus erat facere quicquid deberet, salva appellatione sua, ipse tamen Episcopus responsum dedit minus sufficiens & injustum: Unde contra primam Responsionem quam fecit id m Episcopus sic dicit. G. cum Domini Papæ Literas receperit continentes, quod ipsum a Cura Ecclesiæ Norwicensis absolutum Wintoniensi Ecclesiæ, de fratrum suorum consilio, præfecit in pastorem, omnem postulationis defectum in dicta Ecclesia de eo factæ, de sua potestatis supplevis plenitudine, per quas in virtute obedientiæ ei injungitur, ut Wintoniensem Ecclesiam adeat, & in Episcopatu officii sui debitum exequatur, si secundum Regis petitionem super exceptionibus contra suæ Jurisdictionis exercitium, ex parte sua propositis Magistrorum Parisiensium examinationem subiret, contra omnem sanctionem Canoniam dubitare videretur, an Apostolico mandato deberet obedire, cum in certis nec discussionibus, nec locus existat conjecturis. Sic replicat item Dominus Rex extra judicium, & salva sua appellatione. Quod cum summus Pontifex quantumcumque scribat præcise, legitimas tamen exceptiones contra suum mandatum admittere per Decretalem suam dicat: Et idem Dominus Rex contra Literas Domini Papæ tales exceptiones opposuerit, quas si Dominus Papa audivisset, recepisset, nec in translatione dicti Episcopi taliter processisset, nec Literas quas idem Episcopus sibi a summo Pontifice directas asserit, concessisset, contra omnem sanctionem Canoniam. Et idem Episcopus prædictas exceptiones admittere debuisset, & quousque Dominus Rex de prædictis per summum Pontificem certificatus esset, ab ingressu & administratione Winton. Episcopatus, nisi gratia quam sibi factam asserit abuti veller, penitus abstinere: Nec obest supplementum plenitudinis potestatis, nam & ipsum, & omnia quæ in Literis continentur, per subreptionem & falsitatem obtenta fuerunt, sicut in appellatione Domini Regis apparet. Et si principale non tenuit, non valuit quod ex eo vel ob id sequebatur: Contra secundum, cujus tenor talis est. Item cum dictæ exceptiones ad Domini factum infirmandum proponantur, & ab earundem effectu, num videatur, quod ab ipso qui jura tuetur injuriandi occasio oriatur. Cum minor in majorem Imperium non habeat, dictis Magistris autoritate Domini Papæ minime requisita, in facto præfato omnis discussionis potestas a jure denegatur, & tam ipsorum præsumptio, quam eorundem examen in Apostolicæ sedis præjudicium eligentium ultioni debet subiacere. Sic replicat Dominus Rex extra judicium, & salva appellatione sua. Idem Dominus Rex, quod ad infirmandum, quod factum est per summum Pontificem, ex certa scientia nihil proponit, sed ad subreptionem & falsitatem prædictas detegendas, & ad id quod dictus summus Pontifex circumventus fecit in melius reformandum, quod alias factum fuisse legitur in Decretalibus legibus & Decretis, nec examen Magistrorum Parisiensium obtulit ad discussionem aliquam diffinitivam faciendam, set ad causas appellationis suæ videndas, & ut de plano rescriberent, an ipsas frivolas, an probabiles judicarent, sicut in oblatione per ipsum facta plenius continetur: Contra tertiam etiam cujus tenor talis est. Item, si absque juris offensa ipsorum eligi posset discussio in præmissis, tamen eorum subjacere sententiæ nec Regni utilitati congruerit, nec Majestati Regiæ conveniret illam, cum in utroque jure in Regno suo existant peritissimi, si alterius regionis examen invocaret, vel de suorum fidelitate diffidere, vel circa præmissa videretur insufficiens ipsorum consilium reputare, quod celsitudinem Regiam non deceret, quæ secundum legum statuta non solum armis, set etiam legibus esse debet decozata; maxime cum prædecessorum suorum temporibus majores mundi Principes super causis dubiis Regium requirere consilium consueverunt, et jurisperitorum Angl. convocatione formatum in omnibus comprobare. Sic replicat idem Dominus Rex extra judicium, & salva sua appellatione, quod cum de consilio jurisperitorum Regni sui quos tunc habere potuit, appellationem dictam fecerit, & postea Magistros Oxon. in jure regentes consuluerit, & alios viros religiosos, certum est quod non diffidit Dominus Rex de consilio suorum jurisperitorum, sed cum ipse Episcopus oblationem sibi factam per Magistrum Henricum de Secus, sicut in appellatione sua continet, & quam ratam habuit, & habet, renuerit, ipse incidit in dissidentiam quam eidem Domino Regi imponit; hoc enim facile cognosceret si cum superioribus consilium habuisset. Et quia consilium Magistrorum Parisiensium renuit, ut in responsione sua satis innuit, ex hoc novo gravamine ad Apostolicam sedem appellat, & ad tuitionem ad Cantuar. electum, & appellationem antiquam innovat, sicut in suis Literis plenius continetur. Addit etiam Dominus Rex; quod oblationem quam fecit de Magistris Parisiensibus, ex maxima humilitate & æquitate processit, & ut pertinacia & ambitiosa voluntas ipsius Episcopi luce clarius appareret, quia cum idem Episcopus consilium sive cognitionem jurisperitorum de Regno, sicut dictum est refutavit, credere posset aliquis, quod juste & probabiliter moveretur quasi innueret, quod nullus de toto Regno auderet dicere contra voluntatem Regiam. Et ideo obtulit cognitionem plenariam Magistrorum illius Civitatis, quam habet odio super omnes, sicut illam cui inimici sui capitales dominantur, & in ea conversantur, nec tam audacter Dominus Rex hoc obtulisset, nisi jus suum foret apertissimum. Unde cum dictus Episcopus cognitionem plenariam subjectorum & non subjectorum amicorum & inimicorum renuerit, quo spiritu ducatur satis ostendit: Item contra quartam, cujus tenor talis est. Item, ad hoc quod Dominus Rex per Literas suas appellationum causas continentes, videtur innuere, quod quasi cui Regno suo fortior existeret procedit, responderet, Quod per potentiam secularem vel aliam nunquam suis resistere proposuit voluntatibus, sed in hiis quæ Regiæ congruunt dignitati in omnibus affectat obedire, & siquid in sui præjudicium contra justitiam attemptaverit, corrigere, dum tamen in executione officii autoritate sedis Apostolicæ suis humeris alligati non posset negligens reputari. Sic replicat idem Dominus Rex extra judicium, & salva sua appellatione, Quod facta ipsius Episcopi verbis ipsius, de quo dolet Dominus Rex, aperte contradicunt: Et quæ per ipsum attemptata sunt in præjudicium Domini Regis, et nimium contemptum, licet non in toto, in parte tamen in Literis Domini Regis, quæ ipsi Episcopo heri lectæ fuerunt, in quibus oblatio cognitionis prædictorum Magistrorum continetur late declaratur. Et si se circa prædicta vellet corrigere, bene faceret, quod etiam quis in propria causa datus sit executor a seculo non est auditum. Idem etiam Episcopus non in minimum contemptum Apostolicæ sedis, quæ quemlibet juste appellantem tuetur, & maxime illum, qui jam ad ipsam iter arripuit, in Magistrum Henricum de Secus supradictum consiliarium Domini Regis, & procuratorem in hac causa, post appellationem supradictam, & licentiam quam ab amicis & familia sua Winton. receperat, & jam iter arripuerat causa prosequendi hanc causam, sicut audivit Dominus Rex, ex communicationis sententiâ promulgabit de facto, quia de jure non potuit, sed certe quod uni ex minimis suis fecit, &c. Et qui vos tangit, &c. nec mirum, quia pars corporis sui est. Teste Rege apud Westm. xij. die Januar.

Moreover the King to these his replies to the Bishops cavils, superadded these reasons against his translation and ordination to Winchester. Dicit

 one postulationis de ipso facto in Wintoniensem Ecclesiam, & per summum Pontificem sicut asseritur confirmata, & hoc illa ratione, quia appellatum fuit ex parte ipsius Domini Regis, contra dictam postulationem ad sedem Apostolicam, & procuratores missi qui in causa præfate postulationis coram bonæ memoriæ Domino Gregorio Nono, multas exceptiones proposuerunt, & in multis aliis processerunt.
 De qua appellatione seu processu in præfato rescripto nulla fit mentio: Immo hiis omnibus suppressis, innuit ipsum Episcopum amicum fore Regis & ei devotum; Cum ipse Dominus Rex ipsum Episcopum reputet fortissimum inimicum et diu steterit, quod propter rancorem contra ipsam conceptum non comparuerit coram Regia Majestate. Item, Quia Dominus Innocentius supradictus in ordinatione & translatione quam de persona præ-fati Episcopi dicit fecisse in Wintoniensem Ecclesiam seu confirmatione prædicta, sicut præsumit Dominus Rex, non plene certificatus de facto contra prævile-gia Regia, veris procuratoribus Domini Regis insciis et absenti-bus, et quibusdam etiam ex ipsis per aliquos ex fratribus Apostolicæ sedis licentiatis, cum nulla spes haberetur super creatione summi Pontificis, nec postea revocatis, nec Domino Rege citato, nec aliquo præsentate qui jus Regium defenderet. Item, quibusdam Ca-nonicis Linc. qui sicut nunciatum est Regi, pro certo dicebant se procuratores Domi-quibusdam aliis asserentibus quod Domino Rege placeret, si dictus Episcopus Nor- wicensis ad Ecclesiam Wintoniensem transferretur, & quod credebant pro certo ip-sum Episcopum omnino Domino Regi fore reconciliatum, quod falsum erat. Immo Dominus Rex quam cito scivit Dominum Papam creatum, incontinenti per Nuncios suos Literas misit eidem, significans quod super hoc mitteret ad sedem Apostolicam procuratores suos, & supplicans, ne Dominus Papa ante adventum procuratorum dictorum in aliquo super hoc procederet, ignoranter asseritur processisse. Unde si ita est, immo quia ita est, liquet summum Pontificem in negotio prædictæ ordinationis sive translationis vel confirmationis deceptum fuisse. Et quicquid ex parte dicti Epi-scopi a summo Pontifice in hac parte obtentum est per falsitatem, & subreptionem obtentum, maxime cum tempore illo quo summus Pontifex in præmissis finaliter processisse dicitur, propter famam dictæ reconciliationis, sicut verisimiliter præsumitur, motus præfatus Episcopus esset per Cantuariensem Ecclesiam vacante sede, excommunicationis vinculo innodatus, secundum quod postea recognovit, Literas a sede Apostolica super hoc impetrando, quam excommunicationem summus Pontifex supradicto tempore penitus ignorabat. Et quia talia facta Romanorum Pontificum, sicut jura testantur, non prohibentur, immo conceduntur in melius reformari, nec de hiis aliis quam summus Pontifex posset cognoscere super prædictis omnibus et singulis, offert Dominus Rex, se paratum fore stare iudicio summi Pontificis, & prohibet præfato Episcopo, ne Episcopatum Winton. intret, nec tanquam Episcopus in aliquo per se vel per alium administret in præjudicium juris Regalis, seu Regiæ dignitatis, quousque super præmissis per summum Pontificem fuerit iudicatum, & secunda jussio, si iustum fuerit, ema-naverit. Quod si huic scripturæ oblationi seu prohibitioni acquiescere nolit prædictus Episcopus, Dominus Rex, tam contra ipsum, quam contra cohereditores suos si quos habet, ex præmissis causis, & qualibet per se ad hoc sufficiente. Et quia antequam dictum rescriptum Domino Regi præsentasset, & Metropolitanæ & aliis vicinis Ecclesiis publicasset, seu responsum Domini Regis super hoc congruo tempore expectasset, & antequam ab electo Cantuariens. per Dominum Regem ad-missio, seu Episcopo Hereford. vicem ipsius electi gerente, auctoritatem haberet, se per suas Literas Winton. Episcopum nominavit, Et usus est jurisdictione ordinaria subditos Ecclesia Winton. vocando ad se & citando, & quædam alia exercendo, non præsentatus legitime Domino Regi, nec per ipsum investitus, contra g. necalem consuetudinem et privilegia Regni Angliæ, in præjudicium Regiæ dignitatis.

dignitatis. Et quia transcriptum aliorum rescriptorum super præmissis ad ipsum Episcopum & Clerum & populum Winton. obtentorum, in quibus multa falsa suggesta, & vera suppressa, dicto Regi cujus super ipsis deliberare intererat, tradere denegavit. Et quia oblatum fuit sibi per Magistrum Henricum de Secu, ex parte Domini Regis appellentem, quod ipse duos probos viros honestos & jurisperitos, quoscunque vellet, & Rex totidem toto Regno eligerent, qui quatuor diligenter viderent causas supradictas: Et si judicarent ipsas rationabiles, & probabiles, idem Episcopus abstineret se ab ingressu Episcopatus & a ministracione ejusdem, quousque Dominus Rex iterum super præmissis certificaretur de voluntate summi Pontificis; si vero ipsas frivolos judicarent, incontinenti Dominus Rex ipsum admitteret in Wintoniensem Episcopum, ipse Episcopus hoc admittere renuit, & oblatione prædicta penitus refutata & nulla, nedum petita, sed nec oblata Domino Regi fidelitate debita, in præjudicium Regis et Regiæ dignitatis, administrabit, ad sedem Apostolicam appellat, et personam suam uxorem et filios, et consiliarios, et omnes eidem Domino Regi adhærentes, Episcopatum Winton. Capellam et totam terram suam protectioni Domini Papæ supponit, et ad sedem Apostolicam super præmissis omnibus univèrsis et singulis incontinenti mittit Procuratores sufficientes, et ad tuitionem prædictæ appellationis et pertinentium ad eundem, ad electum Cantuariens. appellat, et diriguntur istæ Literæ Priori et Capitulo Sancti Swithini Winton. Quibus mandatum est, quod iura Regis & ea quæ prædictam appellationem Regis contingunt, & quæ ad Coronam et dignitatem Regi pertinere dignoscuntur, fideliter et firmiter servent, et in nullo in præjudicium Regis, contra præmissa venire præsumant. This Bishop was much vexed, terrified with these Writs and proceedings of the King against him, he and his fellow Bishops, neither by their solicitations nor insufferable menaces to Interdict his Royal Chappel, nor by others intercessions, being able to gain any answer from the King till his Proctors return from Rome; whereupon the Bishop absented himself for a time, and soon after fled secretly into France, without the Kings license, to avoyd the severer effects of his just indignation, thus published by our Historians.

fugit in Franc.

Circa idem tempus, Lincolniensis, Wygorniensis, Herefordensis Episcopi, Regem quasi fugientem prosequentes è vestigio, tandem eundem apud Westmonasterium inveniunt, eum acriter increpabant de persecutione & tyrannide, quam in eorum fratrem coepiscopum Wintoniensem non desinebat diutius exercere. Et dum preces precibus addiderunt, & minas minis adjunxerunt, parati Capellam ejus interdicto supponere, petiit Rex inducias, ut ipsis super hoc præcise responderet, donec nuntii sui, qui transalpitransalpinarant, remearent. Sperabat enim indubitanter, quod ipsi corrupta Curia, quicquid mente conceperant, effectui manciparent. Episcopi autem supradicti Regiæ petitioni benigne consenserunt. Sed cum Episcopus Wintoniensis teporem eorum comperisset, x. Calend. Martii, clandestinam fugam arripuit, navem Londini ascendens, partes Gallicanas aditurus. Et per Tamisem navigans, in alta maris instantem se suscipiens, antequam ad Regis notitiam, vel etiam aliquorum suorum familiarium, rumor huiusmodi pervenisset, in portu Sancti Walerici prospere applicuit. Et inde se ad Abbevilam transferens, obvium habuit Regis Francorum nuncium solennem, qui eundem Episcopum ex parte Domini sui Regis cum gaudio & vultu suscepit ferenissimo, in omnibus ei spondens ejusdem Regis consilium & auxilium, cum consolatione & protectione. Præcepitque ex parte Domini sui, ut Major Abbeville promptam haberet totam communiam ipsius Civitatis, ad ejusdem Episcopi defensionem, si forte insequerentur ad nocendum aliqui ex parte Regis Anglorum, ita scilicet, ut si opus expostularer, ad arma convolantes, hostiliter pro Episcopo contra omnes illi adversantes, dimicarent.
